Sonic the Hedgehog: Heroes of Mobius

By: Mixedfan8643

Sonic is a hedgehog with super speed and unwavering heroism. He's used to saving the day from crooks and criminals but life on Mobius will change forever when Dr. Eggman invades and plots to take it over...

Status: complete

Published: 2011-10-10

Updated: 2014-10-24

Words: 2209018

Chapters: 227

Rated: Fiction T - Language: English - Genre: Adventure - Characters: Sonic, Tails, Sally, Dr. Robotnik/Dr. Eggman - Reviews: 606 - Favs: 182 - Follows: 99

Original source: https://www.fanfiction.net/s/7453072/1/Sonic-the-Hedgehog-Heroes-of-Mobius

Exported with the assistance of FicHub.net

Sonic the Hedgehog: Heroes of Mobius

Introduction
Prologue: A Battle's Beginning
The Royal Fighter's Service: Part 1
The Royal Fighter's Service: Part 2
Speed and Flight Part 1
Speed and Flight Part 2
Horda and Borda
Mayhem in Megapolis
Under Pressure
Punch em up! Part 1
Punch em up! Part 2
Chocolate Eggman Part 1
Chocolate Eggman part 2
The Unstoppable Mecha Sonic
Mecha Sonic's Next Target
Mecha Sonic's Last Strike
Sonic's Fan Girl
The Rabbit Hunt
The Circus Park Part 1
The Circus Park Part 2
A Rescue and a Return
The Great Throw Down
Mars Attacks Part 1
Mars Attacks Part 2
Mars Attacks Part 3
Mars Attacks Part 4
Sonic the Martian
Hired Hands Part 1

Hired Hands Part 2
A Real Scourge Part 1
A Real Scourge Part 2
A Tale of Two Sonics
A Worldwide Sonic Showdown Part 1
A Worldwide Sonic Showdown Part 2
Ruthless Relatives Part 1
Ruthless Relatives Part 2
Ruthless Relatives Part 3
Chaos Chocolate
Shiver my Emeralds! Part 1
Shiver my Emeralds! Part 2
A Three Way Emerald Fight
Hidden Agents
Volcanic Panic
The Grand City Showdown
Chaotic Power
Blade of the Swords Bot
Robot Wars
Amy's Adventure
Hedgehog for Sale
Two Dates Part 1
Two Dates Part 2
Time God
His World and Our World
Big Trouble in Little Chun Nan
The Pagoda Pandemonium
A Path Through the Storm
Teaming Up With The Storm
The Duel for Chun Nan Shadow
Shadow Fight Part 1

Shadow Fight Part 2
Lost Weapons Part 1
Lost Weapons Part 2
Defeat Shadow
The Shadow Still Stands
HQ Heist Part 1
HQ Heist Part 2
HQ Heist Part 3
HQ Heist Part 4
A Gun For Hire Part 1
A Gun For Hire Part 2
An Unexpected Surprise
Rights for the Land Part 1
Rights for the Land Part 2
Rights for the Land Part 3
Rights for the Land Part 4
The Fallen Angel
Eggman's Fleet
Jailed Egg
Breakout!
Deadly is the Turncoat
Worldwide Roboticizer
Planet of Steel Part 1
Planet of Steel Part 2
Planet of Steel Part 3
Sol Search Part 1
Sol Search Part 2
The Dark Side of the World 1
The Dark Side of the World 2
Redemption
Super Scourge
Emeralds Part 1

Emeralds Part 2
Emeralds Part 3
Emeralds Part 4
Cold Chills
The Kingdom of Ice
City Attack Part 1
City Attack Part 2
Marriage Part 1
Marriage Part 2
The Devatron Invasion
Heroes and Treason Part 1
Heroes and Treason Part 2
Valuable Resources
Devatrons Unleashed!
Foes Become Friends Part 1
Foes Become Friends Part 2
Unexpected Events
For Better Or For Worse
The Devatron Showdown
Data on the Doombringer
Going Beyond The Stars
Victims of the Devatrons
The Tides of War Part 1
The Tides of War Part 2
The Tides of War Part 3
Return to Chun-Nan
The Oncoming Storm
The Storm Rages On Duelling the Storm
Aliens and Origins
Going Off The Rails
The Power of the Black Arms

Black Chaos
Plans Are Coming Together
Black Doom Rising
Invasion of the Martians
Divide and Conquer Part 1
Divide and Conquer Part 2
Divide and Conquer Part 3
Divide and Conquer Part 4
Divide and Conquer Part 5
Divide and Conquer Part 6
Divide and Conquer Part 7
The Wrath of Tyrahko Part 1
The Wrath of Tyrahko Part 2
The End of the Martians
The Key of Opulence 1
The Key of Opulence 2
Dark World Part 1
Dark World Part 2
Dark World Part 3
Dark World Part 4
Unwelcome Home Part 1
Unwelcome Home Part 2
More Than Meets The Eye
Thrown into the Void Part 1
Thrown into the Void Part 2
Thrown into the Void Part 3
Operation: Double Trouble Part 1
Operation: Double Trouble Part 2
Sonic's Origins
Birthday Siege Part 1
Birthday Siege Part 2
Day of the Dragons

Finitevus's Gambit Part 1
Finitevus's Gambit Part 2
HUNT-Ed Part 1
HUNT-Ed Part 2
Intense Matters
The Search for Kari the Rat
Endangered Species Part 1
Endangered Species Part 2
Endangered Species Part 3
Quills and Acorns
Crisis on Infinite Mobiuses: The Prelude
Crisis on Infinite Mobiuses Part 1
Crisis on Infinite Mobiuses Part 2
Crisis on Infinite Mobiuses Part 3
Crisis on Infinite Mobiuses Part 4
Crisis on Infinite Mobiuses Part 5
Crisis on Infinite Mobiuses Part 6
Crisis on Infinite Mobiuses Part 7
Crisis on Infinite Mobiuses Part 8
Crisis on Infinite Mobiuses Part 9
Crisis on Infinite Mobiuses The Finale
The Court of Ice Part 1
The Court of Ice Part 2
Nicole's New Body 1
Nicole's New Body 2
Sora Prower: Number 1 Target
The Dark Secret of Soleanna
Dark Tidings
The Flames of Disaster
Solaris Rising
Other World Encounter Part 1
Other World Encounter Part 2

Other World Encounter Part 3
Plan of Attack
Adabat in Peril
For The Colony Part 1
For the Colony Part 2
Trouble in Chun-Nan Part 1
Trouble in Chun-Nan Part 2
Countdown to Roboticization Part 1
Countdown to Roboticization Part 2
Eggman Empire Part 1
Eggman Empire Part 2
Eggman Empire Part 3
Eggman Empire Part 4
Eggman's Last Stand
Dark Armada Part 1: Never Lasting Peace
Dark Armada Part 2: Dangerous Territory
Dark Armada Part 3: Operation: Sabotage
Dark Armada Part 4: Operation: Nefarious
Dark Armada Part 5: Operation: Frostbite
Dark Armada Part 6: Operation: Adabat
Dark Armada Part 7: Operation Megapolis
Dark Armada Part 8: Operation Chun-Nan
Dark Armada Part 9: Unhappy Meeting
Dark Armada Part 10: Operation: Blaze
Dark Armada Part 11: Operation: Black A Dark Armada Part 12: Remember the Fallen
Dark Armada Part 13: The Agent Revealed
Dark Armada Part 14: Total Destruction
Dark Armada Part 15: Aftershock
Dark Armada Part 16: Experiment o Horror
Dark Armada Part 17: Operation: Fiona
Dark Armada Part 18: Operation Nekron 1

Dark Armada Part 19: Operation Nekron 2
Dark Armada Part 20: Betrayal & Redemp
Dark Armada Part 21: The Test Part 1
Dark Armada Part 22: The Test Part 2
Dark Armada Part 23: Enerjak Rising 1
Dark Armada Part 24: Enerjak Rising 2
Dark Armada Part 25: The Chaos Storm
Epilogue: After the Storm

Prologue: A Battle's Beginning

Author's Notes

Hey there users of . This is my newest story and possibly my best. This is Sonic the Hedgehog: Heroes of Mobius, an idea for a comic I had and now turned into a fan fiction story. The series is basically my own take on the Sonic universe with my choice of characters and portrayals. There will be pre-made and fan-made characters in this series and some of the pre-made characters will be changed a little in order to make HOM a different continuity to the others.

If you don't like any of the changes I've made, that's fine, just please don't make an issue about it. I won't tell you about any of the fan-made characters who appear in this series, I'll just introduce you to them as we go along. A side note I'd like to add is this story is written in episodic form, not chapter form. Now let's get on with this newest Sonic universe…

Prologue: A Battle's Beginning

Mobius, the home planet of the weird and wonderful Mobian race. The Mobians all ranged in various forms and colours from pink echidnas to green hedgehogs. Mobius was a very beautiful planet too with its fair share of large cities and countryside. The planet was ruled by the Acorn family who lived in the majestic looking Castle Acorn. The Acorn family consisted of three squirrels named King Maximilian and Queen Alicia and their daughter Princess Sally. The Acorns had a lady-in-waiting named Nicole, who was a lynx in a purple toga and Sally's best friend. They ruled Mobius with pride and justice and fought to keep the world under tight organization in order to prevent world chaos. As of this moment, everything was just the same as usual, a quiet, peaceful sunny day on Mobius with children playing and Mobians walking around enjoying the day.

One Mobian was sitting on a tree branch in the middle of dense forest just chilling out. It was a blue hedgehog with a peach coloured muzzle, peach coloured belly and peach coloured arms. It wore gloves and red and white sneakers with a gold buckle on the sides. This hedgehog was known as Sonic. He got his name after he miraculously ran fast, VERY fast. He could run faster then the speed of sound! No one is really sure how Sonic got his trademark speed, nor did Sonic himself know that. He just assumed he was born to run fast. A lot of people often challenged Sonic to races to see if they could run faster then he could but none prevailed. Because of this, Sonic was given the title "The Fastest Thing Alive" as they hadn't known anyone on Mobius or anywhere else to run that fast. Sonic enjoyed adventure and longed for it. He even helped out if anyone was in danger, no matter how risky the situation was, if there was danger, he would be there in the nick of time. Because of these heroic acts, Sonic was much loved amongst the people of Mobius and a lot of the girls longed to date him. However Sonic wasn't bothered about romance yet so these girls had to keep dreaming and hoping. Right now, Sonic was in one of his relaxing moods where all he wanted to do was lie on a tree branch and chill for a good hour or two. After all even heroes had a quiet moment. Whenever Sonic relaxed, he always thought deeply on what his next adventure would be like.

"I wonder what's in store for me today. thought Sonic as he napped. "Hopefully another crime to tackle as I love those. Or maybe something different altogether."

The average person would have thought "today would be no different" since days on Mobius were average at the most. However, today would be different. Today would change Sonic's life forever, and the rest of the people on Mobius would have their lives changed forever too. As Sonic continued napping and thinking, a low ominous rumbling sound echoed through the quiet skies of the planet. At first Sonic dismissed it as nothing more then a construction vehicle but the second time the rumble came, it was a lot louder and sounded more like it was coming from the sky then the ground. Sonic knew it wasn't a bulldozer or some other vehicle on the ground. He got to his feet and climbed higher up the tree to see what the noise was. It was most likely a plane but he didn't remember planes sounding that loud before. Sonic got to the top of the tree and got the biggest surprise of his life. The rumbling noise wasn't from a plane, it was a battleship! A real-live battleship filled to the brim with gun turrets and laser cannons! Not to mention this battleship was colossal! So huge in fact it blocked out the sunlight and turned everything dark! The battleship had a logo which consisted of a face with a moustache and was coloured black and red. Sonic couldn't believe what he was seeing. This was unlike anything he'd ever seen before. Was he dreaming? Sonic rubbed his eyes and stared again. The battleship was still there. He wasn't dreaming, he was looking at a real flying battleship.

"Well I did think something different might be in store for me today!" gasped Sonic "I just hope whoever owns that thing doesn't mean us any harm!"

Unfortunately, it did. The battleship slowly hovered over the fantastic city of Mobotropolis, aimed its many cannons at the city below it and opened fire. The sky rained with laser bolts and cannon blasts and buildings were destroyed the moment the blasts hit it. Rubble rained down on the frightened citizens as they fled for their lives. Sonic couldn't believe his eyes. This battleship just opened fire on Mobotropolis! Why was it doing this? What had the people of Mobius done to tick the owner off so badly? Well Sonic needed to stop the battleship's terror before it harmed, or even killed anyone. Sonic leapt out of the tree and picked up speed. He ran like a lightening bolt through the meadows as he headed to Mobotropolis. The battleship continued to fire on the impressive city, knocking down buildings and causing citizens to flee. At Castle Acorn, Sally noticed the danger and almost fainted with shock. Nicole came in and noticed Sally's frightened state.

"Anything wrong Sally?" asked Nicole politely.

"Look…out…side!" gasped Sally.

Nicole peered through the window and got the same shock as Sally. The battleship was still firing at the city of Mobotropolis but it was also coming towards Castle Acorn, slowly but steadily. Was it going to attack the castle too?

"Sally! We should get into the safety bunker before that thing shoots us!" yelped Nicole, preparing to run.

Unfortunately Sally couldn't move, she was frozen with fear. Nicole grabbed hold of Sally's arm and tried to pull her away but the battleship stopped right outside Castle Acorn and fired at the tower Sally and Nicole were in. Luckily, only one of the walls crumbled to bits and no one was hurt. Then a ramp telescoped out from the nose of the huge vessel and stopped at the floor of the castle. Down the ramp, came a funny looking robot with two wheels as legs, a pointy head and a upper-class expression on its face. The robot's body was painted to look like it was wearing a tuxedo and a bow tie. The robot stopped in front of Sally and Nicole and pulled out a scroll from a compartment in its side. It unfolded the scroll and read aloud from it.

"Attention Queen of Mobius." the robot's voice was that of a stereotypical posh gentleman "You are to come aboard by order of Dr. Eggman or we will use brute force on you all."

"Um, I'm not the queen." said Sally "I'm a princess and even if I was the queen, I will not come with you for any reason!"

The robot stared at her coldly and put the scroll away.

"Fine, then I guess my master will have to deal with you, you royal brat." it said darkly.

Just as he finished that sentence, the sound of feet pitter-pattering on the ramp followed. This time, it wasn't a robot; it was a human, a species unfamiliar to the Mobians. The human was tall and fat. He wore a red outfit with yellow squares on it, black trousers with what looked like screw heads on the sides of his shoes, and white gloves. He also wore glasses and had a thick bushy moustache. He had goggles perched on the top of his bald head. The human stood right next to the robot.

"Well Alonzo?" he asked the robot.

"This Mobian isn't the queen, she's the princess." reported Alonzo "And she's refusing to come."

The human glowered at Sally and Nicole. If he wasn't wearing glasses, you could probably see hatred in his eyes.

"I see." said the human "Princess, I am Dr. Eggman and I have come to take this planet for my own. And you will come with me or I will level this city faster then you can blink!"

Sally shivered at the human's cold words.

"I'm going to give you five seconds to decide if you're coming aboard or if I'm destroying the city below me!" warned Eggman, holding his hand up.

"Five…" down went one finger.

"Four…" down went another finger.

"Three…" Sally didn't know what to do. She knew instantly that Eggman could be trouble but she couldn't let him destroy her parent's kingdom. She had to do something to save her people and she knew what had to be done.

"Two…" said Eggman as he put his third finger down.

"One…"

"Wait!" cried Sally "I'll come with you."

"Sally?" gasped Nicole "You can't! Don't go!"

Sally turned to face her friend sadly.

"I have to do this for the sake of my people." said Sally "I'll be fine, I promise."

Nicole had doubts since she didn't like the look of Eggman one little bit but she always knew that Sally knew what she was doing even in helpless situations like this. Sally turned back to Dr. Eggman who was smiling at her evilly.

"I'll come on one condition." said Sally "If I come, no one gets hurt. If you refuse I won't come."

"You have the word of Dr. Ivo Eggman that not a single soul on the ground will get harmed." said Dr. Eggman "Now let's go princess."

Eggman and Alonzo turned around and walked back up the boarding ramp of the battleship with Sally following them reluctantly. Sally looked back at Nicole, a small tear trickled out her eye and down her cheek. Nicole waved goodbye at her, fighting back tears as she boarded the battleship with Eggman and Alonzo. The boarding ramp telescoped back into the ship and the ship turned slowly away from Castle Acorn. Nicole couldn't take it anymore, she had to get help but just before she could leave the room the door flung open and Sonic appeared.

"Yo Nicole, what's the drama?" asked Sonic, surveying the destroyed room.

"That battleship attacked the castle and the person who owns it has taken Princess Sally!" cried Nicole, tears flowed down her face "You have to help her Sonic, who knows what that man will do to her!"

Sonic's eyes widened in shock. If there was one thing he hated it was looking slow and the fact he got there the moment Sally got kidnapped was unforgivable.

"Don't you worry Nicole, I'm gonna save the princess and teach that guy some manners!" said Sonic.

"Be careful out there." said Nicole.

"I'll be fine." assured Sonic "Now it's time I jammed outta here!"

He began to run and charged straight forward. He leapt out of the wrecked room and straight towards the battleship which had almost finished turning around to leave. If Sonic missed this, he would get jet fumes in the face. Luckily though Sonic just managed to catch the tip of one of the wings with his hands. Sonic fought to hold on as the ship finished turning and began to activate its jet engines. The ship began to zoom away from Castle Acorn and right over the semi-wrecked city of Mobotropolis. Sonic scrambled onto the wing and held on tight as he tried to figure out a way in.

"I'm not gonna let the psycho who owns this battleship harm the princess or anyone else!" said Sonic with great determination "I'll save everyone!"

Onboard the colossal battleship, Sally was sitting in a chair, thick steal cuffs wrapped around her wrists to keep her to the chair. Alonzo circled her slowly, observing every inch of her body. Then he stopped in front of her and smirked.

"Not much of a princess are you?" sneered Alonzo "I thought princess wore fancier outfits then that."

"Oh shut up!" snapped Sally "At least my outfit isn't painted on like yours is!"

Alonzo fumed in anger. "Of course my outfit's painted on!" he snapped "I'm a robot; robot's don't wear clothes of any kind! Well I guess my armour could count as an outfit of sorts…"

He was interrupted by the sound of a door opening. It was only Dr. Eggman. He walked into the room with an evil smirk on his moustachioed face. He stared evilly at his captive Mobian, restrained to a chair and helpless looking. Sally tried to hide her fear by keeping a straight face as she looked at Eggman.

"So, what did you want with me or my mother?" asked Sally.

"I hoped you would ask." said Dr. Eggman "Because I have an easy answer for you. The people on this animal inhabited planet care a lot for their King and Queen do they?"

Sally wasn't sure she should answer but she did with a nod of the head.

"So if I have you, then all the citizens will get desperate to have you back, especially your parents." purred Dr. Eggman "So I'll exchange you…for the planet!"

"I'm a hostage and I'm being used for blackmail too?" shrieked Sally "How could you?"

"I only want a place to build my dream Eggman Empire." replied Dr. Eggman "And I couldn't conquer my home planet because their forces are too strong so I went out into space looking for a weaker planet to target, and this seems like the perfect one."

"You think Mobius is weak because we're all animals?" said Sally "Didn't anyone ever tell you never to judge a book by its cover?"

"Um, this is a planet, not a book so how can we judge a book by its cover if it isn't a book?" said Alonzo, scratching his metal pointed head.

Dr. Eggman clopped him round the head, causing it to spin around faster then a roundabout. Alonzo's head stopped spinning but his eyes didn't.

"It's a term of phrase you incompetent piece of titanium!" snarled Dr. Eggman "And I thought I perfected you in the grammar department!"

Alonzo's eyes finally stopped spinning and the poor servant bot fainted.

"We may look weak but we're stronger then you think!" said Sally Acorn bravely "We won't surrender to you!"

Dr. Eggman stared at Sally with a scowl on his face. He adjusted his glasses and turned away from her. He put his hands behind his back.

"I'm pretty sure they will…" said Eggman, his voice all soft and dangerous sounding.

Sally swallowed a lump in her throat. This man was very creepy there was no denying it. And what if this man's plan to take over Mobius succeeded? The planet would have a very dark future indeed.

"Sonic, where are you…?" Sally whispered under her breath.

Sonic had finally managed to climb across the wing he had grabbed hold of and began to climb up the ship's hull. This ship was a lot bigger up close and Sonic knew it, but no ship of any size was bigger then Sonic's determination to save Mobius from disaster. The battleship had left the smoking city behind and was just hovering over a nearby field.

Sonic looked over his shoulder to see the damages done to Mobotropolis. The city looked like an earthquake had gone straight down the middle of it. Buildings had crumbled into pieces and the roads were cracked so much they might cave in if anymore damage was done to them. Seeing all this made Sonic furious, Mobotropolis was his home city after all. Sonic turned his attention back to the ship. He was almost on top of the huge vessel. Once there, he could just run forward, into the bridge and confront the man who piloted this death machine. But before he could climb any further the ship jerked slightly and then began to turn around again.

"Oh great, another attack?" groaned Sonic as he held on tight.

The ship turned around 180 degrees so it was facing Mobotropolis once again. However it didn't make any attempts to move forward or attack. Instead it just remained where it was. Then a huge holographic picture emerged out of a window from the bridge tower. The picture showed Dr. Eggman. All the Mobians of Mobotropolis stared in fear at the huge image.

"Attention citizens of Mobius." Eggman's voice boomed out from the image "I am Dr. Eggman and I have come to take this planet for my own."

The city echoed with a chorus of gasping, especially from Sonic.

"And if you furry freaks don't do as I ask…" said Eggman "Then you'll never see your precious princess again!"

He stepped to the side to show Sally restrained in a chair and Alonzo was pointing a gun at her. He didn't look very happy having to do so. Mobotropolis was filled with even louder gasping from before.

"I'll give you the princess back if you surrender your world to me." said Dr. Eggman "I'll give you ten minutes to decide. If you don't surrender Mobius to me, I'll lay siege to the whole city and wipe you all out!"

Then he cackled a loud demented cackle. The image switched off. The crowd of Mobians murmured to one another, wondering what they should do. Nicole saw the whole thing from the wrecked tower she stood in, her stomach was filled with worry, so much she thought she'd burst. As for Sonic he was filled with more determination then before after Eggman's testimony.

"So he wants to conquer the world does he?" muttered Sonic "Well I am not going to let him!"

Sonic got his feet and eyed the bridge tower. Sonic began to spin into a spin dash and prepared to launch himself at the bridge where he would have a showdown with that creep Eggman.

Meanwhile Eggman began pacing back and forth waiting for someone to speak up. Sally just sat where she was, praying for something good to happen. Alonzo just stood where he was watching Eggman pace back and forth constantly. Finally after one whole minute, Eggman got cross.

"How long does it take to make a decision?" he groaned "The princess made hers in five seconds so it shouldn't take those fools on the ground a full 10 minutes to decide what happens!"

"You forget Master," said Alonzo "Decisions can take a lot of time you know. Especially if it's something like this."

"I didn't ask for you opinion you stuck-up servant bot!" roared Eggman "Now be quiet unless I give you permission to speak!"

"Yes master." grumbled Alonzo. He began cursing under his breath.

"You can't do this!" said Sally bravely "I won't let you take over our Homeworld!"

"And who's gonna stop me?" taunted Dr. Eggman "Some imaginary hero you made up?"

Then suddenly one of the windows behind him shattered and the sound of shattering glass screamed in his ears. Glass flew everywhere, narrowly missing Sally and Eggman. Eggman turned around sharply to see what had happened. There stood a blue hedgehog with a scowl and a smirk on his face.

"I'm not sure about imaginary, but I'm a hero you can be sure of that!" said Sonic.

"How dare you break my master's windows?" yelled Alonzo "I spent ages cleaning those! He loves to see his lovely face in them!"

"Well your master should look in a mirror!" snickered Sonic "Provided it didn't crack when he did so!"

Sally Acorn beamed with relief, to see Sonic the Hedgehog, hero of Mobius there to help at last.

"Who are you?" demanded Dr. Eggman.

"I'm Sonic, Sonic the Hedgehog." introduced Sonic "And I'm the hero of this planet, and I'm gonna save the princess and put an end to your plans for world domination!"

Eggman cackled like a demented Santa Claus.

"Ho, ho, ho, ho, ho! How do you think you're gonna stop me then?" he jeered.

"Like this!" cried Sonic, spinning into a ball.

He spin dashed straight into Dr. Eggman's stomach. Eggman gasped as all the air in his body escaped his lungs and he was flung back like a tossed stone. Eggman crashed into the wall and gasped violently. Alonzo got very mad and charged at Sonic, doing a very bad sounding roar as he did so. Sonic smirked at Alonzo and spin-dashed him as well. But since Alonzo was a robot, he smashed into pieces. Alonzo's body parts littered the floor. The servant bot grumbled to himself but Sonic just laughed at him.

"As that all you've got Eggman?" he jeered "I've seen robots in movies better then this!"

Dr. Eggman got to his feet and growled loudly. He pulled out a remote device and pressed a blue button on it. Two doors opened and out of these doors marched ten robots. These robots had spiked heads, chicken walker legs and guns instead of hands. They had two laser cannons that acted as tails and they were all red in colour with yellow reptilian eyes. They surrounded Sonic and Sally and aimed their weapons at the two. Their guns clicked loudly as they reloaded themselves.

"If you don't leave now Sonic, I will have to destroy you and the princess." threatened Eggman "And you don't want that to happen do you?"

Sonic just gave Eggman a calm smirk.

"That's a LITTLE better, but still no contest." said Sonic smoothly "Now, I'm going to show you why I'm called Sonic."

Sonic got into a position ready to run. Then before anyone could do anything, Sonic took off. As Sonic ran he charged into all the robots at the speed of a bullet, destroying each of them as he hit them. Dr. Eggman just stood there with his mouth wide open. Alonzo had just put himself back together but Sonic ran into him and destroyed him again. Alonzo wailed in agony as his pieces flew everywhere again. Sonic then destroyed the last robot and leapt at Sally's chair. He snapped the cuffs around Sally's wrists, scooped her up and zipped towards the control pad. Dr. Eggman tried to leap at him but Sonic was obviously too fast for him so he missed. Sonic hit the control pad with his feet and put a horrible dent in it. Some of the buttons had broken and the control pad cracked a little. Then Sonic leapt out of the broken window with Sally in tow. Dr. Eggman pulled on his moustache with anger. He was standing in a circle of robot pieces and flying sparks. This sight made Eggman even crosser. He leapt about in blind fury. As he was doing this Alonzo finished putting himself back together again.

"Can I get you a soothing drink master?" he asked politely.

"No drink can sooth my anger now!" growled Eggman "That hedgehog has earned my hatred for life! This means war Alonzo, get the gun turrets ready!"

"Yes sir." said Alonzo, zipping over to the control pad.

His expression grew worried as he saw it. The centre of the control pad was cracked horribly and many buttons were broken or sunken into the column so deeply they could not be pressed no matter what.

Those controls were for the gun turrets, they wouldn't be working if the control pad was broken. Alonzo turned around, sweating oil as he dared to give Eggman the bad news.

"Sir, the g-g-gun turret control pad is s-s-severely d-damaged." whimpered Alonzo "The gun-turrets won't work!"

Eggman looked like he was going to have a heart-attack.

"WHAT?" he shrieked. Then his face turned purple with rage "That stupid hedgehog! Well I will not lose to him so easily; I have another trick up my sleeve!"

He ran over to a different part of the control pad that wasn't damaged and pressed a yellow and black striped button.

Outside, Sonic ran across the battleship holding Sally in his arms. The wind whizzed over their heads as Sonic ran.

"Thank you so much Sonic." said Sally.

"Don't mention it Sal, that's what I was born to do." said Sonic modestly "I'm not letting some creep take over our home world and making it a living nightmare for us all!"

Sally smiled in appreciation. Then suddenly Sonic screeched to a halt. He had just reached the edge of the battleship. Unfortunately the only way down was a very long drop and if they jumped it Sonic would probably break his legs in the process. There didn't seem to be any safe way down.

"How are we gonna get down from here?" Sally said with an obvious tone of worry.

"I have no idea." said Sonic "I don't wanna risk a jump like that either, we're too high up."

Then suddenly the sound of jetpacks filled their ears. Eggman had sent out some flying robots. They looked like the ones Sonic destroyed on the bridge only they were equipped with jet packs for flying. Sally yelped in surprise but Sonic just put a serious face on. The robots aimed their four guns at him and prepared to fire.

"Sonic, what are we gonna do?" cried Sally, burying her face into Sonic's chest.

"We are gonna use those robots to get down from here!" declared Sonic "Just hold on tight!"

Before Sally could question what he was on about, Sonic took flight. He hit the first robot in a powerful homing attack. The robot was sent spiralling out of control and it crashed into Eggman's battleship and exploded on impact. The force of the explosion shot Sonic and Sally straight into another robot. Sonic grabbed the robot by the spikes and started twisting it left and right as if it was a steering wheel. The robot began to fly in crazy somersaults in an attempt to shake the Mobians off. Sally held on tightly to Sonic as he tried to manoeuvre the robot into the ground. Unfortunately as the robot began to plummet to the ground, the other robots followed it and tried to shoot Sonic and Sally. One robot's gun blast skimmed straight past Sally's arm, causing her to yelp in pain. Sonic held on to Sally and leapt off the robot he was on. He hit another robot and caused it to spiral out of control. Then he hit a robot lower to the ground and sent that one flying. Then Sonic landed on another robot and hit it into a headfirst position so the jetpack would blast it down instead of up. Sonic held on as the robot plummeted to the ground faster then a cheetah. Then seconds before it crashed into the ground, Sonic leapt off it with Sally in his arms. The remaining two robots landed on the ground and aimed their cannons at the Mobians. Sonic charged at one and homing attacked it in the torso, smashing it to pieces as he hit it. Then he spin dashed into the last one. The last robot crumbled into tiny bolts and broken circuitry. Sonic dusted his hands off.

"All in a day's work." he said "You alright Sal?"

As for Sally, despite looking shaken, she was laughing at the whole thing that had just gone off. Sonic looked at her with a confused face.

"What's so funny Sal?" he asked.

"That was one of the most thrilling things of my life!" Sally squealed happily "Sonic, that was so incredible what you just did!"

Sonic giggled modestly. "Well one tries, I didn't think everything would work as well as it did. I haven't done things as extreme as that before!"

Sonic and Sally laughed some more at their incredible escape from the battleship. But their victory was short-lived however. A holographic image emerged from the battleship. The image showed Eggman's furious face. He was red with sheer anger, so red in fact he looked like a ripe tomato.

"You may have saved your precious princess Sonic but can you save your precious city as well?" bellowed Dr. Eggman.

"You do what you want!" yelled Sonic "I'll just stop you, no matter the cost egg-head!"

Eggman smirked confidently. "We'll see about that." he purred "I have to repair the controls to the gun-turrets since you smashed them." he added "So enjoy yourselves while you can! Because once I'm finished this city will be erased from the map!"

And he laughed his demented cackle once again as the holographic image switched off. There was a very long silence. Then Sonic finally spoke up.

"That Eggman sounds like he means business." said Sonic "What should we do?"

Sally Acorn gave a heavy sigh and said "I think it's time we brought the Council of Acorn to meeting…"

The Royal Fighter's Service: Part 1

Story 1: The Royal Fighters Service Part 1

Not long after Eggman's statement, Sonic and Sally returned to Castle Acorn to bring the council together. Sally's parents and Nicole were thrilled to the bone to see Sally back safe and sound. They were also eternally grateful to Sonic for saving her.

"God bless you Sonic." said King Max "For what you did out there."

Sonic just gave a casual smile "Your welcome Your Majesty." he said.

Moments later the Council of Acorn had been gathered and now they began thinking hard on what to do against this new threat that had arrived to Mobius. The council members consisted of The King and Queen themselves, a pig named Hamlin, a porcupine named Dylan, a platypus named Penelope and a mongoose named Julian. King Max was the first to speak.

"Now everyone here, I guess you already know why we're all gathered here." he said "Our glorious home is under siege from a deadly new threat, nothing like we've ever encountered before."

"And as you can see, this invader has already done a great deal of damage to Mobotropolis." added Alicia "So this is a much more serious situation then we've ever had before."

The Council members murmured amongst each other. Sonic, Sally and Nicole all stood before them waiting for their permission to speak.

"If I heard correctly, this invader calls himself Dr. Eggman." continued Max "And he wishes to take control of Mobius it seems as he tried to trade our daughter for the planet. But thanks to the heroic intentions of our friend, Sonic the Hedgehog, Sally was saved without any sign of harm done to her."

Sonic gave the council a thumbs up sign.

"Permission to speak sire?" he asked.

"Granted." said Max, intent on hearing what he had to say. Sonic walked closer to the council table and spoke.

"This Eggman guy has more then just that huge battleship out there." he said "He has robotic minions at his side. This guy looks like a mad genius and I'm pretty sure he is judging by the robots he's built."

"They can't be that strong, you took them all out." noted Alicia.

"That's because I can run fast." noted Sonic "If the robots attacked anyone else, I can't guarantee they'll be lucky because no one on Mobius can run as fast as I can."

Alicia nodded in agreement, Sonic was indeed the fastest person on the planet, no one else could run as fast as he could so the citizens of Mobius would be in even greater danger then Sonic would if Eggman's supposed robot minions attacked.

"And I bet there'll be a time where I meet my match and I'll need help." added Sonic "So I thought we could ask anyone to sign up for combat training so they'll be able to fight against Eggman's wrath."

"Are you nuts?" yelled Hamlin "Just think how many lives are at risk if we do that!"

"Oh shut up Hamlin!" hissed Max "You're not authorised to speak right now."

Hamlin folded his arms and grumbled. King Max turned his attention back to Sonic

"Sonic, Hamlin does have a point there." said Max wearily "But if we don't do anything against this madman, our world is over."

"So do you approve?" asked Sonic hopefully.

"We'll begin the voting session." said Max "All in favour of Sonic's idea?"

Everyone except Hamlin raised their hands and said "Yay." Hamlin just said "Nay." being the grumpy porker he is.

"The Council has voted and the votes go in favour of Sonic's idea." said Max "We shall hand out training lessons for the citizens of Mobius and those who sign up will be appointed as the Kingdom of Acorn's Royal Fighters. That is all everyone."

The council members left their seats and walked out of the room to bet back to their usual activates. Sonic, Sally and Nicole left the room with looks of concern on their faces.

"That was a good idea Sonic, but do you think anyone will sign up?" asked Sally, worriedly.

Sonic just gave her a casual expression. "I hope so, because despite my strength and speed, there might be a time where Eggman defeats me or even kills me and then who's gonna fight him when I'm gone?"

"That's a very good point." said Nicole "So we best keep our hopes up for any volunteers. I'll get the posters made."

And with that, Nicole walked into a room where the Acorn family do most of their writing work to make some posters that would advertise the Royal Fighters Service and hopefully get some volunteers. Despite the king's approval of the idea, Sonic knew that the next few days and weeks were going to be very hard for all the people of Mobius…

"Alonzo, what's the level of damage done to the control pad like?" asked Dr. Eggman.

He and Alonzo had spent the whole time cleaning up the masses of robot pieces that littered the floor. Now that was done Eggman wanted to know what the damage to the control pad was like.

"I'll run a diagnostic test immediately." announced Alonzo in his upper class English accented behaviour.

Alonzo pressed a button on the undamaged side of the control pad and told the computer to run a test for damage. The computer fell silent except for whirring and buzzing noises as it scanned. The computer finished scanning and gave its report.

"The damage is 90%" droned the computer "It may take some time to repair."

Alonzo muttered and mumbled some angry gibberish under his breath.

"The damage is pretty high sir." reported Alonzo "It could take hours or days to repair."

That wasn't what Dr. Eggman wanted to hear but it couldn't be helped could it? Sonic did land on those gun turret controls very hard after all.

"I don't care how long it takes to fix those blasted controls!" shouted Eggman "I just want them fixed! NOW GET TO IT YOU USELESS BUTLER-BOT!"

"Yes sir." mumbled Alonzo angrily.

He trundled over to the controls, opened one of his side compartments and pulled out a toolbox. He had no idea how long it would take to fix those infernal controls but he had to do it otherwise Eggman would probably mash him into tiny pieces. Or even send him to the scrap yard. As Alonzo began to work on the broken control pad, Eggman surveyed the computer monitors that gave him a clear view of the semi-wrecked city of Mobotropolis below him. It gave Eggman great pleasure to watch what his victims were up to while he was sitting in his huge battleship waiting to attack. Eggman also began to have images of a destroyed city in his evil mind. Then something caught his sharp eyes. Dr. Eggman peered closer at the centre monitor. He could see a brown dot wondering about the city. Dr. Eggman zoomed in the monitor's views so he could see what was happening. The monitor now showed him Nicole carrying a bunch of posters under her arm. She walked to several lampposts that hadn't fallen over or some buildings that were still intact and stuck the posters on them. Nicole walked away to stick up another poster. Eggman zoomed in the monitor even further so he could see what the poster said. The monitor gave him a clear view of the poster stuck to one of the walls on an intact building. The poster said:

ROYAL FIGHTERS NEEDED!

Our good King Maximilian Acorn has decided to have an eager group of fighters fight against the new menace that has invaded Mobius in threat of taking it over. The volunteers that sign up must be already skilled in combat or eager to help protect our dear home planet from this invader. If there are any volunteers who aren't skilled in combat, there will be a special training session with the combat experts of Mobius. Please sign up and fight for Mobius!

Yours sincerely, the Kingdom of Acorn.

Dr. Eggman just erupted in laughter. He laughed so loud he surprised Alonzo and Alonzo accidentally hit himself with a hammer. He groaned and rubbed his pointy head.

"What in the world of technology is so funny master?" shrieked Alonzo, feeling the newly formed dent in his head.

"Those furry fools have decided to form a resistance against us!" explained Eggman "How bold they are!"

"So why is that funny?" said Alonzo "If this resistance has that slimy worm Sonic then we're in trouble, and maybe the Mobians helping him might just be as strong as he is!"

Dr. Eggman stopped laughing and suddenly fell silent. Even though he hated it when Alonzo noticed something important before did, he knew the butler-bot was right. What if the Mobians had fighters that were just as strong as Sonic was? Sonic took a whole squad of robots out without breaking a sweat so who knew what those Mobians could do to him and his robots? He had to sort that out and fast! And luckily he had the perfect idea. Eggman stroked his moustache slowly.

"Alonzo, I have just the thing to deal with those resistant little Mobians." he purred darkly "Get the roboticizer ready!"

"But who's going to take care of the control pad?" asked Alonzo.

"I will." said Dr. Eggman "Now get the roboticizer ready! I'll explain my plan once it's ready!"

"Yes sir! Definitely sir!" said Alonzo happily, zooming off in a hurry.

After Alonzo left, Dr. Eggman picked up the toolbox and began to continue working on the control pad. He couldn't wait to put his next plan into action…

Three whole days passed and not many people had signed up to the Royal Fighters Service. There was only Sonic himself and two volunteers. One of these two was a skunk in a combat suit named Geoffrey St. John. He was armed with an arm mounted crossbow that could fire darts of different kinds. He spoke with an Australian accent too. The other was a red female fox named Fiona. She wore a black crop top and black trousers with black shoes and black fingerless gloves. For some daft reason she had a dainty yellow bow tie on her head (I guess she's a child at heart). Sonic sighed at the disappointingly small team he ended up with.

"I guess not many people are keen on the whole "save the world" get go." said Sonic "Shame really."

"I wouldn't worry about it mate." said Geoffrey kindly "It doesn't matter how big our team is, it's how strong the team is."

"How skilled are you two?" asked Sonic "Do you need training?"

"Nah mate." said Geoffrey "I've been taught the combat basics since I was a little boy. That's why I wear this suit of mine."

"What about you Fiona?" asked Sonic.

"I've learnt a little bit of fighting to defend myself." replied Fiona "But not the advanced stuff."

"I guess we're alright then." said Sonic "I just hope you can keep up with me."

"Ooh, cocky are we mate?" teased Geoffrey "Cockiness can lead to trouble y' know!"

"Thanks Geoffrey." muttered Sonic "Just watch your attitude."

"Are we gonna fight each other instead of this Eggman freak?" snapped Fiona, obviously not keen on watching boys fight each other.

Geoffrey gave Fiona a slight frown but said nothing whereas Sonic raised an eyebrow.

"You sound like you could stop a fight." noted Sonic "That's very helpful."

"Thanks." Fiona said modestly.

Then the door opened and in walked the King and Queen. Geoffrey and Fiona stood together. Sonic stood to the side and bowed to them. Max and Alicia turned to face the volunteers. Max observed them closely.

"These two look like natural born fighters." said Max proudly "I just wonder why no one else has bothered about signing up."

"Not everyone is keen on fighting dear." said Alicia softly "There are only so many people with that kind of interest."

Max nodded in agreement and turned to face Sonic.

"My boy, you'll have to make do with these two until we get more volunteers in the future." he said.

"I'll make sure we don't let you down." said Sonic, hoping that he wouldn't.

"Excellent." said Max happily "Now you three may go…"

But before he can say anything else, Nicole burst into the room. She looked like she had just escaped from a pack of ravenous wolves and lived to tell the tale.

"Sonic! You highness!" she squeaked "That crazy guy Eggman's moving forward! I think he's about to attack us!"

Alicia clasped her hands over her mouth to prevent herself from squealing whereas Max gasped loudly. Sonic however just smirked.

"It's time for the Royal Fighters to go into action!" he declared happily "Come on Geoffrey and Fiona!"

Sonic ran out of the room with Geoffrey and Fiona following him closely. They ran out of the castle and screeched to a halt to see what was going on. The whole city of Mobotropolis had suddenly grown dark as Eggman's battleship slowly flew over, blocking out the sun and covering the city in a huge shadow. However none of its gun turrets were pointing down at the city below it. They were still pointing forward. Then, from directly underneath, a huge funnel shaped contraption telescoped slowly out from the ship.

"What's that?" asked Fiona, shaking.

"I dunno." said Sonic.

"We'll have to see what it does." said Geoffrey.

Then before another word could be uttered, the funnel thing finished telescoping out and made a loud noise. Then it made another noise, but this noise sounded more like a giant vacuum cleaner in reverse. Sonic felt the wind whizzing past him from behind. Then he felt himself slowly get tugged forward. The same was happening to Geoffrey and Fiona. And the same was happening to all the other citizens. The battleship was attempting to suck everything up! Several nearby Mobians were suddenly yanked from the ground and sucked up into the funnel shaped contraption. Sonic almost found himself being sucked up but he managed to grab on to a nearby lamppost and held on as tight as his hands would let him. Geoffrey held on with him. Fiona wasn't so lucky as she was sucked up before she could grab onto anything. The strength of the sucking wind was intense but Sonic fought hard to hold on to the lamppost. He wasn't letting Eggman get him. Then suddenly the sucking died down and the funnel shaped contraption telescoped slowly back into the battleship's underbelly. The hatch closed as the funnel finished coming back inside. Then the battleship began to back away from Mobotropolis, its engines roaring loudly as it did so. Sonic gasped for breath as he finally let go of the lamppost. Geoffrey was just as shaken as he was. He let go, flumped on his bottom and gasped.

"Well I didn't see THAT coming!" cried Sonic.

"Neither did I mate." spluttered Geoffrey "That bloke Eggman has a few bloomin' surprises up his sleeve I'll say."

"Well we have to spring into action now." noted Sonic "That creep just kidnapped half the city! And Fiona!"

Geoffrey pulled a dart out of a pocket on his belt and loaded his arm mounted crossbow.

"Good thing I have just the dart for the occasion." he smirked.

The skunk aimed his arm at the backing up battleship and fired his crossbow. The dart shot out of the crossbow, a long cable unwinding behind it as it flew, and it struck the underbelly of the battleship. Geoffrey pulled on the cable to make sure it was nice and tight and then started climbing up it. Sonic decided to follow his skunk partner as he had the only way up to that ship. As they climbed further and further up the cable, Sonic thought on what Eggman could possibly be planning to do with all those Mobians he had just captured.

"A success! A brilliant success!" cheered Dr. Eggman, leaping about in a rather comical dance "My battleship's sucker definitely sucked up a lot of Mobians for me to roboticize!"

All the Mobians that had just been sucked up onto the ship were now trapped in cages made of Diamond Glass, one of the hardest substances on Mobius. Eggman found that out after a brief study of the planet upon arrival and collected some Diamond Glass from a glass factory in a different city from Mobotropolis. Those captive Mobians wouldn't be going anywhere in a hurry. Fiona was more upset then anyone. Her first mission for the newly formed Royal Fighters and already she gets captured, how unlucky was that? Eggman eyed all his captives evilly.

"I bet you're wondering why I've brought you all here." he said smoothly.

The frightened Mobians nodded their heads.

"Well, I'll explain it to you." said Eggman.

Alonzo appeared beside him and held out a billboard which explained Eggman's plans in five easy steps. Eggman pointed to each step as he explained his plan.

"You see, I found out about this Royal Fighters Service you furry freaks of nature decided to form." explained Eggman "And that troublesome hedgehog Sonic was already one heck of a handful for me and if he has any accomplices, I have more trouble to deal with so I decided to kidnap you all as I go and turn you all into my demonic, robotic minions with a flick of the switch! That way no one can stop me!"

And he erupted into a loud evil cackle. Fiona shivered. She had no idea how Eggman was going to "turn them all into robots" but she knew that Eggman couldn't possibly be kidding. After Eggman stopped cackling he turned to Alonzo.

"Alonzo, prepare to activate the roboticizer!" he ordered.

"With pleasure sir." said Alonzo, more then happy to do so.

He zoomed over to the control pad and began pressing keys on the keypad. Eggman turned his attention to a computer monitor that displayed a map of the planet. He leafed through the various states, cities and continents, wondering which city to target next after he roboticized the bunch of Mobians he had now. After all, if Mobotropolis gave the word to the other continents, these places would try and follow in their footsteps and probably overwhelm him. Eggman eyed a city on the map named "Grand Metropolis". This was the second largest city on Mobius and bound to be brimming with Mobians. Eggman pressed a button marked "Target Lock" and a target locking symbol appeared on the monitor.

"Now once I've finished here, I can set the ship's course to this "Metropolis" and level that place just as I have to this one." he said to himself.

"The roboticizer is ready to activate master!" announced Alonzo gleefully.

"Excellent!" cried Eggman "Activate it Alonzo!"

Alonzo saluted proudly and pressed a large square button surrounded by black and yellow warning stripes marked "Activate". All the glass cages began to glow a terrific electrical blue colour. Incredible flashes of blue electricity crackled around the cages and they hummed really loudly. The trapped Mobians began frantically banging against the wall in a feeble attempt to escape. However Diamond Glass couldn't be shattered or broken by even the strongest of forces, even a bomb wouldn't work on it! Dr. Eggman cackled menacingly as he watched the roboticizing process unfold before his evil eyes. Then suddenly, a window broke and in leaped Sonic the Hedgehog and Geoffrey St. John! Dr. Eggman turned around and shrieked with horror.

"Hey Eggman, miss me?" sneered Sonic.

"Wh…wh…wha…?" stuttered Eggman.

"Oh that's just great! Another broken window to add to my list!" moaned Alonzo, surveying the slithers of glass all over the shiny floor.

"So, what's with the light show?" asked Sonic.

"You're too late hedgehog!" gloated Eggman "All these captives are being roboticized before your very eyes!"

"What in the name of Mobotropolis does "roboticize" mean?" asked Sonic.

"It means, I am turning all these furry fools into robots that will obey my will!" retorted Eggman.

Sonic and Geoffrey both stared at him, wide eyed and jaw-dropped.

"Now that's just sick!" cried Geoffrey, aiming his crossbow at him.

Sonic leapt at Eggman and landed a powerful kick on the evil man's face. Eggman yelped in pain as he was knocked off his feet. Then Sonic, seizing his chance, ran to the nearest cage and looked at the small key pad on it. He saw a green button marked "open" so he pressed it. The cage stopped glowing and the glass case lifted up to reveal a terrified but relieved Fiona Fox.

"Oh thank you Sonic!" gasped Fiona, clutching her pounding chest.

"Come on Fiona, we have to save everyone else!" cried Sonic.

Fiona leapt out the cage and ran to a nearby cage while Sonic ran to another one. They both pressed the open button on the respective cages and they opened up. The Mobians in those cages were an orange dog in army camouflage coloured shorts and a purple mouse with a yellow tail wearing a lime-green sleeveless top and a short skimpy skirt. The relieved Mobians thanked Sonic and Fiona and ran for cover. Unfortunately though, it seemed this would be all Sonic would be rescuing because all the other cages stopped glowing and in their places stood evil robotical versions of their old selves. Metal replaced fur and their eyes all glowed a terrifying blood red colour. They were all armed with razor-sharp teeth and claws. And when they spoke, their voices sounded more electronic and threatening then they once did. Some of the roboticized Mobians even roared instead of spoke.

"Now that's way past un-cool!" cried Sonic.

"They're all monsters!" shrieked Fiona.

Then suddenly Geoffrey appeared, holding an unconscious yellow female rabbit wearing a pink leotard in his arms. However the rabbit's legs and left arm were now robotical instead of organic. Sonic and Fiona stared at the rabbit with amazement.

"I managed to save this one before she was fully roboticized." said Geoffrey "But I was a little too late."

"She's half rabbit, half robot!" squeaked Fiona.

"She's a RABBOT!" joked Sonic.

Geoffrey chuckled slightly.

"Boys, can we laugh later?" said Fiona crossly "Right now we've got thousands of killer robots to deal with!"

"Oh yeah." said Sonic, turning his attention back to the roboticized Mobians that stood before them.

All the cages containing them opened up to set them free. The monstrous robots then advanced on the three fighters menacingly, bearing their teeth and growling softly. Sonic, Geoffrey and Fiona took a step back. The robots hissed in unison, oil dripping from their mouths. Dr. Eggman got back to his feet and stared in satisfaction at his handy work. The roboticizer had been a great success! Pity four of the thousands he'd captured were rescued before they could be roboticized but who cared if he had four robots short in his army? The number he had now was good enough as it is. Eggman cackled tauntingly at the fighters.

"You were much too late my courageous fighters!" he crowed "Now bare witness to my new minions, the Robians!"

"Oh I get it," mocked Sonic "It's short for "Roboticized Mobian" isn't it?"

"Yes." muttered Dr. Eggman "So can you dare to attack your own species?"

"They're not Mobians anymore!" yelled Fiona "They're robots! Evil monstrous robots!"

"We're gonna make you pay for that you black-hearted fiend!" declared Geoffrey, aiming his crossbow and preparing to fire.

"Well we'll see about that, won't we?" sneered Eggman "Robians, ATTACK!" he bellowed.

Before Sonic and the others had time to react, the ferocious Robians leapt on them, snarling like lions…

The Royal Fighter's Service: Part 2

Story 2: The Royal Fighters Service Part 2

Sonic leapt into the air as the Robians all dived towards him. They all hit the floor face first. Sonic got into his spin-dash move and charged at one Robian. He hit it in the back of the head so hard the Robian's optics nearly popped out. Another Robian tried to slash Sonic but the speedy hedgehog leapt out of the way, the Robian's claws missing him by centimetres. Fiona tried a dropkick on one Robian but the Robian ducked and gave her a terrific punch to the face. Fiona flew across the room and landed headfirst into the wall. She hit it so hard she passed out. A Robian which assembled a vole ran up to Fiona, ready to attack her but Geoffrey shot at it with his arm mounted crossbow. Several stun darts hit it in the face and put the Robian out of commission. Unfortunately Geoffrey found himself under attack from a Robian that assembled what was once a bat. It tore at his combat suit with its razor-sharp claws and prepared to bite him in the neck with it's fangs but Sonic homing-attacked it in the back and knocked it off of Geoffrey. Dr. Eggman laughed joyfully as he watched his new robotic minions battle the fighting heroes.

"Fight all you want you pathetic beasts!" sneered Eggman "You won't keep it up for long!"

"Should we send in the normal robots to join in with these roboticized-Mobians?" asked Alonzo.

"Maybe we should." thought Eggman momentarily "It would make things even harder for that meddling hedgehog."

Then suddenly he was punched in the face by a sudden robotic fist! Eggman's eyes had swirls in them and he saw lots of stars. Then the fat doctor collapsed on the floor with a thump. Alonzo panicked and tried to run off but he was punched by the strange robotic fist. That punch was so hard it knocked the butler-bot's head clean off! Alonzo groaned and grumbled as he trundled over to pick his head up and put it back on. The robotic fist belonged to the half roboticized female rabbit. Her new robotic arm seemed to be able to stretch a good distance as she was about 10 feet away from Eggman and she managed to punch him and Alonzo. The rabbit looked surprised at the fact that just happened

"Oh mah stars." she said with a tone of amazement. Her voice was a thick southern accent "Ah could never do that before."

She then saw her roboticized arm and legs and had a bit of a freak out moment.

"Oh mah stars! Ah…ah have robot limbs now!" she squealed "How did that happen? Ah can't believe this! Well at least ah can give that ugly Eggman guy a whoppin' for doin' this to me!"

Sonic had seen the rabbit punch Eggman and Alonzo and was amazed to the bone. He ran over to her before the Robians could grab him.

"That was incredible!" he said "How did you do that?"

"Ah dunno sugah." said the rabbit "My new robotic arm just stretched and punched that crazy doctor in the face."

"Well those new robotic limbs seem to be useful don't they?" said Sonic, admiring them "What's your name?"

"Bunnie." said the rabbit "But ah guess ya'll could call me Bunnie Rab-BOT now I have robotic limbs!" she sniggered.

"OK then, Bunnie." said Sonic, winking "Care to help us fight these guys off so we can stop Eggman and send him packing?"

"Sure sugar-hog!" beamed Bunnie, flexing her robotic left arm and robotic legs "Ah'd love to!"

And with that Bunnie's arm stretched and she landed a powerful punch in the face of a Robian that looked like a cat of some kind. The Robian looked dazed and confused and it fainted. Two other Robians saw this and scampered towards Bunnie, snarling loudly. Sonic charged straight at the two Robians and homing attacked them both on the head. They both fainted and flumped on the floor.

As for Geoffrey he reloaded his crossbow and fired five stun darts at five advancing Mobians, knocking them all out momentarily. However the poor skunk was getting a little worn out. Then one Robian leapt on him from behind and began tearing chunks out of his backpack. Geoffrey grabbed the Robian and flipped it over, hitting the floor hard with it.

"Oi! I need that backpack to store me weapons mate!" he grumbled.

Then another Robian leapt on his back but Geoffrey was ready for it and shook it off with a good shake. The Robian flew off Geoffrey and hit the wall. The dog and mouse that had been freed before they were roboticized had been watching the whole fight with amazement and they began to think they could probably join the Royal Fighters once they got off the battleship. As for poor Fiona, she finally came to and staggered onto her feet. She rubbed her head wearily and tried to focus her attention on the attacking Robians. Then suddenly before she could react a Robian lunged at her and slashed her across the stomach. Fiona kicked it under the chin but another Robian leapt on her and chomped on her other leg. Fiona squealed in pain as the two Robians pulled her onto the floor and prepared to tear her apart. However they were both punched into the air by Bunnie's robotic arm. Fiona stared at her with amazement.

"Oh thank you miss!" she gasped.

"You're welcome sugah." said Bunnie, flexing her robot arm "Ya'll OK?"

"No, one of those monsters just gave me a good bite on the leg." groaned Fiona, clutching her left leg. There were deep puncture wounds on the lower part of the leg, caused by the Robian's sharp teeth. She wouldn't be walking for a while now.

"Ah think ya'll should rest." said Bunnie with concern "That looks nasty."

Fiona grimaced as she lay against the wall. This was certainly not her day. Her first mission and she was punched in the face, knocked out, slashed and bitten. Some fighter she turned out to be! Meanwhile Sonic was having his fair share of Robians coming to attack and then getting beaten back by his homing attacks and spin-dashes. However Sonic was getting noticeably worn out. True he had great stamina but he had never battled so many foes before. And any Robian that had been beaten down before had just gotten back up for more. Ten Robians all ran up to Sonic, roaring like a pack of wolves. Sonic saw an opportunity and then got into a spin-dash. He charged straight at the oncoming Robians. He knocked them all down like skittles. As the fight continued Dr. Eggman finally came to. His face felt like there was a thorn the size of his finger stuck in the middle. Eggman watched the fight going on. The Robians were all getting knocked down continuously but they were coming back for more and looked like they were starting to wear out the Mobian heroes. He smiled evilly at his robotic minions as they fought.

"Well a roboticized Mobian certainly seems stronger then my usual stash of robots." he purred "And while those fools fight, I think I'll just wipe a city off the face of this planet."

He sneaked over to the gun-turret control pad which had been repaired the day before. He looked over his shoulder to make sure no one was watching him and then pressed the red button marked in capital letters "FIRE". The huge battleship's gun turrets all lowered down so they were aiming at the city of Mobotropolis down below and then they all fired huge yellow cannon blasts at the city. The buildings all erupted into a horrifying explosion of smoke, debris and fire. Any Mobians who were fortunate enough to not have been sucked up into the battleship ran for their lives. Some were unfortunate enough to get crushed or injured by falling debris. The buildings that had been blasted by the battleship began to crumble to the ground like a fallen sandcastle. Nicole was watching the horrifying scene from Castle Acorn and thought she was going to faint.

"Oh Sonic, help us!" she wailed to herself.

The battleship continued its onslaught of incredible firepower as buildings exploded, roads cracked and citizens ran about like a panicked colony of bees. Eggman just roared with laughter at the carnage he was causing. The sight of a city being destroyed was a beautiful sight to an evil man like himself after all. As for Sonic and friends, they were still fighting for their lives. However they were being overwhelmed by the mass number of Robians. No matter how many they knocked down, they just got back up and attacked again. As Sonic spin-dashed another Robian into the floor he panted heavier then a dog in hot weather.

"I dunno about you but I'm getting tired of this!" spluttered Sonic.

"There's too many of them!" gasped Geoffrey, sitting on his bottom "We'll be dead meat if we keep this up!"

"We're gonna have to escape or something." said Fiona, grunting at the pain flooding through her still paining leg.

"I have an idea." said Bunnie "Let's bring that Eggman guy crashing down to the ground first and then we escape. That should delay him for a while until we have a new battle plan."

"Nice one Bunnie." said Sonic agreeably "And I know how to do that."

He eyed Eggman at the control pad, laughing like a deranged clown at what he was doing to Mobotropolis. Sonic gathered up speed and charged straight into Eggman's back. Eggman screeched loudly as Sonic hit him. Then Sonic landed on the control pad, not hard enough to damage the controls this time around.

"Now which of these buttons will bring this thing down?" wondered Sonic as he surveyed the control pad.

Sadly he couldn't see a button marked "self-destruct" anywhere. Obviously Eggman was smarter then most fiends he'd faced before. Then he saw button that worked the engines. Maybe if he pressed that the engines would turn off and the ship would drop to the ground. Despite the fact he might end up killing everyone onboard, it would be worth it if he stopped Dr. Eggman once and for all. Sonic pressed the button without second thought.

"NO! NOT THAT ONE YOU MORON!" shouted Eggman.

Too late. Sonic pressed it and then the whole ship began to glow red. An alarm blared throughout the entire battleship and the engines stopped roaring as they switched off. All the Robians stopped attacking the fighters and looked around frantically, wondering what on Mobius was going on. Even Bunnie, Geoffrey and Fiona began to worry.

"What's goin' on?" yelped Bunnie.

"Your infernal friend just switched the engines off!" replied Eggman angrily "This ship is going to go down and crash!"

"What? shrieked Fiona "Are you mad Sonic? We're all gonna die!"

"No we aren't!" yelled Sonic "We're going to escape!"

He leapt for the broken window and flew clean out of it. Bunnie stretched her robotic arm and gripped the window frame. Fiona and Geoffrey held on to her and Bunnie pulled herself to the broken window. They all leapt out of the window in a hurry. Eggman ran about in blind panic, Alonzo followed him, not sure what to do. All the Robians didn't know what to do so they just copied Eggman and Alonzo. The ship's engine alarm continued to wail loudly. Then Eggman stopped running about and yelled.

"This isn't helping! We have to get to the escape pods!"

"Why don't we just turn the engines back on?" asked Alonzo.

"They won't power back up in time!" replied Eggman "We'll crash before they finish powering up! Now let's get out of here!"

Dr. Eggman jogged (yes this sounds rather humorous doesn't it?) to another room of the ship, Alonzo following him as quickly as he could. Eggman ran to a door outlined with warning stripes and frantically pressed the open button. The door opened and Eggman ran into the escape pod the door led to. Alonzo followed him. The door closed and the escape pod jolted away from the falling ship.

Meanwhile Sonic, Geoffrey, Bunnie and Fiona were still on the ship. They had run to the end of the ship but unfortunately they were too high up to leap off the falling vessel and by the time it was low enough for them to jump off the ship would crash and probably explode.

"How do we get off?" Fiona fretted.

"I dunno." said Sonic "I can't see a way down from here!"

Then suddenly Bunnie Rabbot leapt into the air. But instead of coming back down she remained where she was! Sonic stared at her in disbelief. Jet fumes were coming out from under the rabbit's feet! Bunnie's new robotic legs gave her the ability to fly! Even Bunnie couldn't believe what she was doing right now.

"Oh mah stars! I'm a flyin' rabbit!" she squealed.

"That's great!" cried Sonic "We can use you to get down from here!"

Bunnie flew back to Sonic, grabbed hold of him and flew away from the falling battleship. She flew towards the ground and put Sonic down. Then she turned back to the ship and flew towards it to pick up Geoffrey and Fiona. Sonic ran off, knowing he was too close to where the ship was going to crash so he had to get out of range. And since he could run fast that wasn't a problem at all. As for Bunnie She knew she didn't have time to take one Mobian off of the ship and go back for the other so she decided to pick them both up. Geoffrey and Fiona held tight to the cyborg rabbit as she flew them away from the ship. As for the dog and mouse that Sonic had saved earlier, they found an escape pod chute and they took the chute down to the escape pods. They slid down the chute and into an escape pod and the escape pod dispatched from the ship. The dog and mouse were saved. Then finally the ship crashed into the ground nose first. The ship exploded into a titanic bright red and orange explosion that filled the air and surrounded the city with a tremendous bang. The whole ground shook like a giant jelly because the ship was so big. Bunnie, Geoffrey and Fiona stared at it with sheer astonishment. If they were still on that ship they definitely wouldn't have crawled away from that. Even Sonic heard the explosion and turned around to see it. It was almost as if a volcano had erupted. In Castle Acorn, Nicole had watched the whole scene and now began to wonder if Sonic and friends managed to escape the ship before it crashed. Bunnie flew down to the ground and put Geoffrey and Fiona down.

"Well I certainly hope we don't go through that again!" gasped

Geoffrey "that was the biggest bang I think I've ever bloomin' seen!"

"I'll say." muttered Fiona.

"At least we escaped with our lives." said Bunnie happily "And we wouldn't have done that if it weren't for mah robotic limbs."

"I bet Eggman's gonna be furious when he realizes he inadvertently saved us." sneered Fiona.

"Oi mates." said Geoffrey, his face strangely sad looking "Now's not the time for celebrating. Look."

He pointed. Fiona and Bunnie looked in Geoffrey's direction and saw what he meant. Mobotropolis, the third largest city on Mobius and their home city, was completely destroyed. Buildings were billowing with smokes, debris littered the remains so much the city looked more like a rubbish tip. Fires were everywhere, blazing away like mad and a few dead citizens could be seen lying around. The sight was truly appalling and horrifying beyond description. Even Sonic had seen the carnage and was absolutely devastated. His home city, burnt to the ground and reduced to nothing more then a smoking wreck of fire and debris. Sonic was more ticked off at the fact he failed to save the city as well as himself and the others. He was more depressed at the fact he didn't save any of the roboticized Mobians so they could hopefully find a way to de-roboticize them or something. Today had truly been a dark day for Mobius, a whole city blasted to smithereens and many lives had been claimed. Hopefully one of those lives was Eggman. Then suddenly a hovering sound filled the blue hedgehog's ears. Sonic turned to the left and saw Eggman's escape pod hovering just above the ruined city of Mobotropolis. Sonic felt his blood boil, that fat fiend escaped from the ship before it crashed! That made him feel even angrier since Eggman lived to fight another day. As for Eggman, he felt delighted to see the ravaged city and Sonic's angry face.

"Ho, ho, ho, ho!" chortled Eggman from inside the escape pod. "How does that feel Sonic? You've fought hard against me! And for what? A city unfit for civilization! A city so wrecked and ruined even the tiny little insects wouldn't find sanctuary there!"

Eggman's mean taunts made Sonic even angrier. He growled furiously and gritted his teeth.

"Eggman!" he yelled loudly "You will pay for what you've done to our home! I will make sure you are kicked out of Mobius and we'll be free from you once and for all!"

Eggman just mocked him shamelessly.

"We'll see about that you little runt!" snorted Dr. Eggman "Especially since I am going to crate an army of robots and release them everywhere on Mobius! Think you can catch them all?"

He roared with laughter.

"This world will be mine and you will all be roboticized!" he crowed "See you next time Sonic!"

And with that he flew off, hoping to find a good place to build a base for himself. Sonic was so enraged he wanted to run after the fat doctor and kill him, but killing wasn't what this hedgehog did or glorified so he reluctantly remained still, paralyzed with anger and watched as Dr. Eggman soared away in his little escape pod. Bunnie and Geoffrey walked over to Sonic while Fiona limped because of her bad leg. Bunnie put her organic hand on the cross hedgehog's shoulder. Sonic calmed down a little after feeling such a lovely touch from a remarkable woman who had saved his life.

"Ya'll did all ya could sugah-hog." said Bunnie softly.

"We all did mate." added Geoffrey "That Eggman bloke's a real tough one."

Sonic sighed sadly and turned to his friends.

"At least we brought down Eggman's ship so he won't be destroying anymore cities for a time." he said "And now all we have to do is find Eggman and take him down. But for now I think we should rest."

"Especially me." grumbled Fiona, clutching her leg again. The bite marks had stopped bleeding but her leg still hurt very badly. Sonic noticed this and nodded in agreement.

"Pity now the city is destroyed there isn't a hospital for you to go to." he said sadly.

"Haven't you noticed Castle Acorn is still standing?" noted Geoffrey, pointing.

Sonic looked in Geoffrey's direction and noticed the skunk was right. Castle Acorn hadn't even been touched by Eggman's onslaught of cannon fire. Not even a little. They must have stopped him before he had chance to fire at the magnificent castle. Sonic's face brightened at that sight.

"Well that's convenient." he said happily "The sight of Castle Acorn still standing fills me with a little bit of hope for Mobius right now. And they have medical rooms for anyone who lives there so we could take Fiona there to heal."

Fiona's face brightened. Then suddenly another hovering sound was heard. Then it was followed by the sound of landing. The Mobians turned their attention to the sound and saw another escape pod exactly like the one Eggman flew away in. Only instead of something evil or terrifying, out of it stood the dog and mouse Sonic had saved from being roboticized. Geoffrey pointed his crossbow at them but Bunnie put his arm down.

"Easy sugah, they're one of us." she said.

"Oh sorry." said Geoffrey, blushing "I have trouble trusting people I've never met before due to a little event that happened to me when I was little. I don't wanna talk about it."

"Then how come you trusted us in a jiffy?" asked Sonic.

"I can trust a fighter, especially a royal one." said Geoffrey.

The dog and mouse walked up to Sonic and friends.

"Hi there Sonic." said the dog "You saved me and my friend Mandy from becoming robots and for that we owe you our lives."

"You're welcome." said Sonic cheerfully "That's what heroes do, save lives."

"The name's Wilson by the way." said the dog.

"Nice to meet you Wilson." said Sonic, shaking his hand "And you said the mouse's name is Mandy right?"

"Uh huh." said Wilson.

"We watched you four fight those robotic demons bravely and with determination." said Mandy, twirling her tail "So we thought we could join you four in the Royal Fighters Service."

"That would be great." said Sonic approvingly "We need all the fighters we can get! Can you two fight though?"

"No." said Wilson sadly "But we could get combat training."

"I'll be happy to help you mates." volunteered Geoffrey "I'm a pro at this stuff."

"That's nice." said Mandy "Where do we sign up?"

"You just go to his majesty King Max himself and ask to join the group." said Sonic "Let's go get you two signed up immediately."

"Ah'll sign up too." said Bunnie "After all, ah haven't joined the Royal Fighters yet."

Sonic gave her a thumbs up. "Your robot limbs will come in handy for us all." he said "Now let's pay a visit to the king and queen and see what they think."

Despite all that had happened today, Sonic felt a glimmer of hope for himself, his friends and everyone on Mobius. Eggman had won for now, but this battle was far, far from over…

What a way to start a story eh? Sonic's home city's just been destroyed! But there seems to be a ray of light in this dark hour as the Royal Fighters Service is ready to kick some ass! Join me next time as we have the introduction of everybody's favourite twin-tailed fox...Reviews are welcome and any criticism must be constructive. No flaming or insulting reviews please.

Speed and Flight Part 1

Story 3: Speed and Flight Part 1

Eight dark, heavy, eventful, exhausting months had passed since the destruction of Mobotropolis. Since then Sonic and the Royal Fighters had been fighting off Eggman's resistance long and hard. Wilson and Mandy had been trained to perfection by Geoffrey St. John, Fiona had made a quick recovery and Bunnie was having the time of her life, fighting Eggman robots and saving Mobians from the mad scientist's wrath. The past eight months had been long and hard for the fighters, but they had made it through them all in the end. Many of Eggman's evil schemes had been foiled and mountains of his robots had been destroyed. However not everything had been in the Mobian's favour all the time. There had been a time where Eggman kidnapped Fiona and almost roboticized her again and she was saved with moments to spare but the experience heavily traumatized the poor fox. So much she had nightmares about it every night from now. There had also been a time Eggman kidnapped five Mobian families to use as bait and Sonic and crew ended up in a trap. They had escaped with seconds to spare but by the time they could save the captured Mobians, Eggman had roboticized them all. As of now, Eggman had roboticized a great number of Mobians and built a good deal of robots. Then he released them all over Mobius so there were robots everywhere. It was getting hard for the Royal Fighters to keep up with this so King Max sent the word out to all the other continents on Mobius. Those places took in the warning and set up their own fighting groups or joined the Royal Fighters of Mobotropolis. However, despite the Mobian's best efforts, Dr. Eggman continued his quest for domination. It was going to be a hard battle to win but the Mobians were determined to win in the name of their home planet. As of now, the Council of Acorn were discussing over the past events that had happened in the last eight months.

"It's been a long hard tussle." announced King Max "But despite that mad man's most evil attempts, we have been able to hold him back for a while."

"But he still continues to battle." said Queen Alicia "He is desperate for world conquest we can definitely say. He won't let our planet go without a fight."

"And even as we speak, somewhere on Mobius someone needs help." continued Max "Eggman's machines of death are all over the world. We have fighters in those places but according to these reports…" he pulled out a heap of paper containing classified information only he and the Queen were allowed to read "Some of our best groups still need an extra hand."

"So what ideas do you have daddy?" asked Sally Acorn with concern.

"We're thinking about sending some fighters from our group to other fighter groups to give them a hand in combat." said King Max.

"Are you sure that's a good idea?" snorted Hamlin rudely "What happens if we have too heavy a resistance to deal with and we can't do anything because our fighters are away?"

"Shut up Hamlin!" snapped Max "How many times do I have to tell you? You speak when you're authorised to!"

Hamlin didn't say another word. He just silenced himself.

"I won't be sending everyone away." said Max "We're keeping Sonic the Hedgehog here with us."

"So who are you gonna send to help the other groups out there?" asked Sally.

"We're gonna send Miss Bunnie Rabbot to help the Royal Fighters of Megapolis." announced Max "And Mr. St. John will be going to Downunda to help the Downunda Royal Fighters."

"What about Wilson and Mandy?" asked Sally.

"They'll be off to Grand Metropolis." said Max "Sonic and Fiona will remain here."

"Sounds like a plan." said Sally "I hope Sonic's OK with that."

Speaking of the hedgehog, he had been outside the council room, listening to every word that had been spoken. Luckily he was OK with the council's decisions, but he did feel a little disappointed that his new friends Bunnie, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy were off to other parts of Mobius while he remained here in Mobotropolis. Still, there were fighting groups out there that needed all the help the Kingdom of Acorn could offer them and lending some of their fighters to those groups was the best method they had. After all Geoffrey was a pro in the skills of combat, Wilson could take on anyone and bring them down in a jiffy, Mandy was an excellent snooper and could find out lots of information without being detected and Bunnie could fight better then most people. Even some of the males envied her strength! Sonic wished he had someone a little better then Fiona though. She clearly, was not suited for the world of combat. On her first mission she had been captured, punched, knocked out, slashed, bitten and came out worse then he and Geoffrey did. And over the past eight months, she hadn't been improving either. She was always the one getting in trouble, she was always getting defeated in battles and she was always the one getting hurt. It was amazing the poor fox was still alive! Hopefully Fiona would eventually find her strength and help Sonic and crew win rather then slow them down a lot. Then the door to the council room opened and out walked Sally Acorn.

"Sonic, I hope you won't be too disappointed but…"

"I heard everything Sal." said Sonic "And while it will be a bit of a downer for me, I'll be fine with my friends in different places around the world. I know they'll do their bit for the planet and I'll just do my bit for the planet."

Sally smiled with affection. "Very well Sonic." she said.

Then Nicole appeared, holding a small handheld portable computer in her hand. It was beeping furiously.

"Your highness, my computer's found Eggman's location." said Nicole "He's hiding in a forest somewhere in Green Hill Zone."

"Well that's excellent news!" beamed Sonic "I'll just go and get Fiona and we'll be off!"

Sonic charged out of the room, causing a brief wind that blew from behind Sally and Nicole.

"That hedgehog amazes me!" said Nicole, flabbergasted.

"He amazes me too." agreed Sally.

Sonic had dashed out of Castle Acorn but the moment he did he noticed an odd sight. Fiona Fox was already slinking off somewhere as if she knew what Sonic was going to tell her! Sonic ran over to the red vixen immediately.

"Yo Fiona!" he said "Where are you off to?"

"Home." mumbled Fiona miserably "I've quit the Royal Fighters Service."

Sonic thought his ears had fallen off.

"Care to run that by me again so I know I didn't imagine you saying that?" he asked.

Fiona stood still firmly and repeated in monotone "I-quit-the-Royal-Fighters."

She practically spat every word out harshly. Sonic stared at her as if she had just done something stupid. Fiona's expression fell into a sad one and tears formed in her eyes.

"Why?" exclaimed Sonic.

"Because I'm of no use to this team." sobbed Fiona "Look what happens when I go on a mission. I get caught, I get you lot in trouble and I get beaten up, what kind of fighter am I? I haven't even once won a fight on my own! One of these days I'll end up killing myself or you, or anyone else!"

"Fiona come on…" said Sonic, trying to put an arm around her put Fiona smacked it away.

"Don't "Fiona come on" me hedgehog!" snapped Fiona "You'll just try and make me feel better by filling me with false hope! Well it won't work so there!"

She wailed some more after that. Sonic didn't know what to say after that so he just remained silent instead. Fiona sniffed and then put her hand on Sonic's shoulder.

"Goodbye blue streak." she snivelled.

And with that she ran off, crying her eyes out. Sonic just watched her run, not even daring to run after her. Now Sonic didn't mind Bunnie, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy going to another part of Mobius to fulfil their duties but he did mind the fact Fiona just quit the team and ran off. Secretly Sonic actually was developing a fondness for the young vixen but now she's gone, Sonic would have to deal with the heartbreak and try his luck somewhere else. For now, he had a mission to do and he wouldn't let Fiona's departure bother him otherwise he would get into big trouble. Sonic prepared to run off but a familiar voice called to him "Oi, wait a minute!" and stopped him dead in his tracks. It was only Geoffrey St. John. He had Bunnie with him.

"Hey guys." said Sonic "I guess you two are off then."

"Aye mate." said Geoffrey "I'm off to Downunda to help the Downunda Royal Fighters."

"And ah'm off to Megapolis to do the same there." said Bunnie "We wanted to say goodbye before we go though. Ya'll take care of yerself sugar-hog."

"I will, I will." boasted Sonic teasingly "And I'll see you two later."

"Same to you." said Geoffrey "Just beware of your cockiness."

"I could say the same to you Geoff!" chortled Sonic.

"Where's Fiona?" asked Bunnie "Off somewhere?"

"She quit sadly so we won't be seeing her again." sighed Sonic.

"Aw, that's too bad." said Bunnie "Me and her got on very well."

"I had a feeling she would quit." muttered Geoffrey "Due to how bad her bloomin' luck's been with us. Always getting into trouble and slowing us down and all that tosh…"

"Can we leave Fiona to the side now and focus on our missions?" asked Sonic, hoping to stop Geoffrey from degrading Fiona further "That's what's important now."

"Sure mate." chuckled Geoffrey "Off to Downunda I go. See you later!" he called to Sonic as he ran off to board a plane to Downunda.

"Bye sugar-hog!" said Bunnie, taking flight with her jet feet and flying off to Megapolis.

"Bye you two!" Sonic called to them as they disappeared from sight. Now they were gone, Sonic finally ran off again. He looked on admiringly at the construction work going on to fix the wrecked city of Mobotropolis. Soon they would be able to go back to their old homes again. True there would be some differences but at least the Mobians that lived in Mobotropolis wouldn't be homeless anymore. Once the city was rebuilt, they were going to rename it "New" Mobotropolis since the old one had been reduced to cinders and ashes eight months ago. As Sonic continued running, he finally exited the under construction city and ran though the huge meadows that led to Green Hill Zone. Once he arrived there he would search the whole forest for Eggman and then he would destroy his base and make him pay for what he did to him and the other Mobians over the months.

Watch out Egg-Brain! thought Sonic as he sped through the meadow Sonic the Hedgehog is on his way to defeat you!

Somewhere in the dense forests of Green Hill Zone, a squat domed building resided in the centre somewhere. The dome had a logo which consisted of a black silhouette of Eggman's face in front of a yellow and red circle. Several pipes were built into the sides of the building. The building was surrounded by a stone fence that formed a rectangle shape around it. Robots stomped around the perimeter of the grounds, making sure nothing was suspicious and everything was going as normal. These robots were the ones with guns in place of hands and tail like cannons that Eggman had used before. Speaking of the fat scientist, he (No surprise) occupied the domed building and he was working away like mad on his latest scheme. Alonzo just did small tasks for him such as fetching him his meals and drinks or helping him build and fix things. Right now, Eggman had fifty roboticizing cages and they were all empty as he hadn't caught anything or anyone yet. He pondered around the room wondering madly on where to find life in the forest.

"There must be some Mobians wondering about the forest." blabbered Eggman "There might even be some who live here, where can I find them?"

Alonzo just sighed loudly. Why of all luck did he have to have such a dim-witted master?

"Why don't you just send some searcher bots out into the forest to find anything?" snorted Alonzo "Those robots are used for searching as well as combat you know!"

"Oh shut up you titanium twit!" snarled Dr. Eggman "I'm thinking!"

"I can see that." scoffed Alonzo sarcastically.

"However you did have a good suggestion." added Dr. Eggman "I shall send a squadron of robots to go critter searching immediately."

Of course I had a good suggestion. thought Alonzo angrily I'm the clever clogs here!

Dr. Eggman pressed a button on the control pad. A hanger bay door in the rear of the building opened up and out of it walked a small squad consisting of five robots. These were the many gunned ones. They marched in unison out of the building. They hovered over to the other side of the stone wall and walked into the dense surrounding forest. Eggman watched this on one of his monitors.

"Hopefully they'll find something." he said to himself "Especially that irritating twin-tailed fox kid I've been perusing all month."

"We'll catch him eventually." Alonzo assured Eggman "He's only a kid and kids can't do anything except run away like a coward."

"I'm amazed his parents were a whole lot easier to capture." added Eggman "I caught those two on my first try and that kid has evaded me for a whole month straight."

Alonzo nodded.

"I hope that irritating hedgehog doesn't show up and ruin everything again." said Dr. Eggman "It makes me bare my beautiful teeth every time I think about him!"

"We'll get him this time master." said Alonzo, even though he knew he was wrong "We'll get him."

Eggman laughed with glee as he thought about the glorious day he finally caught and defeated Sonic the Hedgehog once and for all.

Meanwhile, Sonic had been running through Green Hill Zone for thirty minutes. He hadn't found a single thing since he had arrived but he was determined to find Dr. Eggman's base. He wished he had brought Nicole's handheld computer with him since it was a useful device for finding things. Nicole had built it some time ago to aid the fighters in finding Eggman. But since Sonic didn't have that computer he had to make do without it. Then Sonic ran past something greyish coloured and stopped dead in his tracks. Did he just run past something interesting? Maybe he'd run past something to do with Dr. Eggman? Sonic ran back a little and stopped again. The grey thing he had run past was the stone wall keeping intruders out of Dr. Eggman's base. Sonic surveyed it with interest.

"A stone wall?" he said to himself "What on Mobius is that doing in the middle of the forests of Green Hill Zone? Maybe there's something to do with Eggman on the other side." he thought. A slight smirk appeared on his face. "Only one way to find out…"

And with that he stepped several paces back from the wall and then revved his feet up. Then he charged straight at the wall and crashed straight into it. He had run into it so hard he crushed his way through the wall! A huge hedgehog shaped hole was now on the wall since

Sonic had run into it. Pebbles and stones littered the ground and cracks formed into the wall. The robots on patrol heard Sonic's smashing through the wall and immediately went into exterminate mode. They aimed their four guns at the speedy blue hedgehog and all fired at him. Sonic wasn't scared though; he was used to this kind of reception from his enemies. Sonic leapt out of the way of the oncoming fire blasts. They all singed the grassy ground, its colour now a pitch black burnt colour instead of its green colour. The robots got mad and all fired in random directions. The area was filled with flying cannon blasts hitting this and that here and there. They hit anything but Sonic as he just somersaulted, ran or jumped out of the way of the oncoming cannon blasts. Sonic headed for the door of the base and lunged for it. One of the robots caught sight of him and fired at him. The blast skimmed the edge of his bottom, causing the startled hedgehog to yelp and clutch his bottom. He hadn't felt pain like this before, nor had he even been hit before; those robots were definitely getting better at their stuff. The robots aimed at Sonic and fired again. Sonic jumped out of the way so the robots blasted the door down instead of Sonic. This alerted Dr. Eggman and he ran over to the monitors to see what was going on. He almost jumped out of his clothes when he saw Sonic the Hedgehog run into his base, the guard bots chasing after him and firing at him.

"Egads!" shrieked Eggman "That hedgehog is in the premises!"

"He is?" shrieked Alonzo "Where?"

Before Eggman could answer, a door was blasted clean off its hinges by a spin-dash attack from Sonic. Eggman almost jumped ten feet into the air when he saw that. Sonic stood up straight and stared at Eggman angrily.

"It's good to see you again Egghead." he said sarcastically.

"So we meet again Sonic the Hedgehog." purred Dr. Eggman ""Well prepare to be blasted to slag you miscreant of a Mobian!"

"Oh I'm flattered!" joked Sonic "You'd better hope those tin cans of yours can actually hit me!"

Then suddenly the four guard bots stormed into the room and circled

Sonic the Hedgehog. Sonic just gave a calm expression as their guns clocked.

"FIRE!" blasted Dr. Eggman.

But inevitably Sonic leapt out of the way the moment the robots fired their weapons. Sonic landed directly onto the control pad and pulled a cheeky face at the robots.

"Come and blast me bolt brains!" he jeered.

"No! Don't!" cried Dr. Eggman.

Too late. The robots all fired at Sonic. Sonic leapt off the control pad and the cannon blasts hit it instead of Sonic. The control pad erupted into flames and showered Eggman with splinters of debris and glass. Then an alarm went off. Sonic smirked at Eggman and ran past the robots and out of the door. Dr. Eggman began to panic. The base was going to explode in a matter of moments! Dr. Eggman eyed the emergency exit door he had installed in case he needed it. He yanked the door open so hard he almost tore it off its hinges and dashed outside. Alonzo zoomed out after him. Then the whole base erupted into a gigantic explosion. Sonic looked over his shoulder to see what had happened and laughed to himself.

"Ha! Ha! Ha! That's what I call going off with a bang!" he laughed as he continued to run.

As for Dr. Eggman, his face was full to the top of fury. The sight of a destroyed base that he owned was appalling to him.

"I HATE that hedgehog!" he snarled.

"Oh well, I guess it's off to the next base we go." grumbled Alonzo quietly.

Alonzo turned around and trundled away. Dr. Eggman stayed where he was momentarily.

"Don't celebrate too soon hedgehog." he said darkly "I'll be back…"

And with that he walked off after Alonzo. He would begin his next scheme the moment he got to the second base he had set up in Green Hill Zone.

The only sound that could be heard throughout the forest was pounding feet. And those pounding feet belonged to Sonic. He ran through the quiet and peaceful forest of Green Hill Zone, thinking to himself as he headed to the exit.

That Eggman doesn't know when to quit does he? he thought However I can't give up or he'll win and turn this place into a living hell. I've been kicking his evil butt for eight months straight with and without friends and I will not stop until he's defeated once and for all!

Then suddenly he was interrupted by the sound of a child screeching "HELP!" Sonic stopped dead in his tracks with a screeching halt. Just when he thought he'd finished here he had more help that needed attending to. Sonic ran off in the direction of the child's voice. He had no idea on what he would find but he knew it would involve an Eggman robot or two. Sonic stopped in front of a couple of bushes and peered through them. His eyes widened at what he saw. He saw a little yellow fox cub with two tails, gloves and red & white shoes with his back pressed against a large rock and staring in fear at two Eggman robots. The kid looked terrified as the robots growled at him ferociously.

"P-P-Please leave me alone!" whimpered the cub "Don't hurt me!"

The robots weren't listening. They bore down on the terrified fox cub, ready to snatch him up and take him away.

"HEY!" yelled Sonic, catching the robot's attention.

He leapt out of the bushes and spin-dashed his way through both robots in the blink of an eye. They were reduced to smithereens.

"Didn't anyone ever tell ya it's not nice to pick on little kids?" scolded Sonic.

As for the fox cub he stared at Sonic with astonishment. He had never seen anything as cool looking as this before. Sonic turned around to face the little cub.

"Hey, are you OK kid?" he asked with concern.

"I'm just fine thanks to you." said the cub, smiling at him "Thank you mister…"

"Sonic." announced Sonic, doing his trademark thumbs up sign "Sonic the Hedgehog, Hero of Mobius and Royal Fighter."

"Why do they call you Sonic?" asked the cub.

"Behold!" Sonic simply said.

Then he dashed off in the blink of an eye with a whoosh. The cub gasped in awe at that amazing feature. Then seconds later Sonic reappeared and screeched to a halt.

"Ta da!" he exclaimed, standing in a "ta da!" pose.

"Whoa!" cried the cub in excitement "That's so cool! I've never seen anyone run that fast before!"

"Thank you." said Sonic "That's why I'm called Sonic; I can run at supersonic speeds. So what's your name?" he added.

"My name's Miles Prower." introduced the cub "But everybody calls me Tails because of my two tails." he wagged them proudly "And I can fly with them too."

And he demonstrated this ability by twisting them around each other and spinning them around in a circle like a helicopter propeller. Then he flew a few feet off the ground.

"See?" said Tails.

Sonic stared at him with a look of astonishment. He had never seen kids of any age or any kind do things like that before. This cub was clearly blessed with a great ability.

"Well, I've never seen a "flying fox" before!" said Sonic with an impressed tone "That's pretty cool Tails!"

"Thanks." said Tails, landing back on the ground. Then his expression changed into a solemn one "Unfortunately everybody thinks I'm a freak because of my two tails and flying abilities."

"Do they seriously think that about you?" exclaimed Sonic, unable to believe what he had heard.

Tails just nodded glumly. Sonic then put on one of his serious expressions.

"Well don't listen to those guys!" he said "They obviously haven't heard the old "It's not what's outside it's inside that counts." saying."

Tails' face brightened. "Thank you Sonic, that made me feel a lot better."

"You're welcome." said Sonic "So, why are you out here all by yourself?"

Tails' face fell again. Only this time it was more then just a solemn expression.

"About that…" he began "I used to have a mom and a dad but some crazy fat guy with a moustache took them away and turned them into evil killer robots."

Sonic's ears pricked up at the mention of a fat guy with a moustache. Tails must be talking about Dr. Eggman! That black hearted scoundrel must have roboticized poor Tails' parents! How heartless could that bad egg get? Tails sat down on the ground, tears were forming in his eyes.

"Ever since my parents were turned into robots I've been on my own with no one to protect me from harm." he sobbed "I'm so alone and vulnerable here, I keep feeling like someone's gonna pounce on me every moment or so. Especially them robot things the moustache guy keeps sending out to capture me."

He began to cry. He held his face in his hands and cried into them. Sonic looked at the poor fox sadly. He felt really sorry for Tails, Sonic knew what it was like not to have parents since he didn't have any himself. Sonic bent down on one knee and put an arm around Tails.

"Hey Tails, don't cry." he said "I'll protect you if you want me to."

Tails lifted his head out of his hands and looked at Sonic. "W-Would you really do that for me Sonic?" he said in a quiet voice.

"Sure!" said Sonic brightly "It's in the hero's job description."

After hearing those words, Tails leapt up to his feet and grasped Sonic in a hug.

"Oh thank you Sonic!" cried Tails "That's the nicest thing anyone's ever done for me!"

"OK, take it easy bud." yelped Sonic.

Tails let go of Sonic.

"Now I'm telling you this." said Sonic in a serious tone "I won't always be there for you so I'm gonna give you some training tips so you can defend yourself when I'm not around."

"Thanks Sonic." said Tails. He liked the idea of being able to fight for himself and he would love to beat Eggman up for what he did to his poor parents.

"I'll start off with the basics." began Sonic "If you're on your own you must NEVER lower your guard, you must always be prepared for what's around the corner…"

"Sonic LOOK OUT!" shrieked Tails.

Sonic turned around to see what Tails had seen. There were three Eggman robots exactly the same as the two that attacked Tails standing there glaring at the two Mobians. Sonic frowned at them and then gave one of his trademark grins.

"So Eggman decided to give us a welcoming committee eh?" he said "Well let's crack him wide open!"

And with that he span into a spin-dash move and charged at the robots. He smashed through one robot and then he ricocheted off a tree and smashed through another one. Then he ricocheted off another tree and smacked the last one in the head. The destroyed robots all collapsed in a heap. Sonic just laughed at them.

"All too easy." gloated Sonic.

"Sonic help!" cried Tails.

Sonic's quills straightened. He turned around and gasped at what he saw. There was Dr. Eggman in a hovering vehicle with arms attached to it. The vehicle was holding Tails in one of its mechanical hands. The terrified cub squirmed furiously whereas Eggman just hooted with laughter at Tails' pitiful attempts.

"Did you like that little distraction I set up for you Sonic?" sneered Eggman.

Sonic felt his quills shake with rage.

"Let him go Egghead!" snarled Sonic.

"No I don't think I will." purred Eggman "I've been after this little boy for a whole month now. I roboticized his parents sometime ago and now I'm going to roboticize this twin-tailed nuisance. I will go now and if I catch you following me I will change my mind and kill the boy instead!"

He stroked his moustache. Sonic clenched his fists angrily.

"You win for now Eggman but I will stop you and rescue Tails! Just you wait!" he declared furiously.

"We'll see about that." sneered Eggman, turning his Egg-mobile around and hovering away, holding Tails in one of the vehicle's giant hands. Sonic just stood still and watched the fat scientist hover a good distance away and then he ran off after him…

Tails now makes his grand debut! Can Sonic save him before Dr. Eggman can roboticize him? Tune in next time! Reviews are welcome.

Speed and Flight Part 2

Story 4: Speed and Flight Part 2

"Follow me and I'll kill the boy he says!" mocked Sonic as he ran through the thick dense forests after Eggman "Good thing he didn't say I can't follow him in secret!"

Sonic had met a fox cub named Tails and was making friends with him until Eggman kidnapped him. Now Sonic was running through the forest to save him. Eggman threatened to kill Tails if he saw Sonic following him so Sonic ran through thicker parts of the forest so Eggman wouldn't be able to see him. Sonic didn't even run at top speed in case Eggman heard him, he ran at a normal jogging pace so Eggman would never be able to hear him.

"That egg-head will never see me coming." Sonic said to himself.

He would follow Eggman to wherever he was heading to and he would save Tails from that evil man's clutches.

Dr. Eggman arrived at his next base. This one was exactly the same as the other base that Sonic had destroyed only it was larger and surrounded by a steel fence instead of a stone one. Eggman hadn't been sure if stone or steel was the best fence after all so he tried the stone fence on one base and steel on the other. The fence had a "Keep Out!" sign sprayed somewhere on it. Eggman's Egg-mobile landed next to his base and Eggman grabbed Tails by the scruff of his neck. He carried his captive into the base and through several corridors. He came to a door labelled "Roboticizer room". He opened it and walked in to the room. He put Tails in one of the cages and pressed the close button on the small keypad. The glass case descended down and closed around him. Tails was trapped like a rat. Eggman cackled with laughter at Tails.

"Finally, after weeks of hunting you down, I've got you in my grasp Miles Prower!" cackled Eggman.

Tails sat on the floor, folded his arms and frowned. He was getting tired of Eggman calling him by his real name when he absolutely hated it.

"For the last time everyone calls me Tails!" he grumbled.

"Whatever." muttered Dr. Eggman. "ALONZO!" he screeched.

Alonzo, Eggman's servant bot trundled into the room.

"Yes master?" he said in his posh accent.

"Is the roboticizer ready yet?" asked Eggman eagerly.

"Oh yes sir." said Alonzo, saluting like a general.

"Excellent." said Eggman happily "Any news on you-know-who?"

Alonzo's face turned into an evil smirk. "Not yet sire but we'll catch that blackguard don't you worry!"

Dr. Eggman just hooted with laughter. He loved it when Alonzo made himself sound so sure he was going to win this time. Dr. Eggman turned his attention back to Tails, who was pressing his hands against the glass cage and looking worried.

"Little Tails." purred Eggman "In a matter of moments you will become my newest addition to my marvellous robot army. I can't wait to see the horrified look on Sonic's face when he fails to save you!"

And then he cackled his usual demented cackle. Tails shook like a leaf and hugged his tails fearfully.

I don't wanna be a robot! thought Tails Oh Sonic, where are you?

Sonic the Hedgehog had finally made it to Eggman's second base. He screeched to a halt in front of the huge steel fence. He admired the steel fence and grinned mockingly.

"A steel wall?" he sneered "Well its better then a stone wall at least!* Still won't keep me out though…"

"Especially since I'm gonna tunnel under the wall!" he yelled.

He leapt into the air, did a spin-dash and plunged into the ground. He ploughed straight through the ground, chucking soil and grass everywhere as he dug down and down. On the other side of the fence there were three robots on guard. They clinked and clanked as they stomped around place to place observing every inch of the area, making sure there were no intruders. One of the robots stood on a sewer lid. Then suddenly the sewer lid began to rattle under the robot's feet. The robot looked down curiously at its feet. Then suddenly the sewer lid burst open and the robot was catapulted into the air like a tossed stick! Sonic had done that. He had dug straight through the ground and came up through the sewer lid.

"The hedgehog is in the building!" he announced more to himself then anybody.

The robot that had been sent flying hurtled down to the ground faster then a falling stone and landed slap-bang into the wall. One of its tail cannons accidentally fired. It hit another robot in the bottom. The startled robot screeched a mechanical screech and fired one of its arm cannons. The cannon blast hit the third robot and blasted its whole head off. Pieces of robot head fell to the ground and the robot's dead body collapsed, smoke trailing out of where its head once was. Sonic stared glumly at the fleeing and destroyed robots. He put his hands on his hips and sighed.

"Humph! So much for the welcoming committee!" he grumbled "Oh well, it makes my job a little easier."

He leapt out of the hole and charged straight at Eggman's base at top speed. Then he bashed his way through the door. The door was ripped clean off its hinges and flung across the room. Sonic's head throbbed a little after that but he never felt much pain from charging into doors and it never lasted long. Then Sonic dashed through the corridors.

Alonzo burst into the roboticizer room flailing his arms around like mad. He had a panicked look on his face.

"Master! The hedgehog has gotten into your premises!" shouted Alonzo in blind panic.

"WHAT?" squeaked Eggman, sweat dropping "How did he get past my security?"

Tails' ears pricked up. His face brightened.

"That must be Sonic!" he cried out with joy "He's come to save me at last!"

Unfortunately Eggman heard him.

"Thanks for that little Tails." said Eggman "Because I have an idea now."

His face turned into a dark sinister look complete with an evil smile.

"Sonic must be here to save you." he said; his voice strangely low and sinister "So I'm gonna set up a little surprise for him…"

Tails gulped. He didn't like the sound of that. What was that crazy man up to now?

Sonic had run through several corridors and destroyed lots of robots. However upon reaching this corridor he skidded to a halt and slowed down. Security was bound to be tighter around here since he was near the roboticizer room. Sonic pressed his back against the wall and crept slowly across it. As he crept along he noticed something strange was going on. This corridor was strangely quiet and there didn't seem to be a guard in sight. Eggman obviously wasn't bothered about security around here but that seemed unusual for him.

"That's strange." Sonic said to himself "No Eggman robots patrolling the corridors like usual. Eggman has those things patrolling the corridors 24/7 and guarding anything. So why are there no robots?"

He put his hand on his chin and pulled a thoughtful face.

"I bet that creep is planning an ambush." he deduced "It couldn't be anything else. I'll just keep my hedgehog senses on the alert."

And with that he tip-toed through the hallway and came up to a door. Sonic didn't care which room this was, he was just keen on finding Tails. He seized the handle and pulled it. The handle clicked and the door opened. Sonic opened it very slowly so as to not make a noise. The room he had entered was full of weird machinery and treadmills. Electricity buzzed and crackled as the machines worked away and electronic humming could be heard everywhere. This was definitely not the roboticizer room. This seemed more like the robot production room. However this room was just as important since if he destroyed the machines, Eggman wouldn't be able to make any robots.

"Well this isn't the room I'm looking for." said Sonic "But I'll definitely come back here later."

Then suddenly he felt a sharp thump against his head. Sonic's eyes widened and then he collapsed to the floor, seeing millions of stars before dropping off into slumber. Alonzo had been hiding behind the door when Sonic entered and he crept up behind the hedgehog and knocked him out with a club made from copper and surrounded with gold rivets. Alonzo cackled a rather silly sounding evil cackle at his success.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" he chortled "The famed Sonic the Hedgehog fell for the oldest trick in the book! Master will be very pleased indeed!"

And with that he picked Sonic up, threw him on his shoulder and carried the knocked out hedgehog out of the room.

"Blimey he's heavy!" spluttered Alonzo "What does he eat?"

Alonzo left the room, huffing and puffing and trundled down the corridor to the roboticizer room. Eggman would be pleased to see he had Sonic the Hedgehog, knocked out on his shoulder once he arrived. And they'd get to roboticize him as well! This day was going well for Alonzo and Eggman after all…

Sonic moaned a weary moan as he opened his heavy eyelids. His vision was blurred and he felt very groggy. After all he had been hit on the head very hard. His head was still throbbing like goodness knows what. As he began to get onto his knees he rubbed his throbbing head and blinked his eyes to wake them up a little. Then Sonic suddenly noticed something. Was that glass right in front of him? Sonic held his hand out and reached forward. His hand pressed against something. It WAS glass! He was in a glass cage! The exact same cages Eggman trapped his victims in when he was ready to roboticize them! How on Earth did this happen? Sonic thought for a moment to see if he could remember. He remembered the sharp knock against his head that put him in dreamland. Maybe the thing who knocked him out was the one that put him here. And the one who knocked him out was Dr. Eggman no doubt. He had to get out of here before he was roboticized!

"Sonic!" called a childish sounding voice he recognized immediately.

Sonic turned to his right and saw Tails in a glass cage directly next to his cage.

"Tails!" said Sonic with relief "Found ya at last! Pity I had to be captured though."

"I'm so glad you're here." said Tails "Although like you I wish you weren't captured. Do you know how to get outta here?"

"Sure." said Sonic, getting into a ready to charge pose "I'll just smash my way through the glass!"

He revved up and then charged at the glass. But instead of breaking it he crashed into it and hurt his face. Sonic rolled over backwards and rubbed his aching nose, groaning furiously.

"Ouch!" he cried "Why didn't I smash the darn glass? I can break lots of things!"

"That's because it's Diamond Glass my helpless hedgehog!" announced a voice Sonic wished he would never hear again.

Sonic looked directly in front of him and saw, wait for it…Dr.

Eggman standing there (no surprise!) smiling wickedly at him. Sonic glared at him.

"I should have known you're the reason I'm in here!" grumbled Sonic "It couldn't have been anyone else!"

"Well actually it was Alonzo's doing." admitted Eggman "He crept up behind you, knocked you out and put you in there." Clever little servant bot isn't he?"

Alonzo just put on a very smug face.

"I'm not only used for fetching meals you know." he smirked.

Sonic had to admit it; Alonzo actually did something useful for once. Never before had the servant bot gotten the drop on him. Eggman definitely was getting better at his stuff. Dr. Eggman strolled over to the control pad and turned a few dials.

"You've been a thorn in my side for eight months Sonic." said Eggman dryly "Now our conflict will end. And you will be roboticized!"

He pressed a red button marked in capital letters "ACTIVATE" and the two cages began to glow. Light blue electricity circled around the cages and crackled as the process went underway.

"No!" cried Sonic.

"Yes!" cried Dr. Eggman, delighted to see Sonic was finally going to get defeated by him.

For the first time in his life, Sonic was terrified. He was just about to get turned into an evil killer robot under control for Dr. Eggman! How on Earth was he going to get out of this one? The glass was Diamond Glass, a substance strong enough to resist even bombs and he had no way of escaping! He was doomed to be a robot forever! Then suddenly Sonic realized something. The floor of the cage wasn't made of Diamond Glass. Maybe he could break his way through the floor and escape!

Yes!

Sonic jumped up, span into a ball and spin-dashed straight into the steel floor. He churned his way through thick steel and sent splinters of metal flying everywhere. Dr. Eggman's moustache flopped and his eyes widened so much his glasses nearly fell off. Tails however stared at him, unable to believe his eyes.

"WHAAAAAAAATTTTTT?" he screamed.

"Awesome!" cried a gobsmacked Tails.

Sonic had dug his way through the floor of his cage. He had now dug himself under the floor of the room. But instead of popping up he turned to the right and dug towards Tails' cage. Then he aimed up and burst through the floor of Tails' cage. Tails almost leapt out of his fur when Sonic appeared. Then Sonic fell straight back down the hole and dug his way under the floor of the room again. Then he smashed his way through the floor, leaving a hole in it. He was now out of his cage and in front of Dr. Eggman, smirking cockily at him. Dr. Eggman thought he was going to faint. Tails slid down the hole in his cage and crawled through the tunnel Sonic had made underground. Then Tails came out of the hole and stood next to Sonic.

"You are amazing!" cried Tails.

"Thanks." said Sonic happily "I got us both out in one spin-dash."

Eggman just reached behind himself and pressed the deactivate button. The cages stopped glowing and the electricity faded away into nothingness. Sonic glared at the fat scientist smoothly.

"You're getting smarter Egg-head." he said calmly "But not smart enough for me. Now give up while you have the chance."

"Never!" declared Eggman "I will roboticize you and your friend! Alonzo get them!" he ordered.

"With pleasure sir!" cackled Alonzo.

He charged at Sonic as fast as his little wheels would let him. However Sonic just lunged forward with a powerful kick to the midsection. Alonzo gasped and his optics nearly popped out. Even though robots shouldn't feel pain, Alonzo did, but in a different way humans do.

"Get a life Alonzo!" yelled Sonic.

"Oh I say!" wheezed Alonzo as he slumped on the floor feebly. He clutched himself in pain.

"Is that all you've got Eggman?" taunted Sonic.

"No, this is!" said Eggman, whipping out a small test-tube shaped device with a button on top from his pocket. He pressed the button. Then suddenly a door on one of the walls exploded into fragments. Sonic and Tails almost leapt out of their skins when that happened. Smoke billowed out of where the door had once been. Eggman put on his wicked grin as he got ready to announce.

"You've defeated many of my past robots Sonic." he said "But you won't defeat my latest creation…SCREAM ROLLER!"

Out of the fading smoke stomped a huge robot. It stood about ten feet tall. The robot had a spike on its head and a structure assembling something on a knight's helmet protruding from behind it. It had a pointed nose and pointed moustache that vaguely assembled Eggman's own facial features. Its hands had sharp claws at the end and its waist section was studded with spikes. It carried a weapon that looked like a hand roller only the roller had spikes everywhere. Its right shoulder had an exhaust stack that had a thin trial of steam coming out from it. It was coloured red and black, similar to Eggman's outfit. Tails hid behind Sonic in fear but Sonic just put on a bored face.

"Gosh Eggman, you really need to stop giving your robots puns for names! It's unbearable!" moaned Sonic.

You see, Eggman had a strange habit of giving his robots puns for names. Some robots were unfortunate to have "Egg" at the beginning of their names.

"If you think the name's unbearable wait till you see him in action!" crowed Eggman "Scream Roller ATTACK!"

Scream Roller raised its hand roller weapon up and then swung it like a baseball bat. The spiked roller detached from its pole and hurtled towards Sonic. Sonic leapt out of the way just in time as the zooming roller shoot straight past him like a whizzing arrow and it crashed straight into the wall, leaving a huge studded dent in it. Even though Eggman was the enemy, Tails couldn't help but be impressed.

"Whoa, that's some serious weaponry!" gasped Tails.

"Thank you Tails, it only gets better though!" purred Eggman.

The roller wrenched itself free from the wall and rolled back to Scream Roller. It reattached itself to the pole and Scream Roller held his weapon in the hand roller position. He pushed the roller and stampeded towards Sonic. Sonic ran out of the way as Scream Roller hurtled past him with his studded roller. That was one weapon he didn't want to be run over by.

"Yikes!" shrieked Sonic "I don't know about you Egg-brains but I don't wanna become a cross between a pancake and Swiss cheese thanks!"

"Oh you will Sonic, you will!" crowed Dr. Eggman "And don't try to outrun it because I built him with enough power to keep up with even you!"

"Oh man!" yelped Sonic as he ran away from Scream Roller's charge.

The huge robot ran after him, still pushing his roller weapon in an attempt to flatten his prey once and for all. Tails just watch the whole kafuffle helplessly. Sonic ran this way and that but Scream Roller just continued to chase him down with his spiked roller.

"Sonic needs help!" squeaked Tails "But what can I do? I'm no fighter!"

He thought to himself desperately. He had to help his friend, he had to! But how could he help if he couldn't fight? Then he had an idea. What had his parents always told him about robots with exhaust stacks mounted on them? He got it at last. He twisted his tails around one another and took flight. He dodged Scream Roller as he and Sonic ran past him and Tails flew towards Dr. Eggman, who was prancing about cheering "Flatten him Scream Roller!" over and over. Alonzo stood beside him, watching with intent. Tails swooped down and seized Alonzo by the body. Alonzo yelped in surprise whereas Eggman just sweat-dropped.

"What are you doing with my servant bot fox face?" demanded Eggman angrily.

"This!" cried Tails, flying towards Scream Roller's shoulder mounted exhaust stack. He raised Alonzo above his head and prepared to shove him down the huge robot's exhaust stack.

"Put me down!" squealed Alonzo "I don't want to clean up the mess afterwards!"

Tails ignored him and shoved Alonzo head first into Scream Roller's exhaust stack. The ten foot robot screeched to a halt and remained still. Then it began to make a rather ominous sounding electronic wail. Dr. Eggman panicked, his moustache straightened and he sweat-dropped.

"NO!" he shouted "If you block Scream Roller's exhaust pipe up he will overload and explode!"

"Exactly!" retorted Tails.

Sonic couldn't believe what Tails had just done but he shook it off for the moment as now was not a good time for admiration.

"In that case it's time we escaped now!" he said.

Tails flew down to Sonic and landed in his arms. The blue hedgehog carried the yellow fox as he whizzed through the corridors at his trademark speed. Dr. Eggman knew right now was a good time for a strategic exit so he ran to the door marked exit, hurled it open and ran through it as fast as his legs would let him. He runs pretty quickly for a fat person doesn't he? Scream Roller's huge body began to shudder and shake. Then steam began venting out from his body. Then Scream Roller began to get fatter as all the trapped steam inside him built up and up and up. Scream Roller got fatter and fatter until his overloaded body couldn't take it anymore. Then…

KA-BOOM!

The huge robot exploded into an even bigger explosion. The explosion tore through the whole of Eggman's base and sent it erupting into flames. Sonic looked over his shoulder to see the carnage. It was almost like a bomb had gone off inside. Sonic just laughed at the second Eggman base that had been destroyed today. He leapt over the steel wall and charged off into the forests of Green Hill Zone, carrying Tails in his arms. Minutes later Sonic found a quiet place in the forest and settled down for a rest. He put Tails down and sat down beside him.

"Tails, that was sweet," applauded Sonic "How did you know that would happen if you blocked Scream Roller's exhaust stack up?"

Tails smiled modestly.

"Well, me and my parents are skilled in mechanics and technical fiddle-faddle." he said "I can fix and repair things and I studied all about machinery. I learned that if a robot has an exhaust stack it's always the weak point because if you block it up, the trapped steam has nowhere to go and the robot overloads and explodes from the steam building up inside it. Pretty cool huh?"

Sonic couldn't believe his luck. He had come across a kid with an amazing amount of technical intelligence as well as mechanical skills! This kid was blessed with greatness and he knew it! He knew Tails would make an excellent fighter if he joined him. He smiled at his new friend and said.

"Tails, that's not cool…that's WAY past cool!"

He gave him his ever famous thumbs up sign. Tails giggled with pleasure.

"Now we have a moment, let's begin your training." said Sonic "You, I can tell will be a great fighter."

"OK Sonic." said Tails eagerly.

Sonic got to his feet and wondered off with Tails following him. Sonic couldn't wait to begin Tails' training…

Footnotes:

See the previous story for Sonic's stone wall smash

Horda and Borda

Story 5: Horda and Borda

Three weeks had passed since Sonic and Tails had first met each other. Those three weeks had been spent training the little fox to be able to fight. Tails' training hadn't been progressing as much as some people but it was coming along nicely. Tails could fight a little now but he wasn't physically strong yet. Right now, Sonic had set up an obstacle course for Tails. He had to use his flying and fighting abilities all at once in this course. Sonic gave the order to go and Tails took off. He flew in zigzags through the hordes of trees. This was a test of his agility. Then a wooden board with a robot painted on the front appeared in front of him. Tails stopped and kicked it, snapping it off its post. Another board with a robot painted on appeared. Tails flew towards it and smashed straight into it. The board was knocked into splinters. Then Tails found himself flying towards some logs set up for another agility test. Tails flew under and over the logs, zigzagging his way over them as fast as he could. Unfortunately he went a little too fast and lightly knocked his head against a log he had to fly over. Tails stopped for a moment to rub himself better and then carry on. He had flown out of the logs and now found himself flying towards more boards with robots painted on them. One even had Eggman painted on. Tails flew into all the boards, punching them off or kicking them off their posts. He flew towards the Eggman one and kicked it twice. The board snapped in half rather then fell off its post as it was a lot thicker then the others. Then Tails flew towards the finish post where Sonic stood and landed. Sweat rained down from his head and he was exhausted.

"So…how did…I…do?" wheezed Tails.

"You're getting better you know." said Sonic happily "You are getting better. The only mishap there was that little bump into the log."

"Sorry." said Tails.

"No need to be." said Sonic, stroking his head playfully "Anyone can make a mistake, even I can. And we learn from these mistakes."

"I knew that." fibbed Tails.

"No you didn't." chuckled Sonic, handing over a bottle of water to Tails "Now take a rest, you've earned it."

Tails unscrewed the lid and immediately began gulping his bottle of water down. Training was thirsty work after all. Sonic took his own bottle of water and began to drink out of it. Tails stopped drinking to get some air back into him and turned to face Sonic.

"Sonic." he said "I hope you don't mind my asking but, how did you and Eggman ever become enemies?"

Sonic stopped drinking and fell silent. He sighed and began.

"Eight months ago he invaded Mobotropolis*" he said "And he kidnapped Sally Acorn. I rescued her and in an effort to fight back, we formed the Royal Fighters Service, a group of fighters fighting under the name of the Acorn Family and for Mobius. However he destroyed Mobotropolis and since then we've been fighting him, desperate to drive him out of Mobius once and for all."

"Oh my gosh!" gasped Tails "That madman destroyed Mobotropolis?"

"Yep." said Sonic "Mobotropolis was my home city too so I have nowhere to live until they rebuild it."

"That's terrible, how could anyone be so vile?" asked Tails.

"I dunno." muttered Sonic "I guess it's just the way some people are."

Tails nodded and continued to sip his bottle of water.

"Hopefully New Mobotropolis will be completed soon and I'll have a place to live in again." Sonic said more to himself then anybody "Do you live anywhere Tails?"

"Not anymore." said Tails dully "I used to live in a small village on the outskirts of Green Hill Zone but that Eggman guy burnt it down two months ago."

Sonic almost did a wild spit-take with his water. That bad egg couldn't leave Tails alone could he? He kidnapped his parents AND burnt his whole village to the ground as well?! That made Sonic feel even sorrier for the young cub. Tails was parentless and homeless it turned out. He needed a place to live as the forest wasn't always a safe place, not with Eggman around at least.

"Well Tails, hopefully I'll be able to find you a new home in New Mobotropolis once its completed." said Sonic "Heck, I'll share my home with you if you like."

"That sounds great." said Tails "You're my only friend after all."

Sonic nodded. It felt great to be helping those in need of help. That's what he was born to do, help others at any lengths necessary, even if it meant doing all he could to stop the deadliest of bad guys. Then suddenly he felt something vibrate against his wrist. Sonic had taken a small communication device and kept it in his glove in case he needed it and now it had gone off. Sonic pulled the device out of his glove and answered it.

"Yo Nicole what's up?" asked Sonic.

"We have a distress signal from the Mobian Police Department in Central City." Nicole's voice announced on the other side of the communicator "Two robots are attacking the place; you're requested to come for help immediately!"

"No probs Nicole." said Sonic "I'll be there immediately."

He shut off the communicator and put it back in his glove.

"What's the matter Sonic?" asked Tails with interest.

"I'm requested to go to Central City to stop an attack going on at the Mobian Police Department." explained Sonic "You can come too if you want."

"Boy do I ever!" cried Tails excitedly "I can test my new skills on those attackers!"

"I'd keep it steady if I where you." warned Sonic "You're still in need of training after all. Now let's go!"

He revved up and zipped off. Tails spun his tails around, took flight and followed Sonic closely. Sonic looked over his shoulder, rather surprised to see the young fox actually keeping up with him. Sonic ran straight out of Green Hill Zone and headed to Mobotropolis. Once there he had to make a sharp turn left and run a good distance before reaching Central City. Central City wasn't very far from Mobotropolis luckily so Sonic knew where he was going. He just wondered what Eggman was up to this time…

After a good long hour of running, Sonic and Tails finally reached Central City. Central City was the largest city on Mobius and chock-a-block with inhabitants and strange looking hover cars of many shapes and sizes that whizzed here and there. Tails stared in absolute awe at everything he saw. After all he was a techno geek and all the technology he saw looked amazing to him, especially the hover cars.

"Impressive isn't it?" said Sonic, noticing Tails' impressed face.

"It's incredible!" exclaimed Tails "I've never seen a city like this before!"

"Well it is the largest on Mobius so it's bound to be impressive." noted Sonic "Now, where's that MPD station?"

Each city on Mobius had one MPD station. The Mobian Police Department was the name of the police forces on Mobius and the MPD stations acted as headquarters. They also contained classified information on all the cities and other places on Mobius so if Eggman was after that, it couldn't be good. After walking through a few city blocks, Sonic finally came across the MPD station. It was a fairly large rectangular cuboid shape with a uniquely shaped roof and a logo consisting of a blue circle with "MPD" in white capital letters. This was the MPD station and presumably where the distress signal was from.

"Now let's show those attackers what happens when they mess with Mobians!" said Sonic, smugly.

He walked through the doors with Tails following him. The first thing they saw were police officers laying on the floor, out cold. Some of them had nasty burn marks on their faces. This concerned Sonic a little. The attackers obviously meant business and they obviously had fire powers. It must be Eggman's work; the attackers must be Eggman robots. Sonic stepped over the sleeping police officers and crept up to a door.

"Wait here Tails." whispered Sonic as he opened the door.

He crept inside and closed the door behind him. Tails stood where he was, waiting for Sonic to come out and give him the news but his sensitive fox ears heard voices coming from another room. Tails looked over his shoulder and spotted another door. He flew quietly over to the door and listened to it. He heard the voices on the other side. Even though he was told to wait where he was, Tails had to see what was going on in that room while Sonic was in the other room. Tails twisted the door handle slowly. The door clicked and he pushed it open very slowly. The room he was looking in was full of computers. However it didn't look very tidy as a lot of the computer monitors and keyboards were over turned, knocked off their desks or smashed. It was clear the attackers had violent intentions of some sort. Tails closed the door behind him and tip-toed slowly over the mess. He tried to make sure he didn't tread on anything so he wouldn't make a noise and get found out. The voices he heard earlier were getting louder. Then Tails spotted a bright light coming from around the corner. He headed towards it. Then suddenly Tails tripped over a low hanging wire and fell on his face. Tails groaned and got to his feet. Nothing stirred so it was obvious he hadn't alerted anyone.

Tails continued tiptoeing and almost trod on a computer mouse. He felt his foot press against the mouse and he lifted it up. He put his foot back down again away from the mouse and continued creeping forward. Tails eventually came to the corner and knelt down on his knees. He poked his head around the corner and saw two robots taping keys on a keyboard and staring at a huge computer monitor.

One robot was tall and the other was short. The tall robot was hunch backed. Its head had spikes going down its neck; a V-shaped structure was perched above its black visor with red reptilian eyes. It had spikes pointing forward on the side of its face and a spike pointing backwards on each of its shoulders. It was rather broad. It had two sharp talons on its feet and five sharp claws on each hand. It was red and black in colour and its head spikes were silver coloured. The short robot looked less scary. It had a spike starting from above its visor and pointing behind it. Its reptilian eyes were blue instead of red. It had mandible like structures on its face. It had pointed shoulders, a chest plate with spikes that pointed sideways. Its feet were pointed and it had three fingers instead of five. The small robot was working on the computer whereas the tall one kept looking over his shoulder or all around as if it were keeping watch. The small robot appeared to be worried.

"I don't like this, I don't like this!" it gibbered to itself "We're gonna be in trouble, we're gonna be in trouble!"

"Quit jabbering and hurry up Borda!" snarled the tall robot, its voice electronic and gravely sounding "I can't shake the feeling we're being watched!"

Tails watched the robots with interest. What on Mobius where they up to? And were they Eggman robots? They must be, Tails didn't know anyone else who could build a robot. The tall robot walked off to check something whereas the short one, known as Borda, continued to work on the computer. He pressed a key and the computer droned "Download commencing." Borda stopped worrying and lightened up, knowing his job was getting underway. Tails crawled up to Borda as silently as he could. Then he lifted his head up and took a sneaky peak at what Borda was doing. Borda appeared to be downloading something. Tails squinted at the screen closely. It said "Downloading of secret files commencing." Those files contained vital information on city populations and police data. Who knew what those two robots wanted those files for? Then suddenly Borda noticed Tails next to him and tried to shriek but Tails seized the robot and yanked him under the desk. He grabbed a nearby snapped wire and wrapped it around Borda. Then he kicked the tied up robot away from him and started taping keys on the keyboard. He was trying to stop the downloading of the files before it was too late. As for poor Borda he had skidded across the floor and hit the tall robot, whose name was Horda in the back of the feet. Horda felt him and turned around. He almost did a wild-double take at what he saw.

"Borda?" he blurted, picking his tied up sidekick up "What happened to you?!"

"Mobian!" squealed Borda "There's a Mobian here!"

Horda looked up and saw Tails typing furiously on the keyboard.

"Oh, a Mobian!" sneered Horda, creeping up towards Tails "I was expecting a bigger one though."

Tails jumped in fright and turned around to see Horda towering over him. Horda truly looked terrifying but Tails put on his bravest looking face to hide it.

"I know what you guys are up to." he said slowly "But I won't let you get away with it!"

Horda laughed a mechanical throaty laugh and then threw Borda directly at the little fox. Tails caught him and threw him back at Horda. Horda just slapped Borda away, the poor robot hitting the floor headfirst and groaning. Tails laughed.

"Is that anyway to treat your buddy?" he taunted.

"I'll teach you to make fun of me!" growled Horda.

Horda seized Tails by the neck and slammed him against a very wide computer tower. Tails struggled in his grasp but Horda was too strong. He pulled Tails away from the tower and slammed him against it again. That slam caused a little damage to the tower.

"I will not tolerate you interfering with our mission!" snarled Horda "You will burn like those officers have!"

He pulled out a strange looking object and pressed a button. A huge flame emitted from it. Tails gasped in horror as Horda held the flaming metal torch to his face. Tails squirmed desperately as Horda inched it closer and closer. Then suddenly an ice gun descended from the ceiling and pointed directly behind Horda's back. The computer room had ice guns to put out electrical fires for water couldn't put those kind of fires out and having a sprinkler system would likely short-circuit everything in the room if they had systems like that in a computer room. The rest of the headquarters had sprinklers if there was a fire anywhere else.

"Look out Horda!" screamed Borda as he snapped himself free from the wire he was tied up with.

"Huh?" said Horda, turning around.

He spotted the ice gun and leapt out of the way. The ice gun squirted poor Tails with a jet of ice and water. The ice guns were used for putting out small electrical fires in case one happened. They were programmed to come out whenever a fire was detected and Horda's mechanical fire torch had set them off. Tails squealed a high pitched squeal as he was jetted with freezing cold ice and water. He was so shocked by the cold that when it finally stopped he fell to the floor, shivering as if he was in the middle of the Arctic.

"C-C-Cold…!" shivered Tails "S-so…c-cold…"

As for Horda and Borda, their download had finished and they scooped up their memory stick. They were walking away from the monitor.

"What about the Mobian?" asked Borda.

"Bah!" snorted Horda "We got what we came for and that's all that matters. I'm happy to leave him on ice."

They walked over to the emergency exit and opened it. Then they left the building, laughing like a pair of hyenas. Tails just sat where he was, shivering furiously. He was so cold that was all he could think of, being cold. Then Sonic burst into the room, looking around. He took note of the smashed computers and keyboards and ran up to where Tails was. The poor fox was still shivering.

"Tails, there you are!" gasped Sonic "What happened?"

"T-t-two r-r-robots n-n-named H-Horda and B-Borda w-w-were working on a c-c-computer." shivered Tails "I t-t-tried to stop th-th-them but th-th-they o-overpowered me a-and I g-g-got blasted by an i-i-ice g-g-gun."

"That sounds like Eggman to me." said Sonic. Then he turned back to Tails. "And don't you dare wonder off when I tell you to wait!" he scolded "What if those robots killed you?"

"I'm sorry Sonic." said Tails sadly "I only w-wanted t-to see w-what they were up to and if I-I c-could stop them."

"Well next time listen to me." said Sonic sternly "I'm really concerned about your safety Tails. I don't know what I'd do if I lost you."

"Sorry." Tails said again.

"That's all right." said Sonic softly "By the way, what were those robots doing on the computer?"

"They were downloading the secret files." explained Tails "I managed to tamper with it and make them download an empty file instead but I bet they'll be back once they find that out."

"In that case we wait for them." said Sonic "And we'll be ready for them!"

Tails beamed. He couldn't wait for the chance to redeem himself and to catch those two robots once and for all.

Meanwhile Horda and Borda had retreated to a small spaceship they had hidden in an alleyway. Their ship was no bigger then a lorry and was rather sleek and pointed in design. It had a cloaking device so no one would be able to see it. Inside the ship, Horda and Borda had set up a computer and they plugged their memory stick into it. They were eagerly waiting to see what information they had downloaded.

"I hope there's information on which cities have the highest population so we can kill lots of disgusting Mobians." hoped Horda "And I hope there's information on some large cities so we know which ones to target when we do our daily collateral damage patrol."

"Our master Rorda will be very pleased." beamed Borda as he uploaded the information on the computer.

The upload had finished and a small screen was displayed on the monitor. Horda clicked on the file icon to see what was in it. However there wasn't a single bit of information displayed on the screen after clicking on the file icon. Not even a word. Not one word. Horda stared hard at their computer.

"What's this?!" he bellowed "This file is empty!"

"What?!" shrieked Borda "I could swear I found the secret files!"

"You idiot!" snarled Horda, slapping Borda across the head "You downloaded the wrong file! Now we have to go back and try again!"

"But what if there's a group of Mobians guarding the place?" piped Borda.

"They can send as many as they dare." sneered Horda "We'll just destroy them all! Now come on you bumbling bolt brain!"

Horda lowered the boarding ramp of the ship and exited it. Borda followed closely behind.

Sonic and Tails were still at the MPD station waiting for Horda and Borda to return for the real secret files.

"Will we beat them Sonic?" asked Tails nervously.

"Sure we will." said Sonic "No villain's a match for me or you."

Then suddenly the emergency exit door was ripped off its hinges and tossed away. Horda and Borda had returned to get the secret files. Horda had even brought the memory stick with him. Sonic and Tails hid behind a computer desk and waited for Horda and Borda to start working on the computer. Horda stomped over to the same computer he had been working on before and turned it on. He looked around to make sure no one was around.

"Borda, you get to work now!" ordered Horda "I'll keep watch!"

Borda gulped. He hated doing the dirty work as he always worried on getting caught. But he was made to follow orders so he did so. The computer finished turning on and displayed its screens. Borda immediately got to work, taping the keyboard keys and searching for the right information he and Horda required. Horda just whipped out his two fire torches, ready to activate them the moment he spotted an intruder. Then, without warning, Sonic leapt from his hiding place and spin-dashed Horda in the back. Horda yelped in surprise as he was flung into the wall by Sonic's spin-dash. Borda immediately got scared and saw what was happening. Sonic ran up to Borda and grabbed him.

"Alright, why do you two miscreants want the secret files?!" demanded Sonic angrily.

"I-It's our j-job." gibbered Borda "W-w-we want t-to launch an attack on th-this planet's largest cities f-for our master. Please don't hurt me!"

Sonic thought on what Borda had said. Launch an attack on Mobius' largest cites? That sounded exactly like an Eggman plan. But why were those robots so different looking to the usual Eggman robots he was used to? Then suddenly Horda lunged from behind and punched Sonic away from Borda. The startled hedgehog crashed into a desk.

"We do not wish to battle!" snarled Horda "But if you want one, we will be happy to oblige!"

"Leave Sonic alone!" cried Tails hotly.

He flew up to Horda from behind and kicked him in the back of the neck. Horda gasped and fell over. Sonic got to his feet and glared at Horda.

"I bet this is Eggman's doing isn't it?" he asked "You're doing this for Eggman aren't you?"

Horda just gave Sonic a confused stare.

"Who in the mechanical world is an Eggman?" asked Horda bluntly.

"Don't play games with me metal face!" snapped Sonic "You're working for Eggman and downloading those files for him I know it!"

"What in the mechanical mind are you talking about?!" growled Horda "We do not know who this Eggman is, nor are we affiliated with him! We're not even from this planet!"

"Say what?!" spluttered Sonic.

Horda and Borda weren't Eggman robots? Nor were they from Mobius? These foes were mysterious indeed! Horda suddenly leapt to his feet and slashed at Sonic. Sonic jumped out of the way and kicked Horda across the face. Then suddenly Borda sneaked up from behind and punched Sonic in the back. Then Borda pulled out a pair of saw blades he had as weapons. He activated them and raised them above his head. But before he could chop Sonic into ribbons, Tails kicked him from behind. Borda dropped his saw blades. Tails grabbed one and churned into Borda's back with it. Horda grabbed Tails by the tails and hurled him into the wall. Tails smacked head first into it and slid down to the floor. Sonic then spin-dashed into Horda's face and sent him toppling over. Sonic then spotted Horda and Borda's memory stick lying next to the computer. He grabbed it, threw it on the floor and stomped on it, breaking it into pieces.

"NO!" yelled Horda.

"Now you can't download anything for your mysterious master!" smirked Sonic.

Horda got very, very cross. He leapt to his feet and whipped out his flame torches. He activated them. The flames roared loudly.

"You shall pay for your interference you miserable organism!" he declared angrily "And you shall pay for that by becoming my next barbecued victims!"

"Ah, ah, ah Horda." said Sonic "Don't you know what happens if you play with fire in here?"

Horda ignored him and advanced on Sonic. Then suddenly three ice guns descended from the ceiling and pointed directly at him. Horda turned around and stared at them in horror.

"Oh bugger!" he whimpered.

The ice guns blasted him in the face. One ice gun was bad enough, but three at once were even worse. In fact the three ice guns began to FREEZE Horda because the icy water they squirted was so cold. Another ice gun appeared from nowhere and joined in with the freezing process. Bigger fires required more ice guns after all and Horda had two flame torches so those two flames were enough to summon four ice guns. Borda noticed his friend was in trouble and ran over to help him. Then Tails flew up to one of the ice guns and turned it into Borda's direction. Now Borda was blasted in the face by icy water. Water and electricity didn't mix after all and Borda began to short circuit. He ended up having a mechanical seizure and started jittering about like a jitterbug. Then Borda's chest plate popped off and he fainted. Tails clenched his fist and mouthed "Yes!" in triumph. As for Horda, the ice guns had finished squirting him. He was frozen solid. He couldn't do anything except stand there, defeated and disgraced. Sonic smirked at him and so did Tails.

"Now who's having the cold shoulder?" jeered Tails.

Horda glared at the little fox.

"You two have disgraced us!" he snarled "You will pay dearly for this! But for now, we shall leave so we can repair ourselves. We will return…"

And with that he broke one of his arms free from the ice. He freed his other arm and pressed a teleporter device on his wrist. He and Borda vanished into thin air. Sonic merely huffed.

"Well that's that I guess." said Sonic.

"Yeah I guess." added Tails "I wonder if we'll see those two again."

"They said they'll return so we'll just have to be ready for them." said Sonic, "I just wonder who their master is and what they want to destroy cities for?"

Tails merely shrugged.

"By the way Tails." said Sonic "You redeemed yourself back there. Well done bro."

He gave him a playful smack on the back.

"Thanks Sonic." said Tails modestly. "And I learnt my lesson; never do anything by yourself unless you have the right skills for it."

Sonic gave him the thumbs up and winked at him. Then suddenly Sonic felt a vibration against his wrist again. He pulled his communication device out of his glove and answered it.

"Yo Nicole what's up this time?" asked Sonic.

"Have you dealt with the problem in Central City yet?" asked Nicole.

"Yes." said Sonic "The MPD is safe and sound now."

"That's good but Bunnie Rabbot and the Royal Fighters need your help in Megapolis!" announced Nicole "They're in serious trouble!"

"I'll be there right away." said Sonic, turning the device off. "Man this day just gets better doesn't it?"

"Can I come?" asked Tails hopefully.

"Why not?" said Sonic "I'm sure Bunnie would love to meet you."

And with that he dashed straight out of the MPD station with Tails following him. Sonic had no idea what he was going to expect in Megapolis, but he couldn't wait to smash Eggman's latest scheme…

Footnotes:

See the prologue story A Battle's Beginning

*See stories 1 & 2

Mayhem in Megapolis

Story 6: Mayhem in Megapolis

"Blast it all!" groaned Bunnie as she blasted another Eggman robot away with her arm cannon "Where's that sugah-hog when I need him?"

Ever since her arrival in Megapolis three weeks ago, Bunnie had been spending her whole time destroying robots and helping out the Royal Fighters of Megapolis. Since her arrival, things had started to go well for the fighters. Unfortunately, a few days after, the battle had recently been turning into Eggman's favour. More robots were being made then ever before and they were beginning to overwhelm everybody, even poor Bunnie Rabbot! No one knew how Eggman was making the robots so quickly but they knew that if they didn't keep on fighting, they would be vanquished. Right now though, Bunnie was under pressure from a horde of Eggman robots. She kept blasting them away with her arm cannon but there were just so many she couldn't keep up with them. Then suddenly one robot leapt on her from behind, Bunnie blasted it off but another robot, this one with fists for weapons rather then guns, sneaked up on her and punched her across the head. Bunnie had never felt such a punch in her life. The poor rabbit found herself toppling over. Her eyes closed and she passed out.

The robots cackled at their fallen victim and they pulled out a pair of laser cuffs. Laser cuffs were the only restraints that couldn't be broken. It looked like a sphere to start with but once they were placed in between the captive's wrists a pair of lasers emitted from each sides of the sphere, wrapped around the captive's wrists and held them in place. The Eggman robots hauled Bunnie over to a lamppost and put on the laser cuffs. Now she wouldn't be going anywhere unless she broke free of the cuffs which is impossible being as they're lasers. The biggest robot, the one that had punched Bunnie's daylights out, pulled out a communicator and spoke into it.

"Dr. Eggman sir, we have captured the Rabbot." droned the robot.

"Excellent!" cackled Eggman's voice on the other side "Keep hold of her until I arrive in my Egg Tank! I will finish roboticizing that half finished Mobian at long last!"

"Yes sir." droned the robot, shutting the communicator off.

Bunnie slowly began to come around. She was still feeling groggy from that punch. The robots noticed this.

"Commander, she's awoken." reported one robot "Should we knock her out again?"

"No." said the large robot "She won't be going anywhere. Those laser cuffs will keep her in place."

Bunnie finally finished waking up and noticed she had been overpowered and restrained to a lamppost. She pulled furiously on her arms but the cuffs refused to give up. They just couldn't be broken. The only way they could be turned off is by the touch of a button, which unfortunately Bunnie didn't have. The robots had the switch off button. The Eggman robots with guns pointed their guns at Bunnie.

"Dare move and we'll blow your brains out!" they threatened.

Bunnie stopped struggling and remained still. It looked like Eggman had defeated her once and for all. Then suddenly the lead robot was smashed into pieces by a blue blur! The other robots jumped up in surprise and saw their commander, lying in pieces. Then the blue blur charged at the other robots and smashed them to pieces one at a time in one swift charge. Sonic the Hedgehog had arrived at long last! Bunnie couldn't believe her good luck that Sonic had finally arrived. As Sonic destroyed the last robot he skidded to a halt.

"Now that's what I call making an entrance!" he chortled "Eh Tails?"

"I'll say." said Tails, landing next to him "You destroyed about twenty robots in one charge!"

"No robot is too tough for me after all." boasted Sonic "Oh! I just remembered, Bunnie Rabbot!"

He noticed Bunnie, still tied up to the lamppost. Sonic ran over to her and bent down to see the laser cuffs.

"Darn!" he cursed "Laser cuffs. Tough ones they are, only a button can turn them off."

"You mean this one?" asked Tails, holding up the remote device the lead robot had before it was destroyed by Sonic.

"Yeah that one." said Sonic.

Tails pressed the button on the remote device and the laser cuffs switched off. Bunnie rubbed her wrists and got up to her feet. She threw her arms around Sonic.

"Ya'll came at last ya swifty thing!" she cried with joy "Ah was beginning to think ya weren't coming!"

"I got a bit held up at Central City*." explained Sonic "By the way it's good to see you again."

"Same to you sugar-hog." said Bunnie happily. She then noticed Tails standing there, looking away shyly.

"Who's the adorable fox cub then?" asked Bunnie.

"This is my new friend Tails." said Sonic "I met him during my time in Green Hill Zone and saved him from Eggman. I've been giving him some training so he will be able to help us fight against Eggman."

"Hi Bunnie." said Tails meekly.

"Howdy there cutie." said Bunnie "Aren't you adorable?"

Tails giggled modestly. His parents always said that to him.

"Thanks Bunnie." said Tails "By the way, what happened to your legs and arm?"

"Ah was half roboticized by that Eggman guy." explained Bunnie "Ah don't mind though, I can smash robots and fly now so that Eggman has just done us a favour by making me stronger."

"I bet he's annoyed at that!" chuckled Tails.

Bunnie laughed along with Tails until Sonic interrupted them.

"So Bunnie, how's things been going on here?" he asked.

"Terrible sugar-hog." answered Bunnie "Eggman's been vanquishing the Royal Fighters here. He's somehow building robots at an incredible speed. We started beating back the robots a few weeks ago but then they began coming at us in enormous numbers. We can't keep up with that mad man and as ya'll saw, ah got over powered by them robots."

"Building robots at an incredible speed?" repeated Sonic "That sounds strange, Eggman couldn't build robots that quickly."

"Do you think he probably has some super speedy production line or something?" wondered Tails.

"Maybe, we'll have to investigate on this." said Sonic "Bunnie, do you know where Eggman's base is?"

"Nah sugah." said Bunnie "No one does."

"Then we'll have to find it ourselves!" declared Sonic "Come on Tails and Bunnie, we've got an Eggman to find!"

And with that he zoomed off at his trademark speed. Tails and Bunnie both took flight and followed him. Bunnie couldn't believe her eyes at what Tails was suddenly doing right now.

"Oh mah stars! You can fly?" she gasped.

"Yep." said Tails "All thanks to my twin tails!"

"Ya'll a peculiar one ain't ya?" said Bunnie.

Tails blushed. He hadn't received comments like that from a woman before. Tails shook it off for the moment and focused back on following Sonic. Hopefully they would find Eggman's base and sort out the robot problem Megapolis was having…

"Alonzo you sluggish steel stump hurry up!" bellowed Eggman "I'm getting ready to activate my Egg Tank!"

"I AM hurrying up you fat load of anger!" snapped Alonzo "I can't go any faster while I'm dragging your supplies on board!"

Dr. Eggman and Alonzo were loading up the Egg Tank, Eggman's latest invention. After the destruction of his two bases in Green Hill Zone*he had retreated to his biggest headquarters which was in Megapolis. The Egg Tank was one heck of a death machine. It was H-shaped and loaded with weapons. These weapons of death consisted of a huge two barrelled cannon, two smaller cannons on either side of the cannon barrel and two extra guns on the sides of the tank. Thirteen cannons is a lot of cannons on one tank isn't it? The tank's colour scheme was red and black, like Eggman's uniform, all it's weapons were gold and the tank itself was taller then a three storey building. It was built out of super strong titanium too so it would be a tough machine to beat. Alonzo loaded the last supplies onboard the giant tank and flopped on the floor in exhaustion.

"Whew! Carrying supplies is hard work!" he puffed.

"Finally, you've finished." said Eggman dryly "Congratulations. Now let's get going and pick up Bunnie Rabbot shall we?"

"Well you've always wanted to finish roboticizing that tough girl haven't you?" asked Alonzo.

"Oh yes." answered Eggman "She'll be a valuable ally to me. And Sonic won't know what to expect when I use her against him!"

And with that he cackled with laughter. Alonzo joined in, with his bad sounding cackle that would make people laugh when they heard it. Eggman stopped laughing and smacked Alonzo around the head. The poor robot's head started whizzing around like a mad roundabout and Alonzo fell over with a thump.

"Don't you dare try to do an evil cackle!" snarled Eggman "You just spoil the mood you stupid lump of steel!"

"Well SO-RRY for contributing to your greatness sir!" grumbled Alonzo, rubbing his head.

"Just do something useful while I get the tank going!" ordered Eggman "And stop complaining all the time!"

"Yes sir." mumbled Alonzo.

Why did he have to have such an abusive master who never appreciated a thing he did? Just his bad luck he supposed. Dr. Eggman sat down in the driver's seat and began pressing controls on the tank's control pad. The Egg Tank whirred into life. Eggman grabbed the controls and pressed the buttons to go. The Egg Tank's enormous engines roared louder then a pride of lions as the colossal machine began to slowly move from its parking space. Its huge treads began to groan loudly as the tank moved forward. The hangar bay doors opened, letting in bright sunlight, to let the tank out of the darkness of the hangar bay and into the open air. The tank finally trundled out of the hangar bay, the door closing behind it. Eggman cackled gleefully.

"What a beautiful day." he said "A beautiful day to cause chaos that is!"

"Agreed sir." chortled Alonzo.

"Now let's go and pick up Bunnie Rabbot!" said Eggman eagerly "And destroy a city along the way. Egg tank, away!"

The Egg Tank began to trundle forwards slowly, then as it went along its speed picked up to a speed unnatural to a real tank. Eggman had equipped jet engines to the back after all. Now the tank was speeding through the small desert that surrounded the city of Megapolis. Upon arrival, Eggman would lay siege to the city and hopefully kidnap a good number of Mobians to roboticize, particularly Bunnie Rabbot. He just hoped that Sonic wouldn't interfere for once.

Sonic, Tails and Bunnie had been searching for thirty minutes straight and hadn't found a hint of Eggman anywhere. The only things Eggman they had run into were Eggman robots, which Sonic and Bunnie destroyed without a problem. They decided to stop searching and rest a moment.

"That Eggman's hidden his base in a good place this time hasn't he?" muttered Sonic as he wiped his forehead.

"Ah don't know about you sugah but I'm not even sure Eggman's hiding IN the city." thought Bunnie "Maybe he's hiding somewhere else."

"Maybe." said Sonic "Maybe he's hiding on the outskirts somewhere."

"I haven't seen any Royal Fighters." said Tails "Where are they?"

"Hiding sugah." said Bunnie dully "Ever since Eggman began to push us back with his madly increasing robot army, the fighters have all resorted to hiding and then ambushing the robots. It's been a good tactic so far but we're not sure how much longer they'll be able to keep it up."

Then suddenly a tiger in a combat uniform leapt on Sonic from behind and pinned him to the ground. The startled hedgehog yelped in surprise.

"Hold it right there Eggman robot!" snarled the tiger, pulling out a pistol from his gun pouch.

"Easy Thomas, he's on our side!" yelped Bunnie "Its Sonic the Hedgehog!"

"Oh, sorry about that." said the tiger, a trifle embarrassed at his actions "I'm just a bit over cautious that's all." He put his pistol pack in his gun pouch.

"Who's this guy?" asked Sonic, standing up and dusting himself off. He glared at the tiger angrily.

"This is Field Marshal Thomas K. Tiger." said Bunnie "He's the leader of the Royal Fighters here."

"Nice to meet you Sonic the Hedgehog." said Thomas, holding his hand out.

"I don't call pouncing on me from behind "Nice to meet you"!" snorted Sonic.

"I thought you were a robot, I'm sorry about that!" yelled Thomas "I keep thinking everybody's a robot due to that darn Eggman roboticizing everybody."

"That makes sense." said Sonic "But didn't it occur to you that I wasn't attacking anyone? Nor was I trying to take Bunnie and Tails to Eggman?"

"I know. I really made a pig's ear out of this." mumbled Thomas "I'll make it up to you by helping you out."

"I know how you can help us out." said Tails "Do you know where Eggman's base is?"

Thomas stared at Tails for a moment and put a hand to his chin. Then he snapped his fingers.

"Ah I do know where his base is!" he said "I remember sending our top spy to find it yesterday and she reported it being a few miles north-east outside the city."

"Thanks for that Tommy." said Sonic "You've made it up to me already. Now let's…"

But before he could do anything a low earth shaking rumble filled everybody's ears and made them wobble briefly.

"Earthquake?" fretted Tails.

"No." said Thomas "That sounds like Eggman's heavy artillery. Not sure what it is though."

Then from out of the horizon, the Egg Tank came into view. As it neared Megapolis, the ground began to rumble more and more. Sonic could tell this was something big and bad. And it was coming to them.

"We've gotta stop that thing before it gets to the city!" cried Sonic.

"Then let's go sugah hog!" cried Bunnie, taking flight "Royal Fighters away!"

Sonic, Bunnie and Tails all ran off to confront this new foe that was heading for them. As for the Egg Tank, it was hurtling towards the city at tremendous speed. Eggman would reach the city in no time. He couldn't wait to destroy it and then remould it into his image. Then suddenly the tank's radar picked up three oncoming life forms. They must be Royal Fighters putting up a feeble resistance.

"So some fighters have seen me coming eh?" he jeered "Oh well, I'll have to get rid of them first!"

He put the Egg Tank's brake on and the giant machine halted with an earth shaking skid. The huge tank finally stopped. Just after it had stopped, the three Mobians on radar came into view. Eggman couldn't believe his eyes when he saw them.

"Just my luck!" groaned Eggman "I begin to push back those pitiful Royal Fighters of Megapolis and Sonic shows up! And with Tails no less! And I thought my robots had captured Bunnie for me!"

"Well obviously Sonic saved her from your robots you dweeb!" snorted Alonzo.

Eggman leapt out of his seat and punched Alonzo in the face. The startled servant bot fell over backwards with a thunk. He groaned dopily.

"Don't you dare call me a dweeb you titanium twerp!" snarled Eggman "You will respect your master!"

"Yes sir, no sir, three bags full of bolts sir!" giggled Alonzo stupidly.

Eggman sighed and turned his attention back to the oncoming Mobians. Even though Sonic had come to ruin everything, Eggman didn't worry too much. He was certain his Egg-Tank would destroy Sonic and friends easily. It was heavily armoured and filled to the brim with weaponry after all. As for Sonic, Tails and Bunnie they finally reached the tank and stopped in their tracks. Tails gaped in awe at the sheer size of the tank.

G…G…Go…Gosh!" stammered Tails. He was paralyzed with shock at the tank's appearance.

"Big deal, it's just a tank waiting to be smashed by us." said an unimpressed Sonic.

Tails started speaking frightened gibberish before finally swooning over and fainting. Sonic saw that and bent down by his side.

"Wake up Tails! We've got an Eggman to stop!" he cried, slapping Tails repeatedly in the face to wake him up.

"Huh…Who….What…Where?" mumbled Tails dimly.

"Some fighter you have Sonic the Hedgehog!" taunted Eggman from inside his Egg Tank "He falls asleep on the job!"

"Eggman, you may have a big tank but it's not gonna be enough for my speed and skill." boasted Sonic "I'll take it down the same way I took the rest of your toys down!"

"I wouldn't be so sure Sonic." purred Eggman "It is heavily armoured AND heavily armed too!"

Sonic had had enough and decided to throw the first punch or spin-dash in his case. He charged straight at the Egg Tank and… bounced straight off it! In fact the tank's body was so hard Sonic had hurt himself when he hit it! Sonic spin dashed straight into the ground face first and skidded to a halt. He groaned and passed out. Tails and Bunnie were well and truly gobsmacked.

"Oh mah stars!" said Bunnie shakily "S-S-Sonic didn't even s-scratch that darn thing!"

"We're dead meat!" shrieked Tails.

"Yes you are!" laughed Eggman "Egg Tank, away!"

And with that the colossal death machine began to roar into life and slowly move. Bunnie engaged her arm cannon and began firing madly at the tank's incredible armour. However none of the shots seemed to do anything to the tank apart from bounce off harmlessly. Bunnie couldn't believe her eyes. Then she decided to change tactics and punch the tank instead. However her robotic fist didn't do any better. From inside the tank, Eggman was laughing away like the deranged manic he is. It was so funny seeing his victims put up such a pitiful fight against his heavily armoured masterpiece.

"Look at them Alonzo! So desperate to stop me but their attempts are in vain!" jeered Eggman.

"Agreed sir." said Alonzo "Should we open fire now?"

"Yes we should!" said Eggman gleefully "Fire away!"

"Certainly sir." said Alonzo, pressing the fire button on the tank's control pad.

The tank's thirteen cannons all fired horrifying cannon blasts at Bunnie. Bunnie managed to dodge them all but she knew that she wouldn't be able to keep it up for long so she flew out of the way from the tank's cannon fire. Tails followed her. Unfortunately, the Egg Tank's turret turned around in their direction and fired at them. Tails dropped down to the ground and braced himself, hoping he wouldn't get hit whereas Bunnie kept trying to fly away. Then suddenly one cannon blast managed to catch her by the ankle. Bunnie yelped in pain and then plummeted down to the ground. Her stricken foot was out of commission and she couldn't fly with one foot working as it was harder to control so she started falling. Tails noticed Bunnie falling and leapt up to catch her. He only just managed to catch the falling rabbit and he used his tails to slow himself down so he could land safely.

"Thanks Tails." said Bunnie.

"Heh, heh, you're welcome." said Tails, his face turning red with embarrassment.

Eggman decided not to bother about Bunnie and Tails anymore since they couldn't do any harm to his tank so he continued moving forwards. He was almost at the city of Megapolis. Once he arrived, he would blast it to smithereens. As for Thomas, he noticed the tank coming and called for evasive action. The Royal Fighters of Megapolis has assembled an attack squad and they were all armed with bazookas and rocket launchers. They were the strongest weapons they had after all and hopefully it would be enough to destroy Eggman's deadly tank. As the tank neared, the squad got ready to fire.

"Ok lads wait for it…" commanded Thomas "Wait for it…"

The tank's advance was nearing and nearing. Now it was only a mile away from the city.

"Ok lads…FIRE!" bellowed Thomas.

The squad obeyed and fired all their weapons at once. Rockets screamed loudly as they whizzed towards their targets. Eggman noticed this onslaught of rockets and took action. He aimed the Egg Tank's thirteen cannons and fired them. Most of the cannon blasts missed their targets but a few had hit the rockets before they could reach the tank. The rockets that weren't hit exploded into the Egg Tank. The tank was now engulfed with smoke as the rockets continued to rain down on it. Bunnie and Tails were watching the whole ordeal and their faces brightened.

"Oh that Thomas, he knows how to deal with situations like this." said Bunnie proudly.

"That tank can't possibly have survived that." said Tails "I bet Eggman's all in pieces!"

As for Thomas and the squad, they all cheered their heads off, certain that their attack had worked. Then suddenly the smoke lifted up into the air revealing…the Egg Tank standing there with hardly a scratch! The Royal Fighters stopped cheering and gasped with horror. Bunnie and Tails gasped too. All those rockets and Eggman's tank was still in prime condition!

"Oh mah stars!" screeched Bunnie.

"That thing's indestructible!" shrieked Tails "Now what do we do?"

"Attack it on the inside!" announced a voice from behind.

Tails turned around to see Sonic standing there. He had a large bump on his head but he looked just fine at least.

"Sonic!" cried Tails "Thank goodness you're awake!"

"I know." said Sonic "And I think I know how to destroy that thing. If we can get inside and attack it we might be able to destroy it that way."

"But how do we get IN the tank?" questioned Bunnie.

"Thomas and his boys will likely be keeping him busy so I'll just sneak on to the top of that turret, open the hatch and bingo I'm in." said Sonic "Come one, we haven't a moment to lose!"

Sonic charged off whereas Bunnie and Tails took flight after him. Meanwhile, Thomas and the attack squad reloaded their weapons and fired them again. However the Egg Tank just kept on moving forward, ploughing straight through the rain of rockets. The rockets were slowly beginning to dent the tank's armour, but not fast enough. To make matters worse, the Royal Fighters were losing ammo and fast. They would have run out of ammo by the time they did any more damage to the tank. Eggman fired the tank's cannons at the city the tank was heading towards. The tank's cannons blasted every building they were aimed at. The blasted buildings began to burn and crumble to the ground. Smaller buildings were merely blasted to bits. Thomas began to get worried and ordered the squad to fall back. The squad obeyed him and fled the battle. They were hopelessly losing so there wasn't much point putting up a fight. Eggman laughed at the retreating fighters and continued his onslaught on the city. While he was doing that, Sonic leapt up onto the back of the Egg Tank and headed up to the gun turret with Tails and Bunnie following him. Sonic reached the gun turret and found the hatch. He opened it and leapt inside. He found himself inside the tank's control room. Eggman heard Sonic land inside and turned around to see him standing there, smirking confidently.

"Oh of all times, you have to show up now don't you?" he grumbled.

"Yeah." said Sonic "Now stop what you're doing or I'll smash this tank from the inside out!"

"I will not stop what I'm doing!" snarled Eggman, reaching behind himself and pressing a button on the control pad "I will stop you from stopping me instead!"

A Diamond Glass case descended from above and closed around Sonic. The blue hedgehog was now trapped like a rat. Sonic grumbled to himself and sat down.

"Jeez, you're much better prepared then before aren't ya?" he muttered.

Eggman just smiled tauntingly at him.

"The best villains plan in advance you know." he sneered, turning back to the tank's controls so he could continue firing at Megapolis.

As for Bunnie and Tails they peered down the hatch and noticed Sonic trapped in the glass case. Bunnie deployed her arm cannon and aimed at the control pad.

"Careful Bunnie." said Tails cautiously.

"Ah know sugah." hissed Bunnie.

She fired her cannon. The blast whizzed straight above Eggman's head and hit the control pad. The controls exploded in his face. Eggman shielded his face from the explosion. After the explosion finished, Eggman stared in horror at the control pad. There was a huge black hole in the centre of it and huge chunks had been blasted out of it. The tank wouldn't be doing anything now. Bunnie cheered with victory and then leapt into the control room with Tails. Eggman turned around and saw them. Sonic did the same and smiled at them.

"You two should win the noble prize for "Best Dramatic Timing"!" he sniggered.

Bunnie giggled with him. Eggman began to get mad.

"You Mobian miscreants really make things hard for me don't you?" he snarled "Alonzo, get them!"

Alonzo obeyed and lunged at Tails and Bunnie. But all Bunnie needed to do was point her arm cannon at Alonzo and the cowardly servant bot stopped in his tracks and backed away fearfully. Bunnie then changed her arm back to normal. She grabbed the glass case Sonic was trapped in and wrenched it off the ground, freeing Sonic.

"There you go sugar-hog!" she cried.

"Thanks Bunnie." said Sonic, turning to Eggman "Now will you give up Egghead?"

Eggman grumbled to himself and then put his hands up.

"I surrender." he said reluctantly.

"That's better." sneered Sonic "Now, how are you building robots at great speeds and therefore overwhelming the Royal Fighters here?"

"I have a super fast production line." explained Eggman "It can build robots faster then you can run."

"Is that so?" sneered Sonic "Well then, you can take us back to your base so we can destroy it!"

"No I can't." snorted Eggman "The controls are busted!"

"Well use a different vehicle then!" yelled Sonic.

"OK then!" Eggman yelled back "I have my Egg mobile in the back of the tank, I'll activate it right now."

But instead of doing that, he pulled out a small device and pressed it. Two small spheres with gun barrels descended from the ceiling and pointed at Sonic, Tails and Bunnie. Before anyone could react the spheres fired a painful electromagnetic pulse (EMP for short) shot at them. The three fighters screamed in pain and then collapsed to the floor. Eggman roared with laughter.

"You fell for my trap you foolish heroes!" chortled Eggman "I've got you all out cold and by the time you wake up, you'll be in my base, waiting to be roboticized!"

"Nice one sir." applauded Alonzo "But how do we get back home since the control pad's destroyed?"

"I installed a teleporter in this tank." explained Eggman "We can just warp ourselves home."

And with that he pressed a button on the wall. The tank glowed very brightly and then vanished in one bright yellow flash…

Footnotes:

 See the previous story for more

* See stories 3-4 for Sonic and Tails' first encounter

 See story 2

 See stories 3-4 (again) for Eggman's explosive ending to his bases

Under Pressure

Story 7: Under Pressure

The empty hangar bay of Eggman's base was filled with a bright light as the Egg Tank materialized into place. After the Egg Tank finished materializing, Eggman ran out of the tank while Alonzo trailed after him, carrying the unconscious Sonic, Tails and Bunnie Yes, Alonzo does all the carrying for Eggman doesn't he?). Eggman headed to the roboticizer room so he could prepare the three captives for roboticization. He had to do it quickly before they managed to wake up so Eggman began doing everything as fast as he could. Alonzo finally made it to the room and dropped the Mobians on the floor. The exhausted robot collapsed in a heap.

"Just because puff! I'm the servant bot around here wheeze! I have to carry just about everything!" puffed Alonzo "I really hate this injustice!"

"Oh shut up you metallic moron!" growled Eggman "And help me get the roboticizer ready! Those fools will be waking up any moment now!"

"Yes sir." mumbled Alonzo as he dragged the three Mobians towards their cages.

However Sonic had started coming around as Alonzo dragged him, Tails and Bunnie towards the cages. He had finally woken up and noticed what was going on. Sonic then got into a spin-dash and broke out of Alonzo's grasp. The startled butler-bot fell flat on his face. Dr. Eggman heard Alonzo falling on the floor and turned around to see Sonic, awake and at the ready.

"Oh for the love of robots!" grumbled Eggman "Of all times Sonic had to awake!"

"I guess I just got lucky." sneered Sonic "Now if you don't mind I'll be juicing out of here with Bunnie and Tails right now."

"Oh I don't think you will!" retorted Eggman.

Just as he said that, a huge swarm of robots stomped into view and blocked the doorway. They aimed their weapons at Sonic, desperate to fire at him.

"Do you think you'll be able to smash your way through that?" taunted Eggman "I think I have too many robots for you to cope with!"

"There's no such thing as too many for me to cope with." gloated Sonic.

And with that he spin-dashed straight into the first robot. He hit the robot so hard the robot's optics popped out. Sonic then started ploughing his way through several more robots as he continued spin-dashing. Unfortunately that's where his luck ended. He spin-dashed straight into a giant robot's open hand but the robot was stronger then Sonic was and the robot smashed him straight into the ground. Sonic tried to get up but the giant robot seized him and held him tightly. Sonic squirmed in the robot's grasp but the robot was just too strong. Then the robot marched into the roboticizer room and put Sonic in the glass cage. Alonzo put Tails and Bunnie in the other cages just as they were about to wake up. When they did, they realized the situation they were in now. Eggman hooted with laughter.

"Ho, ho, ho, ho! How did that feel Sonic?" cackled Eggman "I built a robot strong enough to take you out!"

"You just got lucky that time Egg-head!" snorted Sonic "Once I get out of here you won't be so lucky!"

"There won't BE a next time!" sneered Eggman "Because I'm going to roboticize you and your two friends right now!"

He ran over to the control pad and began pressing buttons. The monitor displayed a screen saying "Roboticizer ready." Eggman beamed and then pressed the red button marked "Activate". The glass cages containing Sonic, Bunnie and Tails began to glow brightly. Electricity sparkled and surrounded the tops of the cages.

Tails began to panic whereas Sonic just merely grumbled.

"That's the second time I'm almost gonna get roboticized*!" he moaned "Either Eggman's getting better or I'm losing my touch! Oh well I'll just break out the same way I did the first time!"

And with that he spin-dashed straight into the floor of the cage. But he didn't smash through it like before; he merely hit it and hurt himself. Sonic sat against the glass, his eyes spinning around and his head throbbing.

"Gosh, one of these days I'm gonna get a migraine!" he slurred.

Eggman just laughed at him. "I know you'd try that again Sonic so I made the floor of the cages with an extra layer of titanium so it's even harder to smash!" he explained "By the time you do smash through it, you'll be roboticized!"

Sonic groaned. That Eggman had finally got him this time. He was doomed, he was dead, he was going to spend the rest of his life as nothing more then a mindless savage killer robot under Eggman's control. Same with Tails and Bunnie was going to end up with more metal parts then before. Speaking of Bunnie, for some reason she aimed her fist at the floor as if she was about to punch it. Bunnie had an idea of sorts but she wasn't sure if it was going to work. The cages glowed ever brighter as the roboticizing process continued. It was now or never. Bunnie activated the telescoping feature on her robotic arm and hit the floor. However Bunnie's arm continued telescoping and since her fist was already embedded in the floor, she ended up pushing herself up into the roof of the cage. She hit it so hard and so fast the cage was torn away from its place and Bunnie flew straight up. Eggman's moustache flopped down. He began to gibber stupidly in disbelief. Bunnie landed on the floor with a thud. The cyborg rabbit got up, groaning.

"Well I'm amazed that worked!" she said weakly "But ah wish it weren't so painful!"

"Alonzo get her before she rescues Sonic and Tails!" roared Eggman.

Alonzo decided to ignore Eggman and not do anything as he knew Bunnie would destroy him if he tried to manhandle her. Bunnie smirked at Alonzo's cowardice and then tore Sonic's cage away from the floor. Then she did the same to Tails' cage.

"Jeez!" sniggered Sonic "That's the second time I've been saved by you Bunnie! You must be on a roll or something!"

"Ah think I'm just amazing." said Bunnie modestly.

Eggman's face went purple with rage. He leapt up and down in such a comical fit of anger he looked like he was having a seizure. He was so angry steam was coming out of his ears. Alonzo knew that Eggman was probably going to use him as a punching bag in a moment so he silently crept away. Eggman stopped throwing a fit and yelled.

"THAT'S THE LAST STRAW! NO MORE MR. NICE GUY! ROBOTS KILL THESE CRETINS ONCE AND FOR ALL!"

The robots outside the room all obeyed and marched in one by one. The circled the three Mobians and aimed their weapons at them. The average person probably would be frightened to death at this point, but Sonic wasn't, he just remained as calm as ever.

"What do we do Sonic?" whimpered Tails.

"This!" cried Sonic.

He then ran around in a circle at top speed. He was running so fast he began to create a huge whirlwind. The whirlwind began to get faster and faster and stronger and stronger. Then without warning Eggman's robots were all blown away like leaves in the wind. Some flew out the doorway and some flew straight into the wall. The giant robot flew into the wall and smashed straight through it! Even Eggman got blown away and he landed straight into a chair. But the chair was on wheels so he wheeled backwards and hit the wall with a thud. Sonic stopped running around and halted. He couldn't help but laugh at what he just did.

"Now that's what I call a whirlwind!" he chortled "Those poor robots didn't know what hit them!"

"Now let's get outta here before they get up." said Tails eagerly.

"Nuh uh Tails, we've got a robot production line to smash first." noted Sonic "Because if we don't, Eggman will overwhelm us all if he makes armies as big as that at such a fast rate."

"Well let's get to it sugah-hog!" cried Bunnie.

Sonic dashed out of the room with Tails and Bunnie following closely behind. Sonic had no idea where the production facility was but he was determined to find it and put an end to Eggman's scheme. Since Sonic could run at supersonic speeds he just ran in one room, observed it to see if it was the right one or not and then ran back out to look in another one all in one go. He found a silver door edged with warning stripes and there was a red light above it. This might be the production chamber so Sonic decided to have a look in it.

Rather then spin-dashing it down as he had hurt his head one time too many he just pressed a button on the keypad next to the door. The door opened. Sonic wondered into the room with Tails and Bunnie behind him. They saw a huge machine with treadmills and slopes that led into it. Various bits of metal slid down the slope and into the machine. And seconds later a fresh new Eggman robot appeared on the treadmill and taken out to make room for the next one. Three robots had been made in a matter of seconds. This was definitely the robot production room.

"Would you look at that?" said Sonic.

"The speed it's making those robots at is incredible!" gasped Tails "How on Mobius is it able to do that?"

"That Eggman's one heck of a builder ain't he?" said Bunnie.

"I'll admit it, he is one evil genius." said Sonic "But I'm not letting him get away with this. We're gonna tear that machine down piece by piece!"

"I'll do the honours since ah have the best weapon for this occasion." said Bunnie, deploying her arm cannon.

She pointed it straight at the robot making machine and blasted it. The machine halted its work and exploded into showers of debris. Fire and smoke billowed out of the destroyed machine. Sonic smirked with triumph.

"Nice one Bunnie." he applauded "That'll slow Eggman down for a while."

"Thanks Sonic." said Bunnie "Now should we go and destroy Eggman's darn tank?"

"That sounds like a good idea." said Sonic "That tank's a nightmare to battle and it already destroyed a small part of Megapolis City so why not?"

"If only we knew where it was." muttered Tails.

"No probs, I'll just run everywhere until I find it." said Sonic, dashing off in a flash.

In a matter of minutes, Sonic ran into ten different rooms before finally finding the Egg Tank, parked in the hangar bay waiting to be used again. It had been damaged to the point of needing extensive repairs but if they didn't destroy it now Eggman would repair the tank and send it out to destroy Megapolis City.

"Bunnie, Tails, I've found the tank!" Sonic called out to them.

Tails flew over to where Sonic was whereas Bunnie just took the long way on foot since she couldn't fly due to the damage done to one of her feet earlier. They walked into the hangar bay with Sonic, admiring the Egg Tank with awe.

"I will give Eggman credit, it is an impressive machine." said Tails.

"Agreed." said Sonic "But it's going to the scrap yard before it does anymore damage to Megapolis."

"Y'know if the controls weren't dead we could probably steal the darn thing and give it to the Royal Fighters." suggested Bunnie "It would be an excellent weapon."

"Yes it would." agreed Sonic "But we don't know how to drive it and I don't think we could fix it either because we wouldn't know how to fix it up so it's pretty useless to us."

"OK then." said Bunnie "Let's just destroy it and get outta here before Eggman catches us."

Sonic and Bunnie leapt onto the tank's turret and opened the hatch. Bunnie deployed her arm cannon and fired in as many places as she could. The inside of the tank burst into flames and began to emit small explosions. Due to how much damage had been caused to the interior of the tank, the whole thing was going to explode in a matter of minutes. Sonic and Bunnie leapt off the tank and ran for it. Tails flew after them as fast as he could. They all charged out of the hangar bay and waited for the killer explosion. Then without warning the whole room erupted into flames as the giant tank exploded into smithereens. The explosion was so powerful it had blown a massive hole in the side of Eggman's base. Smoke billowed out of it. Sonic and the others saw this as their golden opportunity to escape so they ran for it. However the smoke was very thick and they couldn't see very well. The Mobians covered their mouths to prevent smoke getting into their lungs as that would cause a lot of problems. Visibility was terrible but Sonic was determined to get out of Eggman's base so he ran on with his friends behind him. Then, at last, they managed to escape the clouds of smoke and into the open fresh air. They uncovered their mouths and breathed in deeply to clear out their mouths.

"Cough! we made it!" spluttered Sonic.

"Yes we did." coughed Tails "Cough! I don't think I wanna go through that again!"

"Well at least we destroyed Eggman's tank." said Bunnie brightly "And we've saved Megapolis from more danger."

"I bet Eggman will be back though." noted Sonic "But not for a while. Let's go and meet Thomas and give that old tiger the good news."

And with that he carried Bunnie in his arms and ran off with Tails flying after him.

As for Dr. Eggman he was livid to the bone to see his precious base in ruins. His production facilities had been blasted to tiny bits but worse then that his glorious tank had been completely obliterated. That tank was the strongest thing he had and now it was gone, he was back to square one. It was so unfair! And he was winning against those stupid fighters too!

"Alonzo!" growled Eggman.

"Yes sir?" squeaked Alonzo, trundling up to him nervously.

Eggman said nothing and simply punched Alonzo in the face. He loved to let his anger out on his servant bot after all.

"That insolent hedgehog has vanquished my glorious tank!" roared Eggman "It's time to bring in the backup plan!"

"At once sir." droned Alonzo dopily.

Alonzo pulled out a remote device from his side compartment and pressed a button. Outside of Eggman's base, the ground began to shake. Then the ground began to crack like an egg. Then the ground erupted into showers of sand and rocks. Something was rising out of the ground. And that thing was…another Egg Tank! It was exactly the same as the first one from the thirteen cannons to the paint scheme. Eggman knew this would happen so he built a secondary Egg Tank and hid it underground so no one would find it. Now it was out in the open, waiting to be put into action. Eggman and Alonzo ran out of the base and up to the new tank. They climbed up to the tank's colossal gun turret and opened the hatch. They leapt inside and got to the controls immediately. The tank whirred and roared into life and then began to move from where it had risen from. It trundled nosily through the dunes as it headed to its designated target: The city of Megapolis.

"I bet Sonic will never see this coming!" jeered Eggman "I am full of surprises after all!"

Meanwhile, Sonic, Tails and Bunnie had returned to Megapolis and were met with cheers and congratulations from the relieved Royal Fighters and Thomas Tiger. Sonic had explained everything that had happened and was certain everything was going to be alright now. Thomas was impressed with all this.

"Well, I can easily see why they call you the Hero of Mobius." said Thomas "Thanks to you, Eggman will be slowed down and we'll be able to push him back and finally defeat him."

"Thanks Tommy." said Sonic "However I wouldn't have done it without Bunnie Rabbot, she's the one who destroyed the tank and production lines. She's the real hero of the day."

"Aw shucks." said Bunnie, blushing.

"Well congratulations to you too Miss Rabbot." said Thomas, shaking her hand "No wonder his majesty King Acorn himself sent you over to help us. You've been a big help to us all."

"You're welcome Field Marshal." said Bunnie modestly.

"Now Eggman's forces have been repelled, we can set up our next attack and strike back at him as hard as we can!" declared Thomas "Let's get ready chaps! That Eggman is going to get kicked out of Megapolis once and for all!"

The fighters cheered and ran off to ready their weapons for the next battle.

"All in a day's work eh Tails?" said Sonic happily.

"I'll say." said Tails "That Eggman's getting good but we've still managed to beat him back. If we keep our best efforts up we'll hopefully kick him out of Mobius once and for all."

"I look forward to that day." sighed Sonic.

Then suddenly Bunnie shrieked at the top of her voice. She startled Sonic so much he almost jumped out of his fur. He ran up to the cyborg rabbit.

"What's up Bunnie?" asked Sonic.

"Th-th-there's another t-t-tank c-c-coming!" said Bunnie shakily.

Sonic looked in Bunnie's direction and got the same shock as she did. There, in the distance, slowly coming towards them was the Egg Tank looking as menacing as ever. Sonic's quills straightened.

"WHAT?" he cried "I thought we destroyed it!"

"We did destroy it." noted Tails "That Eggman obviously had a second one hiding somewhere."

"That Eggman sure knows how to surprise us all doesn't he?" muttered Sonic "Oh well, we'll just destroy it again!"

"How are we gonna do that sugar-hog?" asked Bunnie.

"The same way we destroyed the first one." said Sonic "Now let's go!"

Sonic charged off as fast as his feet could carry him. Tails flew after him. Bunnie just ran after the two boys since one of her feet had been damaged and rendered her unable to fly. Meanwhile, the Egg Tank continued to hurtle towards the city. As the tank neared its target, Eggman continued to laugh as he pictured himself opening fire on Megapolis. He even pictured Sonic's shocked expression when he found out he had another tank. However Eggman didn't have anything to laugh about anymore because his radar was picking up three oncoming life forms. They were, no doubt, Sonic, Tails and Bunnie. Eggman grumbled to himself.

"It really makes me wonder how that miserable hedgehog always manages to see me coming!" moaned Eggman.

"Well don't you think it points to the fact the Egg Tank is so unbelievably huge anyone can see it from miles away?" scoffed Alonzo.

Um…yeah that works." mumbled Eggman "No matter, they couldn't do much to it before so let's give them a hard time again!"

And with that he opened fire. The tank's thirteen cannons blasted at the oncoming Mobians. Sonic dodged every shot with ease as he was so fast. Bunnie activated her force field in order to defend herself whereas Tails just flew out of harm's reach. Sonic charged at the Egg Tank and then leapt into the air. He was aiming for the tank's turret so he could get inside and damage the interior again. Unfortunately Eggman saw it coming and raised one of the tank's cannons. The cannon hit Sonic and sent him hurtling into the ground face first. Bunnie deployed her arm cannon and fired at the tank's treads as rapidly as she could. But like before, the blasts did no damage, they merely bounced off the tank's incredible armour. Eggman aimed one of the tank's cannons at Bunnie and fired. The blast hit the ground in front of her and sent her flying backwards. As for Tails, he flew behind the tank and landed behind the turret. He decided he was going to sneak his way inside the tank and luckily for him, the rear of the tank was a blind spot so Eggman wouldn't see him. Tails sneaked up to the hatch and carefully opened it. Then he snuck inside the tank. Meanwhile, Sonic had recovered and spin-dashed towards the tank again. He hit the tank but he only bounced off it since the tank's armour was too strong. Bunnie tried shooting the tank's treads again but Eggman fired at her. Bunnie managed to get out of the way in the nick of time. Eggman laughed at the Mobian's failed efforts.

"They try so hard but they fall just as harder!" sneered Dr. Eggman "My tank is invincible! They'll never be able to stop me!"

"And yet they managed to destroy your first tank." muttered Alonzo.

"Oh shut up Alonzo!" snarled Eggman "I'm trying to destroy those fools!"

As Eggman continued firing at Sonic and Bunnie, Tails tip-toed over to the main generator. It was a huge silver cube with a lightening bolt symbol on it. Tails figured that if he could short out the generator, the tank would probably explode or just merely power down. Tails whipped out a screwdriver and undid the bolts to one of the panels. After that Tails seized the panel and lifted it away from its place. Tails then pulled out a pair of scissors. He was going to try and cut some wires to see which ones would power the tank down if he cut them. Trouble was, Tails had no idea which ones were the right ones. Shrugging his shoulders, Tails just decided to cut every last wire. And he did just that. One wire he snipped gave him a painful zap but the others he cut didn't do anything. After Tails cut the last wire, the tank made a loud power down noise. All its cannons stopped firing at Sonic and Bunnie and merely drooped down. Eggman was so shocked at what was happening he almost had a fit.

"W-w-what!" he cried "What in the world happened?"

"The tank's powered down sir!" cried Alonzo "I think someone's sabotaged the main generator!"

"That's right! I did!" announced Tails.

Eggman leapt out of his seat and saw Tails standing there. He growled so much he sounded like a tiger. He gritted his teeth so much they looked like they were about to crack.

"You had to go and ruin everything didn't you?" snarled Eggman.

"Well that's what you get for roboticizing my parents and destroying my village!" shouted Tails.

Then Sonic and Bunnie jumped into the tank and stood beside Tails.

"You've lost Eggman!" declared Sonic "Give up while you still can!"

"I won't give up but I will leave!" growled Eggman "I'll be back Sonic the Hedgehog! And I'll turn you all into mincemeat!"

And with that he pressed a button on a remote control he had and he elevated down through the floor. His Egg Mobile was under the tank and he had escaped into it. The Egg Mobile slid out from under the tank and flew away, leaving it to get destroyed. Seeing as Eggman had abandoned his weapon elevated down through the floor. His Egg Mobile was under the tank and he had escaped into it. Seeing as Eggman had abandoned his weapon of mass destruction, Bunnie deployed her arm cannon and prepared to fire until Sonic stopped her.

"Sonic? We can't let Eggman take this thing back or he'll destroy everything!" yelled Bunnie.

"He isn't getting it back." said Sonic "Because we're gonna give it to Thomas Tiger and the Royal Fighters so they can fight Eggman with it."

"Yeah, pity I just made a mess out of the generator." muttered Tails "But I could always fix it up so the tank can be used."

"Good idea Tails." said Sonic approvingly "By the way, thanks for saving our necks out there."

"You're a hero Tails!" cried Bunnie, hugging him.

"Y-you're welcome." said Tails modestly.

"Now let's get this thing fixed and ready for usage." said Sonic "I bet Eggman will be ticked to the bone when he sees his own weapon being used against him!"

Two days later, Tails had fixed the Egg Tank's generator and worked out how everything works. Thomas was very happy to have one of Eggman's deadliest weapons under Royal Fighter control and couldn't wait to use it for the first time. As of now, Sonic and Tails were preparing to leave since they weren't needed anymore.

"I suppose you two chaps will be off then." said Thomas.

"Yep. Off on a new adventure." said Sonic "And I can't wait for that!"

"Well the citizens of Megapolis wish you all the best and we hope to see you again soon." said Thomas, giving them a proud salute "Goodbye Sonic the Hedgehog."

"See ya Tommy." said Sonic, ready to juice off until someone stopped him. It was only Bunnie Rabbot.

"It was nice seeing ya'll again sugah." said Bunnie "Pity ya'll are off again."

"Well I'm never in the same place for too long." said Sonic "And I hope that tank helps you and Thomas win the battle against Eggman's bolt buckets."

"Ah'm sure it will sugah-hog." giggled Bunnie "See ya'll."

"See ya around Bunnie." said Sonic "And good luck!"

And with that he charged off like a charging bull. Tails took flight and followed him as fast as he could. Bunnie and Thomas waved goodbye as Sonic sped out of Megapolis. After that, Thomas marched off, ready to prepare his troops for the next battle. Bunnie followed him. And yet she couldn't help wondering what Sonic was up to now…

Footnotes:

Sonic almost got roboticized in story 4

* Bunnie saved Sonic from a trap in the previous story

Bunnie destroyed the controls in the previous story

Punch em up! Part 1

Story 8: Punch em up! Part 1

"So Sonic, where are we going now?" asked Tails as he and Sonic sped through the dunes.

"A place you'll find very unusual." explained Sonic "A place you'll probably find very interesting and surprising."

"What is it?" asked Tails eagerly.

Sonic snorted. "If I tell you, it won't be a very surprising place will it?" he snickered "You'll just have to wait until we get there!"

"OK." mumbled Tails.

Sonic and Tails had just finished helping Bunnie Rabbot and the Royal Fighters out in Megapolis* and now they were off on their next adventure. Sonic apparently knows an unusual place that Tails might find interesting. Tails wasn't pleased at the fact Sonic wasn't going to tell him what this place was but he decided to follow him and find out when they got there. He couldn't help but wonder what this fascinating place was…

"I hate that hedgehog! I hate, hate, HATE that hedgehog!" grumbled Eggman as he sailed through the air in his Egg Mobile.

"Well you quit saying that?" moaned Alonzo "That's all you've said for ten minutes straight!"

"Well that's how much I hate Sonic!" retorted Eggman "I could say those four words forever I hate him so much!"

Things hadn't been improving for Dr. Eggman since the disastrous battle of Megapolis that caused him to lose two Egg Tanks. As of now he was looking for his next base which for some reason he couldn't remember where it was so he just hovered around place to place trying to jog his memory. After another two minutes, Eggman got angry and thumped the control pad in temper.

"WHERE IS THAT DAMN BASE?" he shouted at the top of his voice.

"In the outskirts of the Northern Border you turd!" snorted Alonzo rudely "Geez, how forgetful are you?"

Eggman seized Alonzo by the shoulders and held him up to his hideous face. His face contorted with rage.

"Do you want me to throw you out of the Egg Mobile?" snarled Eggman.

"No!" squeaked Alonzo fearfully.

"Well keep your stupid mouth shut or I'll scrap you worse then you can imagine!" roared Eggman, throwing him against the edge so hard Alonzo almost toppled over it and fell out of the Egg-Mobile.

Alonzo began cursing under his breath. He just couldn't stand Eggman when he got mad, you'd think he went to a school that teaches people how to get angry he has such a bad temper! Eggman set courses for the Northern Border on the Egg Mobile and set it to autopilot. The Egg Mobile then automatically began to fly off in a certain direction. Eggman just sat back and relaxed since he didn't need to control the Egg Mobile.

A few moments later, Dr. Eggman finally reached the Northern Border. The Northern Border was a small area that signalled where the end of Megapolis was in the North. On the other side of the border was an entirely new place. Eggman's base, which had been built by his robot minions, last month, was located on the very outskirts of the Northern Border. This base was small and cube shaped rather then large and domed shaped. Eggman landed his Egg Mobile at the base and walked inside. The first thing he did was slump in a chair in front of the computer monitors and begin plotting on his next scheme. Eggman was always plotting away like mad after all. Alonzo just stood beside him and watched him think.

"So, what's our next target master?" asked Alonzo.

"I'm thinking on that now." muttered Eggman "I'm not sure if I should help my robots out in another city or if I should target a smaller place, get some Mobians to roboticize and then unleash them in the cities to help my robots."

"After all we're dangerously low on roboticized Mobians sir." noted Alonzo "And Robians are very strong and powerful so they're a great help to us."

"Agreed." said Eggman.

Then Alonzo spotted something on the monitor.

"Hey master, what's that?" asked Alonzo, pointing at the monitor.

Dr. Eggman peered closely at what Alonzo was pointing at. The map of Mobius was displayed on the monitors and Alonzo was pointing at something he hadn't seen before. It looked like an island but it wasn't on water or anything, nor was it on the out skirts of the continent they were on now. This island was actually FLOATING a good few feet above the ground! There was even a huge crater where this floating island supposedly used to be before it floated. Eggman rubbed his eyes and stared at the monitor again. He wasn't seeing things; the monitor was showing him an actual floating island. Eggman's glasses almost fell off his big nose in surprise.

"Well grind my gears!" he exclaimed "A FLOATING island? How is that possible?"

"Well sir we don't we pay a visit to this floating island and find out?" asked Alonzo.

"Maybe we should." said Dr. Eggman "Get my Egg-Mobile ready; we're going to the floating island!"

"Yes sir!" said Alonzo proudly.

He zipped off as fast as he could to prepare Eggman's Egg-Mobile. Eggman stared at the monitor once again to admire the floating island. He stroked his moustache intently as he observed the island.

"How do you float island?" he murmured to himself "What secrets do you contain? Well I'll find the answers to those questions sooner or later…"

He cackled softly as he thought on what he would find on the island. He just hoped that Sonic wasn't going to show up and spoil everything yet again…

Meanwhile Sonic and Tails had finally left Megapolis behind and after a good few hours of running and flying reached the continent of Downunda. Downunda was very much like the continent of Australia on Planet Earth and just as hot. The whole place seemed like it was baking under the incredible warmth of the sun. All the residents of Downunda spoke in Australian accents too. Sonic and Tails finally stopped to rest and they fell flat on their bottoms.

"Phew! What weather!" puffed Tails, wiping sweat off his forehead "I don't think I've ever been in a place as steaming hot as this before!"

"That's because Downunda is the hottest place on Mobius Tails." explained Sonic "They have on average 300 days of sunshine."

"Wow!" cried Tails "300 days of this weather? The guys who live here must feel like it's a summer holiday all the time!"

"By the way Tails, Y'know that interesting thing I wanted to show you?" said Sonic.

Tails nodded his head.

"Well look over there." said Sonic, pointing in a certain direction.

Tails peered in Sonic's direction. Then his eyes widened so much he thought they would pop out of his head. The thing Sonic was pointing at was a huge floating island! An actual floating island! The island floated at about hundred feet or more above the ground! And on the ground was an enormous crater where the island supposedly used to be before it began floating. Tails rubbed his eyes and stared again. This wasn't a dream, he was actually looking at a floating island! But how was that possible? How was this island floating when it should be on the ground?

"Well, you impressed?" asked Sonic.

"That's incredible!" cried Tails "That is the most amazing thing my eyes have ever seen! An island that floats!"

"I know you'd be interested." said Sonic "Just wait till you see what's ON the island."

"On? Are we gonna go on the island itself?" asked Tails.

"Sure." chuckled Sonic "You'll love it!"

"But how do we get on the island?" asked Tails.

"Well you could fly us up there." noted Sonic "Anyone who can't fly usually uses a warp ring. Not many people visit Angel Island though, especially since this war with Eggman began."

"OK then." said Tails.

He held Sonic tightly by the waist and got his tails spinning. Then the little fox took off into the sky and headed up towards the floating island above him.

Meanwhile Dr. Eggman and Alonzo had arrived to Angel Island moments ago and began their exploration of the island. Eggman had brought one of his hi-tech monitors with him to see if anything of interest was nearby. He and Alonzo were strolling through a thick jungle heavy with trees, low hanging vines, tall grass and hot air. Alonzo was carrying a jungle knife and constantly slashing this and that to clear the way whilst Eggman monitored his handheld monitor. As Alonzo slashed another tree branch out of the way he sighed loudly.

"I hate jungles." he groaned "They're too thickly grown and too hot."

He felt himself. He felt like he was on fire. After all metal heated a lot easier then anything else so Alonzo was bound to be hot all over.

"Will you stop grumbling and get a move on you lazy lead pile!" ordered Eggman, clearly frustrated with his sagging minion.

"I am getting a move on you fat lump of lard!" retorted Alonzo "You'll just have to be patient…"

His ranting was interrupted by a faint beeping noise coming from Eggman's monitor. The fat doctor peered at it. The monitor was telling him a huge source of power was coming from somewhere. It was directing him to the left.

"This monitor is picking up something of great power nearby." said Dr. Eggman "Follow me."

He turned to the left and darted through the trees with Alonzo whizzing after him as fast as his wheels would let him on this kind of terrain. Luckily for the two nincompoops the trees were beginning to thin out so they must be bearing the end of the jungle. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo both lunged through a bush and found themselves out of the jungle and into a clearing. There wasn't much around save for a staircase that led up to something. Eggman peered at his monitor. The thing it had detected was on the staircase. Eggman and Alonzo headed to the shrine and gazed up it. At the top of the stairs, glowing a brilliant green glow was a huge emerald. It was enormous, even bigger then most Mobians and even Eggman himself. This truly was a sight for some. Eggman looked at his monitor again. The thing it was detecting was the giant emerald at the top of the stairs.

"So the island has a giant emerald does it?" said Dr. Eggman, admiring it's beauty "I wonder what that emerald's there for? No matter, it's mine now! Finders keepers after all."

"But how on Earth can we carry that giant thing?" squeaked Alonzo "It's bound to be too heavy!"

"Don't worry my dear Alonzo." said Eggman brightly "My Egg-Mobile is equipped with big strong arms. It'll be plenty strong enough to carry the emerald."

And with that he pulled a remote out of his pocket and pressed the button. The Egg-Mobile started flying from its parking space and towards Eggman's location. The Egg-Mobile reached Dr. Eggman's location and the evil doctor hopped into the pilot's seat. He deployed the machine's arms. Then the Egg-Mobile reached forward and seized the giant emerald with its huge hands. Then, with a tremendous strain, the Egg-Mobile wrenched the emerald free of its housing place. Bits of rock rained down onto where the emerald once was. Eggman cackled happily.

"I bet this emerald is full of great power!" he chortled "And if it is I'll doom this planet once and for all!"

And with that he began to fly away from the island with the emerald in tow.

"Oy master! You forgot about me!" cried Alonzo, zooming after him.

Immediately after they left, Sonic and Tails landed on the island. Sonic's ear twitched as he heard the sound of jet fumes fading away.

"Is that jet fumes?" he wondered aloud.

"Maybe someone's going away for a time." suggested Tails.

"Perhaps." said Sonic, not really sure if that was the case "By the way, great view eh?"

Tails looked into the distance. From this height, the view was incredible. He could see hundreds of miles into the distance.

"It's fantastic!" cried Tails "I can see all the way to Soleanna and Kingdom Valley from up here!"

"I knew you'd like Angel Island." said Sonic happily.

"By the way Sonic, why does the island float?" asked Tails "Why can't it be in the sea down below like all the other islands?"

"Well if my memory serves me well, Angel Island was almost hit by a comet but the echidnas found a way to raise it up off the ground so they did and saved the whole place from total devastation." explained Sonic "They have a so called Master Emerald to keep the island floating. Good thing too, it's not safe back on the ground with Dr. Eggman and his robotic minions of death destroying everything."

"I see." said Tails.

"By the way, if I remember this place as well as I think I do, the Master Emerald should be around here." thought Sonic, looking in several directions. "Ah there it is." he suddenly said.

He had spotted the shrine. He and Tails ran over to it only to find out something was wrong. The Master Emerald wasn't there. Sonic zipped up to the top of the shrine only to find a massive hole where the emerald had once been. He scratched his head in thought.

"Well that's strange, the Master Emerald's gone." said Sonic with concern.

"If the Master Emerald's gone and it was used to keep the island afloat…" said Tails "Then does that mean the island…?"

"…will fall back to the ground." Sonic finished for him "Yes it will. And at the moment it's hovering over the ancient ruins of Albion so if it falls the ruins will be crushed and this island, as well as everything on it may get severely damaged."

"We've gotta find it!" cried Tails "How long do we have until the island falls?"

"Not sure." said Sonic "But I'm sure we'll find the emerald before…"

Then suddenly something leapt on Sonic from behind and tackled him to the ground. Then Sonic and the attacker tumbled down the staircase and hit the ground. Tails gasped in fright as Sonic and the attacker began brawling with one another. The attacker threw punches whereas Sonic threw kicks. Then Sonic kicked the attacker off him and panted. The attacker was a red echidna with spiked gloves and purple eyes. The echidna wore red shoes with a yellow stripe on them and had a white sideways crescent on its chest. The echidna looked very angry too.

"OK now we've stopped slugging it out I'd like to ask a few questions!" said Sonic crossly "What is your problem hothead?"

"What's my problem?" bellowed the echidna "I have no problem; it's you who has the problem hedgehog!"

"What the hell do you mean?" demanded Sonic angrily.

"I mean you and your foxy friend decide to just waltz onto my island and steal the Master Emerald!" snarled the echidna.

Sonic couldn't believe his ears. This stranger was accusing HIM of stealing? Did this echidna have a sight problem or something?

"Listen knucklehead, If I've stolen your Master Emerald (which I haven't) then why isn't it here with me?" yelled Sonic.

The echidna paused and thought for a moment but he clenched his fists.

"You must have hidden it!" he growled "Because when I left, the emerald was where it's supposed to be and when I return it's gone and you two are here!"

"Well let me clear something up redhead!" said Sonic crossly "I would never steal anything, especially since I know how important the Master Emerald is to the island!"

"You cannot fool me with your lies!" snarled the echidna "Now tell me where the emerald is or I'll…"

"Stop it!" yelled Tails "Let's settle this a little calmer shall we?"

Sonic and the echidna glared at each other but they resisted the urge to punch each other's lights out.

"Thank you." said Tails, smiling "Now sir, can you tell us your name and why the Master Emerald is so important to you?"

"The name's Knuckles." said the echidna, flexing his muscles and showing Tails his spiked gloves "And I'm the guardian of the Master Emerald."

"Well if you're the guardian then why weren't you here when we arrived?" asked Tails.

"Guardians have to have their breaks from time to time." explained Knuckles "I requested a friend of mine to take over but he's not arrived yet it seems."

"I see." said Tails "And to prove our innocence, me and Sonic will find your emerald and put it back where it belongs. I'll stake my life on it since you don't trust us the slightest."

"Very well twin-tailed fox." said Knuckles "You and Sonic have until the island falls to find the Master Emerald. Should you fail, I'll declare you two thieves and then I'll hunt you both down and kill you!"

He shoved his fist in Tails' neck threateningly. Tails gulped.

"O-o-ok then." he whimpered.

Knuckles stormed up the staircase and looked out to see if he could spot anything. Sonic glared at Knuckles and then stormed off himself. Tails followed him in a hurry.

"I'd like to see that Knuckles try and finish me off!" grumbled Sonic "Not that he could anyway."

"If we find that emerald, Knuckles won't need to finish us off." noted Tails "But how do we find that emerald?"

"The Master Emerald is huge and green and glows brightly, you'd have to be blind to miss it." explained Sonic "The only trouble is knowing where it is."

"Which we don't." said Tails "We'll have to look hard for it."

"Agreed." said Sonic "And I bet that no good Dr. Eggman stole the Master Emerald, it couldn't be anyone else."

"If Eggman stole it, he must be long gone now." wailed Tails.

"Not exactly." said Sonic "He might still be here, loading it onto his Egg-Mobile or any of his crazy robots."

"Well let's go find him then." said Tails "I'll look from up above."

"And I'll search on foot." said Sonic "OK let's go!"

And he charged off like a whizzing arrow. Tails never got enough of that sensation he felt when Sonic charged off. Then Tails twisted his trademarks around one another and took to the skies. He was determined to find the Master Emerald, especially as his and Sonic's lives were at stake.

"Are we at the Northern Border yet Alonzo?" asked Dr. Eggman for the millionth time.

"No master we are not at the stupid Northern Border yet!" snapped Alonzo "Will you be flipping patient?"

Alonzo and Eggman had left Angel Island and were heading back to the base with the Master Emerald. They were taking longer then they thought they would. Eggman was desperate to get back to the base as quickly as he could as he feared Sonic would be on his trial and ready to snatch the Master Emerald off of him. Dr. Eggman stared longingly at the giant gem in the Egg Mobile's giant metal hands.

"Isn't that giant emerald a beauty?" said Dr. Eggman.

"It is sir." agreed Alonzo "And it's all yours."

"Yes it is." sneered Dr. Eggman "I just wonder how much power this thing contains. Enough to wipe out my enemies I hope."

Then suddenly the Egg-Mobile's arms exploded! Someone had sneaked a bomb on either arm and they had just gone off. The Egg-Mobile rocked about sharply and Eggman clutched the sides tightly to prevent himself from falling out. The Master Emerald plummeted to the ground where it would surely smash if it hit. But something caught the emerald before it could fall anymore. Eggman finally got the Egg-Mobile under control and growled loudly.

"Alright, I demand to know who dared to do that to the great me!" he roared.

"I did." came a very sexy feminine voice.

Eggman looked around for the voice and then saw something flying up to him with the Master Emerald tied up in rope. The flying thing was a bat wearing a skin-tight leather suit that came up to the chest. She wore a heart-shaped breastplate and white high-heel boots. She had teal make-up on her eyelids. Eggman glared at the bat with immediate hatred.

"Who are you batfink?" he snarled.

"I'm Rouge the Bat, but you can call me Rouge." said the bat smoothly "And thanks for saving me the trouble of stealing this glorious gem from that hot-headed echidna."

"That gem belongs to Dr. Eggman and you'll hand it over to him right now!" ordered Alonzo.

"No I will not hand over the gem." said Rouge "I'm taking it for my own since I'm a treasure hunter and I get whatever I want."

"Oh yeah, well I get whatever I want!" retorted Dr. Eggman "Now give me that giant emerald!"

"OK, here you go fat man!" cried Rouge.

Without warning she began to spin around, still holding the emerald by the ropes. She got closer and closer to Eggman until eventually the Master Emerald struck the Egg-Mobile and sent it flying through the air. The moment the Egg-Mobile disappeared from sight, Rouge smirked and flew away.

"What a stupid man." She said to herself "At least he saved me the trouble of stealing the Master Emerald. This gem will look so lovely in my collection."

Meanwhile Sonic and Tails had searched all over the island and hadn't found anything. Sonic screeched to a halt and Tails flew back down to the ground next to him.

"I don't think the emerald's on Angel Island anymore Sonic." said Tails sadly.

"That Eggman must have taken it away." said Sonic "You'll have to fly us down to the ground so we can began searching for the Master Emerald."

Then suddenly the whole island jerked like a plane in a storm. It felt like an earthquake to anyone on the island. Tails fell over on his bottom whereas Sonic fell forward onto his face.

"W-w-what's happening?" yelped Tails.

"I th-think the i-island's beginning to fall!" cried Sonic "We don't h-have much t-time left! The whole island's gonna plummet in a matter of moments!"

As for Knuckles, he had felt the jerk and began to worry.

"If those two don't recover the Master Emerald soon, my home is gonna fall to the ground." he said to himself "I hope they hurry up…"

Footnotes:

 See the stories 6-7 for Sonic, Tails and Bunnie's tussle with Eggman in Megapolis

Punch em up! Part 2

Story 9: Punch em up! Part 2

Tails flew off of Angel Island carrying Sonic and headed down below. Knuckles eyed them flying to the ground and scowled.

"The Master Emerald must be down below if that's where they're heading." he said to himself "Well I hope they find it down there or my island is doomed."

Then a rustling in the bushes was heard and out of them popped a maroon echidna in a ragged brown robe. Knuckles turned round to see him.

"Hey Knuckles!" said the echidna "Sorry I'm late, I got a bit lost in that stupid jungle. The island's jerking like mad for some reason."

"The Master Emerald's gone Garth." said Knuckles "A blue hedgehog named Sonic and a yellow twin-tailed fox are looking for it even though I think they're the ones who stole it."

"Really?" said Garth "I'm so sorry I didn't get to the Master Emerald in time to take over your position."

"It's alright." said Knuckles "That jungle does take a keen sense of direction to get through. Let's just hope that hedgehog and fox find the Master Emerald."

He and Garth stared down at the continent of Downunda, watching Sonic and Tails running off in search of the emerald.

"Look anywhere you can Tails, we MUST find that emerald before the whole island plummets and causes disaster!" cried Sonic.

"I am doing!" Tails cried back.

Sonic and Tails had no idea where to look for the Master Emerald so they just decided to look anywhere they could. They searched all through Albion but had no such luck so now they headed to the small villages in the western part of Downunda. These villages weren't densely populated or choc-a-bloc full of buildings. Upon arrival at the villages, Sonic looked in any place he could find like in a house, behind a house, on a house, in a market anywhere, He startled a few pedestrians as he whizzed past at his supersonic speed. Tails continued searching from in the air, looking down on everything he flew over. Some pedestrians saw him flying overhead and murmured to one another about the strange sight of a flying fox. Tails ignored them and carried on searching. Then a brief twinkle of something shiny caught his eye. Tails looked to the right and saw something glowing faintly from inside a house. The house was rather small with two windows and a door. Tails flew down to the house and peered through the windows. His eyes widened and his jaw dropped. The room he was looking into was full to the brim of jewels, diamonds, emeralds, rubies, sapphires and many more priceless gems. Tails almost fell to the ground in surprise. Who on Mobius owned all these jewels? And how did the owner get them all? Maybe the owner was a jewel thief and the jewels were all stolen. Regardless, Tails decided not to jump to conclusions and fly away.

But he stopped in his tracks when yet another sight came to him. A huge emerald was coming towards him. Was this the Master Emerald? Well Sonic had said it was a giant emerald and emeralds are green so it must be the Master Emerald. Tails even saw who was carrying it. We all know it's Rouge the Bat but Tails doesn't. He did however immediately assume the bat meant trouble so he hid in a nearby dumpster to spy on her. He opened the lid just a fraction so he could see what Rouge was doing. Rouge flew behind the house and put the Master Emerald down. Then she went into the house for a moment and came back out with a tarpaulin. Rouge went back behind the house and put the tarpaulin over the Master Emerald.

"That way no one will find you my delightful little gem." purred Rouge "Especially that stupid echidna. I'm so happy to have the world's biggest emerald in my jewel collection."

Tails frowned at what he heard. That bat must be on Eggman's side!

She stole the Master Emerald and is probably hiding it until Dr. Eggman arrives to pick it up! Rouge then flew away, laughing quietly to herself. Tails opened the dumpster and climbed quietly out, clutching his nose to block out the horrendous stench that was in the dumpster. Then he tip-toed over to the covered up Master Emerald. He grabbed the tarpaulin and yanked it off. The emerald's amazing glow almost blinded him. Sonic ran past the house but noticed a glow coming from behind and screeched to a halt. He ran back to the house and noticed that Tails had found the Master Emerald.

"Tails! You've found it!" cried Sonic.

"Yes I have." said Tails "And it wasn't Eggman who stole it, it was a bat woman in a leather outfit and white boots. She put the emerald here and covered it up so no one would see it."

"Bat woman?" repeated Sonic "Not familiar with any bat women but I bet this bat woman's on Dr. Eggman's side if she's the one who stole the Master Emerald in the first place."

"I had the same thought." said Tails "Now we've found the Master Emerald, let's get it back to Angel Island."

"I wish I had a warp ring." muttered Sonic "It would have made it so much easier to get it back up there."

"Well we're gonna have to carry it all the way back to the island." said Tails "I hope I'm strong enough."

"Good thing there's a rope around it." noted Sonic "Carry it by the rope."

Tails grabbed the rope and then started flying. He didn't get very far up though, the emerald was very heavy. Tails pulled and pulled as hard as he could. He managed to lift the Master Emerald about two feet off the ground but that was the most he could lift it. Sonic shook his head.

"You won't be able to keep that up for long." he said sadly "Tell you what, I'll carry the emerald but you keep hold of the rope to keep me stable in case I get wobbly."

"Good idea Sonic." said Tails.

Sonic walked under the emerald and grabbed it. He was now holding the huge gem above his head. Then Sonic ran off with Tails holding the Master Emerald's rope to keep him steady. They had to be extra quick though because Angel Island was beginning to plummet. Unfortunately Sonic didn't get far. A bomb appeared from nowhere and landed directly in front of him. Then it went off with a big bang, sending Sonic hurling through the air. Then the super speedy hedgehog landed flat on his back. Tails yelped in surprise and dropped the Master Emerald.

"Sonic! What happened?" he shrieked.

"Someone just bombed me!" grunted Sonic "And I'd like to know who it was!"

"It was me." said a feminine voice.

Sonic and Tails looked up to see Rouge the Bat flying towards them. She landed in front of them, batting her eyelids seductively at them.

"Who are you?" said Sonic.

"I'm Rouge the Bat." said Rouge "And you're stealing from me you naughty boys."

"We're not stealing anything bat lady!" yelled Tails "You're the one who's stealing around here!"

"Tails is right, you're stealing the Master Emerald and keeping it for yourself!" added Sonic "And you have the nerve to say we're stealing?"

"You caught me in the act true blue." said Rouge teasingly "But why do I care? I am a treasure hunter and a treasure hunter gets what a treasure hunter wants."

"Did you miss the part about Angel Island will plummet to the ground if the Master Emerald is gone?" cried Sonic "Doesn't that matter to you?"

"Nope." said Rouge "Angel Island is no concern of mine, only jewels are. If only that hot-headed echidna could see that."

"You know Knuckles?" said Tails.

"Of course I do, he's the Guardian of the Master Emerald and he's the one who guards it from me." said Rouge "I was going to try my next attempt at getting that gorgeous gem but some fat guy with a hideous moustache stole the Master Emerald and I stole it off of him."

"So Dr. Eggman DID steal the Master Emerald after all!" declared Sonic "Which reminds me, you're not on his side are ya?"

"Who me? Of course not!" snapped Rouge "I maybe a thief, but I'm no villain."

"Well if that's the case then stop being a villain and return the Master Emerald to where it belongs!" ordered Sonic.

"No, it's mine and that's that." said Rouge, flapping her wings and swooping towards the emerald "Bye, bye boys."

But before she could grab the rope around the Master Emerald, Tails flew in front of her and dropkicked her in the face. Rouge cried in pain and dived straight into the ground. She scraped across it for a few centimetres before stopping.

"Take that you selfish bat!" said Tails hotly.

He grabbed the rope that was tied around the Master Emerald and proceeded to lift the heavy gem off the ground. But before he could go anywhere Rouge attacked him with a screw kick move. Tails fell to the ground with the emerald in tow. Then Rouge seized the rope and carried the Master Emerald away, cackling in victory. But her victory was short-lived however because Sonic spin-dashed her from behind, causing her to drop the emerald. Rouge got angry and tried to kick Sonic but the blue hedgehog dodged and kicked her in the gut. Rouge tried another kick but Sonic ducked and came back up with a punch to the face.

"I don't usually hit women but in this case I'll make in exception!"

said Sonic.

Rouge growled and spun around into a screw kick attack. She struck Sonic directly in the chest. The poor hedgehog was sent hurtling backwards before coming to a halt with his back on the ground. Rouge tried another screw kick but Tails intervened with a charge. He hit Rouge in the side and sent the bat hurtling into the ground like a falling stone. The poor bat seemed to be out of commission for now. Tails grabbed the Master Emerald's rope and tried once again to carry it until suddenly a warp ring appeared from nowhere and out of it came none other then Knuckles the Echidna.

"Knuckles!" cried Tails.

"'Bout time you showed up." muttered Sonic "What brings you down here?"

"I saw you two slugging it out with Rouge so I thought I'd help out." said Knuckles "But you seem to have things under control now."

"We've got the Master Emerald back." said Tails, proudly presenting it to him "That nasty bat lady stole it."

"I should have known it was Rouge, she's always trying to steal the Master Emerald." sighed Knuckles "I offer my deepest apologies for suspecting you two."

"Apology accepted knucklehead." said Sonic. He and Knuckles shook hands. "Now let's get your shiny gem back up on Angel Island before the island plummets to the ground."

"I'll adjust the size of my warp ring so the Master Emerald will fit through." said Knuckles.

Knuckles activated the warp ring again only this time it grew to a much bigger size then before. It was so big you could fit a boulder through it. Knuckles carried the Master Emerald through the warp ring. The warp ring teleported him back to the shrine on Angel Island, where the Master Emerald had once been. He put the giant emerald back into its place. The emerald shone very brightly as it was put back in place. Then Angel Island stopped jerking about and slowly falling. It rose back up and up until it was at exactly the same height it was before. Knuckles smiled proudly.

"Well that was a close one." he said "That Rouge has gone too far, next time I see her I'll be putting her on trial for this!"

"That would be an excellent idea." said Sonic "And I know a good place for her, the Mobian Police Department."

"Angel Island has a state-of-the-art prison camp." explained Knuckles "If we put her there, she'll never escape."

"Sounds cool." said Sonic "By the way Knuckles, would you care to help us on our struggle against Dr. Eggman?" he added, hoping Knuckles would say yes.

"You mean that fat guy with the moustache who's been attacking all the cities on Mobius?" asked Knuckles.

Sonic nodded.

"I would love to whup that guy for ya but I have too many responsibilities here." sighed Knuckles "I would happily help you fight Eggman but I don't think I could be by your side 24/7 knowing the Master Emerald's unguarded and the other guardians aren't as strong as I am."

"Fair enough." said Sonic "Say where's Tails?" he added.

He had noticed the yellow fox hadn't followed him through the warp ring. Then suddenly Rouge came through the warp ring holding a battered and bruised Tails in her hands. Sonic was livid with rage. He couldn't believe Rouge just did that to Tails. Knuckles was even angrier at the fact she showed up.

"Rouge, you showed up again." growled Knuckles "Now you'll face justice for your crimes against Angel Island!"

"No I won't handsome." said Rouge teasingly "You will give me that Master Emerald back or you won't see your foxy friend again."

"You let Tails go or I'll spin-dash your brains out!" snarled Sonic.

"Nah, ah, ah true blue." said Rouge "That's no way to speak to a lady. Now if you want Tails back you give me the Master Emerald."

"I will not let you have the Master Emerald and therefore, cause my home to fall to the ground!" yelled Knuckles "Do you even care how many lives are at stake if Angel Island falls?"

"Maybe." said Rouge sarcastically "But I'm no treasure hunter without the world's largest emerald so give it to me."

Then suddenly Rouge was hit from behind by a cannon blast and sent flying into the shrine with a sharp thump. Tails sailed towards Sonic and the blue hedgehog caught him in one big leap. Knuckles looked up to see what had hit Rouge and saw Dr. Eggman in his newly fixed Egg-Mobile. The mobile's arms were deployed and Eggman seized the Master Emerald with them. Then he wrenched it free off its spot and cackled dementedly.

"Gah ha, ha, ha, ha!" he chortled "Must be my lucky day! Well I'll be off now!"

"Oh no you don't!" snarled Knuckles, leaping up into the air.

He tried to punch the Egg-Mobile but Eggman swung the Master Emerald around and clobbered him. Knuckles hurtled into the ground. Sonic decided to help out with a spin-dash attack. Eggman dodged but Sonic managed to scrape one of the Egg-Mobile's shoulders. Then Eggman swung the Master Emerald around again and hit Sonic. Sonic skidded across the ground and almost fell over the edge of the island but he managed to grab on just in time. Eggman cackled in victory.

"Petty resistance." he snorted "Well, time to go."

"No way, that emerald's mine!" yelled Rouge, screw-kicking the Egg-Mobile from behind.

Dr. Eggman yelped in surprise and turned around to face Rouge.

"So you want clobbering batty? Then be my guest!" roared Eggman.

He raised the Egg-Mobile's arms and brought them down in a flash.

Rouge was hit smack in the face by the emerald and she hurtled into the ground like a falling stone. Then suddenly Knuckles lunged at the Egg-Mobile from behind and walloped the floating machine with one massive punch. Eggman gasped and the Egg-Mobile dropped the Master Emerald. Sonic caught it before it could smash into the ground. Then Rouge kicked Sonic in the back and snatched the emerald off of him. She tried to fly away but Knuckles caught her by the legs and pulled her to the ground. Rouge dropped the Master Emerald. Then Knuckles landed a punch to the gut on Rouge. That blow winded her. Knuckles ran over to the Master Emerald but before he could grab it, Eggman appeared and punched Knuckles away with his Egg-Mobile. Then Sonic spin-dashed into the Egg-Mobile to stop him grabbing the Master Emerald. Eggman got furious and activated the Egg-Mobile's weapons. Two cannons fried at Sonic and Knuckles. They dodged the blasts as Eggman fired at them wildly. Rouge had recovered and seeing her chance, decided to steal the Master Emerald while Sonic and Knuckles were occupied. Then suddenly she felt a sharp kick to the back of the head and Rouge toppled forward onto her face. Tails had recovered from Rouge's beating and he decided to save the Master Emerald before Dr. Eggman could steal it. As for Sonic and Knuckles, they were still under attack from Dr. Eggman. He kept shooting at them as madly as he could. Then Sonic ran under the Egg-Mobile and homing attacked it. Dr. Eggman jerked up and nearly fell over and out of the Egg-Mobile. Seeing his chance, Knuckles jumped up and smashed one of the Egg-Mobile's arms to bits with one powerful punch. The Egg-Mobile then fell to the ground. Eggman and Alonzo groaned in defeat. Sonic gave Knuckles a thumbs up sign.

"Nice punch there pal!" he said.

"Thank you." said Knuckles "Now let's finish this fat man off!"

"OK Egg-brain why do you want the Master Emerald?" asked Sonic.

"It contains high quantities of power and I will use that power to wipe you all out once and for all!" declared Dr. Eggman.

Knuckles clenched his fists and growled.

"You want to misuse the Master Emerald and use its power for evil?"

he roared "Well I'm not going to let you! You will leave Angel Island now!"

"I will Knuckles and I'm taking the Master Emerald with me." sneered Eggman "Alonzo, activate our secret weapon!"

"Yes sir." said Alonzo, pushing a button on the Egg-Mobile's control pad.

The sound of enormous wings flapping filled Sonic's ears. He and Knuckles turned around to see three large robotic bats. They were roughly the size of the Master Emerald and were purple in colour with gold accents here and there. Their eyes were green and their wingspans were huge. The middle bat grabbed the Master Emerald with its huge talons and lifted it off the staircase.

"Stop right there Eggman!" yelled Sonic.

He tried to charge at the bat bot but the other two bats opened their mouths and emitted a loud shrilling screech. It really hurt Sonic's ears. Poor Tails' ears were hurting from the horrible screeching too. Sonic dropped down on his knees, clutching his ears to block out the sound. The screeching was so piercing and so loud Sonic thought his ears would explode. The lead bat bot began to fly away with the Master Emerald in its talons. But it didn't get far. Rouge the Bat had recovered and managed to sneak away from the screeching bat bots and flew after the lead one. She screw-kicked it in the head, causing it to spin around madly. The bat-bot's head stopped spinning and then it decided to screech the same horrible loud screech the other two were emitting. It was worse for Rouge then it was for Sonic because bats have excellent hearing. She clutched her ears in agony as the bat bot continued screeching loudly. As for Sonic, Tails and Knuckles, they were still suffering from the bat-bot's onslaught of loud noises. Dr. Eggman, who was wearing earphones to block out the sound, crept away in his Egg-Mobile. He flew away from the island and up towards the lead bat bot.

"Fun's over boys, let's go home." announced Dr. Eggman.

The bat bots stopped screeching and flew after Eggman. Rouge recovered from the bat bot's ordeal and flew after them. Then she screw-kicked the lead bat bot in the back. She went right through the robotic bat. The bat bot howled a robotic howl and then fell down to the ground. Rouge grabbed the Master Emerald and flew back to Angel Island.

"That'll teach you to try and imitate us bats!" scoffed Rouge.

Dr. Eggman had seen what had happened and ordered the other two bats to seize her. The two bat bots swooped after Rouge, their talons and fangs bared and ready for the kill. Rouge yelled in fright and flew towards Angel Island. The two bat bots followed her closely. Rouge flew towards the shrine and then flew over it just before she could hit it. One of the bat bots did the same but the other wasn't quite as fast and smashed straight into the shrine. The remaining bat bot then opened its mechanical jaws and emitted its horrible ear-splitting screech. Rouge cried in agony and let go of the Master Emerald to block her ears. The bat bot didn't notice and continued flying after her through the forest. Then suddenly Sonic showed up and spin-dashed the bat bot into pieces. Rouge sighed with relief.

"Thank you hot shot." she said "But why help little ol' me?"

"No special reason." Sonic said admittedly "Just felt like it."

Meanwhile, Dr. Eggman seized the opportunity to steal the Master Emerald while Rouge and Sonic were out of sight. However Knuckles appeared from nowhere and smashed the Egg-Mobile's other arm with his spiked fists. Then he punched the Egg-Mobile so hard it zoomed through the forest and over the edge of Angel Island. Eggman got it hovering again before he could plummet to the ground. He flew away from Angel Island, shaking his fists angrily.

"I hate echidnas now!" he yelled in rage. "And what's more, I hate echidnas just as much as hedgehogs!"

"Oh brother!" sighed Alonzo "He'll take a while to calm down."

Sonic and Knuckles watched Dr. Eggman fly away.

"Should we go after him?" asked Tails.

"Nah, we'll get him next time though." said Sonic.

Rouge emerged from the jungle, carrying the Master Emerald. However instead of flying away with it, she handed it over to Knuckles. Knuckles was surprised at this but he shook it off and carried the giant emerald up the steps. He put it back into place and the island floated back to its original height.

"Well that takes care of that." said Knuckles "What a day it's been for Angel Island today."

"Well we took care of Dr. Eggman, that's all that matters." said Sonic "Now Rouge, will you stand trial for trying to steal the Master Emerald?"

"No speedy boy but I will stop trying to steal the stupid emerald." said Rouge "As a token of gratitude for saving my life earlier. The Master Emerald was too big anyway."

"Well that's nice to know." said Sonic "I'll let you off Rouge, but you'd best keep your word you will not bother Knuckles or steal the Master Emerald ever again."

"You have my word honey." said Rouge "I'll just steal someone else's treasure instead. So long spiky."

And with that Rouge took to the skies and flew away. After Rouge disappeared from sight, Knuckles decided to say something.

"I owe you much for what you've done to save this island and its people." he said "From now on, you are welcome on Angel Island and you have my trust."

"Thanks Knuckles." said Sonic "And I must admit, you know how to kick some butt don't ya?"

"Yeah, I'm Knuckles by name and Knuckles by nature!" he said, punching the air.

"I'd love to have a friendly fight with ya some day." chuckled Sonic.

"I can't wait for that!" laughed Knuckles "Then we'll see who's the stronger of the two!"

Sonic laughed with him and then said "Well, me and my little buddy are off now. See ya around Knuckles."

"So long Sonic." said Knuckles, walking up the stairs to the Master Emerald.

He activated a warp ring for Sonic and Tails to go through. They walked through it and ended up back down on the ground. The warp ring vanished. Sonic and Tails stared admiringly at Angel Island one last time and then walked away.

"Well you were right Sonic, Angel Island is amazing." said Tails "I wonder why the echidnas still wanna stay up there though?"

They've become accustomed to life in the sky." said Sonic "Not to mention the dangers down below won't be much of a danger to them now."

"That's nice." said Tails "So, where are we going now?"

"Back to Mobotropolis Tails." said Sonic cheerfully "I wanna see how the rebuilding of it's been going on since I left*."

"Well then let's go!" cried Tails, flying off.

"Hey head-starter! Get back here!" sniggered Sonic, running after him.

The two friends ran off into the distance. Knuckles watched them leaving Downunda from on top of the staircase where the Master Emerald proudly stood, glowing its gentle green glow. He had a feeling he and Sonic would be meeting each other again sometime soon…

Footnotes:

Sonic left Mobotropolis in Story 3

Chocolate Eggman Part 1

Story 10: Chocolate Eggman (Part 1)

After a very long run, Sonic and Tails had finally reached the still under construction city of Mobotropolis. Not much had changed since Sonic had left. There were still buildings being built but there were a few that were nearing completion. Tails looked around with a not very impressed look on his face.

"Gosh, Eggman must have dealt with this place well!" he said "Everything's being rebuilt."

"Yeah, Eggman blasted the whole city to bits*." said Sonic "Only Castle Acorn survived luckily. It's gonna take years for Mobotropolis to get back to its former glory."

"So where do all the people who lived here live now?" asked Tails.

"They reside in Empire City for the time being." explained Sonic "It's quite near to here so we haven't got far to go."

And with that he ran off again with Tails following him.

A short while afterwards they arrived at Empire City, the fourth largest city on Mobius. Any human who visited this city would have compared this to the city of New York because it looked very similar to New York. This city had its fare share of busy traffic and tall buildings. In fact, Empire City had a skyscraper very similar in height and appearance to the Empire State Building. And like Sonic said, everybody who once lived in Mobotropolis had moved to Empire City until New Mobotropolis was completed. Some citizens were lucky enough to find an empty home whereas others had to share homes with the people of Empire City but the citizens of Empire City didn't mind as they knew what the citizens of Mobotropolis had been through since Eggman's arrival. Tails admired Empire City's tall skyscrapers.

"Is that any better?" asked Sonic.

"Much better." said Tails.

"Well since we've beaten Dr. Eggman back for a while we'll just hang about for the time being." said Sonic "I know a good place we can relax in."

He led Tails to Central Park, a small beauty reserve in the centre of Empire City. Central Park was a quiet peaceful place where many people went for walks or had picnics. Sonic mostly came here to sit near the lake and chill out. Tails was impressed with the park's beautiful nature.

"You know what." said Tails "I feel like I'm in the middle of a forest rather then a city out here."

"Yeah it does feel like that in Central Park doesn't it?" agreed Sonic "That's why people who hate noise hang out here, to get a rest from it all."

"It's a wonderful place so I can see why anyone would want to hang out here." said Tails, lying down on the grass near the lake.

"Me too." said Sonic, lying down beside him "And we could do with a chill out for now."

Sonic and Tails closed their eyes and listened to the gentle sound of the lake lapping against the bank. A sound like that was bound to make anybody relax. Unfortunately Sonic and Tails didn't get to relax long because their peace and quiet was disturbed by the sound of someone crying in pain. Sonic leapt to his feet and turned around to see what it was. He saw a woodchuck lying on the grass with a purple wagon with red and gold decorative details on all sides by his side. Sonic dashed over to the woodchuck. The woodchuck was rubbing his ankle. He looked very hurt.

"Hey, are you OK?" asked Sonic.

"Well apart from a sprained ankle yes." grumbled the woodchuck.

"Can you walk?" asked Sonic.

"I don't think I can." replied the woodchuck, trying to stand up but sitting back down due to the pain flaring in his ankle. He grumbled some more.

"How can I sell my delicious chocolate bars if I can't walk?" he cried.

"Chocolate bars?" asked Tails, running up to Sonic and the woodchuck "Are you a chocolate bar seller?"

"Yes child." said the woodchuck "My name is Larry Cad Burry but everyone calls me by my nickname, Mr. Dairy. I'm a travelling chocolate bar salesman and I walk around Empire City selling chocolates to all the wonderful people here. But now I've sprained my ankle I won't be able to walk. My happy customers won't get their daily chocolate bars!"

Mr. Dairy began to wail. Sonic and Tails looked at each other for a moment and thought on what to do about the situation. After a short think, they decided on what to do.

"If you don't mind Mr. Diary, we'll take over your duties." Sonic offered "We'll deliver your chocolate bars to everybody and sell as many as we can."

"You'd really do that for a poor feeble old man like me?" gasped Mr. Dairy.

"Sure, that's what good guys do." chuckled Sonic.

"Oh thank you, you two!" cried Mr. Dairy "I don't know what to say about your kindness!"

"You can thank us later." said Tails "So how do we know which people we've gotta serve chocolates to?"

"Oh I just serve anyone." said Mr. Dairy "I knock on doors and offer chocolates to people or I ask someone on the street."

"Sounds easy enough." said Sonic "But what are we gonna do about you? We can't leave you out here since you can't walk home."

"I know." said Tails, flying off.

He found a fallen tree branch lying near a thick oak tree. Tails picked the branch up and flew back to Mr. Dairy. He handed the branch over to the woodchuck. Mr. Dairy put it under his arm and used it as a crutch. He walked a few paces back and forth using the branch and beamed.

"It works perfectly!" he said happily "Thank you little one."

"My name is Tails." said Tails "And you're welcome."

"I'll just get home and rest my poor ankle now." said Mr. Dairy "I hope you two do well on my rounds."

"We'll be done before lunch time." said Sonic cockily "Don't sweat Mr. Dairy."

Mr. Dairy laughed. "OK then, say you later boys!" he said as he limped away, using the tree branch to help him walk properly.

"So, how do we work this thing?" asked Tails.

"Like this." said Sonic, grabbing the wagon's handles and running off as fast as ever. Tails flew off after him in a hurry. Mr. Dairy stopped walking away as he had heard Sonic dash off and turned around to see it. Sonic and Tails had already left though. The old woodchuck put a hand to his chin in a thoughtful matter.

"That blue boy runs fast doesn't he?" he said to himself "Why does that seem to ring some bells all of a sudden?"

He continued walking home, thinking on why Sonic's speed reminded him of someone.

On the other side of Empire City, Sonic and Tails made their first stop. They had come to a small two storey house with a flat roof, four windows and a small front garden. Sonic opened the garden gate and pulled the wagon of chocolate bars up to the house.

"OK Tails, here's a first customer." said Sonic "Just follow my lead."

He knocked on the door. The door opened and there stood an orange otter wearing a pale brown shirt and blue trousers.

"Good morning sir, can we interest you in some chocolate?" said Sonic, holding a bar out.

"Chocolate hmm…chocolate." said the otter dopily.

"Yes sir." said Tails "We have mint, caramel, dark, truffle, creamy, non creamy, with nuts, without nuts and even white chocolate." he held up one of each bar he mentioned.

"Chocolate…" said the otter in a strange matter. Then his face turned from calm and dopy into a crazed and demented expression and he began shrieking in a crazed and demented voice.

"CHOCOLATE?" he screamed "CHOCOLATE! CHOCOLATE!"

Sonic and Tails looked at each other in fright.

"I think he's delirious!" squeaked Tails.

"Let's scraper!" shrieked Sonic.

And they ran off with the crazy otter running after them screaming at the top of his voice "CHOCOLATE!" over and over.

One hour later, Sonic and Tails had finally outrun the chocolate crazy otter. They panted like dogs in hot weather.

"O….K…that first…guy…didn't…count!" puffed Sonic "I…wonder what's up…with…him?"

"May…be he's crazy…about…chocolate." wheezed Tails "I…hope… no one else…is like…that!"

"Well let's try someone else." said Sonic "We promised Mr. Dairy we'd help him out with selling his chocolates."

And with that they tried another house. This house was only one storey, making it a bungalow and it had a front garden. Sonic pulled the wagon up to the house and knocked on the door. A white female meerkat in a flowing red dress answered the door.

"Ooh what can I do for you two young men?" she asked.

"We're selling chocolate bars." announced Sonic "Mr. Dairy's unavailable right now so we're taking over for him."

"Would you like one?" asked Tails.

"Oooooh I love chocolate!" squealed the meerkat "I'll take one!"

Sonic handed her a plain bar of chocolate. The meerkat handed Sonic 50 cents and closed the door.

"That was much better then that otter." said Sonic.

"Let's hope all the others are like that." said Tails "So, where to now?"

"Back to Mobotropolis and to Castle Acorn." said Sonic "Sally Acorn would love a bar of chocolate."

And with that he dashed off as fast as he could.

Later they returned to Mobotropolis and arrived at Castle Acorn. Its majestic appearance hadn't changed a bit since Sonic left. Tails was impressed with the castle's appearance. He had heard many a tale about Castle Acorn but never before had he seen it in real life.

"Is this really Castle Acorn?" asked Tails.

"You bet it is." said Sonic "Home of the Acorn Family."

He knocked on the door and waited for Sally to answer. But she didn't, instead Sally's lady-in-waiting Nicole the Lynx opened the door. The moment she saw Sonic, her face brightened and she grasped him in a hug.

"Oh Sonic you've returned at last!" cried Nicole "How've you been since Megapolis? We haven't heard from you since!"

"Fine thanks Nicole." said Sonic as Nicole put her down "We just visited Angel Island and saved it from falling."

"Knuckles told us all about that." said Nicole "He's very grateful to you and your friend. Speaking of which, where is he?"

"Right here." said Tails shyly waving.

Nicole noticed Tails and awed at him, causing him to blush.

"Hello there little boy." said Nicole "What's your name?"

"Tails." said Tails bashfully "I'm Sonic's new friend, I'm skilled at technical stuff and I've been helping Sonic out on some of his adventures."

"That's nice to know." said Nicole "I bet you'd love to join the Royal Fighters Service."

Tails nodded bashfully.

"Anyways, we're selling chocolates." Sonic put in "Would you like one?"

"Um no thanks, I'm on a diet." said Nicole, twirling one of her ponytails "But I'll take two for Sally, she loves chocolate."

"Which type of chocolate does Sally like best?" asked Tails, holding out the various selections.

"She loves dark chocolate and chocolate truffles." explained Nicole "I'll just take one of each."

Tails handed her one dark chocolate bar and one chocolate truffle bar. Nicole handed him one dollar and sixty cents.

"Thank you very much boys and good luck on your sales." said Nicole.

"You're welcome Nicole." said Sonic "By they way, where is Sally? She always answers the door by herself."

"Oh, she's not here right now." said Nicole "She and her parents are out sight-seeing for the time being but when they come back I'll tell them you're back and I'm sure Sally will thank you for the chocolates."

I'm sure she will." said Sonic "Well we'd best get going, see you later Nics."

"Bye Sonic." said Nicole, closing the door behind her as she went back inside the castle. Sonic sighed happily.

"This is just getting better every time isn't it?" said Sonic.

"Uh huh." said Tails "And I hope you don't mind me saying but I think Nicole's very beautiful."

"Yeah she is isn't she?" agreed Sonic "She's the Mobotropolis beauty queen and has been for five years running!"

"Gosh!" cried Tails "She must be beautiful!"

"Yeah." agreed Sonic "Nicole likes her body too. Pity she hasn't found the right someone for her."

"Do you think she fancies you Sonic?" chuckled Tails teasingly.

Sonic went red in the face.

"Nah, I don't think I'm the right man for her." said Sonic "I think Nicole needs someone a little less adventurous then me. Whereas I, I'm not sure I'd be that interested in royal business like Nicole is."

Then suddenly he and Tails were interrupted by the familiar demented sound of someone mentally insane screaming "CHOCOLATE!" loudly. It was the chocolate crazy otter again! Sonic and Tails grabbed the wagon and immediately ran for their lives as the chocolate crazy otter chased them away from Castle Acorn screaming insanely at the top of his voice "CHOCOLATE!" "CHOCOLATE!" "CHOCOLATE!" "CHOCOLATE!"

As Sonic and Tails ran for it, a small camera telescoped out from behind a hedge near Castle Acorn. That camera belonged to none other then Dr. Eggman (duh!). He had planted it there so he could monitor Sally's movements and make an attempt to kidnap her but this time the fat doctor's attentions was focused on Sonic and Tails fleeing for it. Seeing them run away like cowards made Eggman roar with laughter. Even his snobby robotic assistant Alonzo laughed at them. When Dr. Eggman and Alonzo finally contained their irresistible laughter Eggman spoke.

"So our two friends are selling chocolate bars are they?" snorted Dr. Eggman "Some heroes they are!"

"Yeah, especially since they're being chased by a crazy otter that screams out loud "CHOCOLATE!"" chortled Alonzo "I bet if we did that Sonic and Tails would run for their lives!"

"Yeah but villains don't do that." noted Eggman "And yet this chocolate bar caper is giving me a wicked thought…" he purred, stroking his thick bushy moustache in thought.

"Oh no, he's thinking again." said Alonzo "Time I escaped."

"THAT'S IT!" screamed Dr. Eggman, leaping to his feet.

"Too late." muttered Alonzo.

"I'll make my OWN stash of chocolate!" declared Dr. Eggman "And I'll make Sonic and Tails sell it to everyone!"

"Um…nice one?" said Alonzo, really thinking the plan was stupid "But your chocolate tastes like motor oil sir so I don't think you'll have very happy customers."

Dr. Eggman punched Alonzo in the face. The poor butler bot felt very dazed and confused and a few bolts popped off.

"You twonk!" snarled Eggman "I'm going to trade Sonic and Tails' stash with my own stash so they'll end up selling my chocolate!"

"And that way SONIC & TAILS will have the unhappy customers!" declared Alonzo happily "Oh that's ingenious sir! Everybody will be angry with the hedgehog and we can laugh in his face!"

Dr. Eggman face palmed himself.

"You really are a bolt brain aren't you?" he muttered "Oh well, I'll tell you the full details later, I've got chocolate to make."

And with that he ran off to get making. Alonzo stood still and began scratching his head. What on Earth was that fat moron up to now? Oh well, he'd find out later. Alonzo trundled back to the camera screen to watch Sonic and Tails getting chased by the crazy otter.

Another hour later, Sonic and Tails had finally outrun the crazy otter. They collapsed on the pavement in a heap.

"Geez! How does that crazy otter keep it up for so long?" gasped Sonic "That's the second hour we've spent running away from him!"

"I hope that's the last we've seen of him." panted Tails "Otherwise I'm going to quit this chocolate selling business."

Sonic got back to his feet and counted the money he had gotten from the three bars he had sold. He had sold two to Nicole and one to the meerkat and overall he had two dollars and ten cents. Sonic sighed grimly.

"We're not doing so well here." he said "We'd best pick up the pace."

"Good idea Sonic." said Tails "Let's go as fast as we can and that way we'll sell more."

And with that Sonic ran to each house at his trademark speed. Every house he went to, he sold one chocolate bar. Sonic even sold chocolate bars to people walking in the street. Alonzo watched the whole performance from cameras set up in the trees of Central Park. Watching Sonic dash back and forth was making him feel funny.

"Geez, watching him do that's making me nauseous!" he gurgled.

He almost fainted but he regained his senses and decided to stop watching Sonic run about for the sake of his health. Meanwhile, Dr. Eggman was in the kitchen, pouring motor oil into various trays and covering the splodges of oil with a thick chocolate layer. That was his idea of good chocolate. Then he added a drop of a strange greyish coloured liquid to the chocolates. Then he put the trays into a fridge for them to set good and hard. He had to wait a good while though as chocolate took time to set. Thirty minutes later the chocolate had set and was ready to eat (unless you like motor oil which I guarantee you don't!). Dr. Eggman cackled with delight at his finished chocolate. Then he put the chocolates in a machine that automatically wrapped the chocolates up for you. After all Eggman is lazy. The finished chocolates popped out of the machine, neatly wrapped up in yellow and red striped wrapping.

"Oh if I wasn't using these for an evil deed I'd eat them all myself!" he cackled "Oh well, I'm sure the Mobians of this planet will love them just as much as I do! ALONZO!" he bellowed.

"Yes sir?" asked Alonzo, rushing into the kitchen.

"Find Sonic and swap his chocolates for these." said Eggman, thrusting the four trays at him.

"No problem master." said Alonzo, saluting.

He trundled out of the kitchen, holding the tray with both hands and staring at the chocolates.

"What on Earth is my dumbo of a master up to?" he wondered "Conning Sonic into selling his chocolates? What's so evil about this plan?"

Sonic and Tails had sold around thirty chocolate bars by now and they had made a whole lot more money now. They had made eighteen pounds and seventy cents overall. Sonic jingled the money in his hands.

"Now that's a lot better." said Sonic, putting it in the money jar "Good thing we picked up the pace."

"We should call ourselves Sonic and Tails, the supersonic chocolate bar sellers!" joked Tails.

"That does have a nice ring to it." said Sonic "But I'd rather smash robots and kick Eggman's fat butt then sell chocolate bars."

"I wonder how Mr. Dairy is doing." wondered Tails "I hope he's alright."

"I'm sure he's resting." said Sonic "In fact, why don't we pay him a visit and tell him how we're doing?"

Tails nodded. Sonic had no idea where Mr. Dairy lived but he knew how to find him. He saw a woman in a jumpsuit walking by and caught her attention. He then asked the woman where Mr. Dairy lived. The woman instructed him to go to the end of the first block of buildings, turn right and look for a purple house decorated with rainbow coloured dots. Sonic thanked the woman and rushed off with the wagon in tow. Sonic followed the woman's instructions and found Mr. Dairy's house. Just like the woman had described, the house was purple and decorated with rainbow coloured dots, making it look like there were Smarties all over the walls. The house looked like the kind of house Willy Wonka would live in. Sonic and Tails walked to the door and knocked on it. Mr. Dairy got up from his chair and, using the tree branch crutch, limped over to the door and opened it. He was pleased as punch to see Sonic and Tails at the door.

"Boys!" he cried with joy "How's the business been going?"

"We've made eighteen dollars and seventy cents." said Sonic, handing the jar of money over to Mr. Dairy. The old woodchuck beamed in satisfaction.

"How did you sell so much so quickly?" asked Mr. Dairy.

"I can run fast." said Sonic "And I got lucky with some of the customers I guess."

"If only I could run that fast." chortled Mr. Dairy "I'd be selling a lot more chocolates a day then what I usually do!"

As he and Sonic chatted away, Alonzo poked his head out from behind a dumpster. He had found Sonic and Tails at long last and he crept over to the chocolate wagon, keeping a low profile so he wouldn't get spotted. Then Alonzo grabbed the wagon and slowly pulled it away from Sonic and back to the dumpster he had hidden behind. Then, when he thought he was a good distance away, Alonzo stopped and opened the side hatch. He pulled all the chocolates out and threw them in the dumpster. Then he tipped the tray of Eggman's chocolates up and they all slid off into the hatch. He did the same with the other three trays. Soon all of Eggman's chocolates were in the wagon. Then Alonzo quietly pulled the wagon back to Sonic and trundled quietly away, giggling silently to himself. Tails looked over his shoulder as he thought he had heard something but he saw nothing so he shrugged it off. Sonic and Mr. Dairy had finished talking.

"Well, I've got the last bunch of chocolates in the wagon to sell." said Sonic "See ya later."

He and Tails ran off with the wagon in tow.

"See ya boys, and thank you for all your help!" Mr. Dairy called to them.

Sonic and Tails did the same thing they did earlier, run around to each house as fast as they could. They sold chocolates to every house they came to and even sold a chocolate or two to any passer-bys in the busy streets. During their rounds, Sonic came across two familiar faces walking by. One was an orange dog wearing combat fatigues and the other was a purple, yellow tailed mouse also wearing combat fatigues.

"Hey it's Wilson and Mandy!" he said happily.

"Who are they then?" asked Tails.

"Two friends of mine in the Royal Fighters Service." said Sonic "I saved them from being roboticized eight months ago* and we've been good friends since. Not to mention they're excellent fighters."

He ran over to them in a jiffy. Wilson and Mandy gasped in surprise, only to smile at the fact it was only Sonic the Hedgehog.

"Well Sonic my man." said Wilson, giving him a handshake "Long time no see."

"Good to see you two Wilson." said Sonic "How's things been at Grand Metropolis?"

"Marvellous." said Mandy "We helped the Metropolis Royal Fighters foil a drilling operation for oil and we stopped the person in charge of the operation who is known to her lackeys as the Mistress of Darkness. Everything's under control now so we've been allowed to return home."

"That's excellent to know." said Sonic "Where's good ol' Geoffrey St. John?"

"Still tied up with his work at Downunda." explained Wilson "But he's fighting good and hard for the Royal Fighters there. By the way who's the kid?" he added, pointing at Tails.

"This is my new friend Tails." said Sonic "I saved him from Eggman during my time in Green Hill Zone***."

"And I've been helping Sonic fight Eggman since." added Tails.

"Have you now?" said Mandy "We'll have to see you in battle one day."

"So what have you two been up to?" asked Wilson.

"We're selling chocolate bars." said Sonic "Care for one?"

"Oh! I haven't had one in months!" cried Wilson "I'll take one."

"Me too." said Mandy "How much are they?"

"Only 50-60 cents." said Sonic "Depends which kind of chocolate you pick."

They both picked a plain old ordinary chocolate bar so they only needed to pay fifty cents. Sonic put the money in the jar and waved goodbye as Wilson and Mandy walked away with their chocolate bars. After they were out of sight, Sonic and Tails helped themselves to a bar each. Sonic picked a caramel chocolate whereas Tails picked a mint chocolate. Tails loved mint candy after all.

"What a good day its been." said Sonic "We've helped out a poor chocolate bar seller and there hasn't been any case of Dr. Eggman at all."

"Let's eat our chocolates in hope of ending this war with Eggman." said Tails, tearing the warping off of his chocolate and stuffing it into his mouth. But after one chew his face curled and he spat the chocolate out onto the pavement and licked his hands to get the taste off of his tongue. Sonic was puzzled.

"What's up Tails?" asked Sonic.

"That chocolate bar tastes like motor oil!" spluttered Tails "Who on Mobius made that one?"

Sonic sniffed his own chocolate bar. It didn't smell like chocolate, it smelt like a cross between chocolate and motor oil. Sonic put the bar in a bin nearby.

"Well that was weird." he said "Two of our bars taste and smell of motor oil. I certainly hope none of the others tasted the same way."

"Should we taste them all to see if they taste of motor oil?" asked Tails.

"Nah, we can just smell them." said Sonic.

So the two of them pulled out chocolate bar after chocolate bar, sniffing each one to see what it smelt like.

Dr. Eggman watched the two of them sniffing their haul with glee. His plan had obviously worked; Sonic and Tails had sold his chocolates to half the city so now it was time for the next step. He pressed a button on the control pad. It beeped loudly and silenced afterwards. Dr. Eggman cackled.

"Now it's time for my new minions to prove their worth to me!" he chortled "Sonic will have no idea what hit him!"

Sonic and Tails put the last chocolate in the bin. Every single chocolate they had sniffed smelt of motor oil. They both clutched their noses, clearly disgusted with the smell of motor oil burning their nostrils.

"Well that's funny." said Sonic "How did all our chocolates suddenly start smelling and tasting of motor oil?"

"Who knows?" asked Tails "I hope none of the chocolates we sold had motor oil in them."

"Well we'll find out sooner or later." said Sonic "If the chocolates we sold did taste of motor oil then we'll have an angry mob on us."

Then Sonic began to think. Chocolate with motor oil in it was starting to sound familiar somehow but he couldn't quite put his finger on it. Then suddenly Tails began to shudder and shake as if he was desperately cold. Sonic noticed Tails' strange state. Then the little cub stopped shaking and looked down at the pavement.

"Hey buddy, you OK?" asked Sonic.

Tails didn't answer him. He continued to stare at the pavement. Sonic gave him a light shake.

"Tails?" asked Sonic.

Then Tails raised his head. But there was something different about him now. His eyes were no longer blue, they were red! And they looked like robot eyes too! Sonic flinched and stepped back. Tails roared an uncharacteristically strange roar that sounded more like it came from a lion then a fox cub. Sonic shuddered, this was not normal. Something was desperately wrong. Tails pounced on Sonic but Sonic dodged so he missed and hit the road. Sonic ran off but Tails flew after him, snarling like a lion. Sonic had no idea why Tails was acting like this but he had a vague thought on a possibility. Maybe the motor oil chocolate had something to do with it? Because Tails was just fine until he ate it. Then suddenly Sonic saw something and skidded to a halt. A crowd of Mobians were marching towards him. Their eyes were all red in colour and they had a particularly murderous look in them too. Even Wilson and Mandy had been affected and had joined the crowd! Sonic began to back away but the possessed Mobians continued marching towards him like zombies. They surrounded the speedy hedgehog and began to close in around him. Sonic looked around desperately for a way out as the Mobians advanced on him, roaring like a pride of lions…

Footnotes:

 See Story 2 for Mobotropolis' downfall

* See Stories 6-7 for Sonic's time with Bunnie in Megapolis

 See Stories 8-9 for Sonic's time in Angel Island

 See Story 1

* See Arc 1: The Malicious Metropolis Masquerade from the spin-off title *Sonic the Hedgehog: Tales from Mobius

 See Stories 3-4

I don't consider this one to be one of my best but the next story is better I promise you.

Chocolate Eggman part 2

Story 11: Chocolate Eggman: Part 2

Sonic desperately looked around for a way out of the advancing circle of possessed Mobians. They were getting closer and closer. Soon they would snatch him up and probably eat him alive or rip him apart. Then Sonic had an idea. He jumped into the air like a ballet dancer. The advancing crowd of possessed Mobians stared at him in disbelief. Sonic leapt so high he did a double somersault in mid air and then landed outside the crowd. He smirked at them.

"Now that's skill!" he sneered and he jolted off.

The angry crowd ran after him but of course, they couldn't catch up with Sonic as he was miles too fast. Only Tails had a chance and even he was having trouble keeping up with the super fast hedgehog. Sonic turned his head around to face Tails and stuck his tongue out at the little fox cub tauntingly.

"If you think you're gonna catch me little guy forget it!" he jeered.

But Sonic should have been watching where he was going because he ended up crashing into a dustbin and falling over it. Tails saw his chance and seized Sonic by the arms and lifted him off the ground. Sonic squirmed in the little fox's grasp. For being eight years old, Tails could grab someone very well! Then Tails dragged Sonic back towards the crowd. Sonic squirmed even more but Tails' unnaturally strong grasp was too strong for him. But the crowd stood stole instead of trying to slaughter him. Sonic put on a confused expression but he soon found out what was up. A small cuboid TV hovered above Wilson and Mandy's heads. The TV had Dr. Eggman's face on the screen and seeing that face made Sonic's quills shake with rage.

"Dr. Eggman!" he shouted "I should have known you'd be behind this strange business!"

"Indeed I am Sonic the Hedgehog!" chortled Dr. Eggman "And I bet you're wondering how I'm behind all this!"

"I am!" yelled Sonic, struggling in Tails' grasp "How did you turn all these people into evil zombie-like creatures?"

Dr. Eggman hooted with laughter.

"Well I'll tell you." he said "I had Alonzo swap your stash of chocolates for my special stash of chocolates!"

"No wonder it smelt and tasted like motor oil." muttered Sonic "But how did that turn them evil?"

"I added my secret ingredient." announced Dr. Eggman "A liquid substance full of microscopic robots called Brain Tonic. Once consumed, the robots crawl up into your blood stream and take control of your mind and body. So all these people are my mindless slaves!"

"You monster! Let them go or I'll make you!" threatened Sonic.

"How are you gonna do that then?" sneered Eggman "Frown at me? You're at my mercy Sonic and I'm going to send you to your doom. Slaves! Kill that miserable beast!"

The crowd immediately responded and lunged at Sonic. Wilson grabbed Sonic by the legs while Tails still held Sonic by his arms. Sonic tried to get out of their grasp but he couldn't because they were much too strong. Then Wilson and Tails began to pull on his limbs. Sonic yelped. They were trying to pull his limbs off! Then Mandy came up to Sonic with a jungle knife in her hand. She poked Sonic's chest with it lightly as if she was marking where to stab him. Then Mandy raised the knife up high and got ready to strike Sonic. Then suddenly she was knocked to the floor by a powerful kick. It was Nicole! Wilson and Tails let go of Sonic and tried to attack Nicole but she ducked, swerved and elbowed Tails in the back, sending him crashing into the road nose first. Wilson tried to counter attack but he was met with an unfortunate karate chop to the gut.

"Sonic! Run!" cried Nicole.

Sonic did not wait to be asked twice. But instead of running off and leaving Nicole by herself, he picked her up bridal style and ran off with her. Tails, Wilson and Mandy ran after them but Sonic was much too fast. Soon enough he left the crowd of possessed Mobians behind and darted into Central Park in an attempt to outrun the crowd. Sonic looked over his shoulder and saw no one behind. He screeched to a halt and stopped in front of the lake. He put Nicole down.

"That was sweet Nicole." said Sonic, winking "I didn't know you knew how to fight."

"I learnt a thing or two about fighting before I moved to Mobotropolis." said Nicole "I'm not a spectacular fighter but I'm good enough to hold my own at least."

"Well Nicole that is way past cool." said Sonic "What are you doing here anyway?"

"I wanted to have a moment's peace from the castle so I came here to hang out in Central Park for a couple of hours." explained Nicole "But when I arrived I saw half of the city trying to kill you so I decided to step in and help you."

"And I am grateful for that." said Sonic "And if you're wondering what's up with half the city, I've inadvertently sold them Dr. Eggman's own stash of chocolates and now they're all under his control. Even Tails! And Wilson and Mandy!"

Nicole clasped her hands over her mouth to prevent herself from gasping.

"Oh my gosh!" she spluttered "How could that horrible man do that?"

"He'll do anything to conquer Mobius." sighed Sonic "And I bet he's going to order everybody to come to him and allow him to roboticize them."

"Well we'd better cure them before that happens!" declared Nicole "But how are we gonna do that?"

"Beats me, I have no idea what the darn cure is." said Sonic glumly.

Then suddenly, someone lunged out from nowhere and leapt on Nicole. It was Tails! He had seen Sonic run into Central Park and followed him stealthily before coming in for the kill. Before Tails could harm Nicole, Sonic charged into Tails headfirst and knocked him off of Nicole. He hit Tails so hard; the young fox rolled down the bank like a beach ball and then fell into the water with an enormous splash. Sonic watched the lake for in case Tails came back up and tried to attack. But Tails didn't come back up. He was actually sinking down and down to the bottom of the lake like a stone. Sonic got worried: Tails would drown if he didn't come back up! But if Sonic saved him he would likely try and attack him and Nicole again. But if Sonic didn't save Tails, they wouldn't be able to turn him back to normal so Sonic decided he had to save Tails. The only trouble was Sonic was afraid of water and he couldn't swim so he couldn't save Tails. Then Nicole ran to the bank and did a graceful dive into the lake. Sonic got splashed as he was standing so close. Nicole was clearly amazing in more then just the beauty department! Sonic stood and waited for Nicole to come back up as she dived down to rescue Tails. A few moments later the surface of the water began to bubble. Nicole burst up from underneath, gasping for breath. She had Tails in her arms, hopefully unconscious. Nicole dragged him onto the bank and settled him down on the grass.

"I…think Tails is alive…" gasped Nicole "Just un…conscious…"

Sonic knelt down by Tails side and prayed to himself he would pull through. Nicole put her hands on Tails chest and did a heart compression method three times on him but to no avail. Nicole tried again. Still no avail. Nicole decided to give it one more try. Then after the last press, Tails started spluttering and coughing up water. He opened his eyes and saw Sonic and Nicole beside him. Sonic instantly noticed that Tails' eyes were now back their normal appearance.

"Tails! Thank goodness!" cried Sonic.

"Wha….What happened? Why am I all wet?" asked Tails, squeezing and twisting one of his tails to get the water out.

"You had a bit of a tussle with Sonic when you were brainwashed by Dr. Eggman and you fell into the lake." said Nicole, shaking her hair to dry it off "But I saved you from drowning."

"Gee thanks Nicole." said Tails "And what do you mean by "I was brainwashed by Eggman"?"

"That motor oil tasting chocolate is Eggman's special bunch." explained Sonic "Anyone who's eaten it is under Eggman's control now."

"Ah I remember." said Tails "I was fine until I tried that chocolate. Oh I hope I didn't hurt you when I was brainwashed."

"Well apart from trying to yank my arms off, you didn't do much harm." said Sonic "But right now, we need to find out how to change everybody back before chaos ensues."

"Wait a second." said Nicole, putting on a thoughtful face "Tails was a mindless drone for Eggman until he fell into the lake. And after I rescued him, he's back to normal. How did that happen?"

"I know!" cried Tails "Maybe water is the cure!"

"I think you're right Tails." said Sonic "Because Eggman said his chocolate contains tiny microscopic robots. And if you drench a robot in water it goes boom so after you fell into the lake, the water obviously destroyed the robots!"

The three of them cheered and leapt into the air at this discovery. But Nicole's face fell afterwards.

"I don't suppose you're gonna tell everybody to jump into the lake are you?" she asked.

"I would but they're under Eggman's control so they wouldn't obey me anyway." said Sonic "And I don't think I'll be able to trick them into jumping into the water since Eggman will probably see through my act and stop them. There must be a better way to cure them."

"Maybe we could let the possessed Mobians capture us and bring us to Eggman and then we find out how to shut the robots down and do it?" suggested Nicole.

"That's a little risky, but it might just work." said Sonic "We'll give it a try, it's the only way."

Nicole and Tails nodded. Sonic walked off, ready to give himself up to the crowd of possessed Mobians.

As for the crowd of possessed Mobians they were searching high and low for Sonic the Hedgehog with Eggman on the little hovering TV bellowing orders at them. Wilson led one group of searching Mobians whereas Mandy lead the other group. They looked in anything they came across. They looked in open sewer holes, in dumpsters, in dustbins, under cars, in cars and in any house they came across. They obviously terrified anybody they came across as they snarled at everybody. Dr. Eggman was beginning to get bored watching his mindless slaves looking everywhere for Sonic. He was just about to do something else until something caught his eye. He saw Sonic, Tails and Nicole coming towards the crowd with their hands up. Sonic looked directly at the hovering TV with Eggman's face on.

"Hey Egg-Salad!" he yelled at the fat man "We surrender! Tell your cronies to take us to you so we can be roboticized!"

Dr. Eggman thought he was going insane. Sonic the Hedgehog is willingly giving himself up to be roboticized? Unbelievable! Nevertheless, Eggman gave the order.

"Slaves! Seize those three!" he bellowed.

The possessed Mobians ran up to Sonic, Tails and Nicole, grabbed them by the shoulders and forced their arms behind their backs. Then they began marching away with the prisoners in tow.

"Are you sure this is a good idea?" whispered Tails.

"Sure Tails." Sonic whispered back "The moment Eggman orders his slaves to put us in the roboticizer, we break free and look for a way to shut those microscopic robots down."

Tails nodded, even though he had concerns about how well this would work.

Much later, the slaves arrived at the Northern Border where Eggman's base was. Sonic, Tails and Nicole were taken to the roboticizer chamber where Dr. Eggman and Alonzo were waiting for them. Eggman smiled at his captives as the slaves brought them into the chamber.

"Well, well, well Sonic the Hedgehog!" he sneered "I've captured you at last!"

Sonic wanted to do something to him but he kept calm and put on a straight face.

"And I've even caught your friend Tails who unfortunately has managed to break free of my control." added Eggman.

Tails frowned at the fat man but said nothing.

"And I even have the princess's lady-in-waiting." added Eggman "Um…what's your name again?"

"Nicole." said Nicole glumly.

"Thank you, now you three, it is time for you to be roboticized!" said Dr. Eggman "Alonzo! Are those pods ready yet?"

"Yes sir and please stop that mindless bellowing!" grumbled Alonzo "It's hurting my audio receptors!"

"Oh shut up you moronic, metallic miscreant and open the pods!" snarled Eggman.

Alonzo pressed a button on the control pad and pressed a button that opened the roboticizer pods.

"Now slaves, put them in!" ordered Eggman.

Now was their chance. The slaves began to push Sonic, Tails and Nicole towards the pods. Then Sonic stomped very hard on the slave's foot. The slave squealed and let Sonic go to clutch his foot in pain. Then Tails did the same to the slave holding him. The slave let him go to grab his foot in pain. Then Nicole wrestled out of her slave's grip and elbowed him in the gut. Dr. Eggman gasped in horror. He didn't see this coming at all. Sonic leapt on Eggman and knocked the fat man off his feet. Alonzo tried to rush to his aid but Nicole gave him a cold stare that suggested "Don't even think about it!" Alonzo leapt back in fright.

"OK Eggman! You tell us how to shut down those microscopic robots down and I won't have to hurt you!" ordered Sonic.

"I shall not tell you how to do that!" roared Eggman "Now get off me!"

He shoved Sonic off of himself and got back to his feet.

"Slaves! Seize them!" he ordered.

The slaves advanced on Sonic, Tails and Nicole menacingly. Sonic did the same thing he did before, leap into the air, somersault and land outside the advancing slaves. Tails took flight, grabbed Nicole by the waist and carried her out of the crowd before they could leap on them. The slaves all hit each other face first. Dr. Eggman tugged on his moustache in rage. Then suddenly Wilson leapt on Sonic and tackled him to the ground. Sonic pushed against Wilson but the dog was too tough for him. Wilson pinned his arms down and got ready to bite the hedgehog on the neck. Then Tails flew straight at Wilson and kicked him off of Sonic. As for Nicole, she was having a bit of a tussle with Mandy. Mandy was much more advanced in combat skills then Nicole was but Nicole put more effort in avoiding the mouse's blows then trying to counter attack in an effort to wear her out and then attack her before she recovers. Mandy threw a punch at Nicole but the lynx avoided it just barely by bending backwards and then counter attacked with a head butt to the face. Mandy stumbled to the floor, clutching her nose.

"So sorry Mandy." said Nicole.

Mandy merely growled at her and stood back up. She lunged at Nicole like a leaping tiger. She tackled the lynx to the ground. But before Mandy could do anything, Sonic spin-dashed into her, knocking the startled mouse off of Nicole.

"You OK Nicole?" he asked.

"I am now you saved me." said Nicole "Thanks."

Sonic smiled at her. Meanwhile, Tails and Wilson were seemingly playing a game of cat and mouse. Tails flew around, taunting the enraged dog while Wilson kept leaping up at him, trying to catch him but failing each time. Wilson leapt at Tails but he missed and then the fox tail-whipped him so hard he fell into the floor face-first. Tails laughed at him. Eggman got mad at Tails and threw Alonzo at him. Alonzo hit Tails in the back and knocked him to the ground. Eggman hooted with laughter. Before Tails could get back up, Wilson leapt on him and pinned him down. Sonic and Nicole were beginning to get overwhelmed by the sheer number of possessed Mobians advancing on them. Not to mention they were getting worn out. Then Mandy appeared from behind and kicked Nicole in the back. Then she punched Sonic in the cheek and sent him stumbling over. Before Sonic could get up, three slaves surrounded him and grabbed him. Sonic struggled and squirmed but the Mobians were too tough for him. They carried Sonic over to the pods. Wilson picked Tails up and carried him over to the roboticizer pods. Mandy grabbed Nicole and carried her over to the pods. Sonic then performed a spin-dash to get free from the Mobian's grasp and it worked. Sonic spin-dashed into Wilson and Mandy to free Tails and Nicole from them. He skidded to a halt across the floor.

"I don't think we can keep this up any longer!" cried Sonic "There's too many Mobians under Eggman's control and I'm getting worn out!"

"Same here." panted Tails "What are we gonna do?"

"You can try and find out which button on that control pad shuts the robots down." said Sonic "Me and Nicole will cover you."

"But what if that control pad doesn't have the shut down command?" asked Tails worriedly.

"Then we'll try the other rooms and see which one has the right button." said Sonic "Now get going!

Tails twisted his tails around one another and flew over the oncoming crowd of possessed Mobians. He flew over to the control pad and studied it carefully and closely. None of the buttons or levers seemed to have a shut down command for anything except for an off switch and that was for the roboticizer pods. Well this room was the roboticizer chamber so the control pad was obviously for the pods and nothing else. Tails flew away from the control pad and flew out of the chamber with Mobians leaping up at him but missing narrowly. They tried to chase Tails but Sonic jumped in front of them and spin-dashed them back into the chamber. In order to keep them from trying to run after Tails, Sonic pressed a button that closed the door. Now no one could get in or out unless Sonic reopened the door. That should buy Tails plenty of time to shut down those robots and free everybody's minds from Eggman's devious control. For now, Sonic had to keep the Mobians from getting him roboticized so he either jumped out of their way or run rings around them. Nicole just kept out of harm's way since Sonic was distracting them all.

Tails flew into the main computer room. He had no idea how he found it but he was grateful he had found it. This room was filled to the brim with computer monitors, control pads and all sorts of machinery. All this technology made Tails stare admiringly at them. He was impressed at how advanced Dr. Eggman was. Tails ran over to the control pad and looked closely at it. There were many controls on the pad ranging from buttons to switches and levers. Tails began to sweat, his heart began to pound. He had no idea which of the millions of controls on that pod would free everybody from Eggman's control but Sonic was counting on him so he had to try. Tails eyed a small round blue button. Was that the right button? But before he could press it, his eye caught a tiny red button near the centre of the console. Was this the right one? Since it was a tiny button it might be a command for a tiny robot like the microscopic ones that the possessed Mobians had in their brains thanks to Eggman's chocolate. But what if the tiny button wasn't a shut down button? What if it did something worse? Tails really didn't want to risk it in fear of doing serious harm but he had to try as he had lives to save from Eggman's control. Tails closed his eyes, fearing the worst and shakily, pressed the button. One of the monitors flashed into life saying "Micro-bots shut down commencing." Tails opened his eyes slowly and breathed a huge sigh of relief when he saw what the monitor said. He had pressed the right button, now everyone was free from Eggman's command!

Back in the roboticizer chamber all the possessed Mobians began clutching their heads and shrieking like mad before silencing and looking down at the floor.

"That fox better not have…!" snarled Eggman.

Then the entire crowd raised their heads and began to murmur amongst one another. Their eyes had all returned to normal and they could all now speak again.

"Where are we?"

"What happened?"

"How did we get here?" they all asked one another.

"Why are we in Eggman's base?" Wilson and Mandy wondered. Nobody knew of course. Eggman thumped his head in rage.

"That fox did it! He's broken my control over those mindwiped Mobians! Oh the indignity!" he cried.

"The game's over Eggman!" said Sonic hotly "Now back down or else!"

"I'm not letting you all go that easily!" shouted Eggman "Alonzo! Bring in the heavy metal!"

"At once sire." said Alonzo, pulling a lever on the control panel nearby.

A colossal door on the far side of the room opened and out of it appeared a large floating robot. The robot was domed in shape and had a multiple amount of cannons all over its domed top. Its body was coloured a very dull grey and coloured orange around the edges and the base. The crowd of Mobians gasped at it.

"This new toy of mine Sonic, is the Portable Roboticizer 3000 G-1." explained Eggman "But I call it Port for short."

Sonic groaned. "Gee, and I thought "Scream Roller" was bad!"

"Well what till you see what this machine does!" cackled Eggman "Port! FIRE!"

Port aimed its cannons at the crowd of Mobians and fired four sizzling shock blasts at them. Some of the crowd was hit by the blasts but instead of being blasted to smithereens, something else was beginning to happen. The Mobians that had been blasted were beginning to change. Their skin and fur was turning into cold hard metal, their teeth were growing sharper and their eyes were changing back to red. Sonic's quills straightened in terror. Eggman's machine was roboticizing them all in one cannon blast! No wonder it was called the "Portable Roboticizer"! Eggman cackled dementedly at his machine's progress as it continued roboticizing. Sonic knew what he had to do, get the rest out before they got roboticized.

"Nicole! Get everybody outta here!" cried Sonic "I'm gonna take down that portable roboticizer thingy!"

"OK." said Nicole, turning to the crowd. "Everybody run for your lives if you want to remain flesh and blood!"

The crowd didn't hesitate even for a second; they ran out of the chamber as fast as they could with Nicole yelling "Go, Go, Go!" as they ran past. Sonic spin-dashed into Port and knocked it aside so it's cannons missed the crowd. Tails came out of the computer room to rejoin Sonic and Nicole but he was sidetracked by the fleeing crowd. After the last Mobian bolted out of the chamber, Tails flew into the chamber to see what was happening only to gasp in horror at what he saw. Thirty Mobians had been roboticized and they were ready to rip someone apart. The Robians lunged at Tails but the little fox flew out of the way, leaving them to crash face first into the floor. Nicole decided to flee with the crowd, knowing she wasn't skilled enough to take on a roboticized Mobian. As for Sonic, he kept trying to smash Port to bits but the machine wasn't having any of it. It seemed to be resisting his blows every time he hit! Sonic eventually stopped homing attacking and spin-dashing it and landed on the floor, tired as anything.

"That's one tough robot!" panted Sonic "What's it made off?"

"I made it out of the right materials to resist your petty attacks." crowed Eggman "You cannot destroy it!"

"Oh man!" moaned Sonic "What am I gonna do now?"

"Surrender!" yelled Eggman.

"Never!" cried Sonic.

He charged himself up and bolted directly into the robot. He hit Port so hard the hovering robot spiralled out of control and crashed into the wall. It hit the wall so hard it dented it. Sonic was about to charge again until a cry for help from Tails distracted him. The Robians had cornered him and were advancing on him menacingly, ready to slash him to pieces. Sonic charged at the Robians and sent all of them flying as he charged through them. The Robians hit the walls, the ceiling and even control panels as they rained down to the floor. Two Robians recovered and tried to attack Sonic but he kicked them both away. Another Robian recovered and slashed at Sonic but Sonic dodged and homing attacked it so hard it was knocked silly. Tails sighed with relief.

"Oh thank you Sonic!" he gasped "I thought I was done for!"

"You're welcome buddy. Now Tails, we've got to get outta here." said Sonic "Eggman's portable roboticizer is too tough for me to destroy and if we're not careful we're gonna get…"

Then suddenly he was blasted in the back by a yellow shock blast! Port was doing it! The machine had recovered from it's collusion with the wall while Sonic was busy fighting off Robians and now it had blasted Sonic with its roboticizing shock blasts! Sonic was being roboticized! Tails thought he was going to die of shock from what he was seeing.

"NO!" cried Tails.

Eggman roared with laughter. Alonzo joined in. They had finally done it! They had roboticized Sonic at long last! Port stopped blasting Sonic and the blue hedgehog fell to his knees. He was no longer flesh and blood. He was steel and oil. His eyes were replaced with a visor and emotionless red eyes. His muzzle was silver, he had short gold shoulder pads and he had jet rockets in his feet for flying. Tails began to shake furiously. This couldn't be happening. This couldn't be happening! But unfortunately, it was. His best friend Sonic the Hedgehog, had been roboticized. After Eggman stopped cheering he made an announcement.

"How about that then Tails?" he crowed "I've roboticized that infernal hedgehog once and for all! Now you face a new threat from me… MECHA SONIC!"

He hooted with laughter. Mecha Sonic seized Tails by the neck and pinned him against the wall. The terrified fox struggled in his metallic grasp but he couldn't get free as Mecha Sonic was much, much too strong. As well as becoming metal, Mecha Sonic had gained super strength from his roboticization too.

"Now Mecha Sonic, kill that little twerp!" ordered Eggman.

"As-you-wish-mas-ter." droned Mecha Sonic in monotone.

His voice no longer sounded like Sonic, he sounded like a robotic version of Sonic. Mecha Sonic tightened his grip around Tails' neck. The poor fox was beginning to suffocate.

"No! Sonic…please!" begged Tails "Don't…"

Mecha Sonic wasn't having any of it. He obeyed only Eggman and he had been ordered to kill Tails and that was just what he was going to do…

Footnotes:

Geoffrey St. John left for Downunda in Story 3

OMG! MECHA SONIC! Do our heroes even have a chance? Find out next time! Reviews are welcome as always.

The Unstoppable Mecha Sonic

Story 12: The Unstoppable Mecha Sonic

Mecha Sonic tightened his grip around Tails' neck more and more. He was squeezing so hard Tails' face was beginning to turn purple and then blue. Tails was losing his breath and fast. If he couldn't stop Mecha Sonic from doing anything then he would surely die from suffocation. Then before Tails could lose all hope of rescue, Nicole returned to the chamber holding something. It was a taser and it was a useful weapon against a robot since it was used for shocking people with. Nicole thrust the taser in Mecha Sonic's side and activated it. The roboticized hedgehog let out an electronic wail as electricity pulsed through his circuits. He let go of Tails who had passed out from lack of air. Mecha Sonic fell to his knees and Nicole picked up Tails. She ran out of the chamber with Tails in her arms. Port fired at her but missed every shot. Dr. Eggman began to go red in the face.

"Why is it every time I get close to victory someone ruins everything?" he moaned.

"I guess these Mobians have a strange ability of good timing master." suggested Alonzo.

"Oh well, they won't get far." said Eggman "Once Mecha Sonic recovers he'll blast them to smithereens!"

Funny Eggman should say that because Mecha Sonic had already recovered from the shocking taser blast. He got back to his feet and bowed to Dr. Eggman.

"My a-pol-o-gies mas-ter." he said "I-failed-my-task."

"Don't worry my new weapon of death." said Dr. Eggman "I have a new task for you. Make this your number 1 priority…you will go to every city on Mobius and bring them to the ground! Don't you dare come back to me until every last city on Mobius is destroyed!"

"I-o-bey." droned Mecha Sonic "Priority-1: Des-troy-des-ig-nat-ed-tar-gets-which-are all-cities-on-Mobius. I-will-not-fail-this-priority."

"That's a good boy." purred Eggman "Now go and cause as much destruction as you wish!"

Mecha Sonic obeyed and activated his jet feet. Then before Eggman could blink, he rocketed out of the roboticizing chamber like a speeding bullet. After the smoke from the jet fumes cleared, Dr. Eggman smiled admiringly at what he had just created.

"You know what Alonzo, this is such a glorious moment I think I might cry!" he said, pulling out a hankie and dabbing his eyes with it.

"If I could cry I would be right now." chuckled Alonzo "We've finally won for once. We've got the famous Sonic the Hedgehog is our weapon of death! Those pitiful fluff balls don't stand a chance!"

"Indeed they don't Alonzo." agreed Eggman "Indeed they don't…"

Nicole had run a good distance away from Eggman's base and taken shelter in a junkyard around the back of the base. This was where Eggman just dumped the remains of his old creations that had been destroyed by Sonic and the royal fighters and left them there to rust or until he wanted to use them for spare parts. Nicole heard the sound of jet fumes coming from Mecha Sonic from around the front of the base. Nicole poked her head around the corner to see Mecha Sonic flying away and heading north which was the direction Megapolis was. After Mecha Sonic was out of sight, Nicole turned her attention back to the unconscious Tails. She felt his chest. His heart was still beating but he wasn't breathing. After all Mecha Sonic had throttled him pretty hard. Very hard in fact. If Mecha Sonic had throttled Tails any harder the poor fox would have died so it was a good thing Nicole saved him. However Tails didn't show any signs of waking up which was beginning to worry Nicole. Maybe she had been a tiny bit too late and Tails was losing the will to live. Nicole put her hands on Tails' chest and shook him gently.

"Oh please, please wake up Tails." begged Nicole as she shook him

"Sonic won't be happy to find you dead."

Tails still didn't wake up. His face however was changing back to its normal colour which was a good sign. Nicole shook him a tiny bit harder. Then Tails began to stir in his sleep. He mumbled to himself.

"No…Sonic…no…" he mumbled.

Nicole beamed and thought she was going to break down crying with joy. Tails was alive! She had no idea what Sonic would have done if Tails did die. He probably wouldn't be the same again. Tails then suddenly shot up, open-eyed and looking flustered. He looked around madly as if he was expecting to be surrounded by Eggman robots or be attacked by Mecha Sonic. As soon as he realized there was no one around apart from Nicole he settled down.

"What happened Nicole?" asked Tails "How did I get here?"

"I noticed you and Sonic were taking too long to come out so I feared the worst and came back to help you out only to find a robot that looks like Sonic throttling you half to death." explained Nicole "How did Eggman build such a robot? And where is Sonic? I didn't see him in the chamber with you."

Tails' face fell.

"Nicole." he said slowly "That wasn't a robot that looks like Sonic…it IS Sonic."

Nicole gasped and clasped her hands around her mouth.

"You're kidding!" she gasped "Please tell me that isn't true!"

"I'm sorry Nicole but it is true." said Tails solemnly "Eggman's Portable Roboticizer 3000 robot blasted him and roboticized him right in front of my eyes."

Nicole thought she was going to pass out. This was the most horrifying thing that had happened since the destruction of Mobotropolis*. Nicole didn't know what to do except fight back the urge to sob.

"Sonic's been r…r…ro…roboticized?" spluttered Nicole "I…I don't… know…what to say!"

"I agree with you." mumbled Tails "Sonic, Hero of Mobius and my best friend is now going to kill us all."

"I think I should get back to Mobotropolis and warn Castle Acorn before he attacks!" cried Nicole "And Tails, you'd better warn everybody else!"

"OK Nicole." said Tails "Do you know where Mecha Sonic is?"

"Um I saw him heading north from here." said Nicole.

"That's where Megapolis is!" shrieked Tails "Bunnie and the Royal Fighters are going to be doomed!"

"Then you should get there and warn them right away!" cried Nicole "I'll go back to Mobotropolis and warn Castle Acorn! I hope Sally's back so I can warn her too."

And with that Nicole ran as fast as she could. Tails twisted his tails around and took to the skies. He flew as fast as he could go. He had to get to Megalopolis in double quick time otherwise Megapolis wouldn't be a pretty sight at the end of the day…

KA-BOOM!

The Egg Tank's thirteen cannons blasted away another power generator that belonged to Dr. Eggman. Debris and hot steel rained down on where the generator had once been. Thomas Tiger and the Megapolis Royal Fighters were advancing on Eggman's remaining forces and they were well and truly vanquishing them all. Ever since Sonic and Tails had helped them capture the tank they had been victorious in every battle they had been in. Eggman's robots had tried their hardest but the Egg Tank's thirteen cannons were far too powerful for the little robots. They were all blown to bits every time. As of this moment, Bunnie Rabbot had detected power generators for Eggman's robot production line and the troops were using the Egg Tank to destroy the generators. They had just one more to go and Bunnie knew which way it was. She led the tank to the left and walked onwards: constantly eyeing a tracking device she had with her. Thomas marched beside her.

"I have no idea how you found those generators Bunnie dear but it's a good thing you have." said Thomas "We'll put an end to Eggman's robot madness once and for all."

"Thanks Tommy." said Bunnie modestly "I'm just doing mah job."

"Indeed you are." said Thomas briskly "I'm glad Castle Acorn let you come here to help us. We couldn't have done this without you."

"And I couldn't have done all the amazing things ah can do if it weren't for mah robotic limbs which Eggman sort of gave me*." said Bunnie, flexing her robotic arm.

"I bet that fat moron's really mad he's inadvertently given you those abilities." chuckled Thomas.

Bunnie Rabbot laughed with the jolly tiger. She really was thankful to Eggman for half roboticizing her and she was thankful to Geoffrey St. John for rescuing her before she could get fully roboticized. Then her tracking device started to make a faint beeping noise. Bunnie looked at it. The device was telling her that the last generator was nearby. She directed the tank to turn right a little and go forward until they see it. The enormous tank's engine roared as the tank began to turn slowly to the right. Thomas signalled to the tank drivers to stop turning. Then the colossal machine began to heave forward on its titanic treads. It trundled slowly and steadily as it moved. Minutes later a silver object began to peer over the horizon as the tank went on and on. As they neared it, Bunnie's tracker began to go wild. The object was the last generator. If they destroyed it then Eggman's robotic forces would be eliminated as the generators worked the production lines Eggman had built for his robots to use to mass produce themselves when their numbers were low. Thomas signalled the tank to halt. The tank stopped and let off a loud hiss.

"You may fire when ready." said Thomas "And we shall put an end to that filthy Eggman's reign of terror!"

The tank drivers primed the tank's thirteen cannons and got ready to fire. In a moment, the last generator would erupt into flames and debris and that would be the end of Eggman's robots in Megapolis. The tank's cannons were now ready to fire. The tank drivers prepared to pull the trigger. But something caught their eye and they hesitated. Thomas and Bunnie spotted it too. Mecha Sonic had arrived on the scene and he landed in front of the tank at a good distance away from it. He fixed the fighters a cold steel stare.

"What on Mobius is that?" cried Thomas.

"That looks remarkably like Sonic the Hedgehog." said Bunnie "So Eggman's making robot duplicates now?"

"No matter, we'll jolly well take it down just as easily as the rest!" growled Thomas "Chaps, FIRE!"

The tank drivers didn't wait to be asked twice. They pulled the lever which fired the cannons. The tank's thirteen cannon barrels lit up and then blasted away at Mecha Sonic. The roboticized hedgehog didn't show any signs of fear or concern about what was happening. Instead he activated his jets and flew out of the way. The cannon blasts hit the spot where Mecha Sonic once was and tore a massive hole into it, sending showers of soil and stones flying everywhere. A huge cloud of smoke followed afterwards and hung around for a few seconds before drifting away into the air. After the smoke cleared, Thomas observed the scenery. The blasts had made a small crater in the ground. It was about as large as sixteen elephant footprints altogether. There was no way any robot could have survived that onslaught. Thomas smiled proudly.

"Well aimed chaps." he said "Now prepare to blast the generator."

The tank drivers began readying the cannons again. However, as we already know, Mecha Sonic hadn't been blasted to bits, he had dodged the cannons and now he was hiding in a mountain nearby. He deployed his blasters and aimed at the tank down below. You see, in Mecha form Sonic had blasters now, a weapon he wouldn't be caught dead using in his organic form. Mecha Sonic locked on target and fired his blasters. Bunnie however, being a rabbit, has excellent hearing and she heard the blasters coming just seconds after Mecha Sonic fired. She grabbed Thomas and jumped out of the way before the laser blasts could hit. The blasts hit the tank and caused it to explode a titanic explosion. The smoke made a small mushroom cloud and the fire blazed away at the tank's hull. Thousands of tank pieces rained everywhere. Bunnie and Thomas dived to the ground so they wouldn't get hit by the showers of debris. After the debris stopped falling Bunnie and Thomas got back to their feet and stared at a terrible sight. The Egg Tank, their greatest weapon, the colossal thirteen cannoned machine of carnage, had been completely obliterated in one swift laser blast. Bunnie's ears dropped down in despair.

"Oh mah stars!" she cried "The tank…it's destroyed!"

"And it took the lives of the fellow tank drivers too." said Thomas sadly "This is a dark moment for us. We've lost our greatest weapon."

"But what in the heck shot the tank?" asked Bunnie "None of Eggman's robots had the firepower to…"

Then suddenly a blue blur rocketed into Bunnie and sent her flying through the air like a tossed stone. She came down and hit the ground back first and skidded to a halt. Mecha Sonic had done that of course. Thomas's eyes widened so much he thought they would pop out of their sockets.

"How in the blazes did you survive our tank attack earlier?" he blustered.

Mecha Sonic didn't say a word. Instead he gave the tiger a look of cold steel that could easily make the faint-hearted faint. Thomas stood his ground and whipped out his pistol. He blasted Mecha Sonic but the shot didn't seem to do much harm to him. Mecha Sonic deployed his blasters and fired at Thomas. The tiger was sent hurling through the air. Thomas landed on his side and skidded to a halt. The impact severely grazed his arm and he clutched it in pain. He had dropped his pistol after Mecha Sonic had shot him. Mecha Sonic picked up the pistol and crushed it with his bare metal hands. Thomas sat up, only to see Mecha Sonic coming towards him with a murderous intent in his red robotic eyes.

"Priority-1: Des-troy-all-cities.." droned Mecha Sonic "I-will-also-kill-any-one-who-re-sists-the-will-of-Dr.-Egg-man."

He deployed his blasters and aimed at the tiger. Thomas put his hand over his heart, accepting this was to be his fate, to die at the hands of a Sonic-like robot. Then suddenly Mecha Sonic was blasted away by a powerful plasma cannon blast. It was Bunnie Rabbot! She had recovered just in time to save Thomas' life. Seeing his chance, Thomas ran off and hid behind a chunk of tank tread to keep watch on the upcoming battle. Mecha Sonic got back to his feet and growled a mechanical growl. Bunnie wasn't the least bit intimidated, she just stood her ground.

"Ya'll are gonna regret messin' with me gruesome!" said Bunnie "Yer gonna get smashed just like those other Eggman robots!"

"You-can-not-de-feat-me." gloated Mecha Sonic "I'm-too-power-ful."

"We'll see about that metal brain!" said Bunnie cockily.

Mecha Sonic charged straight at Bunnie at an incredible speed. Bunnie deployed her shield generator and activated the force-field to defend herself. Mecha Sonic hit Bunnie but the force-field defended Bunnie from the full force of the attack. It didn't stop Mecha Sonic from pushing her a good distance backwards though. Bunnie shut down the force-field and gave Mecha Sonic a left hook to the face. The robotic hedgehog's head span around crazily and stopped a moment after. Bunnie tried to give Mecha Sonic and uppercut but Mecha Sonic caught her arm before she could hit home. Then Mecha Sonic threw her arm backwards which caught Bunnie off-guard and then Mecha Sonic let loose an array of punches. The poor Rabbot was getting pummelled good and hard. Then Mecha Sonic withdrew his right arm and got ready to land another punch in Bunnie's face but Bunnie withdrew her robotic arm and lunged at the same time. Their fists slammed into each other. Bunnie smirked and then activated her telescoping feature so her arm stretched and sent Mecha Sonic hurtling backwards into the Rocky Mountains surrounding the area. That however didn't bring Mecha Sonic down and out. It did stun him but the robotic hedgehog was still unharmed.

Bunnie charged at Mecha Sonic with her plasma cannon deployed.

She aimed at Mecha Sonic and fired multiple shots at the robot. Mecha Sonic merely flew out of the way, leaving Bunnie to blast the mountains. Then Mecha Sonic charged down at Bunnie like a homing missile. Bunnie saw him coming and took flight. She gave Mecha Sonic an uppercut and then kicked him in the chest before he could retaliate. Mecha Sonic got very mad and fired at Bunnie. Bunnie activated her shield generator to defend herself. Mecha Sonic had a cunning plan. He fired so much laser blasts that Bunnie couldn't see him and then before the lasers had finished hitting Bunnie's force field he flew off. Bunnie turned off the force field and looked around for her opponent. Mecha Sonic was nowhere to be found.

"Hey Mech face!" shouted Bunnie "I ain't finished with you yet! Come out so I can whup yer ugly backside in!"

Then suddenly something fast charged straight into Bunnie's back and sent her hurtling to the ground. Mecha Sonic had sneaked up behind Bunnie and charged at her top speed. Bunnie hit the ground face first. The impact left three small scratches under her eyes. Bunnie got back to her feet and opened one eye to see where Mecha Sonic was. He was charging towards her again. Bunnie telescoped her arm and hit Mecha Sonic smack in the face. Now it was Mecha Sonic's turn to fall to the ground face first. Bunnie tried to attack him before he could get back up but Mecha Sonic recovered too quickly and was already back on his feet by the time Bunnie reached him. Then Mecha Sonic raised his foot and landed a tremendous kick slam to the stomach. That one kick was so hard Bunnie was winded and she felt like she had been hit by a truck. She flew backwards and landed on her back. She coughed and spluttered violently. Mecha Sonic advanced on Bunnie with an evil look of death on his mechanical face. He stared emotionlessly at his downed opponent.

"I-knew-I-was-too-power-ful." he droned "Now-after-a-val-i-ant-fight, you-shall-die-Bunnie-Rab-bot."

Bunnie's ears pricked up. How on Mobius did that robot know her name? She didn't have time to wonder though; she was staring death in the face right now. Mecha Sonic deployed his blasters and was about to fire until Bunnie's arm stretched and landed a punch to the face. Mecha Sonic toppled over backwards. Bunnie laughed.

"If there's one thing you robots don't have, it's a brain!" she sneered "That's why we Mobians will win at the end of the day."

Mecha Sonic didn't say a word. He just got back up and got ready to attack again. Bunnie beat him to it and punched him straight in the chest. She gave him an uppercut, then a left hook and then a blast to the face. Mecha Sonic got angry and retaliated with a left hook and a right hook. Then he kicked Bunnie in the stomach again, only not as hard as before. Bunnie blasted him again but Mecha Sonic fired his lasers to stop the blast from hitting him. Then Bunnie tried another punch but Mecha Sonic caught her arm and kneed her in the back. He whacked her across the head and then he hit her in the back of the leg which forced her down on one knee. Then Mecha Sonic clawed Bunnie across the cheek. Three bleeding scratches appeared on her face. Then Mecha Sonic was about to come in for the kill but Bunnie reacted just in time and punched him in the face. Mecha Sonic stumbled backwards but he regained his balance. Bunnie activated her plasma cannon once more and shot him multiple times in an effort to keep him back. The shots were doing some damage to Mecha Sonic at long last but it wasn't serious or even superficial. Once Bunnie was certain Mecha Sonic was too distracted, she charged at him and walloped him around the head. Then she elbowed him and landed an uppercut on him once again. Mecha Sonic retaliated with an uppercut of his own, shortly followed by a dropkick move that sent Bunnie tumbling backwards.

She recovered and then Mecha Sonic and Bunnie linked hands and tried to push either one away. If Bunnie had two mechanical arms she might have had a better chance of overpowering the robotic hedgehog but she only had one so Mecha Sonic only just managed to overpowered her and brought her kneeling down due to how hard he was pushing on her. Bunnie then released Mecha Sonic's left arm and punched him in the stomach. Mecha Sonic let go of Bunnie's other hand and jumped back to avoid another attack from her. Then both opponents deployed their weapons and blasted each other. The two shots made contact and exploded, the force sending them both sliding backwards. Bunnie recovered quicker and flew towards Mecha Sonic. Mecha Sonic however was sneaky and had a sneak attack in mind. The moment Bunnie was at arm's length from him, he blasted her with his laser eyes. Bunnie yelped as she fell to the ground. Mecha Sonic had hit her in the face and momentarily blinded her.

Then Mecha Sonic began to stomp on her back. Bunnie turned onto her back just as Mecha Sonic was about to stomp on her again, telescoped her arm and punched him squarely in the face yet again. Then the Rabbot leapt to her feet and began to shower Mecha Sonic with fierce punches to fast for him to keep up with. Then she gave him another uppercut, a dropkick and a blast to the chest. Mecha Sonic was sent sliding backwards. That rabbit was clearly tougher then he thought she was. Then Mecha Sonic collapsed to his knees and bent down on his hands. Then his red optics died down to blackness. It appeared to Bunnie that Mecha Sonic had been defeated. She panted hard but she managed to put a smile on.

"Ah…ah did it." she spluttered "After all that fightin' ah defeated that robot Sonic duplicate. Now I'd best tear him tear him apart before he wakes up."

She walked towards Mecha Sonic cautiously, making sure he was truly down and out and not waiting to ambush him. Mecha Sonic did not stir. Bunnie stopped a few inches in front of Mecha Sonic and deployed her arm cannon, ready to blast him to smithereens. Then suddenly Mecha Sonic jumped to his feet and let fly an electrical surge at Bunnie Rabbot! The robot hadn't been defeated; he pretended he had shut down to catch Bunnie off guard and then when the moment was right, he electrocuted her. Bunnie squealed as electricity surged through her body. Thomas, who had been watching the whole fight, almost died of shock at seeing Mecha Sonic electrocute Bunnie. Mecha Sonic thrust his arms forward and sent the shocked rabbit flying backwards. Bunnie skidded to a halt and passed out. Mecha Sonic advanced on her menacingly. He glared at his opponent.

"You-have-de-fied-the-will-of-Egg-man." he growled electronically "Now-you-shall-die-for-this."

He deployed his blasters was about to blast her dead until a communication message from Eggman stopped him dead in his tracks. He answered it.

"No don't kill the Rabbot!" yelled Eggman on the other side of the communicator "Take her to me so I can roboticize her! She'll be a valuable asset to my glorious army."

"I-o-bey." whirred Mecha Sonic.

So he put his blasters away and instead, picked Bunnie up and draped her over his shoulder. He was about to fly away until something flew up to him from behind and kicked him in the back of the head, causing him to drop Bunnie and fall on his face. It was Tails! He had finally arrived on the scene after a long flight and saw Mecha Sonic about to take Bunnie away so he took action before he could get away. Mecha Sonic growled mechanically as he got back up. Tails put on his bravest face and stood his ground.

"I don't want to fight you Sonic but I will if I have to." he said with great courage.

"You-can-not-stop-me." crowed Mecha Sonic "You-are-hardly-a-fighter-so-what-chance-do-you-think-you-have-a-gainst-me?"

Tails suddenly got confused. How does Mecha Sonic know he's not much of a fighter? Does he have Sonic's memories of his friends stored somewhere? Then suddenly Mecha Sonic charged at Tails. Tails leaped out of the way and Mecha Sonic accidentally collided with a pile of tank pieces. The impact had left Mecha Sonic very dazed and very stunned. In fact he had a massive dent on his head so he likely had brain damage. Also, Mecha Sonic's optics were going fuzzy and he was speaking unintelligibly.

"Must...kzzt! vanquish…kzzt!…fuzzy fur…kzzt brained… garden… of…turkeys…does kzzzzzttt! not…kzzt! compute…with…priority!" he slurred rather stupidly. He sounded very funny indeed.

"You're severely damaged mech brains so I suggest you go home and get repaired." said Tails.

"Pri…buzz…ority…is…kzzt!…not…completed…" mumbled Mecha Sonic mindlessly "Can…not…fail…my…zzz…Egg…Salad…mas…

ter…kzzzzzttt!"

Then Mecha Sonic's communicator began buzzing.

"Mecha Sonic, you're not in fighting condition." said Eggman "Return to me at once for repairs!"

"I…re…fuse…I mean…I…zzz o…bey plaster….I kzzt…mean… master…" croaked Mecha Sonic.

The damaged mech took flight and slowly flew away from the battlefield, still droning mindlessly to himself. Tails watched Mecha Sonic leave and turned back to the unconscious Bunnie. She looked terrible; she had bruises, scratches and a few burn marks from being electrocuted all over her as well as a few small dints on her robot limbs. Thomas Tiger emerged from his hiding place and ran over to Tails and Bunnie.

"Good to see you again Tails lad." said Thomas "Pity you came here at a dark moment."

"I know." said Tails "Bunnie's been beaten to a pulp by Mecha Sonic and from the litter of tank pieces I think your Egg-Tank is destroyed."

"Yes it was, by that robot Sonic thing." said Thomas "How did he make such a robot? And where's Sonic, he should be with you young man."

"I'm sorry to say Thomas." said Tails glumly "That robot Sonic IS the real Sonic the Hedgehog."

"He…WHAT?" shouted Thomas.

"Eggman roboticized him right in front of my eyes." said Tails "Sonic's been turned into his robotic minion and now goes by the name Mecha Sonic."

"Oh my gosh!" cried Thomas "We're dead! We're doomed to defeat! In fact I may as well make some surrender flags! We're definitely going to need them."

"Thomas!" snapped Tails "Shame on you! Sonic would never give up on us so you shouldn't give up on him!"

"But how in the name of Megapolis can we defeat that monstrosity?" cried Thomas "He just beat the cuss out of Bunnie Rabbot! And it's the real Sonic in robot form so if Eggman can't stop normal Sonic how can we stop Mecha Sonic?"

"We're gonna have to try and subdue him for long enough to de-roboticize him." said Tails "But we don't have a de-roboticizer."

"So we should probably steal one from Eggman." suggested Thomas "Me, you and Bunnie could probably sneak into Eggman's base when Mecha Sonic leaves to attack somewhere else and then steal a de-roboticizer."

"I have another thought." said Tails "Eggman has a floating machine that can roboticize Mobians called Port so if I could set that thing in reverse we could use it on Sonic."

"Sounds like a good plan." said Thomas "But it is also a risky one."

"We have to try Thomas." said Tails "There's no other choice."

Thomas nodded in agreement. He had no idea how successful this raid would be but he hoped with all the hope he could that he and Tails would be able to save Sonic from Dr. Eggman's nefarious control over him…

Footnotes:

Mobotropolis was destroyed in Story 2

*Sonic, Tails and Bunnie captured Eggman's second Egg Tank in Story 7

The Council of Acorn voted for Bunnie to help out in Megapolis in Story 3

Bunnie Rabbot became a Rabbot after being half-roboticized in Story 1

*Still talking about Story 1

Mecha Sonic maybe wounded but that doesn't mean it's over yet! Can Tails de-roboticize Sonic or is there no hope left for the blue hedgehog? Reviews are welcome.

Special thanks for Kratos Pwns for your kinds words. I'm glad you're enjoying this. And as for Cosmo the Seedrian being in this? We'll see about that... ;)

Mecha Sonic's Next Target

Story 13: Mecha Sonic's Next Target

Nicole had been running for hours, literally hours. The Northern Border of Megapolis was far away from Mobotropolis but Nicole's determination to warn Castle Acorn about Mecha Sonic was stronger then anything on Mobius. She did have to stop to catch her breath a few times but Nicole never stopped for long and at long last she had reached the under construction city of New Mobotropolis where Castle Acorn was. Panting heavily, Nicole opened the door and staggered inside. To her absolute relief, Sally Acorn was there, sitting in a chair in the lounge. She noticed Nicole's tired state and got up from her chair. Nicole fell to her knees. Sally knelt down beside her.

"Nicole, I've been wondering where you were." said Sally "What's going on? You look like you've run a marathon around the whole of Green Hill Zone."

"I feel like I've run a flippin' marathon." huffed Nicole "I just ran all the way from Eggman's base in the Northern Border all the way to here!"

"What were you doing in Eggman's base?" asked Sally "He captured you no doubt."

"Well not exactly." said Nicole, her panting calming down to a few heavy breaths "Sit down and I'll explain everything."

Sally sat back down in the chair while Nicole told her all about Sonic's return from his recent adventures in Green Hill Zone, Megapolis and Downunda* and the chocolate mind-control incident in Empire City.

"So that's how you ended up in the Northern Border." said Sally "But where are Sonic and Tails? Were they captured before they escaped?"

Nicole looked down at the floor very sadly. Her ears drooped back which Sally knew was not a sign of good news.

"That's exactly why I ran all the way back here." said Nicole with a sorrow expression on her face "I had to warn you about a brand new holy terror that Eggman has unleashed on us."

Sally gripped the edges of her chair, fearing the news Nicole was dreading to tell her.

"Eggman has…has…" Nicole's beautiful green eyes began to well up with tears. She choked them back long enough to deliver the final part of the news.

"Eggman has…roboticized Sonic!" wailed Nicole, finally breaking down in tears.

Sally's face went white with horror. She looked like someone had pulled a knife on her. In fact she was so horrified she fainted in her chair. Nicole stopped crying and noticed Sally had fainted. She moaned in annoyance.

"Great, now I've got to drag her all the way to the cellar!" she said to herself "Oh well, safety comes first as they usually say."

Nicole picked Sally up and draped her over her shoulder. She strained as she carried Sally out of the lounge. Nicole was taking Sally to the cellar. In severe emergencies, the Acorn family had to hide in the cellar for their own safety and they had to remain there until the danger was over. The cellar was a fairly large underground room with a little refrigerator so the family had food to keep them going during their time in the cellar, a pool table, four chairs to sit in, a coffee table and a shelf of books. After all the family needed things to occupy themselves with because the situation could be bad enough to confine them to the cellar for a good few weeks or even months. Nicole opened the cellar door, turned the light on and carefully carried Sally down the steep stairs. She settled Sally down in a chair and ran back out of the cellar to warn Sally's parents about Mecha Sonic.

Meanwhile, Mecha Sonic had returned to Dr. Eggman's base. The poor mech was a gibbering wreck. He talked absolute nonsense non-stop on his way back to the base. The fight with Bunnie Rabbot had left him battle-damaged and thanks to Tails, tricking him in crashing into some tank debris he suffered brain damage. Mecha Sonic staggered clumsily into Eggman's base. He finally managed to get to the main control room where Dr. Eggman and Alonzo resided. Dr. Eggman couldn't believe what Mecha Sonic looked like. His eyes widened so much his glasses fell off. He picked them up and put them back on.

"Holy androids! What did that Rabbot girl do to you?" cried Dr. Eggman.

"Rab…bot…kzzt!…did…considerable…kzzzzzttt!…dance… moves…tobzzt!…shower me…klunk!…with…salad bars… kkkrrruuummmppplllleee!"

"What are you talking about?" yelled Alonzo "You're talking fiddle-faddle!"

"That fight must have severely damaged his brain." said Eggman, taking close note of the horrible dent in Mecha Sonic's head "I'm gonna take forever to get you back into shape!"

"I…zzzz…must…com…zzzzzuuuuummmmmmppppp…plete my… pri…ority…gargle!…for…you…master…" gibbered Mecha Sonic feebly.

"You can complete your priority once I've repaired you." insisted Dr. Eggman "Now shut down."

"I…obey…fat…frumpy…slab…" Mecha Sonic croaked stupidly.

"DON'T CALL ME FAT!" snarled Dr. Eggman.

Mecha Sonic didn't hear him for he had shut himself down.

"Alonzo, take him to the repair bay." ordered Dr. Eggman.

Alonzo muttered angry gibberish under his breath. He picked Mecha Sonic up and heaved him out of the room. Dr. Eggman sat down in his seat and stroked his moustache, deep in thought.

"If Bunnie Rabbot can put up one heck of a fight with Mecha Sonic then who knows if there are any other Mobian rats who can fight that well." he thought to himself "Maybe I should give Mecha Sonic a power boost of sorts…"

Then the idea hit him smack on the head.

"Of course!" he cried "I'll send Mecha Sonic to Angel Island and get him to steal the Master Emerald! That'll give him plenty of power! He'll be invincible! He'll be unstoppable! He will be unbeatable!"

And he cackled like a demented crazy man in a mental asylum. He couldn't wait for Mecha Sonic's repairs to finish so therefore he could give Mecha Sonic his new priority…

Back in Megapolis Bunnie Rabbot had finally come to after passing out from being electrocuted by Mecha Sonic in their titanic battle earlier. She was delighted to see Tails again but she wasn't pleased to hear that Mecha Sonic had flew away to be repaired. She was even less pleased to hear that Mecha Sonic was a roboticized Sonic the Hedgehog.

"So ah've been fightin' a roboticized Sonic the Hedgehog?" she yelped "Oh mah stars! If Sonic is on Dr. Eggman's side now we're doomed to defeat! Dr. Eggman's gonna vanquish us and roboticize us all!"

"Oh no he isn't!" declared Tails hotly "I have a plan."

"What is it then sugah?" asked Bunnie eagerly "How can we stop Mecha Sonic?"

"We are gonna sneak into Dr. Eggman's lab and steal his Portable Roboticizer." explained Tails "Then, using my techno skills, I am going to set it in reverse so it will be a de-roboticizer and we will use it on Sonic to turn him back to normal."

"Are you sure it'll work?" asked Bunnie.

"We haven't got a better option." said Thomas gravely "We have to try it."

"When are we gonna do it?" asked Bunnie.

"We will wait until Mecha Sonic leaves to attack again and then we will steal Port." explained Tails "But given the damages done to Mecha Sonic we might be waiting until tomorrow or even the day after. We might even be waiting for…"

"We get the idea lad." interrupted Thomas "It doesn't matter how long we wait; I could wait a year to save a life, especially a dashing hero like Sonic the Hedgehog."

"I'm sure Sonic would have liked to hear such determination." said Tails, impressed with Thomas's speech.

"And I'm sure he would like to hear your determination to save him from Eggman." said Thomas, a smile appeared on the tiger's face.

Tails nodded modestly. He began to think hard about the forthcoming plan. Would it work? Would he be able to set it in reverse? Would he be able to de-roboticize his best friend? Only time would tell if the plan was going to be a success or a failure…

Two days had passed. Mecha Sonic's damages from his battle with Bunnie Rabbot were so great it took Dr. Eggman two days to finally repair him and get him back into tip-top shape. Now the roboticized hedgehog was as good as new and ready to whoop someone's backside in at any moment now. Mecha Sonic marched out of the repair bay and stood to attention. Dr. Eggman smiled admiringly.

"It's so good to see you back in shape Mecha Sonic." purred Dr. Eggman.

"This-u-nit-is-in-100%-fight-ing-con-dition." droned Mecha Sonic "I-shall-get-back-to-my-priority-and-des-troy-all-of-Mobius'-cities."

"No my dear Mecha Sonic." said Dr. Eggman "I have a different priority for you."

"My-num-ber-1-priority-is-to-des-troy-all-cities-on-Mobius." Mecha Sonic insisted "Why-are-you-not-order-ing-me-to-do-so?"

"Because I have an idea to make you stronger and too powerful to defeat." said Dr. Eggman "You will go to Angel Island and absorb the Master Emerald's power so you will be too strong too defeat. You will vanquish every last Mobian on the planet with that amount of power!"

Mecha Sonic thought for a moment and made up his mind.

"Very-well. My-new-priority-is-to-get-the-Mas-ter-Em-er-ald-and-ab-sorb-it's-power." droned Mecha Sonic "I-will-not-fail-you-Mas-ter-Egg-man."

"And you should see to it you don't fail me or it's the scrap heap for you!" threatened Dr. Eggman.

Mecha Sonic saluted him and then activated his jet boosters. He flew out of the base at top speed. After leaving the base, he set his courses to Angel Island all the way in the continent of Downunda. He had a new priority and he wasn't letting anyone get in his way. After Mecha Sonic left, Dr. Eggman sat back in his seat and watched the monitors to see Mecha Sonic heading off to Downunda. He smiled wickedly, eagerly waiting for Mecha Sonic to get the Master Emerald and absorb its power. He thought on how powerful Mecha Sonic was going to get after absorbing the Master Emerald. Mecha Sonic might end up becoming the most powerful robot in the history of robots. Alonzo appeared beside Eggman with a thoughtful face on.

"That Mecha Sonic really is something isn't he?" said Alonzo.

"Oh yes, especially since he's my primary nemesis in robot form." said Dr. Eggman "I can't handle organic Sonic so those Royal Fighters filth shouldn't be able to handle Mecha Sonic!"

"But Bunnie Rabbot handled him pretty well." noted Alonzo "And it's taken us two days to repair that blue demon so heaven knows what will happen if there's anyone stronger then Bunnie he happens to come across."

"Once he gets the Master Emerald no one will be able to handle him!" declared Eggman "I have no idea how powerful that gem is but I bet it's power is incredible since it keeps a whole island afloat!"

"I've just had a horrid thought." said Alonzo suddenly "What if Mecha Sonic's pride gets the best of him and he betrays you? You will be toast!"

"If he does that I will de-roboticize him." said Dr. Eggman "I can set Port in reverse so he will de-roboticize victims instead of roboticizing them."

"But then you've got Sonic the Hedgehog to deal with once again you moron!" blurted Alonzo "How can you sort that out?"

"After I de-roboticize Sonic, I will simply kill him before he has a chance to do anything." said Eggman simply "I will bring a pair of robots with me to zap him on the spot before he gets back up. Genius!"

"Agreed sir." applauded Alonzo "You simply are marvellous."

"I know." boasted Dr. Eggman "But fingers crossed I won't need to de-roboticize my greatest weapon. He's too valuable for me to lose."

He turned his attention back to the monitors and watched Mecha Sonic's position. He was now flying over Megapolis and heading in the direction Downunda was located. Eggman couldn't wait to see the carnage Mecha Sonic would cause once he got his power boost.

Meanwhile, Tails, Bunnie and Thomas had been waiting patiently for Mecha Sonic to leave Eggman's base so they could put their plan into action. They had sneaked into the Northern Border and waited in Eggman's junkyard around the back. Bunnie had also made quick but steady recovery and was now in fighting condition once again. The moment they heard the sound of jet fumes they poked their heads around the corner to see who it was. It was indeed Mecha Sonic so now was the right time for their plan. Rather then going around the front and breaking in, Tails thought the best idea was to get in through the back of the base, luckily, had a back door. Eggman's base always had a back door for quick escapes after all. The back door unfortunately was locked but that wasn't a problem for Tails, Bunnie and Thomas. Bunnie just flexed her robotic arm, aimed and landed a huge punch in the centre of the door. The force of the punch broke the lock and the door swung open. Tails took a cautious look around to make sure the noise of the door being forced open didn't alert anyone or anything. No one was about. Not even a little guard bot so Tails, Bunnie and Thomas sneaked inside like a trio of serpents. The trio took their steps carefully while they crept through the corridors. They daren't not make a noise otherwise they could alert Dr. Eggman and he would be on them in a jiffy with his horde of robots. Bunnie might be able to fight them off but without Sonic the Hedgehog, the trio would soon be overwhelmed by the robots and then be taken to the chamber for roboticization. Tails, Bunnie and Thomas had made it through a whole corridor and came to a corner. Tails gave a shush sign and peeked wearily around the corner. He looked both ways to make sure the coast was clear.

There wasn't a soul to be seen. Tails had a sneaky feeling that this mission was becoming a little too easy. Was Eggman deliberately letting them in to catch them off guard and then waiting for the right moment to strike? Fat chance, Dr. Eggman wasn't the kind of person known for being subtle in his approach. Or was it simply the fact Eggman never bothered to have many guards around despite the many dangers that await him? Or maybe he, Bunnie and Thomas were just getting lucky with their approaches? Regardless, Tails knew he had to remain vigilant as Dr. Eggman could strike at any moment without warning or they could come across an Eggman robot and end up triggering an alarm. Tails, Bunnie and Thomas tip-toed as quiet as mice through the next corridor. Tails hoped he remembered where the main computer room was. He had been taken to the roboticizing chamber by Eggman's chocolate possessed Mobians and after escaping that dreadful chamber, he had somehow found the computer room*. The only trouble was Tails couldn't really remember where exactly the room was. He kept being sure on where it was but he wasn't fully sure if he was right or not.

After passing several closed doors throughout the corridor, Tails, Bunnie and Thomas came up to a huge red door with warning stripes around the sides. This was likely the main computer room. Tails kept his fingers crossed as he pulled the lever to open it. The door opened. Tails' face brightened. It was the main computer room. Hopefully Port was in here. Tails closed the door and he, Bunnie and Thomas began to explore the room. Tails sat in the chair and stared at the big computer screen in the centre of all the smaller monitors to see what was going on. The screen showed Dr. Eggman and Alonzo sleeping in the bedroom. The relief that swept over Tails after seeing that was like an ocean wave. As Tails monitored Eggman's position, Bunnie and Thomas looked in any of the storage compartments. Then Bunnie wrenched a compartment open and stared at what she saw. It was a huge domed robot with a multiple number of cannons and coloured dull grey.

"Hey Tails! Ah darn found something!" cried Bunnie.

Tails leapt out of the chair as if Bunnie's words had an electric effect on him. Tails ran over to where Bunnie was and observed the robot she was looking at.

"Well done Bunnie!" cried Tails "That's Eggman's portable roboticizer robot!"

"Portable? Do you mean that thing is basically a floating robot that can roboticize people with a blast of a cannon?" asked Thomas.

Tails nodded.

"Now that's positively primeval!" said Thomas loudly "Eggman won't need to capture us and put us in cages anymore, he can just send that thing out and get it to do the job for him!"

"Well he won't do once we capture that thing." said Tails, grabbing one of the handles around Port's base and yanking the big old machine out of the storage compartment.

"Once we set this thing in reverse and get it turned on we'll use it on Mecha Sonic to turn him back into Sonic." said Tails "If only I knew how to do it though."

"Well don't lull about here." said Thomas "We risk getting caught, we'll have to take that portable thingy with us while we escape."

"Ah agree." said Bunnie "I'll watch yer backs while you and Tails escape." she added, deploying her arm cannon.

"Be careful Bunnie." said Tails, dragging Port to the door and opening it.

Tails and Thomas dragged Port out the door and down the corridors with Bunnie following them and constantly stopping to turn around and make sure the coast remained clear. So far, everything was going according to plan. The only problem was, Tails and Thomas could get inside the base quietly without a load, but now they had Port with them, they risked making a noise even more then before. Then suddenly, Tails stepped on a stray rivet on the floor and fell flat on his face. Thomas suddenly fell forward and pushed Port forward so hard the domed robot hurtled over Tails and crashed straight into the corridor doorway. The domed robot span around like a roundabout for a moment and then slowed to a halt. The doorway had cracked from the impact of the crash. Tails froze to the spot, expecting something terrible to happen. That crash had actually woken Dr. Eggman and Alonzo up and they burst out of the bedroom.

"What the blazes is going on here?" yelled Eggman "I'm trying to nap!"

"It's Tails, Bunnie and that tiger guy!" cried Alonzo "They're stealing Port!"

"Is that so?" crooned Dr. Eggman "Well you three won't be doing anything of the sort! You three will be taken to the chambers and roboticized!"

"No we darn won't fat man!" declared Bunnie Rabbot, punching Eggman in the face with her robotic arm.

Alonzo laughed at Eggman, prompting the fat doctor to wallop him around the head. Seeing the opportunity, Tails, Bunnie and Thomas ran for their lives with Port in tow. Dr. Eggman got really mad and ordered his robots to surround the base before the trio could escape. Fortunately, the trio only just managed to get out of the base before the guard robots could surround the base. They didn't get far though. Two guard bots fired at Thomas' legs and brought the tiger falling to the ground. Tails and Bunnie noticed this and ran back to help Thomas. The guard robots surrounded the three of them and aimed their guns at them. Bunnie merely deployed her arm cannon and then blasted each of the robots at once. Once all the guard robots were blasted to bits, Bunnie dumped Thomas on top of Port since he wouldn't be able to run thanks to the robot blasting his legs. Tails and Bunnie ran off, dragging Port with them. Dr. Eggman saw this and quite literally, threw a fit. He looked proper funny with his arms flinging around and yelling dirty words that cannot be mentioned. Alonzo kept his distance and laughed at him. He had never seen his idiot master look so funny.

"NO!" bellowed Eggman after he stopped throwing a fit. "Those Mobian morons might try and set Port in reverse and use him on Mecha Sonic to turn him back to normal!"

"So what do we do now sir?" asked Alonzo.

"I'm going to get that Portable Roboticizer back!" announced Eggman "And I know just the robot for the job!"

"I bet you're going to bring out Egg-Squid aren't you?" muttered Alonzo.

"I'm going to bring out Egg Squid!" announced Eggman.

"How predictable." scoffed Alonzo.

"Oh be quiet you talking garbage can!" snapped Eggman "And get Egg Squid-online!"

Alonzo left to do the job with Dr. Eggman following him.

Meanwhile, Mecha Sonic was well on his way to Downunda. You see, he had Sonic's memories of certain places he had been to stored in his databanks so he remembered anywhere he had been to when he was Sonic the Hedgehog. Mecha Sonic also remembered Angel Island, the Master Emerald and Knuckles the Echidna so he knew he had a fight in store when he got there. But what Mecha Sonic didn't know was that fellow Royal Fighter Geoffrey St. John was in Downunda too. He had been helping the Royal Fighters of Downunda since the King and Queen decided to send one of their troops to help the other groups three weeks ago. During his time in Downunda, Geoffrey had been a great help to the Royal Fighters of Downunda with his combat skills and arm-mounted crossbow. At one point Geoffrey even pretended to betray the group to get some vital information from the robot factory set up in Downunda.

As soon as he got the information, he blew the whole robot factory up and gave the information to the Royal Fighters. The fighters used this information to their advantage and completely obliterated three robot squads in one day. At this moment they were setting up a trap to capture Mecha Sonic. Nicole had given the news of Sonic's unfortunate roboticization to all the other fighter groups so they could prepare for Mecha Sonic's inevitable attack on them. The trap Geoffrey and the others were setting up was a cannon that could shoot an EMP (Electromagnetic Pulse) blast. The blast would hopefully short circuit Mecha Sonic, put him out of commission and bring him crashing down to the ground so they could put him in lockdown until they could de-roboticize him. The only problem was the group didn't seem very supportive of Geoffrey's plan.

"Are you sure this EMP cannon will work Mr. St. John?" asked one fighter. He was a golden brown weasel wearing a brown leather jacket. He had a belt around his waist. The belt held several pouches that contained bullets for his two handheld pistols he kept in his pockets.

"Of course it'll work Mr. Staffer." said Geoffrey, loading his arm mounted crossbow "It worked on that air raid last week. Those robots fell out of the sky like a flock of dead birds."

Secretly though, Geoffrey was having the same doubts as Mr. Staffer. He wasn't sure the cannon would work on something as powerful as Mecha Sonic. Still he had to try anything to save Mobius from Dr. Eggman, even if it meant bringing one of his own allies down. Geoffrey and two other fighters turned the crank to make the cannon rise upwards so it was pointing up into the sky. They were pretty sure Mecha Sonic was likely going to attack them from up above so they had to get the cannon aimed and ready for Mecha Sonic's arrival. Geoffrey stopped turning the clank and crouched down behind the cannon.

"OK boys, now we wait." he said "Get down and don't fire that EMP cannon until I give the command."

The fighters nodded and crouched down behind him, waiting for their attacker to come. There was a very long silence. Then suddenly Geoffrey's ears picked up the sound of oncoming jet fumes. He poked his head around the side of the cannon. Mecha Sonic was coming and he was coming fast.

"OK boys, get ready…" ordered Geoffrey.

Mr. Staffer got to the control pad and raised his hand, ready to slam down on the fire button. Mecha Sonic soared closer and closer until he was almost flying over the fighters.

"FIRE!" blasted Geoffrey.

Mr. Staffer slammed his hand down on the fire button. The EMP cannon whirred into life and blasted at Mecha Sonic. Unfortunately, Mecha Sonic saw it coming. He stopped dead in his tracks and ducked so the blast soared directly over his head. Geoffrey was so shocked at that miss his whiskers nearly fell off. Mecha Sonic glared at the fighters down on the ground.

"Hos-tile-res-is-tence-de-tec-ted." he droned "Commenc-ing-battle-for-mation."

He deployed his blasters and shot at the EMP cannon. Geoffrey and the others ran for cover. The laser blasts hit the cannon and blew the great weapon to pieces. Geoffrey was absolutely crushed to see his beautiful plan crumble to pieces as bits of cannon littered the place. With that plan down and out, Geoffrey had no choice but to try the next plan, which was engage Mecha Sonic in combat himself.

Nicole had said Mecha Sonic was probably a dangerous foe in combat so Geoffrey had a secret weapon for in case he needed it, which was a stun dart capable of stunning robots as well as organics. Mecha Sonic charged at Geoffrey at breakneck speed. Geoffrey aimed his arm-mounted crossbow at Mecha Sonic and got ready to fire. Mecha Sonic was about to slam directly into Geoffrey until the skunk fired at him. The dart hit Mecha Sonic directly in the forehead. The dart sent an electric pulse surging through Mecha Sonic's circuits. Mecha Sonic wailed an electronic wail and then collapsed to the ground, dead as a dingbat. Geoffrey smiled; happy his Plan B had worked.

"Well mates, the metal bloke's been de-commissioned." announced Geoffrey "Now let's get poor Sonic to someplace safe and secure until we can find a way to de-roboticize him."

Geoffrey grabbed Mecha Sonic's legs while Mr. Staffer picked him up by the shoulders. Then the two carried Mecha Sonic off. They needed to get him to an airport so they could catch a plane to Empire City and then deliver Mecha Sonic to Castle Acorn. They couldn't go to an airport at Mobotropolis since Mobotropolis had been destroyed so Empire City was the only option near enough to Mobotropolis.

"How long will it take for Mecha Sonic to wake up?" asked Mr. Staffer.

"Long enough for us to get to Castle Acorn." said Geoffrey, hoping he was right "And hopefully we'll be able to turn good ol' Sonic back to his normal self. I feel sorry for the bloke. I wouldn't want to be a heartless robot under that Eggman bloke's control."

"Nor I." agreed Mr. Staffer "I bet Sonic will feel much better when he's flesh and blood again."

Geoffrey nodded. As he continued to carry Mecha Sonic away, the skunk hoped dearly that the dart's effects would last as long as he thought it would.

Tails, Bunnie and Thomas had dragged Port all the way before Megapolis and decided to hideout in Green Hill Zone so they could rest themselves. They chose an area with thick bushes and short stumpy trees so Dr. Eggman would have a harder time seeking them out. Tails slumped on the grass, panting hard. Bunnie and Thomas slumped on the grass too.

"Ah wish I flew instead of running." puffed Bunnie "Ah wouldn't have tired myself out as much."

"Well now we've taken a break we can see if we can set this robot into reverse." said Tails cheerfully "I might be able to work this out since I'm so technical minded."

"I'll say you are, you fixed a broken tank generator in two days." said Thomas, thinking back to the time Tails fixed up the Egg-Tank for him and the other fighters.

"OK then." said Tails, observing the domed robot with a spanner in his hand "Let's take a look at this thing."

As he observed Port and wondered on what to do, Thomas's pocket began to vibrate. It was his phone ringing. Thomas pulled the phone out and answered it. The person on the other side was Geoffrey St. John.

"Mr. St. John, what a pleasure." said Thomas "So what's the occasion?"

"We've captured Mecha Sonic mate." said Geoffrey "Be sure to inform the Acorn Family, we can't get through to them and you're probably nearer to Castle Acorn then we are so you'll probably reach them."

"We're only in Green Hill Zone old chap." explained Thomas "So we are nearer to Castle Acorn. I'll see if I can reach the Acorn family."

"Good on ya mate. Cheers." said Geoffrey.

The phone started buzzing, meaning Geoffrey had hung up. Thomas dialled another number on his phone and put it to his ear. Instead of someone answering him he got a message saying "We're sorry. The castle has been placed in lockdown and the phone is out of service until further notice. Sorry for the inconvenience." Thomas put the phone back in his pocket.

"Anything wrong sugah?" asked Bunnie.

"Geoffrey has successfully captured Mecha Sonic and has requested me to inform the Acorn Family." explained Thomas "But I can't get through to them. The castle has been placed in lockdown."

"Well in emergencies like this, the Acorn Family go into lockdown for their own safety." noted Bunnie Rabbot.

"We'll have to go to Castle Acorn and inform them in person." said Thomas "But we'll wait and see if Tails can set this strange contraption in reverse first."

All the while Thomas and Bunnie had been talking; Tails had been scratching his head, thinking on how to set Port in reverse. He had opened up a panel on Port which had all his settings. There were many different lights, buttons, blots and dials but Tails' mechanical mind couldn't quite work out what their functions probably were. They weren't labelled or anything so Tails had no idea what any of those things could do. He didn't dare try anything in case he did something wrong and blew Port up or something even worse. But if he didn't try anything, he would never be able to de-roboticize Sonic so he had to try something out. Tails tired turning one of the dials on the settings pad. His head rained with sweat and his heart pounded like a hammer hitting a nail. He turned the dial fully to the left. All that did was make Port hover above the ground. Tails turned the dial back to the right and Port floated back down. Tails was glad that dial didn't do anything dangerous. He decided to try another dial. With shaky hands, he turned the dial to the right. All that did was make the cannons twitch and rotate. Tails turned the dial back. Then Tails decided to press a button and see what that did. The button activated the cannons and they blasted a nearby tree. The tree was now a metal tree with no leaves on. Bunnie and Thomas stared in disbelief at the steel tree. What a sight it was for them! Tails kept his finger over the button to remind himself that button activated the cannons. He decided to try another dial and see if any of those reversed the process. But which dial was it? He'd already tried two and they didn't work so he had no idea which dial was right. Tails tried a dull silver dial with a chrome surface. He closed his eyes in fear the dial would do something terrible. He turned the dial slowly to the left with his hands shaking uncontrollably. Nothing happened. Then Tails pressed the button. The cannons blasted the tree again, only this time the tree's metal turned back into wooden bark. That meant he had set Port in reverse! Tails cheered with excitement.

"I did it!" he exclaimed, punching the air "I set it in reverse!"

"Well I do say young chap." said Thomas "You surprise me."

"Well done Tails." applauded Bunnie "Now we can use it on Sonic and turn him back to normal!"

"But we have to get it to Mecha Sonic first." noted Tails "And he could be anywhere now."

"Geoffrey and the Downunda Royal Fighters have captured him and are coming back with him." explained Thomas "So we'd better go to Castle Acorn and wait for them to arrive."

"I hope they're not doing too much harm to Sonic." said Tails.

"Sonic's a robot now, he can't feel pain." said Bunnie, hoping that would make Tails feel better "So Geoffrey and his troops can't hurt him too much."

"Well that's a relief." said Tails "Well let's get this thing towed to Castle Acorn and wait for Mecha Sonic's arrival."

Tails, Bunnie and Thomas got to their feet and began tugging Port away. They decided to go quickly so if Eggman was on their trial he wouldn't catch them so quickly. Unfortunately, they didn't get far. A huge red, metallic tentacle appeared from nowhere and wrapped itself around the three fighters. The tentacle pulled them out of the bushes and raised them up so they could see the thing the tentacle belonged to. It was Dr. Eggman and he was sitting in a huge red robot that looked a giant squid, complete with tentacles, pointed head and huge red eyes. Eggman cackled madly at his catch.

"Ha, ha, ha! Gotcha!" crowed Dr. Eggman "And you fools thought you could escape me so easily!"

"Let go of us Eggman!" cried Tails.

"What? And let you turn Sonic back to normal?" sneered Dr. Eggman "No chance! I'll squeeze you all to death with my giant metal tentacles!"

And with that Egg-Squid's tentacle tightened its grip on its prey. The trio yelped and gasped as Egg-Squid began to squeeze them harder and harder. In a moment, they would all suffocate…

Meanwhile the Downunda Royal Fighters had reached an airport at long last. Now all they had to do was to get Mecha Sonic on a plane to Empire City and then they would be off. To make double sure Mecha Sonic wouldn't escape; Geoffrey had his crew strap him down to a bed so even if the dart's effects wore off, Mecha Sonic wouldn't be going anywhere. The plane they had managed to catch was a white plane with a propeller and two wings. There was enough room for Geoffrey and all of the fighters he worked with as well as the pilot. Two fighters pushed the bed into the plane's cargo hold and closed the hatch.

"We'll be ready for take-off in five minutes." announced the pilot.

"OK mate." said Geoffrey.

He had one little job to do before boarding the plane. He just needed to pack up the supplies he'd brought with him to Downunda and then he would be ready. Geoffrey ran to the pile of suitcases that were waiting to be loaded onto the plane. Geoffrey pulled out the one with his name on and opened it. He took his backpack off and loaded it into the suitcase. He wouldn't want to sit in his seat wearing it as it would be very uncomfortable with the backpack digging to his back. He didn't want to take off his arm mounted crossbow but he had to for security reasons. He took the weapon off his arm and put it in his backpack. Then he put the backpack back into the suitcase and loaded it back on the rack of suitcases. Then suddenly the airport seemed to explode around him. Geoffrey turned around sharply to see the plan engulfed with flames and smoking heavily. Two dead bodies lay next to the remains. Those bodies were the pilot and co-pilot.

Geoffrey couldn't believe his eyes. What happened? Did Mecha Sonic somehow escape? Impossible! The dart's effects shouldn't have worn off already! Geoffrey ran over to the plane's blazing wreckage and observed it as close as he could. There was no sign of Mecha Sonic anywhere. Geoffrey began to panic. Where was he? Where was Mecha Sonic? He soon found the answer to his question as his eyes caught sight of Mecha Sonic flying away. Mecha Sonic had woken up from the dart's effects earlier then expected since Geoffrey's darts don't effect robots as well as Mobians and due to his strength, Mecha Sonic had broken free from his restraints and blasted the plane to slag before making a clean getaway. Geoffrey stomped the tarmac in temper.

"Damn it! That blighter got away!" he cursed "And now he's going to cause more chaos elsewhere!"

His ears drooped down in sorrow.

"I can't believe it, I failed my mission and now Mecha Sonic's going to destroy us all." he moaned "I hope there's someone else out there who can help us."

Little did the skunk know, there was someone out there who might be able to help out…

And that someone was Knuckles the Echidna. Angel Island had gotten Nicole's message and prepared for Mecha Sonic's arrival. Knuckles stayed with the Master Emerald so he could keep Mecha Sonic away from it. He wasn't at all pleased to hear Sonic had been roboticized but he was looking forward to fighting him. He had looked forward to challenging Sonic and seeing who would win in a fight between him and Sonic. Knuckles had been waiting for Mecha Sonic's arrival but several hours had passed and the robot hadn't shown up. Maybe Mecha Sonic had been dealt with? Or maybe Mecha Sonic was just taking his time with his arrival? Regardless, Knuckles remained vigilant as the deadly machine could show up at any moment. At one point, Knuckles nearly decided to call it off and assume Mecha Sonic wasn't going to show up but he remembered he should never assume so he remained in his position. Then he heard a faint noise in the distance. Knuckles looked to the left and saw where the noise was coming from. A tiny blue dot was coming towards him with the sound of roaring jet fumes following it. The tiny dot was Mecha Sonic coming towards Angel Island at top speed. Knuckles clenched his fists and punched them together with a smirk on his face.

"Finally, I was beginning to think he wasn't going to show up!" said Knuckles happily "Now he's here, it's time to bring him to the scrap yard!"

Mecha Sonic continued hurtling towards the island. His sharp red optics caught sight of the Master Emerald. His priority was to get a power up from it and that's what he was going to do. It didn't take long for Knuckles to work out that Mecha Sonic was heading towards the Master Emerald. Knuckles leapt on it and got ready to land a powerful punch to Mecha Sonic's metallic face. Unfortunately, Mecha Sonic noticed Knuckles on top of the Master Emerald and halted. He deployed his blasters and shot Knuckles directly off the emerald. Knuckles fell down the stair case and landed in a heap on the ground. Mecha Sonic landed on the Master Emerald and was about to get his little power boost until Knuckles recovered and punched him off.

"Keep away from the Master Emerald creep!" he bellowed.

Mecha Sonic glared at Knuckles. He tried to blast him again but Knuckles jumped out of the way and punched Mecha Sonic in the face again. Mecha Sonic retaliated with a kick to the gut. Then the two fighters linked hands and pushed on one another. They were both as strong as each other so they pushed each other away, their feet scrapping the soil and grass as they slid backwards. Mecha Sonic gave Knuckles a death stare.

"You-can-not-stop-me-Knuckles." gloated Mecha Sonic "Bunnie-Rab-bot could-not-stop-me-so-what-makes-you-think-you-can?"

"I'm as tough as nails!" boasted Knuckles "And I have fists of steel! So back down and I won't have to hurt you Sonic!"

"That-is-not-my-name." snarled Mecha Sonic "My-name-is-Mecha-Sonic!"

"No it isn't, your name is Sonic!" argued Knuckles "Come on buddy, I know it's you deep down! Fight Eggman's control! Get control over yourself! You know you don't wanna do this! You are Sonic the Hedgehog! You fight Dr. Eggman, not serve him!"

Mecha Sonic, angered at Knuckles' pitiful speech, just promptly attacked him with a flying punch. Poor Knuckles didn't know what hit him. Knuckles hurtled through the air and fell over the side of Angel Island. Before he could fall any further he punched the side of the island. That punch had submerged his fist into the rock. Knuckles could climb up rock by digging his fists into the rock and heaving himself up. Knuckles climbed up as fast as he can but when he got back onto the island a terrible sight met his eyes. Mecha Sonic was on top of the Master Emerald! And even worse green energy was circling around Mecha Sonic like dancing fireflies. He was absorbing the emerald's power! Knuckles leapt back onto the island and ran as fast as he could to stop Mecha Sonic absorbing anymore power but the boosted robot saw him and blasted him away. The only difference was his lasers were much stronger then before, the blast sent Knuckles flying ten feet away from Mecha Sonic. Knuckles got back to his feet and got ready for another attack. But something he saw shocked him so much his dreadlocks quivered. Mecha Sonic was mostly the same as before only he was now coloured gold instead of blue and his metallic quills pointed upwards.

"No…" stammered Knuckles "Not a…"

The golden Mecha Sonic glared at Knuckles. He had a murderous and slightly crazed look in his eyes.

"You-could-hard-ly-man-age-Mecha-Sonic." he droned "Now-let's-see-you-deal-with-SUPER-MECHA-SONIC!"

And with that he thrust his arms forward and sent a tremendous wave of energy hurtling towards Knuckles…

Footnotes:

 See Stories 3-9 for all the adventures

* See Stories 10 & 11

 See the previous story for the titanic contest between Bunnie and Mecha Sonic

 Tails found the computer room in Story 11

* Geoffrey St. John was requested to go to Downunda in story 3 remember?

Mecha Sonic was bad enough but S uper Mecha Sonic? How are our heroes even capable of fighting such a powerful robot? See the titanic conclusion to the Mecha Sonic saga next time!

Mecha Sonic's Last Strike

Story 14: Mecha Sonic's Last Strike

Things hadn't been going any better for poor Tails, Bunnie and Thomas. They were still caught in Egg Squid's giant tentacles and being squeezed so hard their breath was escaping their bodies. They were about to suffocate too since Dr. Eggman tightened the squeeze harder and harder.

"Eggman…please…let…us…go…" choked Tails helplessly.

"What? And let you de-roboticize Sonic?" sneered Eggman "Not a chance!"

"Yeah! Not a chance!" added Alonzo.

Eggman glared at his assistant. If he wasn't wearing his glasses you could probably see a cold death stare in his eyes.

"Alonzo, have I told you not to imitate me before?" snarled Eggman.

"Um…yes you have sir." said Alonzo "My apologies."

"Accepted." said Dr. Eggman "Now where was I? Ah yes, squeezing the life out of my victims!"

Egg Squid's squeeze had reached it's maximum. It couldn't squeeze any tighter but it was already squeezing hard enough to kill someone so it didn't need to. Just as it looked like Tails, Bunnie and Thomas were done for; two small bombs appeared out of nowhere and attached themselves onto Egg-Squid's tentacle. Then in a matter of seconds the bombs went off, blowing the tentacle clean off. Dr. Eggman was so shocked I swear to god his moustache almost fell off! Alonzo looked like he wanted to grow a moustache just so he it could fall off in shock. Tails, Bunnie and Thomas landed on the ground, gasping for air. They felt so relieved to be free from that robot's grasp.

"Who saved us?" asked Bunnie.

"We did." said a voice that sounded familiar to her.

It was Wilson and Mandy! The two had made it in the nick of time to use the bombs they had on their belts to free the trio from Egg-Squid's tentacles. Tails, who had hardly met them, was strangely pleased to see them too.

"Gosh we owe you big time!" he gasped "We're about to suffocate until you arrived."

"That's the thing with heroes." said Wilson "We seem to be masterful at good timing."

"Now you three, get outta here, we'll hold Egg-Face off!" ordered Mandy, pulling another bomb off her belt pouch, ready to throw.

"No, I'll go." said Tails "Bunnie and Thomas can give you extra support."

"Well if that's the case, where are you going then?" asked Wilson.

"I'm taking Eggman's portable roboticizer to Castle Acorn as I have a sneaky suspicion that's where Mecha Sonic will likely be or heading to if he isn't already there." explained Tails "And I've set this thing in reverse so I'll be able to turn Sonic back to normal."

"That's incredible!" cried Mandy "Well you'd better get going before Eggman catches you!"

Tails did not wait to be asked twice. He ran off as fast as his little legs would carry him. Dr. Eggman saw this and tried to catch Tails with another one of Egg-Squid's tentacles but Bunnie deployed her arm cannon and blasted the tentacle to smithereens. While the fight was going on, Tails grabbed Port by the handles and dragged him off. He hoped he remembered where Castle Acorn was. Eggman saw him getting away and tried to go after him but Bunnie grabbed on of Egg-Squid's tentacles and pulled him back. She sent the squid falling on its back so Eggman was no looking up at the sky.

"You ain't getting Tails and you ain't stopping him from saving Sonic!" yelled Bunnie "So give it up fatty!"

"I never give up!" declared Dr. Eggman "And you ain't seen all of Egg-Squid's power yet!"

The huge squid-like robot got back upright and then began to make a loud hissing noise. Then, the two empty sockets where the tentacles had been before they were blown off, began to puff out puffs of steam. Then a brand new tentacle shot out from the socket! The fighters couldn't believe their eyes.

"Holly leaping fish!" yelped Wilson "That thing can grow new tentacles?"

"This only makes our fight harder young chap." said Thomas wearily.

"It doesn't matter how many tentacles that thing has, we'll stop it no matter what!" declared Bunnie Rabbot.

"We'll see about that." chortled Eggman.

Then suddenly Egg-Squid's new tentacles shot forward faster then a flying arrow. The fighter leapt out of the way just as the tentacles struck the ground. They pulled themselves out of the ground. The impacts had left holes in the soil and grass. Then Egg-Squid swiped at them with its tentacles. The tips were very sharp and if the fighters were unfortunate enough to get hit, they would be sliced in half. Egg-Squid almost hit Mandy but the mouse ducked in the nick of time whereas Bunnie jumped out of the way. Then she extended her arm and grabbed the tentacle before it could hit Thomas. She pulled it until the tentacle was completely straight. Mandy threw the bomb she had taken off her belt at the tentacle. The bomb blew it clean off in one swift explosion. Then Bunnie proceeded to whack Egg-Squid with the tentacle like a giant whip. The robot tumbled backwards and fell over again. The whack had left a small scar over one of Egg-Squid's eyes. Dr. Eggman began to get furious. The robot up righted itself again and just like before, it grew a new tentacle to replace the one Mandy had blown off.

"If you fools think you're going to beat me, think again!" bellowed Dr.

Eggman "I've got plenty of tricks up my sleeves!"

"We'll beat you no matter what!" snapped Bunnie "And we'll save Sonic from you!"

"Ho, ho, ho!" cackled Dr. Eggman "Well wait till you see what else this thing can do!"

"Is it time for the secret weapon?" asked Alonzo.

"It is time for the secret weapon." said Eggman "Get ready for it!"

He pulled a lever on the control pad. The Egg-Squid began to hover up into the air slowly but steadily. The Mobians watched in confusion.

"What's that rascal up to now?" asked Wilson.

"Something old friend." said Mandy "That's all I'm aware off."

Then suddenly Egg-Squid stopped hover and then began to slowly spin it's tentacles around. Second by second, minute by minute, the tentacles began to pick up speed. The tentacles were spinning around so fast Egg Squid looked like it had a giant saw blade underneath its enormous head. Then it hurtled itself forward. The fighters ran for their lives but Egg-Squid was locked onto them like a homing missile so no matter where they ran, Egg-Squid followed them, chopping down anything it ran into. If it kept up the chase then the unfortunate Mobians would like by sliced to ribbons…

Meanwhile, things were not going well on Angel Island at all. Super Mecha Sonic was giving Knuckles a heavy pounding due to his super enhanced strength. In fact not only was Mecha Sonic stronger and super form, he was also a lot faster. Every time he pounded Knuckles into the dirt, Knuckles would get back up and try to punch him but the super powered mech was out of the way faster then you could blink. Knuckles tried once again but Super Mecha Sonic jumped out of the way and elbowed him in the back, sending Knuckles falling down once again. Knuckles tried to uppercut Super Mecha Sonic but the golden mech caught his arm before he could hit home and picked Knuckles up by his arm. Then Super Mecha Sonic spun the echidna around at such a fast speed he looked like a big red blur. Then Super Mecha Sonic let go and sent the echidna flying through the air. Knuckles went straight up for at least twenty feet and then he came hurtling down faster then a hurtling arrow. Knuckles hit the ground face-first so hard he made a hole the size of his own head in it. Super Mecha Sonic glared at Knuckles with his crazed optics.

"You-should-su-rren-der." he droned cockily "You-could-not-beat-Mecha-Sonic-so-you-can-not-beat-Super-Mecha-Sonic."

Knuckles pulled himself out of the earth and shook all the dirt off himself. He looked at Super Mecha Sonic.

"Sonic, I know you can hear me in there." he managed to splutter "Try and fight Eggman's control over you! I know you can do it!"

Super Mecha Sonic wasn't having any of it. When Eggman roboticized him everything, including his free will had been vaporized. There was no way Sonic could fight Eggman's control over him unless he was de-roboticized. Knuckles soon realized that trying to snap him out of it was totally useless so he had no choice but to continue fighting. He hurtled at Super Mecha Sonic and landed a great big punch smack in the robot's face. That punch actually sent Super Mecha Sonic flying backwards and crashing into the staircase which had the Master Emerald at the top of them. The impact seemed to have done more damage to the stairs then Super Mecha Sonic. The robotic hedgehog growled a strange mechanical growl and pulled himself onto his feet. He deployed his blasters and fired at Knuckles. Knuckles leaped out of the way but before he could land back down Super Mecha Sonic zoomed up at him and punched Knuckles so hard the echidna flew backwards for twenty feet. Knuckles came to a halt after hitting a tree. Before Knuckles could recover from that blow, Super Mecha Sonic zoomed towards him and hit him with a flying kick. Knuckles got very mad and decided to try something else. And he had the perfect move.

"Hey mech head!" roared Knuckles "Wanna know what earth and rock tastes like?"

Super Mecha Sonic glared at him but said nothing.

"Well you're just about to find out!" yelled Knuckles.

He jumped a good distance into the air. Super Mecha Sonic just stood and watched as he knew no matter what Knuckles did, it wouldn't hurt him. Knuckles then plummeted down with his fists forward. Then he hit the ground with extreme force. That incredible pound was so powerful it literally sent bits of earth and rock flying up and hurtling towards Super Mecha Sonic. The mech just stood there and let himself get showered by rocks and earth. Then Knuckles finished off his move with two uppercuts to the face. The uppercuts were so strong Super Mecha Sonic was knocked off his feet. Super Mecha Sonic wasn't too badly affected by the move but it did leave a good few dents on his armour.

"How did that feel?" smirked Knuckles.

Super Mecha Sonic didn't answer; he just got back to his feet and blasted Knuckles away with his blasters. Then to finish him off, he let fly his electrical attack. Due to being super powered, it was even more painful then before and poor Knuckles was getting shocked and zapped to the brink of death. But Super Mecha Sonic decided he'd had enough of pummelling Knuckles and stopped shocking him. Knuckles only just had enough strength to live. Super Mecha Sonic turned his back on Knuckles and flew away from Angel Island. He decided to go back to his first priority which was destroy all cities on Mobius. Downunda didn't have a city so he left Downunda and headed for the nearest city to Downunda…Mobotropolis.

The fight between the Mobians and Egg-Squid wasn't going any better. Egg-Squid continued to spin his tentacles around and charge at the Mobians, narrowly missing them every time. He had caused a considerable amount of damage to the surrounding forests due to the fact Egg-Squid kept diving into the trees when trying to hit the Mobians. All this running away from Egg-Squid was beginning to tire the Mobians out. If they collapsed due to exhaustion then they would be done for surely. Thomas decided they needed a plan so he gathered everyone around.

"This is getting us nowhere lads and lasses." said Thomas "We need a plan."

"What can we do against that terrifying machine of death?" yelped Wilson "If we bomb it's tentacles off it just grows another one!"

"Maybe we shouldn't focus on destroying the tentacles." suggested Mandy "Maybe we should destroy the head or something."

"Yeah, the head is where Dr. Eggman is housed in so if we can get him out of that machine then it won't be able to do anything with no one at the controls." said Bunnie.

"OK then, we will attack the head." said Thomas "Bunnie will have to do it because if we try we might get sliced up by its spinning tentacles but since Bunnie can fly she'll be less likely to get hit."

"Let's try it out sugah." said Bunnie, deploying her arm cannon.

"Me and Mandy will get Eggman's attention while you creep up on him." said Wilson, taking a bomb off his pouch.

Bunnie nodded and flew away. Wilson and Mandy threw their bombs at Egg-Squid to distract Eggman. The bombs hit its spinning tentacles. They went off with such a bang after Egg-Squid began slicing them up. The blow sent the robot spiralling around and around out of control. Poor Dr. Eggman was getting dizzy after all this spinning around. Then Egg-Squid landed head first into the ground, impaling itself in there due to its pointed top. Eggman began to grumble and mumble under his breath.

"Why are Mobians such a nuisance?" he said more to himself then anybody.

"I dunno." said Alonzo "Maybe it's natural for villains to find the heroes annoying."

"Oh shut up you idiot!" spat Eggman.

He pulled the levers and that started Egg-Squid's tentacles spinning around. The spinning tentacles slowly pulled the machine out of the ground. The moment Egg-Squid pulled himself out of the ground, Bunnie Rabbot charged at him like a flying javelin. Then she began to repeatedly blast Egg-Squid's pointed head. The attacks caught Eggman by surprise. Eggman instantly retaliated by firing Egg-Squid's laser eyes. Bunnie ducked but she got the top of her head singed by the cannon blasts.

"Yeesh Eggman, take my hair off why not!" snapped Bunnie, feeling the blackened, burnt part of her hair.

"I'll take more then just your hair off you irritating Rabbot!" snickered Eggman "I might take your entire head off!"

He fired again. Bunnie was more alert this time and managed to avoid getting zapped or singed. Then Bunnie charged at the centre of Egg-Squid's head and landed an amazingly powerful punch right in between its eyes. That impact clearly shook Eggman. Before Eggman could regain his senses, Bunnie ripped a panel in between Egg-Squid's eyes off with her mechanical arm. Eggman instantly began to jibber like an idiot.

"Please, don't hurt me!" he whimpered "Leave me alone!"

"Ah won't hurt you but ah am going to yank you out of there!" yelled Bunnie.

Then suddenly she was hit in her side by a sudden bolt of electricity. Alonzo had pulled a taser out of his side compartment and fired it on the poor Rabbot. Bunnie instantly fell unconscious and fell forward, on top of Dr. Eggman. Eggman shoved Bunnie off himself.

"Since when did you have a taser Alonzo?" Eggman said, rather flabbergasted.

"Since I decided to equip myself with one." said Alonzo with pride on his face "Robotic minions need to defend themselves from danger you know."

"Well that was a very good trick Alonzo." said Eggman "Maybe you're not so useless after all."

Alonzo smiled. It was nice being appreciated instead of criticized for once.

"Once I defeat these morons I'm going to take Bunnie away to be fully roboticized!" declared Dr. Eggman "Just imagine how powerful I'm going to be with Sonic and Bunnie on my side!"

"I can almost imagine how powerful you'll be if you had Tails and Knuckles on your side too." said Alonzo.

"Now that you mention it, maybe I should try to roboticize Knuckles next." thought Eggman "He is a toughie after all isn't he…?"

Then suddenly a loud bang was heard from behind and Egg Squid began to violently rock about side to side. Wilson and Mandy were bombing it again. They had noticed Bunnie was in a bit of a scrape so they decided to help out. Egg-Squid turned around and fired its laser eyes at them. Mandy got her tail singed and Wilson only just managed to avoid getting hit. Thomas whipped out his pistol and shot at Egg-Squid's eyes. He managed to blast one eye to pieces but Egg-Squid's remaining eye fired at him, causing the tiger to leap out of the way to avoid getting singed.

"This is getting out of control!" cried Mandy "We're so doomed right now!"

"I wish Sonic was here to help us." muttered Wilson "We'd be caning him by now."

The suddenly Wilson saw a golden twinkle in the corner of his eye. He looked up and saw none other then Super Mecha Sonic hurtling over Green Hill Zone at the speed of a rocket. Eggman peered out of the gaping hole in Egg-Squid's head to see what it was. What he saw made his moustache straighten.

"Well grind my gears!" he cried "That Master Emerald's given Mecha Sonic quite a boost eh?"

"He's changed colour too master, he's now a brilliant gold instead of blue." noted Alonzo.

"I wonder why that happened." wondered Eggman.

Still, he couldn't help but wonder what carnage Super Mecha Sonic was going to cause…

Tails had finally made it to Castle Acorn with Port by his side. The tired fox cub fell forward on his knees due to how exhausted he was. Now all he had to do was wait for Mecha Sonic to attack. He knew Mecha Sonic would likely target a place as important as Castle Acorn so he was certain he would be there in a moment or two. And the moment he arrived, Tails would activate Port and Sonic would be back to normal. Tails just hoped he remembered how to fire Port's cannons. Then suddenly Tails' ever so keen ears picked up the sound of jet fumes. He looked up at the sky and saw Super Mecha Sonic coming towards Castle Acorn at the speed of a rocket. Tails' ears drooped back in fear. He had noticed Mecha Sonic's changes for he was now gold and his quills pointed up.

"How did that happen then?" he asked himself "I don't remember Mecha Sonic being gold before."

Super Mecha Sonic saw Tails down below and blasted at him. Tails leaped out of the way before he could get hit by the blasts. The force of the blast sent Port spiralling away. Super Mecha Sonic then charged directly into Castle Acorn's huge doors, knocking them down effortlessly. Tails knew that Super Mecha Sonic was going to try and attack the Acorn Family as well as bring the castle crumbling down on their heads so he picked himself up and dragged Port with him as he ran into the Castle. Super Mecha Sonic didn't do much of anything except blow things up with his blasters. Then he started scanning the building for life forms. He detected four in the cellar. These four, of course were Sally, her parents and Nicole. Super Mecha Sonic blasted the cellar door down, startling the Acorn family and Nicole. Then the super powered robot hovered slowly into the cellar with a murderous and crazed expression in his red optics. Sally and Nicole hugged each other fearfully, Queen Alicia hugged them both but King Max stood his ground, even though he knew he couldn't take down Mecha Sonic.

"Stand down Sonic or you'll get it!" threatened Max.

Super Mecha Sonic just knocked the old man aside. He advanced on the cornered Alicia, Sally and Nicole menacingly, the three of them shivering as he neared.

"You-are-enemies-of-Dr.-Egg-man." droned Super Mecha Sonic "But-if-you-surren-der-I-will-spare-your-lives-and-may-be-Egg-man-will-be-merci-ful."

"If we surrender you'll take us to Eggman so we can be roboticized no doubt." said Sally.

"A-ffir-ma-tive." said Super Mecha Sonic "And-I'll-take-this-king-dom-for-my-self."

"We will never let you have this kingdom!" yelled Queen Alicia.

"Then-you-will-be-ex-ter-min-ated!" snarled Super Mecha Sonic, aiming his blasters at the three cornered Mobians.

Then suddenly he was hit in the back by a yellow blast that made him wail. Tails had found the cellar and fired Port's cannons at him. Now Super Mecha Sonic was beginning to change back to organic form. Mecha Sonic's metallic body was beginning to turn back into the familiar form of Sonic the Hedgehog. But for some reason his body was still gold and his quills were still pointing up. That's because Mecha Sonic was super powered when he was de-roboticized so now he's been de-roboticized he's now just Super Sonic, not Super Mecha Sonic. If Mecha Sonic was still Mecha Sonic he would just be turned back into Sonic. After the de-roboticization process was complete, Super Sonic fell on his hands and knees. Tails, while pleased it worked, was wondering why Sonic was gold instead of blue.

"Why is Sonic still gold?" asked Tails "Did something go wrong?"

"No Tails, the de-roboticization worked." said Sally "It's just when he was still Mecha Sonic he was super powered and now you've de-roboticized him, he's still super powered, just not Mecha anymore."

"How did Sonic become super powered anyway?" asked Tails.

"I dunno." said Sally "He must have had contact with a powerful energy source like that Master Emerald on Angel Island. Things like that have happened before."

"I see." said Tails, walking up to Super Sonic and kneeling beside him.

"Sonic? Are you alright?" asked Tails.

Then suddenly Super Sonic leapt to his feet. His red eyes were screaming with rage and he was gritting his teeth so hard I swear they could have cracked!

"Where is he? Where's that Eggman?" snarled Super Sonic.

"He's in Green Hill Zone." explained Tails.

"Thanks Tails." said Super Sonic "Now, I'm gonna kill that Eggman! He's gonna pay for roboticizing me and making me hurt innocents and smash everything to pieces!"

He rocketed off through the cellar door and out of the castle at blinding speed. Tails followed desperately after him. He had to stop Super Sonic's blind rage before it corrupted him and changed him into something dark and dangerous.

The fight with Dr. Eggman had gone disastrous. Wilson and Mandy had run out of bombs and Thomas' pistol had been destroyed. Now they were all caught by Egg-Squid's deadly tentacles and about to be squeezed to death. Dr. Eggman was really happy with his victory. He had Bunnie Rabbot, unconscious and cuffed up beside him and now he had three Royal Fighters in his deadly grasp. This was one of his greatest victories since he roboticized Sonic.

"How about that Alonzo?" said Eggman "I've had luck on my side since I roboticized Sonic. I have Bunnie captured and three morons ready to be squeezed to death! Isn't life grand?"

"Oh most certainly master." said Alonzo, beaming "Most certainly."

Then suddenly a golden bolt blasted its way through Egg-Squid's lower section, blowing it to smithereens leaving only its head remaining. The tentacles all fell to the ground. Wilson, Mandy and Thomas all gasped with relief now they were free. Dr. Eggman almost went wild with rage until the golden bolt attacked again. This time, it charged through the head and snatched Bunnie Rabbot away from Eggman. This golden bolt was Super Sonic of course. Super Sonic lowered the still unconscious Bunnie on the ground and snapped her cuffs. Then Super Sonic rocketed at Eggman and hit him so hard he went right through the back of Egg-Squid's head. Dr. Eggman began to fall down but Super Sonic caught him the scruff of his shirt. Alonzo, knowing that this was a dangerous place for him, flew away in the remains of Egg-Squid's head. Dr. Eggman had never been afraid of anything much before but for the first time in his life he was downright terrified. He knew Sonic was dangerous to him, but now Sonic looked more dangerous then ever before.

"Um…hi Sonic?" squeaked Eggman.

"How dare you roboticize me!" yelled Super Sonic "Do you realize how much harm I could have caused to the innocents on this planet? You are so dead Eggman! You are so, SO dead!"

"No Sonic!" yelped Eggman "Please have mercy!"

"Why should I? You never did!" snarled Super Sonic "Your evil ends here!"

He drew his arm backwards, ready to land a powerful blow on Dr. Eggman. Eggman covered his eyes in fear.

"Sonic stop!" cried a voice he knew too well.

Super Sonic looked down to see Tails on the ground looking up at him.

"Tails, Eggman turned me into a weapon of death!" yelled Super Sonic "I'm going to give him what he deserves! He's too dangerous to live!"

"But Sonic, if you kill Eggman that makes you no better then he is!" cried Tails "And if you go too far your anger might corrupt you and change you forever! You're better then that Sonic! I know you are!"

Super Sonic really wanted to finish Eggman off but he knew Tails was right. Killing Eggman would make him no better then Eggman. And he never really fantasised killing anyway. Super Sonic pulled Eggman close to his face.

"You were lucky this time Eggman!" he growled "But I might not be so merciful next time!"

He lowered Eggman to the ground and pushed him over.

"I will put an end to your reign of terror Egg-Face!" warned Super Sonic "And that's a promise!"

Then he lowered himself down to the ground and powered down. His golden fur was now back to his normal cobalt blue colour and his eyes were back to their natural green colour. He gave Tails a friendly smile and put a hand on his shoulder.

"Thanks Tails." said Sonic "I clearly don't know when I'm going too far."

"You're welcome Sonic." said Tails "I'm just so glad you're not a robot anymore!"

And with that he threw his arms around Sonic and hugged him happily. Sonic hugged him back. Wilson, Mandy and Thomas cheered with glee to see Sonic back to normal. Bunnie Rabbot had become conscious and squealed with joy to see Sonic back to normal. Dr. Eggman saw his chance to get away while everybody was cheering over Sonic's return to organic form. He ran as fast as his legs could carry him. Bunnie spotted him and tried to fly after him until Sonic stopped her.

"Let him go Bunnie." said Sonic "He's not worth it. We'll get him next time though."

"But…he…Okay sugah hog." said Bunnie.

"Did I do much damage while I was Mecha Sonic?" asked Sonic.

"Well apart from beating Bunnie to a pulp* and damaging Castle Acorn you haven't done much else." explained Tails "By the way, how did you super power like that?"

"When I was still Mecha Sonic, I absorbed power from the Master Emerald and it gave me super power." explained Sonic "That explains the golden fur job."

"How do you remember all this even though you've been de-roboticized?" asked Tails. "I thought de-roboticized Mobians have no memory of what happened when they were robots."

"I'm not fully sure I can answer that." said Sonic "But when I was Mecha Sonic, I had memories of places I'd been too and I still remembered everybody's names and that. Maybe no one loses their memories when they've been de-roboticized or whatever."

"Well the only thing that matters is you're back to normal Sonic." said Thomas "Now you won't harm an innocent person ever again."

"I hope not." said Sonic "I just hope Knuckles forgives me for grounding him into the dirt earlier."

"I'm sure he understands." said Tails "And I'm sure he'll forgive you for misusing the Master Emerald."

"Yeah." agreed Sonic "Now let's put this messy business behind us and let's focus on our next move on Dr. Eggman and his tyrannical army."

"Oh yeah!" everybody yelled in unison, they all punched the air.

Sonic couldn't wait to get back at Eggman for roboticizing him and turning him into his evil robotic minion.

Meanwhile, Dr. Eggman and Alonzo arrived back at their base. Eggman was so angry over his failure and the loss of his greatest weapon he whacked everything with a giant spanner and smashed a great deal of things.

"I CAN'T BELIEVE I LOST MY GREATEST WEAPON EVER!" he roared at the top of his voice as he smashed a huge dent into a desk and smashed some test tubes "SUPER MECHA SONIC WOULD HAVE WIPED EVERYTHING OUT AND CROWNED ME RULER OF MOBIUS!"

"Well it's your own fault for letting Tails get away sir." noted Alonzo "If you didn't let Tails get away with Port, this wouldn't have happened."

Dr. Eggman was too busy smashing things in blind rage to hear Alonzo's critiques. Then Dr. Eggman suddenly calmed down and threw the spanner to the side.

"I also can't believe Sonic even threatened to kill me!" he shrieked "For the first time in my evil life I was…I was…terrified! That Super Sonic is going to give me nightmares for the rest of my life!"

"So sir, now we've lost Mecha Sonic." said Alonzo "What's your next nefarious move?"

"I'm going to build a new Mecha Sonic." replied Eggman.

"A new one?" cried Alonzo "How is that possible?"

"When Mecha Sonic was being repaired for the damages done to him by Bunnie Rabbot." explained Eggman "I downloaded all his data and now I'm going to upload it into my next machine. Even though it'll take me a while to finish him, it'll be worth it, for soon everyone will tremble by the name of…METAL SONIC!"

And with that a light turned on, revealing a shiny sleek blue under construction robot with three spikes on its head, a black visor with red glowing eyes, a pointed nose, sharp claws and red feet. Dr. Eggman exploded into laughter at the sight of his new machine. Who on Mobius knew, what this brand new machine was going to do once it was unleashed into the world…

Footnotes:

 See Story 13 for Bunnie vs. Mecha Sonic

* Still talking about Story 13

Metal Sonic? This doesn't sound good! Tune in next time as we get to meet the one and only...Amy Rose! :) Reviews are welcome as always.

Sonic's Fan Girl

Story 15: Sonic's Fan Girl

Even though cities were the main targets of Dr. Eggman's nefarious army of robots and Robians (Roboticized Mobian) there would be a case of attacking the occasional village if they ever came across one. Densely populated or not, villages still had a fair amount of people living in them and every last life form mattered for Eggman needed Mobians if he was going to have an army of Robians to back up his own army of robots. Eggman had recovered from the fright he received from Super Sonic during the Mecha Sonic agenda* and now he ordered his army of robots to attack a village known as Knothole. Knothole was one of Sonic's favourite places to visit as it was a rather nice quiet place to chill out and the residents were too friendly for words. The moment he had heard about Knothole being under attack, Sonic was off faster then you could say "Well blow me down and pull me back up again!" He consulted to the Council of Acorn about it and he was willingly granted permission to help out. He needed back up though and the only available Royal Fighters for him were Wilson and Mandy since Bunnie Rabbot was still helping out in Megapolis and Geoffrey St. John was still helping out in Downunda. Tails wanted to come but Sonic felt like it might be better for him to stay home and continue working on something he had been building for the past few days. Right now, Sonic, Wilson and Mandy arrived at Knothole and hid behind a rock. It certainly didn't look like a nice place with all of Eggman's robots everywhere, shooting buildings down and kidnapping the villagers. This sight made Sonic quiver with anger.

"How could Eggman do this?" gasped Mandy "It's only a peaceful little village!"

"That's Egg-Face for you Mandy." muttered Sonic "He'll attack anything."

"I wouldn't be surprised if he decided to victimize a bloomin' anthill." mumbled Wilson.

"Well let's not stand here with our lips flappin' let's save everyone!" cried Sonic, ready to leap over the rock and run off.

"Hold it blue boy!" yelled Mandy, grabbing him by the quills and holding him back "Let's do this more stealthily shall we and we might not get our heads blown off?"

Sonic wasn't very keen on the stealth approach but he knew that Mandy was right.

"OK, we'll see where those jokers are taking the villagers and then we attack." Sonic decided "Is that a good plan?"

"Sounds good to me Sonic boy." said Wilson "Me and Mandy got ourselves a new supply of smoke bombs so we could just throw them at the Eggman robots and before the smoke clears, save everybody."

"That's way past cool Wilson." said Sonic, winking "I'm so glad I've got you two here."

Wilson and Mandy just gave him modest smiles.

"Just doing our bit for the kingdom and the planet." said Wilson.

"OK let's get a move on before we lose those walking trash cans." said Sonic, taking note of the robots marching away with citizens in tow.

The robots had the captured villagers by a chain around their necks and they marched off with the villagers reluctantly having to walk with them or risk getting choked by the chain. The trio decided to follow the robots at the back of the line so they weren't likely to see them as they were focused on what was in front and the only thing they were concerned about being behind them were the villagers following them.

A little while later the robots had taken the villagers to the designated place and halted. Sonic, Wilson and Mandy had taken cover behind a bush before the robots halted and they watched what was happening. After the robots halted, Dr. Eggman and Alonzo appeared on the scene with a brand new portable roboticizer with them. This portable roboticizer was the same as the one Tails used to de-roboticize Sonic only a little larger with more cannons and coloured claret red instead of dull grey. Sonic eyed the machine with deep suspicion.

"Is Egg-Brains gonna use that thing to roboticize those poor people?" asked Sonic.

"Likely." said Mandy "We have to take it down and fast."

Sonic nodded and was about to leap into action until something caught his eye. He stared at one of the captured villagers. It was a female hedgehog at about the age of fourteen with pink fur, jade eyes and she wore a backless red dress with a white trim at the bottom and red high heel boots with a white stripe on them. The hedgehog also wore white gloves with golden cuffs around her wrists and a red head band just behind her ears. Seeing this girl made Sonic gasp.

"What's up Sonic? Is there someone you know out there?" asked Mandy.

"That pink hedgehog they've captured is my biggest fan and pen pal Amy Rose." explained Sonic, pointing at the pink hedgehog "I'm not letting her get roboticized!"

"OK then, the moment Eggman tells that thing to roboticize everybody we throw the smoke bombs and tell the citizens to run for their lives." said Wilson.

"Good plan." agreed Sonic "And we'll also take out the machine Eggman has."

Wilson and Mandy took two smoke bombs from their belts and held them tightly. They waited for just the right moment to throw. As for Eggman, he was making one of his usual stupid, pointless announcements at the captured villagers.

"Now I have you lovely bunch, I'm going to turn you all into robots and you will all join my glorious robotic empire!" he crowed "And you will enjoy every moment of it!"

"You can't do this to us you walking beach ball!" snapped Amy, struggling in the grasp of one of the robots "Let us go!"

"I will once you've all been roboticized!" sniggered Eggman "Alonzo, activate Port II now!"

"Oh yes sir." said Alonzo, saluting.

He trundled over to Port II and turned it on. He aimed at the Knothole Villagers and was about to fire Port's cannons until four bombs appeared from nowhere and struck the ground like hail. The bombs split apart and smoke billowed out of the shattered shells, clouding everybody's vision. Wilson and Mandy had thrown the bombs just as Alonzo turned Port II on and now the smoke was distracting Dr. Eggman and Alonzo, Sonic ran up to the villagers and broke their restraints with a spin-dash.

"Run before the smoke clears!" he ordered "Run if you want to avoid being roboticized!"

The villagers, surprised at the arrival of Sonic, did not wait to be asked twice. They ran for it as fast as they could. Wilson and Mandy led the way to make sure they wouldn't get hurt. Unfortunately Amy wasn't so lucky. One of Eggman's robots spotted her and seized her by the arm and pulled her back. Amy squirmed in it's grasp but the robot was too tough for her. Sonic noticed this and with one swift homing attack to the head, sent the robot falling forward flat on its face. Amy was relieved to be saved but she didn't quite see who it was. Then suddenly something picked her up in bridal style. Amy looked to her left side to see who it was and to her absolute joy, it was her hero, Sonic the Hedgehog.

"Hi Ames." he said "So nice to meet you in person."

"Oh Sonic!" squealed Amy, wrapping her arms around the hedgehog "I knew you'd rescue us from that mean old Eggman!"

Sonic admired Amy's supportiveness of him. She was his biggest fan after all.

"Hold on tight Amy, I'm going to go super fast!" announced Sonic.

Amy held on tight. Just as the smoke finally cleared, Sonic rocketed off at such a fast speed he actually caused a sonic boom! The boom made Eggman grip his ears to block the extremely loud noise out but all the robots, including Alonzo shattered to tiny metal pieces from the intense volume of the noise. This heist just made Dr. Eggman jump up and down in rage.

"WHY MUST THAT STUPID PINCUSHION RUIN EVERYTHING?" he bellowed.

"Um, because that's what heroes do to the villain." snorted Alonzo as he put himself back together (Don't ask me how he does it, I just don't know.) "Traditionally, the hero makes things harder for the villain you doofus."

Eggman just bopped him on the head so hard the butler bot fell apart again. Alonzo sighed with annoyance.

"Oh shut up you unsupportive pinhead!" he growled "Oh I wish Project: Metal Sonic would hurry up and finish so I can unleash it on Sonic and his idiot friends!"

"Well master if you remember correctly (Fat chance of that) Project: Metal Sonic will be completed by next month." explained Alonzo as he put himself back together once again. "Which according to my built in calendar: is only three weeks away."

"I hope I can wait that long." said Eggman "My patience can only hold for so long."

"Your patience couldn't last five minutes." whispered Alonzo.

Unfortunately, Dr. Eggman heard him.

"Stop criticizing me and get Port back to base!" he roared "I'll attack Knothole later when Sonic's not around."

Alonzo grumbled as he towed Port away. Dr. Eggman climbed into his Egg-Mobile and hovered after him. He failed to roboticize Knothole now, but hopefully Sonic wouldn't be able to save Knothole the next time he attacked…

"Whee! This is so incredible!" squealed Amy "I've never been this fast before!"

"That's because you've never rode a supersonic hedgehog before." said Sonic with a smug face.

After escaping Eggman, Sonic was taking Amy for a small jog around Green Hill Zone at his trademark speed. Amy thought she was dreaming but she was thrilled she wasn't. Right here, right now, she was in the arms of Sonic the Hedgehog and riding at supersonic speed with him. This was truly the most exciting feeling Amy had ever had in her life.

"So, where are we going my handsome hero?" asked Amy sweetly.

Sonic went red in the face and his quills straightened in surprise. He was so taken aback by the compliment he almost fell over in mid sprint. That sudden name call just made Sonic feel all nervous and shy now.

"Um…my place." Sonic said after snapping out of his trance "Plus there's someone I know who I'm sure will like to meet you."

Amy liked the sound of that. A few minutes later, Sonic screeched to a halt outside a house. The house was only one storey with pale yellow walls, a blue door, two windows and a blue roof. There was a garage attached to the left side. Empire City didn't have any room for Sonic since all the available places had been taken up by the homeless Mobotropolis citizens but the Council of Acorn had managed to find an available home on the outskirts of Green Hill Zone, not far from Knothole. In fact Knothole was only a twenty minute sprint away from Sonic's new home so you can imagine Sonic didn't have far to go when he was called for help earlier.

"This is your house?" asked Amy, trying not to sound rude "I thought you would have lived in something a little…you know…nicer."

"That's the only place the Council of Acorn could find." said Sonic "My home city Mobotropolis was blasted to the ground by Eggman so I can't live there anymore. Besides, I like this little place. Nice and cosy."

"I bet it was horrible for you when Mobotropolis got destroyed." said Amy sadly.

"It was." said Sonic "I was more devastated at the fact I couldn't save it as I was busy fighting Robians."

"What's a Robian?" asked Amy.

"A roboticized Mobian." explained Sonic "They're not nice to come across. Some of Mobius' best scientists are trying to come up with a de-roboticizer to de-roboticize any Robians they capture but with no success. Luckily Tails gave them the Portable Roboticizer he stole from Eggman* so they're now making progress."

"That's great!" said Amy happily "I feel sorry for those poor people who got roboticized. Must be a horrible feeling for them."

"I know. It happened to me the other day." said Sonic sadly.

Amy almost fainted with shock.

"Y-you got roboticized?" she shrieked. Then she clenched her fists and gritted her teeth. "Ooh! If that Eggman was here right now I'd teach him a lesson or two!"

"It's alright Amy." said Sonic, holding her back to stop her throwing a fit. By gum was she scary in a bad mood! "I'm back to my normal self now. Although I was in such a rage at Eggman when Tails de-roboticized me."

"Who's Tails and where is he?" asked Amy.

Then, as if Tails had overheard them talking, he ran out of the house and up to Sonic. He was clearly happy to see his best friend back.

"Sonic! How did Knothole go?" he asked.

"As swell as it gets." said Sonic, grinning "Wilson and Mandy distracted Eggman with a few smoke bombs and I got the villagers to safety. Eggman shouldn't bother them anymore."

"That's great Sonic." said Tails happily "And by the way, my new invention's making some progress…"

He trailed off as he spotted Amy next to Sonic.

"Um…who's that?" asked Tails.

"That's my pen pal Amy Rose." said Sonic "She's one of the villagers at Knothole. I brought her over to say hi."

"Hi there." said Amy cheerfully "Are you the one known as Tails that Sonic's been mentioning?"

"Yep, I'm Tails." said Tails, shaking Amy's hand "Nice to meet you Amy."

"Aw, he's so cute and polite as well!" giggled Amy "Did you raise him up like that?" she added, though she meant it more as a joke then anything.

Sonic went red again. "No…I didn't raise Tails up like that Amy." he said "I didn't even raise him. I was running around Green Hill Zone until a saw a couple of robots attacking him. I saved him from the robots and I've decided to train him up to be a Royal Fighter."

"I bet that must be awesome Tails!" squealed Amy "You get to go on adventures with Sonic the Hedgehog! You must be the luckiest kid in the world!"

"Um…I do feel like that." said Tails modestly "I wish I could run as fast as Sonic. And I wish I was just as strong as him too."

All this made Sonic blush even harder. Man was this girl embarrassing to be around! Not that she meant to be embarrassing in the first place. Still, Sonic wanted to save himself further embarrassment by sending Amy home.

"Uh…Amy don't you think you should be…ahem…getting back home now?" said Sonic nervously.

"Well I should really." said Amy "But it's been wonderful to meet you and your friend Sonic. I hope to see you again soon!"

And with that she waved goodbye to Sonic and Tails and headed home. As soon as Amy disappeared from sight, Sonic sighed loudly.

"I can tell this girl's gonna be a handful." said Sonic "If she decides to show up again that is."

"Aw come on Sonic, she's not that bad." said Tails "I think she's really lovely."

"Yeah, and embarrassing." said Sonic "But she'll hopefully tone down the next time."

Tails suddenly put on a mischievous little smirk. His eyes narrowed to evil slits at Sonic.

"You like her don't you?" he jeered.

Sonic blushed so hard he went red all over his body!

"No! No I don't!" cried Sonic with embarrassment "I just..."

"Admit it Sonic, you like Amy don't you?" sniggered Tails, trying hard to contain his laughter.

"OK! I do a bit." sighed Sonic loudly "But not in the way you're thinking of so don't you dare suggest anything else!"

"Yeah right." laughed Tails, walking back into the house, laughing to himself.

Sonic face-palmed himself and groaned quietly to himself.

"Why do girls and kids have to be so embarrassing sometimes?" he moaned "Oh well, it might not be so bad next time."

He walked back into the house to make himself some lunch, which of course, would consist of about 12 chilidogs, his all time favourite food which he would happily eat all day, every day. Yet as he made his lunch, he couldn't stop thinking about Amy. One of the first things he thought when he saw her was, she's a lot prettier in person. That thought made Sonic go red every time he thought it. And Amy's voice, while not the loveliest voice in the world, was still lovely all the same. The only trouble was, Sonic would never be able to say these things about her. There was something about Amy that made him go all nervous and shy. Was it her face? Was it her beauty? Or was it just the fact she was a bit of an embarrassment to be around? Or it was probably the fact Sonic did secretly fancy her he just probably wouldn't be able to admit it. But this was now, some time later Sonic might be able to get the courage and tell Amy what he secretly thought of her. Hopefully she wouldn't be much of an embarrassment the next time too. Sonic's train of thoughts just kept racing around as he began munching on his first chilidog. He had no idea what his next meeting with Amy would be, but he hoped it would be a little better then the first one.

The next day, Sonic was hanging out in Green Hill Zone. He hadn't heard anything from Dr. Eggman so he decided to chill out and make the most of it while he had the time. After all, heroes don't often get much time to relax and take it easy, they're always on their toes, waiting for the villain to make their next move. At this moment, he was just lying at the base of a tree and listening to nature's many voices as he lay there peacefully. Unfortunately, his peace couldn't last. Something pink leapt out from behind a tree and grabbed him into a bear hug. Sonic was so startled he almost jumped out of his sneakers.

"Now I've gotcha Sonic!" cried the pink thing.

It didn't take long for Sonic to figure out that the thing that pounced on him was Amy Rose.

"Um…hi Amy." said Sonic uneasily "Nice to…see you."

"Oh thank you Sonic." said Amy happily.

"So what are you doing here?" asked Sonic, trying to get free from Amy's hug.

"Oh I was just taking a leisurely stroll out in the beauty of Green Hill Zone and I just happened to come across you." said Amy "What a coincidence eh?"

"Yeah, coincidence." muttered Sonic as he finally pulled himself free from Amy's hug. By gum could that girl squeeze hard! Did a bear give her hugging lessons? And as for Amy happening to be in the same place as him, for some reason Sonic didn't think it was a coincidence.

"So what are you up to cutie?" asked Amy.

Sonic blushed and groaned at the same time. Man did she have to start with the soppy name calling again?

"I was just relaxing." said Sonic, trying to hide his embarrassment "I don't often get the time to just kick back and relax so I'm making the most of it."

"Aw! Surely you wanna do something much more exciting then that!" giggled Amy "You're Sonic the Hedgehog! You live for adventure and you stop the evil forces of Dr. Eggman! You shouldn't be sitting there relaxing!"

Boy this girl knows me as if I was her brother! thought Sonic.

"Come on I know a good place to hang out in!" cried Amy, grabbing one of his hands and trying to pull him away.

"Um…perhaps some other time when I'm in the mood for it." said Sonic through gritted teeth, he pulled his hand out of Amy's grip.

"Oh…" said Amy, staring down at the grassy ground beneath her feet. She looked disappointed.

"OK if you don't wanna hang out with me I'll leave you alone then." she added "Sorry for being a nuisance. See ya."

And with that she walked away. Yet as Amy walked away, she continued staring at the ground and Sonic could tell from the way she was walking that she didn't look too happy. In fact, Amy looked quite miserable. Sonic began to feel guilty. He didn't mean to upset her; he tried to be reasonable with her. Maybe he was being a bit too rash, after all Amy couldn't be too much of a bother for just one day could she? Sonic ran up to Amy and stopped her in her tracks.

"I've changed my mind." said Sonic "How about me and you grab ourselves a chilidog and we could walk around the lake?"

"Oh that sounds wonderful!" cried Amy, grabbing him into another hug and holding tightly.

"OK Amy! Stop squeezing me so hard!" gasped Sonic.

"Oh, sorry." said Amy, letting go of Sonic.

So, Sonic took Amy off to find a chilidog stand. Now I know what you're thinking, "Aaaaw! Sonic's going romantic and gushy over Amy! How cute!" well you're wrong. Sonic was only doing this to make Amy feel better; he's not doing this out of romance alone. In other words, this wasn't a date or anything, just a friendly outing more or less. Yet Sonic dreaded the day that he would be on a real date instead of just a friendly outing. Sonic hoped Amy wouldn't be like this everyday with him.

Unfortunately, Amy was no different throughout the week. Everyday since the rescue of Knothole, Amy would miraculously show up wherever Sonic went, grab him in a bear hug, squeal his name until his ears went numb and try to get him on an outing or even a date. Even though Sonic did secretly fancy Amy, her constant appearing wherever he went and fan-girlish behaviour was beginning to drive the poor hedgehog up the wall. Sonic felt like if Amy pounced on him one more time he would snap like a twig and probably lose his temper on her and hurt her…by accident of course. Man that girl was so persistent! Why couldn't she just give it a rest for one day? Sonic decided not to go out today as he wanted at least one day without Amy Rose bugging him. Yet, Sonic knew he couldn't keep letting Amy get to him. He should just tell her he's not interested in her right now and she should give him time. But Sonic really hated the idea of making Amy miserable. He wasn't the kind of person who wanted to hurt anyone's feelings, except Dr. Eggman of course. Sonic's train of thoughts continued as he lay back in the sofa while Tails was working on a strange contraption that he had been working on all week. He was listening to the Take That song Kidz on the radio and he was clearly enjoying it because he sang a few lines after every turn of the spanner and tap of the hammer.

" There will be trouble when the kids come out" Tails sang in time to the music as he continued working. "There will be lots for them to talk a-bout. There will be trouble when the kids come out, when the kids come out, when the kids…"

"Hey Tails." said Sonic, distracting the little fox from his work "Can I talk with ya a moment?"

"Of course you can Sonic." said Tails, turning the radio down so he could hear Sonic "After all; I'm in no real hurry to finish this gizmo I'm building."

"I'm having problems right now." said Sonic "With Amy. Darn girl won't leave me alone for five minutes!"

"Oh tish Sonic!" said Tails, flinging his arm down "You saved her life from Dr. Eggman a week ago, she's gonna be wanting to hang out with ya. Especially since she's your biggest fan so give her some slack."

"Yeah but she keeps showing up from nowhere and coincidentally happens to show up in the same place as me." added Sonic "I almost feel like she's stalking me!"

"Oh come on Sonic, Amy's not like that and you know it!" snapped Tails "Only bad guys like Dr. Eggman stalk people and Amy's no bad-guy!"

"Yeah, but how does she coincidentally show up wherever I go?" demanded Sonic "It might just be a weird coincidence that's continuously happening but it's freaking me out!"

"Maybe Amy just wants to spend time with you." suggested Tails "You are the apple of her eye after all."

"Yeah but you'd think she had the sense to give me some personal space." noted Sonic "I'm pretty sure not all girls are that obsessive over their boyfriends and…"

The conversation was interrupted by a knock at the door. Sonic had a dreaded feeling over who it could be. He walked up to the door and opened the little shutter that covered a small window on the door. What he saw through that little window was of course, Amy Rose (I bet you saw that coming!). She had a gormless grin on her face and a bunch of flowers in her hand. Sonic merely shut the shutter and turned back to face Tails.

"I'm gonna have to move!" he sighed loudly, causing Tails to snicker mockingly at him.

Sunday

Luckily for Sonic, Amy hadn't bothered to show up yesterday so hopefully she wouldn't bother him today. Sonic was also a bit bored of sitting in his house all day so he went for a hearty jog around Green Hill Zone to keep his legs in good shape. After two hours of running laps around Green Hill Zone, things were beginning to look good. No Dr. Eggman and no Amy Rose. Maybe today wouldn't be so bad after all. Sonic decided he'd had enough of running the same few laps around Green Hill Zone and decided to take a rest. Sonic found a good tree to lie against and lay down to relax. But the moment he started getting comfortable, he heard a voice he didn't want to hear until he was ready.

"Sonic! There you are my handsome hero!" squealed the voice of (who else?) Amy Rose.

"Just when I thought this day was going well!" sighed Sonic crossly.

"Hi Sonic." said Amy, kneeling down beside him "So what are you up to today?"

Sonic tried to ignore her and hoped she would go away.

"I guess you're just relaxing." said Amy "Oh well. When you're ready how about we go for a meal at Frankie's diner back at Knothole? I'm sure you'll have a lovely time cute stuff."

That did it. Sonic finally flipped. He leapt to his feet and in blind rage, pushed Amy on the ground. The poor girl was shocked to say the least. Sonic then finally broke into a rant.

"Amy Rose! For goodness sake will you leave me alone!" roared Sonic "All you've done for the past week is stalk me and drive me chilli-dog crazy!"

"Sonic I…" began Amy.

"Don't give me any excuses!" snapped Sonic "Admit it! You've been stalking me ever since I saved your butt from Eggman the other day! And all you do when you meet me is squeeze me so hard I almost suffocate and scream my name until my ears explode! And why do I always have to go somewhere with you? I don't mean to be nasty or anything but can you please knock off the annoying fan girl behaviour!"

Amy Rose looked like she had been shot through the heart. She'd never seen Sonic in such a rage before and what he said to her really took effect on her. Amy's eyes began to water as she stood back to her feet.

"I get it." she said, trying to hold back tears "You hate me don't you?"

Sonic couldn't believe his ears. Amy wasn't listening very closely was she? Sonic did not at all say he hated Amy! What gave her that idea? Then it dawned on him that maybe his angry fit had been a bit too harsh on the girl so Sonic decided to clear up the misunderstanding.

"No! I don't hate you at all Amy!" cried Sonic.

"Yes you do!" snapped Amy "You just see me as a nuisance don't you? That rant you had suggests you think I'm annoying and unbearable."

"I didn't mean it like that." said Sonic "I was just saying…"

"That all I'm doing is driving you mad." interrupted Amy "Well I'm dreadfully sorry for that. I was just hoping we could become friends but it's evident that you don't want anything to do with me. Well if that's the case I'll leave you alone…forever."

"Amy, you don't understand!" cried Sonic; desperate to save himself the guilt of upsetting Amy "I didn't mean it like that! I may have been too harsh but…"

"I don't want to hear your feeble excuses!" spat Amy "I'm sorry I've been such a pain to you and I hope if I never see you again that you'll be happy! Goodbye true blue."

She ran away from the gobsmacked hedgehog, crying her broken heart out. Sonic wanted to run after her but his feet wouldn't let him, he remained where he was, watching Amy run away from his sight. After Amy disappeared from view, Sonic literally slapped himself in the face. He was so angry with himself for being such a jerk to poor Amy.

"Idiot!" he groaned "How could you be so hard on her?" he yelled at himself "True she was a nuisance but that was totally unnecessary Sonic!"

He laid back down against the tree he was lying against before and thought on how was he going to make it up to Amy. She probably wouldn't forgive her but Sonic wanted to try. He just wasn't sure how he was going to do it. Thirty minutes passed and he still had no idea how to apologize to Amy.

"Man how am I gonna apologize to her?" he moaned "I bet she'll never forgive me for this. Hopefully I'll learn something from this, I really should control my temper next time otherwise I'll be turning into Knuckles!"

Before he could tell himself off any further, his ears picked up at the sound of panting and feet pounding through the grass. It was Mandy Mouse. She looked flustered to say the least.

"Yo Mandy! What's up girl?" asked Sonic, getting back to his feet.

"It's Knothole!" gasped Mandy "Eggman's attacking it again! And he's got Wilson and Amy too!"

"Oh my gosh!" cried Sonic "How did that happen?"

"Well Eggman tried to be more subtle this time." said Mandy "By pretending to attack to draw you or any fighters in and then pounce on them. He got Wilson but I managed to escape and I ran back to get you for help as I can't take that tub of lard myself. And I only just realized we forgot to destroy Eggman's portable roboticizer during our first rescue the other day."

Sonic face-palmed himself. Darn it! How on Mobius did he forget to destroy Eggman's portable roboticizer? He obviously hasn't been too focused on the battle recently!

"Well let's go and rescue Knothole once again Mandy!" cried Sonic.

And with that he charged off like an accelerating race car. Mandy ran after him as fast as she could run.

Minutes later, Sonic and Mandy reached Knothole, only to realize that they had been a minute too late. Half of the village had crumbled to the ground and any homes still standing were empty. All the villagers had obviously been captured by Dr. Eggman and his robotic drones.

"Damn!" cried Sonic "Eggman's got them! We'd better hurry if we're gonna save them from being roboticized!"

"They'll likely be in the same place as before." said Mandy.

"Then let's do it to it!" cried Sonic, charging off.

He and Mandy ran to the same area Dr. Eggman dragged the villagers to before. And just as they thought, he was there with all the villagers lined up awaiting roboticization. Unfortunately, Sonic and Mandy were too late to save everybody. The first few villagers had been roboticized and stood next to Eggman awaiting orders. Port II zapped the villagers one by one as it went down the line. Amy Rose was shaking furiously as Port got nearer and nearer. Even though she was upset at what Sonic had said to her earlier, she was dying for Sonic to come and save her again. After the next villager was roboticized, Eggman smiled coldly at Wilson who just gave him a death glare.

"Well little Wilson." said Dr. Eggman "Where's your buddy Sonic? Not here to save you! Once I roboticize you, you'll be my good little doggy!"

"Dr. Eggman, so help me I'll see you defeated yet!" snarled Wilson "You may have roboticized my parents but you won't roboticize me!"

"Actually, I think I am going to roboticize you silly dog." jeered Dr. Eggman "Alonzo! Activate!"

"With pleasure sir." said Alonzo wickedly.

He aimed Port II at Wilson, ready to roboticize him. Wilson closed his eyes and feared the worst. Then suddenly a blue blur appeared from nowhere and churned its way through Port II. Alonzo leapt backwards in surprise. Dr. Eggman's glasses popped off in surprise. Port II then short circuited and exploded into pieces. Amy and Wilson both smiled with joy for they knew who it was. It was obviously Sonic the Hedgehog. The robots saw Sonic and tried to attack him but Mandy subdued them with a shock of a taser. After the robots collapsed, Mandy freed everybody from their neck chains. Dr. Eggman was about to go mental but he calmed himself down. Sonic smirked cockily at the fat man.

"So Egg head, couldn't leave Knothole alone could you?" he smirked "Well you should have learnt that any place you attack, I will be there to stop you!"

"I know Sonic." snarled Dr. Eggman "Which is why I always have a back-up plan this time."

Then he whipped a remote device out of his pocket and pressed a button on the remote. Then suddenly the whole ground seemed to crumble under Sonic's feet. Then he was thrown into the air like a tennis ball. Wilson, Mandy and Amy gasped at Sonic being thrown into the air. The thing that had thrown him into the air was a long robotic cobra coloured red with a yellow underbelly. It had six horns, a long mouth, two fangs that were visible, even when the mouth was closed, green eyes, a huge hood, two long thick arms and a three pronged claw at the tip of its two tails. Sonic plummeted down to the ground but the snake bot caught him with one of its claws at the end of one of its tails. Sonic struggled and squirmed but the robot clenched him tightly.

"Meet my new friend, Egg-Cobra!" announced Dr. Eggman "He'll be your end Sonic! Egg-Cobra! Squeeze the living daylights out of that meddlesome hedgehog!"

"But sire, wouldn't it be better to roboticize him all over again?" asked Alonzo.

"I risk him getting de-roboticized again, or betraying me." said Dr. Eggman "So it's best to get rid of him as quickly as possible."

Egg-Cobra squeezed Sonic as hard as it possibly could. Sonic yelled at the top of his voice pitifully as Egg-Cobra's grip tightened. Then suddenly, just as it looked like Sonic was done for, Egg-Cobra was walloped around the head by something. Egg-Cobra was hit so hard it let go of Sonic and its face plummeted into the ground. Sonic coughed loudly and got back to his feet.

"Thanks Mandy I…" he stopped.

His jaw dropped. It wasn't Mandy or Wilson who saved him from Egg-Cobra. It was Amy Rose! She stood over the downed robot with a large red and yellow hammer in her hand. Wilson and Mandy were about to help Sonic but Amy had summoned this strange hammer from nowhere and pounced on Egg-Cobra and walloped him around the head. The dog and mouse were just as startled as Sonic. They had no idea Amy Rose had a weapon! Amy gave a smug smile at Sonic.

"What? Do I look like the kind of girl who can't defend herself?" she sneered.

Sonic didn't know what to say. Dr. Eggman was just as speechless as he was. He never expected Amy to be able to fight!

"Well that's an unexpected turn of events!" stuttered Alonzo "The pink hedgehog girl has a weapon!"

"Who cares if she has a weapon?" snarled Dr. Eggman "She's just as toast as Sonic is! Egg-Cobra! GET THEM!"

Egg-Cobra reared itself back up and opened its mouth. A long cannon barrel telescoped out of its mouth and squirted a strange purple liquid at Amy. Amy leaped out of the way and threw her hammer at Egg-Cobra. The hammer smacked Egg-Cobra on the nose. The snake like robot fell backwards but it regained its balance and brought its head zooming forward, ready to flatten Amy. Amy held her hand out and summoned another hammer from nowhere. Sonic couldn't believe his eyes. There's more to this girl then meets the eye! First she has a weapon, now she can summon it from nowhere! Amy walloped Egg-Cobra on the nose again, this time leaving a nasty dent on it. Unfortunately, Amy's luck ended there. Egg-Cobra recovered from the slam and squirted the purple stuff at Amy again. This time the liquid substance hit Amy and pinned her to the ground. It was extremely sticky and Amy found herself unable to move. She tugged on her limbs as hard as she could but the purple stuff was too sticky for her. Now she was trapped, Egg-Cobra raised its head, ready to slam it down on Amy and squish her.

"Sonic! HELP ME!" screamed Amy.

Egg-Cobra brought its head zooming down, ready to smash its victim. But Sonic the Hedgehog intervened by hitting it in the head with a spin-dash. Egg-Cobra somersaulted backwards and crashed down on the ground. Sonic laughed at his downed opponent and grabbed Amy's hand. With a mighty tug, he wrenched her free from the purple stuff.

"Thank you Sonic." said Amy.

"You're welcome Amy." said Sonic "And I'm sorry about what I said earlier."

"Can we talk about this later?" said Amy "Once we defeat this thing?"

"Good idea." said Sonic "Wilson! Mandy! Bomb that thing to submission and then me and Amy will come in for the kill!"

"Roger that." said Wilson "This is for trying to roboticize me Eggman!"

He and Mandy pelted bombs at Egg-Cobra. The bombs exploded on impact and they began to tear holes in Egg-Cobra's tough armour. Then, Sonic began to spin around into a ball.

"When I say now Amy, hit me like a golf ball!" yelled Sonic.

"Got it." said Amy, picking her hammer back up.

Sonic began to pick up speed more and more until he reached his limit.

"NOW!" he ordered.

Amy walloped the spinning Sonic with the hammer as if she was playing golf with him. Sonic rocketed towards Egg-Cobra's huge horned head. Egg-Cobra made the foolish mistake of opening its mouth and thinking its sticky purple goo would stop him. Sonic hurtled straight into Egg-Cobra's mouth. He then demolished his way through the back of Egg-Cobra's head and landed back down on the ground. Egg-Cobra, with a robotic wail, erupted into flames and then exploded into smithereens, showering Dr. Eggman and Alonzo with debris. Dr. Eggman literally went red all over. He was so hot with anger you could fry eggs and bacon on his head right now!

"So Master? What do we do right now?" asked Alonzo.

"The same thing we do after every failure stupid, run for our lives!" cried Dr. Eggman.

He took off as fast as he could. Alonzo zoomed after him. The four fighters chuckled at Eggman fleeing away into the distance.

"We showed him good!" laughed Mandy.

"Fat head didn't know what hit him!" added Wilson.

Sonic looked at Amy.

"Y'know what Ames?" he said "I think you would make an excellent addition to the Royal Fighters Service!"

"I would?" gasped Amy with excitement "Oh Sonic! I don't know what to say." She went red in the face.

"Well I say, you're way past cool Amy." said Sonic, giving her his ever famous thumbs up sign. Amy giggled with pleasure.

"I'm sorry for what I said to you earlier Amy." said Sonic "I was just a little irritated with what happened the past week."

"Apology accepted Sonic." said Amy "I'm sorry I bugged you so much. I didn't mean to, I just wanted to make friends with you."

"Right." said Sonic "Well I'll make a deal Amy. If you promise me you won't act all fan-girly all over me every time you meet me, and you give me my personal space, I'll be friends with you. Maybe more then just friends if I..."

He suddenly went all shy and embarrassed.

"If you what?" asked Amy.

"Never mind." said Sonic quickly "So, do we have a deal?"

"Of course!" said Amy, shaking his hand quickly "I hate the thought of driving you mad all the time."

"Welcome to the team Amy." Sonic said.

Amy leaped up and cheered with delight. Wilson and Mandy applauded her. Sonic smiled. His troubles with Amy were over at last. Hopefully Amy would remember the deal and maybe she would be more bearable to be around. Yet he couldn't wait to see Amy whack Eggman's sorry behind with that giant hammer of hers again…

Footnotes:

 See Stories 12-14 for the whole saga

* See the previous story for Sonic's de-roboticization

 See Story 2

 Tails stole Eggman's Portable Roboticizer in Story 13

* See Story 3 for Sonic and Tails' first encounter

 Wilson's parents got roboticized along with some other Mobians and Mandy's parents in *Tales from Mobius: Arc 1

Hmm...(glances at check-list) let's see who I've introduced. Sonic: check, Tails: check, Knuckles: check, Amy: check. Cream...oh, i haven't introduced her yet! I guess it must be Cream the Rabbit's turn to appear next! Join me next time as Sonic goes on a rabbit hunt! Reviews are welcome.

The Rabbit Hunt

Story 16: The Rabbit Hunt

KA-POW!

That sudden flash of lightening and clap of thunder made Amy leap three feet into the air from her seat. It was a horrible stormy day on Mobius right now. Rain hammered down like goodness knows what and lightening flashed every now and again, followed by the traditional clap of thunder. Amy grumbled to herself.

"Oooh! How I hate stormy rain!" she moaned "It spoils the fun doesn't it?"

There was also the fact that thunder and lightening making her jump every time it happened.

"I wonder if Sonic hates rainy weather?" wondered Amy.

Sonic did hate rainy weather as it disrupted his running. Amy knew that the storm wouldn't last forever, it would blow over eventually. But she still hated it. Then Amy heard a tiny knock against the door.

"Now who in the world could that be?" she wondered.

Amy got up from her seat and walked over to the door. She opened the door and saw who was knocking on it. It was a little cream coloured female rabbit with light brown markings on her head, ears and eyes. The rabbit wore an orange dress with a white collar, a blue cravat around her neck and orange and yellow shoes. She looked no older then six years. Beside the rabbit was a small blue creature with a raindrop shaped head, a small body with stubby arms and legs and a red bow-tie around its neck. Amy almost fell over backwards at the sight of such a young child standing there in the cold and wet.

"Oh my gosh!" she cried, picking the child up and rushing her inside "You poor, poor thing! You must be chilled to the bone!"

"I'm fine miss, really…" the rabbit insisted.

"Don't give me that nonsense." said Amy sternly, sitting the rabbit on a seat near a cheerful, blazing fireplace "Little kids like you shouldn't be out in the storm without supervision."

"I'm sorry miss." said the rabbit "It's just…"

"I do hope you're not catching a cold young lady." said Amy, feeling the rabbit's forehead to see if it was the right temperature "Quite easy to catch one out there."

"I'm fine, please stop fussing me." said the rabbit quietly.

"Ok I'm sorry." said Amy "I just get a bit over myself when I see kids on their own with no parents. Where's yours? Did you lose them?"

"Well not exactly "lose" them." said the rabbit "I don't have a father, I only have my mother."

"Well where's your mother then?" asked Amy.

"Gone." said the rabbit, staring at her feet. She looked very sad. "An hour ago I was playing in the Chao Gardens until a big robot that looked like a scary scorpion appeared from nowhere and took… my…mother away!"

And with that the child broke down into tears. Amy had a feeling this might be Eggman's doing; only Eggman used big robots on people. Amy stroked the rabbit's head soothingly.

"Don't cry little girl." she said "I know someone who can help you."

The rabbit stopped crying and looked up at Amy with her big brown, adorable eyes.

"You do?" the rabbit asked.

"Sure!" said Amy "This person I know who can help you is called Sonic the Hedgehog. He's the hero of Mobius and the one hope we have against Dr. Eggman and his robotic forces. I'm also a big fan of his."

"Now that you mention him, I was looking for Mr. Sonic to see if he would help me rescue my mother." said the rabbit "But I don't know where he lives and no one could be bothered to help me find him."

"I know where Sonic lives." said Amy with a smile "I'll take you to him."

"Oh thank you Miss!" cried the rabbit, hugging Amy tightly. "Thank you, thank you, thank you!"

"Pleasure to help." said Amy "My name's Amy Rose."

"My name's Cream the Rabbit Miss Rose." said the rabbit "And this is my pet Chao Cheese. Say hi Cheese."

The small blue creature known as Cheese shyly waved at Amy.

"He's so cute!" cried Amy "What's a Chao by the way?"

"Chao are small creatures that live in gardens." explained Cream "They're fun loving and peaceful creatures and they hate violence. I hate violence too. So horrible and nasty!"

"I couldn't agree more." said Amy.

Then she smacked herself on the head.

"What the heck am I doing still chattering?" she yelled at herself "We need to get you to Sonic right away Cream!"

Amy put on a raincoat and grabbed an umbrella. She opened the umbrella to keep herself and Cream dry from the rain and she took Cream by the hand and went outside. The storm was appearing to slow down a little as it was raining less harder then before, much to Amy's delight. Amy set off down the road to the outskirts of Green Hill Zone, where Sonic lived. She was thankful Sonic wasn't far away from Knothole; she would have hated walking through all this rain for long. She hoped Sonic was home; otherwise Cream would have to wait for him.

Sonic was at home, lounging on the sofa and staring at the dark stormy scene out of the window. He hated rain; it would distract his running as he ran so fast, the raindrops would hammer in his eyes and disrupt his vision which would cause problems for him when running. Tails was sitting at his desk, adjusting the last few pieces on his new invention he had been building after the Mecha Sonic agenda*. Sonic had been wondering what in the world Tails was building but Tails wouldn't tell him and said he'd find out when he finished it.

"OK, just tighten this last bolt…" said Tails as he turned a screw lightly with his screwdriver.

"I'm amazed how long you can spend just building that thing." said Sonic from the sofa "Don't you get tired?"

"I do, but I have fun building these things." said Tails "Let's me exercise my mechanical talents, and my over-developed brain."

Sonic laughed at the "over developed brain" remark. He often thought that about Tails since the little fox was only eight, yet he could probably be a science teacher for University.

"So, how's that thingamajig coming on?" asked Sonic.

"Its finished." said Tails.

He presented a machine that looked like an old fashioned typewriter with a satellite dish on the top. There were two dials on the front and many buttons and switches to alter frequency and radio waves. Sonic stared at it in confusion.

"What is it?" asked Sonic.

"It's a little something I built so we can monitor Eggman's position." explained Tails "This machine (if it works) will pick up Eggman's conversations with Alonzo from miles away and we will know Eggman's every move before he makes it."

"Sweet!" said Sonic "How does it work?"

"I need to actually sneak into Eggman's base and set up this microphone." said Tails, showing Sonic a small round microphone "Once I set the microphone up, we'll hear everything the microphone picks up through this machine."

"I bet you feel like a spy now Tails." said Sonic "And although I'm not that keen on spies, I like this plan."

"Well, we need to know what Eggman's up to." said Tails "So if we spy on him, we'll be one step ahead of him and approximately ten steps closer to victory."

"I like the sound of that." said Sonic, giving Tails a thumbs up.

Then his ears picked up the sound of someone knocking at his door.

"Who in the world would be out in this weather?" wondered Sonic "Best see who it is."

Sonic got up from the sofa and opened the door. The person at the door was Amy Rose in a raincoat with a little rabbit beside her. The rabbit had a Chao with her.

"Amy!" said Sonic "This is a surprise. What brings you here?"

"A little rabbit kid brings me here." said Amy, stepping inside and closing her umbrella.

Cream appeared shyly from behind Amy. She stared up at Sonic. Sonic looked down at her.

"Who's this then?" he asked "Your little sister?"

Tails snickered. Amy glared at Sonic.

"She's not my little sister!" snapped Amy "She came across my house and told me she was looking for you so I brought her here."

"What's she looking for me for?" asked Sonic.

Amy just gave Cream a look that suggested "You tell him Cream.". Cream looked back at Sonic.

"My name is Cream the Rabbit Mr. Sonic." she said quietly and politely "I've been looking for you because I think you can help me with something."

Sonic listened eagerly, hoping this would be another Eggman scheme for him to foil.

"My mother's been kidnapped by a giant robot and I've heard all about your heroic deeds so I decided to go and look for you since you're the only one who can help me." explained Cream.

"That definitely sounds like Dr. Eggman's doing." said Sonic, who had listened to everything Cream said and took interest "I bet he's on a kidnapping spree again."

"Why would he do that?" asked Tails.

"He's probably desperate for Robians in his army." said Sonic grimly "So he's, without a doubt, kidnapping people to roboticize."

Cream and Cheese shivered with fear at what Sonic had said.

"Wh-wh-what does r-r-roboticize m-mean Mr. Sonic?" she asked fearfully.

"It means Eggman turns people into robots." explained Sonic "Heartless, mindless, killer robots. He roboticized half of Mobotropolis when he first arrived and now he wants to roboticize everything and everybody."

Cream looked like she was going to bawl ever so loudly.

"You mean that Eggman person might turn my mother into a robot?" she whimpered.

"Likely." said Sonic "But we'll put a stop to that!" "Tails! Amy!" he announced "We've got a rabbit's mom to save!"

"OK Sonic!" said Tails "Now's a good time to set up my microphone so we can spy on Eggman!"

"What was that?" asked Amy.

"We'll explain later." said Sonic "We'd better get going if we're gonna save Cream's mom from roboticization. Wish it wasn't raining though, it disrupts my running."

"Put these goggles on." said Tails, taking them off his head and handing them over to Sonic "They'll shield your eyes from the rain as you run."

Sonic put them on.

"Thanks Tails." he said "I don't know what I'd do without you. Now, let's go!"

He charged off through the door and out of the house, leaving a gust of wind to blow past Tails, Amy and Cream behind him. Cream was utterly fascinated at such speed coming from a hedgehog.

"That Mr. Sonic lives up to his name doesn't he Cheese?" she said to her pet Chao.

"Chao." piped Cheese.

Chaos don't talk fluent English like Mobians did. They spoke "Chao" language; a language where all Chao ever said was merely the word Chao.

"What are we waiting for, let's go!" cried Amy.

She ran out of the house. Tails flew after her and so did Cream. Cream could fly by flapping her large ears. Tails couldn't believe his eyes and nor could Amy for that matter.

"You can fly?" gasped Tails.

"Uh huh." said Cream "It helps if you have big ears. I've noticed you can fly too Tails."

"I wouldn't be able to if I didn't have two tails." said Tails "Now where's Sonic?"

He didn't have to look for long for he soon caught sight of him. Sonic had held back to let the others catch up. The moment they did, he sped up. It was going to be a long run from here to the Northern Border but Sonic wasn't going to let that slow him down. Nor was he going to let the rain slow him down. The goggles shielded his eyes from the rain perfectly much to his delight so he wouldn't have to worry about his vision getting disrupted. As Sonic and the others ran on, Sonic couldn't stop wondering what Eggman was up to this minute…

Knothole wasn't the only village in Green Hill Zone. There was another, larger village nearer to the entrance to Green Hill Zone. This village was called Stardom Village and it was home to the Chaotix Detective Agency. The Chaotix Detective Agency were a trio of detectives that would answer any call for help but never got involved with anything dirty. The detectives resided in a funny looking two storey house with a stair case to the door, three windows and many angled roofs. It truly was an odd looking house; many would wonder whose idea was it to build it like that. The detectives who ran the agency were Vector the Crocodile and his buddies Espio the Chameleon and Charmy Bee.

Vector was the boss of the agency and also the brawn. He wasn't that good on brains but he has a big heart. He will answer any call for help, even if it was a little call for help like finding lost toys for children. He wore a golden neck-chain and earphones which he was always listening too, even when he was fighting.

Espio was a ninja chameleon who could turn invisible. He was a disciplined and opinionated character and the best at fighting. He wielded shuriken and ninja-style knives as weapons and his invisibility made him an excellent spy, if ever he was one.

And finally, Charmy Bee was the little kid of the team. He appeared to some as more of a cute mascot then anything else. He was a fun-loving ditz of a bee and he wore a helmet, presumably for in case he crashes into anything head first. He enjoys annoying Vector but he doesn't mean anything mean on anyone, he just always wants to play. Charmy also packed quite a sting for anyone who riled him.

As of this moment, the Chaotix team were having one of their quieter days. So far, there had been no calls for help or any cases for them to solve so the team were just chilling out. Vector was lying on the sofa and listening to yet another song on his earphones (I did say he's always listening to them didn't I?) whereas Espio was meditating. Charmy was elsewhere but no one was sure where exactly. Then Espio heard the sound of buzzing from behind the door. Charmy was obviously back. The bee crashed through the door, startling Espio and Vector and he looked like someone had chased him for fifty miles straight.

"Hey Vector!" squeaked Charmy.

The bee was in such a panic he wasn't watching where he was going and crashed straight into Vector, knocking him off the sofa and tumbling over onto the floor.

"We've got some major trouble!" yelled Charmy, shaking Vector's head madly as he spoke.

"Charmy, will you knock before you enter?" growled Espio "You don't half scare us when you burst in like that!"

"Sorry." said Charmy.

Vector picked himself off the floor and looked at Charmy angrily.

"Why'd you come crashing in here anyway?" he demanded, hoping Charmy had a good excuse for him not to get mad at him.

"Um…what was it again?" Charmy thought aloud as he tried to remember the reason why. Good memory wasn't his strongest point after all.

"Something about cream…" thought Charmy "Cream cheese? No. Vanilla cream? No. Oh!" he said suddenly "Cream's mother is gone! I saw her get captured by a scorpion-like robot!"

"You mean Miss Vanilla's been captured by a robot?" asked Vector.

"Yes." said Charmy

He and the other members knew Cream's mother, Vanilla by name, very well. In fact, she had called them for help whenever Cream went missing or she needed their help for something. Vector secretly fancied Vanilla but he would never admit it. This piece of news Charmy just gave him made Vector angry.

"Well whoever decided to kidnap Cream's mother is gonna get a pounding! From me!" declared Vector, punching his other hand "Boys, we're gonna find her and save her!"

"Roger that." said Espio.

"Okay." said Charmy, saluting him.

Vector left the house with Espio and Charmy following him. The crocodile was determined to find Vanilla the Rabbit. He had helped her many times before and now he was going to help her again. He began wondering on who kidnapped Vanilla. Likely Dr. Eggman. He had heard all about Eggman by reading newspapers all about Eggman's nefarious schemes and attempts for world domination. He had also read about how Eggman's plans had always been foiled by Sonic the Hedgehog. He began to wonder if Sonic was on the case as well as he was. If Sonic was, then Vanilla was easily as good as saved. But Vector wanted to help her so he hoped he would save her first. He also couldn't wait to give whoever kidnapped Vanilla a good pounding for kidnapping her.

"Do you think that Eggman guy's responsible?" asked Charmy, who was fluttering beside Espio.

"Likely." said Espio "That man has a reputation for kidnapping the innocents."

"I have an extra special pounding saved for him if it is." said Vector "I've always wanted to whup that fat man for trying to enslave us all!"

"I want to make him pay too." said Espio, pulling a ninja star out "And I'll let him feel the wrath of my ninja stars!"

"I'll sting him, and sting him, and sting him over and over until he can't sit down anymore!" laughed Charmy.

"Quiet Charmy!" snapped Vector "And let's focus on the objective here!"

"Okay." said Charmy.

The Chaotix wondered on, ready to begin the search for Vanilla the Rabbit.

Sonic, Tails, Amy and Cream had run/flown a great distance already and had now left Green Hill Zone. They were in the Great Dunes which were pretty featureless save for rocky ground, tall rocks and small mountains. The storm, rainy weather had finally stopped and now it was hot and sunny out in the dunes. Sonic had taken off the goggles and handed the back to Tails since he didn't need them anymore. Cream, unfortunately was beginning to lag behind from exhaustion and Amy called for Sonic to stop and let Cream catch her breath before they carried on. Sonic was reluctant but it wasn't nice to leave people behind so he stopped and waited. He hoped he wouldn't be waiting too long as time was of the essence right now. For all he knew, Cream's mother could be waiting to be roboticized at any moment now.

"Mr. Sonic, are you sure you know where Eggman's base is?" asked Cream sweetly.

"Of course I am." said Sonic "It's in the Northern Border of Megapolis. And I should know, I've been there twice already I wish it wasn't such a long sprint away though."

"If only we had a mode of transport." said Tails "We'd get to places much faster."

"Well you probably would." said Sonic "But I wouldn't. Nothing's faster then me."

"Really?" said Cream with fascination.

"I'm the fastest thing alive!" boasted Sonic "Of course nothing's faster then me! Not even vehicles can go faster then I can!"

"I can almost imagine your face if you got beaten by a car for the first time in your life." smirked Amy.

Sonic frowned at her.

"That'll be the day." he said "So Cream, you all rested up?"

"Yes Mr. Sonic." said Cream "I'm ready to fly some more!"

"Well let's get juicing then!" cried Sonic "We haven't a moment to lose!"

He rocketed off again, leaving a gust of wind behind as he ran off. Tails and Cream took flight and followed Sonic. Tails carried Amy this time so the pink hedgehog wouldn't lag behind. The feeling of flying was truly wonderful for Amy. She was enjoying it so much she held her arms out as if they were wings and pretended she was soaring through the sky, the wind blowing over her as she flew. Tails couldn't help but give a hearty chuckle at Amy for doing that. Sonic looked over his shoulder to see if everybody was keeping up with him. Luckily they were and hopefully he wouldn't need to stop again. Unfortunately he did. The ground suddenly erupted in front of him, sending sand flying everywhere and Sonic was sent hurtling backwards. Tails and Cream stopped in the tracks and gasped. The thing that had exploded its way through the ground was a giant robot scorpion. It was black and red in colour with a purple tail. The tail had a drill in place of the sting and its claws had drills inside them. It had two cannons beside its head and six legs, each tipped with a spike. Cream was the first person to panic since she recognized the robot.

"That's the robot that snatched up my mother!" she squealed.

"Well it picked the wrong time to mess with Sonic the Hedgehog!" said Sonic angrily.

The scorpion bot lowered its head and the cockpit window opened revealing who was piloting it. To everybody's surprise, it wasn't Dr. Eggman in the cockpit; it was his servant bot Alonzo! He looked particularly pleased with himself.

"Alonzo? What are you doing here?" asked Sonic.

"Eggman's busy with his top secret project and he has people to roboticize once he gets the time." explained Alonzo "He caught you on radar and since he can't fight you himself, he sent me to destroy you with this Egg-Scorpion bot while he works."

"What's this "top secret project" Eggman's working on?" asked Tails.

"If I told you…it wouldn't BE a top secret project would it?" snapped Alonzo rudely "Now, prepare to be drilled into the next continent!"

He closed the canopy and activated Egg-Scorpion's claw drills. As the drills squealed away as they span, Egg-Scorpion lunged forwards at the Mobians. They leaped out of the way, leaving Egg-Scorpion to smash into the ground and then dig its way down into it. Sonic just caught sigh of Egg-Scorpion disappearing into the undergrowth.

"Tails! Girls!" he yelled "That thing can dig underground! Keep your senses alert!"

They nodded and listened out for Egg-Scorpion. Cream had the most sensitive ears due to how large they were and rabbits had excellent hearing. She heard a faint tunnelling noise coming from under her feet.

"It's coming back up!" warned Cream.

Tails, Amy and Cream ran away from the spot whereas Sonic readied himself for an attack. Egg-Scorpion erupted its way back up and out into the open air. Sonic spin-dashed it directly in the head the moment it was out of the ground. Egg-Scorpion somersaulted backwards and landed on its back. Sonic laughed at the robot.

"Think you can get me because you can tunnel underground?" sneered Sonic.

"I forgot Mobians have excellent hearing." muttered Alonzo from inside Egg-Scorpion "Oh well, time for Plan B."

The robot rolled itself back onto its legs. But instead of digging underground again, it fired its cannons. But these weren't laser cannons, they were EMP cannons. Sonic, Tails, Amy and Cream didn't see it coming and suddenly found themselves getting painfully electrocuted by the blasts. They screamed pitifully as they were shocked. Alonzo finally stopped shocking them and dug underground again, knowing by the time they recovered, they would be too late. Sonic groaned as he tried to sit up.

"Hey guys, where's the robot?" he asked.

"Probably underground again." Tails grimaced as he tried to get up "But due to the effects of that EMP shock, we won't recover in time to get away!"

And he was right. The ground exploded underneath them and the four Mobians were flung through the air like tossed stones. Egg-Scorpion had come back up again. Before the Mobians could fall back down, Egg Scorpion's claw drills telescoped back inside so now they were just plain old claws. Then Egg-Scorpion caught all four Mobians with one claw. Alonzo chortled with laughter.

"Yes! I caught them all!" he cheered "Just think how proud my master will be when he sees this!"

Sonic and friends squirmed and struggled in the terrifying grasp of Egg-Scorpion. But try as they might, there was no way they could escape a grasp that strong, especially since it was a robot. Then suddenly, out of seemingly nowhere, five ninja stars sailed through the air and imbedded themselves into Egg-Scorpion's claw. Then the ninja stars exploded like bombs, blowing the claw clean off and freeing the Mobians. Alonzo's head almost popped off due to how amazed he was at that amazing feat. But the surprise didn't end there. Three new Mobians had now appeared on the scene. These three were Team Chaotix. Espio was the one that had thrown the ninja stars at Egg-Scorpion's claw and blown it off. Alonzo had no idea who these three were, but he didn't care. He was going to eliminate them all the same. The drill on Egg-Scorpion's tail began spinning and the tail lunged at Team Chaotix. They dodged the attack and Vector clamped his jaws on the robot's tail. With a mighty pull, he managed to rip the end of the tail clean out of its socket! Alonzo was even more surprised then before. Vector then threw the tail drill at Egg-Scorpion so hard, the robot was knocked backwards. The cockpit window had been smashed to pieces by the blow and Charmy saw the opportunity to bombard Alonzo with an onslaught of stings. Poor Alonzo was dented all over his face afterwards. Alonzo decided now was the time to retreat. Egg-Scorpion used it's only remaining claw to dig underground and escape from the battle. Vector chortled.

"All in a day's work eh boys?" he laughed.

"That thing was no match for us." said Espio.

"I wonder how many times I stung it?" said Charmy.

Sonic, Tails, Amy and Cream picked themselves up and stared at Team Chaotix.

"Who are those guys?" asked Amy.

"I dunno, but I think we should thank them for saving us back there." said Sonic.

"I know who they are." said Cream "They're Vector the Crocodile, Espio the Chameleon and Charmy Bee."

"Are they friends of yours Cream?" asked Amy.

"Yes." said Cream "They're members of the Chaotix Detective Agency and they've helped me and my mother out many times."

"Well maybe they can help us rescue your mother Cream." suggested Tails.

Vector noticed Sonic, Tails, Amy and Cream talking to one another. He walked up to them.

"Well if it isn't the famous Sonic the Hedgehog!" he said happily "What a coincidence meeting you here!"

"Um…how do you know my name?" asked Sonic.

"Everybody knows who you are Sonic!" chuckled Vector "Although we actually read about you in the newspaper we read everyday."

"Well it's nice to meet you Vector." said Sonic "And thanks for saving our necks from that scorpion bot earlier."

"Glad to help." said Vector "So, what are you and your friends up to?"

"We're helping Cream find her mother." explained Sonic "And according to Cream, you and your buddies are friends of hers."

"We are indeed." said Espio.

"Well we heard about Vanilla's abduction so we decided to save her." said Vector "Maybe we could work together."

"Sounds good to me." agreed Sonic, giving Vector the thumbs up. Then he turned to Cream and said to her "Vector just said Vanilla. Is that your mother's name?"

"Yes." said Cream.

"Well now I don't have to keep calling her Cream's mother anymore." said Sonic.

"Were you four heading for Eggman's base?" asked Charmy "Where is it?"

"In the Northern Border of Megapolis." explained Sonic "We were heading there until Eggman's whiny servant bot stopped us with his Egg-Scorpion, which according to Cream was the robot that kidnapped Vanilla."

"It's just a pity it didn't still have Vanilla with it." said Espio "We would have saved her already."

"Well let's not just stand there, let's go!" cried Sonic "Chaotix, follow me, I know the way to Eggman's base."

"Roger!" all three of them said.

Sonic took off with Tails flying after him, carrying Amy again. Cream and Charmy flew beside Tails and Vector and Espio ran after Sonic. The seven Mobians now headed onwards to the Northern Border.

Dr. Eggman wouldn't know what hit him once they arrived…

Project: Metal Sonic.

Why was it taking to long for it to be completed? Mind you, this was likely going to be the most complex, the most powerful and the most amazing creation of Dr. Eggman's career and Eggman was putting all the effort he could into making this machine great. Though Eggman himself didn't really understand why it was taking him until next month to complete. Maybe he was putting more time and effort into Metal Sonic then ever before. After all, there was no such thing as putting too much time or too much effort into anything. The more effort you put into your projects, the better they come out when completed and Metal Sonic was going to be one heck of a foe for Sonic when he was completed. Even though Dr. Eggman had data records on Mecha Sonic's strengths, speed and abilities, he had other things to add to Metal Sonic to make him stronger then even Mecha Sonic. I can tell you, Sonic's pretty much dead meat once this thing is completed! Eggman began downloading another data file into the still under construction Metal Sonic. No one really knew what this file contained but Eggman did, and he knew it would make Metal Sonic great. As he worked, people in glass cages just watched him nervously. Dr. Eggman had said once he decided he'd had enough of working on Metal Sonic for the day, he was going to roboticize them all. So as Eggman worked, they kept praying and praying for someone to save them, preferably Sonic. One of these people, was Vanilla the Rabbit, Cream the Rabbit's mother. She looked like an older version of Cream and she wore a burgundy vest, a purple dress with a white trim, gloves with gold cufflinks and heeled burgundy shoes. She was just as polite as Cream was (no wonder Cream was raised up to be so polite, she takes after her mother.). Vanilla kept hoping either Sonic or Team Chaotix would be there just in time to save everybody but that didn't seem possible right now. Eggman looked over his shoulder and glared at everybody.

"Look, I know you're all looking forward to being roboticized but I can't hurry this." he said rudely "I need to take all the time and effort I can to make Project: Metal Sonic my ultimate success, so BE PATIENT!" he bellowed, making several Mobians jump.

"We're not even looking forward to being roboticized chump!" snapped one Mobian who was a female skunk in a yellow two strapped toga.

"Why am I not surprised?" snorted Dr. Eggman, getting back to his work.

But before Eggman could so much as tighten a bolt, Alonzo burst into the room. He looked like he had just been in a car crash and lived.

"MASTER!" screamed Alonzo, falling flat on his face. Several Mobians laughed at him.

"Let me guess, Sonic and friends wrecked Egg-Scorpion, one of the finest machines I've ever built!" snarled Eggman without even turning around.

"Well, not exactly master." said Alonzo, getting back to his wheels "I actually had the blackguard in my giant metal claws! But a new trio of Mobians stepped in and made a total mess of Egg-Scorpion."

"New trio?" said Eggman with interest. He turned away from Metal Sonic and faced Alonzo "Who are those three new pests I have to deal with?" he asked.

"Well I don't know their names but one is a crocodile, one is a chameleon and one is a bee." said Alonzo "And look what that bee did to my face!" he added, pointing to all the dents in his face from when Charmy stung him "These are not bullet wounds either!"

Vanilla's face brightened. Team Chaotix were on the case at last! Now help seemed to be on its way! Unfortunately, Alonzo spotted her.

"What's that rabbit lady so happy about?" he snorted.

"Maybe she knows who this trio is." purred Eggman "Let's find out shall we?"

He marched up to Vanilla's cage and pressed his face against the glass, making the poor rabbit shudder.

"Who are the three Mobians Alonzo just mentioned?" he asked in an eerily polite tone.

"T-they're Team Chaotix." explained Vanilla "And they're going to stop your nasty plans you nasty man!"

"Oh are they?" sniffed Eggman "The only one who can stop me is Sonic the Hedgehog! Oooh! How I hate that meddlesome rodent!"

"I bet that Sonic the Hedgehog person will stop you too." said Vanilla "It makes me mad on how you could dare to be so vile to us all!"

"You know what makes me mad other then people interfering with my plans?" growled Eggman "Mobians talking back to me! SHUT UP!" he roared.

"Y-yes Mr. Eggman." said Vanilla, standing up straight with her back against the glass.

"Alonzo!" said Eggman "If that Sonic is still coming for me, and he finds out about project Metal Sonic…"

"He'll likely wreck everything!" exclaimed Alonzo "And then you'll have to start over from scratch!"

"Exactly!" yelled Dr. Eggman "Which is why I'm going to hide Metal Sonic! Alonzo, you prepare everybody for roboticization! I need Robians for defence since my robots are in standby for update mode!"

"Happy to do so sir." said Alonzo, saluting him.

Dr. Eggman gather up all of the parts and Metal Sonic's under construction body, put them carefully in a metal crate and ran out of the room with the crate. He was going to hide Metal Sonic in a place Sonic would never find him, and that was in a secret compartment he had under the floor in the spare parts storage room. He couldn't risk Sonic coming in on him and wrecking Metal Sonic before he was complete so that's why he was hiding him. Eggman ran into the storage room, opened the compartment in the floor, stored Metal Sonic in the compartment and closed it up so now the floor looked perfectly normal. The only thing he needed to do was not to forget he put him there. Dr. Eggman ran back into the work room where he saw Alonzo taking the cages out of the room and leading them into the roboticizing chamber.

"Good work Alonzo." said Eggman.

"Thanks sir." said Alonzo "Is Metal Sonic hidden safely?"

"He'll never be found." declared Eggman smugly "Sonic won't find anything about Project: Metal Sonic."

"Marvellous sir." said Alonzo as he led the cages into the chamber.

"Sonic better watch out when I send these Robians on him!" said Eggman evilly "He has a tough time dealing with some of them as it is!"

It took a while, but Sonic and crew had finally made it to Eggman's base. They stopped outside the door and gathered around to make a battle plan.

"Ok here's the plan." said Sonic "Me and the Chaotix will take out Dr. Eggman and save Vanilla, Amy will provide back up and Tails will set up his little spy machine he built earlier."

"What can I do Mr. Sonic?" asked Cream politely "Should I stay out here and wait?"

"Nah, you risk getting caught by Eggman robots." said Sonic "You can go with Tails. That's the safest option for you."

"Ok Mr. Sonic." said Cream.

"Do you think security will be tight?" asked Espio.

"Bound to be." said Sonic "But it shouldn't be a problem for you Espio. You're a chameleon and you can turn invisible right?"

"Right." said Espio "I can take them out and they won't see me at all."

"That's why I hired him to be part of the Chaotix Detective Agency." said Vector, beaming.

"Then its settled then." said Sonic, winking at the group "Let's do it, to it team!"

"I never get tired of hearing him say that." sighed Amy dreamily.

The team set their plan into motion. Espio turned invisible and sneaked into the base. Sonic and crew had to wait until Espio said the coast was clear before they could move on. As for the invisible chameleon, after silently sneaking through the corridors he was rather surprised to see no robots on guard anywhere. Maybe security wasn't as tight as he thought it was going to be. Or maybe they were planning an ambush. In any case, the coast was clear so Espio signalled the others with his knife. The others ran quietly into the base.

"Anything Espio?" whispered Vector.

"Not so much as a guard bot." whispered Espio, turning back visible "Eggman's security obviously isn't as tight as we thought it was going to be."

"Do you think he's planning an ambush?" asked Tails.

"Could be." thought Sonic "Let's keep our guard up."

What Sonic and crew didn't know was the reason the robots weren't here is because they were in standby for update mode. That means the robots were all shut down and awaiting updates to make them swifter and stronger. It wouldn't matter if they were updated anyway since Sonic would still destroy them all. Sonic and crew crept further into the corridor, looking for two different rooms. One was the roboticizer chamber, and the other was the main computer room. Sonic decided it would be best to split up so they'd have a better chance of finding the rooms. Espio, Vector, Charmy and Amy went with Sonic and Cream went with Tails, just like their plan said.

Sonic's group were looking for the roboticizer chamber whereas Tails was looking for the main computer room.

Tails remembered where the computer room was since he had been in it twice already*. He went down a long corridor, took a left and found the familiar red door with warning stripes around the sides. He pulled the lever to open the door. The door opened and Tails and Cream crept inside as quiet as a pair of mice. Tails closed the door behind him so no one would spot him in the computer room. Cream stared, wide-eyed at all the technology around her. She'd never seen so many computers in one room before.

"So Tails, what do we do now?" asked Cream.

"I am going to set up my spy machine." said Tails.

He pulled out the little microphone he made for the machine and hid it under one of the main computer monitors. He turned it on and pulled out the spy machine he had just completed earlier. He turned the machine on.

"Now Cream, speak into that microphone and I'll see if I can hear you through it." he said to her.

"OK." said Cream.

She leaned forward near the computer monitor and spoke into the microphone Tails had placed underneath the monitor.

"Hello Tails." she said into the mike.

Tails, who had put the machine's earphones on, heard her clear as crystal.

"It works!" he cried "Now we'll know Eggman's every move before we make it!"

"We will?" said Cream, puzzled at what Tails said.

"Yes Cream." said Tails "That microphone will pick up everything Eggman says while he's in this room, and I'll hear everything he says through this machine I built." he showed the machine to Cream. Cream went "Oooh." in fascination.

"Man, I feel like a super spy!" joked Tails.

"So is that your job done?" asked Cream.

"Uh huh." said Tails "Let's catch up with Sonic and see if he's found the roboticizer chamber yet."

And with that, the two children left the computer room to look for Sonic.

Speaking of Sonic, he and his group couldn't find the roboticizer chamber. Sonic had decided he would try and find it but it dawned on him that he couldn't remember where it was. He kept thinking he was sure on where it was but he kept finding the wrong room every time. But if Sonic kept trying, he was bound to find it eventually.

The others however, were beginning to get frustrated with Sonic constantly finding the wrong room.

"Sonic, are you sure you know where it is?" asked Amy after Sonic checked in yet another room only to find out it wasn't the roboticizer chamber.

"I don't really so I'm just checking any room I come across until I find that chamber." said Sonic. "I don't know why I don't remember where it is. I've been in it before**."

"It's easy to forget things." said Espio "Nobody remembers everything straight away but as you go along, maybe something will jog your memory and you'll remember where it is."

Sonic nodded in agreement.

"Hey! What's that?" cried Charmy, pointing at something.

Everybody turned their heads to see what Charmy was pointing at.

The little bee was pointing at a Robian. This Robian looked like a robotic wolf and it looked like it was ready to pounce on someone and attack. But the Robian Wolf wasn't the only one there. There were more Robians behind it, all coming out of an open door further down the corridor one by one.

"Well I guess the roboticizer chamber is over there." said Sonic "Since all these Robians are coming out of that room."

"Maybe Cream's mom is in there!" shrieked Amy "We have to get to that room and save her!"

"But we've got to get past these jokers first!" cried Vector.

The Robians all pounced on the group. Soon a big fight ensued. Sonic and Amy fought the Robians back to back with Sonic spin-dashing, punching, kicking or homing attacking them and Amy hammered them away with her Piko-Piko hammer (that's the name of her hammer). Espio used his ninja skills to fight the Robians off while Vector chomped on them with his big jaws and threw them away. And Charmy, well, I wouldn't say he was fighting them, he was more like playing cat and mouse with them. No prizes for guessing who the mouse is!

"Don't damage them too badly!" yelled Sonic "Remember, these are roboticized Mobians!"

"We've gotcha pal!" said Vector as he threw another Robian into the wall.

As the fight continued, Tails and Cream came across the roboticizer chamber further up the corridor. They saw the fight between Sonic and the Robians going on further down but they decided not to get involved since Sonic and the others likely had things under control. Instead, they decided to rescue Vanilla. Tails and Cream sneaked into the chamber, only to see Mobians getting roboticized. It truly was a terrifying sight for poor little Cream but she knew her mother was likely in here so she looked around. Then Tails spotted something.

"Hey Cream, is that your mom over there?" he said.

Cream looked in Tails' direction. She beamed with happiness, it was her mother! Cream ran over to greet her.

"Mother! I'm here!" cried Cream.

Vanilla turned around and glared at Cream with her red optics. Cream immediately halted and stared up at Vanilla. She no longer looked like Vanilla, she was now completely silver in colour and her body appeared to be completely metal! Even her dress appeared to be metal! Her beautiful brown eyes had now become a black visor with red optics in them. Tails couldn't believe his eyes either, they had been too late! Vanilla the Rabbit had been roboticized and was now Mecha Vanilla! Mecha Vanilla roared at Cream, showing off her sharp metallic teeth. Cream stepped back fearfully.

"M…m…mother?" whimpered Cream "D…Don't you r-r-remember me? I'm your daughter Cream! Remember?"

Mecha Vanilla wasn't having any of it. Like all Robians, her freewill had been vaporized. She advanced on Cream menacingly as if she wanted to devour her all in one go.

"Mobian." She croaked in her new robotic voice "All-Mobians-must-be-ro-bot-i-cized!"

"Mother, please!" cried Cream "You're not an evil killer robot! You're my mother!"

"Cream, forget it!" cried Tails ""It's too late! Your mother's been roboticized! She won't listen to you!"

"Why not?" asked Cream.

"Because her freewill has been vaporized!" yelled Tails "She has only one purpose now, to serve Dr. Eggman!"

"Can we change her back?" asked Cream, her eyes brimming with tears.

"Yes we can." said Tails "But I don't have a de-roboticizer with me so Vanilla will have to wait. Now come on Cream before she catches us!"

Cream didn't want to leave Vanilla behind but she had no choice. Staying with her would more likely get her killed or roboticized herself so Cream, with tears trickling down her adorable face, ran out of the chamber. Mecha Vanilla ran after them, roaring mechanically.

Meanwhile, the fight wasn't going well. Due to how many Robians there were, the group were getting overwhelmed. No matter how many times they beat them down, they kept coming back. Robians had incredible stamina due to being robots and robots don't get tired unlike organic beings. Amy whacked another Robian down with her Piko-Piko hammer but after that, she began to pant. Sonic was getting noticeably tired too.

"Sonic, we can't keep this up forever!" puffed Amy "They just keep coming back!"

"Yeah, we knock them down but they come back at us." said Sonic breathlessly.

"We may have to fall back." suggested Espio.

"No way Espio!" cried Sonic "I'm not leaving here until Cream and her mother are back together again!"

Two Robian leopards advanced on the group, growling ever so softly and sending chills down Amy's spine. Espio and Vector just merely readied themselves for an attack. Sonic didn't do anything except stand there and grin smugly at the Robians as if he was urging them to attack. More Robians began to advance on the Mobians with their teeth and claws bared. Then Sonic began to spin himself around. He span faster and faster and faster until he looked like a big blue tornado. Any Robians that were stupid enough to get close to Sonic were pulled up into the tornado and spun around. Any Robians that didn't get caught in the tornado were smart enough to stay well back from this attack. After a minute of spinning, the Robians were thrown out of the tornado and sent crashing into any other Robians around. That attack clearly made an impact on them as they lay on the floor all dazed and dopey like with their tongues hanging out. Sonic's tornado finally faded away and Sonic stopped spinning.

"Now that's amazing stuff isn't it?" he said proudly.

"I'll say!" said Charmy "That was awesome! Do it again!"

Suddenly, Sonic heard the sound of footsteps running down the corridor towards them. He turned around to see who it was. It was Tails and Cream and they were being chased by yet another Robian. Tails was so focused on running away from Mecha Vanilla, he didn't see Sonic in front of him and he crashed right into him, knocking the hedgehog off his feet. Cream ran into Amy's arms and began crying. Sonic picked himself back up.

"Whoa Tails!" he cried "What's the matter?"

"We were too late Sonic!" blustered Tails "Cream's mom got roboticized and now she's after us!"

Sonic thought he was going to do a wild double take. Team Chaotix thought they were all going to do even wilder double takes. Before anyone could question if Tails was right, they saw Mecha Vanilla running towards them, roaring madly. She lunged at Sonic, grabbed him by the neck and pinned him down on the floor. She then proceeded to try and throttle him. Watching Vanilla do this made Cream cry harder. Her mother would never harm anyone if she was her normal self again. Sonic tried to wrestle Mecha Vanilla off him but the roboticized rabbit had a very tough grip. He pushed as hard as he could but Mecha Vanilla refused to let go. Vector, reluctant to hurt Vanilla, grabbed her with his jaws and threw her off of Sonic and into the wall. Mecha Vanilla hit the wall and slid back down to the floor. Sonic leapt back to his feet. He stared at Mecha Vanilla and his quills began to shake angrily.

"I can't believe Eggman beat us to it!" he growled "Now Cream's mother is a mindless drone on the fat man's side!"

"I'm gonna give that Eggman a sorting out once I get my hands on him!" growled Vector.

"No Vector." said Sonic "We're gonna leave here before more Robians show up and try to rip us apart."

"But what about Vanilla?" asked Amy.

"She'll have to wait." said Sonic "We don't have a de-roboticizer with us now. Now let's leave here."

Then suddenly Mecha Vanilla and all the other Robians came to and they all roared in unison at the Mobians. Sonic took off as fast as he could with everybody following him as fast as their legs would let them. The Robians chased after the Mobians but Espio threw a ninja star at the ceiling. The star exploded and the ceiling fell down on them to slow them down. After the ceiling finished caving in, the Robians began to dig their way through the pile of debris. Dr. Eggman heard all the commotion and burst into the corridor.

"What is going on here?" he blasted.

He saw the Robians digging their way through the debris that blocked their way through the corridor.

"I guess Sonic and crew decided to retreat." said Dr. Eggman "I knew my Robians were too strong for them!"

"Well that's a first." snorted Alonzo "You won for once."

"I know." said Dr. Eggman "And I will have my ultimate victory when Project: Metal Sonic is complete! And luckily, Sonic and neither of his friends found out about him."

He ran up the corridor and into the storage room. He opened the secret compartment in the floor and took Metal Sonic out since he didn't need to hide him anymore. He took Metal Sonic back into the inventing room so he could continue working on him. He set Metal Sonic back on the desk and got his tools out.

"I can't wait to see this beauty in action." crooned Eggman, his glasses twinkling in the light "Sonic will have met his match…"

Sonic and crew had run all the way back to Green Hill Zone and to Sonic's house. Sonic invited the Chaotix to stay for a few minutes to rest their legs before they set off back to their own home. After everybody settled down, Amy decided to make a cup of tea for everybody to make them feel better since the failure today had dampened their spirits. As Amy made the tea, the boys began discussing amongst one another.

"I cannot believe we failed to save Miss Vanilla Rabbit!" moaned Espio "My skills have been insulted!"

"I know Espio, it's a dark day for all of us." said Vector sadly "But no one's more heartbroken then Cream is."

Cream was sitting in the corner with her back turned on everyone. She was silently crying to herself with Cheese in her arms. She hadn't stopped sobbing since Vanilla's roboticization. Seeing Cream upset made Vector want to sob with her but he knew that wouldn't make things any better so he refrained himself from doing it. Sonic wanted to help cheer Cream up but he decided it was better to leave her alone for a minute. He decided to change the subject.

"So, did you set up your spy machine thingy Tails?" asked Sonic.

"I have indeed." said Tails happily "And it works perfectly. I can hear everything Eggman says through that machine thanks to that little microphone I've smuggled under his computer monitor."

"So maybe this day wasn't so bad after all." said Vector "If you can hear what Eggman is saying, you'll know his every move before he makes it!"

"We will avenge Cream and Vanilla!" exclaimed Espio.

"Tea's ready boys!" announced Amy, walking into the room with seven cups of tea on saucers on a tray. She set the tray down on the coffee table and everyone except Cream grabbed a cub and eagerly sipped their teas.

"I feel much better already!" said Charmy with a silly expression on his face.

Amy noticed Cream was still sitting in the corner by herself. Amy walked quietly over to Cream and patted her on the back.

"Are you alright Cream?" she asked nicely.

"No Miss Rose." sobbed Cream "I'm not alright. Please leave me alone."

"Cream, I know how devastated you are at the fact your mom's a robot now." said Amy softly "But crying about it won't help. We'll save Vanilla, I promise you."

Cream still stared at the floor, sobbing. Amy thought for a moment and then struck an idea.

"You know what?" she added "Since I'm so generous, I'm going to let you stay at my house until we can de-roboticize Vanilla."

Cream stopped crying and looked at Amy with her big brown adorable eyes.

"Y-y-you will?" she snivelled.

"Of course." said Amy with a smile "I'll take good care of you."

"Did you hear that Cheese?" said Cream excitedly "Amy's going to take care of us!"

"Chao! Chao!" cooed Cheese with excitement.

"How does Amy do that?" sniggered Sonic "All she has to do is spend thirty seconds with a crying child and she's happy again!"

"Well I'm glad Cream's happy again." said Tails "It's making me feel better too. I think Amy's making a good choice; I can see those two being as close as sisters."

"Reminds me of our brother like friendship." said Sonic "Amy and Cream are basically like girl versions of me and you!"

That set everybody off. They laughed a hearty, happy laugh. That seemed to cheer everybody up. After they stopped laughing Cream said something.

"I bet the next time we fight that mean old Eggman, we'll beat him!"

she said with determination.

"So do I." said Sonic "Especially since Tails will find out what he's up to with that machine of his."

Tails nodded in agreement. He couldn't wait for his first moment of spying on Dr. Eggman.

Footnotes:

 See Stories 12-14 for the whole saga

* See Story 1

 Sonic went to the Northern Border in Stories 6-7 and Stories 10-11

 Tails went into the computer room in Stories 10-11 and during the Mecha Sonic saga (12-14)

* Sonic first went in the chamber in Story 11

How about that? Cream's mother is a robot and Cream is part of the team! Can Sonic save Vanilla from Dr. Eggman or is the rabbit doomed to be a robot forever? Reviews will be appreciated.

Special thanks to Kratos Pwns for your kind words. You bring a smile to my face every time you review this story. :)

The Circus Park Part 1

Story 17: The Circus Park Part 1

"Friend or Foe?" asked Amy Rose, pointing at a picture of a dome shaped Eggman robot with a pointing stick.

Amy Rose was tutoring Cream on her knowledge on friends and foes. Since Cream was going to be with Sonic for quite some time, she needed to know on who to be weary of and who to be glad to see in a fight. So far Cream had only made a few mistakes but she wasn't doing terribly badly for someone her age and no fighting knowledge.

"Um…foe?" guessed Cream.

"Correct." said Amy happily.

She pulled the string on the side of the picture and another one came down showing a picture of yours truly, Sonic the Hedgehog.

"Friend or Foe?" asked Amy.

"That's easy, Mr. Sonic is a friend." said Cream "Isn't that right Cheese?"

"Chao!" piped Cheese in agreement.

"Well that one was too easy." said Amy "Let's try another one."

She pulled the string to make another picture come down. This one was a picture of Mecha Vanilla.

"Friend or Foe?"

Cream didn't know what to say. Vanilla was her mother so she should be classified as a friend, but since she's been turned into a robot by Dr. Eggman*, that should technically classify her as a foe. But Cream couldn't bear to call her mother a foe. Amy saw the picture Cream was presented with and changed it quickly. The next image was now a picture of fellow Royal Fighter Geoffrey St. John, a friend of Sonic's he hadn't seen in a while.

"Friend or Foe?"

"Um…" said Cream.

She had no idea seeing as she hasn't met Geoffrey yet but since he wasn't a robot, he looked like a friend so she guessed friend.

"Friend?" asked Cream.

"Correct." said Amy "Although I only know Mr. St. John is a friend after Sonic told me. I wonder what he's like in person."

"He's a good friend." said Sonic from the other side of the room "And he knows how to put up a fight. Pity he's confined to Downunda at the moment."

"At least you still have us Sonic." said his best friend, Tails who was sitting at his desk with a pair of earphones on. The earphones were connected to the machine Tails had built yesterday. He was listening into them for any schemes Dr. Eggman had in mind so they could send Team Chaotix to foil them or do it themselves if Team Chaotix weren't available. Even though the range between the microphone Tails set up under Eggman's monitor and the machine was superb, Tails was having trouble hearing what Dr. Eggman was saying. He pushed on the earphones to see if he could hear any better but he could only faintly hear Eggman's voice.

"Anything wrong little buddy?" asked Sonic.

"I'm having trouble hearing Dr. Eggman." said Tails "I think either the transmission is breaking up or he's not close enough to the microphone I set up yesterday. Maybe I should boost the transmission."

Tails twisted a few knobs and dials on the machine in order to make the transmission stronger. But they were already set at high frequency so Tails couldn't make it that much stronger really, he could still only faintly hear Dr. Eggman's voice, albeit less fainter then before. You see, the reason why Tails can't hear Eggman very well is because Dr. Eggman is strutting about on the other side of the main computer room, a fair distance away from the monitor Tails had placed the microphone under. The microphone's sound range isn't very far unfortunately so Dr. Eggman had to be really close in order to be heard clearly. However as Dr. Eggman strutted around aimlessly, he did end up in range briefly so Tails could hear him less faintly for a few seconds before he moved out of range. Tails was confused at the fact Eggman would get fainter and fainter and then briefly less faint before getting fainter again.

"Can you hear him any better now?" asked Sonic.

"He gets really faint to the point I can't hear him." explained Tails "But then for a brief moment he gets loud enough for me to hear him and then faint again. Is he aimlessly walking around the room or something stupid like that?"

"Maybe." said Sonic "We can't see what he's doing all the way in the Northern Border so we can't be sure on what he's doing."

Tails decided to listen closely and see what he could pick up before Eggman went out of range again. Eggman's voice got loud enough for him to hear and he heard some very peculiar words indeed. Then Eggman went faint again. Then Eggman went fainter and fainter until Tails couldn't hear even any faint footsteps anymore. This meant Dr. Eggman must have left the room. Tails took the earphones off and put on a thoughtful face.

"Build Circus Park?" he said out loud to himself more then anybody "Why would he be doing that?"

"Doing what, what?" asked Sonic.

"I managed to hear the words "Build Circus Park"." replied Tails "Although I couldn't quite catch what he said afterwards. What an odd thing for an evil genius like him to build."

"I'll say." agreed Sonic "Don't you think a Circus Park is a little bit childish even for him?"

"Maybe." said Tails "But there must be a reason as to why he's building one."

"Maybe we should ask Team Chaotix to check it out." suggested Sonic "Then we'll come and see for ourselves."

"I'll inform them right away." said Tails, picking up the phone and dialling Team Chaotix's number.

He put the phone to his ear and waited for Team Chaotix to pick up. After a few seconds of listening to phone buzzing, the sound of a phone being picked up came into Tails' ears. Then he heard the familiar gravely, grizzly voice of the Chaotix Detective Agency's boss, Vector the Crocodile.

"Yo there who is it?" said Vector.

"It's me Tails." said Tails "We have a request for you and your team."

"What's that then?" asked Vector.

"We've been spying on Dr. Eggman but I haven't been able to hear much from him." explained Tails "And I only just managed to catch the words "Build Circus Park" so I wondered if you'd be so kind as to find out what Eggman's evil plan is since I can't get much from him right now."

"We'll get to it right away bud!" said Vector "See ya!"

And with that he hung up, leaving Tails to hang up the phone himself.

"Well?" asked Sonic.

"Team Chaotix are on it Sonic." said Tails "I just really can't stop wondering what on Mobius is Eggman building a circus park for?"

"Hopefully we'll find out after Team Chaotix spy on Eggman." said Sonic "And we'll be there to crumble whatever evil plan Eggman's planning."

"And maybe we can get him back for turning Cream's mother into a robot!" added Amy.

"Yeah, that too." said Sonic, even though he was more keen on destroying Dr. Eggman's so-called circus park then paying him back for roboticizing Vanilla. Just what was that fat scientist planning?

Half an hour later, Vector the Crocodile, Espio the Chameleon and Charmy Bee arrived at the Northern Border and took shelter behind a pile of rocks. They peered over the rocks and saw an extraordinary sight indeed. Just around Dr. Eggman's base, there were robots by the hundred rushing here and there, building strange buildings and structures of strange proportions. They were building amazingly fast, faster then any organic creature could ever build. Robots didn't need to rest after all so they could build all day and not get tired. No one could tell what exactly those robots were building but the Chaotix had a hunch this was something evil and deadly. They had to check this out now.

"Hey Espio, feel up to the task?" whispered Vector.

"Certainly." said Espio "I will find out what dark motives that fat man is up to."

And with that he turned invisible. It was almost liked he just vanished into thin air. Then Espio, still invisible, crept up to the construction site. That was the advantage he had of being invisible, he could creep up on anybody and not get found out and nobody would ever see him coming. This made Espio an excellent spy. I bet Sonic's just glad Espio is one of the good guys otherwise they'd be in one heck of a scrape if Espio spied on them for Eggman.

Espio continued sneaking up to the construction site, being aware of any robots nearby so he wouldn't accidentally bump into one and get found out. The funny thing was, even though he was closer to the structures, he still couldn't work out what they were supposed to look like. They were truly weird looking things indeed. What was Eggman building? Maybe he'd find out if he could find the plans to this thing. Then Espio spotted something. In the centre of the construction sight, Dr. Eggman stood there holding a piece of blue paper and bellowing orders at any random robot that went by. Alonzo stood beside him doing nothing in particular. Dr. Eggman noticed this and yelled at him.

"Why are you still standing there doing nothing?" he bellowed "Get helping the others!"

"But sir, I was built to be a waiter, not a builder!" squeaked Alonzo.

"JUST GET ON WITH IT!" roared Eggman.

"Yes master, but don't blame me if it comes out badly!" grumbled Alonzo.

He trundled off to do something. Dr. Eggman watched the construction work going on around him and smiled with satisfaction.

"This new circus park I'm building will be my most brilliant achievement!" he announced more to himself then anybody "I do hope Sonic appreciates the hard work I'm doing just to entertain those miserable Mobians!"

While Eggman was talking, Espio sneaked like a serpent up to the fat scientist and eyed the paper in his hand. He carefully reached out and gripped the paper by the corner. He then proceeded to carefully slip the paper out of Eggman's hand. Funny enough, Dr. Eggman didn't seem to notice. He was probably too focused on the building of his Circus Park. Seeing as Eggman didn't notice he'd pinched the paper, Espio ran for it, still invisible of course. Espio didn't bother slowing down or looking back to see if anyone was after him, he just ran for it as if his life was at stake. As for Dr. Eggman he had finished rambling to himself and looked at the plans for the circus park. Only he couldn't since Espio had pinched them. Dr. Eggman almost went berserk.

"MY PLANS HAVE BEEN STOLEN!" he bellowed "EGGMAN ROBOTS, FIND THAT PAPER OTHERWISE I CANNOT BUILD THE PARK AS I'D PLANNED IT!"

All the robots stopped what they were doing and looked around the site for the plans. Even Alonzo. Espio soon realized Eggman had discovered the missing plans and was now more determined to get out of here. He wasn't watching where he was going and ended up colliding with a giant domed, silver robot carrying a colossal spiked hammer that could squish a truck flat in one smash. The robot felt the bump and turned around to see what it was. He couldn't see anything though since Espio was invisible. But the plans weren't invisible like Espio was so all the robot saw was the plans just lying there. It reached out to grab the plans but Espio stood up and ran off again. To the robot, it looked like the plans just magically picked themselves up and ran off. It scratched its head dimly at that strange little sight, wondering what was going on.

Espio had finally escaped from the construction site and leaped behind the pile of rocks Vector and Charmy were hiding behind.

"So, how did it go Espio?" asked Vector.

"Fairly well." said Espio "I got these plans while I was snooping around."

He handed the blue piece of paper to Vector. Vector unfolded the plans and looked at them. Charmy peered over his shoulder so he could get a look. The plans had very weird looking buildings and structures on them. Some buildings were shaped like ice cream or candy floss and some were shaped like clown's heads. There was a big tent detailed in the centre of the plans. It truly did look like a strange place indeed and Dr. Eggman was obviously building what was on the plans. Charmy looked fascinated due to him being such a ditz.

"What on Mobius is that Eggman building?" said Vector out loud "This is the weirdest looking thing I've ever seen!"

"If I heard him correctly." said Espio "It's supposed to be a circus park. I have no idea why he's building something so childish."

"Who cares? It looks like fun!" giggled Charmy stupidly. He did a few somersaults. "I wanna play! I wanna play!"

"Shut up Charmy!" snarled Vector, grabbing the bee by his head.

"Sorry." said Charmy.

"Did you find out anything else?" asked Vector.

"Well I heard Dr. Eggman saying "I do hope Sonic appreciates the hard work I'm doing just to entertain those miserable Mobians!"" said Espio "I have no idea what that means though."

Vector put a hand to his chin and thought for a moment.

"What exactly is this guy's evil plan?" he thought "We'd best tell Sonic what we've found out. Let's get outta here boys."

"OK!" squealed Charmy for no reason.

"Roger that." said Espio.

And with that, the three Mobians ran away from their hiding place and headed back to Green Hill Zone to inform Sonic the Hedgehog what they had found out.

All was not well back at the under construction circus park. The robots were looking everywhere but not matter where they looked they couldn't find the darn plans anywhere. It was like they had just vanished into thin air or something. Dr. Eggman was getting impatient and Alonzo knew it.

"Why haven't my robots found those plans yet?" roared Dr. Eggman.

"I don't know sir." said Alonzo "My best guess is you might have not been holding onto them very tightly and without you knowing it, they got blown away in the wind."

"You chrome klutz!" cried Dr. Eggman, slapping Alonzo around the head "There is no wind! I can't have possibly lost the plans that way!"

Alonzo rubbed his sore head and groaned.

"I'm just lucky I have a spare set of plans back in the base." said Dr. Eggman "Otherwise my circus park would never get built."

He left the park and went inside his base to get the spare set of plans. Alonzo followed him.

"You know what master, why are you wasting time on this childish park when you could be working on Project: Metal Sonic, the real work of a genius right now?" asked Alonzo.

"Because I like to prove I can build anything." sneered Dr. Eggman "And it's all part of my plan. You see, I'm going to pretend I've turned over a new leaf and I've built this park for entertainment purposes when really I'm leading them into a trap!"

"And by trap, you mean there's a giant roboticizer hiding under the tent." added Alonzo grimly "And you're going to wait until everybody, even Sonic has been fooled by this act before you strike."

"That is correct." said Dr. Eggman "This circus park shall be one of my greatest plans ever!"

And with that he began cackling with glee whereas Alonzo just folded his arms and sighed. Sometimes, he wished his master wouldn't come up with such childish plans and would just focus on the important ones such as Project: Metal Sonic. But nope, his egg-brained master had to come up with a plan to roboticize more puny Mobians. Couldn't that fat moron give it a rest already? He has plenty of robots which he can build himself, why does he need to roboticize Mobians? The reason why was a mystery to the butler bot. Still, at least Dr. Eggman was good at coming up with a way of tricking Mobians. He couldn't wait to see how this worked…

Meanwhile, Team Chaotix had made it back to Green Hill Zone and arrived at Sonic's house. Sonic let them in and they sat themselves down on the sofa.

"So guys, what did you find out?" asked Sonic.

"I got these." said Espio, handing Sonic the plans to the circus park.

Sonic took them, unfolded them and observed them with interest. This was the weirdest looking park he had ever seen in his life and he knew it was bound to be deadly because Dr. Eggman built it. Still, why is Eggman building a park? What kind of evil plan was this? Tails peered over Sonic's shoulder and looked at the plans.

"That's got to be the creepiest looking park I've ever seen." said Tails.

"Not to mention the weirdest." said Sonic "Did you find anything else out?"

"I heard Dr. Eggman saying "I do hope Sonic appreciates the hard work I'm doing just to entertain those miserable Mobians!"" said Espio.

"Hard work just to entertain us?" repeated Tails "What is Eggman's game here?"

"If I didn't know any better he's either turned over a new leaf and is making this park as a way of saying "sorry for all my evil plans in the past" or he's trying to lead us into a trap." said Sonic, crumpling the plans up in his hands. "We'll have to investigate this scenario further. Tails, get Amy and Cream. We're gonna investigate this circus park plot ourselves."

"OK." said Tails.

He left the house and headed for Knothole to get Amy and Cream.

"Thanks for your efforts Chaotix." said Sonic.

"Don't mention it." said Vector "We're just happy we could help."

"Can I play in the circus park Vector?" asked Charmy excitedly "Can I play in the circus park?"

"No you ditz!" snapped Vector "I will not have you charging into an Eggman scheme! If you get caught you'll end up like Miss Vanilla!"

"OK." said Charmy glumly.

"Well I'm off now." said Sonic "See ya around Chaotix."

"See ya Sonic." said Vector "And good luck!"

Sonic nodded and zipped out the open door. He went so fast that after running through the door, the wind that followed him closed the door behind him.

Later that day, Sonic, Tails, Amy and Cream arrived at the Northern Border and hid behind the same bunch of rocks Team Chaotix had hidden behind when they had come here earlier. The four friends poked their heads over the edge to see what they could see. They saw the circus park, still under construction but more or less nearing completion. Most of the buildings had taken shape and appearance whereas some were either missing a paint job or still nearing completion. After all Eggman's robots could build fast, faster then any builder in the world so this was no surprise that it was so near to completion. The four Mobians were surprised at what they were looking at. This really was one heck of a park and they knew it. They had to get a closer look at this.

"OK guys, let's do it to it." said Sonic, about to jolt off.

"Wait Sonic!" cried Tails "Don't you think we should take it nice and slow for once?"

"OK." mumbled Sonic. He hated having to go slow as he loved going fast all the time and going slow bored him a little.

"Amy, do you think that nasty Eggman is going to catch us?" asked Cream, shaking slightly.

"If he tries to, we'll knock him sky high!" said Amy "Especially since I have my Piko-Piko hammer."

She summoned it from nowhere again and gave it a hefty swing.

"Amy put that away!" cried Tails "We want to look like we've come to the park in peace, not like we've come to tear the park to pieces!"

"That's what I'm here for." muttered Sonic.

Amy put her hammer away. The four Mobians then crept slowly out of their hiding place and headed towards the circus park. The closer they got to the park, the more amazing it looked. It was one massive park with seas of bright colours, flashing lights and robots. Most of the robots were providing the finishing touches to the park whereas others were on guard. The four Mobians stopped at the entrance. The entrance was a tall red arch with a black neon sign with red flashing letters saying "WELCOME TO EGGMAN'S EGGS-TRAORDINARY CIRCUS PARK!" The Mobians gaped at the neon sign. If this was a plan to make them think Eggman had turned nice then it certainly would have fooled a lot of people.

"Well I've gotta hand it to ol' eggy." said Sonic "He sure knows how to pretend to make us feel welcome."

"This place looks like fun, don't you agree Cheese?" asked Cream.

"Chao!" squeaked Cheese with excitement.

"Don't lose your heads Cream and Cheese." warned Amy "This place isn't what it seems. And don't forget that Dr. Eggman built it so it's bound to be a trap."

"Where is Eggman anyway?" asked Tails "I don't see him anywhere."

"Well let's look for him shall we?" asked Sonic.

Before he could do anything Alonzo the butler-bot appeared from nowhere and zipped up to the Mobians with a casual expression on his face. This was unusual behaviour for Alonzo, he usually glared, glowered or scowled at the Mobians, not greet them with a friendly face.

"Hello dear Mobians." he said politely "How may I help you?"

Sonic looked at Tails. Tails looked at Sonic. Amy looked at Cream. Cream looked at Amy. What was going on? Alonzo would never have greeted them or spoken to them like that! Something was definitely wrong.

"Um…may we see Mr. Eggman please?" asked Cream "We want to ask him something."

"Certainly little bunny." said Alonzo "I shall fetch him immediately."

And with that the butler-bot zipped off to get Dr. Eggman. The Mobians fought hard to keep the look of confusion of their faces but they couldn't.

"What is going on?" asked Sonic "Alonzo is way out of character right now!"

"I bet he's doing this to trick us." said Amy.

"Well I kinda like the new Alonzo." said Tails "Definitely a lot better then the old snooty slop-bucket he used to be."

"I bet he secretly is still a snooty old slop bucket." said Sonic "We'd better keep our senses alert for anything suspicious."

Then shortly after Sonic had finished talking, Alonzo arrived back at the entrance with Dr. Eggman behind him in his Egg-Mobile which had been painted gold and decorated with images of clown's faces and balloons around the front and sides. A red balloon hung on the back of the Egg-Mobile. Dr. Eggman however had a great big smile on his hideous face. Definitely unusual for him to greet the Mobians in such a manner.

"Hello my former foes!" he said cheerfully "And welcome to Dr. Eggman's Eggs-strodinary Circus Park! I'm afraid you can't come in and have fun yet since the place isn't open yet so I suggest you all leave and come back tomorrow. We'll be all finished by then."

"We didn't come here to have fun." said Sonic calmly "We came here to ask you something."

"Oh really?" said Dr. Eggman, still grinning "What may that be then?"

"What is your evil plan this time?" asked Sonic "Why are you building a circus park?"

Dr. Eggman chortled.

"Oh Sonic I have no evil plans this time." said Dr. Eggman "I have turned over a new leaf. I am now a good guy. And as a way of apologizing for my actions in the past, I'm building this park for all you marvellous Mobians to enjoy. I hope you appreciate my hard work."

"How do we know you aren't lying?" asked Tails.

"Yeah!" added Amy "How do we know this isn't a trick?"

"Oh you two." said Dr. Eggman "There's no need to be suspicious. I am a man of my word. And I give my word this isn't a trick of any kind. And to prove it, I'm giving this wonderful red balloon to one of you."

He took the balloon that floated at the back of the Egg-Mobile and held it out to the Mobians.

"Who wants it?" asked Dr. Eggman.

The Mobians weren't sure what to do. Should they take it or refuse it? The balloon looked totally harmless but appearances can be deceptive so for all they knew, the balloon could be a robot in disguise or even a bomb. Unfortunately, Cream didn't think any of those things; she was spellbound by the kind offer.

"I'll take it Mr. Eggman." said Cream.

She took the balloon from Dr. Eggman and beamed proudly.

"I do hope you enjoy it." said Dr. Eggman happily.

Sonic glared at the balloon suspiciously but said nothing about it. If Cream was happy to have the balloon, she can have it and if it was a robot or whatever he'd be on the scene in no time.

"Thank you Mr. Eggman." said Cream "And since you're being a good guy now, can you please turn my mother back to normal?"

"I haven't got much time on my hands right now little bunny." said Dr. Eggman sadly "But once I get the time, I'll de-roboticize your mother."

"WHAT?" shrieked Sonic "You can't seriously think that you can roboticize someone's mom one minute and then turn them back to normal the next minute and everybody's gonna be OK with that! It doesn't work like that!"

"Sonic, how could you be so inconsiderate to Mr. Eggman?" snapped Cream "He's trying to be nice to us and you accuse him! How could you?"

Sonic face-palmed himself. Cream was one gullible prat. True she was a kid and all but even five year olds weren't this gullible! And Cream's six! Still, maybe he shouldn't jump to conclusions and assume Dr. Eggman is trying to trick everybody. Maybe he was trying to prove he was one of the good guys now.

"I apologize for my angry outburst." Sonic said to Dr. Eggman "But you can't just turn all nice and friendly and expect everybody to be OK with it Eggman. And besides, what about all the robots you still have in other places on Mobius that are blowing cities up?"

"I've ordered them to cease their original priority and return to base." said Dr. Eggman "Their priority now is to entertain Mobians."

Sonic raised a suspicious eyebrow but said nothing more. This all seemed so sudden. First Dr. Eggman wants to turn Mobius into a robot paradise and roboticize the population, next he wants to entertain everybody and be nice to them? What on Mobius came over Eggman's head last night? Still, Sonic didn't trust Dr. Eggman. He was sure this was a very convincing trick well he wasn't falling for it. Unfortunately the others seemed to have fallen for it since they seemed to have warmed up to Eggman's sudden change in personality.

"I really can't wait to see this park when it's open tomorrow!" said Tails "I bet we're all gonna have fun!"

"I certainly agree!" beamed Cream "And my mummy's going to be back to normal soon! I can't wait!"

Cheese joined in the excitement with a chorus of excited chirps. Even Amy was smiling.

"I definitely like nice and friendly Dr. Eggman better then evil and nasty Dr. Eggman." she said.

Sonic groaned. How the heck were Tails, Amy and Cream so convinced Eggman's a good guy now? Eggman wrecked their lives in the past and now he's nice they're over these facts? This just didn't make sense. He had to get out of this looney bin now.

"Um Dr. Eggman we've gotta get going now so bye, bye." said Sonic "I'm looking forward to the circus park tomorrow."

"See you later Sonic." said Dr. Eggman "And I look forward to our newly formed friendship."

Sonic and the others turned around and left the gleaming, glittering circus park behind. After they disappeared over the horizon, Dr. Eggman turned to Alonzo and grinned wickedly.

"The plan is working like a lucky charm!" he said "The fools believe me!"

"Yeah." agreed Alonzo "I hope I don't have to be nice to them again. It was truly revolting."

"You won't have to my steel stooge." purred Dr. Eggman "Once all the Mobians come to my circus park, they'll be spellbound by my marvellous performing robots and then when the time is right, I'll activate the roboticizer that is hiding under the tent."

He pointed at a colossal red tent that stood proudly in the centre of the circus park. That tent was where the clown shows and circus skills were going to be held.

"And I'll roboticize the entire audience!" he added dramatically.

"Oh marvellous marvellous-ness your royal flabbiness." snorted Alonzo sarcastically "And then maybe you'll get on with something really important like Project: Metal Sonic!"

"YOU SHUT UP YOU NUTTY NIT-WIT!" bellowed Dr. Eggman "I'll get on with Metal Sonic when I want to! Right now I just want to increase my Robian army to join my robot army since I'm running low on Robians!"

"And the reason for that is because you were stupid enough to let Tails get away with Port and give it to other Mobians to use." noted Alonzo.

"I DID NOT LET TAILS GET AWAY WITH PORT!" roared Dr. Eggman "I had my hands full when he got away you stooge! What are you Alonzo?"

"I'm a stooge sir." grumbled Alonzo.

He pulled a pointy hat out of a side compartment and put it on. The hat had the word "Stooge" printed on it. Dr. Eggman laughed at him.

"I love it when you do that Alonzo!" he sniggered "Maybe you should be one of the clowns for the circus park. You'll make a lot of Mobians laugh!"

Alonzo swore under his breath and turned his back on his laughing master to sulk to himself.

That evening Sonic, Tails, Amy and Cream arrived back at Sonic's house and gathered around the sitting room to have a chat about Eggman's strange behaviour.

"Well guys and gals that was definitely one strange discovery wasn't it?" said Sonic "Dr. Eggman's mean and evil one minute, nice and friendly the next. Something doesn't add up here."

"I don't care." said Tails "I like Eggman a lot better that way. I hope he'll find a way to make it up to me for the destruction of my village and roboticizing my parents."

"I don't see that happening." muttered Sonic, his ears drooped backwards. "And even though you lot think Dr. Eggman's good now, it still think he's evil and this circus park is part of some evil plot of his."

"Oh Mr. Sonic can you stop being nasty to Dr. Eggman?" asked

Cream crossly "He's trying to be nice to us and you are refusing his kindness. You should be ashamed of yourself!"

"And why should I?" snapped Sonic, leaping to his feet angrily "Eggman tore my home city to the ground*, roboticized many innocents, turned me into a robot and tried to cause Angel Island to fall! And you expect me to forgive him for that just like that?" he snapped his fingers for effect.

"But…" said Cream quietly.

"And what about your mother Vanilla?" added Sonic "Eggman turned her into a robot and you're gonna forgive him for it just like that?" he snapped his fingers for effect again "It doesn't work like that Cream! Eggman is lying to us and I know it! And he's probably lying to you about de-roboticizing Vanilla too! I can't see why you can't see through Eggman's plot you gullible little bunny!"

Cream's eyes went big and round and tears began to well up in them.

"You're so mean Mr. Sonic!" wailed Cream "I can't believe you'd say something like that!"

And with that she ran out of the room crying. Cheese followed her. Amy glared at Sonic crossly.

"Sonic! How could you be so horrible to Cream?" she scolded "She has hopes of getting her mother back and you're crushing them right in front of her by distrusting Dr. Eggman!"

"Don't tell me you think Eggman's really changed!" snapped Sonic "That makes you as dim-witted as Cream is!"

Amy had had enough of Sonic's attitude right now. She slapped the blue hedgehog across the cheek as hard as she could. Sonic was so stunned by that smack he almost fell over backwards.

"Sonic, you'd better change your attitude or else!" growled Amy "And you'd better have a proper apology for me and Cream!"

And with that she stormed out of the room and slammed the door behind her. A picture of Sonic as a five year old fell off its peg and smashed to pieces on the floor. Sonic sat back down on the sofa and rubbed his sore cheek in silence. Tails was so shocked at what just happened he was frozen to the chair.

"Well I never thought someone like Amy would slap you that hard." gasped Tails "And I thought she had a crush on you."

Sonic said nothing. He remained silent and just continued to rub his sore cheek. He was just as shocked as Tails was. He never thought Amy was so bad-tempered she would strike out at him like that. Then again, he shouldn't have been such a jerk to Cream and he shouldn't keep assuming Dr. Eggman's trying to trick everybody. He didn't have proof Eggman was tricking them so therefore, he shouldn't keep jumping to conclusions. The only thing he was concerned about was how he was going to apologize to poor Cream and Amy. Well Cream would probably forgive him instantly whereas Amy would take some time to forgive him. Right now, Sonic needed to have a moment to think about what he had just said to upset the girls.

Night had fallen and the Mobians had decides to hit the sack. Tails had fallen asleep instantly but Sonic just lay in bed staring at the ceiling. So many thought were running through his head. How could he apologize to the girls for what he had said to them earlier? And what about Dr. Eggman's change in personality? Was Eggman really turning good or was this an act for some sinister scheme of his? And if it was, what was his sinister scheme? Hopefully he'd find out some time tomorrow when the park was open. Right now, Sonic needed to get to sleep so he'd be well rested and ready to find out what Eggman was up to.

Not everybody was asleep though. Dr. Eggman was up to something. He and Alonzo were in the show tent and were observing the acts the robots were supposed to be performing for the Mobians to entertain them. Unfortunately, success had been scarce around the tent. You see, the robots weren't that good at performing circus acts. They kept crashing into things or falling over and messing up. One robot was doing some trampoline bouncing.

He bounced on the trampoline higher and higher and higher. The robot did a somersault and a few back flips in midair but on the way down, it lost its balance and missed the trampoline and landed in a bucket of water. The water short circuited the robot and it blew up.

One robot was doing a shooting out of the cannon act. The robot lit the cannon and the cannon blasted the robot inside to pieces instead of shooting it out into the target which was a giant custard pie. Robot parts littered the floor. The robot that fired the cannon was so surprised its eyes popped out on springs.

One robot was supposed to be doing a tightrope walking act but it kept losing its balance and landing on the tight rope crotch first and falling off onto the floor. The robot tried another tightrope walk but it lost its balance and fell onto the rope crotch first. The rope sagged down and then shot back up, sending the robot flying up into the ceiling. It went straight through the ceiling, leaving a tiny hole in it.

Finally, one robot was supposed to be a lion tamer but every time it got into the cage with the lion robot, it chickened out and ran away screaming like a girl. The lion robot ran after it, roaring loudly. It spotted Dr. Eggman and chased him around the tent. Alonzo laughed so hard, his eyes were welling up with oily tears and he was rolling on the floor. Unfortunately, the robot lion saw Alonzo and decided to chase him instead. Alonzo squealed like a girl and ran off as fast as his wheels can go. Dr. Eggman pulled out a remote control and pressed a button. The robot lion skidded to a halt and collapsed on the floor dead as a dumpling. The robot had been turned off. Alonzo sighed with relief but Dr. Eggman was pulling his moustache angrily.

"These useless wits are useless!" grumbled Dr. Eggman "I've built them especially for this job and they mess up like stooges! What am I doing wrong?"

"You can't build a robot to do those kind of things." snapped Alonzo "Robots aren't meant to be circus performers! You need organic performers. I'm pretty sure Mobians could do a much better job then those useless robots."

"You know what Alonzo I think that's a good idea." said Dr. Eggman with appreciation "I think I'm going to kidnap Sonic and his friends and make THEM the performers! I bet I'll get a lot of people coming to see the show since Sonic the Hedgehog will be in it!"

"I imagine they will sir." said Alonzo "Let's just hope you can persuade them to perform for you."

"Oh I will." sneered Dr. Eggman "Oh I will! But it'll have to wait until morning." he added "I don't want them to be too tired to perform."

"Agreed master." said Alonzo.

So the next morning Dr. Eggman sent out a robot to capture Sonic and friends. The robot was cone shaped and coloured metallic blue. It had little features, the visible ones being a circular shape in the centre of the robot and it had no legs and no arms. It just hovered above the ground. This robot was also called "Tranz-Mat" and you'll find out why it's called that later. The robot hovered through the Great Dunes and headed to its designated target, Green Hill Zone where Sonic currently resided and where Knothole was located.

Meanwhile, Amy was still comforting Cream about what Sonic said last night. She hadn't had much success last night since Cream was too upset to listen but now she had had a good night's sleep she'll probably be in more of a listening mood. Amy sat down on the sofa next to Cream and patted her back.

"I know you're still upset after last night Cream but I'm sure Sonic didn't mean it." said Amy "He just got a bit mad that's all."

"I know." said Cream "But I still can't understand why Mr. Sonic keeps thinking Dr. Eggman is playing a trick on us."

"Sonic and Eggman have been enemies for months." noted Amy "Sonic's gonna have a tough time trusting someone he's been toe-to-toe with for a while now."

"Ah, I understand now." said Cream "But I bet once Sonic's seen that circus park of his he'll change his mind about him."

"Maybe or maybe not." said Amy "We'll just have to see about that. Right now, I think we should apologize to Sonic. Me in particular."

"Why, what did you do to Mr. Sonic?" asked Cream.

"I slapped him after he called me dim-witted." said Amy; she stared at the floor sadly "I felt horrible after doing that to him. I hope he'll forgive me for it."

"I'm sure he will Miss Rose." said Cream, smiling.

"Chao." Cheese added in agreement.

Amy smiled back. Cream was definitely a good friend to have around. In fact, Cream felt like a sister to Amy. If Vanilla ever got de-roboticized and Cream had to go back home with her, Amy would end up feeling like she was missing somebody around the house. Still, at least Cream would be happy and Amy would try to be happy for her.

Outside, Tranz-Mat hovered slowly past Amy's house and then stopped. It hovered back and peered through the window. It saw Amy and Cream talking to each other on the sofa with Cheese fluttering next to Cream. Tranz-Mat scanned the three of them with its tiny circular eye above the circular disc in the middle. They all registered as friends of Sonic the Hedgehog so that meant one thing; it had found what it had been sent for.

"Mobian presence detected." it droned in a musical voice "Commence transmat beam."

Now you see why this robot is called Tranz-Mat, it fires transmat beams. The circular disc in the centre of the robot fired a yellow and white electrical beam and it hit Amy. Amy yelped in surprise and then in the blink of an eye, vanished into thin air. Cream screamed and gasped. But before she could do anything else, Tranz-Mat fired at her. Cream yelped as she was hit and then just like Amy before her, she vanished into thin air. Only Cheese was left but Tranz-Mat hardly noticed the little Chao. It hadn't been sent to capture Chao, it had been sent to capture Mobians so Tranz-Mat turned away from Amy's now empty house and hovered away to find Sonic or some more of his friends. Cheese, sensing this meant trouble, fluttered after the cone-shaped robot.

Meanwhile, Sonic was pacing up and down the living room back and forth. He was deep in thought about something. He still didn't know how to make it up to the girls. And he was still having a train of thought about Dr. Eggman's change in personality and what evil plans he probably had. As for Tails, he was once again listening to his spy machine to see if he could hear anything from Dr. Eggman this time. Only he couldn't hear anything because Dr. Eggman wasn't in his base, he was in the circus park making the final arrangements. Tails decided to pack it up for now since he wasn't getting anything from anyone. He took his earphones off and laid them beside the machine. He sighed to himself. Some spy he was turning out to be. He hadn't found anything out from Dr. Eggman yet. Maybe it was because he was just getting unlucky right now and every time he tried to listen on Eggman, he was somewhere else. Maybe so he was more likely to hear Eggman in other places he should set up microphones in other rooms around his base. That way Tails could hear him no matter which room he was in. But that would have to wait for now. Tails got up from his desk and noticed Sonic was still aimlessly pacing up and down. He had been doing that since breakfast and Tails was getting tired of it.

"Sonic can you please stop that?" said Tails "You're making me tried just watching you."

"Then don't watch me." snapped Sonic.

"What are you so worked up about anyway?" asked Tails.

"Well there's the fact I need to make it up to the girls after upsetting them last night." noted Sonic "And there's the other fact I'm still trying to work out what Dr. Eggman's up to."

"Oh Sonic why do you keep thinking Eggman's up to something?" said Tails, the tone of annoyance in his voice was noticeable "He's a changed man now. Can't you see that?"

"Do you think after eight months of whopping his backside and saving the world from his evil plans I'm gonna suddenly decide everything's alright now?" snapped Sonic "I don't care what anyone says, I still think he's evil and he's gonna have to do a lot to convince me he's changed."

"Well that's kinda reasonable I must admit." said Tails "But give him a chance will you? Everybody deserves a second chance."

"Fine." muttered Sonic grumpily "But don't blame me if you all end up being roboticized or something."

Outside, Tranz-Mat was still searching for Sonic or any of his friends. It hadn't found them in Knothole so it left Knothole and searched the area Sonic was located in. It spotted the lone house and decided to go up to it and peek through the window to see if what he was looking for was in that house. Tranz-Mat peeked through the window and saw Sonic and Tails talking to one another. It scanned them. The scan registered positive, Tranz-Mat had found what he was looking for again.

"Mobian presence detected, commence transmat beam." it droned.

It was about to fire its transmat beam at the two Mobians but Sonic and Tails both left the living room. Tranz-Mat stopped itself and waited to see what would happen next. The front door opened and Sonic and Tails walked out of it.

"We'll see what this circus park is really like." said Sonic "If it's an entirely innocent little show then I might be convinced Eggman's changed after all."

"I bet we're gonna have lots of fun." said Tails "And I bet Eggman's gonna make some funny robots to perform funny antics…"

Tranz-Mat fired its yellow electrical beam at Tails and hit him in the back. Tails screamed and Sonic gasped in shock as Tails was wiped out of existence. Sonic blinked in surprise. His jaw dropped.

"Wha…? What the heck?" he gasped.

Then Tranz-Mat fired again. Sonic saw the blast coming just in time and jumped out of the way. Tranz-Mat fired again. Sonic dodged and ducked the cone-shaped robot's blasts. Cheese came onto the scene and gazed at the scene before him. Tranz-Mat had found Sonic and was now trying to shoot him. But no matter how many times Tranz-Mat fired, Sonic always dodged. The blue hedgehog was just miles too quick for the hovering robot.

"You may have dissolved Tails into atoms but you're not doing the same to me!" yelled Sonic.

Tranz-Mat continued showering Sonic with transmat beams but missed every single time it fired. As Sonic continued dodging the blasts, he began to grit his teeth angrily.

"I knew Eggman hadn't changed!" he said to himself "I bet he sent that robot to destroy us! Well after I deal with this floating traffic cone I'm gonna have a word with him!"

Trouble was, could Sonic keep this up? Would Tranz-Mat eventually catch him off guard and dissolve him into atoms too? All that mattered now was trying to evade the robot and eventually come in for the kill.

Amy and Cream slowly sat up and opened their eyes.

"Man what happened?" mumbled Amy sleepily.

"Where are we?" asked Cream, shaking.

Amy had no idea so she observed her surroundings. They appeared to be in a giant tent seeing as there were tent poles everywhere. This must be part of the circus park. But why were they brought here? And how did they get here? Then Amy remembered being blasted a moment ago. Maybe a robot had teleported them here? All that Amy knew was she and Cream were in a tent and possibly in Eggman's circus park. Then suddenly a bright yellow flash appeared from nowhere in midair and Tails suddenly appeared out of the blue. He fell to the ground face first. Amy ran over to him and helped him up.

"Oh Tails are you hurt?" she asked.

"Not really, just my nose is." groaned Tails, rubbing his nose "Where am I?"

"I think we're in a tent." said Amy "See those tent poles?" she pointed at the tent poles.

"Why are we in a tent?" asked Tails "And how the heck did I get here?"

"I dunno." said Amy "I'm not even sure how me and Cram got here although I do remember being blasted by something."

That statement made Tails think for a moment.

"Do you think we might have been brought here by a transmat beam?" asked Tails "Because I vaguely recall getting blasted in the back a few seconds ago."

"Well however we got here, I bet Eggman's responsible!" said Amy crossly "Only he would dare to kidnap us like this!"

Then suddenly as if on cue, Dr. Eggman appeared from nowhere. He looked very different though. Rather then his traditional outfit, he wore a ringmaster's outfit which consisted of a glittering purple top hat, a glittering red coat, a green bow tie, and his traditional black trousers. Alonzo stood beside him, still the same as before. The three captured Mobians gazed at him in disbelief.

"Welcome friends to the Grand Opening of…Eggman's Eggs-strodinary Circus Park!" Dr. Eggman announced at the top of his voice…

Footnotes:

 See the previous story

 See the previous story (again)

 See Story 15

* See Story 2 for Mobotropolis' downfall

 See the now famous Mecha Sonic saga (Stories 12-14)

 See Stories 8-9 (how many footnotes are there?)

I know the plot sounds ridiculous right now but believe me, it's not as ridiculous as it looks! ;) Join me next time as Sonic and friends have a show of epic comedy and circus stunts! Reviews will be greatly appreciated.

The Circus Park Part 2

Story 18: The Circus Park Part 2

"Eggman!" shrieked Amy, pulling out her hammer and getting ready to pounce on him "I should have known you were responsible for this!"

"Responsible for what my dear?" purred Dr. Eggman in an unusually polite tone.

"Warping us here via transmat beam!" snapped Tails.

"Oh that?" sniggered Dr. Eggman "I sent a robot out to warp you here to save you the trouble of walking all the way here that's all."

"You are a liar!" snarled Amy, twirling her hammer "You obviously sent that robot to kidnap us! Now admit it!"

Dr. Eggman just laughed in the pink hedgehog's face.

"My dear, I am one hundred percent honest here." he lied "I did not send that robot to kidnap you three; I sent it to warp you here so you didn't have to go through such a long walk to get here."

Amy would have continued ranting at the fat man until Tails pulled her back by the shoulders and shook his head at her as if he was saying "Drop it Amy, this is getting us nowhere." Amy, seeing that Tails was right, breathed in deeply and breathed out to calm herself down.

"OK Eggman, we'll let you off this once." said Tails "But you'd better promise to warp us back home once we've finished here."

"You have my word as a kind-hearted scientist." fibbed Dr. Eggman.

"So, what do we do now?" asked Cream quietly.

"We prepare for the show of course!" boomed Dr. Eggman, twirling his top hat and throwing it into the air and catching it again.

"What show?" asked Tails "You mean a show with clowns and such?"

"Precisely." said Dr. Eggman, grinning widely "And as luck as it, you three get to be my performers!"

The three Mobians stared at Dr. Eggman with their mouths open. Eggman wanted THEM to be the clowns? What was going on around here?

"We wanted to come to this park to enjoy the show, not be in the show egg-brains!" yelled Amy "Why don't you whip up a couple of robots and make them the performers."

"Oh he tried." said Alonzo "But the ding-bats keep failing and blowing each other to bits. And that's because Dr. Eggman was too stupid to realize you can't get a robot to successfully perform circus acts."

Dr. Eggman decided to ignore his snobby sidekick's insults.

"So you see, I haven't got any performers." he said "So I'm kindly asking you to fill in for my robots."

The three Mobians looked at each other. Should they do what Dr. Eggman was asking them to do? Or should they just say no and run for it? Then again, running for it wasn't such a good idea since Sonic wasn't here to help them and the circus park was likely to be crawling with robots so they may as well be the clowns. It might even be enjoyable. So the decision was made, they would reluctantly sign up for the show and be the performers.

"OK Dr. Eggman, we'll do it." said Tails "But there'd better not be a sneaky little twist behind this or we won't perform."

"The show is completely harmless little Tails." said Dr. Eggman "I can assure you it is. Alonzo, take them to the changing rooms." he added.

"Yes sir." said Alonzo "This way little Mobians."

He led the Mobians to the other side of the tent and led them through a flap that led to the backstage where the changing rooms were located. The Mobians had no idea what they had to do but they knew they had to otherwise Eggman's attempt to prove he's a changed man would be a giant flop. Tails just hoped Sonic was alright back home.

Speaking of the speedy hedgehog, Sonic was still playing cat and mouse with Tranz-Mat. The floating cone-shaped robot was proving to be quite persistent with its attack. No matter how many times Sonic dodged Tranz-Mat's transmat beams, the cone-shaped robot just carried on endlessly. Tranz-Mat was a very loyal robot after all and once it was given a priority, it didn't stop until it completed it similar to how Mecha Sonic wouldn't stop until his priority was completed. Sonic was beginning to get frustrated with Tranz-Mat now. He dived for shelter in a rose bush. Tranz-Mat began searching the area for the blue hedgehog. Sonic kept watch through the rose bush.

"That's one stubborn robot." he said to himself "Well it can be stubborn all it wants, it's not gonna get me."

The only trouble was how was Sonic going to stop Tranz-Mat. He could risk a head on attack but Tranz-Mat might see him and blast him into atoms before he could hit. Then Sonic remembered who he was, the fastest thing alive. He'd be too quick for Tranz-Mat to catch. Tranz-Mat floated around aimlessly, looking for Sonic. It floated past Sonic's hiding place. Now was the time to attack. Sonic leaped out of the bush and homing attacked Tranz-Mat in the back. He didn't smash it to pieces though. The startled robot span around crazily and bounced off a nearby tree. After Tranz-Mat stopped spinning it began searching for Sonic again.

"Target initiating hostile resistance." it droned musically "Must remain vigilant."

Sonic however, had hidden back in the rose bush so he could leap out and attack Tranz-Mat again. Tranz-Mat hovered by the rose bush again. Sonic leaped out and spin-dashed it in the back. This attack did more damage to Tranz-Mat seeing as he had now sent it hurtling over in a cartwheel but he still didn't smash the robot to pieces. Tranz-Mat was one tough robot. Cheese the Chao, Cream's pet and best friend had been watching the whole fight and decided to give Sonic a hand. After Tranz-Mat got back upright, Cheese flew into its eye and blocked its vision. Tranz-Mat couldn't see anything now the little Chao was in the way. It just began to spin around crazily and blindly. Sonic watched this little event and pulled a face. He couldn't see Cheese on the robot so to him it looked like Tranz-Mat was just spinning around like a mad thing. Seeing his chance, Sonic decided to finish Tranz-Mat off. He leaped out of his hiding place and attacked Tranz-Mat with yet another spin-dash. Cheese flew out of the way before Sonic walloped Tranz-Mat in the side with his spin-dash. The spin-dash was so powerful, Tranz-Mat hurtled across the grass spinning like an out of control roundabout and hit a tree. The dazed and startled robot collapsed on its side and shut off.

"Chao! Chao!" cooed Cheese happily.

Sonic wiped sweat off of his forehead.

"Whew!" he said "Those robots are defiantly getting better at this! I'm gonna have to work out so I'll be sharper and swifter then ever!"

Then he noticed Cheese dancing about happily. Confused at the sight of the little Chao without Cream, he called to him.

"Hey Cheese, where's Cream?" he asked.

Cheese stopped dancing and tried to tell Sonic about Amy and Cream's abduction earlier, but being a Chao he didn't speak English; he only spoke Chao language so Sonic had no idea what he was saying. Sonic knew this was going nowhere so he stopped Cheese.

"Sorry little guy, I don't speak Chao." he said "You'll have to find a different way to communicate with me."

Cheese thought for a moment and then had an idea. He picked up a nearby twig and began to draw some pictures in the soil. Sonic watched Cheese as he drew. The little Chao doodled and doodled until it drew a picture of Tranz-Mat firing its transmat beam. Then Cheese added some stick figures to the soil picture that were supposedly meant to assemble Cream and Amy in front of Tranz-Mat's firing beam. Sonic realized what Cheese was trying to say to him.

"Aha!" he exclaimed "I get it. Are you trying to tell me that floating traffic cone blasted Amy and Cream?"

Cheese nodded.

"So he zapped them to atoms too?" shrieked Sonic "Oh man! How am I gonna save the girls and Tails now?"

"Chao?" said Cheese.

"That robot got Tails earlier and tried to get me." explained Sonic "And I bet Dr. Eggman's responsible! I'm gonna march over to that circus park and give him what for!"

While he was ranting, Tranz-Mat suddenly re-booted online and descended slowly back up right. Tranz-Mat spotted Sonic and before the blue hedgehog could jolt away, Tranz-Mat blasted him with a transmat beam! And Cheese was directly behind Sonic so he got blasted too! Now they would be transported to Eggman's shifty tent in his shifty circus park…

Meanwhile at the Circus Park, the Mobians had changed from their old outfits to clown outfits. They emerged from the changing room so Alonzo could see them.

Amy looked absolutely ridiculous in an oversized yellow frock with green and blue polka-dots, matching trousers, big blue floppy shoes and a flat yellow hat with pink polka dots and a wobbly spring on top. She didn't know for sure why it was there.

Tails was a comedic sight for anyone. He wore floppy purple shoes that were even bigger then Amy's and he could hardly walk in them, he wore a red shirt with yellow polka-dots and his face had been smeared from top to bottom with make-up. He now had big red lips; big red eyes and his face had been covered from top to bottom. And to add insult to injury, he had a big red honky nose that squeaked every time he squeezed it.

And finally, Cream came out. Her ears had been tied up in a ridiculous knot to give her a comedic appearance. She wore an oversized blue dress with red polka-dots that dragged on the floor, green floppy shoes that were tattered and torn in places, a really tall orange hat that could be squished down flat and would pop back up afterwards and a clown mask with a big smiley face and thin eye holes. Cream could barely see through them and spent half the time fumbling about.

Alonzo couldn't hold it in any more and he shrieked with laughter. The Mobians were not impressed at all.

"These clothes are awful!" whined Amy "This frock makes me look huge!"

"And these shoes make my feet feel ten feet long." added Tails "And why am I the only one with make up?"

"I dunno." said Cream "Maybe Mr. Eggman thought you'd look funnier with make up. I have no idea why I'm wearing this silly mask I can hardly see out of."

Alonzo continued laughing like a gremlin at them. He was laughing so hard he was rolling on the floor uncontrollably. If he was a human, his sides would be aching like mad. Amy began to get cross.

"And what exactly is the matter?" she growled.

"I'm sorry you three…hee, hee!" laughed Alonzo "I've never seen such a funny sight! Little old you and your little old friends, skulking around in those ridiculous clown outfits! Ho! Ho! Ho!"

"Well thank you for your sympathy." muttered Tails.

"Oh come on, see the funny side of it." said Alonzo kindly as he got back onto his wheels "If you see yourself in the mirror, you'll be laughing your head off I'm sure."

Then he burst into laughter again. Amy had had enough of Alonzo taunting them. She summoned her hammer and whacked Alonzo's head so hard she sent it flying clean off! The head landed near the entrance to the showroom of the tent. Alonzo's body dropped down to the floor and began searching for his missing head. After a while of fumbling about, he finally found it near the entrance. He picked it up and put it back onto his body. Then he began to rant at Amy.

"Now you see here missy!" he ranted, shaking his fists "You've got to treat all robots with respect around here! Especially as we're not your enemies anymore! I'm going to have a word with Dr. Eggman about this and you'll be in big, big…"

Amy merely bopped him on the head and the servant bot fell apart. His pieces littered the floor. Cream and Tails laughed at him.

"I hate it when that happens." grumbled Alonzo.

"Who's laughing now Alonzo?" jeered Amy, sticking her tongue out at him.

"Are you three ready yet?" Eggman's voice called out from outside.

"We're ready!" Amy called out to him.

The three Mobians walked into the showroom. Alonzo just put himself back together (I still don't know how he does it) and trundled out after them. Dr. Eggman, who had been making tweaks to the tightrope, spotted the costumed Mobians and tried hard not to snicker at their appearances. Instead he contained himself and said.

"My but those costumes suit you so well!"

"Yeah right." moaned Amy "They suit us like dirt!"

"I think I look alright." said Cream "I wish I could take off the mask since I can hardly see through it."

"Why am I the only one with make-up on?" Tails complained.

"Because it looks funnier on you." sneered Dr. Eggman "Now, let's begin the rehearsals shall we? We have four hours until show time so we have plenty of time to practice our skills."

"What do you want us to do?" asked Tails suspiciously.

Dr. Eggman didn't answer, instead he instructed Alonzo to announce from a check board he was now holding. Alonzo cleared his throat and read:

"The show's schedule goes like this: We begin with ten minutes of juggling and unicycle riding, then we go onto the tightrope walking, then we go onto shooting out of cannons into targets, then the lion taming act and the finale will consist of various circus acts. Tails will be juggling, Amy will be unicycle riding, Cream will be tightrope walking, Tails and Cream will be doing the cannon shooting, Amy will be lion taming and all three of you will be performing the finale."

The Mobians were flabbergasted. This was going to be a long, hard, sweaty rehearsal.

"Do you really expect us to learn all that in four hours time?" shrieked Amy "We'll never be all trained up in that amount of time!"

"It doesn't matter if you mess up in any of those acts." explained Dr. Eggman "It'll just add up to the comedy factor."

"So is there any point rehearsing if you don't mind if we mess up?" asked Cream.

"Well I want the cannon and lion taming acts to go right." said Eggman admittedly "So get rehearsing or you don't get a lunch break!"

The Mobians obeyed instantly and dashed off to practice their acts. Tails picked up three juggling balls and gazed at them absentmindedly. He had no idea how to juggle balls so he just threw them around, guessing that's how they worked. He threw them up into the air and they all landed smack bang on his head. Tails rubbed his sore head as Alonzo laughed at him.

Amy however, tried unicycle riding. A unicycle is a bicycle with only one wheel so it was a very difficult vehicle to ride on and Amy knew it. Still she had to practice so she wouldn't make a fool of herself in front of the audience. Amy pulled herself up onto the unicycle and inevitably, fell off after it tipped backwards. Amy stood the unicycle up again and tried to get on again but the moment she did, the unicycle fell forward and she hit the floor face first. Her nose hurt so much she thought it was going to explode. A small tear escaped her eye. Amy tried once again to get onto the unicycle. She managed to get onto the seat but the unicycle began to tip forward. Amy slammed her feet on the pedals frantically and began to push the unicycle forward. The unicycle stopped tipping and balanced in an upright position. Amy continued pedalling the one wheeled thing. It then began to tip backwards but Amy held her arms forward to balance herself and the unicycle stopped tipping. Amy beamed with pride. She was beginning to get the hang of this. She waved her arms about in triumph as she pedalled around the tent. Tails and Cream stared at Amy in amazement and so did Dr. Eggman. The fat scientist was impressed with how fast Amy had managed to learn how to ride the unicycle. Amy waved at Tails and Cream as she rode along. Unfortunately she didn't see a robot marching about setting up the cannon act and rode straight into the robot. The unicycle hurtled forward and over the startled robot and Amy was sent flying through the air. Amy then landed with a mighty crash into a taco stand. The stand was destroyed and taco shells, taco sauce, grated cheese, lettuce leaves and a bowl of minced meat flew straight up into the air. Then without warning came crashing down on top of poor Amy Rose. The poor pink hedgehog was now covered in red hot taco sauce, bits of cheese, lettuce leaves and broken crispy taco shells. The bowl of mince meat landed with a splat on her head. Amy looked very silly and very messy indeed. Tails and Cream ran over to her aid whereas Dr. Eggman and Alonzo exploded with laughter. This was by far the funniest thing they had seen all day.

"You know what Alonzo?" cackled Eggman "If this wasn't a rehearsal, I'd think this was the actual show!"

"Why don't we actually make that happen sir?" suggested Alonzo "It'd be a hit amongst the foolish audience!"

"Maybe I will." purred Dr. Eggman. He pulled out the schedule board and added a few extra notes to it as if he was making a rewrite to the show. As for Amy, Tails and Cream helped her to her feet. Amy threw the bowl off her head and wiped a few bits of taco of herself.

"Are you alright Miss Rose?" asked Cream in a squeaky voice.

"I'm half dead to be honest." joked Amy "But I'm fine. Just messy."

"I think the moral of today is to watch where you're going Amy." said Tails.

"You don't have to tell me twice." muttered Amy.

"Come on, let's get you cleaned up Miss Rose." said Cream.

"No that won't be necessary." said Dr. Eggman; finally containing his laughter "We unfortunately don't have washing utensils installed in these premises. Amy will have to have a costume change."

So the three Mobians took Amy to the backstage to change her costume. The moment the left though, a bright flash emitted from behind the audience seats. And after the flash faded away, Sonic the Hedgehog and Cheese the Chao appeared. Sonic lay there, not really sure what was going on. Cheese regained his senses and looked around. He saw Sonic still lying there and shook him gently to wake him up. Sonic opened his eyes and sat up on his bottom. He rubbed his aching head as he tried to regain his vision.

"What a trip through hyperspace…" mumbled Sonic dimly "I wonder where I…"

His vision returned and he suddenly realized he had no idea where he was. He got to his feet and looked up at the ceiling. He couldn't see the sky so he realized he was not outside anymore, he was inside something but he had no idea what. Then he realized something else. How did he get here? Shouldn't he have been blasted into atoms after Tranz-Mat shot him? Then it dawned on him. Maybe Tranz-Mat didn't blast people to atoms, he teleported people so when the robot shot him, it merely teleported him into this strange location. And if that was the case then maybe it didn't blast Tails, Amy and Cream to atoms as well, it must have teleported them here just like it teleported him here. Wherever "here" was. Sonic saw Cheese cooing at something around the corner of the seats. Sonic crept up to the corner and poked his head around it. He saw Dr. Eggman in his ringmaster outfit standing there, clearly waiting for something. Sonic soon realized where he was. He must be in Eggman's Circus Park otherwise he wouldn't be wearing a ringmaster's outfit. And this thing he was in must be a circus tent because it certainly looked like it due to the tent poles and the tightrope walking apparatus. Why on Mobius would that robot teleport him into Eggman's circus park rather then a roboticizer or something? Many questions whirled around Sonic's brain but he didn't know the answer to any of them. For the time being, Sonic decided to watch and wait and see what was going on. Cheese however, fluttered out of the hiding place and looked around.

"Come back Cheese or Eggman will see you!" hissed Sonic.

Cheese ignored him and continued looking around. Then he saw Tails, Amy and Cream coming out from the backstage, all wearing clown's outfits. Amy had changed hers and now wore a pink oversized frock with orange polka-dots, a spare pair of blue shoes and another flat yellow hat with pink polka dots and a wobbly spring on top. Cheese, delighted to see Cream, flew towards him with excitement. Cream saw Cheese and caught him in her arms and hugged her pet tightly.

"Oh Cheese I'm so glad to see you!" she squealed.

"Chao! Chao!" cried Cheese.

"Wait a minute." said Tails suddenly "How the heck did Cheese get here?"

"Do you think that robot with the teleporting laser beam thingy got him?" wondered Amy.

"Likely." said Tails "I just hope it blasted Sonic here so he can get us out of this circus nightmare."

"Stop talking to yourselves and get on with your rehearsals!" roared Dr. Eggman impatiently.

The three Mobians leaped into action and got back to their rehearsals. Sonic stayed where he was and watched his friends rehearse. Tails was now trying to juggle balls, Amy was once again, trying to ride the unicycle and Cream practiced the tightrope walk which did fortunately have a safety net for her in case she fell off. Tails was getting much better at the juggling act now. He threw the balls into the air one at a time and caught them in his other hand and then threw them up again. Unfortunately he slipped up and ended up with the balls landing on his head again. One ball smacked him on the nose. Tails yelped and clutched his nose. As for Amy, she continued pedalling on the unicycle as she rode around the tent, this time being wearier of any stray robots marching around. As for Cream, she held the pole in her hands and steadily walked across the thin tightrope. She wobbled ever so much but she managed to regain her balance and continue walking. Cheese sort of followed her and cheered her on. Sonic decided he had had enough of watching his friends do these circus acts and decided it was time for him to step in and save the day. But before he could go anywhere, he bumped into a giant bulky robot with a hideous scowling face and enormous mechanical biceps. It looked like it could pack quite a punch. Sonic stared up at the robot nervously and smiled uneasily at it.

"Um, hit blot brains." he said, sweating "I was just looking for the hot dog stand."

The robot seized him with one giant metal hand and lifted him off the ground. Sonic squirmed in the robot's incredible grip.

"Put me down you walking scrap yard!" Sonic ordered.

The robot ignored him and took him to Dr. Eggman in the centre of the stage. Dr. Eggman stopped watching the Mobians rehearse and smiled happily.

"Oooh!" he squealed in a girlish fashion "You've got Sonic the Hedgehog! Well done BI-CEP!"

BI-CEP said nothing and merely dropped Sonic on the ground. Sonic shook his head and glared at the fat man.

"Alright Dr. Eggman!" he said angrily "When we wanted to come to the circus park, this wasn't what we had in mind!"

"My apologies Sonic." said Dr. Eggman "I can't make a robot that can perform a circus act correctly so I decided to ask your friends to be the performers instead."

"I see." said Sonic, still being suspicious about this "But why did you send a robot to teleport them here? Didn't it occur to you it would kinda make them think you were kidnapping them?"

"I did it to save them the trouble of walking here." said Dr. Eggman "Including you."

"Well it eventually got me." said Sonic "But you didn't need to teleport me here, I could easily run from my place to here in a matter of minutes."

"Indeed." said Dr. Eggman "Now you're here Sonic, would you care to join your friends in the circus performance?"

Sonic thought for a moment before finally saying "No thanks, I'll watch the show instead."

"Very well." said Dr. Eggman "I hope you enjoy the show."

He pulled out a whistle and blew it hard. Sonic covered his ears due to how loud Eggman blew the whistle.

"Clowns! It's lunch time!" he announced "Be back here in twenty minutes!"

Tails, Amy and Cream stopped what they were doing and ran to the backstage. Sonic followed them into the backstage. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo left the tent to have their lunch break. Sonic peeked around the corner to see if the coast was clear. Then he turned back to his friends who were clearly happy to see him. Tails hugged Sonic.

"Sonic! I'm so glad you're here at last!" he cried with joy.

"It's good to see you too Tails." said Sonic with a smile "Same to you Amy and Cream."

"Why did you come here Sonic?" asked Amy "Have you come to rescue us?"

"Well not exactly." said Sonic "I was kinda teleported here, same as you three so I didn't come here by choice. And besides, why would I need to rescue you? You don't look like you need rescuing."

"We do need rescuing!" snapped Amy "From this circus act! I refuse to wear this crummy oversized dress a minute longer! And I'm tired of looking ridiculous and hurting myself!"

"Miss Rose, I'm sure it's not that bad." said Cream quietly.

"Nah, it's much worse." laughed Sonic "You three look like a bunch of stooges!"

"Are you begging for me to give you a migraine Sonic?" growled Amy, the fire in her eyes becoming very noticeable "Because it almost sounds like you are!"

"No not at all Amy!" Sonic yelped in fright "I didn't mean to laugh at you; I meant it in a light hearted way!"

"Well I bet you won't be laughing once I stuff you in a clown's costume!" yelled Amy.

"Amy calm down!" shrieked Tails "This is going nowhere!"

Amy stopped grumbling and turned her back on her hero. Sonic giggled nervously.

"That's Amy for you." he said "Easy to rile, hard to clam."

"So Sonic, do you have any idea on how we're gonna get outta here?" asked Tails.

"Well I thought about making a dash for it once the show is over." said Sonic "Because I have this weird feeling Eggman's gonna try something once the show ends."

"OK Sonic." said Tails "But remember to be careful."

"Sure I will!" said Sonic, winking and giving Tails his trademark thumbs up sign "I won't get caught by any of Eggman's smelly robots! Now where's lunch? I'm one hungry hedgehog."

Alonzo appeared from nowhere, carrying a tray full of food.

"My master requested me to deliver this to you." he said, handing Sonic the tray.

The tray was full of hot-dogs from the hot-dog stands. Sadly, there were no Chilli-Dogs on the tray but Sonic didn't mind as long as he got something to munch on. The friends eat their lunches in silence and prepared for the upcoming show that would begin in three more hours…

Showtime!

A massive crowd of Mobians lined up to get into the enormous circus tent. Dr. Eggman had let everybody know about his Egg-strodinary Circus Park by having his robots send out leaflets everywhere. He had also remembered to add "This is not an evil scheme of any sorts, this is purely out of kindness to celebrate my turn to the good side." so the Mobians would go. There were Mobians from many places at this park. Some from Mobotropolis, some from Empire City, some from Central City and some from many more places around the world. The Circus Park had been a huge hit so far. There had been firework displays, candyfloss, hot dogs, fortune tellers and Alonzo even did a fire dance for the entertained crowd (he did accidentally set fire to the stage though and ended up scorched and blackened). And now it was the main event of the day, the Eggs-cellent Circus Park Super Show which the Mobians were queuing up for right now. Eggman robots helped them find a seat. Sonic the Hedgehog say in the front row so he could get the best view. He had to admit it though, the park was pretty cool and he'd enjoyed himself so far. Maybe Dr. Eggman had turned over a new leaf after all. Now all that was left was the Super Show and if that went on without any dodgy acts Sonic could congratulate Eggman on his new found kindness. As for Tails, Amy and Cream, they poked their heads around the corner and almost fainted with what they saw.

"Oh my gosh!" cried Tails "I bet half of Mobius is here!"

"I think I'm gonna die of nervousness." gulped Amy "I don't think I can do this."

"Come on Miss Rose." said Cream gently "Don't worry too much. My mother always said if you're nervous it's best to keep your mind off the crowd and keep your mind on what you're doing and that way, you're less likely to mess up."

Amy smiled at the six year old rabbit. Even in the most intense moments, she still remained confident and wanted her friends to remain confident too.

"Thanks Cream." said Amy, stroking Cream's head "You're such a big help. Now let's get out here and knock them dead!"

"Yeah!" cheered Tails, punching the air excitedly.

The three Mobians emerged from the backstage as Ringmaster Dr. Eggman made his announcement.

"Ladies and Gentlemen, Mobians of all ages." he boomed into the microphone "I present to you, the main event of Eggman's Egg-strodinary Circus Park, the Eggs-cellent Circus Park Super Show!"

The crowd erupted into cheer. Sonic however just clapped sarcastically as he still didn't trust this show. Still, at least his friends were the ones performing and he couldn't wait to see how well they do.

"Now let us begin with this Eggs-cellent show." continued Eggman "By introducing our clowns. Please welcome, Binky, Bonky and Coco!"

Sonic snorted with laughter. Eggman had to humiliate his friends further by giving them daft names didn't he? But hey, it's a circus show, clowns have daft names. Tails, Amy and Cream took the centre stage and waved at the applauding crowd. Eggman spoke into his microphone again.

"Now our first act is juggling, which will be provided by Binky."

Binky, which was the clown name Eggman had given Tails, bowed down to the crowd as he prepared for the act. Sonic watched with intent as Alonzo handed Tails the juggling balls. The audience fell silent, waiting for the act to begin. Tails took a deep breath, and juggled. He threw the balls into the air one by one and caught them before they could fall. He juggled them around and around and around without a single stop. The crowd gave out several "Oooh's" and "Aaah's". Even Sonic was pretty impressed with Tails' juggling. He'd learnt how to juggle pretty quickly hadn't he? Tails continued juggling the balls and then he threw them into the air, did a handstand, and juggled them with his feet! The crowd gasped. Then Tails threw them into the air, got back on his feet, caught them with his tails, and juggled the balls with his tails! The crowd shrieked with joy at this amazing performing fox. Tails then finished off by throwing the balls into the air and holding a hat out to catch them in. Only two went in the hat, the third one missed and bonked him on the head. Tails ignored the pain in his skull and said

"Ta da!"

The crowd erupted into applause. Tails bowed down modestly. Sonic whooped and whistled at his friend.

"Tails that was sweet!" he called out to him.

Tails bowed at Sonic and walked off the stage.

"Now wasn't that an amazing way to start the show?" said Dr. Eggman, taking back the centre stage "Now our next act is unicycle riding which will be provided by Bonky. Enjoy everybody."

Dr. Eggman walked off the stage and Alonzo set up the unicycle. Amy, who had taken the clown name Bonky for some reason, climbed onto the unicycle. It began to titter and totter for a few seconds but Amy hit the pedals with her feet and regained balance. Then, just like she did in rehearsals, she pedalled all around the stage on the one wheeled bike. The crowd were pretty amazed at what Amy was doing right now. Unicycle riding was not an easy thing to do. Amy waved at the crowd as she cycled past them. Then

Dr. Eggman added something else to the fray. He threw the juggling balls at Amy. Amy caught them and juggled them around while riding the unicycle. That was a pretty impressive act considering you have to focus on pedalling a one wheeled bike while remaining balanced and juggling balls at the same time. Amy was pretty impressed herself at how well she was doing. And come to think about it, it actually was kind of fun. Good thing Sonic didn't break them out of this show after all. Unfortunately, Dr. Eggman decided to add insult to injury by having a robot march in front of Amy's cycle path and stay there. Amy couldn't see the robot seeing as she was too focused on the juggling balls and rode into the robot again. The robot tripped the unicycle up and Amy hurtled through the air. Alonzo put a giant jam tart in the speculated place Amy was going to land. Amy landed slam dunk, head first into the jam tart. Jam rained all over the crowd. Sonic opened his mouth to see if he could catch any bits of flying jam. The crowd shrieked with laughter and then fell silent for a moment before Amy emerged from the sticky jam tart and yelled.

"Ta-da!"

The crowd cheered and whooped. Amy curtseyed at the crowd and licked some jam off her face.

"You rock Amy!" cried Sonic.

Amy blushed scarlet at Sonic's remark. Then Amy left the stage and Dr. Eggman reappeared.

"That was marvellous wasn't it?" he said, smiling at how well this show was going "Now, next act is tightrope walking which will be provided by Coco!"

Dr. Eggman left the stage and Cream, who had taken the name Coco, appeared. Cream looked up at the tall posts with the tightrope at the top. Was it her imagination or was the tightrope higher then it was in rehearsals? Regardless, she had to do the act. Cream climbed up the ladder and onto the platform that the tightrope was connected to. Cheese followed her in case she needed support. Cream looked down nervously. She must be at least forty-five feet off the ground right now. Not that it should bother her since she can fly with the aid of her long floppy ears but it was still dizzying for her. Cream shook it off, grabbed the long pole that was supposed to help her balance and began the walk. The crowd looked up at the little rabbit walking across the ever so thin tightrope. Cream took her steps carefully as she walked along, wobbling slightly. She manoeuvred the pole a couple of times in order to balance herself. Cheese cheered her on as she continued walking. Cream's heart began to pound, her hands felt sweaty. One wrong step and she would fall. Not that she should be worried since there was a safety net at the bottom but she hated falling as it was such a scary feeling for her. Cream tried her hardest not to look down as she continued walking. Sonic had been watching her and kept wondering if she was going to make it or not. Dr. Eggman was wondering the same thing too. At one point, Cream looked like she was going to let her fears get the best of her and give up and fall but she remembered what Vanilla had told her, "focus on nothing except the thing you're doing and that way you'll worry less". So Cream focused on getting across the tightrope. And strangely enough, focusing on crossing the tightrope gave Cream the determination she never knew she had. She continued across the tightrope, wobbling much less then before. Cheese continued cheering her on. The crowd made a chorus of "Oooh's" at the rabbit. Then with one final step, Cream made it across the tightrope.

"Yay I did it!" she squealed.

The crowd cheered at Cream's amazing tightrope walk.

"Well done Cream!" Sonic called to her.

Cream bowed and waved sweetly at the crowd below her. Then, using her ears, she fluttered down to the ground. Cheese flew into Cream and hugged her. Cream giggled and hugged her little pet back.

"Thanks for cheering me on Cheese." she said.

"Chao, Chao!" piped Cheese.

"Wonderful performance Coco." Dr. Eggman congratulated "I thought you weren't going to make it."

"I thought the same thing too Mr. Eggman." said Cream "But I made it and I feel so happy I wanna tell everybody!"

Eggman pretended to find that cute and adorable.

"Now audience, it's time for the next act!" he announced.

The rest of the show was a triumph. Cream and Tails did the cannon act which involved Cream shooting Tails out of the cannon and into a giant custard pie which caused everybody to get covered in custard, including Dr. Eggman and Alonzo, Amy did the lion-taming act and with one smack of her hammer, tamed the lion pretty quickly, some Eggman robots did an act involving how many robots can you squeeze into a Volkswagen Beetle and ended up tearing it apart and now was the finale which involved the clowns doing various circus acts in a cycle. Tails did bike riding across the tightrope, Amy did the spinning plates and Cream did a bicycle course which involved riding through hoops and leaping over robots. Everyone did pretty well at this.

Once Eggman blew his whistle, the clowns changed activities so now Tails was doing the spinning plates, Amy was doing the bicycle course and Cream was cycling across the tightrope. Tails didn't do well with the spinning plates unfortunately; he kept dropping them every time he threw them up and tried to catch them on the stick. Amy tried her best at the cycle but when it was time to ride through the hoops, she didn't go fast enough and the back wheel of the bike caught on the hop, causing her to fall off and crash into the ramp she was supposed to land on after riding through the hoop. Cream did pretty well at her act though. She was focused on riding the bicycle more then the fact she was on a tightrope so she didn't worry too much on falling.

Eggman blew his whistle once again and the clowns switched acts. Cream was on the spinning plates, Amy was on the bike riding across the tightrope and Tails was doing the course. Cream was even worse at spinning plates then Tails was. Every time she span one around, it flew off and hit somebody in the crowd or Tails or Amy. Tails did pretty well at the bicycle course though. He leaped through hoops and over robots just like that and even when Eggman set the hoop on fire to make things more interesting, Tails still managed it. Even though one of his tails caught fire and he did a mad cycle around to cool it off. As for Amy, well…let's just say she fell off the tightrope more times then I could count. One time she fell off, Alonzo replaced the safety net with another custard pie and she landed splat into it, causing everybody to get covered in custard again. Amy was getting a bit tired of getting messy right now but it was only part of the show. Then a few minutes later, Dr. Eggman blew his whistle to let the clowns now the show was over. Tails, Amy and Cream stood in a line and bowed down to the roaring crowd. Sonic whooped and cheered at them. Many Mobians threw roses, daises and other flowers at the clowns. Then the clowns left the stage to change into their normal outfits. Dr. Eggman appeared onstage, waving merrily at the crowd.

"Thank you! Thank you!" he said to the crowd "What a marvellous show that was!"

"An utter triumph I might say sir." added Alonzo.

"It was, wasn't it?" purred Dr. Eggman, stroking his moustache.

Sonic leaped out of the crowd and wondered up to Dr. Eggman. Eggman looked down at his super speedy nemesis.

"I gotta hand it to ya Eggman." he said "You're much better at organizing a show then defeating me in battle."

"I couldn't agree more, former enemy." said Dr. Eggman proudly.

"And I'm sorry I didn't believe you when you said you'd changed." Sonic added.

"Oh Sonic that's all right." crooned Dr. Eggman "Especially since…I HAVEN'T CHANGED AT ALL!"

Before Sonic could say anything else Dr. Eggman said "How would you like to see a magic trick?"

Sonic stepped back and Eggman yelled "ALA…KAZAM!"

He pointed at the floor and the room exploded in a puff of purple smoke. Then the ground began to shudder and shake as if there was an earthquake about to happen. Then out of the ground, four metallic shapes rose out and began to close around Sonic and the terrified crowd of Mobians. Tails, Amy and Cream, who were now back in their normal clothes, heard the commotion and peeked around the corner to see what was happening. A terrible sight met their eyes. The stage was now replaced with a giant, chrome, egg-shaped, pod-like machine. The crowd was presumably in it since the seats were nowhere to be seen.

"What the blazes is going on?" cried Amy.

"I hope this isn't what I think it is!" wailed Tails.

Dr. Eggman admired the machine proudly.

"What a triumph!" he said "My hidden egg-shaped roboticizer has them trapped like rats in a cage!"

"I'm rather proud of it myself sir." said Alonzo, smirking.

"Roboticizer?" screamed Amy "So this was all a trap! Eggman made this park to roboticize more Mobians!"

"How could he lie to us and deceive us like this?" wailed Cream.

"That rotten egg is like that Y'know." said Tails "He's a natural born liar. I should've known something was fishy when he kidnapped us earlier."

"Sonic was right to distrust him after all." said Amy "I can't believe Eggman fooled us like this."

"Well now's the time to redeem ourselves." said Tails "Let's stop that roboticizer!"

The girls did not wait to be asked twice. Without a moment's hesitation, Tails, Amy and Cream charged out of their hiding place and towards Eggman's giant egg-shaped roboticizer. The fat man was just starting to turn it on and activate it. Inside the roboticizer, everybody began to panic, even Sonic. He had horrible images of his time as Mecha Sonic* flooding back into his head. If he didn't escape that roboticizer now, he would end up becoming Mecha

Sonic once again. The only trouble was, he didn't know how to escape. There were too many people in the roboticizer so he couldn't spin-dash into the floor and dig his way out and there wasn't enough room for everyone to get out of the way. He was well and truly trapped this time; there was no way he could escape from this. Unless of course Tails and the girls could save everybody since they hadn't been caught in the roboticizer. Dr. Eggman finished booting the roboticizer up and prepared to activate it.

"Say your prayers everyone!" he yelled.

He raised his arm and prepared to press the button that would activate the roboticizer but Tails and Amy leapt on him and pinned him to the floor. Cream just flew over to the roboticizer's control pad and wondered what to do.

"Get off me this minute!" ordered Eggman.

"No chance fatso!" yelled Tails "You're gonna pay for tricking us like that you bad egg!"

"You will not roboticize Sonic again Eggman!" shouted Amy, brandishing her Piko-Piko Hammer and itching to smack Eggman on the head with it.

As for Cream, she just stared at the control pad and wondered what to do. She was no techno geek so she had no idea how this thing worked.

"Cheese, how are we gonna open this thing and save our friends?" asked Cream.

"Chao?" piped Cheese, shrugging.

"You get away from that highly advanced machine young lady or I will have to hurt you pretty badly." threatened Alonzo, creeping up on Cream like a swamp creature.

"You stay away you bad robot!" retorted Cream, putting her hands on her hips in the style of a stern mother.

Alonzo ignored her and continued advancing on her. But before he could grab the little girl, Cheese hurtled himself into Alonzo's face and knocked him over backwards. Cheese flew around in a dizzy circle and rubbed his throbbing head.

"Oh Cheese are you alright?" asked Cream.

"Chao…" burbled Cheese dimly.

Tails leaped off of Eggman and landed next to Cream, leaving Amy to take care of him herself. Since Tails knew machines like the back of his hand, he went to work right away.

"Now which button is going to open this thing?" he wondered aloud as he gazed at the control pad "Aha! There it is."

He pressed a blue button marked "Open". The pod hissed louder then a thousand snakes as the four sides that formed the egg shaped pod began to slowly separate from one another. The crowd saw this and seizing their chance, tried to make a run for it. Sonic managed to leap out of the opening pod in one graceful leap. Unfortunately not many got out. Alonzo recovered from Cheese's attack and he punched Tails away from the pad and slammed the close button with his fist. The pod had only opened enough for one person to escape each side and now it was closing back up again. The Mobians who were fortunate enough to have escaped just ran for their lives whereas the Mobians unfortunate enough to still be in the pod were now trapped again. Alonzo seized the opportunity now he had it and activated the roboticizer. The inside of the egg-shaped pod flashed a bright blue colour as the Mobians began to get roboticized. Sonic, who had landed on his feet and breathed a sigh of relief after escaping, turned around to see the pod in action. It made him angry how only a few Mobians had managed to escape the pod while it was opening and there were hundreds and hundreds still trapped in there. Amy, who had knocked Eggman senseless ran over to Sonic and hugged him tightly.

"Oh Sonic, you made it!" she squealed.

"Yeah but nobody else did." muttered Sonic "Eggman has more Robians for his never ending army."

"Sonic, let's get out of here before those Robians get us!" cried Tails "We won't stand a chance against a hundred odd Robians!"

Sonic was very reluctant to retreat but he'd rather live to fight another day so he zipped out of the tent just as the roboticization process in the egg pod had completed. The pod opened and hundreds of roboticized Mobians spilled out of it. Dr. Eggman had finally came to and he gave the order for the Robians to get Sonic and his friends. The Robians did as they were told and ran after the fleeing Mobians.

As Sonic and the others fled, the entire circus park collapsed around them and began to change into their true shapes. The colourful dazzling lights dimmed down into threatening blood red lights, clown faces on buildings turned into the familiar logo of the Eggman Empire and the building's bright cheery colours died down into dull robotic grey or silver. It was like the circus park was transforming into a robotic city of some sorts all around them.

"So the whole park was an Eggman city in disguise?" snorted Sonic "How quaint! I can't wait to tear it down later!"

"Sonic, the Robians are after us!" cried Tails.

Sonic looked over his shoulder and surely enough, saw the stampede of Robians coming towards them. Luckily for him though, none of them could keep up with him. No one was faster then Sonic the Hedgehog after all. Unfortunately, Sonic had another problem. The city gates were beginning to close! Sonic leaped into the air and spun into a spin-dash. Then he charged towards the closing gates at full speed. He crashed into the gates and forced them back open. He only dented the gates very slightly though. Tails and Amy ran on as they neared freedom. Cream was beginning to lag behind though. Then suddenly, she tripped over a hot dog that somebody had dropped on the ground and landed on her face. Tails and Amy finally escaped out of the terrifying robot city that was unfolding behind them. Cream got back to her feet and ran as fast as she could towards the gates. Unfortunately a Robian wolf grabbed her by the leg and tripped her up just before she could get past the gates. Cream screamed in terror as the Robian began to pull her back. Sonic immediately went into action and grabbed Cream's arms. He tried to pull her out of the grasp of the Robian wolf but the Robian's grasp was tight enough to almost crush bones so it was very tight. Sonic refused to give up. He had failed to save Cream's mother from roboticization and he was not letting Cream herself suffer the same fate.

"Mr. Sonic! Help me!" screamed Cream.

"I'm trying Cream!" grunted Sonic as the tug of war continued "That darn Robian's too strong!"

Cheese began to squeak about in panic. He hoped and hoped Sonic would save the one person who raised him up and looked after him. Then several other Robians joined in the tug of war match by grabbing the wolf by the shoulders and pulling him. Sonic felt like he was trying to pull a truck with so many Robians joining in the tug of war and the poor hedgehog was beginning to lose his grip on Cream. One Robian was tough enough but ten Robians pulling at once was too tough for even Bunnie Rabbot or Knuckles the Echidna to handle. Then more trouble happened. The gates were beginning to close once again and if Sonic didn't get out of the way in time he would get squished in between them!

"Sonic look out!" shrieked Tails.

Sonic noticed the closing gates. Now his attention was focused off of Cream, the Robians simply yanked the terrified rabbit out of his grasp.

"Cream!" cried Sonic.

"Help me!" shrieked Cream.

Sonic tried to run in and help Cream but Tails grabbed him by the quills and yanked him backwards just as the giant gates slammed closed with a deafening bang. Sonic and Tails landed in a heap on the ground. Sonic picked himself up and began thumping on the iron gates with his fist. He was pounding the gates with enough force to shatter his knuckles to pieces (not literally of course).

"Let me in Eggman!" yelled Sonic "You're not getting Cream the same way you got her mother!"

As Sonic continued pounding pointlessly on the gates, Amy slumped on the ground and held her head in her hands. She began to cry.

"Oh Cream!" she howled "And I was supposed to protect her until we save her mother!"

Tails looked sadly at Amy. He knew what Amy felt like. Tails felt just like Amy did when Eggman kidnapped his parents and roboticized them. And Cream getting caught must feel like losing a long lost sister to poor Amy. Tails also knew how Sonic was feeling right now. He'd failed to save Vanilla the Rabbit from being roboticized and now it looked like he was going to fail to save Cream from roboticization. And poor Cheese! Cream was his owner and now he was going to lose her. It was amazing how losing a friend they'd only known for a short time could cause so much upset. Sonic had finally ceased his pitiful pounding on the gates and fell to his knees in defeat.

"I can't believe it!" he moaned "Yet another defeat for me to choke on! I think I'm losing my edge here!"

"Sonic, I know you're disappointed we couldn't save Cream but don't let it bite away at you." said Tails "We'll get her back somehow."

"And I know how." said Sonic, getting back to his feet.

"Oh really?" said Tails "How are we gonna save Cream then?"

"I'm gonna get some help from two people who know how to break into an Eggman base." said Sonic "We need…Wilson the Dog and Mandy Mouse…"

Footnotes:

 See the Mecha Sonic saga (stories 12-14) and you'll see why Sonic's so frightened at the thought of becoming Mecha Sonic again

*See Story 16 for Vanilla's Roboticization

OMG! Cream's been caught! And how about that for a plot twist? Eggman's circus park is really a city for him! Welcome to Robotropolis readers! Join me next time as Sonic attempts to rescue poor Cream but he has more then just Eggman to bother with as a pair of robots make their return... Reviews are welcome.

A Rescue and a Return

Story 19: A Rescue and a Return

Approximately twenty minutes had passed since Sonic made the call to send Wilson and Mandy to the Northern Border to help him and the two fighters hadn't shown up yet. The Northern Border is quite a long way from Mobotropolis after all and even though Sonic could sprint there in under fifteen minutes due to his speed, no one else could go as fast as him, even in a car. As time ticked by, Sonic kept pacing up and down impatiently as he waited for them. Amy just tried to break in by pounding the gates with her enormous hammer and Tails sat there comforting the heartbroken Cheese. Sonic couldn't take it any longer. He stomped the ground in impatience.

"Where are those two?" he moaned "Time's ticking and Eggman's probably getting ready to roboticize Cream right now!"

"I don't see why you didn't think of letting me fly you over the wall and into Eggman's city." said Tails helpfully.

"Well 1: There are too many robots to count and they'll shoot you if you're not careful and 2: I'm not risking you or anyone else getting caught." said Sonic "Otherwise you'll end up in the roboticizer."

"Good point actually." said Tails.

Amy finally stopped whacking the invulnerable iron gates and fell to the ground panting.

"What are those gates made of?" she gasped "I haven't left a scratch on them and I've pounded them goodness knows how many times for the past few minutes!"

"Well if my knowledge on metallic materials is accurate, I'd suggest these gates are made of a really strong kind of iron that is quite literally, almost invulnerable." said Tails "I've seen barricades on forts made out of them before."

"But I dented them after I spin-dashed into them to stop them closing." noted Sonic "If the iron these gates are made of is invulnerable shouldn't that mean nothing can dent it?"

"I said it was ALMOST invulnerable." repeated Tails "I didn't say it was invulnerable."

"Well if my spin-dash can dent them then maybe I should spin-dash it a couple of times to knock them down!" yelled Sonic.

He prepared to attack but Tails stopped him.

"I think by the time you knock the gates down you'll be too late." said Tails "The dent you first made is so insignificant I don't think it can even be classed as superficial damage, so I dread to think how many spin-dashes you'll need to eventually knock the gates down."

"Well I guess we'll wait until the help I've requested arrives." muttered Sonic, folding his arms "Mandy knows how to break into a base."

Then as if on cue, a silver hover-car with black windows and three jet engines appeared over the horizon and sped towards the city. Sonic peered in the distance to see if he could see who was driving the car. The car eventually arrived at the gates of Eggman's city and gracefully halted in front of Sonic. The doors opened and out of the car stepped Sonic's old friends Wilson the Dog and his friend Mandy Mouse. They were wearing sunglasses as well as their usual combat outfits. The two Mobians closed the doors and removed their sunglasses.

"Sonic, so good to see you once again." said Wilson, smiling happily.

"Good to see you too Wilson." said Sonic.

They both gave each other a friendly knuckle punch.

"So what's the problem?" asked Mandy.

"One of our friends got caught by Eggman and we can't get through those gates." explained Sonic "And you two are great at breaking into bases so I thought you'd be the best fighters for the job."

"Good thing we geared up for this kind of job." beamed Wilson "I'll get the equipment out now."

He went to the back of the car and opened the boot. He started unloading some huge suitcases that contained goodness knows what.

"Nice to see you are doing well Amy Rose." said Mandy politely.

"Thank you Mandy." said Amy modestly "How's things been with you two?"

"Pretty quiet actually." said Mandy, leaning against the car casually "Ever since our successful mission in Grand Metropolis* everything's been going smoothly there and Eggman's forces are diminishing. Amazing how foiling one drilling operation brings total collapse to the entire army."

"I bet you gave Eggman's army a right good kicking!" cried Amy, punching the air.

"Oh we did." Mandy said with a smile "I bet Eggman's still mad he hasn't got any extra oil for his precious robot army."

Then suddenly Tails interrupted.

"That car is so cool!" he exclaimed "How fast can it go? What is it made of? What engine does it have?"

"Ah, ah, ah." said Mandy, putting her hand up to stop Tails from touching the car "No touchy little boy. This is my little beauty I put together myself and I don't like little kids touching it and getting greasy fingerprints over its lovely silver coat."

"You built it yourself?" exclaimed Tails "That's awesome! Could you teach me how to build a hover car?"

Mandy giggled a friendly giggle at Tails' excitement over machines.

"I don't see why not kiddo." she said "Once we return to Empire City I'll give you a tutorial."

Tails was looking forward to that. As Mandy and Tails talked about the car, Wilson had finally unloaded everything from the boot. He had taken out four heavy suitcases and two belts containing their bomb supplies. Wilson clipped his belt on and tossed the over to Mandy so she could clip it on. Wilson opened one of the suitcases and pulled out what looked like an enormous drill. Sonic shivered at the sheer size and monstrosity of the drill.

"What the heck is that?" blurted Sonic.

"This is out ticket to getting past those gates." said Wilson "We are going to use this delightful thing to tunnel under the wall and into the city."

"But what if the robots on the other side of the wall hear the drill and attack you?" asked Amy.

"No problem." said Wilson, grinning like a clown "Mandy will use her excellent hearing to find the quietest area of the city since that is the likeliest place to not contain robots and we'll tunnel there."

"Well we'd better hurry otherwise we'll be too late to save Cream." said Sonic impatiently.

With that said, Wilson and Mandy went into action. Sonic kept hoping that Cream was alright right now. He did not want to turn up in the city and find her roboticized just like her poor mother.

If there's any place in the whole wide world Cream would rather be in right now, it would be in the arms of her loving mother and not in a glass cage. After the Robians had successfully seized her and snatched her away from Sonic, Eggman had put her in a roboticizer and was making a few tweaks to it before he activated it. Cream was very frightened. In a moment or two, she would end up just like her mother: a cold, emotionless, monstrous, malevolent robot under Eggman's control. She shivered at the very thought of being a robot and also feared attacking her friends while she was one.

"Alonzo pass me that spanner will you?" asked Eggman.

Alonzo passed him the spanner and Eggman used it to tighten a few bolts.

"Mr. Eggman sir." said Cream, putting her hands against the glass "Please let me out. I don't wanna be a robot."

"I'll let you out Cream." purred Dr. Eggman "AFTER I roboticize you that is. Alonzo pass me a screwdriver please."

Alonzo pulled a screwdriver out of the toolbox and handed it to Eggman. Eggman started tightening a few loose screws on the underside of the roboticizer with it.

"Oh please don't do this Dr. Eggman!" begged Cream "Please, please don't turn me into a robot!"

Dr. Eggman pretended he couldn't hear her. He got out from underneath the roboticizer and wiped his sweaty forehead. He stood up and smiled proudly.

"There, it's all finished." he said "Now where's Mecha Vanilla? Since she's Cream's mother apparently I'm going to give her the honour of roboticizing her own daughter!"

"There she is sir." said Alonzo, pointing to a shadowy corner of the room.

Mecha Vanilla emerged from the corner, her red optics glowing like candlelight. Cream almost screamed at the sight of her. Mecha Vanilla stood to attention and awaited orders.

"You've arrived at last Mecha Vanilla." said Dr. Eggman "Now activate the roboticizer!"

"I o-bey." droned Mecha Vanilla.

"Mother!" cried Cream, pounding the glass desperately to get her attention "Don't do it! Please! Don't do it!"

Mecha Vanilla did not seem to have heard. She marched over to the control pad and prepared to activate it.

"Mother! Don't you recognize me?" cried Cream "I'm your daughter Cream! Please don't turn me into a robot!"

Mecha Vanilla looked up at Cream briefly as if she still recognized her own daughter's name but she soon shrugged it off. One of the prices you pay after getting roboticized is losing your freewill end of so only Dr. Eggman had control over her. Mecha Vanilla pressed two buttons and pulled the lever. The glass cage began to glow a bright malevolent blue colour. Cream circled around the cage fearfully. She was getting more and more terrified by the second. Where was Sonic the Hedgehog? Was he coming to save her or what? Cream backed herself against the glass, closed her eyes and awaited her doom. But then suddenly the glass cage stopped glowing and the loud humming noise the roboticizer made had silenced. Cream opened her eyes, delighted to see she was still her normal self but also puzzled as to why she was still her normal self. Mecha Vanilla noticed the roboticizer had ceased and she pulled the lever to activate it again. Nothing happened. She pulled it up and down several times. Nothing happened.

"What's the doggone matter now?" bellowed Dr. Eggman.

"The r-o-bot-i-ciz-er-is-not-work-ing." droned Mecha Vanilla "I-think-there's-a-fault-some-where."

"Of all times for it to malfunction!" moaned Dr. Eggman "Oh well, it can easily be fixed. Alonzo, can you see to the roboticizer while I check my city's progress?"

"Indeed I can master." said Alonzo loyally.

Dr. Eggman and Mecha Vanilla left the room to check on Dr. Eggman's marvellous new robotical city he had disguised as a circus park a moment ago. Cream was alone in the room with Alonzo. Alonzo gazed at the roboticizer in confusion. He couldn't understand why it suddenly turned itself off. It looked perfectly fine to him.

"Now let's see…" he muttered to himself as he continued observing it for problems "Where's the fault in this thing?"

He bent down and peered under the roboticizer. Cream began to worry. If Alonzo fixed it she would get roboticized defiantly. She had to distract him until Sonic eventually showed up.

"Um, Mr. Alonzo?" she said in a small voice.

Alonzo heard Cream and stood up to answer her but he forgot he was under the roboticizer and conked his head. He emerged from underneath, rubbing his sore head and groaning loudly.

"Don't do that!" scolded Alonzo "You just made me hurt myself! Oooh I say that did hurt!"

"I'm sorry." said Cream "I just wanted to ask you something."

"If it has anything to do with letting you out of that cage forget it." snarled Alonzo "I'm not doing it. You cannot win me over with that disgusting cuteness of yours."

"That's not what I was going to ask you Mr. Alonzo." said Cream truthfully "I wanted to ask you this: what's the best part of being a butler bot?"

Alonzo thought for a moment. No one had ever asked him something like that before.

"Hmm…" he said to himself "That's a good question. What do I think is the best part of being a butler bot…?"

Hopefully by the time he got the answer Sonic the Hedgehog would show up and rescue Cream. But then suddenly a faint sound of voices were heard from the other side of the room. Alonzo heard this and rushed off to see what the noise was. Cream just sat there wondering what was happening. Alonzo disappeared around the corner and then a second later, his voice could be heard screaming with terror. Then a horrible crushing sound was heard and Alonzo reappeared around the corner, in bits and pieces. Not that it would be a problem since he could rebuild himself every time. Cream was amazed at what just happened and wondered what it was that did it. Then from around the corner at the other side of the room, two robots appeared.

One was tall and one was short. The tall robot was hunch backed. Its head had spikes going down its neck; a V-shaped structure was perched above its black visor with red reptilian eyes. It had spikes pointing forward on the side of its face and a spike pointing backwards on each of its shoulders. It was rather broad. It had two sharp talons on its feet and five sharp claws on each hand. It was red and black in colour and its head spikes were silver coloured. The short robot had a spike starting from above its visor and pointing behind it. Its reptilian eyes were blue instead of red. It had mandible like structures on its face. It had pointed shoulders, a chest plate with spikes that pointed sideways. Its feet were pointed and it had three fingers instead of five.

The two robots that just appeared were none other then Horda and Borda! Sonic had given them two a good kicking in Central City a while ago and now they were back and obviously ready to cause trouble. Since Cream had not met Horda and Borda before, she had no idea who they were. They were certainly not Eggman robots since they just attacked Alonzo but they didn't seem friendly either. Cream decided to try and make herself scarce by crouching down on the floor of the cage. Horda and Borda walked straight past the roboticizer and walked towards a computer located on the wall behind the roboticizer.

"Get working now Borda." ordered Horda "I'm dying to know this city's greatest weapons and how much damage they can cause."

"Y-y-yes Horda." stammered Borda.

"And hopefully we will not have a repeat of last time." added Horda "I felt so humiliated after being defeat by that blue Mobian with the bad attitude."

"Y-yes Horda." said Borda.

Borda began to type on the computer. Horda, as usual kept watch. Horda is the brawn and Borda is the worker after all. As Borda began typing about and scrolling through various items on the computer, he gibbered worriedly to himself as usual.

"I hate this job." he gibbered "Someone might catch us and mash us into metallic paste!"

"Oh will you shut up you moronic, metallic miscreant?" snapped Horda "I do wish you'd stop worrying so much! Why did I get stuck with a such a skitter-bug?"

Borda stopped gibbering and continued working. Cream watched everything with interest. What were those two robots up to? Were they planning to destroy Eggman's city. Were they good guys? Then suddenly Cream felt a tickling tingle in her little nose. She felt like she was about to sneeze. Cream tried to stop herself from sneezing but to no avail.

"A…choo!" she sneezed rather quietly.

Unfortunately, Horda heard her. His heard turned around sharply and he glared at the terrified rabbit in the glass cage.

"What is it Horda?" squeaked Borda "Are we under attack? Are we in trouble?"

"I heard something." said Horda, pulling out a flame torch and activating its blazing hot flame "You keep working and I'll deal with whatever I heard."

Borda obeyed his tall hunchbacked friend and kept his attention glued to the computer. Cream backed up against the glass as Horda advanced towards the cage with his weapon in hand. He clearly didn't look pleased to see a Mobian in the same room as he and Borda were. Cream tried to refrain from screaming as Horda glared at her from outside the glass cage with his red reptilian eyes.

"So, what do we have here?" he hissed "A Mobian spying on us? I'd better deal with it."

He reached out to seize the terrified rabbit but his clawed hand ended up hitting the glass. Horda didn't understand why he couldn't grab Cream. He reached out again and touched the glass. He put his weapon away and touched the glass with his other hand. He felt the glass and finally realized what was up.

"So this Mobian is trapped in this glass case?" he said to himself "Just my luck! She can't sneak off and tell anyone about us!"

"Excuse me Mr. Scary Robot but can you get me out of here please?" asked Cream, her eyes going big, round and cutesy like in hope he'd be spellbound by them and help her.

"And why should I?" snorted Horda "If I let you out of there, you'll tell someone about us and get us destroyed."

"No I won't." said Cream.

"Oh yes you will!" snarled Horda "You must think I'm stupid enough to believe that rubbish! You are staying where you are Mobian and that's the end of it."

"V-v-very w-w-well t-th-then." whimpered Cream.

She curled herself up in fear. Horda slunk away from the cage and marched back towards the computer Borda was working on.

"How goes the work Borda?" asked Horda.

"Pretty well so far." said Borda "I'm finding data-files about some pretty interesting robots so far. Whoever built them must be a genius."

"Well hopefully we'll be able to take control of them and use them to destroy Mobius' largest cities." said Horda "We all know how much master Rorda loves destruction."

Cream's long, floppy ears stood up straight at what Horda had just said to Borda. Destroy Mobius' largest cities? These guys were not good guys at all! They were bad guys like Dr. Eggman! But why exactly did they want to destroy Mobius' largest cities? Did they have a grudge on Mobius or something and they wanted revenge on the planet by destroying cities? Well hopefully Sonic would be there in time to stop them. The only trouble was, would he be able to stop them? As Cream thought these things, Alonzo had put himself back together and was trying to sneak away and tell Eggman. Cream spotted him and patted against the glass in hope of catching Horda's attention. She wanted Horda to catch Alonzo so Alonzo wouldn't bring Eggman back into the room and that way, Eggman wouldn't be there to roboticize her before Sonic could save her. It worked as Horda turned around and glared at the trapped rabbit.

"What do you want now you little nuisance?" he growled.

"I'm sorry if I'm interrupting anything but Alonzo is getting away." said Cream.

Horda spotted the escaping butler bot. Alonzo cursed Cream for snitching on him and tried to run away but Horda pulled out his twin flame torches, slammed them together and fired a long trial of fire at Alonzo. The fire trial caught him and blasted him off his wheels. Alonzo fell on the floor in defeat and Horda rushed over to seize him. He scooped up the butler bot and held him to his hideous face.

"So you think you can snitch on me and Borda?" sneered Horda "Well I don't think that'll be happening right now! You're staying here!"

"Thanks a lot Cream the Rabbit!" grumbled Alonzo.

"You're welcome." said Cream, beaming.

"I was being sarcastic you toad!" snapped Alonzo.

"Oh." said Cream.

Horda carried Alonzo to the roboticizer, lay him against it and using his brute strength, ripped Alonzo's wheels off their pegs! Alonzo wouldn't be going anywhere now. Horda put the wheels on the computer desk so Alonzo wouldn't be able to get them.

"Now no one will snitch on us." crowed Horda "The Mobian is already trapped and that poor excuse for a robot has no wheels so he can't move. Borda, we're finally in the clear."

"That's a relief." sighed Borda "Now I can stop worrying and get on with this work."

As the two robots continued their research, Cream put her hands together and prayed hard that Sonic the Hedgehog would finally show up, save her from Eggman's roboticizer and stop Horda and Borda before they destroyed Mobius' cities.

Meanwhile Mandy crouched down against the iron walls that surrounded Eggman's nefarious city. She pressed the side of her head against the wall and listened for any robots on the other side. Mice have very good ears so Mandy could hear any kind of sound, even on the other side of a giant wall such as the one surrounding Eggman's city. Mandy listened out for robots, her ears twitching towards various parts of the wall. She could hear faint marching. This meant there were robots there and if they dug under the wall they would get caught. Mandy moved to another section of the wall and listened out for any robots. Sonic was losing patience and fast.

"How long is this gonna take?" he moaned.

"Will you be patient spiky?" snapped Mandy "I can't listen out for robots any faster!"

"I know it's just…Eggman could be roboticizing Cream any moment now." said Sonic.

"Why is this Cream so important to you?" asked Wilson "Is she a dear friend or something?"

"Well not exactly." said Sonic "You see, Eggman roboticized her mom and I'm not letting Cream suffer the same fate so I'm desperate to rescue her. And it'll make Amy happier too."

Amy blushed and smiled at Sonic's remark. It seems Sonic did care for her after all.

"I always thought Dr. Eggman couldn't get any meaner." said Wilson "But it seems I was wrong. He roboticized my parents too." He added "We discovered that shocking revelation during our time in Grand Metropolis."

"Oh my gosh!" cried Tails "Eggman did what?"

"I know, it's terrible isn't it?" said Wilson, he hung his head sadly "I was looking forward to meeting them again once this war with Eggman was over."

"I know how you feel." said Tails sadly "My parents got roboticized too."

Wilson's face changed from a solemn face to a shocked face.

"He did WHAT?" he cried.

Now it was Tails' turn to stare at the ground sadly. His ears drooped back in misery.

"That's why I have to take care of him." Sonic added "Tails hasn't got a home anymore, and he has no parents."

"Well you seem to make a good parent old buddy." said Wilson, giving Sonic a playful smack on the back "You and Tails seem like great friends."

"Actually, he sees me as more of an older brother then a father." corrected Sonic "And I see him as a younger brother more then a son."

"And I see Cream as a long lost sister." chirped Amy.

"Interesting." chuckled Wilson "Sonic, you seem to know how to make the parentless feel better don't you?"

Sonic just casually kicked some soil on the ground. Before he could answer Wilson's question Mandy interrupted them.

"Hey boys! I've found a quiet area here!" she called to them.

Everybody rushed over to where Mandy was. Mandy had gone through three sections of the wall before finding a section with no noise coming from behind it. Seizing their chance before they lost it, Wilson turned on the enormous power drill and thrust its pointed end into the soil at the foot of the wall. Then the drill began to slowly descend into the underground. Wilson let go of the drill and let it continue digging.

"Why have you let go of the drill?" asked Sonic.

"It can work on its own." explained Wilson "It comes back to me once it's finished digging."

The drill continued its working, making a loud whirring noise like all drills do. Hopefully the noise the drill made wouldn't be loud enough to catch anybody's attention. After a minute or two, the drill had now dug a tunnel under the wall big enough for everybody to crawl through. The drill reappeared through the tunnel and Wilson grabbed it. He pulled it out of the tunnel and switched it off. He ran off to put the drill back in the car. Sonic got down on his hands and knees and crawled under the deep tunnel Wilson's drill had dug just now. It was a bit of a tight fit due to his big quills but Sonic eventually made it under the wall. He crawled out of the tunnel and waited for everybody else to crawl through. Soon Tails crawled through the tunnel and made it into Eggman's city. Then Amy crawled under and then Mandy and finally Wilson. The five Mobians took a nervous look around before creeping off to hide behind a building. Sonic peeked around the corner and saw a troop of marching robots heading in the east direction.

"Ok, has anyone got a plan?" whispered Sonic.

"Yes." said Mandy "Me and Wilson boy will distract those jokers with our smoke bombs while you three go rescue your friend."

"But what if you get caught?" asked Tails.

"We'll remain hidden here until you come back." said Mandy "Then we all run for it."

"Sounds like a plan to me." said Sonic "So let's go."

Wilson and Mandy grabbed a handful of smoke bombs and threw them at a horde of robots marching past their hiding place. They exploded and thick black smoke clouded the whole city. The poor robots couldn't see a thing and they began blindly marching about, droning gibberish. Sonic grabbed Amy and Tails by the arms and rocketed off at his trademark speed. He zoomed through the thick smoke and set his sights on Eggman's base. Speaking of Dr.

Eggman, he and Mecha Vanilla had been observing the whole city and now they were caught up in the smoke heist. Dr. Eggman coughed loudly whereas Mecha Vanilla just merely stood there wondering where everything was.

"Smoke?" spluttered Dr. Eggman "I think we're under attack! Mecha Vanilla, go and see what you can find!"

"I o-bey." droned Mecha Vanilla.

She marched through the thick black smoke and activated lights in her optics so she could see through the smoke. As she searched through the smoky city, she just caught sight of Sonic, Tails and Amy running into Eggman's base so Mecha Vanilla decided she would follow them and capture them. Mecha Vanilla marched quietly through the still thick smoke towards Eggman's base. Sonic would never see her coming and by the time he did, she would have him…

Meanwhile, Horda and Borda continued their little research on all of Eggman's weapons. Whatever they came across well and truly fascinated the two destruction loving robots.

"Whoever built these robots and weapons must be a genius!" exclaimed Horda "Look at that menace right there!"

He pointed to a diagram of Egg-Scorpion, a robot that Sonic had trashed with help from Team Chaotix*. The scorpion-shaped robot with its drill claws and drill tail made Horda feel unusually excited just looking at it. He also fancied the blasters on the sides of its head.

"I-I bet w-we could do lots of damage with that thing." stammered Borda, shivering at the sight of Egg-Scorpion. Eggman's robots were enough to scare Borda it seems.

"I bet we could." said Horda "Especially as it can dig into the ground. I however kinda liked that robot with the spiked roller weapon."

Borda scrolled the screen back up to show a diagram of Scream-Roller, a robot that Tails had taken out by shoving Alonzo down it's exhaust stack. Horda clearly seemed to be delighted with Scream-Roller's unusual weapon.

"I bet you're spoiled for choice Horda." said Borda "So many great looking weapons, I bet you don't know which ones to pick."

"Exactly." said Horda sinisterly "Which is why I've decided…to choose them all. Get the memory stick out and we'll download these diagrams. Once we've done that we'll go back to our home planet and then build these things ourselves. The after we've built them, we will return to Mobius and cause as much destruction as we wish."

"Yes Horda." said Borda, saluting.

He pulled a memory stick out and plugged it into the computer tower. He then commenced the download and the data-files on Eggman's robots were downloading slowly onto their memory-stick.

"Oy!" cried Alonzo "Those robots are copyright to the Eggman Empire! You can't download them and build them yourself or Eggman will have to sue you!"

Horda and Borda ignored the babbling butler bot and continued with the download. Then suddenly, without warning, Horda was hit in the back of the head by a blue blur. Horda tumbled over and fell on top of Borda. The two fell to the ground like falling dominos. Cream was absolutely flabbergasted at that blur. Then her amazement turned into sheer joy when she saw who it was. It was Sonic the Hedgehog, here to rescue her at long last! And what's more he brought Tails and Amy with him. Even Alonzo was strangely pleased to see Sonic but that's only because Sonic was attacking them and delaying their download. Horda and Borda both got back to their feet and growled at the blue hedgehog. They were all too familiar with him from their last encounter.

"You again!" snarled Horda "I thought we'd get away without having to run into you again!"

"Well guess again Horda and Borda." jeered Sonic "The hedgehog is here and you are finished!"

"What are you two up to this time?" asked Tails.

"Mind your own business you twin-tailed freak!" snapped Horda, whipping out his flame torches and igniting them.

"Those two want to steal Eggman's machines and use them to destroy all the cities on Mobius!" cried Cream.

"Thanks for that." said Sonic, winking at her "Tails, you get Cream out of that roboticizer, me and Amy will take care of those creeps."

"OK." said Tails, running off to the roboticizer.

Amy pulled out her Piko-Piko hammer and raised it, ready for attack. Borda began to shake at the sight of Amy's enormous hammer. Still, he knew a battle was coming so he deployed his saw blades.

"So my handsome hero, who are these two clowns then?" asked Amy.

"Their names are Horda and Borda and they're two robots from another world." explained Sonic "Me and Tails taught them a lesson or two when we first met them and now me and you will teach them another lesson!"

"We shall not be so easily defeated this time hedgehog!" snarled Horda, his torches blazing away "Borda, you get the girl, Sonic is mine!"

"D-d-d-do I-I-have t-to f-f-fight the s-scary-h-h-hammer wielding w-witch Horda?" whimpered Borda.

"DID YOU JUST CALL ME A WITCH?" screamed Amy.

That did it, she leaped straight on top of Borda and began pelting him with hammer blows all over his small body. Borda tried to fight back with his saw blades but Amy squashed them flat with one whack of the hammer. Horda scowled at the sight of his sidekick getting beaten up and was about to help him but Sonic stood in his way.

"Y' wanna hurt Amy, you'll have to get past me first." said Sonic coldly.

"So be it!" growled Horda "I wanted to fight you anyway."

With that said, Horda swiped at Sonic with his twin torches. Sonic leaped out of the way in a perfect back flip and after he landed, he charged into Horda's chest like a shooting arrow. Horda was sent flying backwards and he crashed into the computer he was downloading diagrams from. Horda and the computer tumbled backwards over the desk and onto the floor. The computer smashed into pieces. Now Horda and Borda wouldn't be downloading anything. Horda's circuits sparked with rage. He grabbed his twin torches and leaped on Sonic, roaring like a dragon. He looked like a demented fire dancer leaping in a graceful leap as part of the act. Sonic jumped and kicked Horda in the chest, sending the tall hunchbacked robot hurtling backwards and onto the floor. He landed on the spikes on his head and ended up impaling himself into the floor. Now Horda was stuck fast. He tried to pull himself out of the ground but his spikes were embedded so deep it would take a while for him to pull himself out. Seeing as Horda was out of commission, Sonic seized the opportunity to cause more damage to him by spin-dashing him all over his body. Horda felt searing pain as Sonic churned into his armour with every hit.

Meanwhile, Tails was trying to figure out how to open Cream's cage. He wasn't having much luck though due to the fact the open button wasn't marked this time.

"Tails, please hurry up and get me out of here." pleaded Cream.

"I'm trying Cream, I just can't figure out which button opens this thing." said Tails as he stared at the control pad.

"And don't bother asking me for help because I'm not helping you." snapped Alonzo ever so rudely.

"WILL YOU BE QUIET?" snapped Tails and Cream together.

"Hey, Alonzo's given me an idea!" cried Tails suddenly.

He ran over to the wheel-less butler bot, grabbed him by the arm, twisted his tails around one another and took flight with Alonzo in tow.

"Oy! What's the meaning of this?" cried Alonzo "Put me down at once wretch!"

Tails ignored the rude robot and then he began to swing Alonzo back and forth slowly at first and then faster, and faster, and faster. Cream wondered what Tails was up to.

"Cream get back!" ordered Tails.

Cream backed herself into the other side of the cage. Then with one mighty swing, Tails let go of Alonzo and the butler bot hurtled into the glass cage like a thrown javelin Alonzo crashed into the cage head first and smashed a hole in it. Glass splintered everywhere but luckily, Cream didn't get hit by any shards of glass. Alonzo slid back down to the floor dazed and confused. The hole Alonzo made in the glass cage was big enough for Cream to climb through. So Cream reached up to the hole, grabbed the edge (making sure not to cut herself) and pulled herself through the hole and out of the cage. Tails was very pleased with himself on how his plan had worked. After Cream climbed out of the cage, Cheese dived into her and began hugging her happily.

"Oh Cheese it's good to see you too!" cried Cream happily "And thanks for getting me out of there Tails."

"Don't mention it." said Tails "It's what heroes do after all."

Alonzo grumbled to himself and while no one was looking, he crawled away using his arms to pull himself so he could get to the computer desk and retrieve his wheels and then tell Dr. Eggman everything.

As for the fight, Sonic had beaten Horda pretty badly and now the battered robot had many impact marks on his body from when Sonic had spin-dashed into him and his armour was cracked in several places. Horda had had enough of being beaten to a pulp and in a desperate act to free himself; he used his blazing hot torches to weaken the two spikes on his head to the point of breaking easily.

Then Horda yanked on his head and the two spikes that were embedded in the ground snapped like twigs. Horda wasn't pleased to lose his spikes but at least he was free now. Horda lunged at Sonic with his torches blazing ever hotter. He chipped Sonic on the shoe and lightly singed the tip of it as Sonic jumped out of the way. Sonic stared at his singed shoe angrily.

"Oh man and I love these shoes!" he moaned.

Horda then lunged at Sonic again. Sonic leaped out of the way and dropkicked Horda in the side of the head. Horda was getting annoyed at constantly getting hit so he decided to try something else. He clipped his two torches together to form a terrifying double-sided torch and then he began to spin his entire hand around while holding the double sided torch. His hand now looked like a spinning circle of fire. Sonic stared in disbelief at the firing circle as Horda advanced on the blue hedgehog menacingly. Sonic leaped out of the way as Horda lunged at him and landed behind Horda. He tried to attack from behind but Horda knew what Sonic was trying so he reached out behind him, his hand still spinning and now the circle of fire was behind him. Sonic noticed it just in time and jumped out of the way before he could accidentally dive into it but as he soared over Horda; Horda whip lashed at him and managed to catch Sonic on the legs. The fire from the torches was so hot they were singed instantly. Sonic fell to the ground in a painful dive and skidded across the floor.

"Sonic!" cried Tails.

He rushed over to help his friend. Horda cackled at Sonic and his hand stopped spinning.

"I win hedgehog now it's time for you to pay for our humiliation!" he growled.

He raised his double-sided torch, began spinning his hand around once again and advanced on Sonic. He was going to hit Sonic with his spinning torches and set him alight. Or at least he would have done if Tails and Cream didn't interfere by piling him with dropkicks to the head while they were airborne. Horda roared in anger and he dropped his double sided torch. Tails grabbed it, unclipped it so now the double-sided torch was just two torches now, switched them off and threw them as hard as he could into a wall. The two torches hit the wall hard but not hard enough to break. Sonic smiled at his two flying friends.

"Sweet moves you two!" he said "If it weren't for you, I'd be a kebab hedgehog!"

"You're welcome Mr. Sonic." said Cream as she and Tails landed.

But there was more trouble on the way. During the fight with Borda, Amy had beaten the robot to a pulp but she foolishly let her guard down, thinking he was defeated and then Borda slashed her arm with his flattened saw blade which in turn made her drop her hammer and left Amy vulnerable. Then Borda grabbed Amy's arm, forced it behind her back and held a flattened saw blade to her neck. Even though Borda was short, he was very strong for someone his size and Amy soon found that out after being unable to break free from his grasp.

"Hey Horda! Hey Horda!" cried Borda in excitement "I gotta hostage! I gotta hostage!"

"Excellent work Borda." said Horda, getting back to his feet.

Sonic and the others looked over their shoulders and saw Borda with Amy at blade point.

"Let go of her this minute!" ordered Sonic.

"Oh no I won't!" sneered Borda, holding his flattened saw blade closer to Amy's neck.

"Oh yes you will!" ordered Sonic.

"Oh no I won't!" snapped Borda "You surrender yourselves and let Horda fry you and serve you with chips, or I'll cut this pink witch's neck so horribly it might kill her!"

"Sonic do something!" screeched Amy as she tried to keep Borda's saw blade away from her neck.

"What will it be wretch?" growled Horda "Surrender, or get the pleasure of watching that pink girl die?"

Sonic didn't know what to do. He did not for starters want to watch his biggest fan and pen pal die in front of him. On the other hand, he certainly did not want he or any of his friends to be turned into a grilled steak by Horda. Sonic thought desperately on a way out of this mess as Borda made a menacing gesture towards Amy's neck. Then Sonic had an idea and due to how fast he could run, it was bound to work.

"OK you big bullies, let her go. We surrender." said Sonic, getting down on his knees and putting his hands behind his head.

Tails and Cream, not sure what Sonic's plan was, got on their knees and put their hands behind their heads. Borda let go of Amy and she did the same.

"Hey Horda, they surrendered!" piped Borda, leaping about in excitement "We beat em' we beat em!"

"I can see that." snapped Horda "Now you make sure they don't get away while I retrieve my torches."

Borda pulled the four Mobians close together and held his saw blades near their necks in case any of them tried to make a quick getaway or try to pounce on him. Horda stomped off to retrieve his twin torches which were lying near a wall. He picked them both up and stomped back over to Sonic and friends. He was pleased to see Borda had managed to keep them where they were the whole time.

"Now, prepare to go up in flames!" snarled Horda.

He ignited his torches…but nothing happened. Horda tried again. But the torches only sparked lightly instead of igniting a big roaring flame. Tails had thrown them into the wall so hard both torches had broken a bit on the inside so now they wouldn't work. Sonic had no idea this would have happened but he was glad it did so now his plan would work even better now. While Horda kept trying to ignite his broken torches, Sonic grabbed both of Borda's arms and flipped him over his head and into Horda. The two robots collapsed in a head on the floor.

"Now Amy, finish them off!" yelled Sonic.

Amy obeyed and pulled out her Piko-Piko hammer. Then, raising it high above her head in the style of a golfer, she walloped Horda and Borda as if they were a pair of golf balls. The two robots soared into the air and came hurtling down like a bird falling from the sky. They both crashed into a storage cupboard and the whole cupboard fell to pieces. The two robots were covered in cupboard pieces, toolboxes and spare robot parts. Several tools that had been sent flying bonked them on the head as they rained down on them.

"Yahoo! Way past cool!" cried Sonic "Amy you rock!"

Amy blushed with pleasure.

"Thank you Sonic." she said quietly.

Getting a comment from someone she was madly in love with was probably one of the best feelings in the world. But remembering the promise she made to Sonic, she didn't let it go over the top and instead kept her fan-girl thoughts in her head. Unfortunately, even though Horda and Borda were now out of commission, more trouble arrived. While Sonic was congratulating Amy, Cream screamed in terror and made everybody jump. They turned around and saw Mecha Vanilla, holding Cream up to her height by the neck and roaring at her in a mechanical tone.

"Mother, please put me down!" begged Cream "You're hurting me!"

Mecha Vanilla, being the emotionless robot she was, ignored her daughter's pleas for mercy and continued to throttle her.

"Must-kill-none-Robians." she droned "Must-o-bey-Dr.-Egg-man."

Mecha Vanilla probably would have throttled Cream to death if Tails hadn't stepped in and interfered with a flying punch around the head. The roboticized rabbit dropped Cream and fell on her side. That punch Tails did clearly did some damage to Mecha Vanilla since her red optics were going fuzzy and her voice was going up and down.

"Sorry I had to do that to your mom Cream." said Tails "But she would have killed you if I didn't stop her."

"That's alright Tails." said Cream "I just hope we can turn mother back to normal."

"I think I hit her pretty hard." said Tails, only just realizing how sore his hand felt after punching something made of metal with his bare fist "She seems to be acting a bit funny."

And Tails was right on that. Mecha Vanilla didn't seem to know which was up and which was down. She just lay there with her optics fuzzing and her voice crackling for a moment and then going back to normal. Then her optics finally stopped fuzzing and the roboticized rabbit got back to her feet. But Mecha Vanilla didn't seem to have the murderous look in her eyes Robians usually have. In fact, she still seemed a bit confused. Not to mention she began speaking in her natural voice instead of a robotic voice.

"W…Wh…What on…Mobius…?" she mumbled mindlessly.

"What's going on?" asked Sonic.

"I think I hit Vanilla so hard I must have given her some brain damage." said Tails "Or even better, restored her freewill. Her voice doesn't sound robotical anymore."

Mecha Vanilla stared dopily at Sonic and friends.

"Who…Who are you three…?" she managed to blurt out.

"I'm Sonic the Hedgehog and I'm gonna get you out of that robotic body." said Sonic.

"Robotic…what…?" said Mecha Vanilla. She felt herself all over and almost fainted with shock. She was completely metal.

"Oh my!" she cried "How did this happen? Cream wouldn't want me to look like this! I'll scare the poor child!"

"Mother I'm right here." said Cream.

Mecha Vanilla stared down at her daughter. If she was still Robian-minded, looking at Cream wouldn't have triggered any emotions whatsoever, but now she appeared to have her freewill back, seeing Cream was like seeing her for the first time in a million years. She scooped up Cream and hugged her. Cream cried tears of joy.

"Oh Cream you're alright!" she cried happily.

"Yes I am." said Cream "And it's thanks to Mr. Sonic and his friends for taking care of me."

Mecha Vanilla looked at Sonic, Tails and Amy who were admiring this tender mother-daughter moment with awe.

"Oh how can I ever repay you three for looking after Cream while I've been in this horrible body?" she said.

"No need to." said Sonic "I just love to help. And once we escape this city, we're gonna turn you back to normal."

"Sonic!" cried Tails "Horda and Borda are getting back up!"

"Who and who?" asked Mecha Vanilla.

The mountain of debris erupted, sending pieces of broken cupboard, tools and empty tool boxes flying everywhere and there stood Horda and Borda. The two robots did not look very happy at all.

"This has gone on far enough!" bellowed Horda "I shall burn you all into ashes!"

"And I'll slice their heads off!" yelled Borda, brandishing his flattened saw blades.

"Just try it Thing 1 and Thing 2!" yelled Sonic, getting into a battle ready pose.

But before the fight could commence, a loud noise was heard from outside. Everybody looked to their right. Horda and Borda looked to their left. Then the wall exploded into tiny pieces. Everybody ducked as showers of steel rained on them. Horda and Borda weren't bothered since they were metal themselves to they didn't need to run for cover. Then a giant robot appeared in the wall's place. It was Egg-Scorpion all fixed up and as good as new. Only instead of Alonzo, Dr. Eggman was now piloting the scorpion style machine. Mecha Vanilla stared at the robot as if she vaguely recognized it. After all, it was the robot that had snatched her away and took to Dr. Eggman in the first place. Horda and Borda stared at the giant robot, petrified with fear. The only thing that scared Horda and Borda more then anything was a robot bigger then them.

"So it appears I have a pest control to deal with!" declared Dr. Eggman "And I have two intruders snooping about on my computers, is that right Alonzo?"

"Yes sir, those two robots were trying to download your machine diagrams." said Alonzo, pointing at Horda and Borda "Luckily Sonic the Hedgehog stopped them."

Dr. Eggman looked at the two with interest.

"I'm not familiar with you two, but if you try and steal things from Dr. Eggman, you suffer the consequences!"

Horda and Borda finally snapped out of their fear and ran for their lives Dr. Eggman would have chased after them but he decided they were not worth it and focused his attention back on Sonic and friends.

"And as for you, Sonic the Hedgehog!" he said crossly "This is the last time you'll ever come snooping around my premises again!"

"Come and get me fat man!" Sonic said challengingly.

"Gladly!" sneered Dr. Eggman

He thrust the levers on the control pad forward and Egg-Scorpion lunged at them, its drill claws whirring away like mad…

Footnotes:

 See the very first story from the spin-off title *Tales from

Mobius

* See Story 5 for Horda and Borda's debut

 Again, see the first story from *Tales from Mobius

 See Story 16

* See Story 4

 See Story 15 (How many footnotes are there?)

This doesn't look good! Can Sonic defeat Eggman and save Cream and Vanilla? Join me next time as Sonic and Eggman go head to head in one epic showdown! Reviews are welcome.

The Great Throw Down

Story 20: The Great Throw Down

While Sonic and friends brawled with Dr. Eggman's ferocious Egg-Scorpion, Horda and Borda finally made it out of the base and ran into their ship, which was parked directly beside Eggman's base. Horda leaped into the pilot's seat frantically and began pounding on the controls to get the ship up and running. Borda buckled himself up in the passenger's seat.

"We've gotta get outta here!" screeched Horda frantically as the ship began to power up.

"But what about the diagrams we failed to download?" asked Borda "M-master R-R-Rorda won't be pleased to see us come back after another failure to destroy the cities of this world!"

"I don't care!" screamed Horda "I just wanna get out of here before I'm turned into a scrap heap by that scary scorpion bot!"

The ship finally kicked into action and faster then the speed of sound, the ship raised off the ground and rocketed into the sky and vanished from view. The ship taking off caught Wilson and Mandy's attention and they looked up to see it.

"What was that?" asked Wilson.

"No idea." said Mandy "But it's left now so we don't have to worry about it."

"Do you think we should go into Eggman's base and give Sonic a hand?" asked Wilson "He's been in there an awful long time and he might need some help."

"You do worry too much." said Mandy "I'm sure Sonic has everything under control. But we don't know if he's alright so maybe we should see how things are going."

And with that, the two Mobians crept out of their hiding place and headed towards Eggman's base, being careful to avoid any robots along the way.

Egg-Scorpion made yet another dive into the floor a vain attempt to catch Sonic and friends. Every time Egg-Scorpion dived for Sonic or any of his friends, he missed and ended up embedding himself into the floor, only to pull himself out afterwards. Mecha Vanilla grabbed Cream and took shelter behind a cabinet since she didn't want Cream hurt. Egg-Scorpion pulled himself out of the ground and searched for Sonic. Sonic was standing right on top of the scorpion's head so the robot couldn't see him at all.

"Sonic, where are you?" asked Dr. Eggman.

"I'm up here Egg-Brains." said Sonic.

Dr. Eggman looked up and surely enough, saw Sonic standing right above him. He pulled on one of the levers to make Egg-Scorpion's left arm move and hopefully swat Sonic like a fly. Predictably enough though, Sonic moved out of the way and Egg-Scorpion ended up clopping itself on the head where Dr. Eggman was stationed. The cockpit window amazingly withstood the powerful slam but it cracked in many places. Another slam like that and the window would shatter all over Dr. Eggman and Alonzo. Before Egg-Scorpion could recover from its self-inflicted injury, Tails came in on the attack, carrying Amy by the arm. He threw Amy straight into Egg-Scorpion and Amy, with her Piko-Piko hammer at the ready, prepared to strike on the cockpit window. Unfortunately, Dr. Eggman was too quick for her and Egg-Scorpion ended up seizing her in its terrifying claw. Amy squealed as she was grabbed by the giant robot. Tails gasped in horror and flew towards her in an attempt to save her but Egg-Scorpion grabbed him with his other claw. Now Tails was caught. Dr. Eggman cackled with triumph as he admired the captured Mobians Egg-Scorpion held in his claws.

"Sonic! Help! Eggman's got us!" screeched Tails.

Sonic saw Tails and Amy's situation and dashed in to help them. Unfortunately, Dr. Eggman saw Sonic coming and blasted the hedgehog away with Egg-Scorpion's tail mounted cannons. Sonic was propelled backwards and sent crashing into the wall. He crashed into it so hard he was deeply embedded into the wall and stuck fast! As Sonic tried to free himself from the wall, Egg-Scorpion skittered towards the trapped hedgehog. Cream and Mecha Vanilla had been watching the whole fight and were shocked at what they were seeing.

"Mother, Mr. Sonic needs help!" cried Cream "I need to help him!"

"Cream, no!" cried Mecha Vanilla desperately "I don't want you to risk your life out there! That horrible man will kill you!"

"But…Who's gonna help Mr. Sonic if I don't?" said Cream.

Mecha Vanilla didn't want to lose Cream so shortly after getting her freewill back but she knew that Sonic was in trouble out there and he needed all the help he can get so she gave in.

"OK Cream, you can help Sonic, just be careful out there." she said.

"Thank you." said Cream "Come on Cheese, let's help Mr. Sonic!"

"Chao!" cried Cheese in agreement.

The two friends flew towards the advancing Egg-Scorpion. Sonic was still trying to free himself from the wall but he was embedded so deeply he couldn't get free. And he couldn't spin free since he was stuck so Sonic had no hope of getting out of this one. Egg-Scorpion stopped just in front of the trapped hedgehog and Dr. Eggman glared at him.

"Caught between a rock and a hard place aren't ya?" jeered Dr. Eggman "Now you will die!"

He aimed Egg-Scorpion's tail mounted cannons at the trapped hedgehog and prepared to blast Sonic to bits. But before he could fire, Cream the Rabbit flew onto the cockpit window and blocked Dr. Eggman's vision.

"Oy! Get off my cockpit window!" yelled Dr. Eggman "I can't see Sonic!"

Cream refused to move. Dr. Eggman had to get Cream off if he wanted to see where he was aiming but both of Egg-Scorpion's claws had captives in them and if he let them go to grab Cream, they would cause trouble for him and if he tried to swat Cream, he would smash the cockpit window to pieces and leave himself vulnerable to attack. Then it dawned on him he knew exactly what to do. He aimed Egg-Scorpion's cannons at Cream and threatened to fire at her. Cream fell for it and moved out of the way. Now she was off the window, Egg-Scorpion swatted her away with one hefty swipe of the claw. Cream hurtled into the floor face first and skidded for a few centimetres before coming to a halt. The impact had hurt her face an awful lot and she had a few scrape marks on her muzzle.

"Cream!" cried Mecha Vanilla, rushing over to her daughter's aid. Dr. Eggman noticed this act and scowled.

"So one of my Robians has gained her freewill back?" he grumbled "Oh well, I'll deal with her later. Right now, I end Sonic's life for good!"

Sonic was still trying to pull himself out of the wall but still to no avail. Dr. Eggman aimed Egg-Scorpion's tail-mounted cannons and prepared to fire once again. Then suddenly Egg-Scorpion's giant claws were sliced right off their wrist sockets! The claws dropped to the ground with a loud clang and opened up, releasing Tails and Amy. Dr. Eggman couldn't believe his eyes. Sonic wondered what had happened too. Then he found the answer. Wilson and Mandy had arrived on the scene at last and Wilson had used his trademark spinning blade weapon to slice Egg-Scorpion's claws off. Dr. Eggman got mad and lunged at the two but Wilson and Mandy were way too quick and they leaped out of the way. While Egg-Scorpion was distracted, Tails and Amy grabbed Sonic's arms and pulled as hard as they could in an attempt to pull him out of the wall. It took a lot of effort and a lot of hard pulling but they eventually pulled Sonic out of the wall. The wall had a neat Sonic shaped hole in it where Sonic once was. Sonic brushed some dust off of his quills and arms.

"Thanks guys." he said "Now it's time for me to, yet again, defeat Dr. Eggman!"

"Of course." said Tails.

Sonic leaped into the air, spun into a spiky ball and charged straight at Egg-Scorpion, who was still chasing Wilson and Mandy. Sonic hit the enormous tail and broke it in half so now Egg-Scorpion had no tail. Then Sonic's spin-dash smashed directly through the top of Egg-Scorpion and came out through the bottom. Then finally, Sonic went directly back up and ended up smashing straight through the cockpit, sending Dr. Eggman and Alonzo flying straight through the already horribly cracked window. Now Egg-Scorpion had no one piloting it so the huge machine stood to a stand still. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo fell to the floor and landed on top of each other. Alonzo unfortunately, was at the bottom. Dr. Eggman weighed quite a lot so poor Alonzo was getting squished under the fat man's weight.

"Get off!" he yelled, punching Dr. Eggman off of him with amazingly, one punch with hardly any effort.

Sonic landed in front of the two dazed villains and smirked at them with triumph. Dr. Eggman scowled a threatening scowl at Sonic. Sonic didn't care; he was used to that kind of scowl by now since Dr. Eggman uses it all the time.

"You snooze, you lose Doc Egg." snickered Sonic.

"Blast you, you infuriating sack of needles!" roared Dr. Eggman "Why must you always ruin my evil plans?"

"Because Eggman, I refuse to let you take over Mobius." snapped Sonic "We wanna live our own lives, not the life of a stinking robot! We've battled for eight months straight and I come out on top every time so why don't you be a good boy and give it up already?"

"Aaaah. You don't ALWAYS come out on top." noted Dr. Eggman "I actually managed to capture you a couple of times AND I actually managed to roboticize you*! So that proves I'm getting better!"

"But I always escape and I managed to get de-roboticized." noted Sonic "So what does that tell ya?"

"It tells me you only got lucky because you have friends to help you." sniffed Dr. Eggman "You couldn't defeat me on your own."

"Oh yeah?" yelled Sonic challengingly "I could beat you with both my arms tied behind my back and with my eyes closed!"

"Then we'll see about that shall we?" sneered Dr. Eggman "At exactly twelve o' clock tomorrow, you and I will have a showdown to determine who's the best! And you must face me ALONE!"

"Fair deal." sniffed Sonic, unimpressed "But YOU must fight me ALONE too!"

"Fair enough." said Dr. Eggman, grinning widely "I'll pick my greatest robot to fight you! You won't know what hit you!"

"I have an idea to make things more interesting." added Sonic "If I win, you will get your sorry butt outta Mobius once and for all!"

"But what if I win?" asked Dr. Eggman.

"Then you get Mobius and you get to roboticize everybody, starting with me." said Sonic smoothly.

"Sonic no!" cried Amy "You can't do that! What if Eggman actually beats you?"

"Oh relax, I've had eight months of practice defeating this guy." said Sonic calmly "This'll be a piece of cake."

Dr. Eggman got to his feet and he and Sonic shook hands on the deal.

"You have a deal Sonic." said Dr. Eggman "Now you Mobians better run home and rest. You'll need to be in tip-top shape if you want to witness my ultimate victory over Sonic!"

"Yeah, yeah, yeah." snorted Sonic "Whatever, let's go guys."

Sonic, Tails, Amy, Cream, Mecha Vanilla, Wilson and Mandy all left Dr. Eggman's trashed base behind. They carried on through the robotical city all around them and then they left through the giant iron gates that opened for them to let them out. Dr. Eggman was now alone in his base. He smiled wickedly to himself and yelled at Alonzo.

"Alonzo! Is my battle suit ready?"

"Yes sir!" piped Alonzo "Your battle suit is ready and functional!"

"Good." purred Dr. Eggman "Project: Metal Sonic maybe a good idea to use on Sonic, but hopefully I maybe able to finish him off with my side project, which is my battle suit. Sonic won't know what hit him…!"

And with that, he exploded into evil laughter.

At approximately 9 o' clock next morning after breakfast, Sonic was doing his morning warm ups which usually consisted of a hearty jog around Green Hill Zone for half an hour. Doing this usually woke him up fully and prepared him for whatever dangers could be lurking around the corner. After jogging Sonic rested for ten minutes and then moved on to his next exercise which was target practice. The targets? Crudely made robots of course! Sonic was never really that great a builder and the robots were made out of pieces of old Eggman robots he had smashed in the past. Sonic would use these targets to practice his aiming when in spin-dash. Being the excellent aimer he is, he hit every single robot and after smashing them to pieces, he would put them back together just so he can do it again the next time he does target practice. After Sonic hit the last robot and smashed it to pieces, he took another ten minute break. However as he was resting, Tails, Amy and Cream & Cheese appeared.

"So how's your morning exercises coming on Sonic?" asked Amy.

"Eh, they're coming on OK." said Sonic casually.

"Where did all these robot parts come from?" asked Cream, taking note of the pieces of robot that littered the ground. Cheese tried to pick one up but to no avail.

"After Sonic destroys Eggman's robots he collects some of their parts so he can make up some robots to use as target practice." said Tails "Even though he builds them pretty badly."

Sonic gave Tails a casual smile. "What can I say?" he said snidely "I'm not a mechanic. And they're only for target practice so it doesn't matter if they're built up badly."

Tails chuckled at Sonic's snide remark.

"I know Sonic." said Tails "You build them how you want. They're your robots."

"More like they're Eggman's busted up robots for me to us as target practice and bust them up even more." laughed Sonic.

The others laughed with the blue hedgehog. After the laughing stopped, Amy suddenly said something.

"Does anyone other then me wonder what robot Eggman is going to use in the throw down this afternoon?"

"Who knows?" said Sonic, shrugging "But it doesn't matter; I'll just smash it up the same way I always smash Eggman's robots when I fight them."

"I'll laugh my socks off if he's using Scream Roller again." chuckled Tails.

"Nah, Eggman usually builds an entirely new robot from scratch rather then reusing the same one." said Sonic "After all, why use the same robot if he knows he can't beat me with it?"

Tails nodded in agreement. Then suddenly Cream put on a worried face.

"What if Mr. Sonic loses his battle with Dr. Eggman?" she asked "He'll turn us all into robots and Mobius will be a robot world! I don't wanna be a robot!"

"Relax Cream, Sonic can beat anything Dr. Eggman throws at him." said Amy, even though secretly she was just as worried over her beloved Sonic as Cream was "Sonic will beat that guy with his eyes closed!"

Sonic groaned. Even though he usually liked to exaggerate, he didn't really like it when Amy did it because sometimes she took it too far and she always had that fan-girl attitude on when she exaggerated about Sonic which embarrassed him. Still, Sonic had beaten Dr. Eggman so many times he could probably defeat him blindfolded. But even though Sonic had so much confidence about himself, even he was beginning to have a tiny nagging feeling that Dr. Eggman might actually best him this time around. Sonic knew that losing that fight would cost the lives of everybody on Mobius and even the whole planet since the deal was if Eggman won he'd get to roboticize everything and everybody. So losing this fight would be a heavier loss then just losing a fight, losing the fight would mean losing their freedom and their homes. And Sonic would even up becoming the terrifying Mecha Sonic once again. These horrible images were beginning to make Sonic lose his confidence a little. But then Sonic remembered who he was, the fastest thing alive, the hero of Mobius, there was no way some stupid fat man and his army of mechanical toys were going to defeat him. Not here, not now, not ever. Sonic was going to win the showdown with Eggman at noon and there was no way he was going to lose.

"Hey Sonic, you alright?" asked Tails, snapping Sonic out of his train of thoughts.

"Huh? What?" he mumbled "Oh yeah. I'm OK Tails. Just deep in thought that's all."

"About what?" asked Tails.

"The upcoming fight and how I'm gonna trash Eggman so hard he'll never forget it!" lied Sonic.

"That's the Sonic I know!" squealed Amy happily "I can't wait to see the fight!"

"Me too." said Tails.

Sonic then suddenly realized his rest was over and he leaped onto his feet.

"My break's over you four." said Sonic "Can you lot wait while I finish off my morning exercises?"

"Sure we can." said Cream politely "What are you doing next?"

"One final sprint around the forest for half an hour." said Sonic "Here I go!"

And with that said, he rushed off into his half hour sprint. Because he ran so fast he could do two laps around Green Hill Zone in two seconds flat so doing the same laps for thirty minutes was usually a good way to keep himself fit and sharp. And he needed to be fit and sharp for the upcoming battle at noon…

As for Dr. Eggman he was having some "morning exercises" of his own. Only his didn't involve jogging around a forest for half an hour (pity really. It would have done some good on his waistline), his involved testing his new invention's weapons and target practice. This invention of his was one to make your eyes pop. Dr. Eggman had made a robotic battle suit for him to us in the titanic contest that waited him in a few hours time. The suit was large just like his usual machines and it contained jet wings on its back for flying, a row of spikes that started from its nose and ending at the back of its head. On one arm it had a shield and on the other it had a huge spiked mace in place of an actual hand. It had a blaster cannon on each side of its waist and a missile launcher on its back. Its body and legs vaguely assembled Dr. Eggman himself and under the sharp pointed nose was a thin metallic moustache. The robot was coloured red and black with strips of white and bits of yellow just like Eggman's outfit was. This machine was one machine Sonic would never forget. Dr. Eggman fired the battle suit's weapons at the various hedgehog shaped targets had had set up for the target practice and every single target was blasted to tiny little bits. Then Dr. Eggman decided to test the machine's mace which could be used for hand-to-hand combat or long range attacks. The mace fired from its wrist socket and landed with a deafening smash on the last remaining target. The target was completely obliterated and to add insult to injury, the mace emitted a brief EMP shock after it hit the ground so anyone unfortunate enough to be nearby would be shocked pretty badly. So if you got hit by that mace you would either get skewered, smashed or shocked or even all three at once! Talk about heavy weaponry! Dr. Eggman was cackling like a demon inside the robotic suit. The top half of the suit made a loud hiss and detached from its legs to let Dr. Eggman out of the suit. Dr. Eggman hopped out of the suit and dusted his hands off.

"Not bad eh Alonzo?" he crooned smoothly "My machine does a lot of damage doesn't it?"

Alonzo, who was supposed to be overseeing the test had taken shelter behind a stack of crates due to how terrifying Eggman's new weapons were. He emerged from his hiding place, shaking like a million leaves.

"Y-y-y-yes s-s-sir." he stammered, still shaking from the sheer scariness of Eggman's brilliance "Y-y-y-you g-g-got e-e-e-e-every s-s-single target! Th-th-that hedgehog's a g-g-goner!"

"Oh that's good!" said Dr. Eggman happily "At long last my genius will triumph over Sonic's puny speed once and for all! Mobius is practically mine! Oooooh I can almost feel it crumble before me in the palm of my giant metal hand!"

"You don't have a giant metal hand you doofus!" snapped Alonzo.

"It's a figure of speech my steel stooge!" said Dr. Eggman crossly "And don't you go calling me a doofus either! I'm the brain and you are the stooge!"

"Yes boss I'm a stooge." said Alonzo pathetically "And you're the brain."

He pulled out his famous pointed hat with the word "stooge" printed on it and put it on his pointed head. He pulled a silly face and Dr. Eggman laughed at him.

"That never gets old Alonzo!" he chuckled "I could watch you do it all day!"

Alonzo just turned his back on his fat master and gave him the cold shoulder. Dr. Eggman didn't seem to notice this though as he climbed back into his robotic suit. The top half of the suit closed around him, forming the whole robot once again.

"I can't wait to pound Sonic into the dirt with this ingenious device!" he crowed to himself "He'll never forget the day I, Dr. Ivo Eggman, well and truly defeats him once and for all!"

Alonzo was not impressed by his master's gloating. Why does that tub of lard always gloat about how he is going to stop Sonic and yet always gets sorely defeated every time? Maybe it was because Dr. Eggman was such an egotistical nutcase he doesn't care how many times he gets defeated, he just takes the old "If at first you don't succeed: try, TRY again" routine and constantly comes back for more. Alonzo couldn't wait to see Eggman get defeated by Sonic once again. And he only had a few hours to wait until the showdown over the planet began…

Twelve o' clock midday.

It is time.

Time for the colossal contest between Sonic the Hedgehog and Dr. Eggman to determine the fate of everybody on Mobius. Sonic and his friends gathered around into the Great Dunes which was where the battle would be taking place. There was Tails, Amy and Cream & Cheese (of course), Mecha Vanilla and even Knuckles the Echidna had come to watch the fight. He was only here because he had nothing better to do and he always did enjoy watching a good fight.

"Who are you?" asked Amy "I don't believe we've met before."

"The name's Knuckles." said Knuckles "I'm from the famed Angel Island and I'm a friend of Sonic's."

"Well any friend of Sonic's is a friend of mine." said Amy, shaking Knuckle's hand politely "I'm Amy Rose, Sonic's biggest fan and soon-to-be love interest."

"And my name is Cream." said Cream "How do you do?"

"Um…fine thanks." said Knuckles modestly "And may I ask who's the robot bunny there?" he added, pointing at Mecha Vanilla.

"I'm Vanilla, Cream's mother." said Mecha Vanilla "But as you can see, I've been turned into a robot by that horrible Dr. Eggman person."

"I know what that fat man can do." said Knuckles angrily "And I'm going to make him pay for trying to steal the Master Emerald the other day!"

"The what, what?" questioned Amy.

"The Master Emerald keeps Angel Island a float." explained Knuckles "Without it, the island will fall to the ground and goodness knows how much catastrophe it'll cause!"

"And Eggman tried to steal it?" said Amy "How low can that man go?"

"As low as he can I guess." muttered Knuckles. Then he turned to Tails and said "How's it going Tails?"

"Just fine Knuckles." said Tails "How's things been since Mecha Sonic attacked your island?"

"Not too shabby." said Knuckles "I was kinda bewildered to find out I was defeated by a roboticized Sonic I'll admit. I wonder if still that strong now he's not a robot!" he added jokingly.

Tails gave Knuckles a fake chuckle and turned his attention to the battlefield which had Sonic already there, waiting impatiently for Dr. Eggman to arrive. Tails was beginning to feel worried for his friend out there. What if Dr. Eggman well and truly defeated him? What evil scheme did he have up his sleeve to defeat Sonic? And would Sonic see it coming?

On the battlefield, Sonic was still impatiently waiting for Dr. Eggman to arrive. Two whole minutes had passed and Dr. Eggman hadn't arrived yet. What was keeping the fat man? Had he chickened out before the fight even began?

"Hey Egg-Brains! Where are you?" yelled Sonic "I'm getting old here!"

Then as if on cue, Dr. Eggman arrived on the scene in his giant robotical suit. He hovered through the skies and then landed a good distance away from Sonic, who smiled happily at the fact Eggman had finally decided to arrive. Alonzo had been riding on the suit's shoulder and he hoped off. Sonic smirked at Dr. Eggman's new invention.

"Is that seriously all you got?" he sneered "A robot that's the spitting image of you only fatter? You've gotta be kidding me!"

"Snide remarks and bad jokes won't help you in this fight Sonic." snarled Dr. Eggman from inside the robot suit "This will be one beat down you'll never forget!"

"Pssh Whatever." said Sonic in a bored tone.

Alonzo trundled into the centre of the battlefield and made an announcement.

"This battle will determine who is the superior in combat." he said "We have Sonic the Hedgehog competing against Dr. Eggman. The winner will decide the fate of Mobius. There are no rules in this fight except win and they must fight without any assistance."

Sonic raised an eyebrow suspiciously. Something was beginning to smell fishy around here when Alonzo said there are no rules except the two he just mentioned. Did that mean Eggman would try and do something unfair to Sonic which would give him the advantage in the battle?

"Are you ready?" yelled Alonzo.

"Ready!" the contestants said.

The onlookers watched closely as the fight was beginning to start.

"Ready…Set…" said Alonzo slowly as he trundled out of the centre of the battle field. Sonic and Eggman tensed themselves as they prepared to lunge at each other and begin the fight.

"GO!" yelled Alonzo.

Sonic and Eggman lunged at each other faster then you could blink. Eggman had the shield raised so Sonic charged straight into the shield. Sonic bounced off it harmlessly and rubbed his head.

"Nice one." he said "But still not good enough to stop me."

Sonic span into a spin-dash and was about to attack until suddenly Alonzo pressed a button on a remote device he held and the ground began to shake. Sonic stopped what he was doing and looked around him as the ground shook. Dr. Eggman didn't seem to be bothered about it though, he remained clam and contained. Then the whole ground began to crack all around the two fighters. Then four large black iron walls began to emerge from the cracking ground around Sonic and Eggman. The onlookers gasped in amazement at the giant walls. Sonic had no idea what was happening but he knew this must be some kind of trick Eggman had up his sleeve. The walls finally finished ascending from the ground. Now Sonic and Eggman were enclosed in a rectangular enclosure formed by the black iron walls. Sonic glared at Dr. Eggman crossly.

"OK, what's going on?" he demanded.

"These walls are merely there to stop anyone from trying to interfere with our battle Sonic." said Dr. Eggman "And since no one can see us, no one knows who's winning and it raises the tension doesn't it?"

"Yeah I guess." said Sonic "But it doesn't mean I'm gonna lose!"

Sonic leaped into the air to attack Dr. Eggman…and suddenly got zapped in the back by a brilliant flash of electricity. Sonic fell to the ground painfully and he rubbed his electrocuted back.

"What the heck happened?" he asked.

"I forgot to mention something." crowed Dr. Eggman "These walls are fitted with motion sensors and EMP cannons and they'll zap you every time you leap into the air! So no homing attacks or spin-dashes from you in this fight it seems!"

Sonic was absolutely livid.

"This is an outrage!" he yelled "How can I possibly fight back if I can't use my signature moves on ya without getting zapped? That's not fair!"

"There are no rules in this game except win and no allies." sneered Dr. Eggman "So I can use anything to help me vanquish you for good!"

"It's still not fair on me though." muttered Sonic.

"That's the point Sonic!" laughed Eggman "I DON'T play fair!"

He aimed the robot suit's wicked mace at Sonic and fired at him. Sonic leaped out of the way of the mace but due to the motion sensors and the EMP cannons, he got zapped the minute he leaped out of the way. Sonic fell to the ground again and Eggman's mace returned to him. Then he fired the mace again before Sonic could get back up and the poor hedgehog was hit full on by the mace. Luckily the mace's spikes didn't quite get him. The mace crashed into the iron wall and embedded itself into the wall thanks to its spikes. Now Sonic was trapped between the wall and the mace. And then suddenly he was zapped by the mace's built in electricity conductor. After the mace's shock ceased, Sonic panted heavily.

"How many times am I gonna get zapped in this fight?" he gasped "I may as well become a lightening rod!"

The mace suddenly freed itself from the wall and returned to Dr. Eggman. It attached itself neatly into the robot suit's wrist socket. Then Dr. Eggman proceeded to raise the robot arm with the mace on and then swing down on Sonic in a hopeful attempt to crush him. Sonic managed to recover just in time to get out of the way. Eggman hit the wall with a terrific smash of the mace. The impact of the mace had cracked the wall slightly. Sonic ran around the arena at his trademark speed while he tried to think of a way to attack Eggman without leaping at him. Dr. Eggman noticed Sonic running around madly and decided to try and blast him. The suit's waist cannons fired at Sonic as he ran around the arena. Sonic couldn't leap to dodge any of the blasts since doing so would just get him zapped so he relied on running fast enough to get by just as the cannon blasts were fired at him. Then Sonic had an idea. He carried on running at supersonic speed but he aimed at Eggman's legs in hope of hitting them hard enough to take them out. Unfortunately Eggman caught sight of him and put the shield in front of the legs to stop Sonic from hitting them. Sonic hit the shield and bounced straight off it and into the wall. Sonic fell from the wall and landed front first onto the ground.

"Valiant effort Sonic." said Dr. Eggman "But I'm afraid it's not valiant enough. You'll have to try much harder then that to stop me this time!"

"You mean like this?" cried Sonic.

He got back to his feet and charged at Dr. Eggman's robotic suit. But instead of charging into him like a shooting bullet, he began to run rings around Eggman. Dr. Eggman knew what he was attempting to do; Sonic was using his Sonic Tornado move, a powerful move that did not require leaping to perform. Why hadn't he made it so every time Sonic attacks he gets zapped? Sonic continued running around Eggman and forming the familiar blue tornado that appeared whenever he performed the move. Eggman was beginning to get caught up in the wind and his suit was spinning around madly. Sonic finally stopped running and the tornado span Eggman directly into the wall. The move had clearly shaken Eggman a little because he seemed too startled for words. Sonic smirked at him.

"How this for trying harder?" he crowed.

"Very clever Sonic." said Dr. Eggman "But this suit is strong enough to withstand your mere tornado attacks."

The robotical suit stood back up and aimed it's mace at Sonic. Then it fired the mace at him. Sonic ducked and the mace whizzed over his head and hit the ground a few meters behind him. The mace returned to Dr. Eggman. Then he began to spin the mace arm around at an incredible speed. Sonic ran away from Eggman but the determined villain chased after him, his robotical arm still spinning. The robot suit was fast enough to keep up with Sonic and since they were in an enclosed area, Eggman didn't have too much trouble chasing him down. He eventually caught up with Sonic and walloped him with the mace. Sonic hurtled into the wall like a golf ball that had just been hit by the golf player. Sonic leaped off the wall and ended up whizzing towards Eggman like an arrow. Eggman raised the shield up and Sonic bounced straight off it once again. Sonic hit the ground face first and before he could recover, Dr. Eggman walloped him with the mace again. Sonic hit the wall and slid back down to the ground. This fight was going in Eggman's direction and he knew it. Sonic needed a plan and fast otherwise he would be defeated and Mobius would be doomed forever.

Outside the enclosure, everybody was wondering what was happening.

"What's going on in there?" asked Amy.

"Is Sonic winning?" asked Tails.

"Is Eggman getting thrashed?" asked Knuckles.

Alonzo was less then helpful though.

"I'm sorry but there are no windows for you to see through and I can't be bothered to install any." he said "You'll have to wait until the fight is over and you'll see who's won."

"Oh shut up!" snapped Amy, whacking him on the head with her Piko-Piko hammer.

Alonzo fell to pieces yet again. He cursed Amy under his breath and put himself back together.

"I have no idea how he does that." said Tails.

"I really hope Sonic's alright on the other side of those walls." said Knuckles "But I have a feeling in my bones he isn't."

And that feeling in Knuckles' bones was right. Sonic wasn't alright, he was getting caned in this fight. Dr. Eggman kept whacking him with his mace or kicking him. Sonic kept recovering and trying to retaliate but Eggman was too quick for him and kept defending the suit's weaker points with his shield. Sonic tried another Sonic Tornado move but all that did was shake Eggman a little and then in a trice, he would recover and attack again. Sonic needed an idea and he needed it fast. But he had no idea on what to do. He couldn't spin-dash or homing attack Eggman since he gets zapped every time he leaps and his Sonic Tornado didn't do much harm to him. Then Sonic had an idea. Dr. Eggman bore down on him and prepared to attack until Sonic stopped him.

"Hey Egg face!" he yelled "I surrender! You win!"

Dr. Eggman stopped in his tracks and stared at Sonic. Sonic the Hedgehog is surrendering to him? What on Mobius was going on? Sonic would NEVER surrender to anyone! Then Dr. Eggman realized something. This must be a trick. In fact…it was!

"Oh no you don't Sonic!" said Dr. Eggman "You're pretending to surrender so the moment I lower the walls to announce the winner, you'll cut loose on me all you like!"

"No I won't!" protested Sonic "Honest!"

"Try all you like, I'm not falling for it!" bellowed Dr. Eggman "You will fight this fight to the end and that's all there is to it!"

"Fine Egg Breath!" yelled Sonic "I'll defeat you the old fashioned way!"

And with that Sonic revved up and charged straight at Eggman's legs again. Eggman lowered the shield but Sonic stopped in front of the shield before he could hit it. He grabbed the edge of the shield, pulled himself onto the shield and kicked the robot suit's head. Then Sonic grabbed the robot's head and pulled himself onto it. Dr. Eggman knew what Sonic was up to, he would try to coax Eggman into attacking him and then leap off so he'll hit himself. Dr. Eggman instead decided to grab Sonic instead of hitting him off. Sonic saw Eggman reaching out to grab him and moved out of the way. Then he kicked the robot's head again and was about to retaliate with another attack but Eggman grabbed him with the robot's only hand and threw him into the ground. Sonic skidded across the ground for a good few meters before stopping. The impact had left several grazes on his face and his lower lip had a thin trickle of blood coming from it. Before Sonic could get up, Dr. Eggman fired some missiles at him. The missiles almost hit Sonic but they only just missed and instead, the force of their explosions sent him flying straight up. The onlookers saw Sonic going straight up and sensed the fight wasn't going well for the poor hedgehog. Sonic plummeted straight back down but unluckily for him, he hit the top of one of the walls on his way down and ended up with searing pain flooding through his back. Sonic landed back on the ground front first. Dr. Eggman decided not to wait for Sonic to get back up and fired his mace at him. Sonic saw it coming and just managed to kick it away and send it flying back into Eggman. The mace hit Eggman and knocked him over. Then the mace's electric attack shocked the robot suit. The mace hadn't done grievous damage to the suit, but it had definitely shaken Eggman up a bit.

"How about that Eggman?" crowed Sonic "Talk about a taste of your own medicine!"

"I must admit that was unpleasant." said Dr. Eggman as the robot suit got back to its feet "Now I know what my own weapons feel like. But it's still not strong enough to stop me!"

Then Eggman blasted Sonic with the waist mounted cannons and sent Sonic flying into the wall. Sonic hit the wall and slid back down to the ground. He gasped and panted for breath as Dr. Eggman advanced on him menacingly. Sonic stared helplessly as Eggman's robot suit raised its mace arm and prepared to strike.

"Say goodbye Sonic the Hedgehog!" yelled Eggman.

Eggman swung the mace down on Sonic. But Sonic did a spin-dash on the ground and catapulted himself into the robot's undergarment. He sent the robot wobbling about madly. After Eggman regained his balance he glared at Sonic.

"How did you do that without getting zapped?" he asked "It's supposed to zap you every time you leap!"

"Correction: I didn't leap." said Sonic "I did a spin-dash on the ground and doing so catapulted me into you, I didn't leap at all. So your plan is now crumbling into little bits!"

"So what if you've seen a way around my plan?" snorted Dr.

Eggman "You're injured and weak Sonic! You'll not be able to keep this up any longer!"

"I'll show just how long I can keep this up for!" yelled Sonic angrily.

He did another spin-dash on the ground and propelled himself into Dr. Eggman again. Unfortunately, Eggman was too quick for him and he raised the shield just in time to block his attack. Sonic bounced off of it as if he was a tennis ball. Sonic managed to land on his feet this time and tried his attack again. But instead of using the shield to defend himself, Dr. Eggman whacked Sonic away with the shield and sent Sonic crashing into the wall face first. Sonic had hit the wall so hard he was literally stuck in it. But since only his face was stuck in the wall he could actually pull himself out this time. Sonic pressed against the wall with his feet and pulled his face out of the wall. Unfortunately, Eggman saw the opportunity to hit Sonic with the mace. Sonic was sent hurtling up into the air and then he came falling back down. Before Sonic could hit the ground, Eggman hit him again with the mace. Sonic was sent flying back up and then hurtling back down. Instead of hitting him with the mace and sending him flying back up, Eggman hit swung the mace sideways so when he hit Sonic, he hit him to the side and not straight up. Sonic hit the wall and bounced off of it and landed back first on the ground. Then Eggman kicked Sonic with the robot suit's large feet as if Sonic had now become a football. Sonic hit another wall and bounced off of it. Sonic recovered and did the ground spin-dash again. He propelled himself into Eggman and hit the suit just below the neck but he didn't do much harm to it. He merely bounced off it and hit the mace arm so hard the mace detached from the wrist socket and fell to the ground hard. Then Sonic used another Sonic Tornado move. This time, he did it around the mace and the mace was sent hurling around and around. Then the mace was sent hurling out of the tornado and it hit the robot suit straight in the head. It hit it so hard it almost tore it straight off! Eggman recovered from the attack and reattached the mace back on the robot's arm.

He saw Sonic trying another ground spin-dash attack and raised the shield to protect himself. But Sonic didn't catapult himself into the upper part of the robot suit. He hit the legs and sent Eggman toppling over. Sonic then began to rapidly kick the head at sonic speed but Eggman blasted him away with one of the waist mounted cannons. Sonic slid across the ground and hit the wall head first. He was beginning to feel exhausted and he knew it. But he knew he couldn't let Eggman win so he had to try his hardest. Sonic got back to his feet and charged at Eggman, only not at top speed. He was too injured to run at top speed now. Eggman noticed Sonic's slowed condition and swatted him away with his mace. Sonic flew in a rainbow arch and landed on the ground. Eggman then raised the mace for another attack. Sonic saw this and leaped out of the way before Eggman could smash him. But seeing as he leaped, he got zapped by the walls again. After Sonic got zapped, Eggman caught him on the shield and tossed him into the air. Then before Sonic could hit the ground, Eggman walloped him as hard as he could with his deadly mace. Sonic hit the ground and scraped across it, leaving more cuts on his face then before. The battered and bruised hedgehog knew he couldn't keep this up any longer so he had to give in already. But he couldn't let Eggman win otherwise Mobius would be a robot paradise for Eggman. Sonic tried to get back to his feet, only to find out he couldn't Eggman had beaten him up pretty badly and now he couldn't get back up. Sonic's muscles eventually gave in and he flopped on the ground in total and utter defeat. His eyes closed and he passed out. Dr. Eggman glowered down at his defeated opponent and smiled like a maniacal witch. He'd done it! He'd finally done it! He'd defeated Sonic the Hedgehog at long last! He'd won the fight! Mobius was his at last!

Outside the walls, Alonzo listened to them to see if he could hear any fighting going on. Instead, he heard total silence. Alonzo decided to lower the walls to see who the winners was. He could almost picture the sight of Eggman's defeated machine right now. Tails, Knuckles and Amy stared hard as the walls began to lower while Mecha Vanilla hugged Cream & Cheese. The walls descended into the ground, revealing a triumphant Dr. Eggman and a very battered and beaten Sonic the Hedgehog lying on the ground, well and truly defeated. The Mobians gasped in horror at the sight of Sonic. Alonzo was so shocked at that revelation he almost fainted. His master had actually won for once? How could this be possible? Dr. Eggman's robot suit opened up to reveal Dr. Eggman and the fat man spoke.

"As you can see Mobians, I have won the fight!" he announced gleefully "Now Mobius is mine at long last!"

He cried out for joy and waved his arms about in triumph. The Mobians didn't know what to say. They were too horrified at the fact Sonic just got defeated.

"No…" gasped Tails, tears welling up in his eyes "No…No…No… It…It can't be! Sonic never loses!"

"Oh no!" cried Amy "My Sonic lost the battle!"

"We're gonna be robots!" wailed Cream.

Knuckles was extremely mad at this. He was not letting Eggman get away with this at all. He was going to take on Eggman himself and vanquish him in the blink of an eye. While Eggman cheered, Knuckles charged towards him, roaring angrily. Eggman heard Knuckles coming and raised the shield to defend himself. Fortunately, the robot suit wasn't designed to withstand Knuckle's sheer strength. Knuckles hit the shield with his spiked fists and he hit it so hard it cracked. Then Knuckles punched the shield clean off the robot's arm and he began to launch a series of punches on Eggman's robotical suit in blind rage.

"You're not going to have our home as your kingdom!" he yelled "And you're not populating Mobius with your wretched, filthy machines!"

"Oh woe betide you red head!" sneered Dr. Eggman and he swatted the angry echidna away with his mace.

Knuckles was sent flying into the ground. Dr. Eggman advanced on the downed echidna but suddenly he was hit in several places by a blue blur. It was Sonic the Hedgehog! He had finally recovered and now he had no walls to stop him, he could leap all he liked and he was free to spin-dash Dr. Eggman. He smashed Eggman's mace arm and knocked it clean off as he hit him. Knuckles got back to his feet and joined in with the smashing and trashing. Eggman tried to fly away but Knuckles punched the jet wings off and the robot suit came crashing down to the ground. Sonic knocked off the wrecked head and Knuckles smashed the shield arm to smithereens. Amy decided to add insult to injury by joining in the fight and giving the robot suit a good pounding with her Piko-Piko hammer. Eggman cried out in agony as his robot suit was ripped, smashed and torn apart limb from limb and piece by piece. After the three Mobians were finished, all that was left of Eggman's robotical combat suit were tiny pieces that littered the battlefield. Dr. Eggman sat in the midst of the debris. He looked like his sanity was about to explode. He had come so close to victory and now his triumph had crumbled to pieces before him all thanks to Sonic, Knuckles and Amy. Sonic smirked at Eggman triumphantly.

"I win Egg nose." he grunted "I've just proven you cannot defeat me without cheating or having any assistance. Whereas I can defeat you by myself and without cheating."

Dr. Eggman scowled angrily at Sonic. His face was darker then a thundercloud.

"You'll regret robbing me of my ultimate victory rodent!" he snarled "I'll be back!"

And with that, he and Alonzo ran for their lives. The Mobians watched them disappear from view and then they cheered.

"Hooray! We won!" cried Amy.

"We totally beat that bad egg!" cried Tails.

"Yeah but being the bad egg he is, he won't keep the deal we made." noted Sonic "He won't leave Mobius like he should do now I've defeated him, he'll just come back for more."

"We'll be ready for him buddy." said Knuckles, with a smile "He can't defeat you or all of us together."

Sonic smiled back at Knuckles.

"Cool punches by the way." he said.

Knuckles was about to say something back but Sonic suddenly fainted. Amy shrieked and knelt by his side.

"Sonic? Are you OK?" she cried.

"I think he's fine Amy, he's just so worn out he can't stay awake any longer." said Tails "We need to get him to a hospital and fast."

And with that, Tails and Cream picked Sonic up and flew off with him. The others followed them on foot. They were going to deliver Sonic to a hospital in Empire City where he could recover from his injuries.

Later at Empire City, Sonic had been delivered to the hospital and was now placed under care from the doctors. His injuries from his fight with Dr. Eggman had been pretty severe but not fatal luckily. In a few weeks time, Sonic would be as good as new. Until then, he had to rest up and let his body heal from the beating it had received. Tails and Amy stood beside Sonic's bed as they waited for him to come around. They had been waiting for a long time. After what felt like forever, Sonic opened his eyes and he turned to see Tails and Amy beside him. Their faces were full of joy seeing him awake at last.

"Oh Sonic! You're awake finally!" cried Amy.

"How did I get here?" asked Sonic.

"Me and Cream brought you here." said Tails "After the doctors ran a test on you they said you've gotta be the luckiest Mobian alive because you're injuries were only severe, not fatal so you'll live to fight again."

"That's good news." said Sonic "And that Eggman better watch out because next time, he won't be so lucky!"

"You said it handsome!" shrieked Amy happily "Oh and we made this card for you."

She handed Sonic a card. The card was plain white and had the words "Get well soon Sonic!" on the front in glittering blue letters. Sonic opened the card and inside it read in a neat felt pen:

To Sonic,

We hope with all our hearts that you make a speedy recovery. Get well soon!

And the letter had been signed with Tails, Amy, Cream, Cheese, Vanilla and even Knuckles' names at the bottom. Sonic closed the card and smiled at Tails and Amy.

"Thanks guys, you're the best friends a hedgehog could ask for." he said.

"You're more then welcome Sonic." said Amy happily "We're with ya no matter where you are."

"That's way past cool." said Sonic, giving Tails and Amy his trademark thumbs up sign and winking.

Tails and Amy giggled with pleasure. Seeing how caring his friends were really made Sonic feel a lot better already. He couldn't wait to be up and at them again.

Back at Eggman's base, things were not going well. Eggman had shut himself in a room and although Alonzo had no idea what was going on, he knew Eggman was throwing a fit in there. Alonzo decided to keep out of his master's way until he calmed down. In the room Eggman surprisingly enough, was not throwing a fit or smashing things out of anger. Instead he was working on Project: Metal Sonic. Since his side project had been a failure, he decided to work on the greater project, Metal Sonic.

"You narrowly defeated me this time Sonic." Dr. Eggman said to himself "But you'll never defeat Metal Sonic once he's completed in a week's time!"

As he worked on his new machine, he cackled to himself, knowing that Sonic would never be a match for Metal Sonic. Once he unleashed Metal Sonic, victory would finally be his…

Footnotes:

How many times am I gonna bring up the damn Mecha Sonic saga (Stories 12-14)?

* See Stories 8-9

Mecha Sonic attacked Angel Island in Story 13

What an epic showdown that was! And Eggman ALMOST beat Sonic! Will he beat him next time or is this the only time he's going to get close? We'll see about that. ;) Join me next time as a certain Seedrian finally makes her grand debut... :) Reviews will be appreciated (Sorry if I sound demanding, I'm just curious on what you think of my story.)

Mars Attacks Part 1

Story 21: Mars Attacks Part 1: The Strangers

The sun was starting to set over the meadows of Green Hill Zone, turning the sky from blue into a mixture of pinkish red and light blue. Sonic and Tails were the only ones in the meadow at this time. Sonic had made a speedy recovery since his epic throw down with Eggman the other day* and now he and Tails were enjoying a moment's peace since Eggman wasn't up to anything right now. They had decided to watch the sun set. It was truly a magnificent sight of beauty for them, staring at the mixture of colours in the sky and the sun slowly slinking from view.

"I never get tired of watching these things." said Sonic "It's a nice peaceful pass time isn't it?"

"Yes it is." said Tails in agreement "My mom loved sunsets, it made her think of romantic days with dad before she gave birth to me."

"It's just a pity not everybody respects beauty." said Sonic "Especially Eggman! His idea of beauty is a robot city!"

"Well with us around he certainly won't get that wish." said Tails "We're too much for him!"

Tails laughed and Sonic laughed with him

"Oh yes we are, aren't we?" chuckled Sonic.

Then suddenly Tails leapt to his feet and pointed up at the sky. Something clearly caught his attention.

"Hey look Sonic!" cried Tails "What's that thing up there?"

Sonic looked up at the sky to see what had caught Tails' attention. He saw a faint white twinkling light.

"It's just a star Tails." said Sonic.

"If it's a star then why is it coming towards us?" asked Tails.

Sonic looked back up at the sky. Surely enough, the "star" was actually coming towards them. Its twinkling whiteness getting bigger and bigger as it neared them. Sonic and Tails ran for their lives and the "star" rocketed over the meadows and came down with a deafening crash that could have startled the whole of Knothole if it was near it. A wall of fire emerged from the crash sight. Sonic and Tails ran up to the crash sight to see what it was. The "star" wasn't a star at all, it was a space pod! It was a sleek, green petal shaped space pod! It was now a flaming wreck and its pilot was lying beside the wreck. Tails flew up to the unconscious pilot and hauled her away from the wreck before she could get burnt or injured anymore. Tails settled her down on the grass and Sonic looked at her. The stranger was like no one he'd ever seen before. She had a round head with leaf-like hear and rosebud ears. She had thin eyelashes and no visible nose. There was a red gem on her chest and she wore a green shirt with a white skirt with green tips at the ends. She wore white tights and green shoes. She also looked around Tails' age. This stranger was a sight to behold wasn't it?

"What is it?" asked Sonic.

"No idea." said Tails "I'll bet it's from a plant like species considering her plant like appearance."

"We'd best get her to my place." said Sonic "She's not safe out here."

Tails picked the stranger back up and flew off with her. Sonic ran off after him and the two friends headed for Sonic's house. Hopefully when the stranger awoke, they'd find out about her like who she is and where she's from.

Hell.

A war zone practically epitomizes the word hell. Soldiers and warriors getting blasted by flying laser blasts or getting slashed to pieces by warriors swinging swords everywhere. Not to mention the scenery was filled with walls of fire and war trodden ground. It would be a terrifying sight for anyone around, especially the peace loving Seedrians. They had not wanted to be in a war but the Martian's hostile reception gave them no choice. They simply had to fight for their survival. So it came to this, a war with the peace loving Seedrians and the peace hating Martians. The Seedrians were all pretty looking plant creatures where as the Martians were pretty much demons in battle armour. The scariest of all Martians being the enormous brute and ruler of the Martians known as Diablo the Invincible. A Seedrian known as Lucas, all dressed in battle armour raised his golden sword and Diablo raised his tremendous mace. Then the two lunged for each other as the Seedrian children watched with fear…

The stranger opened her eyes and sat up, gasping. She had awoken from a bad dream. Then she suddenly realized she was in a nice cosy bed in an unknown house. The stranger observed her surroundings with puzzlement on her face. You could tell from the expression on her face she was wondering where she was and how did she get here. She was even wondering what planet she was on and that seemed to worry her. Then the stranger heard voices coming from behind the door. Voices she was not familiar with. Then the door opened and in walked Tails. Sonic had decided it might be a good time to check on the stranger so Tails walked into the bedroom to check on her. His eyes widened a little to see the stranger awake but the stranger pulled the bed covers over her face. She was clearly frightened as she had not seen a Mobian before.

"What's the matter?" asked Tails nicely "Are you afraid?"

The stranger refused to answer; she just sank lower under the covers. Tails walked over to the bed and pulled the covers away from the stranger's face. It then dawned on him that the stranger had the most beautiful blue eyes. They were like pools of water sparkling in the sun light.

"Are you scared?" asked Tails.

The stranger nodded.

"There's no need to be scared of me." said Tails "I won't hurt you and neither will my friend Sonic."

"How's she doing Tails?" asked Sonic, coming up beside him.

"She seems scared Sonic." said Tails.

"Does she?" said Sonic "I bet she's not seen a Mobian before. Hey miss, we won't hurt you, we're good guys here. There's no need to be scared of us." he said to the stranger.

The stranger stopped shaking and sat up.

"Do you mean it?" she asked. Her voice sounded like an angel's.

"Sure!" said Sonic "I'm Sonic the Hedgehog, Hero of Mobius. And you are?"

"My name is Cosmo." said the stranger "And I'm not from here."

"So where are you from Cosmo?" asked Tails.

"I'm from a planet far away from this one." said Cosmo quietly "I am a Seedrian and Seedrians come from a planet teaming with plant like creatures and plant life."

"I see." said Sonic "So why are you so far from home? Out sight seeing?"

"Unfortunately no." said Cosmo. Her face fell into a solemn expression as if something depressing was coming up. "The Seedrians are at war with a vile, malicious race of peace-hating monsters called the Martians. They're demons from Mars and they loathe peaceful planets and peaceful races."

Sonic and Tails didn't like the sound of that. Those Martian guys sounded worse then Eggman!

"The Martians came to my planet and instantly disliked it for its peaceful nature." Cosmo continued "And that's when the war broke out. My mother and all other mothers were desperate to save their children so we were all sent out to reside on our twin planet until the war was over. One Martian spotted us and tried to stop us. He knocked my space pod off course and I spiralled through space until I landed on this planet."

"That explains the crash earlier." said Tails.

Cosmo nodded and continued. "I feel so alone here. I'm on a completely new planet with no idea on what's what and I constantly fear over if the Seedrians are going to defeat those horrible Martians once and for all! What am I going to do?"

She put her head in her hands and began to cry. Sonic and Tails stared at her sadly. How on Mobius were they going to help Cosmo out? She would feel like a fish out of water on Mobius. Sonic put a hand on Cosmo's shoulder.

"Don't worry Cosmo, you'll be alright here." he assured her "Me and Tails will make sure you feel welcome and we'll be your friends."

"Oh you are so kind." said Cosmo happily "But I really don't want to be a burden to you…"

"It's no trouble at all Cosmo." said Sonic reassuringly "I'll make sure you feel welcome here on Mobius. You're gonna like it a lot I promise you."

"Oh Sonic, that sounds wonderful." said Cosmo.

Sonic smiled at her.

"Hey Tails, can you keep an eye on her?" asked Sonic "I'm gonna meet up with Knuckles to see how he's doing."

"OK." said Tails.

Sonic left the room and ran out of the front door at sonic speed. Cosmo saw him running through the bedroom window.

"That Sonic is fast isn't he?" she said.

"That's why they call him Sonic Cosmo." said Tails "By the way, how are you feeling? Are you hurt anywhere?"

"Only my lower back and my legs hurt." said Cosmo "But I'll be fine after a good rest."

"I'll get you some tea Cosmo." said Tails "That'll make you feel better."

Before Cosmo could thank him, Tails left the bedroom to make the tea. She couldn't help but smile at Sonic and Tails' kindness and generosity. She was a complete stranger to them and yet they were willing to help them. Maybe Mobius wouldn't be so bad after all…

Knuckles the Echidna was given the evening off of guarding the Master Emerald for now and he decided to hang out in Green Hill Zone as he never got to go there often. Being in these forests reminded him of the old days where his father Locke would train him up to be an excellent fighter and an excellent guardian. Knuckles missed his father who had sadly passed away after a battle but Locke's spirit lived on in him and Knuckles vowed to make his dad proud by fulfilling the duty he was trained for. And he had done it very well by fending off Eggman robots that were attacking Downunda or making an attempt on Angel Island. The stupid machines were no match for his spiked fists after all.

"I wonder if this conflict with Eggman will ever end?" thought Knuckles "I long for the day it does. I wonder how Sonic's been recently."

Then Knuckles' ever alert eyes caught sight of something. He looked up at the dusking sky and flexed his muscles. The thing he saw was a circular spaceship that fitted the description of a UFO (Unidentified Flying Object) and it was coming down to Mobius.

"Oh great!" moaned Knuckles "Aliens! Well they're gonna regret coming here!"

Knuckles waited until the space landed on its four legged landing gear. The boarding ramp lowered down to the ground and out of the spaceship came an odd looking creature. The creature wore an unbuttoned black leather jacket, a golden helmet with three spikes and golden shoes with a dark red stripe in the middle and two spikes on both sides near the heel. The creature had devilish orange eyes too and a cold expression on its face. Knuckles was taken aback at the sight of such a strange creature but he quickly regained his senses.

"OK mister who are you and what are you doing here?" he bellowed.

The creature didn't seem intimidated at all.

"Oh silly creature, there's no need for that nonsense." said the creature calmly "I come in peace."

"Yeah right." snorted Knuckles "Aliens mean no good and you definitely look like you mean no good!"

"Well maybe you need to work on the old "don't judge a book by its cover" rule." snapped the creature.

That did it; Knuckles pounced on the creature like a tiger and wrestled him to the ground.

"I'm gonna give you fifty knuckle sandwiches you alien filth!" he roared.

"Hey Knuckles lay off!" cried a teenage sounding voice.

Sonic the Hedgehog had arrived on the scene and stopped Knuckles from pounding the creature's face in. Knuckles grumbled at Sonic.

"Sonic, it's an alien!" cried Knuckles.

"It might be a friendly alien!" snapped Sonic "Why must you always jump to conclusions?"

Knuckles was about to argue back but he stopped himself. Sonic helped the creature back on his feet.

"Well at least one Mobian has manners." said the creature, smirking at Knuckles.

"So sorry about Knuckles." said Sonic "He's a bit edgy around strangers."

"I can see that." sneered the creature "My name is Marik the Martian." he added, holding his hand out for a handshake "What's yours little spiky thing?"

Sonic's face changed. Martian! This guy was a Martian! The very creatures Cosmo had described to him and Tails earlier! This guy definitely couldn't be trusted! But instead of attacking him, Sonic decided to pretend he didn't know to lure Marik into a false sense of security and then grind him into the dirt later. Sonic shook Marik's hand wearily.

"I'm Sonic the Hedgehog." said Sonic "And why are you here on Mobius?"

"I'm a tourist." said Marik "And I'm here to have a little look around this planet. Consider it a holiday of sorts. I'll only be here for a couple of days at most so don't worry about me being here too long."

"Ok then Marik." said Sonic "I hope you enjoy your stay."

Secretly, Sonic didn't trust Marik one bit. He betted his life that Marik was here for Cosmo or to see if this was a planet he wanted to destroy since Mobius was a peace loving planet. Sonic knew he had to keep an eye on this stranger. Sonic signalled for Knuckles to come to him. Knuckles came to him and Sonic kept his head low so Marik wouldn't hear him whispering to Knuckles.

"You were right to distrust this guy." whispered Sonic "He's a Martian and somebody told me Martians are peace hating creatures that will destroy any peace loving race."

"They are?" hissed Knuckles quietly "Man! I wish you didn't stop me from pounding his face in."

"I kinda wish that to." said Sonic "But if that Marik does anything suspicious, I'll let you go to town on him all you want, but save some for me."

"Ha, Ha! I will Sonic!" chuckled Knuckles.

"Is something the matter?" asked Marik who had been wondering what they were talking about.

"No, nothing at all Marik." lied Sonic. Then he looked at his wrist as if he had a watch on and pretended to be startled at what time it was.

"Oops! Look at the time, I'd best be off now. Have a nice tour tomorrow!" he said and ran off at his trademark speed.

Marik was totally amazed at that.

"Incredible!" he gasped "I've never seen a creature run as fast as that before! And I thought I was the fastest thing alive."

Knuckles turned to go but before he left, he grabbed Marik by the collar.

"I don't trust you yet Marik!" he growled "And if I catch you doing anything villainous I will pound you so much your face will fall off!"

"Oh ye of little brain." said Marik "There's no need to distrust me; we Martians pride ourselves in being civilized and well brought up. Me and villainous thoughts don't mix."

Knuckles, still glaring put Marik down and walked away. For a peace hater, Marik seemed unusually calm and polite. Maybe the thought of Martians being peace haters was just a nasty rumour and the Martians were the exact opposite. Regardless, Knuckles knew he had to keep an eye on this stranger for he knew he couldn't be trusted.

"You Seedrians sound like an interesting species." said Tails.

"I could say the same about you Mobians." said Cosmo.

Cosmo and Tails had been talking to one another about their own races. Both were fascinated by what they had learned about each other.

"One thing puzzles me Tails." said Cosmo "Why do you have two tails when foxes traditionally have just one?"

"I'm not really sure on that." Tails admitted "Maybe I was just one of those foxes that got more then one tail when I was born."

"I see." said Cosmo.

"I'm glad I do have two tails." said Tails "Because if I didn't, I wouldn't be able to do this."

Tails twisted his tails around one another and began flying a few centimetres off the ground. Cosmo stared at him in amazement. Tails landed back on the floor and his tails stopped spinning.

"Amazing huh?" he said.

Cosmo wasn't sure on what to say. Tails just gave her a friendly chuckle.

"Lost for words aren't you?" he laughed.

"Um…yes really." said Cosmo "I'm not sure what to say about what you just did. It's pretty unbelievable."

"It is, isn't it?" said Tails "Foxes aren't really known for flying. But I think the view up there when I am flying is absolutely spectacular so I don't mind."

Before Tails and Cosmo could talk some more, they heard the sound of some whooshing up to the door, yanking it open and running inside. It was only Sonic. He skidded into the bedroom but he didn't stop fast enough and slid right under the bed, out the other side and hit the wall feet first.

"Man! I need to work on my brakes!" Sonic groaned his he picked himself up.

"Sonic!" cried Tails "What the heck's the matter? Is Dr. Eggman attacking again?"

"No Tails, its worse then that!" gasped Sonic "A Martian has come to Mobius, claiming to be a tourist!"

Cosmo was so shocked; she almost collapsed on the bed. A Martian had come to Mobius? Was it looking for her?

"Did he say his name at all?" asked Tails.

"He calls himself Marik or something like that." said Sonic.

"Oh no! Not Marik!" squeaked Cosmo.

"Y'know him?" said Sonic.

"Unfortunately yes." said Cosmo "Marik is an unholy terror. He enjoys blowing things up and causing malice everywhere. Your planet is in danger now he's here! And I bet he's come looking for me!"

That was more then enough information Sonic needed about Marik. He had to get rid of the Martian before he harmed anyone. Tails was more concerned over if Marik was here to harm Cosmo.

"What are we gonna do Sonic?" asked Tails.

"We're gonna kick Marik's sorry butt back to Mars." said Sonic "But we'll wait till morning, it's getting late and I need my beauty sleep otherwise it disrupts my running."

"I'm a bit tired myself." said Tails "But where can Cosmo sleep? We only have two bedrooms."

"I have a sleeping bag under here." said Sonic.

He reached under the bed and pulled a dark blue sleeping bag out. He handed it to Tails.

"I'm sure she'll be comfortable enough." he added "Goodnight Tails."

"Goodnight Sonic." said Tails, leaving the room with Cosmo following him.

Sonic climbed into bed, turned the lights out and closed his eyes, ready to drift off to sleep. Many thoughts raced through his mind. Was Marik really all that bad? Will Marik be an easy foe to defeat? Will Marik try to destroy Mobius? The only thing Sonic knew was he had to get rid of him before he caused any serious harm. He just hoped there weren't any noteworthy events happening tomorrow. Then suddenly Sonic remembered something. Tomorrow was the Acorn family's Royal Anniversary! The day they celebrated 25 years on the throne! Now Sonic knew he had to get rid of Marik in case he tried to wreck the ceremony, if he happened to come across it that is.

After Sonic had awoken the next morning and eaten his breakfast, he dashed out of the house to find Marik and hopefully send him away from Mobius. A while later, he arrived at the landing sight of Marik's spaceship only to find Knuckles the Echidna already there and coming out of the ship. Knuckles looked grey for some reason.

"Hey Knuckles, what's up?" asked Sonic.

"I came back here to whop Marik's ugly tush back to his home planet but he's gone!" cried Knuckles.

Sonic couldn't believe his ears.

"Gone?" he said "Are you sure?"

"Positive." said Knuckles "I've searched this strange tin-can up and down and he's nowhere to be found in there."

"He must be elsewhere!" cried Sonic "We have to find him before he harms anyone!"

And with that Sonic ran off. Knuckles ran off too. Both of them were searching up and down and anywhere in the forests of Green Hill Zone to look for Marik.

Speaking of Marik, the Martian had already left the spaceship early on and was taking a stroll through the forest a good distance away from where Sonic and Knuckles were. In fact Marik was almost at the end of the forest. During his walk he had eyed every single tree, every solitary bush and every little Flicky bird that had come across him with disgust. On Marik's home planet which of course is Mars, they didn't have forests and forests were a repulsive sight for a Martian. No one really knows why although many guess it's because forests are of a peaceful nature and Martians were peace haters.

"Why do forests have to be such repulsive environments?" he moaned to himself "They'll be much better being used as wood for a bonfire!"

To his delight, he'd finally made it out of the forest and came across another sight to behold. He had come across the under construction Mobotropolis. The current status of the city was still no buildings yet completed but some were nearing completion at least. Marik was amused at this sight.

"So, somebody already tore this city apart and the Mobians are rebuilding it eh?" said Marik with a sinister impressed tone in his voice "Pity I wasn't here to help this person. It would have come out MUCH worse!"

He laughed wickedly at the thought. Then Marik strolled down to the under construction city and surveyed every single detail of it as he walked by the buildings. For some reason he was enjoying the sight of this and as he walked by, his foul mind imagined what it would have been like if he had destroyed it. Several workers stopped what they were doing and stared at the strange little creature that was strolling past them. They hadn't seen a Martian before so this truly was a strange sight for them. Marik glared at all the staring workers but carried on and ignored them. It's not like they were of any bother to him. Unfortunately, one foolish worker decided to tease Marik. He climbed down his ladder and stood in Marik's way. Marik stared up at the fat worker. He looked enormous compared to him, Marik was only three feet tall and the worker was about five feet.

"Hey there freak." said the worker dopily "What'cha doin' ere?"

"What I'm doing here, fatso." snarled Marik "Is none of your pathetic business so get out of my way you walking bag of cement or I will pulverize you into the next century!"

The worker frowned at Marik's rude comment. Other workers had heard Marik's rude remark and they climbed down their ladders to join the fat one.

"Oooooh! A trouble maker huh?" growled one worker, seizing Marik by the jacket and lifting him off the ground "Well we've got a way of dealing with trouble makers like you! I bet this guy's an Eggman robot!"

Marik had no idea on what the worker suggested he was.

"I say we hammer his head in Dave!" cried one worker, brandishing a hammer threateningly.

"Put me down you numbskulls!" ordered Marik "What kind of workers are you? Threatening people on the street! You lot should be sacked! If I was your boss, I would defiantly fire you all on the spot!"

"That's it!" snarled Dave "Tim, hit him as hard as you can with that hammer of yours."

Tim obeyed and raised the hammer. But before he could whack Marik into the next country with it, Marik swiped his arm and hit the worker with a wave of energy. The worker hurtled backwards and landed on his back. Marik then elbowed Dave in the gut, causing the builder to let go of him and ran for it, using his jet shoes to run faster.

"He's getting away!" yelled Dave "Get him!"

The other builders chased after Marik but Marik had already escaped from view and was hiding up an under construction sky scraper that was at least 20 storeys high. Marik waited until the builders ran past his hiding place and hovered down to the ground with his jet shoes. He then carried on through the city, scowling at what had just happened.

"I didn't know Mobians had such bad tempers and poor social abilities!" he grumbled "Definitely a race that needs to be taught some manners!"

His train of angered thoughts was interrupted at the next building he came across. He looked up at the building. The building he was look at was Castle Acorn, standing proudly and majestically above the under construction city. Marik observed it with confusion. It was a mystery to him why Castle Acorn was the only building in Mobotropolis that wasn't under construction. Still, if this was a castle, Marik knew he could cause lots of trouble there. And maybe, if he liked it a lot, he could take over the castle and make it his own. Marik knocked on the door and waited for someone to answer it. The door opened. Princess Sally Acorn was the one who had answered it. Marik looked at her. Sally looked at Marik, clearly taken aback at the strange creature on her doorstep.

"Oh um…can I help you?" she asked.

"My name is Marik the Martian Madame." said Marik "And I'm a space tourist. I'm here for a two day tour of this planet and I wondered would you care to give me a tour of this lovely looking castle of yours?"

"Well Marik, I'm sure my parents wouldn't mind." said Sally "Come in."

Marik did so and was instantly met with a breathtaking sight. The hallway was truly magnificent. It was large and beautifully coloured and decorated with a glistening chandelier and various paintings of the Acorn family's ancestors. Marik was impressed. He knew instantly he was going to like Castle Acorn. Sally giggled at Marik's expression.

"Amazed already and we haven't started!" she laughed "You're easy to impress aren't you Marik?"

"I am really Miss." said Marik "Anything can astound me. By the way." he added "What's your name?"

"I'm Princess Sally Acorn." said Sally.

Marik just pulled a funny face at her.

"You're a princess?" he asked with a weird tone in his voice.

"Yes, is that a problem?" asked Sally.

"Not really." said Marik "It's just, you don't look much like a princess so I was a little surprised. You know what they say, "Appearances can be deceptive" after all."

"I agree with you on that Marik." said Sally "Now, shall we begin the tour?"

"Whenever you're ready Princess." said Marik.

So Sally led Marik off to the first room for him to look in. Marik could tell he was going to enjoy this tour a lot more then he thought he was. And as he walked on, an evil plot was beginning to piece itself together in his foul little mind…

Meanwhile, Tails had woken up only to find Sonic gone. The hedgehog had left him a note saying he had gone to find Marik and get rid of him which Tails had found and read. Tails decided he'd go on a little walk through Green Hill Zone and be ready for the Acorn Family's Royal Anniversary at twelve o' clock. Cosmo wanted to come with him so she could see what Mobius was like but she feared being found out by Marik or worse, being made fun of due to her appearance so Tails disguised her in a ragged old hooded robe he had found some time ago. The robe made Cosmo look like a beggar woman and the hood drooped over her face so she could hardly see but she didn't care as long as Marik wouldn't recognize her with it on. Tails and Cosmo set off through the forest. The whole forest made Cosmo beam with amazement at what she was looking at. It was reminding her a lot of her home planet and it was just as beautiful she thought. A Flicky bird landed on her finger and Cosmo cooed at it playfully. Tails smiled at her.

"I knew you would like Green Hill Zone Cosmo." he said "It's full of nature."

"It reminds me of home." said Cosmo "And I still feel that warm loving feeling I always feel when I'm in a forest just like I did back home."

"I'd love to see what your home planet looks like." said Tails "If it wasn't at war with the Martians right now."

"It looked a lot nicer before the war." said Cosmo sadly "I hope when I come back, those demon Martians are defeated and my home planet is restored to its former glory."

"I hope Sonic will get rid of Marik soon." said Tails "It makes me shudder just thinking about what he's gonna do to Mobius if he hates it."

Then Tails heard a very familiar voice calling his name.

"Tails! Hi there!" came the cheery voice of Amy Rose.

Amy had been talking a walk herself and just happened to come across Tails and Cosmo.

"Hi Amy." said Tails.

"Nice to see you." said Amy "Where's Sonic?"

"Elsewhere." said Tails "I'm not sure what he's doing right now."

"Probably dealing with Dr. Eggman again." thought Amy "That guy's always on the move isn't he?"

Then she spotted Cosmo standing behind Tails.

"Who's that?" asked Amy.

"Oh this?" said Tails, pointing at Cosmo "This is my new friend Cosmo. She's not from around here."

"What do you mean?" asked Amy, raising an eyebrow at Tails suspiciously.

Cosmo pulled her robe hood down so Amy could see what she looked like. Amy stared at Cosmo with interest.

"Oh, now I know what you mean." said Amy "What are you Cosmo?"

"I'm a Seedrian from another planet." said Cosmo "And I crash landed on your home planet by accident."

"Really?" said Amy "I bet that was scary for you. You're on a planet very different from your own with totally different beings to you."

"It was scary at first." said Cosmo quietly "But thanks to Sonic and Tails' kindness, I feel much safer and welcome."

"That's lovely." said Amy happily "My name's Amy Rose and it's nice to meet you."

"Thanks." said Cosmo, shaking Amy's hand "It's nice to meet someone as nice as you."

Amy was really flattered at that comment.

"Oh thank you!" she said "I think me and you are gonna get on really well Cosmo. And I'm pretty sure Cream the Rabbit will like you too."

"Cream the Rabbit?" asked Cosmo.

"You'll see her later." said Amy quickly "By the way, tell be a bit more about yourself. I bet you Seedrian thingies are really fascinating…"

Tails was pleased to see Amy and Cosmo being friendly to one another. If only everybody was like this! he thought miserably. Tails betted that not everybody would be this nice to Cosmo. He even had a dreadful vision of one mean person pelting rotten fruit at her and screaming "GO HOME ALIEN WRETCH!" Hopefully that wouldn't happen.

"By the way, I don't mean to ask but what's with the robe?" asked Amy "You cold or something?"

"No, not at all." said Cosmo "I'm wearing it to hide myself. I'm afraid on what other people will think of my appearance. They might think I'm…ahem…a freak." she whispered.

"Well if anyone thinks that, you shouldn't listen to them!" said Amy sternly, she put her hands on her hips "Just because you look different Cosmo, it doesn't mean you're a freak. Do you think I'm a freak because I look different to your people?"

"No." said Cosmo truthfully.

"Well therefore, don't you let the thought of being called a freak bother you!" said Amy loudly. Then she spoke quietly "You certainly don't look like a freak to me."

"Or me." added Tails "And I bet Sonic doesn't think you're a freak either."

Cosmo was overwhelmingly flattered by these compliments and she beamed with pride. She had never seen such kind people other then her own before and it was truly a wonderful feeling.

"Thank you so much for your kindness you two." said Cosmo "I really don't know how I'd manage if you weren't there."

"You're welcome." said Tails "Hey Amy." he added quickly "Are you going to the Acorn Family's Royal Anniversary later?"

"Of course I am!" beamed Amy "They've done so much for Mobius so I'm paying my respects to them by attending their party!"

"Is Cream coming too?" asked Tails.

"Certainly." said Amy "Speaking of Cream, I'd best get home and see how she's doing. See ya later Tails and Cosmo!"

And with that, Amy skipped away into the forest and on home to Knothole. After Amy left, Cosmo looked at Tails with a confused expression on her face.

"What's the Acorn Family's Royal Anniversary?" she asked.

"It's a party we hold every five years to celebrate the Acorn Family's successful rule over Mobius." explained Tails "The Acorn Family rule Mobius with pride and justice and they're proud of it. I'm sure you'll enjoy the party."

"I hope so." said Cosmo, pulling her hood back up.

"It's not till twelve o' clock and it's only half past ten now so we have time to lay back and relax before we have to get ready." said Tails "Shall we walk some more?"

"Of course." said Cosmo, taking Tails' arm in her own arm.

The fox began to blush bright pink but he relaxed himself and walked off further through the forest with Cosmo arm in arm. Tails knew this girl was going to be a very special friend indeed. Maybe more then just a friend. But he knew he couldn't rush things, he had to take it nice and steady just like Sonic and Amy were. As Tails and Cosmo walked on, Tails could hardly keep his eyes off the Seedrian. She really was beautiful to him, probably the most beautiful person he had ever seen and he would never meet a person as beautiful as Cosmo again so he really hoped he would get the courage to express his true feelings to her.

"And this is our dining room." said Sally, showing Marik where the dining room was "We eat our meals here, no doubt you already knew that, and we work hard on keeping it spic and span every time we eat here and after we leave."

Every room Marik had been in so far was either amazing, marvellous, incredible or down right astounding to the little Martian. He had not been in a proper castle before. Castles on Mars looked much different to this one he was touring in now. Marik surveyed the dining room with enormous interest. The dining room looked fit for a castle. Its walls were red with golden flower like shapes painted everywhere. The table was long enough to seat twenty people and it was lined with a fresh white silk table cloth. There were plates neatly laid out with knives and forks beside each plate, all nicely wrapped up in a silk napkin. There were lovely looking brown chairs under each place and a silver chandelier hung about six feet above the table. Marik thought he would collapse at the sight of such a beautiful dining room.

"I can easily say I've never seen such a wonderful dining room before." Marik commented.

"Thanks, Castle Acorn's always been this luxurious and beautiful since it was first built back in 1777." explained Sally Acorn "Amazing how it still stands now. Although it has had a few tweaks in places to keep it standing really…"

Marik wasn't really listening to Sally now. Something else had caught his attention. He had spotted Nicole the Lynx, dusting a portrait in the hallway and humming quietly to herself. Marik was completely entranced at the lynx's beauty. Although his idea of beauty was a war zone, he had no idea another creature could look beautiful. He thought that once he took over the throne, Nicole would make an excellent queen for him. Marik continued to stare at Nicole longingly until Sally Acorn snapped him out of his trance.

"Huh, what?" slurred Marik dopily.

"You seemed a million miles away Marik." said Sally "Is everything alright?"

"Oh I was just staring at that beauty over there." said Marik, pointing at Nicole.

"That's my lady-in-waiting." said Sally "Her name is Nicole and she is a great friend of mine. She's a loving person and hasn't got a mean bone in her body."

She will do once I make her my queen! thought Marik grimly.

"Hi Sally." said Nicole, waving at her politely "Is the guest enjoying his tour?"

"I certainly am my dear." said Marik "And I'm equally delighted to meet someone as pretty as you."

He took Nicole's hand and kissed it tenderly. Nicole blushed scarlet and looked away from him in embarrassment.

"Um…thank you sir." she giggled nervously "Well I've got more dusting to do. See you at the party Sally."

Nicole ran further down the hall to dust another portrait.

"Party?" said Marik "What party?"

"My family are celebrating their 25th anniversary on the throne as ruler of Mobius." explained Sally "We hold anniversary parties every five years to celebrate our time on the throne. The Acorn family have been doing so three generations now."

"Sounds interesting." said Marik "May I attend this party my princess?"

"Of course you may." said Sally "I'm sure Mom and Dad will love to meet you."

"Can't I meet them now?" asked Marik.

"No, they've got too much time on their hands." said Sally "So, shall I continue the tour?"

"Nah, you rest yourself for a minute." said Marik kindly "I'll just explore more of the rooms I've already looked in."

"OK, don't wonder in any room I haven't shown you." said Sally.

Sally wondered down the hall and disappeared around the corner. The moment Sally left, Marik's friendly face changed to its true nature. He reached into a pocket inside his jacket and pulled out a hard looking club.

"Now it's time to do away with the Acorns, convince the feeble minded citizens to elect me as king and then I'll rule this sorry slump of a planet!" he declared "But first, I'm going to have to look for the King and Queen."

Marik ran off down the hall and came across a grand looking staircase that led upwards to another floor. He hadn't been up there yet so he decided he was going to look up there. Marik tip-toed up the stairs and found himself on the next floor of the castle. This was the top floor and this was where the bedrooms and bathroom were. Marik sneaked like a serpent through the empty hall and checked each room he came across.

He opened the door to the first room he came across and peeked inside. The room was Sally Acorn's bedroom. It contained a round bed with pink sheets and a blue pillow. Her clothes cupboard contained more blue vests and boots as well as some fancy party dresses for special occasions. There was also a make up table in the left side of the room with a small mirror. Marik closed the bedroom door with disgust and moved to the next room. He opened the door and peeked inside.

This bedroom belonged to Nicole. It contained a rectangular bed with purple sheets that matched the colour of her toga and a purple pillow to match. Her clothes cupboard also contained dresses for special occasions and she had a trophy case that displayed her Beauty Queen Winner trophies. Marik admired the glittering trophies but hated the fact they were won by beauty. He'd rather have a trophy that was won by strength. Marik closed the bedroom door and moved onto the next room. He opened the door quietly and peeked inside.

This bedroom belonged to Queen Alicia Acorn, the Queen of Mobius and King Maximilian Acorn, the King of Mobius. They were in the bedroom, trying on several outfits to see which one would be the right one for the upcoming ceremony. Marik made a nasty guess that they were the king and queen but he waited until he was fully sure they were the right ones. King Max put a crown on his head and adjusted it to the right angle.

"Does this look right my love?" he asked.

"It looks fine sweetheart, don't get into such a flap." laughed Alicia "I do wish I could make up my mind on which dress to put on for the party though!"

"It doesn't matter which you put on Alicia." Max assured her "You still look like a queen no matter what you wear."

BINGO! thought Marik, grinning like a hobgoblin. Those two clots in the room were the right ones! Now for the strike. Marik burst into the room and leapt on Max and Alicia, snarling crazily and brandishing his club. The terrified rulers screamed in terror.

Their screams were so loud; Sally heard them on the floor beneath them.

"Mom? Dad?" she thought "Oh no! They're in trouble!"

She dashed up stairs to the top floor as fast as she could and she burst into her parent's room. A terrible sight met her eyes and she screamed in so much terror I cannot put into words what it sounded like…

Footnotes:

See the previous story for the epic throw down with Sonic and Eggman

What plans does Marik have for the kingdom? Will Sonic be able to get rid of him? Or will Marik take over and rule Mobius? Join me next time for Mars Attacks Part 2 as Sonic and Marik go head to head for the throne of Castle Acorn! Read and Review.

Special thanks once again goes to Kratos Pwns for being a dedicated reader. On a side note, if you're wondering how I'm updating so quickly it's because all these chapters so far uploaded were written months ago. The prologue and first two stories for example were written all the way back in January and I've been writing these all through out the year (I know, it sounds like a lot of hard work doesn't it?). Hope that answers your question Kratos Pwns. :)

Mars Attacks Part 2

Story 22: Mars Attacks Part 2: The Fight for the Throne

What Sally Acorn had just seen was a sight she would be haunted by for the rest of her royal life. Her parents were lying on the floor dead as dingbats. Their heads looked like someone had given them a good whack and they were slightly bleeding. Sally began to feel faint all over. Who could have done this and why? And just before they could celebrate their 25th anniversary on the throne! Now the parents had been killed, the ceremony would have to be cancelled! Oh how disappointed and shocked everybody would be! It truly was a dark day for the Acorn family right now. Then suddenly Sally felt a sharp knock against her head. Her head felt like pins and needles and she collapsed to the floor. She passed out and standing over her, cackling like a demon, was Marik the Martian, holding his deadly club in his right hand.

"I killed three Mobians in one day!" he crowed "Aren't I a beast? Mum and Dad will be so proud of me!"

Marik bent down and picked up Sally's body. He hurled the body on his shoulder and carried Sally out of the room. He took her down stairs to the middle floor and then he took her down stairs to the ground floor. He was getting hot and bothered at having to carry Sally all the way down two stair cases and how heavy she was but duty was duty. Marik carried Sally all the way to the cellar that Sally had shown him on the tour around the castle and opened the door. He put Sally down and kicked her in the cellar. She fell down the stairs and landed on the floor with a cringing thump that could have likely broken her bones. Marik just glared at the body and slammed the door shut.

"No one will find her in that dull room." said Marik, grinning like a swamp troll "She'll rot in there. Now I'd best get the parents…"

"Sally?" called a familiar sounding voice from nowhere "Are you almost ready for the party? It's due on in half an hour!"

Yikes! It was Nicole! Marik knew what he had to do about the lynx. Nicole came pitter-pattering down the stairs and she ran through the hall, calling for Sally. Then she spotted Marik, pretending to look all sad and crushed as if somebody he loved had dumped him. Nicole ran over to Marik.

"Hello Marik." said Nicole "Have you seen Sally? I can't find her."

"I'm afraid Nicole, you're too late." said Marik in a fake tone of sorrow "Sally and her parents have both been…"

He paused for dramatic effect and then whispered "Murdered."

Nicole clasped her hands over her mouth to stop herself from screaming. Her heart felt faint and her legs felt like jelly. She was about to faint but Marik was quick to catch her. He carried her to a chair nearby and sat her down in it. Nicole began to make strangled gasping sounds.

"Murdered…Sally….parents…murdered…" she mumbled uncontrollably.

"I know, it's a terrible tragedy isn't it?" said Marik "They were going to celebrate 25 years on the throne and some deranged manic killed them both. I feel your pain Nicole."

"This is the most horrible thing that's ever happened to me!" wailed Nicole.

She broke down in rainfalls.

"My best friend is dead!" she cried "Who could have done such a thing? Sally would never have harmed anyone in her life!"

"Who knows?" said Marik, pretending to feel sorry for her.

"Who's going to rule Mobius now?" shrieked Nicole "The king and queen are dead and Sally, the next in line is dead so we have nobody to take over from them!"

"I have an excellent idea." purred Marik softly. He put an arm around the heartbroken lynx. "You could start up a campaign and see if anyone out there will be willing enough to rule Mobius in the Acorn Family's place."

Nicole leapt to her feet in excitement.

"Marik! You're a life safer!" she cried, picking the Martian up and kissing him on the forehead "I'll start making leaflets right away!"

And with that Nicole put Marik down and ran off to the study to get the campaign leaflets made. Marik just stood where he was, frozen in amazement. He felt his forehead ever so tenderly as if he had just been kissed by an angel.

"She…kissed me!" he squeaked "She actually…kissed me!"

He swooned over and fainted. He had never been kissed by such a beautiful creature before and it was likely never to happen again. After Marik came too he smiled at himself. His beautiful plan was working perfectly. Now all he had to do was take part in the campaign and convince everybody to pick him as the new king and then his reign of terror could begin. It only his beloved parents could see him now…

Sonic and Knuckles had spent the entire morning looking for Marik. They had looked up every last tree in the forest and in any bush they came across but they couldn't find the helmeted creature anywhere. They were getting hot and bothered so they rested for a moment.

"Either Marik's a really good hider or we just aren't looking hard enough." puffed Knuckles.

"Well he certainly hasn't gone back to his home planet." noted Sonic "His spaceship would have been gone otherwise."

"Maybe he's not even in Green Hill Zone anymore." suggested Knuckles "So where could he be?"

Sonic thought. Knuckles thought. They racked their brains several times over for an answer. Then they both had an excellent thought on where he was and both yelled at each other in unison.

"CASTLE ACORN!"

"Why didn't I think of that before?" yelled Sonic wildly "Marik's bound to show interest in Castle Acorn! Who knows what he's gonna do there?"

"Well let's get a move on!" yelled Knuckles "For all we know, he could be ransacking the place and interrogating the Acorns."

So Sonic revved up and charged off at his trademark speed with Knuckles following him as fast as he could run. Knuckles could run pretty quickly so he didn't lag too far behind. Sonic needed to go faster then ever before if he was going to reach Castle Acorn and stop whatever evil plan Marik had.

Minutes later, Sonic and Knuckles arrived at Castle Acorn. The castle was still standing all in one piece luckily. Maybe Marik hadn't decided to attack it after all. Or maybe Marik wasn't there like they thought. Then Sonic suddenly remembered about the anniversary.

"Hey Knux, what time is it?" he asked.

Knuckles just looked up at the sun. Echidnas like him were able to tell the time by looking at the sun's position.

"It's almost noon." he said "Why?"

"It'll be almost time for the Acorn Family's Royal Anniversary where they celebrate 25 years on the throne today." explained Sonic "I had a dreadful feeling Marik would try and ruin the party but since things seem alright I shouldn't need to…"

He began walking off and he wasn't looking where he was going and he bumped into Nicole. She was carrying a bunch of papers and now they flew everywhere. Sonic picked himself up and began grabbing bits of paper before they could blow away.

"Sorry Nicole." he said.

"It's alright Sonic." said Nicole "I'm in a bit of a rush right now. Could you please read those papers you have?"

Sonic shrugged and read them. The papers said.

ACORN FAMILY MURDERED!

REPLACEMENTS REQUIRED!

Could YOU be the new ruler Mobotropolis needs after this terrible tragedy? If so then sign up and campaign now! And maybe you could be on the throne and willing to raise Castle Acorn out of the ashes of this tragedy.

Yours truly

Nicole (The Acorn's lady-in-waiting).

Sonic could hardly believe what he had read. The Acorns had been murdered! When did that happen and who could have possibly done it? Dr. Eggman likely but Sonic was more sure it was possibly Marik the Martian. If it was Marik then why did he do it? What exactly was his evil plan? Probably to take over the kingdom and rule Mobius with an iron fist. It made Sonic shudder just thinking about what Marik would do to Mobius if he ruled it.

"Hey Sonic, what do those papers say?" asked Knuckles.

"The Acorns have been murdered and Nicole is sending out leaflets to try and get any volunteers to take over from them." explained Sonic.

"I have a sneaky suspicion on who murdered the Acorns." said Knuckles "Either Dr. Eggman or Marik. Still, I hope we can find someone who will be willing to rule in the name of the Acorn Family."

"I don't see why Nicole didn't think of being that replacement." said Sonic "Mind you; she hasn't quite got the skills to rule a kingdom."

"You're right on that." said Nicole "I couldn't rule a kingdom to save my life. The pressures would be too much for me so I'd rather wait around the castle then be the actual owner of it."

"I see." said Sonic.

The doors to Castle Acorn opened and Marik staggered out, carrying several planks of wood, a bucket full of nails and a hammer all at once while trying not to fall over. Marik wobbled about like a jelly in a hurricane but amazingly he didn't fall over. Then Marik dumped the tools on the ground. He stretched himself to get the stiffness out of his back. Sonic almost flipped over backwards.

"Marik?" he blurted "What in the name of hedgehogs are you doing here?"

"I'm helping Nicole with the campaign pin-head!" snapped Marik "I'm building voting booths for the volunteers."

"Oh are ya?" said Sonic, his eyes narrowed to suspicious slits. "You wouldn't happen to have been involved with the Acorn family's murder would you?"

"Certainly not!" snapped Marik "I wasn't anywhere near the blasted Acorns before they were killed! Why do you accuse me? Do you take me for an evil fiend or something?"

Sonic longed to say yes but he resisted the urge to for some reason.

"Is something wrong Sonic?" asked Nicole "You seem to be familiar with little Marik here."

Sonic pulled Nicole close to him and began talking to her in barely audible voices.

"You can't trust that creep Nicole." hissed Sonic "A little birdie told me this guy's a demon that fantasises violence and malice. I'm willing to bet he's the guy who killed the Acorns."

Nicole glared at him.

"Well that little birdie is telling you false tweets." she hissed at Sonic "Marik's a lovely boy and he informed me of the Acorn's murder first hand so how could he possibly be responsible?"

"That just begs the question of how did Marik know they were murdered and why he's at Castle Acorn in the first place?" whispered Sonic.

"He was on a tour." explained Nicole "He says he's a tourist and he asked for a tour of the castle. As for how he knew the Acorns were murdered," she added "I'm guessing he must have heard the struggle and came to see what was happening only to find the dead bodies."

"OK you got me." lied Sonic "But I've got my eye on that Martian."

"OK then." said Nicole "Just don't bother him please. He's trying very hard to help rescue the kingdom from certain doom."

Sonic was certain Marik intended to do the complete opposite of what Nicole had just said. Marik looked up from a voting booth diagram he was looking at.

"Speaking of rescuing the kingdom." he said "I'll be one of the volunteers for the throne."

Right now this minute, Sonic wanted to cartwheel in mid air and scream in exaggerated madness. Marik was going to take part in this campaign? Sonic could see through Marik's evil plot now. He must be trying to get the throne of Castle Acorn for himself and then he'll unleash any other evil plots he probably had stored in his devilish mind. Sonic had to stop Marik and he knew how he was going to do it. HE would campaign for the throne of Castle Acorn just to defeat Marik. He did not at all like the idea of being a king but he had no choice. Better to be a king then let Marik do it.

"Nicole, I'll join this campaign!" announced Sonic.

Knuckles thought he was going to topple over backwards. Nicole was just as speechless where as Marik looked very ticked off but he kept his face straight to hide his true feelings at that announcement.

"You…you will?" stammered Nicole.

"Yeah!" said Sonic "Everybody will want me to be the new king! I'm the famed Hero of Mobius after all. And who knows, maybe the royal life won't be as bad as I thought it will be."

Nicole looked uncertain.

"I'm not sure you have the proper skills for it." said Nicole "A kingdom is not an easy thing to rule."

"I'll learn somehow." said Sonic doubtfully.

"Well, I wish you two boys good luck with the public." said Nicole "I'll inform the people of Mobius of this news and I bet they'll look forward to hearing what plans you have for the kingdom."

Nicole went back into the castle. Sonic and Marik gritted their teeth and glared at each other angrily.

"I'll squash you like a bug Marik!" growled Sonic "I'm much loved amongst the public and no one knows who the heck you are! You haven't got a chance!"

"Well maybe I can change the people's minds once I make my speech!" snarled Marik "I bet you're too dim-witted to come up with one remotely convincing!" he smirked at Sonic confidently.

Sonic and Marik stared at each other tensely and turned their backs on each other. They were determined to vanquish each other in this campaign, no matter what it took.

Later that day, Tails and Cosmo had arrived at Castle Acorn, ready for the anniversary party only to be informed of the terrible news. Tails was really distraught at the news. He had hoped to show Cosmo what a great party it was going to be only for it to be shattered to pieces by a tragedy. Tails was informed of the campaign and he happily helped out with building Sonic's voting booth. The booth was a few feet taller then Sonic himself and painted blue. Cosmo drew Sonic's name neatly on a wooden board with a paint brush and they hung the board on the front of the booth. Marik had observed them with loathing but he worked on his booth all on his own. He was going to paint it gold like his helmet and put his name on it. Since he had no one helping him, he was taking longer then Sonic was and that made him mad. Sonic gave Marik a smug expression.

"See what I mean?" he sneered "No one's even helping you build a booth. You haven't a hope of winning!"

Marik scowled at him.

"Well Sonic, with an ego as overbearing as that, you are going to be a terrible king indeed!" snorted Marik "A true king doesn't let his pride get the best of him."

"I don't suppose your mommy-kins taught you that." taunted Sonic.

Tails and Cosmo laughed at the remark but Marik began to grouch and grumble.

"Sonic, if you want to live long enough to face me in this campaign, I suggest you keep that enormous hole in your face shut!" snarled Marik. Then he added "By the way, I forgot to ask. Who is that robed figure with you? Some beggar woman you hang around with?"

That unkind remark made Cosmo livid but unlike Marik, she never lost her temper so she resisted the urge to snap at him. Tails stood up for her.

"She's not a beggar woman." he said "This is my cousin's sister's daughter and I'm taking care of her for a few days."

Marik raised his brow suspiciously.

"Aren't you a little young to be taking care of somebody?" he asked coldly.

Tails' whiskers flopped down in despair. Marik had caught him in the act. Now he was bound to start asking questions of all sorts! Luckily, Tails had the perfect remark.

"I'm pretty mature for my age so I'm alright." said Tails "Although I can easily see why you wondered. I do look a little young to have someone placed in my care don't I?"

"Hmm." mumbled Marik.

Then suddenly, Marik heard two unfamiliar voices from nowhere. He saw two unfamiliar Mobians coming up to Castle Acorn. They were Amy Rose, Sonic's Biggest Fan, and Cream the Rabbit, Amy's friend. Sonic was happy to see them both and he waved at them. Amy waved back.

"What's going on Sonic?" asked Amy "I thought the Acorn Family's Royal Anniversary would have started by now."

Sonic explained to the girls about the Acorn Family's murder and the campaign for a new king or queen. Amy and Cream were both shocked at the bad news but they instantly brightened up at the news about the campaign.

"I'll support you all the way my beloved Sonic!" squealed Amy "You'll be a great king once you win!"

Sonic pulled a funny face at her but he managed to put on a sick smile which made him look like his stomach hurt. Marik made horrible gagging noises mockingly at Amy. He found her supportiveness of Sonic totally disgusting. Amy just snorted at him and stuck her nose in the air.

"Who is that jerk anyway?" she sniffed.

"Marik the Martian." said Sonic grimly "A guy who should pack his bags up and go home."

Marik ignored her. Cream didn't seem to take much dislike to Marik. In fact, she let her politeness get the best of her and wondered up to the stranger.

"Excuse me Mr. Marik but you look like you need help." she said "May I give you a hand?"

Marik was absolutely awestruck at Cream's politeness. He hadn't seen a Mobian as polite as this since Sally and Nicole.

"Um no thank you but I appreciate your concern." said Marik "Makes you a lot better then the others."

Sonic, Tails and Amy stuck their tongues out at him. Marik raised his hammer and hit a nail on his under construction booth. But he hit the nail too hard and that in turn made the walls of the booth crack and split and then the whole booth collapsed in a heap on top of him. Marik screeched in panic as he was downed by piles of wood. Sonic, Tails, Amy and Cosmo laughed at the unlucky Martian but Cream began tugging wood off of Marik with her pet Chao, Cheese helping. Cream and Cheese managed to get Marik out of the pile of wood and helped him to his feet. The Martian look dazzled to say the least.

"Are you OK Mr. Marik?" asked Cream.

"Chao?" cooed Cheese.

"I'm fine." said Marik "I clearly don't know my own strength at times."

He didn't realize the hammer had gotten caught in his pocket and then it fell out of his pocket and landed like a falling stone on his foot. Marik screamed so loudly, Castle Acorn's windows rattled and looked like they were going to shatter. Marik grabbed his foot in pain and leaped about like a pogo stick. Sonic, Tails, Amy and Cosmo laughed at him again, this time a lot louder. Marik was hoping about so much, he didn't see the toolbox lying nearby and he stood on top of it accidentally and tripped over it. He fell flat on his face and sent the toolbox flying into the air and hurtling back down. It hit him on the back of his head really hard and made him groan in extreme pain. It would have hurt him more if he wasn't wearing his helmet. Sonic, Tails, Amy and Cosmo were laughing so hard; they had fallen on the ground and were rolling around laughing their heads off. Cream helped the injured Martian back onto his feet. Marik saw stars circling around his head.

"Oh poor you." said Cream "I'll get you inside and make you feel all better."

"Oooooh…" slurred Marik dopily. His head felt like it was going to erupt in volcano style.

The others stopped laughing and stared at Cream. That rabbit needed to learn not to let her kindness get the best of her.

"Cream, just leave him!" ordered Amy "That jerk deserved all that pain!"

"You can be horrid all you want!" snapped Cream "I'm helping this poor man out."

"Chao!" piped Cheese crossly.

Cream helped Marik into the hallway of Castle Acorn and set him down in a nearby chair. She saw Nicole coming out of the study and ran over to her.

"Can you get Marik a hot water bottle, a bucket and a kettle with hot water please?" asked Cream "He's really hurt himself."

"Sure." said Nicole "Poor Marik. What did he do?"

"He just had a little accident." said Cream "But I'm sure he's alright."

Nicole nodded and left to get Cream's required items. Five minutes later, Nicole returned with a red hot water bottle, a small metal bucket and a fancy bronze tea kettle with steaming hot water. Steam faintly emitted from the spout.

"Here you are." said Nicole.

"Thanks." said Cream, taking them off Nicole and giving them to Marik.

Nicole walked away to do something else. Cream gave Marik the hot water bottle and the Martian took his helmet off and placed it on his head. He put the helmet back on his head. The soothing heat made his head feel much better. Cream put the bucket at Marik's feet and Marik put his feet in the bucket.

"You are so kind little girl." said Marik "You must have lovely parents who raise you up well."

"I do Mr. Marik sir." said Cream "Well actually, I only have a mother. I don't have a father. I'm not really sure what happened to him."

"Indeed." said Marik "So where is your mother?"

"She's been turned into a robot by a nasty man named Dr. Eggman*." said Cream sadly, pouring the steaming hot water into the bucket "It was really horrible."

"I bet it was." said Marik, pretending to feel sorry for her "Tell me about this Dr. Eggman guy. He sounds like a guy who needs to be put back in his place."

"Dr. Eggman is Sonic's arch enemy and he wants to take over Mobius." explained Cream "He kidnaps people and turns them into scary nasty robots that serve him. They're so scary and horrible. I hope Sonic can defeat that Eggman for good. And hopefully turn my mother back to normal."

Marik listened to Cream with interest and began to think. This Dr. Eggman sounded like a great guy but Marik wasn't sure he'd be willing to team up with him. Eggman might just try and take over the kingdom for himself or stab Marik in the back later so Marik knew that if he ever met this so called Dr. Eggman, he had to watch out for him. What Marik didn't seem to notice was all the while Cream had been talking to him; she hadn't stopped pouring the water into the bucket. The water was now far too hot and Marik, who had began to relax, suddenly realized it! He leaped into the air and bellowed so loudly he could have brought the castle crumbling down on their heads. His legs had become bright pink due to scolding and they hurt a lot. Marik blew on them frantically to cool them down. Cream cowered backwards in fright.

"Too hot?" she said nervously.

Marik seized Cream by the collar and held her close to his furious face. His helmet had fallen over his eyes and he was in blind rage at Cream for burning his legs like that.

"WHY YOU GARBERING IMBECILE I….!" roared Marik, ready to pound Cream around the block.

"Marik! What are you doing?" screeched Nicole.

She had heard the commotion and ran out into the hall to see what was the matter, only to see Marik about to pound Cream's face in.

Marik immediately stopped what he was doing. He breathed in deeply and let it back out again. Then his face relaxed into a more casual expression and he put Cream back down. The poor rabbit was shaking like a leaf.

"I'm sorry Cream." said Marik "I lose my temper easily."

"N-no I'm sorry." said Cream "I should have been watching what I was doing."

"Chao." agreed Cheese.

Cream then slipped away and ran out of the castle. Marik frowned at himself. He could have probably goaded Cream into voting for him and now she probably wouldn't vote for him. But Marik remembered that the voting took place after the speeches. Nicole decided that should happen since if they did the votes and then did the speeches, it wouldn't be fair on Marik since Sonic would get every single vote and if they wanted to vote for Marik after the speeches, they couldn't change their votes. And Marik was certain his speech would wow everybody.

Outside, Cream told everybody about what had happened inside the castle and what Marik had almost did to her.

"So you accidentally scolded his legs and he tried to hurt you?" screeched Amy.

"Yes." said Cream "Good thing Miss Nicole stopped him."

"That's it, no one tries to hurt Cream and lives!" snarled Amy, summoning her hammer from nowhere "I'm gonna pound Marik so much he'll have a permanent headache!"

She would have marched through the doors and leapt on Marik in blind rage but Tails seized her by the dress and held her back.

"Amy please! That isn't going to help!" cried Tails.

"Chill out Ames." said Sonic calmly "Marik will get what is coming to him once the speeches and the voting start."

Amy still wanted to give Marik a migraine for almost hurting Cream but she thought that Marik getting vanquished in a voting campaign by Sonic was just as good so she calmed down and put her hammer away.

"I dread to think what Marik's gonna say in his speech." said Cosmo "If he lies about himself, I will make sure your people know the truth about him."

"I don't think that's a wise idea Cosmo." said Sonic "Marik will recognize you and then you'll be in trouble."

"Oh don't worry, I'll disguise my voice a bit once I speak to everybody." said Cosmo "And if I keep the hood over my face he'll not recognize me."

"I still think you shouldn't do it just to be in the safe side." said Tails.

"But how can I tell your people the truth about Marik if you won't let me?" asked Cosmo.

"I would love to let you." said Tails "But since no one on Mobius knows what a Martian is, they might fall for Marik's act just like Cream and Nicole did and not believe you so I think you should stay put and not get in Marik's way."

"But…" said Cosmo feebly.

"Please." begged Tails, giving her the puppy dog eyes. Cosmo sighed. She knew when she was beaten so she gave in.

"OK I won't." said Cosmo.

Tails beamed at her. He turned to face Sonic who all of the sudden had a worried expression on his face.

"What am I gonna say in my speech?" asked Sonic "I don't know what a fancy speech should sound like or what I should say. I'm mud out there!"

"I'll write one for you." said Amy sweetly "I have a good idea on what a fancy speech should sound like."

"But wouldn't that be cheating?" asked Cream.

"Would you rather let that jerk Marik beat Sonic and rule Mobius?" snapped Amy.

Cream shook her head.

"Then it's settled. I'll write Sonic a speech and he can take the credit for it." beamed Amy.

"Amy, if you help me win this." said Sonic "I'll take you on a date."

He was actually joking but Amy thought he meant it so she squealed with joy and she grabbed him into a hug. Tails, Cosmo and Cream tried hard not to laugh at Sonic but they couldn't resist the urge or stop a laugh escaping their mouths.

"Me and my big mouth." muttered Sonic.

Later that afternoon, the contestants were ready to do battle. The voting booths had been built and Amy was at Sonic's booth constantly yelling at people to vote for Sonic no matter what Marik said. A stage had been set up for Sonic and Marik and they was a microphone for them to speak in so the crowd of Mobians could hear them. Speaking of the crowd, they were all Mobians that lived in Mobotropolis before it was destroyed by Dr. Eggman. They had heard the news from Nicole and left Empire City to place their votes.

Sonic was feeling a little nervous now. He had the speech that Amy had written from the top of her head and given to him. Sonic had read it to himself and was pretty impressed at what Amy had written. But would it be convincing enough for the audience to go crazy for him? And if he won, would it be worth it? It would be worth it if it meant Marik didn't win but then Sonic would probably have to give up playing the hero and have to wise up and play happy ruler. He couldn't imagine himself enjoying it much but it would be better then having Marik be king. Sonic was also amazed that no one else signed up. He was expecting to have more competition then just Marik to deal with and to be honest, he was wishing he had more competition then just Marik so that someone else would beat Marik and him and be the new king or queen of Mobius so Sonic wouldn't have to do it himself.

After the crowd had all gathered up they stopped murmuring amongst one another and fell into silence as they waited for the speeches. Nicole came up to the microphone.

"Welcome people of Mobotropolis." she said into the microphone "We've gathered you all here to vote for a replacement for the Acorn Family to go on the throne and rule over Mobius. The Acorns were unfortunately murdered so we've put this campaign together for you to decide who should take over from them. Now it's over to the contestants to make their speeches which will hopefully help you decide on whom to vote for."

Nicole stepped away from the microphone. Sonic didn't want to go first as he was feeling so nervous so he reluctantly let Marik go first. Marik walked proudly and smugly up to the microphone and spoke into it.

"People of Mobius." he said "You don't know who I am because I am not from here. But there is no need for you to fret about it."

The crowd began to murmur amongst one another about the strange little creature up on stage. Marik scowled at them and continued his speech.

"I come from a race that prides itself in being a civilized society and rules over it's kingdoms with pride and glory." he said "And I've had great practice in ruling over a kingdom so if you lot vote for me you are making a very wise choice. I'll help you poor people get out of the ashes of today's tragedy and help you in your conflict with this person whom you know as Dr. Eggman. I've heard about him from a friend of Sonic's and I can assure you he'll not be safe with me around…"

Cosmo, who was in the crowd with Tails and Cream, was absolutely livid. How could Marik stand up there on that stage and tell those big whopping lies about himself? She refused to let the Mobians fall for his convincing act. They had to know the truth! Even though Tails had begged her to go against it earlier, Cosmo would not stand and let Marik fool the Mobians any longer. She stormed through the crowd and up towards the stage. Tails called her back but Cosmo refused to listen to him. Cosmo climbed up on stage and snatched the microphone off of Marik. The Martian couldn't believe what had just happened. Cosmo began to rant into the microphone.

"Don't listen to this demon people of Mobius!" she cried "Everything he's just told you is a lie! Marik comes from a race of creatures that fantasize violence & warfare and detest peace and beauty. If you vote for him, you'll doom your own planet!"

The crowd began to murmur again. Marik clenched his fists in rage and his face went bright red all over. He snatched the microphone off Cosmo and seized her by the collar.

"So terribly sorry people!" he said, laughing nervously "Children tell the ugliest lies don't they? I'll just teach her a few manners right now."

He turned his back on everybody and glared at Cosmo. Cosmo kept the robe's hood over her face.

"I don't know who you are and how you know about me Miss." he growled under his breath "But if you want to live to see another sunrise I suggest you haul yourself off that stage and get back in line!"

"Yes sir." squeaked Cosmo, still keeping the robe's hood over her face.

She slunk off quietly and shamefully off the stage. The crowd glared at her as she crept back to her place next to Tails. Marik turned back to the crowd.

"Tails, you should keep your cousin's sister's daughter under control in the future!" he said crossly.

"A thousand apologies Marik." said Tails "She's not usually like this."

Marik glared at Tails but he turned his attention back to the crowd. Tails leaned over to whisper to Cosmo.

"That was a very stupid thing to do Cosmo." hissed Tails "Marik could have killed you if he found out who you were."

"I'm sorry Tails but I refused to let your kind be conned into thinking Marik's a well civilized creature who is willing to raise your kingdom out of the ashes of a tragedy." whispered Cosmo.

"I know that Cosmo but like I said, I don't think anybody will believe you." whispered Tails "And I don't think anyone believed a word you said."

As for Marik he continued making his speech.

"I do hope you didn't believe that beggar woman's lies." he added "Martians hate violence and love beauty. I think someone's been telling her tall tales. Never mind, I can assure you I will be a fine king. I will put my heart and soul into this kingdom and make sure everything runs smoothly. So if you vote for me, you are making the best decision of your…"

"Hold it! Hold everything!" cried a voice from behind the stage.

Marik grumbled. More interruptions! Could this get any worse? The person who had interrupted Marik came onstage and caused a crowd of shocked and amazed gasps. Even Sonic and Marik gasped in surprise. But nobody was more shocked and relieved then Nicole was. It was Sally Acorn! Alive and well and standing right before everybody! Marik stared in disbelief at the sight of Sally Acorn, standing on stage alive and well when she should be lying in the cellar dead as a dingbat. He looked like he was going to throw a fit of epic proportions. Nicole ran up to Sally and hugged her.

"Sally! You're alive! Oh thank goodness!" she cried happily.

"Yes Nicole, I'm alive." said Sally. She turned to the crowd. "People of Mobotropolis. As you can see I am not dead. But someone tried to kill me just like they killed my parents. Since my parents are dead, I will assume the throne and I'll raise the kingdom out of the ashes of this terrible tragedy. And hopefully the wicked person who killed my parents and tried to kill me will be caught and dealt with personally."

The crowd cheered loudly. Sonic was more happy then any of them so now he didn't have to try and defeat Marik since Sally was alive and willing to be the new Queen of Mobotropolis. Marik however was less then satisfied. His beautiful plan crumbled to pieces before him so now he had to retreat and form a Plan B. Marik sneaked away from the stage like a serpent and hid behind his now useless voting booth.

How on Earth did Sally live that whack around the head? That was one thing Marik didn't get. Did he not hit her hard enough or did Sally just get lucky and live somehow? How she did survive was a mystery but it didn't matter anymore. Marik was determined to get rid of Sally Acorn, the last of the Acorn Family and take over Castle Acorn. He refused to let this slimy mud ball of a planet live the way it was now and he vowed to make sure he turned it into a wasteland. Marik knew he had to try something different this time and that was kill Sally with a different weapon. His club didn't work so he decided to use something guaranteed to work. Marik reached into his jacket pocket and pulled out a knife with a red handle and long thin silver blade. That was guaranteed to work. Marik crept out from behind the voting booth and sneaked into Castle Acorn.

Meanwhile, Sally had said her final words and left the stage to go back into the castle with Nicole following her. The crowd departed back for Empire City where as Sonic, Tails, Amy and Cream stayed behind to tidy up. Cosmo however had seen Marik sneaking to the castle and crept away to stop him from whatever he was planning to do. She had taken off the robe too and left it lying on the ground.

"I really wonder how Miss Sally lived." thought Cream "I thought the Acorns were all killed."

"Well obviously the killer didn't quite do away with Sally." noted Amy "But I'm glad she's still alive. She's been a princess for quite some time now so she's bound to be a great queen."

"I just hope she can cope with the change in management now." said Tails "It must be hard for Sally having to take over the throne so early. She's only 17 you know."

"She'll manage." said Sonic confidently "I just hope Marik's not too angry he can't get the throne now."

"Speaking of that jerk, where is he?" asked Amy "I want to give him a serious migraine for what he did to Cosmo up stage!"

"Hopefully gone forever." said Sonic. He looked up and noticed something. "Hey, where's Cosmo?" he asked.

Everybody looked around only to see no sight of the Seedrian. Cream spotted Cosmo's robe lying on the ground. She picked it up and looked at it worriedly.

"Cosmo's left her robe behind." she said.

Sonic and Tails looked at each other.

"What is Cosmo up to?" asked Sonic "She hasn't gone after Marik has she?"

"I have a nasty thought." said Tails "Do you think Marik might be hiding in the Castle waiting to kill Sally and Cosmo's gone in there to stop him?"

"Seems likely." said Sonic "We'd better get in there and help out!"

Sonic and Tails ran off towards the castle, leaving Amy and Cream to wait for them.

Inside the castle, Sally had gone up to her room to put on a new outfit to make her look more like a queen. She couldn't go around wearing only boots and a vest if she was a queen now so she needed a dress to make her look more like a queen. Yet as she went through her wardrobe, Sally couldn't help but wonder on who killed her parents and also tried to kill her. It was likely Dr. Eggman and he was plotting to get the throne no doubt. What would Eggman do once he found out she was still alive? Would he make another attempt on her life? It made Sally worry on if any of these thoughts were true.

As Sally continued searching through her wardrobe, she didn't notice someone was hiding behind her bedroom door. It was, of course, Marik the Martian. He had his knife in hand and he sneaked up on Sally as quietly as he could. He raised his knife and prepared for a well aimed strike on her back…

Footnotes:

Vanilla the Rabbit, Cream's mother was roboticized in Story 16

SALLY'S ALIVE! But for how long? Will Marik kill her like he killed her parents or will Sonic make it in time? Maybe Cosmo might be able to stop him...? Reviews are welcome.

Mars Attacks Part 3

Story 23: Mars Attacks Part 3: For a Friend

Just when Marik thought he was going to do this without being spotted, he got spotted. Sally had twirled around to see how well one of her dresses flowed and ended up seeing Marik. The moment she saw the knife in his hand, Sally shrieked loudly. Marik stabbed at her but he missed and ended up embedding the knife into the floor instead.

"Blast this thing!" he grumbled as he tried to wrench it free.

Sally saw her chance to escape and tried to run away but Marik caught her and knocked her down with an energy wave. Sally fell on her face and Marik managed to pull his knife out of the floor. He advanced on the terrified queen, laughing like a demon and ready to make another attempt at killing her. Fortunately, Nicole came in at that moment. She saw what Marik was doing and gasped.

"Marik, what are you doing?" she shrieked.

Marik didn't answer her. He just swiped the air with his arm and sent a wave of energy flying smack into Nicole and knocking her off her feet and onto the floor. He turned his attention back to Sally.

"What are you doing Marik?" asked Sally "Why are you trying to kill me?"

"Because I want this poor excuse of a kingdom for myself." explained Marik "And once I get my hands on it, I'll re-mold Mobius in my image and make it a paradise for all Martians out there!"

Something ticked inside Sally's brain. Her eyes narrowed to a death glare at the Martian.

"I bet it was you who killed my parents and tried to kill me earlier." she said.

"It's taken you just now to make the connection?" snorted Marik "And I thought humans were dumb."

"What is Mobius going to look like once you take over the kingdom?" asked Sally wearily.

"In your terms, probably like Hell itself." said Marik "But in my terms, that's a paradise. Now say goodbye to your life princess, or should I say queen?"

He raised the knife, ready for the killer blow. Sally covered her eyes in fright as Marik prepared to strike. Then suddenly, before Marik could stab, he was splattered in the back of the head by something fruity. Marik stopped what he was doing and felt the fruity thing that had hit him. He sniffed it and pulled a face.

"An orange?" he sniffed "Who in the world would dare throw something as harmless as an orange at me?"

"I would!" yelled a voice that Marik knew all too well.

He turned around to face the person and got one of the biggest surprises of his life. The person who had yelled at him was standing there glaring at him looking all brave and courageous even though deep down, she was neither of those things. It was Cosmo the Seedrian. Sally looked over Marik and saw Cosmo. She was a strange sight to her but she was grateful for her helping her. Marik's surprised expression turned into a hideous scowl.

"You!" he snarled "I was hoping I would come across you again Cosmo! I have no idea how you got here but I don't care. As long as you're here, I can now destroy you."

"You leave the princess alone!" said Cosmo sternly.

"Or what?" taunted Marik "You'll throw petals at me like a big sissy girl? Oh I forgot, you ARE a big sissy girl!"

He advanced away from Sally and onto Cosmo. Cosmo began to back away in fear until she found herself backed against a table. The table had a fruit bowl and that was where Cosmo had gotten the orange she threw at Marik from. She reached out behind and felt her hand close around another orange in the bowl. She waited for the right moment to throw it at him. Marik continued taunting her.

"You Cosmo my dear, can do nothing against my sheer power." he bragged "You're just a Seedrian! Not only that you're also a pacifist! You wouldn't so much as touch a weapon in your miserable life and that is why you Seedrians are going to lose this war with the Martians!"

"I may not be able to help my family back home." said Cosmo "But I will defeat you Marik."

Marik snorted with laughter.

"Defeat ME?" he sneered, pointing at himself "You wouldn't hurt a fly! So what chance do you have against me?"

"This!" yelled Cosmo.

She yanked the orange out of the fruit bowl and splattered it straight into Marik's eyes. Marik yelled loudly. She pushed on the orange to make more juice come out and now Marik was blinded, Sally seized the opportunity for a quick getaway.

"Ow! My eyes! My eyes!" shrieked Marik "Once I regain my vision, I'll tear you apart limb from limb Cosmo!"

Now was a good time for Cosmo to make a quick getaway. She charged out of the room before Marik could regain his vision. Unfortunately, Marik recovered a lot quicker then Cosmo hoped he would. He wiped all the orange juice and orange pieces out of his eyes and ran out of the room after Cosmo. He was well and truly ticked off I can tell you! His face looked like it was about to explode in rage. Now by the time Marik had recovered, Cosmo was halfway down the hall. That was no problem at all for Marik since he could run fast. He activated his jet shoes and rocketed down the hallway like a boy on roller skates. He went so fast he went past Cosmo and stopped directly in front of her. Cosmo stopped and screamed at him. She turned around to run away but in a split second, Marik was in front of her again. Cosmo ran away again but Marik did the same thing and blocked her path. It was all thanks to his jet shoes. Not matter where Cosmo went, Marik would beat her to it due to his superior speed.

They kept this up for a few minutes until finally Cosmo fell to her knees in exhaustion. She would have loved to try and run away from Marik again but she knew it was futile since he would just out-speed her again. Marik grinned at his tired victim.

"What's the matter Cosmo?" he sneered "Too tired to flee for your life?"

Cosmo didn't answer him, she just continued to pant and wheeze. Seizing his chance, Marik raised his knife and prepared to stab Cosmo. And he would have done if Sonic the Hedgehog didn't show up at the right time and spin-dash him in the stomach and send him flying backwards and onto the floor. Cosmo looked up to see Sonic and Tails standing defensively in front of her. It made her beam like sunlight to see her new friends there. Sonic smiled at Cosmo.

"Next time there's a party, you should invite us!" he joked.

"Sorry." said Cosmo "I just saw Marik sneaking into the castle and I had a theory he was going to try and assassinate the Princess."

"That was brave of you Cosmo but you should have brought us along." said Sonic "We'd be much better at fighting Marik. And by the way," he added "Sally's not a princess anymore; she's the new Queen of Mobotropolis since the old Queen's dead."

"Oh right." said Cosmo.

"Tails, you get Cosmo out of there now." ordered Sonic "I'll take care of Marik the Moron."

"OK Sonic." said Tails.

He took Cosmo by the hand and ran off with her in tow. Sonic waited until they were out of sight and then turned his attention back to Marik. The Martian had recovered from Sonic's earlier attack and gotten back to his feet. He glared a terrifying death glare at the blue hedgehog. Sonic glared back.

"I've waited a long time for this." said Sonic, getting into a battle ready position "It's time to kick your sorry butt back to Mars Marik the Martian!"

"I think not foolish Mobian!" snarled Marik "I refuse to leave this planet until I have Cosmo strung up dead as a doornail and after I've turned this planet into a war zone!"

"More like you'll leave this planet after I spin-dash you into a pulp!" yelled Sonic.

And with that he spin-dashed straight into Marik's head and knocked him over. Marik's golden, spiked helmet had fallen off after that attack. Marik picked it up and put it back on his head. Then it was his turn to charge into Sonic. He activated his jet shoes and hurtled straight into the blue hedgehog head first. Sonic well and truly felt that attack and it hurt him even more due to the fact Marik wore a helmet. Sonic was thrown backwards a good distance down the hall and landed on his back. Marik ran up to Sonic again and prepared to leap onto him but Sonic managed to recover and get out of the way before Marik could land on him. Then Sonic kicked Marik in the back and sent him sprawling on the floor. And to add insult to injury, Sonic homing attacked him just as the Martian was getting back up. Sonic prepared for another homing attack but Marik was ready for him. He swiped the air with his arm and sent an energy wave hurling into Sonic's face. The blow sent him somersaulting backwards and he landed on his back. And just to be cruel, Marik swiped both his arms to make an even bigger energy wave emit from nowhere and hit Sonic. That wave was so powerful Sonic as thrown straight into the ceiling and he was embedded in it for a whole minute before falling free and landing straight into the floor. The hedgehog groaned as he tried to pick himself up. Marik bore down on his opponent and smirked a hideous smirk at him.

"You're tougher then I thought." spluttered Sonic "You clearly don't play games here."

"Well when you come from a planet that fantasies warfare what do you expect?" sneered Marik "Now hedgehog will you stand down peacefully and allow me to continue with my plans? Or do I have to finish you off?"

"You get to do neither." said Sonic "Because I'll finish you off!"

And before Marik could even so much as blink, Sonic leaped back to his feet and walloped him very hard. Marik stumbled backwards into the wall. Then Sonic began to perform one of his best attacks, the Sonic Tornado. He ran around in a circle at supersonic speed. Round and round and round he ran going faster and faster and faster. He was going so fast I bet he overtook himself at one point! Then sooner or later, the blue circle began to expand upwards into a blue tornado like appearance. Marik took a step back but before he knew it he was caught up into Sonic's supersonic tornado and hurled around and around continuously until finally he was thrown out of the tornado and sent crashing face first into the floor. The impact had clearly done some damage to Marik because he appeared to be out cold. Sonic stopped spinning around and the tornado vanished into thin air. He panted heavily but he smiled at his downed foe. Just to make double sure Marik was down and out, he stepped cautiously towards him. Marik didn't stir or even move so much as a finger. Sonic stepped even closer to him. Marik still didn't move. Maybe Marik was down and out after all. Now Marik was defeated, Sonic decided to bring him to justice. And he knew a good place for the Martian. The castle dungeons. Nobody had ever escaped from those dungeons since the castle had been used so Marik was going nowhere once he was put in there. Sonic reached out to grab Marik until suddenly Marik opened his eyes and swiped at him. Sonic was hit with an energy wave and sent hurtling backwards into the wall. Sonic slid down the wall and landed on his bottom, grimacing painfully. Marik stood back up and laughed at his opponent.

"A bold move hedgehog." he sneered "But I have tremendous stamina. It'll take quite some time to finally knock me down and keep me knocked down."

"Oh man!" moaned Sonic "And I thought this fight would be just a walk in the park."

"Proves how idiotic you are." taunted Marik "You should never judge a book by its cover you know. It can leave to deception in battle you know."

"You mean like this?" cried Sonic.

He leaped up to his feet and dropkicked Marik in the face. The Martian was sent hurtling backwards and crashing into another wall. Before Marik could recover, Sonic began to let fly a series of punches to the gut on him. Marik could feel the pain good and hard. Then Sonic grabbed Marik by the jacket and threw him into a wall. The impact left several cracks in it and bits of the stonework crumbled. Sonic didn't give Marik a chance to recover by grabbing him by the jacket and throwing him into another wall. This throw into the wall was much harder then before and the wall ended up with bigger cracks then the first one. But Sonic didn't stop there; he grabbed Marik and threw him into the wall again. And again, and again. Amazingly enough, the blue hedgehog kept it up for five whole minutes!

After one last slam into the wall, Sonic fell on his hands and knees in exhaustion. Marik appeared to be down and out. After all, he couldn't possibly still be in fighting condition after five minutes of being slammed into a wall. As a matter of fact, Marik did seem to be hurt very badly. Still, he managed to open one eye and glare at Sonic. He probably had flames in his eyes right now.

"That was a good tactic." said Marik "Throwing me into walls and not giving me a chance to recover."

"I'll try anything to take you down Marik." said Sonic "And you may as well give up. You can't possibly still be in fighting condition after all that I've done to you."

"I do feel too battered to fight." said Marik admittedly. In fact he was so battered it looked like he was having great pain just moving one of his arms and reaching into his pocket.

"But I do have a sure fire ace up my leather sleeve." crowed Marik.

He pulled out what looked like a huge green and red diamond that sparkled like a million suns. Sonic stared in disbelief at the diamond.

"What's that?" he asked.

"It's an Energy Diamond originating from Mars." said Marik "Every Martian takes one into battle and its incredible power heals us whenever we're injured."

That was all Sonic needed to know. He tried to snatch the diamond off Marik but Marik tapped into its power and the whole room was engulfed in a bright light. Sonic shielded his eyes from the incredible brightness of the light. It was so bright in fact you'd probably be permanently blinded just by looking at it for a second. Then the light slowly faded away and there stood Marik the Martian, looking as good as new and looking like he hadn't even been in a battle right now. Sonic couldn't believe his eyes. Just his rotten luck for Marik to have a way of recovering! Now how was he going to defeat him? Marik however was laughing like a swamp troll.

"See the incredible power this thing has?" sneered Marik "I feel like I haven't been in a fight! And that's not all." he added "This diamond can enhance my speed and strength momentarily. But it doesn't matter; you'll be defeated before I run out."

Sonic braced himself for the inevitable strike. Marik once again tapped into the diamond's power and his whole body began to glow with a bright green outline around him. Then in the blink of an eye, his feet whizzed around so fast they became red and gold blurs and he rocketed into Sonic and sent him flying with one supersonic punch. Sonic flew straight into the ceiling, crashed his way through it, continued shooting upwards and then fell back down into the castle, crashing through the roof again and landing on the floor. And to add insult to injury, Marik charged at Sonic at lightening speed repeatedly and beat him up over and over and over at such a blinding speed you couldn't even see Marik attacking Sonic, it just looked like Sonic was being attacked by a golden blurry thing. Marik threw the final punch and sent Sonic hurtling backwards in cartwheel motion and coming to a halt flat on is stomach. The hedgehog looked terrible, he was coated with bruises and battle scars, his left eye was swollen and became purple and his nose had a thin trickle of blood coming out. Sonic was so battered he couldn't move an eye lid or even twitch his nose. Never before had Sonic the Hedgehog been punished with such an onslaught and it had all been done at lightening speed. Not even Dr. Eggman's infamous machines had been able to hurt Sonic so much! Marik put the glittering diamond and stared with satisfaction at his downed opponent, grinning like a wicked witch that had just made a perfect stew.

"Ah, I just love a crippled victim." he said happily "Especially since I'm responsible."

"Marik!" cried a voice he knew too well "Your evil has got to stop!"

"And why should it my dear Nicole?" asked Marik, turning around to face the lynx, only to be positively shocked by what he was soon faced with.

"OH MY GOODNESS!" he cried, putting his hands to his head in shock.

Nicole had barely recovered from Marik's earlier attack but she was on her own two feet and pointing a sleek, silver two barrelled pistol at the Martian. The Acorn Family had a pistol in case they needed to warn off intruders and now Nicole was using it to threaten Marik and it certainly worked because the Martian stood there with his hands up. Nicole kept the gun pointed at Marik, her hand shaking.

"You did this." she said coldly "You killed Queen Alicia and King Max and tried to kill my best friend Sally too! Now I'm going to put an end to your terror!"

Marik just erupted with laughter, an action that made Nicole hesitate and stare at him funny.

"You know what's so funny?" chuckled Marik "Of all my years of being held at gunpoint…snicker!…I've never been held at gunpoint by a woman before so this should be interesting."

"I'll shoot!" warned Nicole.

"Then do it you stupid girl!" urged Marik "Go on! I'm wide open for you!"

"Before I do." said Nicole, her hand still trembling "Why did you do those horrible things to the kingdom?"

"Because I want it for myself you fool!" snapped Marik "What did you think I wanted it for? And besides, once I take over this poor excuse for a kingdom, I'll make you my queen my pretty little Nicole." he added flirtingly.

This comment more disgusted Nicole then flattered her.

"I would rather die then by your queen!" she growled at him.

"Well I'd be happy to arrange that for you Nicky." teased Marik.

"That's it! I'm pulling the trigger!" threatened Nicole.

"Then go on! Stop stalling!" taunted Marik "Just shoot me woman!"

Nicole didn't hesitate. Usually she would never shoot anyone or point a gun at them but in this case, it was necessary. Marik had to be killed before he killed anyone else. Nicole pulled the trigger but just at the exact moment she pulled the trigger, Marik whipped out his Energy Diamond and used its powerful energy to shield himself from the blast. Nicole couldn't believe her eyes.

"So go on." urged Marik "Shoot me again, I'll only block it again. And by the way, I have unfinished business elsewhere before I deal with you and this castle." he added.

He tapped into the diamond's power again and this time, used it to warp himself away in one bright dazzling flash. That little event surprised Nicole even more.

"He can teleport?" gasped Nicole "That makes him harder to defeat!"

Her mind then focused on something else. Poor Sonic the Hedgehog. He was still lying there out cold from the pounding Marik had given him. Nicole had seen it all happen and the sight of Sonic's state made her feel sick. She didn't even dare go near Sonic and rub him better in fear of hurting him even more. Hopefully, Sonic wouldn't take too long to recover; otherwise a dark and grim fate for Mobius would be certain to happen.

Meanwhile, Tails and Cosmo had run deep into the forests of Green Hill Zone and kept it low by hiding behind thickly grown bushes. Marik wouldn't find them there, nor would anyone for that matter. They had been hiding for a while now and Cosmo was beginning to get worried about Sonic. She knew what Marik was like in combat and she kept fretting on whether Sonic would be in trouble or not.

"Tails, do you think Sonic will be OK?" asked Cosmo.

"I'm sure he's beaten Marik to a pulp by now." said Tails "I still can't believe he killed the King and Queen."

"I know." said Cosmo "I heard him say it all to Queen Sally Acorn earlier."

"I bet Marik wants to seize the kingdom." said Tails "But Sonic will put a stop to that. He always wins his battles."

"That Sonic sure sounds amazing doesn't he?" asked Cosmo.

"He is amazing Cosmo." said Tails "He can run fast, destroy robots, create tornadoes and spin-dash attack his enemies. And you know what?" he added "He even saved my life from a couple of robots a while back*."

"I bet that's why you and he are such good friends." said Cosmo.

"You bet!" said Tails, winking at her "And I'm gonna be a powerful fighter working for the Royal Fighter's Service just like Sonic the Hedgehog!"

Cosmo giggled at the fox's determination "I bet you are!"

Tails blushed and looked away, giggling modestly. Unfortunately, their funny moment diminished. Out of nowhere, a bright light flashed. Tails and Cosmo shielded their eyes from the sheer dazzling brightness of the light and when they could open their eyes again, they saw Marik the Martian standing there with a diamond in his hand and smiling at them wickedly. Tails and Cosmo couldn't believe their eyes. Shouldn't Sonic have defeated him by now? Nevertheless, Tails did not hesitate for a moment; he immediately jumped in front of Cosmo defensively and put on his bravest face.

"You will not harm Cosmo!" he cried "She told me all about your rivalry with her people and I will not let you harm her in the name of her people!"

Marik snorted with laughter.

"Such bravado for a little kid!" he snorted "Trouble is, you'll end up eating those words."

He advanced on the two menacingly. Tails' legs began to feel wobbly but he kept on his brave face. Secretly, he was downright terrified of the little Martian. Marik could sense his fear easily and he smiled at the fact Tails was scared of him.

"I just beat Sonic to a pulp." he announced gloatingly "So what chance do you think you have against me? I bet you couldn't even beat up a kid your own age!"

"I'm more skilled then you think Marik!" said Tails angrily "I've helped Sonic the Hedgehog defeat baddies in the past and I will help him take you down!"

Marik snorted with laughter again.

"I can easily tell from that overbearing ego of yours Sonic raised you up!" he chortled "You're just as egotistical as he is!"

"Stop mocking me!" snapped Tails.

"I would if you'd stop making it so easy to do so." sneered Marik "Now if you want to leave this forest with all your limbs intact, I suggest you step aside and hand over that vermin you're strangely so eager to protect."

"Never!" cried Tails "I'm not letting you hurt Cosmo!"

Marik laughed once again.

"Cosmo, you haven't been on this planet for a week and already you have a boyfriend!" he taunted "You clearly are a hit amongst the males!"

Tails went red in the face. Cosmo poked her head over Tails' shoulder.

"He's not my boyfriend." said Cosmo quietly.

"Sure he isn't." snorted Marik in a voice dripping with sarcasm "Now little boy, move out of the way and let me take care of your adorable little girlfriend and I will let you live."

"Forget it Marik!" yelled Tails "I will never let you have Cosmo!"

"Then you die!" roared Marik "And I have a delightfully gruesome fate planned for you!"

Before Marik could do anything to the twin-tailed fox, Tails looked over his shoulder and screamed to seemingly nobody "NOW!" Then without warning, Amy Rose the Hedgehog and Cream the Rabbit with Cheese the Chao leaped out of the nearby bushes and landed several blows in the back of Marik's head. The startled Martian was thrown off his feet and sent falling on his face. Amy and Cream stood over him. Amy was wielding her trademark Piko-Piko hammer whereas Cream didn't have any weapons; she just had Cheese to throw at Marik. Amy turned to Tails and Cosmo.

"You two run along, we'll keep this creep busy!" cried Amy.

Tails and Cosmo ran off without a second thought. This ambush was all Tails' idea after all. He had feared that Marik might beat Sonic and come looking for them so he told Amy and Cream to hide in the bushes until he gave the signal. Now the two girls were focused on keeping Marik at bay until Tails and Cosmo were safe and Sonic would show up to help again. Marik picked himself up and glared at the two girls.

"So I'm against the pink nuisance who has a strange fondness of Sonic and that rabbit girl who scolded my feet earlier?" he said in an unimpressed tone "Seriously, if this is all I'm pitted against then I'll take over this planet easily!"

"You're going down you freak!" snarled Amy.

"You're going to pay for all the nasty things you did today!" cried

Cream.

"Chao!" piped Cheese.

"And what chance do you two foolish females think you have against me?" boasted Marik "I took down Sonic the Hedgehog! You have no hope!"

"SHUT UP!" screamed Amy, leaping up to Marik and bringing her hammer swinging down on him.

Marik swiped his arm and hit Amy smack in the face with an energy wave. Amy, dropped her hammer, flipped over backwards and landed in a bush with a thud. Marik seized the hammer.

"Oy! Give that back!" yelled Amy, getting up and out of the bush and running up to him.

Marik merely whacked her with the hammer. Amy flew backwards and landed into the bush again. Her head throbbed hard and she felt dopey. Stars were spiralling over her head.

"Now I know what my own hammer feels like!" she moaned.

Marik raised the hammer, ready to make another blow on the pink hedgehog. Amy covered her eyes and feared the worst. She knew that hammer could kill if someone whacked someone hard enough with it and Marik seemed intent on doing so. Fortunately, Cream came to the rescue by throwing Cheese straight in Marik's face. Marik dropped the hammer and Amy grabbed it quick. Then she walloped Marik around the head so hard Marik span around in a dizzy circle before falling onto his back. She and Cream gave each other a high five.

"Thanks for saving my life Cream." said Amy.

"You're welcome Miss Rose." said Cream, curtsying for no apparent reason.

Marik recovered and got up on his hands and knees. He stared grimly at Amy and Cream, his eyes drowning in rage.

"Maybe you two aren't so weak after all." he said sarcastically "But I'm afraid enough is enough. It's time to bring you both down!"

And with that, Marik leapt on Cream, roaring like a tiger. He pinned Cream to the ground and waited for Amy to try and attack him. Amy raised her hammer and brought it hammering down on him but Marik was too quick, he threw Cream directly into the hammer's path so Amy ended up hitting Cream accidentally. The rabbit burst into tears and clutched her face.

"Ow Miss Rose! That hurt!" she whined.

"I'm sorry Cream." said Amy "I was trying to hit Marik."

Then suddenly it was Amy's turn to get leaped on and pinned down. Then Marik picked Amy up and threw her into a tree. She hit it hard and slid slowly back down to the ground. Cheese yanked on Marik's collar and held him back for Amy to make another attack, but the Martian seized Cheese and threw him straight into Cream's arms.

"Are you OK Cheese?" asked Cream.

"Chao, Chao." mumbled Cheese. He wasn't OK but he wasn't hurt much either.

Amy had recovered from Marik's earlier attack and then advanced on Marik menacingly with her hammer in hand. Marik wasn't the least bit intimidated. Instead he swiped both of his arms and sent a huge energy wave crashing into Amy. It was so powerful her hammer was snapped in two and she somersaulted backwards twice and landed in a mud puddle. Cream was about to step into help but Marik glared at the rabbit as if he was asking her "Do you dare keep up the fight?" Cream knew she had no chance so she stood back. Marik smiled at the two girls.

"I knew I wouldn't have much trouble beating you two." he said "Now if you'll excuse me ladies, I have a Seedrian to kill. Bye, Bye!"

He pulled out his Energy Diamond and used its incredible power to warp away in a bright dazzling light. Amy struggled to get back up. Her face, her dress, her gloves and her legs were all covered with mud. She looked very messy. Cream helped Amy back onto her feet. Amy stomped the ground in frustration.

"Darn!" she cursed "How did we fail to defeat him?"

"Mr. Marik's very strong I guess." suggested Cream.

"I'll say he is." said Amy "He said he took Sonic out and now he's taken us out."

"So who's going to help Tails and Cosmo?" squeaked Cream "I think Marik's going to go after them! He warped away using a magical diamond thingy he had!"

"Marik can teleport?" shrieked Amy "Oh no! By the time we reach Tails and Cosmo it'll be too late!"

"Hopefully someone else will be in time to save them." hoped Cream "Like Mr. Sonic."

"I think we'll have to pray for a miracle now." said Amy "Cause I don't think anyone will be around to help and I don't think Tails will be able to fight Marik either."

Cream nodded sadly in agreement. It seemed hopeless now didn't it? All the girls could do was pray for a miracle because Tails and Cosmo were bound to need one at this very moment.

Meanwhile, Tails and Cosmo hadn't stopped running since they escaped from Marik. They ran as deep into the woods as the possibly could. Tails had a sneaky suspicion that Marik had probably defeated the girls now and was on their trail which is why they ran as far into the woods as they could. That way he'd have a harder time tracking them down. Unfortunately, they reached the end of the line. Tails and Cosmo had finally run out of the woods but they screeched to a halt and gasped. They had run to the edge of a cliff. The cliff was steep and led to a very rocky ground below with gentle ocean waves lapping up at the shore. If Marik caught them here, they would be trapped.

"Tails, there's nowhere else to go!" cried Cosmo "We should head back and try another route."

"No Cosmo, Marik might catch us." said Tails "I'll fly us to the other side."

You see, on the other side of the sea was another cliff directly facing the cliff Tails and Cosmo were on now.

"Marik will never catch us then." said Tails "Unless he can fly of course."

"I don't think Marik can fly." said Cosmo.

"Well that's one thing in our favour." said Tails "Now let's…"

Then suddenly a gold blur leaped out of the bushes and hurtled into Cosmo headfirst. It was Marik! His Energy Diamond had brought him into the bushes a few feet away from the two and waited for the right moment to charge out and head butt Cosmo in the back. His head butt attack was so hard; Cosmo tumbled over the edge of the cliff and began falling down to the rocky ground below!

"NO!" cried Tails, trying to fly after her but Marik seized him by the legs and held him back.

Cosmo continued to plummet to the hard rocky ground that awaited her at the bottom of the cliff…

Footnotes:

 See Story 3

* See the previous story for Cream's accidental leg scolding

Talk about a cliffhanger! Looks like Cosmo will be leaving this story just shortly after entering! Or will she...? Join me next time as Mars Attacks comes to a conclusion! Read and Review.

Mars Attacks Part 4

Story 24: Mars Attacks Part 4: Hedgehog and Martian

Tails covered his eyes, unable to witness Cosmo's demise. Then his eyes began to well up with tears and he stared sadly over the edge of the cliff. Cosmo, his newest friend was dead. And Marik had done it. Speaking of the devil, Marik was laughing like a deranged evil maniac and skipping about, clapping his hands madly.

"Yes!" he cried "I did it! I killed Cosmo, one of the biggest thorns in my side since the war with the Seedrians started! Oh boy will mum and dad be thrilled with me! Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

Tails then did something he doesn't usually do. He snapped. And I truly do mean snap. He leaped on Marik and began attacking him in such a blind fury that I don't think anyone, not even Knuckles could contain the fox's anger. Even Marik was surprised at the fox's rage.

"You killed her!" screamed Tails as he punched Marik directly in the face "You killed her! How could you? She could never hurt you so what gives you the right to do so?"

Marik blocked one of Tails punches and threw him backwards. Then he stomped on the fox's stomach and kept his foot there to pin him down.

"I'm a peace hater." explained Marik "And we Martians hate peace lovers so we kill them. It's our way of life and I absolutely love it to the bone!"

"But why?" asked Tails "Why do you hate peace? What is possibly so bad about it that you've declared war on it?"

"What use does peace have in this stupid little galaxy?" snorted Marik "All it does is make you weak and unprepared for surprise attacks. If you're me though, you always know the unknown and expect the unexpected because of a lifetime's worth of combat training. You don't get that from your precious peace do you?"

And with that he seized Tails by the tails and held him over the edge of the cliff by them. Tails gulped. Was Marik planning to drop him so he would suffer the same unfortunate fate as Cosmo? Even if he was, it wouldn't work since Tails could fly.

"Go ahead, drop me." urged Tails "I can fly with my two tails you doofus so it won't work!"

"Well I've got just the solution." sneered Marik, pulling his knife out of his pocket and holding it with the blade touching Tails' two tails.

"Let's see what happens if I cut those overgrown paintbrushes off while I'm holding you over the edge by them!" cried Marik, his pupils went tiny and his eyes had a wicked, deranged, demented look in them as if he was mentally insane. Tails went right shaky at that statement.

"No! Please no!" cried Tails.

Marik ignored him. He raised his knife and prepared to make the killer swipe that would slash Tails' tails off and he would plummet to the rocky ground below. Tails closed his eyes tightly and prepared for the inevitable. Marik was about to slash until someone snatched his knife away so Marik slashed at Tails only for nothing to happen. Marik looked at his now empty hand and almost had a nervous breakdown.

"What the Dickens?" he shrieked "My knife's gone!"

"That's because I have it!" cried a voice from behind him.

Marik put Tails down and looked behind him. He was so gobsmacked at what he saw I think he would have had a nervous breakdown right now! He saw Knuckles the Echidna standing there with his knife in hand and Cosmo hiding behind him. Tails almost exploded with joy at the sight of Cosmo behind Knuckles.

"Cosmo! You're alive!" he shrieked.

"Yes I am and I have this echidna to thank." said Cosmo.

Knuckles just smiled at Tails. Tails smiled back. Marik couldn't contain his anger any longer. He literally exploded into a fit of rage and fury.

"Impossible!" bellowed Marik, stomping about madly "How in the name of Mars did you survive that plummet?"

"Well I just coincidentally happened to be at the bottom of the cliff." said Knuckles "And I saw this girl falling off the edge so I leaped out, caught her and glided her to safety. She told me Tails was in trouble from you so I climbed back up and saved him from having his tails cut off."

Marik clenched his fists so hard I think they went a pale white colour. He frowned so hard it would give the average human or Mobian a headache if they tried.

"Well spike fist you've ended up on my long list of people I hate!" snarled Marik "And I'll make you pay for saving Cosmo's life when she was supposed to die!"

"And I'm going to make you pay for all you've done today!" snarled Knuckles "I've been waiting a long time for this!"

Marik charged at Knuckles, roaring menacingly but Knuckles was ready. He held his hands out and caught Marik in them. Marik continued to push but Knuckles was strong enough to resist. Marik could hardly move Knuckles an inch because the echidna was so strong. Knuckles then lifted Marik off the ground and threw him like a basketball. Marik hurtled through the air and plummeted over the edge of the cliff. Knuckles laughed at his victory.

"All too easy." he gloated.

But Marik suddenly started coming back up to the edge of the cliff! Tails and Cosmo couldn't believe their eyes, nor could Knuckles for that matter.

"Y'know that we wondered if Marik could fly?" asked Tails.

"Yes?" said Cosmo.

"That answers our question." said Tails.

And answered that question it did. Marik was actually flying! His jet shoes were capable of flying abilities as well as enhancing his speed. Marik stood in midair with his arms folded, a gloating smirk on his face and his jet shoes still going.

"Did you really think you could just toss me off a cliff and it'd all be over?" jeered Marik "I am more then meets the eye! I am prepared for anything, be it falling off something, opponent too strong or needing to make a quick getaway. I will always be one step ahead of you Mobian mongrels!"

"Stop boasting and taste my bare knuckles!" Knuckles yelled challengingly.

"As you wish." said Marik calmly.

And with that he boosted his jets and rocketed into Knuckles head first. Knuckles was well pounded by that blow and sent hurtling backwards into the forest. Marik then turned his attention to Cosmo. He flew towards her and grabbed her by the waist.

"Help! Put me down you hideous hobgoblin!" yelled Cosmo, thumping Marik's arms helplessly.

"Save the pitiful fist work girl!" growled Marik, flying a good distance away from the cliff and stopping "Now let's see if anyone can save you from falling now?"

And with that he, well, let go of her of course. Cosmo began to fall but she wasn't falling for long. The wind got caught up in her skirt and it spread out neatly like a blooming flower. The skirt started acting like a parachute and Cosmo was slowly descending to the ground. Marik face-palmed himself as hard as he could.

"Damn it!" he moaned "I forgot Seedrians can do that!"

True Cosmo wasn't going to fall like a stone now, but it didn't mean she was going to be safe at the bottom. You see, Marik had held her above the sea and dropped her. Now Cosmo was going to fall into the sea and probably get swept away by the fierce waves and currents below. Worse, there could be sharks in the water and Cosmo was bound to end up as lunch if one caught her. Luckily, this wasn't going to happen. Tails had taken flight and flown over to Cosmo to grab her and take her back to the cliff tops. He caught her in bridal style and carried her back to the cliff tops. Unfortunately Marik interfered. He swiped the air with his arms and sent an energy wave hurtling towards Tails and Cosmo. They were both hit and sent flying into the cliff top. They hit the edge and were about to slide over and fall but Knuckles caught them just in time and pulled them to safety. Marik began to get really cross. Just how hard could it be to kill a stupid Seedrian? Marik flew towards Knuckles and prepared to attack him but Knuckles was ready this time. He stood to the side and let Marik fly straight past him and crash head first into a tree. Marik slid down to the ground dazed and confused. Knuckles dusted his hands off.

"And that does it I believe." he said.

"Let's tie him up or something before he comes around." said Tails.

"We haven't got any rope." said Cosmo.

"I'm just gonna throw him off the edge." said Knuckles "This demon is too dangerous to live. According to you Cosmo, he killed the king and queen and tried to seize control of the kingdom*. If we let him live he'll doom us all so he must die."

No one suggested otherwise so Knuckles picked Marik's unconscious body up and carried him over to the cliff's edge. Knuckles raised Marik above his head and prepared to throw the Martian over and to his death. But by sheer unluckiness, Marik happened to come around just before Knuckles could throw him over the cliff. Marik kicked Knuckles in the head which in turn, caused Knuckles to drop Marik behind him and rub his sore head.

"So you thought you could chuck me over the cliff while I was unconscious huh?" said Marik crossly "Well unluckily for you, I recover quickly! Now let's see how you like it!"

Marik was about to kick Knuckles in the back and send him tumbling over but Tails and Cosmo seized him by the collar and held him back.

"You grubby little beasts, let go of my jacket!" cried Marik, tugging back.

Tails and Cosmo continued to pull on him whereas Marik pulled back in a desperate attempt to free himself. Knuckles decided that now was the right time to attack since Marik was unable to fight back. So while Tails and Cosmo held him at bay by pulling on his collar, Knuckles landed several powerful blows to Marik's stomach. Punch after punch after punch, Marik could feel the wind getting knocked out of him. Blimey where those punches hard! Then Knuckles punched Marik in the face and decided to finish him off with an uppercut to the chin. Marik shot straight up into the air like a rocket and fell straight back down. He landed with a thud in some nearby bushes. The three Mobians ran over to him. They saw Marik, lying in the bushes, clutching his stomach as if he had a tummy-ache (I think I would have had one if Knuckles went to town on me like that!). He looked like he wouldn't be getting up in a hurry. Then Tails noticed something. A glowing green diamond was lying in the grass next to the bushes. Tails went over to the diamond and picked it up.

"What's this?" he asked.

"That." said Cosmo grimly "Is an Energy Diamond. Martians use those to enhance their strength and speed momentarily. You mustn't let Marik have it or he'll be invincible."

"In that case I'll throw it into the sea!" cried Tails "He'll never be able to use it that way!"

Tails began to run off but Marik came around and saw Tails running away. He swiped his arm and hit Tails in the back with an energy wave. Tails fell over and dropped the diamond. The diamond began to roll closer to the cliff's edge. Marik leaped to his feet and dashed over to grab the diamond. He only just caught it before it could tumble over the edge. Marik sighed with relief. But he wasn't relieved for long, Knuckles came charging into him and punched him in the back. Marik dropped the diamond and the glowing jewel rolled backwards. Cosmo grabbed the diamond and tried to throw it over but Marik caught her with an energy wave. The diamond then flew into the air and landed into Tails' hands. Again, Marik caught him off guard with an energy wave. Tails fell over backwards and sent the diamond flying backwards into the forest. Marik sped off to catch the diamond. He caught it before it could hit the ground. Then he turned his attention to the Mobians.

"Enough is enough!" he growled "It is time to end this pathetic conflict!"

And I bet Marik would have used the Energy Diamond to power up if he wasn't interrupted by a blue blur spin-dashing him in the back and causing him to drop the diamond. Marik got back to his feet and stared in disbelief at what he was suddenly faced with. It was none other then Sonic the Hedgehog! He still looked a little bit battered from his fight with Marik earlier but he seemed in fighting condition. He had Amy Rose and Cream the rabbit beside him, looking like they were ready to fight. Tails, Cosmo and even Knuckles were very pleased to see Sonic here.

"So did I miss anything?" asked Sonic.

"Well not much." said Tails "But boy am I glad you're here!"

"Im-possible!" spat Marik "How can you possibly be on your feet right now? I gave you a hideous pounding earlier so you should still be lying on the floor unable to move!"

"Let's just say I recover just as fast as I run." joked Sonic "Now it's time to kick your butt all the way back to Mars!"

"You're toast Marik!" declared Amy, brandishing her Piko-Piko hammer.

"Your evil ways are over!" cried Cream.

"Chao!" piped Cheese.

Marik soon found himself surrounded by the six Mobians. Although Marik was strong, there was no way he could possibly take on six Mobians at once. Well only Sonic, Tails, Knuckles and Amy could fight well enough to defeat him but Cream and Cosmo would probably be good support.

"Oh come on, that's not fair!" whined Marik "I'm outnumbered six to one! Don't you think that's going too far?"

"We'll go as far as we can to get rid of you!" said Sonic angrily "Everybody, leap on him and pin him down!"

And they did so. Marik braced himself as the Mobians were about to land on him. Then the sneaky Martian swiped both of his arms at once, one forward and one backwards. This caused two energy waves to fly out in different directions and hit three Mobians each. The Mobians all fell down to the ground like falling birds. Marik cackled at the Mobian's failed attack.

"You are gonna have to do better then this you pathetic creatures!" crowed Marik.

"How about this?" snarled Amy, leaping onto her feet and charging at Marik like a bull to the matador.

Marik swiped his arm and hit Amy with an energy wave once more. Then Knuckles leaped on him from behind and grabbed him. He held Marik back so the Martian was vulnerable to any oncoming attack. Sonic and Tails attacked while they could. Sonic spin-dashed into Marik several times while Tails tail-whipped Marik across the face. Marik felt like he was being whipped repeatedly by Tails' twin tails. Then Amy added insult to injury by giving him a hard thump on the head with her Piko-Piko hammer. And finally Knuckles picked the overwhelmed Martian up and held him over his head. He then began to spin Marik around above his head. The echidna began to pick up speed drastically by the second while the others watched him with interest. Soon Knuckles was spinning Marik around so fast he was nothing more then a red, black and gold blur spinning around above Knuckles' head. Then finally, Knuckles tossed the spinning Martian away and Marik, spinning wildly out of control, hurtled straight into a very large oak tree. Marik smacked into it so hard he ended up embedded into the tree's thick bark and acorns were shaken so much they fell off their branches and to the ground like rainfall. Marik, groaning like a ghoul, slowly slid out of the Martian shaped impact he made into the tree and fell to the ground head first. After falling to the ground, he fell onto his back and grimaced. Sonic stood over the downed Martian with a triumphant smirk on his face.

"We win Marik!" he declared "Now get out of Mobius and don't come back! That's my last warning!"

Marik slowly began to sit up. He opened one eye and glared at the arrogant blue hedgehog. Marik was in pain all over his body and he knew it. He was in no shape to fight and he probably couldn't retrieve his Energy Diamond since he'd likely be too slow to get it. Still, surrender was never a word Marik was associated with so he was willing to try anything to win.

"You cannot defeat me hedgehog!" grunted Marik, clutching his arm "And I've said a million times already, I am not leaving Mobius until I've turned it into a war zone!"

"Marik, why won't you just give up?" snapped Tails "Look at you! You can't possibly keep this fight up any longer! Just give up while you can!"

"Martians don't surrender!" snarled Marik "And I will go to any lengths necessary to achieve my goal, even if it means I die trying!"

Then suddenly, as if Marik had recovered from the beating he had taken; he got back to his feet and leaped over the Mobians in a perfect rainbow arch. He landed behind a few feet away from them and right next to the Energy Diamond. He grabbed it and quickly tapped into its power to heal himself. He was surrounded by a dazzling flash of light. The Mobians turned around and saw what he was doing.

"What's he doing?" asked Amy "Is he teleporting again?"

"No!" cried Sonic "He's healing himself! We've got to get that diamond off of him!"

The light died down and there stood Marik, looking like nothing had happened to him the past few minutes. The moment the light died down, Sonic pounced on Marik and grabbed the diamond. He tried to wrench it out of the Martian's hands but Marik refused to let it go. He held on tightly and wrestled with Sonic over the diamond. This was going to be a tough match everybody could tell.

"Let go of it Marik!" grunted Sonic as he continued tugging on it.

"You let go!" snarled Marik "This diamond is not for Mobians!"

Seeing as no one was going to win this tussle, Tails and the others decided to interfere with Marik. Knuckles ran up to Marik and delivered a massive punch to the Martian's face. The punch was so powerful, Marik was thrown aside like a rag sheet and he let go of the diamond. Marik hit the ground and rolled across it painfully. Sonic smiled at the fact he know had the Energy Diamond.

"Now let's see what happens if I use it against you!" said Sonic.

"No Sonic don't!" cried Cosmo "You have no idea what…"

Sonic ignored her. He tried doing what Marik did and tapped into the diamond's power. Sonic had no idea if the diamond would work for him since the diamond was probably from Mars, Marik's Homeworld, but he was determined to try everything. Marik got back to his feet and gaped at what he was seeing. Sonic had his Energy Diamond and now the blue hedgehog was trying to use it.

"Stop!" cried Marik "You don't know how to use it!"

Too late. Sonic had managed to tap into the diamond's power and now he was glowing with a bright green outline around his body and his quills were waving up and down as if they were blowing in the wind. Sonic had no idea how he managed it, but he didn't mind, he could now use the diamond's immense power against Marik and defeat him once and for all. Sonic then revved his feet. They were going so fast you couldn't see them, not even as a blur. Sonic felt a feeling he had never felt before, a feeling of going at an unimaginable speed. He had felt something like this when he was Super Sonic during the Mecha Sonic agenda but this felt more thrilling then even that! Sonic then rocketed into Marik the Martian at the speed of light. He hit Marik so fast it looked like he was being attacked by thin air. Then Sonic began to repeatedly attack him over and over just like Marik did to him earlier. Marik was getting pummelled and pummelled by the second and he felt like he was getting hit by a sea of trains because Sonic was going so fast and pounding him so hard. Then Sonic gave Marik one final mighty wallop in the stomach. That wallop was so hard Marik was heavily winded by the blow and sent hurtling backwards at about one hundred miles an hour. Marik hurtled backwards so fast he actually hurtled over the cliff and, crying with anguish and defeat, plummeted into the roaring sea that awaited him at the bottom with a huge splash.

Sonic stopped what he was doing and came to a halt at the edge of the cliff. He peered over to see what had become of Marik. His body did not come back up to the surface. That only meant one thing; Marik had been defeated and was dead. Sonic chucked the now useless diamond into the sea, never to be found again. Then he cheered and punched the air with his fist.

"Way past cool!" cried Sonic "Marik's gone! Forever! Whoo Hoo!"

The others ran out of the forest to meet him.

"Sonic, you did it!" cried Tails.

"You've defeated that ugly wretch once and for all!" squealed Amy.

Cream and Cheese did a little dance for joy whereas Knuckles just gave Sonic a smile that suggested "Congratulations bud". Even Cosmo smiled with appreciation at Sonic.

"Now Marik's gone, I have one Martian less to worry about." she said "Thank you Sonic.

"Don't mention it Cosmo." said Sonic, giving her the thumbs up "That's what I do best, help those in need."

Cosmo beamed like a sunrise.

Later that day at Mobotropolis, the five Mobians and Seedrian were at Castle Acorn and were being thanked for their efforts by Sally Acorn, who was now wearing a shoulder less, flowing, elegant pink dress, pink gloves that came up to the elbow, golden lace around the waist and Queen Alicia's old crown. She proper looked like a queen now and the fighters were impressed.

"If it wasn't for you brave fighters." said Sally "The kingdom would be in total collapse and chaos. I'm sure my parents would have been very grateful to you all."

Everybody nodded in agreement.

"Now Marik the Martian is gone," continued Sally "Castle Acorn won't have to worry about being ransacked. Thank you, all of you."

"You're welcome Princess…uh, I mean Queen Sally." said Sonic, bowing at her.

Sally giggled. "I have one special thank you for someone else though before I finish." said Sally "Where's the plant-like girl?"

Cosmo shyly stood forward and curtsied to Sally.

"Your Majesty." she said politely "My name is Cosmo and I'm from another world. I'm afraid I'll be here for a while since my kind is at war with the Martians and I'll have to wait until it's over."

"Well for the time being you're welcome to stay on Mobius." said Sally happily "Especially since you were the one that saved my life earlier. Thank you Cosmo."

Cosmo beamed with pleasure. Sonic gave her the thumbs up.

"Not bad eh Cosmo?" he said "You haven't been here long and the new Queen of Mobotropolis congratulates you. That's real swell!"

"I thought I wouldn't be welcomed." said Cosmo "But I feel like a fit in very well. I think I might like this planet after all."

"You will Cosmo." said Tails happily "You will."

And Cosmo knew deep down that Tails was probably right. She had no idea what she would get up to on this strange new world, but she had a feeling she would like it. And if the Seedrians won the war with the dreaded Martians, she would have one heck of a story to tell her mother…

Footnotes:

 See the first two parts of this saga (Stories 21-22) for more details on Marik's nefarious scheme

*See the previous story for Sonic's less then pleasant tussle with Marik

 Surely you haven't forgotten the Mecha Sonic Saga (Stories 12-14) have you?

And that's it for the Mars Attacks saga! Marik's gone and Cosmo has a new home to settle in to. Join me next time for it is my very FIRST milestone chapter next time! OK technically I've already done twenty-five chapters since we have the prologue in Chapter 1 and the twenty four chapters currently uploaded but I don't include the prologue when I count these stories. Reviews are welcome as always.

Sonic the Martian

Hi there users of ! This is Mixedfan8643 with a very special chapter to the Heroes of Mobius series! I am now on my FIRST milestone story! And here's a treat for you Sonic fans, milestone stories are EVEN longer then the other stories! So that means more Sonic and more epic action! What more can a Sonic fan ask for? Enjoy!

Story 25 : Sonic the Martian

"Thank you for letting me have a tour of this beautiful island." Cosmo the Seedrian said to Knuckles the Echidna "It's been lovely up here."

"Don't mention it." said Knuckles, sitting back against the glorious, glowing Master Emerald "Since you'll be staying on Mobius for a while, you need to know the whole planet up and down."

Cosmo nodded. Ever since she landed on this planet, her new friends had been giving her various tours around Mobius. She had been shown almost everything from Empire City to Knothole to Downunda. Now Knuckles had kindly offered the little Seedrian a tour around the notorious Angel Island, the island that floated in the air. Cosmo had enjoyed every second of the tour but the one thing she enjoyed was the spectacular view Angel Island offered her. She could see very far into the distance from up here. There was just one thing she wanted to know.

"Knuckles, why does this island float?" asked Cosmo.

Knuckles looked at Cosmo.

"A lot of people ask me that." said Knuckles "Well here's your answer: Angel Island used to be on the ground and named Echidnaopolis. The elders predicted a comet would fall from space and hit us and wipe us all out so using magic and the Master Emerald's power, we managed to get the island to lift up from the ground and we managed to avoid being hit by the comet."

"Does everyone like the island as it is now?" asked Cosmo.

"Not everyone." said Knuckles sadly "Our ruler Imperator Ix didn't like Angel Island being up in the air so he tried to get it to come back down but the elders ignored his protests and insisted the island stays afloat so we will always be safe from danger. Ix didn't like that and he betrayed us all. He slaughtered the elders and tried to remove the Master Emerald from the shrine and make Angel Island fall but my late father Locke stopped him with a Chaos Control and my Uncle Finitevus sent him away using his Warp Ring technology. I have no idea where Ix is now but hopefully, we won't have to worry about him again."

"That's some story isn't it?" said Cosmo, intrigued with every thing she had heard "What happened to your dad after he stopped Ix?"

"Using his Chaos powers on Ix drained quite a lot of energy from him and he sadly lost the will to live." explained Knuckles "But he's still with me, in my memories. As for Uncle Finitevus, he's been missing for a while now and I have no idea if he'll ever return."

"I bet that's so sad." said Cosmo, feeling sorry for the spike-fisted echidna "Losing two of your relatives. Do you miss them terribly?"

"I do." said Knuckles sadly "But I don't let that bother me too much. I guard the Master Emerald in my father's name and I always think about how proud he would be of me if he was still around."

"But who guards the Master Emerald when you're not here?" asked Cosmo "I mean, when you were helping us fight Marik* was someone else guarding it in your place?"

"Yes." said Knuckles "I take turns with some other echidnas that have had practice guarding the Master Emerald. I like it when I get to leave the Master Emerald in some one else's care so I can help any of those Royal Fighter groups defeat Eggman's armies all over the world."

"Is this Eggman person someone I should look out for?" asked Cosmo.

"Certainly." said Knuckles, standing up "He is Sonic's sworn enemy much like Marik was your sworn enemy. Sonic's always the one foiling his schemes and he somehow manages to come out on top in the end. I have no idea how he does it though, I guess it's because he can run really fast."

"Well in that case I don't think I should be too worried if Eggman's around since Sonic will be there to stop him." said Cosmo with relief.

Knuckles nodded in agreement.

"I look forward to the day Sonic finally kicks his butt out of Mobius once and for all." he said "Or I could do it for him."

Cosmo laughed at Knuckles' remark.

"Thank you for the tour of Angel Island." she said, standing up and walking down the stairs "It's been lovely but I've got to go now."

"Use this." said Knuckles, tossing a warp ring to Cosmo. She caught it. "Just touch the ring and think about where you want to go to and the ring will warp you there." he added.

Cosmo touched the warp ring and thought about Sonic's house all the way back in Green Hill Zone. The ring expanded to ten times its own size so Cosmo could just walk through it now. Cosmo walked through the warp ring and she vanished into thin air. The ring went back to its normal size and dropped on the ground. Knuckles picked it up and put it away. He looked down at the ground below Angel Island.

"I hope we'll defeat Dr. Eggman and get our freedom back." he said to himself "I cannot stand the thought of living in a robot city for the rest of my life."

Knuckles wasn't a big fan of technology after all. Smashing Eggman's robots always made him feel happy, especially since Eggman's robots were used for horrible purposes such as kidnapping the innocents and taking them to Eggman to be roboticized. Knuckles just wondered when would all this end.

Hopefully sooner or later. Once Eggman was kicked out of Mobius, Mobius would be free once again.

Back at Green Hill Zone, Sonic was taking yet, another lengthy jog through the forests of Green Hill Zone. Sonic ran at his trademark speed, the wind blowing in his face the faster he ran. Sonic came across a rocky hill and in no effort at all, leaped up the hill and over it. Sonic landed on the other side of the hill and ran on. He then came across one of those strange mountains that looked like loop de loops. Sonic never knew why those mountains were shaped like that, nor did he know how they came to be, all he knew is that they were great to run up. Sonic ran through the loop de loop mountain, whooping as he did so, and did a fantastic slide under a low hanging rock. After sliding under the rock, Sonic leaped back to his feet and ran on again. Unfortunately, he appeared to be reaching a cliff top. Cliff tops never bothered Sonic since he could leap with perfection and land on the ground below without injuring himself. Sonic ran to the cliff's edge, jumped and he flew through the air like a bird. Then Sonic raised his feet as he began to hurtle down to the ground. Just like always, he made the perfect landing. After landing, Sonic ran on ever faster. He had completed his lengthy jog and was now heading for home to see how Tails was doing with his little spy machine. For some strange reason though, as Sonic sped through the forests and back home, he was having some strange thoughts. Why did it suddenly dawn on him how repulsive the forests suddenly looked? And why did he have this urge to burn them down for some reason? Sonic had no idea what was going on in his head right now. In fact ever since he defeated Marik he had been having these strange and sometimes wicked thoughts he would never usually think and he was not sure why. He had to ask Tails and see if he knew anything about this. He hoped it wouldn't continue regularly because these strange thoughts were beginning to worry Sonic. Sonic shook it off and continued running. However Cosmo's warp ring just happened to open up in Sonic's path and Cosmo stepped out of it. Sonic saw her and tried to stop himself but he was going way too fast and he ended up crashing into her. The two tumbled over each other and finally came to a stop side by side. Sonic got to his feet and helped Cosmo up.

"Sorry there Cosmo. Didn't see ya in time." he said.

"That's OK." said Cosmo "Although I'm kinda puzzled as to why the warp ring brought me here when I asked for it to warp me to your house."

"Sometimes warp rings can be unreliable." said Sonic "But the warp ring wasn't too far off the mark, my house is only up there."

He pointed to the familiar little house that resided near the outskirts of the zone.

"So how was Angel Island?" asked Sonic.

"It was wonderful." said Cosmo "Knuckles even told me a bit about Angel Island's back story and history."

"I bet he told you the story of how Angel Island floats and how his dad defeated some guy named Imperator Ix who I'm not familiar with." said Sonic

"He did indeed." said Cosmo.

"Anyone who asks why does the island float usually gets told that story." said Sonic "Even I did when I first visited it. I was only twelve at the time."

"I see." said Cosmo "How is Tails doing by the way?"

"Oh he's just spying on Eggman right now." said Sonic "Why don't we see how he's doing?"

Cosmo nodded and with that, Sonic and Cosmo headed off back to Sonic's house. Unfortunately, Sonic began to have these strange, sinister thoughts again. As he looked at Cosmo, why did he keep having this sudden urge to kill the poor girl? Why did she suddenly look like a repulsive creature with a fondness for peace? What was going on in his mind right now? Why does it feel like he was beginning to sound like Marik the Martian in his head? Sonic had no idea why he kept having these horrible thoughts all of the sudden. Then his head began to throb suddenly and the hedgehog was so stunned by the sudden throbbing he grabbed the sides of his head and fell on his knees. It almost felt like someone had sneaked into his head and hammered his brain briefly. Cosmo noticed something was wrong and bent down to ask Sonic what was wrong.

"Sonic, are you OK?" she asked kindly "Have you got a headache?"

"Shut up you repulsive, walking rose bush!" snapped Sonic.

Cosmo couldn't believe what Sonic had just said to her. This was not like Sonic at all, something was definitely wrong. Sonic suddenly realized he'd said something he didn't mean and was quick to apologize.

"I meant, yes my head's throbbing." said Sonic "I have no idea why I just said what I just said a moment ago."

"Is there something wrong?" asked Cosmo.

"I think so." said Sonic, still rubbing his head "I keep having horrible thoughts that I don't usually have and now my head is suddenly throbbing. And now I'm saying things I don't mean."

"When did this start happening?" asked Cosmo.

"Um…since I defeated Marik I guess." said Sonic "And oddly enough, these horrible thoughts I'm having sound like something Marik would probably think."

"Well that's a strange coincidence." said Cosmo "You defeat Marik and suddenly you start thinking like him. There's a catch to this somewhere but I can't some to put my finger on it…"

"Hopefully it'll wear off." said Sonic "Let's just see how Tails is doing."

And with that, the two carried on to Sonic's house. Cosmo however, couldn't stop staring at him with a worried face while he wasn't looking. Sonic was just fine until he defeated Marik the Martian and then suddenly he thinks like him. Why did this sound so familiar all of a sudden? Has something like this happened before only on a different world? Cosmo was trying to think about why this strange business sounded so familiar but she just couldn't quite work it out yet. Sonic and Cosmo finally arrived back at Sonic's house and Sonic walked in though the front door. And surely enough, he saw Tails sitting at his desk with his earphones on and clearly listening to something on that machine of his. In fact, Tails was so absorbed in his work he didn't even hear Sonic and Cosmo come in.

"Tails! I'm back!" called Sonic.

Tails did not seem to have heard his friend call him. He was still listening to what he could hear through those earphones he wore and he appeared to be writing something in a notepad. Obviously he was writing whatever he was hearing Eggman talk about. Cosmo went over to Tails and lifted the right earphone off his ear so he could hear her.

"Tails, we're back." she said to him quietly.

Tails finally snapped out of his work and turned to face Cosmo.

"Oh sorry about that!" he said, giggling nervously "I was so caught up with this spy work I didn't hear you come in."

"That's forgivable." said Sonic "So what's old Egg brains up to? I haven't seen him since the throw down we had the other week."

"Well according to what I've managed to pick up." said Tails, reading the notes he had written on the notepad he had with him "Eggman's planning to attack poor old Angel Island and seize the Master Emerald. And to think he wouldn't try that again after he failed to get it the first time*."

"Oh no!" cried Cosmo "If Eggman gets the Master Emerald Angel Island will fall!"

"Well we'd best send a message to Knuckles right away!" said Sonic.

He pulled a communicator out of a desk draw and switched it on. He tapped a few buttons and soon the screen flashed into life with Knuckle's face on.

"Sonic! What's up now?" asked Knuckles.

"Tails just managed to find out Dr. Eggman is planning to steal the Master Emerald again." said Sonic "Prepare yourself for his arrival."

"Will do." said Knuckles "I haven't seen the fat idiot since me and you whupped his ugly butt after he seemingly beat you to a pulp the other week so I'm going to enjoy this!"

"I wish I could join in!" chuckled Sonic "But I don't have a warp ring right now."

"I'll be able to handle that Eggman myself." boasted Knuckles "I'll see ya around Sonic and tell Tails I said thanks for the warning."

"OK." said Sonic, shutting the communicator off and putting it back in the desk drawer.

"Knuckles said thanks for the warning." he said to Tails.

Tails nodded and put the earphones back on.

"Now let's see what else I can find out." he mumbled to himself.

He picked up his pen and got ready to write some notes.

"Tails don't you think you should rest?" asked Cosmo politely.

"I'll rest after I've listened to this conversation." said Tails, not taking his eyes of the notepad "I'm just making double sure there's nothing else I can find out."

"You're such a busybody Tails." giggled Cosmo "I bet you spend most of the day working on something."

"Yeah, I'm always working on something." said Tails modestly "Be it machine, vehicle or just a small gizmo of sorts. I'm always making something and I enjoy it so much. Technology is the only thing I'm any good at aside from fighting."

"I see." said Cosmo "I'm not much of a technical person myself. In fact mother always said technology can bring a mixture of bad or good depending on the type so my planet isn't really as technically advanced as other planets. But I like it the way it is and hopefully it'll be in one piece when I or if I return."

As Tails and Cosmo talked to each other about technology, Sonic just slumped on the sofa to have an afternoon nap. But as he silently snoozed away to himself, he began to have horrible thoughts again. Only this time, these thoughts were expressing themselves through dreams. Sonic was dreaming he was in a devastated wasteland on what was left of a deserted and destroyed Mobius and strangely enough instead of feeling devastated at all this, he was actually enjoying the sight and laughing like a cross between a hyena and a devilish wizard. This was very unusual for Sonic since when Mobotropolis was wrecked, he was horrified and yet in this dream he was pleased with the sight of a ravaged Mobius full of raging fires, collapsing cities and dead bodies. Then suddenly, while Sonic continued laughing a cruel, sadistic laugh at the horror around him, the familiar figure of Marik the Martian appeared from nowhere and tapped him on the shoulder. Sonic turned to face the Martian and seemed unusually pleased to see someone he had just beaten up and sent falling into the ocean.

"Well done Sonic." purred Marik "I knew your brand new mutated mind would be put to good use and now you've created a paradise for Martians everywhere! I salute your efforts!"

"You're welcome Marik." said Sonic, grinning evilly "It was my pleasure."

That did it. Sonic woke up with a jolt and screamed so loudly Tails fell over in his chair, the earphones being yanked off his ears by the short wire. Cosmo jumped and stared at the poor hedgehog. Sonic began to pant heavily as if he had just seen a ghost.

"What's the matter Sonic?" gasped Tails "You look like you just woke up from a nightmare!"

"I did!" cried Sonic "I was in a devastated Mobius and for some reason I was enjoying the view and then Marik the Martian came up to me and said something really strange!"

"What did he say like?" asked Cosmo.

"I can't remember." said Sonic, taking a big calming breath "Although I think it had something to do with a mutated mind. What does that mean?"

"I don't know." said Cosmo "But I bet those horrible thoughts you're having have something to do with this nightmare you had."

"What horrible thoughts?" asked Tails.

"Ever since I defeated Marik, I keep having thoughts that I don't usually think." explained Sonic "Sometimes I think anything beautiful looks repulsive, sometimes I have this sudden urge to maim someone and a moment ago I said something way out of my league to Cosmo. I have no idea why I'm having these thoughts and it's freaking me out! Real bad!"

"That seems like a weird coincidence." said Tails "After you defeat Marik you start thinking like him. Any ideas Cosmo?"

"This sounds so familiar but I can't quite decipher what it is." said Cosmo "Maybe it had something to do with the Energy Diamond…"

"Well I do hope it wears off because I'm getting freaked out by these thoughts." said Sonic, shaking.

"Why don't you have a jog for a few hours and see if that'll keep your mind off it." suggested Tails.

"I'll try that." said Sonic.

He leaped to his feet and dashed out of the door faster then you could say "She sells seashells by the seashore." Tails and Cosmo looked at each other and exchanged worrying glances.

"I do hope Sonic will be alright." said Tails "I hate it when he's not OK."

"I'm concerned for Sonic too." said Cosmo ""And why does all this keep sounding so familiar to me? I'm sure something like this happened to one of my kind during the war. What was the cause…?"

"Maybe it'll come to you later." said Tails reassuringly "Right now we'd best hope Sonic will be OK and Knuckles will be able to fend off Eggman's attack."

Things were only about to get worse later on though…

Meanwhile, Dr. Eggman was on his way to Angel Island. He had built a small air force of flying robots especially for a job like this since he had come to steal the Master Emerald again. The robots were white in colour with thin chicken-walker legs, a machine gun on one arm and a missile launcher on the other and they had the ability to fly. There were some variants amongst the squad as well. Some were red with missile launchers on both arms, some were blue with laser cannons instead of a machine gun and some were yellow with rocket launchers on both arms. This squad was defiantly one to look out for, especially since they'd come in large numbers. Alonzo was not impressed with this since Eggman had tried and failed to steal the Master Emerald before so he wasn't sure why Eggman was trying it again. Then again, Eggman never gave up on anything, he always took the old "If at first you don't succeed, try, TRY again." road. If he failed to do something, he'd be quick to try again. Not to mention since the Master Emerald had great power and Eggman would love to use that power for his insidious robot army.

"We're almost there Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman happily "I'll catch that stupid echidna by surprise once I arrive here."

"I bet you will since he won't see it coming." said Alonzo "And by the way, what do you want the M.E. for this time?"

"I want to use its power silly head!" snapped Eggman "Power like that will be a great asset to my city and my army you know. And this time, I'm going to succeed!"

Little did Dr. Eggman know was that Knuckles was lying in wait for him. Since he had been warned about it already, Knuckles was standing on top of the Master Emerald, waiting to make his move. The first of Eggman's air squad flew in to seize the Master Emerald but before it could even touch it, Knuckles leaped into the air and smashed its head in with one powerful punch! Eggman saw this and was so surprised he sweat dropped and his moustache drooped down.

"What the heck?" he screeched "How did Knuckles know I was coming?"

"Um…master. Didn't it occur to you that oh it dunno…Knuckles is the one who GUARDS the Master Emerald!" snapped Alonzo "Since he's always where the Master Emerald is he's bound to see you coming!"

"Well since Knuckles wants to put up a fight I'll be happy to oblige." sneered Eggman "Egg Gunners! Egg Lancers! Egg Stingers and Egg Launchers! ATTACK!" he bellowed.

The whole squadron obeyed his orders and zoomed down to Angel Island to seize the Master Emerald and obliterate Knuckles. Knuckles was not the kind of guy who went down without a fight so he sprang into action. The white robots, which were known as Egg Gunners, surrounded Knuckles and opened fire with their machine guns. Knuckles leaped out of their way, leaving them to accidentally shoot each other and then Knuckles punched their remains off of Angel Island. Pieces of destroyed robots rained down onto the ground below. The blue robots, known as Egg Lancers, tried firing on Knuckles with their much more lethal laser cannons. Knuckles dodged their attacks but one blast caught him off guard and he fell off the Master Emerald and landed on the ground. The Eggman robots moved into seize the giant jewel but Knuckles was quick to recover and he smashed on of the Egg Lancers to pieces with a powerful uppercut.

"Get off the Master Emerald!" he bellowed.

The robot he had destroyed with the uppercut was sent flying into another robot and they both fell out of the sky and landed with a sharp thump on the stairs that led up to the Master Emerald. Other Egg Lancers tried firing again but Knuckles dodged their attacks with ease and punched them out of the sky. Their remains fell down to the ground below Angel Island. Dr. Eggman began to growl furiously.

"I cannot believe it! I'm losing!" he roared.

"Well of course you are!" snapped Alonzo "You need much heavier weaponry then those stupid flying robots you're using!"

"Oh shut up before I throw you out of the Egg-Mobile!" snarled Eggman "Knuckles maybe winning for now but he won't be able to keep it up forever. My robots have come in large numbers so Knuckles will soon be overwhelmed."

As for the fight, more Egg Gunners made an attempt to seize the emerald while Knuckles was fending off some of the Egg Stingers. Since they didn't have hands, they used something else to grab the Master Emerald. They fired cables from their machine gun hands and the cables attached themselves to the emerald. Then with a mighty heave, they managed to slowly lift the giant gem off the ground. Knuckles punched another Egg Stinger and sent it hurtling over the edge of the island and down to the ground. Knuckles turned around to fend off some more robots and saw a squad of Egg Gunners trying to make off with the Master Emerald.

"Oy! You put that down!" he yelled, leaping into the air.

The Egg Gunners saw him coming and fired at him with their missile launchers. Most of the missiles missed Knuckles but Knuckles actually managed to punch one of the missiles and send it flying into one of the Egg Gunners. The robot was destroyed in an instant and suddenly the Master Emerald was now too heavy to carry with the one robot gone. The remaining robots struggled to keep it aloft and Knuckles decided to add insult to injury by destroying another robot with his powerful punches. Now the squad couldn't carry the giant emerald. They tried as hard as they could but their tough cables eventually gave way and snapped. The Master Emerald fell to the ground but since it wasn't that high off the ground, the fall didn't break it or even scratch it. The emerald was still as grand and marvellous as ever. Knuckles, using his sheer strength, hoisted the Master Emerald above his head, carried it up the stairs and put it back where it belonged.

"Eggman! If you want this gem you'll have to get through me first!" yelled Knuckles, punching the air.

"I think that's a good idea." said Dr. Eggman "Robots, forget the emerald! Eliminate Knuckles first and then steal the emerald!"

The robots obeyed and turned their attention to Knuckles only now. The remaining Egg Stingers aimed at Knuckles with their missile launchers and fired at him. Knuckles jumped out of the way of the missiles but the moment the missiles hit the ground, the force of the explosion caught Knuckles off guard in mid air and sent him flying up into the air. Two Egg Gunners flew after him and dropkicked him in midair. Then with one powerful downwards kick, the Egg Gunner sent Knuckles shooting into the ground like an arrow whizzing to its target. Knuckles hit the ground face first. Then, while he was still stunned from the attack, Two Egg Launchers fired some rockets at him. Knuckles managed to recover but he saw the rockets too late and ended up getting blasted by them. Knuckles flew through the air and crashed into a tree. He hit the tree so hard he literally sent it falling to the ground! Pity he forgot to say "TIMBER!" after the tree fell. Knuckles picked himself up and braced himself for another attack.

"I think I might need some back up." said Knuckles "These guys are a bit of a handful."

Back up would have to wait though since the robots were preparing for another attack. Knuckles lunged for them, roaring loudly as he prepared to punch them out of the sky…

Back in Green Hill Zone, Sonic had been taking a jog for two hours straight in an attempt to keep his mind off of those horrible thoughts he was having recently. While jogging he tried to think about something else such as how fast he was running. He even tried thinking about Knuckles fending off Eggman's attacks on Angel Island. And in a desperate act he even tried thinking about how annoying and yet how pretty Amy Rose was. But none of these seemed to work. No matter what he did to keep his mind off of those thoughts, he was still having them. In fact throughout the whole jog around Green Hill Zone, he kept thinking to himself why do forests suddenly give him a feeling of hatred and disgust? He usually loved the sights of Green Hill Zone as he ran through them and suddenly he was finding them horrible. What was up with his mind right now? The suddenly Sonic zipped past a familiar village. He screeched to a halt and zipped back to the village to look at it. It was none other then the village of Knothole, the home of his biggest fan Amy Rose. Suddenly, Sonic began to think something horrible and then said it out loud by accident.

"What a terrible village!" he snorted "It'll look better once I burn it down!"

Then he shook his head furiously and said "Oh my god, did I just say that out loud? What is going on with me?"

What indeed? No one seemed to know, especially Cosmo. Then suddenly Sonic had the throb in his head from before and it was so sharp, sudden and painful he collapsed on the ground.

"Aaaah! What's with the sudden migraine?" he grunted, clutching his throbbing head.

He felt like his brain was going to erupt any moment now. The only difference was, the longer the throb lasted, the more horrid thoughts Sonic was beginning to have. It was almost as if the throb was causing his brain to change in someway or another. Sonic groaned and grimaced as the headache continued. Then after a while, the headache finally died down. Sonic got back to his feet. The only difference is, he was now a very changed hedgehog. He had a very evil menacing look in his eyes and he had evil sadistic thoughts similar to what Marik the Martian has. Sonic glared at Knothole and then said,

"I'm sure this village will look better after I give it a bit of a makeover."

And with that he ran into Knothole and, not taking the slightest bit of care about his speed or where he was going, he crashed through every single house he ran into and because he ran really fast, he crashed through the houses, left a giant hole in the wall and then emerged from the other side of the house. And strangely enough as he crashed through the houses, a sudden feeling of joy was sweeping over him like an ocean wave. In fact Sonic was actually enjoying this destructive course he was having. As he crashed through more houses he thought of one house in particular he wanted to crash through, the house of Amy Rose.

Speaking of the cheerful pink hedgehog, a researcher had arrived to her house with Port, a domed shaped robot that could roboticize people with one blast. Tails had stolen it, set it in reverse and given it to the researchers so they could use it on any Robian they captured to turn it back to normal. Now the researcher had come to use it on Mecha Vanilla to turn her back to normal at long last. Cream and Mech Vanilla had been staying with Amy since they escaped Eggman's city. The researcher activated Port's cannons and they blasted Mecha Vanilla with a brilliant yellow cannon blast. Then in a matter of seconds, Mecha Vanilla was transformed from her robotic self back to her normal self. After the process was completed, Vanilla admired herself with joy, happy to be flesh and blood once again. Cream and Cheese both cheered and hugged Vanilla, happy to see her as her old self again. Amy couldn't help but give them a quick tear of joy. She felt so happy for the rabbit family now they were back together again.

"Well that's that done I guess." said the researcher "Thank you for informing me about this one Miss Rose. Sorry it took so long though, Port was occupied for a few days and it took a while for him to be free for me to use."

"That's OK." said Amy "I'm just glad Cream's got her mother back to normal now."

"Well I'll be off now." said the researcher "I may have other Robians to attend to. Ta-ta!"

And with that he left Amy's house, carrying Port with him.

"So, what are you going to do now you're back to normal?" Amy asked Vanilla.

"Well, I suppose we could go back to our old home." thought Vanilla "But since Cream seems to like you a lot I thought we could move into Knothole so she'll forever remain close to you."

"I think that's a wonderful idea." said Amy "Me and Cream get on like sisters whenever we're together."

Then suddenly something exploded through the wall and came to a halt. The girls were so shocked they almost jumped out off their dresses! After the smoke cleared, Amy got a shock powerful enough to knock her out of her boots.

"Sonic?" she cried "Why did you just burst through my wall like that? Couldn't you use the door?"

Sonic said nothing. He just glared at Amy in a creepy way. Amy could sense Sonic was not his usual self right away. Sonic then began to advance on Amy in a strangely menacing way. Vanilla scooped Cream up and kept her close as they watched Sonic advance on Amy. Amy began to back away, her eyes fixed onto Sonic's evil gaze.

"Um…Sonic? Why are you staring at me like that?" asked Amy "Did I do something wrong?"

Sonic still didn't answer and continued to advance on her. Amy soon found herself backed against the wall. With no where to go, she continued to stare at Sonic, her face full of fear and strangely enough, Sonic seemed to like that look.

"Sonic, what are you doing?" whimpered Amy "Why are you acting like this?"

Sonic still didn't answer. Instead he grabbed Amy by the neck and gritted his teeth at the poor girl.

"HELP!" cried Amy.

Sonic gave Amy a twisted evil grin as he prepared to severely hurt her…

Sonic had been out for a while and Tails was getting worried on where he was, especially since he was not feeling himself recently. So Tails and Cosmo decided to go and look for Sonic and see if he was feeling any better or if his mind was still going awry with horrid thoughts. They searched in some of Sonic's favourite places for a run around Green Hill Zone, especially the loop de loop mountains but the blue hedgehog was not sighted anywhere. Being as he can run fast, Sonic could be anywhere, even on the other side of the world as far as Tails knew but he was determined to find Sonic and make sure he was alright. Tails knew one place Sonic liked to visit and that was the village of Knothole so he and Cosmo decided to go to Knothole and see if he was there. However upon arrival on Knothole, Tails and Cosmo were met with a terrible sight. Knothole looked like a drill had gone through it since every house in Knothole had a giant hole in it.

"Holy galoshes!" cried Tails, almost leaping a foot in the air "What happened here?"

"I dunno." said Cosmo "Maybe we should ask someone."

So the two walked into the wrecked village to ask someone. They came across a female duck in an apron and pigtails who clearly seemed to be cross at the sight of her wrecked home. Tails tapped her on the shoulder and the furious duck turned around to look at him.

"What do you want kid?" she snapped.

"Nothing really." said Tails "Do you have any idea what happened here?"

"Well I was having a relaxing moment in my home when suddenly this blue blur crashes straight through my home and now look at it!" the duck raved furiously "There's a hole in my wall and there's another hole on the other side of the house! Whatever that blue thing was he should really watch where he's going!"

Tails began to have a nasty theory piecing itself together in his brain. Could the duck be talking about Sonic the Hedgehog? No! She couldn't be! Sonic can run fast but he wouldn't just senselessly run into someone's home and make a hole in it. And he's certainly not careless or anything when it comes to running.

"I hope that duck woman's not talking about Sonic." said Cosmo.

"Well Sonic comes to mind whenever someone says blue blur and Sonic is blue and he becomes a blur when he runs so it must be Sonic she's talking about." said Tails "Maybe we should see Amy and see what she thinks."

And with that, Tails and Cosmo headed off to Amy's house which, like herself, was pink with a red roof so it was pretty hard to miss. As they arrived at Amy's house, they noticed a hole on one side, presumably meaning the so-called blue blur had been through Amy's house too. Tails could almost imagine how cross Amy would be if she saw that. Tails knocked on the door. But when the door opened, they saw Cream standing there instead of Amy.

"Oh Tails and Cosmo!" squealed Cream "Thank goodness you're here! Something terrible has happened!"

"Oh no! What?" asked Tails, fearing what Cream had to say.

Cream didn't say anything else, she just led them into the house and into the bedroom. The bedroom, like Amy, was pink. It had pink walls, a pink door and a pink bed with pink sheets (What is up with this girl and the colour pink?). There were several pictures of Sonic the Hedgehog pinned to the wall and one of them had "My Hero" written on it in bright neon green felt. After Cream led Tails and Cosmo into the bedroom they immediately saw something unpleasant. Amy Rose was lying in bed, unconscious and looking terrible. She had been beaten black and blue and was covered with bruises is if someone had just brutally attacked her and held back long enough for her to live. Vanilla was kneeling beside Amy and dabbing her head with a cold wet tissue to make her feel better. Cosmo looked like she was about to hurl so Tails took her out of the room and closed the door.

"What the heck happened to Amy?" shrieked Tails "She looks like she's been in a gang fight!"

"You won't believe me." snivelled Cream, tears starting to trickle down her face.

"Why wouldn't I?" asked Tails.

"Because it's so unbelievable you'll never believe it to be true." sobbed Cream.

Cheese the Chao sort of nodded in agreement.

"Cream, I'm never gonna know if you don't tell me." said Tails "Now please tell me, what happened to Amy?"

Cream just stared at the floor. She didn't look like she wanted to tell Tails the terrible truth. Vanilla decided to answer instead since Cream couldn't say anything.

"I'll tell you Tails dear." she said kindly.

"Nice to see you're not a robot anymore." said Tails politely.

"Thank you." said Vanilla "Now, here's what happened to Amy…"

She paused for a moment and then spoke.

"I have no idea what made him do this but, your friend Sonic the Hedgehog smashed through the wall and for some reason advanced on Amy in a very creepy way and then just…attacked her."

Tails looked like he was going to have a seizure and a heart attack at the same time.

"I'm not kidding." said Vanilla in case Tails denied any of this "Sonic just attacked Amy for no reason and creepily enough, appeared to enjoy it. And after he'd finished he said something like "I hope the other life forms are as fun to beat up as you are." I have no idea what's made him do that. I always thought Sonic was a heroic boy with a heart of gold."

Tails could not believe a word he was hearing. Sonic the Hedgehog had changed from a heroic hedgehog with a passion for freedom and adventure to a straight up sadist with a passion for beating people up? Something was definitely wrong. And it probably had something to do with Sonic's strange thoughts he had been having all day. If the thoughts did have something to do with Sonic's behaviour, how did the thoughts suddenly end up changing his personality? It was almost like the thoughts had corrupted him over time. But how did this happen? Tails was so shocked at what Vanilla had told him he sat down on the red fluffy carpet that lay in the middle of the floor.

"I knew you wouldn't believe it to be true." sobbed Cream.

"It is unbelievable!" gasped Tails "How could Sonic do this to Amy? I was always certain he liked her, a lot. What on Mobius gave him the idea to do this?"

"I have the answer." said an angelic voice.

Cosmo had heard everything from the other side of the door and decided to come in and explain everything. Tails was kind of surprised Cosmo suddenly had the answer to what they were talking about.

"So what's going on with Sonic?" asked Tails.

Cosmo breathed a heavy sigh and slowly said.

"He's been corrupted." she began "When Sonic defeated Marik; he used Marik's own Energy Diamond to defeat him. But he shouldn't have used it because whenever someone who isn't a Martian uses it, a nasty side effect happens. The Energy Diamond's power literally mutates their brain and transforms that person's mind into that of a Martian."

"So you're saying Sonic now thinks like a Martian?" asked Tails "He's basically Marik the Martian in Sonic's body now?"

"Unfortunately yes." said Cosmo, looking down at the floor sadly.

"How did you know that?" asked Cream.

"One of my dad's friends used a stolen Energy Diamond against Marik's dad, Diablo and over time his mind mutated into a Martian mind and he ended up joining the Martian side." explained Cosmo "Dad reluctantly killed him before he killed any of us and we all learned the hard way that using a Martian's own weapon against them does more harm then good."

"Is there a cure?" asked Tails, grabbing her by the shoulders and shouting madly "Oh please Cosmo! There must be a cure! What's the cure?"

"I don't know." said Cosmo sadly "No one knows. Mother wanted to capture Dad's friend and analyze him to see if we could find out how to reverse the diamond's effects but he was too dangerous to contain so like I said before, Dad reluctantly killed him."

Tails let go of Cosmo and stared at the floor. He was about to cry.

"Well, I guess we're doomed." he said sadly "Sonic's doomed to be a peace-hater forever."

"Tails I'm surprised at you!" said Cream in a very uncharacteristically stern tone with her hands on her hips "Don't you dare give up on Sonic like that! Sonic would never give up on you!"

"But Cream, we don't know how to reverse what Marik's stupid diamond has done to him!" snapped Tails "How can we possibly turn Sonic back to normal?"

"I'm sure we'll think of something." said Cream "You're supposed to be smart, you think of something."

"Cream dear that wasn't a very nice way to speak to poor Tails." said Vanilla sternly.

"I'm sorry mother." said Cream.

Tails sat on the carpet, thinking hard on how they could turn Sonic back to normal. Tails knew any attempt to turn Sonic back to normal would be futile since they had no idea on how to reverse the Energy Diamond's effects. Then Tails remembered something. He was the one who never gave up on Sonic when he was transformed into Mecha Sonic and they managed to turn Sonic back to normal then so surely they could turn Sonic back to normal again. Nothing's impossible after all, there was always a way to sort something out. Then Tails suddenly had an idea.

"Hey…I just remembered something." said Tails "There's a lake known as the Lake of Rings that is located in the Great Forest. Maybe one of the power rings it makes can change Sonic back to normal."

"Where's the Great Forest located?" asked Cosmo.

"On the west side of Green Hill Zone." explained Tails.

"And how do we find this Lake of Rings?" asked Cosmo.

"No idea actually." said Tails "It looks just like a normal lake. I'll have to build a tracker that can detect high levels of concentrated energy that the lake gives off when the power rings are made."

"How long will it take?" asked Cosmo.

"Hopefully not too long." said Tails "We'd best get home immediately and get working on that tracker. Cream, I think you should stay with your Mother and look after poor Amy."

"OK." said Cream sweetly.

"Cosmo, after I've built the tracker, me and you will find the lake of rings, get a ring and use it on Sonic." Tails said to Cosmo "And fingers crossed it will work."

"I hope your plan works too Tails." said Cosmo.

Tails nodded in agreement. "Now let's get going!" he cried "Sonic needs our help!"

Tails and Cosmo ran out of Amy's bedroom, into the sitting room, out the front door and off to Sonic's house since Tails had installed a laboratory for himself when he was working on something. After Tails and Cosmo left, Amy suddenly opened her bruised eyes. Tails had woken her up without knowing about it just before he and Cosmo left.

"Did I just hear Tails' voice right about now?" she whispered hoarsely.

"You did dear." said Vanilla "Tails and Cosmo know what's wrong with Sonic so they're going to try and turn him back to normal."

Amy smiled weakly.

"I knew there was something wrong with Sonic." she croaked "I knew he would never attack me like that if he was his normal self."

"I hope they succeed." said Cream "Or Mr. Sonic will hurt someone else."

Amy nodded in agreement. She hoped more then anyone that Tails and Cosmo could save Sonic from the wild animal he had become…

The fight on Angel Island was not going well at all. Knuckles was managing to destroy many robots but there were so many of them so he had trouble keeping up with them. Every time he destroyed one robot, he would get blasted by another. Even though Knuckles preferred to work alone, he knew right now he needed help. In fact he even wished Sonic was here. For now, he had to keep it up and pray for a miracle. As for Dr. Eggman, he just sat back and relaxed in his Egg-Mobile. He was certain Knuckles would succumb to him eventually.

"This is quite the show isn't it Alonzo?" sneered Dr. Eggman "Knuckles is getting overwhelmed by my marvellous gang of robots."

"Oh yes sir." said Alonzo "That emerald is practically ours now!"

"Hey Alonzo, you've given me an idea!" cried Dr. Eggman "Since Knuckles is busy with my robots; we can steal the Master Emerald ourselves!"

"Does the Egg-Mobile have the right attachments to carry it?" asked Alonzo.

"It does indeed." said Dr. Eggman, pressing a button on the control pad.

Two side compartments on the Egg-Mobile opened and an arm came out of each side. These two arms were strong enough to carry five tonnes so a giant green emerald was no contest. Dr. Eggman slowly edged his Egg-Mobile towards the Master Emerald, his giant robotic hands ready to grab it.

Knuckles punched another Egg Gunner to pieces but he ended up taking a rocket from an Egg Launcher. Knuckles hurtled into the air and before he could fall back down to the ground, an Egg Lancer walloped him with a powerful downwards kick and sent him hurtling into the ground. Knuckles groaned in agony as pain flooded through his face. As Knuckles strained to get up, all the Eggman robots landed on the ground and surrounded him. They aimed their weapons at the poor echidna and threatened to fire. Knuckles knew he had been defeated but he knew the Master Emerald was vital to Angel Island. If it fell the results would be catastrophic so he had to keep fighting, no matter the coast.

As for Dr. Eggman, he grabbed the Master Emerald with the Egg-Mobile's powerful robotic hands and lifted it gently off the shrine. He smiled widely at his success but the smile soon left his face. A white blur appeared from nowhere and destroyed the Egg-Mobile's hands. The Master Emerald fell back into the shrine since Eggman had lifted it straight up so it just fell straight back down. Knuckles had seen the white blur attacking Dr. Eggman and he had a feeling on who it was. Dr. Eggman got angry and began yelling.

"Who dares to rob me of my victory?" he demanded.

"I dare." said a familiar smooth sexy voice.

The voice belonged to none other then one of the biggest thorns in Knuckles' side, Rouge the Bat. She fluttered into Eggman's view and smirked at the fat man.

"Did you really think you could steal that precious gem again?" she crowed.

"Rouge the Bat, how unfortunate it is to see you again." said Dr. Eggman "Now get lost! I have an emerald to steal!"

"Oh I don't think so big boy." sneered Rouge, kicking the Egg-Mobile so hard Dr. Eggman and Alonzo almost fell out of it.

"I made a promise that I wouldn't steal the M.E. again so that means I get to help Knuckles to protect it." she said smoothly.

Knuckles was astonished by the fact Rouge was helping him when usually, she played solo. He had to remember to thank his former nemesis once this madness was over. The robots, sensing their master was in trouble, decided to ignore Knuckles and attack Rouge. They took flight and zoomed towards the bat with their guns blazing. Rouge caught sight of them and just merely flew out of their way, causing many robots to crash into each other and fall from the sky. Knuckles punched their remains over the edge of the island. Four Egg Stingers fired their missiles at Rouge but the bat was too quick for them and she flew out of the missiles path. Then she used her screw-kick attack and became a spinning white blur. With one strike on each robot, the robots were destroyed and sent falling to the ground. An Egg Launcher which was still on the ground aimed it's rocket launchers at Rouge and prepared to fire but Knuckles sneaked up behind it and smashed it to pieces with a couple of punches. Dr. Eggman stared at his crumbling squad of robots as Knuckles and Rouge took them down one by one.

"Um…master?" said Alonzo "I think we should…retreat?" he squeaked on the last word, fearing that Dr. Eggman would clobber him.

But instead of clobbering Alonzo for being right as always, Dr. Eggman actually remained clam and turned the Egg-Mobile around.

"I'll get that emerald if it's the last thing I do!" he declared.

"Stupid thing to say sir, what if it IS the last thing you do?" snorted Alonzo.

Since Dr. Eggman couldn't stand Alonzo's rudeness and that little statement just made him even angrier…he threw Alonzo out of the Egg-Mobile. Alonzo fell all the way down to the ground and smashed to pieces. But as always, he somehow managed to put himself back together (Yes, I still don't know how he does it). Dr. Eggman was at least kind enough to come back for Alonzo after the servant bot had put himself back together. Then the two villains flew off back to their base in the Northern Border where they could plot their next scheme.

As for the remaining robots, Knuckles and Rouge had finished them all off. The final move they did involved Knuckles spinning Rouge around and then throwing her into some robots while she did a screw-kick attack on the robots she was thrown at. Now all the robots were defeated, Knuckles tossed their remains over the edge of the island and down onto the ground below. He dusted his hands off and smirked.

"Not as tough as they think they are, are they?" he sniffed.

"Oh hush." snorted Rouge "Eggman would have had your guts for garters if I didn't intervene."

Knuckles was about to argue back but he resisted since he knew Rouge was absolutely right. He was getting his butt kicked until Rouge appeared so Rouge had helped him out a lot.

"Well thank you for your help." said Knuckles "But what made you help me anyway?"

"I just felt like it." said Rouge smoothly "Especially since you're so cute I had to save you from getting your head caved in."

Knuckles went red in the face (not that he can do since he's already red!). He couldn't stand it when Rouge teased him like that.

"Well I hope you didn't stick your nose in just to steal the Master Emerald for yourself." said Knuckles angrily.

"Did those robots batter you so hard you lost your memory?" sneered Rouge "After blue boy saved me from Eggman I promised I would leave that stupid gem alone and I'm a woman of my word aren't I?"

Knuckles knew on the one hand he couldn't trust that bat and she never usually kept her promises. On the other hand Rouge would have taken the emerald off of Eggman and flew off with it if she was trying to steal it again so maybe Rouge was keeping her promise this time round.

"Speaking of blue boy." Rouge suddenly said "My sensitive ears picked up some rumours going around Green Hill Zone."

"What kind of rumours?" asked Knuckles.

"Horrible rumours." said Rouge grimly "If I recall the rumours I heard state that…"

She paused and looked over her shoulder and then whispered into Knuckles' ear,

"Sonic has gone bad."

"WHAT?" shrieked Knuckles. He looked like he was going to go mad "What on Mobius is making people think that?"

"Well according to what I've heard, Sonic barged through Knothole and beat up some girl named Amy Rose." explained Rouge "I have no idea what's giving Sonic the idea to do that, seems very out of character for him."

"Well I think this is a lie." said Knuckles "I'm going to go to Green Hill Zone and see for myself."

"I'll come with you." said Rouge "In case blue boy attacks you and you need back up."

Knuckles glared at the bat.

"I don't need help." he snarled "I'm more then a match for Sonic."

"We'll see about that won't we redhead?" taunted Rouge.

Knuckles ignored the bat's taunts and flicked a warp ring into the air. The warp ring expanded to a size large enough for someone to walk through and Knuckles walked through it. Just before the ring could close, Rouge sneaked through the ring after Knuckles. After all, the bat was secretly fond of Knuckles even though she'd never admit it and she didn't want him to take on someone like Sonic the Hedgehog on his own, especially since the hedgehog has gone rogue, so Rouge was going to help Knuckles if he liked it or not.

Three and a half long hours slowly ticked by as Tails worked his head off on the tracker he was going to use to find the Lake of Rings but he'd finally built it. The tracker was shaped like a big chunky mobile phone similar to those used in the olden days with an antenna that could "point" in any direction and a small screen that would flash if it detected the lake. It was coloured yellow after Tails' own fur colour. Cosmo had spent the long hours just waiting for Tails to build the tracker. When Tails finally emerged from his laboratory, Cosmo was strangely happy to see him as if he'd been gone for a week and he had just returned.

"So have you built the tracker thing at last?" asked Cosmo.

"It took me three and a half hours but I've built it." said Tails, proudly showing it "Now let's go and find that lake."

He and Cosmo left the house and Tails switched the tracker on. The tracker whirred into life and the antenna pointed to the left. The Great Forest was located on the west side of Green Hill Zone so Tails went in the direction the tracker was pointing. To save his legs, Tails took flight but then he thought about poor Cosmo. She couldn't fly and she'd probably get tired running after him so Tails picked Cosmo up by the waist and carried her. In order for him to use both hands, he gave Cosmo the tracker so Cosmo could make sure he was still going in the right direction while flying.

"Which direction is the antenna on the tracker pointing now?" asked Tails.

Cosmo peered at the tracker. The antenna was pointing directly forward now.

"Um, it's pointing straight ahead." said Cosmo.

"OK, tell me if it changes direction." said Tails as he continued to fly.

"OK." said Cosmo.

She was enjoying the feeling of the wind soaring over her as Tails carried her in flight. For a few minutes on end, Tails flew straight forward. If he was running or walking, he'd probably be taking a lot longer to reach the lake then he was now. Then after what seemed like an hour of going straight forward, The antenna on the tracker pointed to the north-east.

"Tails, it's pointing slightly to the right." Cosmo informed him.

"That probably means we need to go North West." said Tails, turning slightly to the right.

The antenna then pointed straight forward so Tails flew straight on. He didn't have to fly far though because two minutes later a lake came into view. The lake was round and at least twenty feet long and twenty-four feet wide. Then suddenly the screen on Tails' tracker flashed, the dazzling light blinding Cosmo for a moment since she was the one holding it. Tails looked down and saw the flashing screen on the tracker.

"I think we found it." said Tails excitedly.

He descended to the ground and put Cosmo down on her feet before landing himself near the edge of the lake. Tails looked at the tracker. The screen was still flashing. The screen was supposed to flash if they found the Lake of Rings and because it was flashing, it obviously meant Tails and Cosmo had found it.

"Now we've found the lake, what do we do now?" asked Cosmo "Ask it nicely for a ring?"

"No silly." laughed Tails "We have to wait until a ring comes up and then we catch it. And that usually takes twenty…four…hours…to…hap…pen." he said slowly, his face fell into despair.

"We have no idea how long we have to wait for the ring now." moaned Cosmo "We could be waiting for hours or even till tomorrow for it to appear."

"Let's just keep our fingers crossed a ring hasn't already appeared and we missed it." said Tails "Otherwise we'll have to wait until tomorrow."

"I don't think you'll be waiting that long because you won't live to see tomorrow!" came a familiar voice with an added growly tone to it.

Tails and Cosmo almost leaped into the lake in surprise. They turned around to see yours truly, Sonic the Hedgehog. He still looked like Sonic only he was now glaring at them in an evil way and his eyes were as black as coal. Tails fought hard to keep himself from shaking with fear but he failed.

"Hello Tails." purred Sonic in a very sinister voice "Out sight seeing?"

"S-s-s-Sonic." stammered Tails "St-st-stay a-a-way f-f-from me."

"Or what?" scoffed Sonic "You'll tickle me to death with those giant paintbrushes that are glued to your butt? You have no chance against a Martian warrior!"

"Martian warrior? Sonic you're a hedgehog you idiot!" snapped Tails "What the heck's the matter with you?"

"He thinks he's a Martian now remember?" said Cosmo "His brain has mutated because of that diamond and now he not only has the mind of a Martian, he thinks he IS one."

"Oh Cosmo." sighed Sonic "I don't THINK I'm a Martian, I AM one! I thought you'd know what a Martian looks like since your wretched kind is at war with them!"

"Sonic! Knock it off!" cried Tails desperately "This isn't you, you're not a Martian and you're not a peace hater! You're Sonic the Hedgehog, the fastest thing alive and my best friend!"

"Oh will you shut up and drown already?" snarled Sonic, pushing Tails so hard, the horrified fox cub fell into the lake with a mighty splash.

Cosmo couldn't believe her eyes. Sonic would never do that to Tails and seeing him do it was a horrifying sight, not that he could help it since he had been corrupted. Tails came back to the surface of the water and splashed about frantically. Sonic picked up a stone and threw it at Tails' head. Unfortunately, he hit him and the stone was so hard Tails passed out and he disappeared under the water. Sonic, since he had the mind of a Martian, was delighted at this.

"And as for you…" he snarled at Cosmo "I think you should get plucked like flowers usually do!"

Cosmo took a step back and found herself near the edge of the lake. She would have fallen in if she took another step back.

"Please, don't hurt me." pleaded Cosmo.

"Why not?" asked Sonic "Peace loving creatures are a waste of space in this galaxy why should I let you live? In fact, you can drown alongside Tails!"

Sonic pushed Cosmo into the lake. Cosmo disappeared from sight under the water. Sonic waited for a moment to see if she would come up but she didn't.

"I know plants like water but even plants can drown." he said to himself "Now I've killed those two ninnies, I'll attack someone else. Hopefully I'll enjoy it as much as I enjoyed beating up that pink idiot I beat up earlier."

And with that, Sonic sped off at his trademark speed. The moment he left though, Cosmo shot up from the surface, gasping for breath. She had Tails' unconscious body over her shoulder. After Sonic pushed Cosmo into the lake, she dived down to get Tails and because the lake was so deep, she had to go down pretty far which explains why she took so long to return to the surface. Cosmo pulled Tails to the bank and hauled him out of the water and onto the grass. After she did that, Cosmo pulled herself out of the lake and coughed a hard spluttering cough. After coughing Cosmo observed Tails' unconscious body. The poor fox just lay there dead as a doornail. Cosmo began to get a bad feeling in her stomach. She began to shake Tails gently in hope of waking him up.

"Tails." she said softly "Oh please wake up."

Tails didn't stir or even twitch. He remained as he was. Cosmo's eyes began to well up.

"Oh Tails, please don't die on me." she begged to herself "Sonic will never forgive himself when he finds out he killed you."

She began to shake his body a bit harder. Tails still didn't do anything. Cosmo felt like she was going to panic. She shook him as hard as she could. While she was shaking Tails, his eyes suddenly started to open but because Cosmo was shaking him so hard she didn't realize it. Then Tails started coughing and that brought Cosmo to a stop.

"Cough! Why is it I'm always falling in a lake and almost drowning?" coughed Tails, remembering the time Nicole had saved him from drowning in a lake****.

"Tails! Oh my gosh you're alive!" cried Cosmo, grasping the startled fox cub into a hug.

Tails was so shocked he couldn't say anything. The girl he secretly fancied was hugging him. Tails felt like he wanted to hug her back but he felt too embarrassed to do so. Cosmo suddenly realized what she was doing and let go of Tails, her face went bright red.

"Um, thank you for saving my life Cosmo." said Tails, full of gratitude.

"Oh Tails I had to." said Cosmo "If we turned Sonic back to normal and you were dead he would never forgive himself."

"Yeah you're right." said Tails "Speaking of Sonic, where's he gone now?"

"Run off to cause more trouble I suppose." said Cosmo and then she suddenly added "What do we do now?"

"We wait for the power ring to come up so hopefully, we can use it to save Sonic from the menace he's become." said Tails "I'll wait until tomorrow if I have to."

And with that Tails sat up and stared at the lake. Cosmo just sat beside him and admired the lake's beauty. Deep inside, Tails was silently praying "Please let a ring come now, we need one badly." As time ticked by, Tails and Cosmo could only wait for the magic to happen. And yet they were also worried about Sonic and what harm he would be causing next…

Speaking of the blue hedgehog, he was running through the Great Forest and heading to Green Hill Zone. Sonic remembered where Empire City, the city where the homeless people of Mobotropolis currently resided, was and in order to head there and cause as much malice as he wanted, he had to make a sharp turn right out of the Great Forest and back into Green Hill Zone and the go straight forward to the under construction Mobotropolis then turn right from there and go straight forward to Empire City. Sonic remembered the directions well unfortunately so he wouldn't have much trouble getting there. His Martian mind thought about all the delightfully evil things he would be doing once he arrived at the city. Sonic came to a sharp corner and he turned to one side and skidded sideways to a halt. The moment he stopped though, he shot on again. He past a brown wooden sign that said "You are now entering Green Hill Zone. Have a nice day!" so this meant he had now left the Great Forest. Now it was just straight on from there to Mobotropolis and once he arrived there he would turn to the right and head straight forward to Empire City.

But Sonic didn't get any further. A few minutes after passing the sign, a warp ring opened up from nowhere in a bright golden flash, causing Sonic to stop dead in his tracks and shield his eyes from the light. Out of the ring stepped Knuckles the Echidna and Rouge the Bat. Knuckles did not seem happy at the fact Rouge just stowed away with him but he decided to let it drop for now. Sonic glared at the two life forms that just appeared out of thin air.

"Oh goody!" he said, grinning inanely "Fresh meat to soften my knuckles on! How lovely!"

Knuckles and Rouge turned around and saw Sonic standing there with a very devilish look on his face. They were pretty taken aback by what Sonic had just said to them.

"What did you just say Sonic?" growled Knuckles, clenching his fists.

"I said, Oh goody! Fresh meat to soften my knuckles on! How lovely!" repeated Sonic, punching his left hand with his right fist.

"Oh yeah, he's defiantly gone bad." said Rouge instantly "I've barely known blue boy and yet I know for sure he would never say something like that."

"Sonic, what's gotten to your head buddy?" asked Knuckles, holding back.

"I'm not your buddy, pal!" snapped Sonic "And nothing's gotten to my head! What's given you that daft idea?"

"Well for starters you're not talking like Sonic." noted Knuckles "You have a devilish look on your face and you seem intent on hurting us."

"Well that's because I am!" yelled Sonic, grinning inanely again and baring his teeth "I will beat you the same way I beat up that pink hedgehog girl earlier! And maybe I'll enjoy it just as much!"

Knuckles couldn't believe what he was hearing. Sonic was suddenly starting to sound like a straight up sadist and thug now. He beat up Amy and he claims to have enjoyed it! This was not like Sonic at all. Sonic may have been cocky and overbearing, but he was not sadistic and he definitely did not beat up any of the good guys. Something was up with him but what? Knuckles raised his fists and bared his teeth.

"Sonic, I'm gonna knock some sense back into you!" he yelled.

"Just try it." sniffed Sonic "I'll only vanquish you. Your strength is no match for an ever alert, well trained Martian warrior!"

Both Knuckles and Rouge gasped together.

"Martian warrior?" questioned Rouge "What the heck is a Martian warrior?"

"Long story." said Knuckles "But I haven't the faintest idea why Sonic suddenly thinks he's a Martian."

"Last time I looked, Sonic boy is a hedgehog." said Rouge.

"Why do you Mobian finks keep thinking I'm a hedgehog?" snapped Sonic "I'm a Martian and in the name of Mars, I will obliterate you and then I'll obliterate this planet!"

"Just try it traitor!" snarled Knuckles "I'm gonna string you up and use you as a punching bag!"

Sonic lunged at Knuckles, roaring like a lion. Knuckles leaped into the air and delivered a massive sucker punch to Sonic's face. The blue hedgehog was sent flying into a tree. He hit the tree so hard it actually fell over! The tree was about to crash down on top of Rouge but the bat managed to fly out of the way just before the tree crashed down on the ground.

"I should have said "Timber!"." sneered Knuckles.

The blow Knuckles delivered to Sonic had been so powerful, Sonic had been knocked unconscious. Knuckles grinned at his knocked out opponent.

"That wasn't much of a fight was it?" he gloated "All I did was one punch and he's out cold!"

"Well you did hit him pretty hard big boy." said Rouge "Makes me wonder why you never hit me that hard when we were enemies."

"Don't tempt me!" warned Knuckles "Now we'd best tie the little maniac up and bring him to the MPD. Hopefully they'll place him under heavy lockdown and everybody will be safe from him."

Rouge chuckled softly and said "I can't imagine Tails being awfully pleased to hear his best friend has gone rogue and insane all at once."

"I'm pretty sure Tails already knows about it." thought Knuckles "Now get something to tie Sonic up with."

"Don't look at me red head, I don't carry rope or anything like that."

scoffed Rouge "And I doubt we're gonna find anything in a forest that we can tie Sonic up with."

"In that case we'll have to bring him in as he is." said Knuckles "Good thing I still have my warp ring." he added, pulling the ring out from his glove "So now I can just warp us to an MPD station."

"I think we should pick the one located in Central City." suggested Rouge "I've heard that's supposed to be top notch in security and lockdown."

"Central City it is then." said Knuckles "Now let's get going."

He bent down to pick Sonic up…only to be met with a sucker punch to the face that was almost as hard as the one he'd given Sonic a minute ago. Sonic had unfortunately come to and he seemed very angry. He'd punched Knuckles so hard the echidna toppled over on his back and dropped his warp ring. Sonic laughed at Knuckles.

"Ha! Got you with your own medicine!" he cackled "How does that feel Knuckle-Wuckle?" he jeered.

Knuckles got back to his feet, clutching his nose and growling like a wolf. Knuckles glared a fiery glare at Sonic.

"That's it Sonic! You're going down so hard you won't know what hit you!" bellowed Knuckles.

"Just try it pea brain!" yelled Sonic challengingly.

The two boys lunged at each other and grappled arms with one another. Sonic and Knuckles began pushing against one another as hard as they could. They were trying to get an edge over each other. Try as they might though, neither one could push on harder then the other could. Rouge decided to intervene by delivering a screw-kick to the back on Sonic. Sonic yelped as Rouge knocked him off his feet. And then before he could get up, Knuckles grabbed Sonic by the quills and threw him straight into a tree. Unfortunately, Sonic lifted his legs up so he hit the tree feet first and then he sprang off the tree with his legs and hurtled straight into Knuckles like a firing arrow. Sonic hit him so hard he knocked Knuckles over and sent him flying backwards about ten feet before the echidna came to a halt on his back. Rouge tried to attack again but Sonic dodged her speedy move and counter attacked with a kick to the face. The bat fell on her side and rubbed her cheek tenderly. Sonic could kick just as hard as she could. The hedgehog laughed at his two opponents.

"If this is all you've got, this fight will be a cinch!" he taunted.

Knuckles and Rouge both got back to their feet and prepared to attack again. Sonic laughed once again and lunged at them…

Back at the Lake of Rings, twenty-five slow, long minutes ticked by and still nothing had happened. Tails was beginning to find himself falling asleep due to the quietness of the forest and the gentle flowing of the slow flowing lake he sat waiting at. Every time he nodded off though, he kept jolting himself awake. If he fell asleep and the ring came he would miss it. Cosmo however, was not falling asleep. She just lay back peacefully on the grass and breathed in the fresh air. The quiet and peaceful nature forest was reminding Cosmo heavily of home and she felt in touch with it just lying in the grass and listening to the voices of nature. She just wished that her home wasn't currently being invaded and her people weren't at war with those stupid Martians. Two minutes later, Tails nodded off once again. Then he jolted himself awake and saw that still nothing was happening.

"I don't think I can keep this up any longer." whined Tails "I'm so bored right now!"

"Well if you're bored Tails then why don't you do something else and I'll watch the lake?" suggested Cosmo, sitting back up. She wasn't too pleased that Tails just disturbed her train of thoughts.

"I dunno." said Tails "I think maybe because I wanna see what happens when the magic rings come out of the lake."

Then suddenly the centre of the lake began to bubble slightly. Hundreds of bubbles formed from the lake and quickly popped. Tails noticed this and stared hard at the centre of the lake. Then bubbling began to increase and soon the lake was bubbling faster then bubbles in a Jacuzzi. And finally, something happened. Out of the bubbling water emerged…a shiny golden ring. Its bright golden glow dazzled Tails and Cosmo and they stared admiringly at it. Seizing the opportunity before he lost it, Tails took flight and flew towards the ring. The ring started to descend back into the water but Tails grabbed it just as it was beginning to submerge under the water. Tails carried the ring back to shore and sighed heavily.

"Thank goodness for that!" he cried "I almost lost it!"

"After what felt like forever, it finally decided to appear." said Cosmo "It was such a good fortune that we arrived in plenty of time to get it."

"Thank goodness we didn't miss it otherwise we'd have to wait until tomorrow." added Tails "Now we have the power ring, let's find Sonic and use it on him. And pray with all your might it works!" he added, crossing his fingers.

"How do we find Sonic?" asked Cosmo desperately "We have no idea where he is now."

"I'll search this place up and down." said Tails "We'll find him eventually."

With that said he handed Cosmo the power ring, grabbed her by the waist, twisted his tails around one another and took flight with Cosmo in tow. He flew away from the peaceful Lake of Rings and flew in search of Sonic the Hedgehog. He hoped the poor, corrupted hedgehog wasn't causing too much trouble…

As for the fight, Knuckles aimed some powerful uppercuts at Sonic but being the speedy hedgehog he is, he dodged every single shot. Sonic then leaped up, spun around and kicked Knuckles in the face. He landed on the ground and elbowed Rouge, who was trying to ambush him from behind, in the stomach. The stricken bat fell to her knees, wheezing heavily. Sonic tried to hurt Rouge again but Knuckles punched him in the back and sent him hurtling into a bush.

Sonic leaped out of the bush in a spin-dash and tried to hit Knuckles but Knuckles caught the spinning hedgehog in his hands. Knuckles strained to hold him back as Sonic's spin-dash move pushed on him hard. Then with a valiant effort, Knuckles threw Sonic as hard as he could and the spinning hedgehog hurtled straight into a tree. He cleaved straight through it and sent the tree tumbling down to the ground with a mighty crash. Sonic cleaved through another tree and sent that one falling down before finally hitting a giant oak tree and coming to a halt. Sonic sprang out of the tree with his legs and landed feet first on the ground. He clenched his fists and growled at Knuckles. Knuckles clenched his fists and got into a battle-ready stance.

"You ready to give in Sonic?" he said, smirking.

"This fight has only just begun!" yelled Sonic "Now is when it really gets going!"

The blue hedgehog span into his spin-dash manoeuvre once again and charged…straight over Knuckles and Rouge and into a tree. He cleaved straight through the tree and brought it falling down with a horrible creaking noise. Knuckles ran for it but Rouge fell over after Sonic ricocheted off of her. The falling tree landed straight on Rouge's legs. The poor bat cried in excruciating pain. That tree was awfully big and awfully hard so you can imagine how much pain Rouge felt after the tree fell on her legs. As well as being in colossal pain, Rouge was stuck fast under the sheer weight of the tree. It would probably take a hundred Mobians to pick it up. Seeing Rouge trapped under the tree brought sheer delight to Sonic's face. Now he could attack her and finish her off and she wouldn't be able to get away. Sonic spun into another spin-dash and propelled himself towards the trapped bat. Before Sonic could hit Rouge though, Knuckles leaped up and punched him away as if he was thumping a basketball away from the enemy player. Sonic landed straight into the ground but he didn't stop. He actually churned his way into the ground and began digging straight down. He was probably trying the old dig-underground-and-pop-back-up-and-attack routine but Knuckles didn't seem to notice. He was trying to free Rouge from the tree. He pushed with all his might on the tree but he didn't have the strength to push it off of Rouge's legs. Then without warning, Sonic appeared from the underground and spin-dashed straight into Knuckles. Sonic landed on his feet and then landed Knuckles with a homing attack. Knuckles punched at him but he missed and Sonic spin-dashed Knuckles again. Sonic, once again spin-dashed at Knuckles but Knuckles leaped out of the way and Sonic hit the tree that was trapping Rouge. Sonic hit it so hard he actually knocked the tree off of Rouge's legs so now the bat was free. The only problem was, the tree had broken both of her legs so Rouge would be unable to kick. Still, she could fly above the ground using her wings and she could still punch. Sonic wasn't pleased at the fact he just freed Rouge but he didn't care. He was going to cause her more pain anyway. Sonic leaped into the air and prepared to land a dropkick on Rouge but Knuckles interfered with an uppercut to the face. Sonic fell back down to the ground. Knuckles panted heavily. He was clearly tired from this fight and Sonic was clearly more of a handful then he thought he was. Sonic got back to his feet and glared at Knuckles.

"Give it up Sonic, no one's going to win this fight!" puffed Knuckles.

"That's what you think!" yelled Sonic.

He then held up something small, round and golden for Knuckles to see. It was his warp ring!

"How did you get that?" asked Knuckles.

"You dropped it after I gave you that sucker punch." explained Sonic "And I swiped it while you weren't looking."

He activated the warp ring. The ring expanded to three times its size. What was Sonic planning on doing? Warping away and causing damage somewhere else? But Sonic did not go through the warp ring, instead he spin-dashed Knuckles in the head and knocked him over. Before Knuckles could recover, Sonic grabbed him by the dreadlocks and tossed him through the warp ring. Rouge followed him through. The warp ring closed and Sonic dusted his hands off.

"I do hope Dr. Eggman takes care of you for me." he sneered.

You see, that's where the warp ring led, straight into Dr. Eggman's base. So now Knuckles and Rouge would be fighting for their lives in Eggman's base. Seeing his enemies defeated, Sonic decided to carry on to Empire City. But the sound of someone calling his name brought him to a quick stop.

"Sonic! Stop right where you are!" yelled the voice.

Sonic turned around and gasped. Tails and Cosmo were standing there and glaring at him.

"Impossible!" shrieked Sonic "You should be at the bottom of the lake and dead!"

"Cosmo saved me." said Tails "Now Sonic, you will surrender yourself!"

"And why should I?" scoffed Sonic.

"Because I have this." said Tails, holding up the ring he'd gotten from the lake.

Sonic stared at the ring in fascination.

"This is a power ring." said Tails "I'll use its power to become more powerful then you can imagine. You want it? Come and get it!"

Bad choice of words though. Sonic charged straight into Tails and knocked the fox over. Tails dropped the ring and Cosmo grabbed it while Sonic wasn't looking. Sonic grabbed Tails by the fur on his chest and threw him into a tree. Tails fell back to the ground and lay there. Sonic found a large rock lying nearby and he picked it up. Tails remained where he was, staring directly at his best friend and frozen with fear. He could tell Sonic was planning to crush him with the rock. Sonic grinned wickedly at the fox and raised the rock above his head.

"Let's see how easily this rock will crush your head!" he said sadistically.

"No! Please, Sonic no!" begged Tails, tears coming to his eyes.

Sonic ignored him and prepared to throw the rock at Tails. Tails, with tears pouring down his face, covered his face in fear. Sonic was about to let Tails have it until Cosmo interfered.

"Leave him alone!" ordered Cosmo "I'll give you the ring if you leave Tails alone."

Sonic happily obliged and put the rock down. He turned away from the terrified fox and walked towards Cosmo, who showed no signs of fear. Tails uncovered his face and was relieved to see Sonic was falling for Cosmo's obvious trick. She was going to willingly let Sonic have the ring and if it worked, he would be back to his old self once again. Sonic walked up to Cosmo and smiled evilly at her.

"You would willingly betray your own people and let me have ultimate power?" he hissed at her.

"There's no point in fighting a battle I can't win." said Cosmo "So I surrender and I'm reluctantly going to let you have the ring."

"Good girl!" laughed Sonic, patting her on the head "I'll be sure to give Diablo your regards once I ruin this planet! I'm sure he'll be thrilled to hear a Seedrian has betrayed her people and is helping us Martians wreck the galaxy!"

Sonic snatched the ring out of Cosmo's gentle hands. But the moment he grabbed it the ring blasted him with a bright golden glow and some sparkling energy buzzed around his hands. Sonic screamed as the ring's energy began to surge up his body. Tails and Cosmo watched this display with interest. Tails crossed his fingers, closed his eyes and whispered to himself "Please work! Please work! Please work!" as Sonic was engulfed by the ring's energy. Then the bright sparkling energy slowly died down and Sonic collapsed to the ground. He appeared to have passed out. Tails and Cosmo ran to his side and knelt down by him.

"Did…did it work?" asked Cosmo nervously.

"I hope so." said Tails worriedly.

Then Sonic opened his eyes. His eyes were now back to their natural green colour. Sonic, with a heavy groan, got back to his feet while clutching his head. He shook his head and mumbled droopily.

"When did I get such a major headache?" he murmured.

"Sonic!" Tails cried with joy "You're back!"

"I'm back?" mumbled Sonic "Where did I go like?"

"Marik's Energy Diamond corrupted you and turned your brain into a Martian brain." explained Cosmo "You ended up thinking like Marik and acting like Marik."

"Holly spin-dashes!" cried Sonic "I guess that explains the horrid thoughts I had earlier. Did I kill someone?" he asked, hoping the answer would be no.

"Nope." said Tails "But you wrecked Knothole and beat Amy black and blue though."

Sonic pulled a funny face.

"Oh no! I wrecked one of my favourite places to visit!" yelped Sonic "And Amy will never forgive me for beating her up when I was corrupted!"

"I'm sure she'll understand." said Tails "Especially since you're you again."

"Yep and it feels good to be back!" said Sonic, flashing his trademark grin and thumbs up sign "The hedgehog is back in business!"

Then suddenly a warp ring opened up and Knuckles leaped out of it and onto Sonic. Knuckles and Rouge had managed to hold off some Eggman robots long enough to activate the warp ring and get back through before they were mince meat. Knuckles looked like he was about ready to kill Sonic now.

"I'm gonna rip you to pieces you bloodthirsty hedgehog!" screamed Knuckles, preparing to punch Sonic.

"Easy Knuckles, I'm me again!" yelped Sonic.

"Yeah!" cried Tails "I used a power ring to fix his mind!"

Cosmo showed Knuckles the power ring. Knuckles relaxed himself and let Sonic get back up.

"Where did you get that ring from?" asked Knuckles.

"The Lake of Rings." said Tails "I thought the rings would be able to restore Sonic's mind back to normal."

"I have no idea how you found that lake but I'm glad you did." said Sonic, giving Tails a smile that suggested "Good job buddy" "Cause now I'm my good old self again."

"I still don't forgive you for breaking my legs." said Rouge, scowling.

"Oh they'll heal." said Sonic "And I apologize for that. I was corrupted. According to Cosmo, it was Marik's Energy Diamond that messed my mind up."

"Of course!" said Knuckles, snapping his fingers "No wonder Sonic was acting like Marik and thinking he was a Martian! How did I not work that out?"

"Maybe because you haven't got a brain." snickered Rouge.

Knuckles growled at the bat angrily whereas Sonic, Tails and Cosmo laughed at him. After they stopped laughing Sonic said

"Now I'm back to normal I'm gonna fix Knothole, apologize to Amy and plan on foiling Dr. Eggman's next schemes once again!"

"About that, me and Rouge kicked his butt out of Angel Island earlier." said Knuckles, grinning.

Sonic laughed at Knuckles' remark.

"I bet he won't try and steal the Master Emerald any time soon!" he snickered "And you know what? Me and you should kick Eggman's butt together sometime soon!"

And with that, everybody else laughed with him.

Footnotes:

 See the previous story

* See the previous story (again)

 See Story 20 for the epic battle between Dr. Eggman and Sonic

* See Stories 8-9 for Eggman's first attempt at stealing the M.E.

 See Story 2

 See Story 14

* See Story 11 (Yes I'm sick of these footnotes!)

Whew! How's that for my first milestone? Martian possessed Sonic is creepy as hell! LOL. And you've got to admit, the Energy Diamond mutating Sonic's mind was quite the plot twist wasn't it? Well get ready for the road to Story 50 is we meet new faces, old faces and partake in new adventures that only Sonic the Hedgehog is cool enough to have! Join me next time as Tails' little spy machine ends up being too useful for his own good. Reviews are welcome.

Also, see spin-off title* Tales from Mobius *for an all new adventure staring Cream and Cosmo coming soon!

Hired Hands Part 1

Story 26: Hired Hands Part 1: Snooping as Usual

Sonic took a deep breath of fresh air and sighed happily.

"Oh yeah, it's good to be back." he said to himself "No more horrid thoughts, Knothole's nicely fixed and I have the perfect gift for a certain pink hedgehog I know."

Sonic raced off through the Great Forest, a large forest near to Green Hill Zone only the Great Forest didn't have any mountains shaped like loop-the-loops, it was just an ordinary forest. Sonic liked the Great Forest just as much as it often offered him a nice quiet place to chill out or have a good hearty jog. This time though, Sonic was looking for a rose bush. He remembered there was one near the Lake of Rings, the very place he was heading. Sonic, in no time at all, reached the lake and skidded sideways to a halt. The Lake of Rings had just made its only power ring of the day and it had risen up from the water. Sonic grabbed a long stick and hooked the ring on it. He brought the ring to himself and stared at its golden gleam.

"How one of these managed to fix my mind when it was messed up I'll never know." said Sonic "But I bet these will come in handy in battle one day."

He didn't have anywhere to put the ring so he just held it in his hand. Sonic walked up to the rose bush that lay a few meters away from the lake. The bush was teaming with red roses. Sonic chose a big gleaming red one in the centre and picked it out.

"How appropriate to give Amy a rose since her surname is Rose." Sonic said to himself with a chuckle.

Now he'd chosen a gift for Amy, he ran off again. In a matter of seconds, Sonic raced into Knothole and screeched to a halt. He had a feeling the citizens might still be a bit nervy of him since when his mind was messed up; he barged through Knothole and made a mess of it. Luckily he'd repaired it pretty nicely and insisted on doing the work himself since he'd wrecked Knothole. Sonic just walked through Knothole and headed for Amy Rose's house. It was pretty hard to miss since unlike the other houses in Knothole; Amy's was pink and red, just like herself. Sonic walked up to Amy's door, put the rose on the doorstep along with a little note he wrote earlier and knocked on the door. Then he zipped off before Amy could answer it. Amy opened the door and looked around only to see no one there. Despite being beaten black and blue the other day, Amy had made a steady recovery and was just as good as new again. She was a bit baffled to see that someone knocked on her door but no one was there. Then Amy saw the rose on her doorstep along with a note.

"Aw a rose." said Amy picking it up and smelling it happily "How funny for someone to give me a rose and my surname is also rose."

Amy picked up the note that came with the rose and read it. It was a bit hard to read due to Sonic's relatively poor handwriting but she managed to read it. It said:

"Dear Amy,

To say sorry for beating you up badly while I was corrupted, I've given you this rose as a token of apology. I hope we can put this messy business behind us and be friends again.

From Sonic."

Amy swooned in the doorway dreamily and happily.

"My Sonic does care for me after all." she sighed dreamily "I wish he was here so I could say to him "Apology accepted"."

She went back inside, singing merrily to herself and closed the door. Sonic, who had been hiding behind a wall had listened to what Amy Rose had been saying to herself and was pleased to hear she was willing to accept his apology. Now that he'd made Amy happy again, Sonic ran off once again. He was now heading to his little home on the outskirts of Green Hill Zone. Sonic looked at the power ring he held in his hand and had a little thought.

"I wonder if this thing can enhance my speed?" he wondered.

He held the ring tightly and thought about going faster. The ring's energy began to pulse up his body and its golden glow became more dazzling and bright. Then Sonic roared down the forest like a speeding bullet. This was an amazing sensation he was having. He'd had never gone this fast before and unlike Marik's Energy Diamond, it wouldn't mess up his brain. Sonic was going to fast everything became a blur whizzing past him as he ran. Sonic had no idea if he had reached home since everything was blurred so he decided to slow down. It's a good thing he did slow down because he almost ran past his house. He screeched to a halt and stared at the ring in his hand. The ring's glow died down and its golden paint job faded into a murkier golden colour. The rings from the Lake of Rings burn out after use so the user has to use it when he/she needs to. Sonic chucked the now useless ring over his shoulder and said;

"Those rings pack quite a punch don't they? I ran faster then I've ever run before! Pity they don't seem to last long so next time I get one, which will be tomorrow since they only come out once a day, I'd best use it when I really need to."

Sonic opened the door to his house and walked inside. Just as he'd expected, he saw his best friend Tails sitting at the desk with a pair of earphones on again. Tails was listening in on Dr. Eggman's conversations once again and he appeared to be finding out a lot as he had a lot of notes written down beside the machine the earphones were connected to. Sonic decided not to bother Tails since he was likely listening in on yet another conversation. Tails was listening very closely to this one and he was writing down more notes on a piece of paper with a black pen. After Tails wrote the notes he took the earphones off and put them beside the machine. Then he gathered all his notes together and turned around in his chair. He was briefly surprised to see Sonic there since he hadn't heard him come in.

"Oh Sonic, you're back." said Tails "What have you been up to then?"

"I just had a run through the Great Forest and gave Amy a rose as a token of apology." said Sonic "Luckily for me; she's willing to forgive me after what I unwillingly did to her."

"I knew Amy would have gotten over your Martian-minded agenda." said Tails "She's crazy over you after all."

"Yeah she is." said Sonic grimly "So, what have you been up to Tails? More spying on Eggman I presume?"

"Uh huh." said Tails "And boy has he got a lot on his mind."

He held up the sheaf of notes he had and flicked through them, reading them as he came to them.

"He's sending a robot strike force to attack the Downunda Royal Fighters and retrieve whatever land Eggman's already lost." he read from one note and flicked on to another "Then he's going to send a strike team to capture Bunnie Rabbot and ransack Megapolis, then he's going to send some robots to Mobotropolis and sabotage the building work so Eggman can rebuild it into his image and finally he's sending a new squad of robots to try and retrieve Grand Metropolis for him."

Sonic whistled in awe.

"That's one busy guy hey Tails?" he said "Just think how unprepared for all those attacks we would be if we didn't find out all those things Eggman's planning. The Royal Fighters would be toast!"

"That's exactly why I built this thing." said Tails, patting the machine tenderly "So we can find out Eggman's move before he makes it and remain one step ahead of the fat guy."

"Have you informed everybody of your discoveries?" asked Sonic.

"I sure have." said Tails "Geoffrey St. John's preparing his team for the robot strike force, the Megapolis Royal Fighters are armed and ready, Team Chaotix are at Mobotropolis, ready to defend it and the Metropolis Royal Fighters are preparing themselves for Eggman's robot squad."

"I bet old egghead's gonna be REALLY mad when he sees his many attack forces crumbling before him because we were ready for them!" laughed Sonic "I fact, I'll join Team Chaotix in defending Mobotropolis. See ya later Tails!"

And with that he rushed out through the door faster then you could open your mouth to speak. After Sonic left, Tails leafed through the notes again and stopped at one that had information about something he couldn't believe he'd forgotten to tell Sonic about.

"What's Project: Metal Sonic?" he wondered to himself.

As for Dr. Eggman, he was watching the performances of his many attack forces in the computer room. The monitors displayed everything the robots saw and Eggman watched them closely.

"Those stupid fighters will be blown to atoms before they can prepare to fight back!" he sneered "I've picked my finest machines for this job and no one will see them coming!"

"Agreed sir." said his snooty, stuck up servant bot Alonzo "I'm amazed how well you've done since your humiliating defeat the other day*."

"I was so close to vanquishing Sonic that day!" groaned Dr. Eggman, remembering the eventful showdown between him and Sonic and how he nearly won but Knuckles stepped in and ruined everything with Sonic helping him "But this time, not even Sonic will see these robots coming!"

"Nice of you to try the subtle approach I must say." said Alonzo "Choosing a moment when the Royal Fighters look like they've lowered their guard and then come in for the kill."

"Yes it was a good idea wasn't it?" purred Dr. Eggman "And we're about to find out how well it's going to work once my robots attack."

Alonzo just nodded. Maybe his master wasn't such a dipstick after all. Maybe he'd finally come up with a plan that was guaranteed to make them victorious. All Alonzo had to do now was stand and watch, then he and Eggman will see how well this plan was going to work.

The Downunda Freedom Fighters had received Tails' message about the forthcoming strike force that had been sent to attack the fighters and reclaim any of the land Eggman had recently lost to them and were preparing to counter attack with a plan of their own. Geoffrey St. John and one of his mates, a sandy brown ferret in a fedora named Gerald were setting up EMP mines that would go of if any robots were detected. The Downunda Royal Fighters had been mostly victorious since Geoffrey St. John had joined up with them and they were not about to let Dr. Eggman defeat them and take over the country. After Geoffrey planted the last EMP mine, he and Gerald ran for cover behind a rock and waited for the show to begin. Gerald pulled some binoculars out and kept watch.

"That Eggman bloke's gonna get a right surprise when his bunch of metal heads arrive and get their circuits fried by the mines." said Geoffrey, snickering.

"I wonder how does Sonic's friend Tails know what Eggman's up to?" said Mr. Staffer, another Royal Fighter for Downunda.

"No idea mate." said Geoffrey "I look forward to meeting the young fella once I'm free to return to Mobotropolis."

"Hopefully after this attack, you will be free to return." said Mr. Staffer.

"Oi mates!" cried Gerald "Eggman robots at something o' clock!"

Geoffrey and Mr. Staffer poked their heads around the corner to see, surely enough, Eggman's squad of robots he'd sent to Downunda. The squad consisted of small flying hover-bots with machine guns equipped underneath their wings, small egg-shaped robots armed with blasters or lances and shields and larger robots that wielded enormous shoulder cannons. The squad could easily have taken the Royal Fighters out if they weren't already prepared. The Royal Fighters remained hidden as Dr. Eggman's attack squad stomped or hovered closer to the mines. The moment they were within two feet of the mines, the mines went off and the robots were engulfed with a brilliant flash of blue and white electricity. The Royal Fighters peeked out from behind the rock to watch the robots get electrocuted. The robots wailed a electronic wail as the EMP mines did their work. Then they all collapsed onto their backs and the hover-bots fell to the ground with a smash. The EMP mines had short-circuited every single one of the robots in the squad and now they would never work again unless Dr. Eggman repaired them. So Eggman wouldn't be able to repair them, the Royal Fighters charged at the dead robots and tore them to pieces with whatever weapon they had. They would then use the spare parts to make new weapons or vehicles for the Royal Fighters Service to use.

"I dunno why but I really enjoy tearing robots to pieces." Geoffrey said to himself as he used a small machete to chop any robot's limbs off "Maybe it's because they break so easily."

Dr. Eggman was so gobsmacked he could do nothing but sweat-drop and stare wide eyed at the monitor that showed the Downunda squad. His eyes had opened so wide even his glasses couldn't fully hide them. Alonzo thought he was about to malfunction very violently.

"WHAT IN THE NAME OF ROBOTROPOLIS JUST HAPPENED?" bellowed Dr. Eggman.

"Um…I think skunk boy and his cronies just trumped your squad sir." said Alonzo quietly.

"But how did they see that coming?" shrieked Dr. Eggman "I made sure I picked the exact moment it looked like they were unaware of anything and sent the squad!"

"I dunno about you master but I think something strange is going on around here." said Alonzo, putting his three-fingered hand to his chin "I have a sneaky theory on what that strange thing is but I'm not going to say anything."

"Why not?" demanded Eggman.

"We'll see if this continues and if it does, I'll tell you what my theory is." said Alonzo.

"Alright." said Dr. Eggman, turning back to his computer monitors "Downunda may have seen me coming, but Megapolis won't!"

Actually, Megapolis will see Eggman coming because after Tails had informed Thomas Tiger, leader of the Megapolis Royal Fighters that Eggman was planning to ransack the city and kidnap Bunnie Rabbot, he had told Bunnie to lie in wait for whatever Eggman sent and then blast them to pieces with additional fire power provided by the Megapolis Royal Fighters. Bunnie Rabbot hid on top of a high reaching rocky cliff and waited until Eggman's attack arrived. She had deployed her arm cannon and was ready to fire.

"Ah really oughta thank that Tails for warning us in advanced about Eggman comin' and tryin' to kidnap little ol' me as well as ransack Megapolis." Bunnie said to herself "The nerve that Eggman has!"

As for Thomas and his group, they were lying low and waiting patiently for Eggman's arrival. They were armed with muskets and rocket launchers, the perfect weapons for destroying robots.

"Wait for it chaps." said Thomas as he primed his own musket for fire "When Bunnie begins firing, we fire, understood?"

"Yes Thomas." said the squad in unison.

Back on top of the cliff, Bunnie's sensitive long ears picked up the sound of approaching robots. Bunnie turned to the left and saw some very large robots with very large arms. These robots were duplicates of an earlier robot named BI-CEP whom Sonic had encountered at Eggman's circus park some time ago. These robots had powerful steel arms and they looked like they could easily smash something to pieces and bring down Bunnie Rabbot so it was a good idea Tails had found out about this and warned them about it. Bunnie kept her arm cannon ready and waited until the BI-CEP drones were directly underneath her. The robots moved slowly so it took them a while to get there but they eventually got there and Bunnie Rabbot opened fire on the large armed robots. She blasted them off their feet and sent them falling flat on their faces. The moment Bunnie had fired, Thomas and his squad opened fire on the BI-CEP drones. Their muskets didn't do much damage to them but the rocket launchers did much better. The squad fired the rocket launchers, the rockets zoomed too their targets and blew the BI-CEP drones to tiny little pieces. Bunnie Rabbot flew down from the cliff to see if the robots were all destroyed. All that remained of the squad of BI-CEP drones were smoking remains and chunks of debris.

"Alright!" cheered Bunnie "We blasted them darn bots to tiny little fragments!"

"Job well done I must say." said Thomas, putting his musket down "Our timing was perfect and they all crumbled like sandcastles before us."

"That Eggman ain't getting me today or any other day!" declared Bunnie "So he can try as hard as he wishes, we'll just destroy his robots again!"

And with that, the Megapolis Royal Fighters joined in with her cheering.

Dr. Eggman and Alonzo watched that little performance with astonishment and they couldn't believe what had just happened. Dr. Eggman looked like he was going to have a mental breakdown.

"How the heck did Bunnie and the others know when your robots would show up?" screeched Alonzo "They couldn't possibly have known that early!"

Dr. Eggman merely thumped the arms of his chair and grumbled.

"Once is an accident, twice is coincidence but the third time's the charm!" he muttered "There's defiantly something strange going on."

"I agree." said Alonzo "And I have a feeling the Mobians in Mobotropolis might end up knowing when your attack force will show up and then they'll destroy them."

"We'll have to see if you're correct." said Dr. Eggman "But I sincerely hope you aren't."

"I sincerely hope I'm not too." said Alonzo agreeably.

Well Alonzo better stop hoping he's wrong because he's absolutely right. Team Chaotix, which consisted of Vector the Crocodile, Espio the Chameleon and Charmy Bee, were hiding in the outskirts of Green Hill Zone so that when the robots arrived to attack the still unfinished New Mobotropolis, they would have them. And Espio would add insult to injury because he's invisible so no one will see his attacks coming. The three boys waited ever so patiently for Eggman's attack force to come.

"I really wonder why Eggman would want to attack a city that's still under construction?" thought Vector.

"Maybe he wants to rebuild it into his image." suggested Espio, pulling out his shuriken and turning invisible.

"I bet Sonic wouldn't like that." said Charmy "After all, he used to live in Mobotropolis."

"You're right on that Charmy." said Vector "We will make sure that Dr. Eggman will not get his hands on that city."

Then something unexpected came out of nowhere in a blue flashing blur. Then the blue blur skidded to a halt in front of Team Chaotix's hiding place, which was behind some large bushes. It was none other then Sonic the Hedgehog. Team Chaotix smiled at him.

"Hey Sonic!" cried Vector "I bet you came to join in the fun didn't you?"

"I sure did croc-boy." said Sonic, giving Team Chaotix a thumbs up "After Tails informed me of what he found out I just had to join you three in saving my home city from Eggman."

"Well that's convenient." said Espio "That way, victory is insured for us."

"Who said that?" said Sonic, looking around only to see nobody.

"It's only me." said Espio "I'm invisible so you won't be able to see me."

"Oh of course." said Sonic "I forgot chameleons can do that. I bet that invisibility of yours is very handy at times Espio."

"It is, especially when I'm in battle or when I need to sneak up on somebody." said the still invisible Espio.

"Sometimes he creeps up on Vector while he's invisible and scares the daylights out of him" giggled Charmy "It's so funny when he does that!"

Sonic laughed too. Vector grumbled to himself but he said nothing. He turned around to see if anything was coming. Good thing he did turn around to see if anything was coming because something was coming. Eggman's attack force had arrived. The attack force simply consisted of marching Egg-Pawns and hover-bots. Egg Pawns were small squat robots that carried a variety of weapons ranging from guns to lances and even hammers. They also had shields. The hover-bots were similar in shape to the Egg-Pawns but they had wings instead of arms and legs. They wielded blaster cannons or bombs that were stored on the underbelly of the bots. Sonic snorted with laughter.

"Is that REALLY the best Eggman can give us?" he chortled "I don't think he's even trying now! I bet I didn't even need to come over and help!"

"Even I think that." said Vector "But since you're here, you may as well help us."

"Attack when I give the signal." said Espio, raising his shuriken and getting ready to throw it.

"What signal?" asked Sonic.

"Espio will throw his ninja stars at an Eggman robot and once he does, we attack." said Vector.

"Got it." said Sonic, couching down low behind the bush so the robots wouldn't see him.

Eggman's attack squad marched onwards towards the end of the forest. Once out of the forest, they would kill all the builders and rebuild Mobotropolis into Eggman's image. However, they would get no further. Espio threw his shuriken at the first Eggman robot and the moment it hit, the robot exploded. That was the signal to attack. Sonic jumped out from behind the bush and homing attacked some of the hover-bots. The hover-bots were instantly destroyed and sent falling to the ground. Vector charged at some Egg-Pawns and chomped on their arms. One Egg-Pawn tried to blast him but Vector swung around and threw the Egg-Pawn he had in his mouth into the Egg-Pawn that was shooting at him. Another Egg-Pawn tried to skewer him with his lance but Vector grabbed the lance with his giant jaws and yanked it out of the robot's hands. Then Vector impaled the lance into the robot's chest, killing it instantly. Espio threw several shuriken at some Egg-Pawns that were trying to shoot Vector and Sonic and the robots were blown up instantly. Some Egg-Pawns detected the threat and tried to attack but they couldn't see Espio being as he was invisible. As for Charmy Bee, he charged into the robots head first and did some damage to them due to how powerful his charge was. His helmet protected his head from the impacts luckily. A hover bot tried to blast the bee but Charmy flew to the hover unit and punched it, sending it wobbling away and then he charged into it, bottom first this time. His sting did some superficial damage to the robot and brought it crashing to the ground. As Charmy laughed at the downed hover-bot, an Egg-Pawn appeared from behind and tried to skewer him with its lance but Sonic spin-dashed it.

"Sorry but I'm taking "Bee on a stick" off the menu!" he said to the destroyed robot.

"Thanks Sonic." said Charmy.

Sonic nodded at him and spin-dashed another Egg-Pawn. Vector punched an Egg-Pawn so hard it became embedded into the ground. The robot was stuck fast and was not getting out of this in a hurry. Vector punched it again, this time, crushing its head after he punched it. Espio finished off the last of the hover-bots with his shuriken and Sonic spin-dashed the last remaining Egg-Pawns. Eggman's attack force had been swiftly reduced to tiny pieces.

"That was fun! Let's do it again!" cried Charmy, dancing about in midair.

"We've destroyed them all Charmy so we can't do it again." said Espio, turning back visible.

"Aaaaw!" moaned Charmy.

"Don't worry, there'll be more Eggman robots to come some time soon and then we can destroy them all over again." Vector reassured him.

"OK." said Charmy.

"Well I enjoyed that." said Sonic "Mobotropolis is safe once again."

"So, where will you be going then?" asked Vector.

"Back home." said Sonic "I wonder if Tails has found anything else out."

And with that he raced off, sending a gust of wind blowing past Team Chaotix. Seeing as their work was done, Team Chaotix decided to return to Stardom Village and await their next case. They hoped that everybody else was doing as well as they were elsewhere.

Dr. Eggman and Alonzo had watched the whole battle between Sonic, Team Chaotix and the robot squad and they were horrified. Especially Alonzo since his prediction was correct. Dr. Eggman went wild with rage and leaped out of his seat in rage.

"THAT'S THE LAST STRAW!" roared Dr. Eggman, shaking his fists "THIS IS GETTING FAR TOO WEIRD! IT'S LIKE THOSE BLASTED MOBIANS KNOW MY EVERY MOVE BEFORE I MAKE IT!"

"I agree." said Alonzo "That was way too much of a coincidence for Team Chaotix to just suddenly happen to be in the exact same place you were sending the squad."

"So Alonzo, are you ready to tell me your theory yet?" asked Dr. Eggman "And I bet it's the same theory I'm having."

Alonzo cleared his throat and said slowly.

"I think, my dear master…" he paused and looked around to see if no one was watching. All clear so he continued.

"I think there's a spy in the works." he said.

"Funny enough Alonzo, I was thinking the same thing." said Dr. Eggman "There must be someone spying on me and informing those wretched Royal Fighters so they'll be ready for me."

"But who could this spy be?" wondered Alonzo "Definitely not Sonic, spy work is too subtle even for him."

"Well it must be one of his friends or something like that." said Dr. Eggman "Or even…one of my own robots is spying on me!" he shrieked.

"Well don't look at me you bloated buffoon!" snapped Alonzo "I'm no spy! I was created to serve you, not spy on you and give the information to the enemy!"

"Why would I even suspect you in the first place Alonzo?" sniffed Eggman "You haven't got the nerve to betray me! Until I find out who this spy is, I'd better not send out any more robots. I'll cancel the attack on Grand Metropolis too since the Mobians there are likely lying in wait for me."

So Dr. Eggman pressed a button on the control pad that told the robot attack squad set for Grand Metropolis to abandon their priority and standby for the time being. After that was done, Dr. Eggman sat back in his chair and put a hand to his chin in thought.

"We need to find out who this spy is and strike before the spy strikes again." said Dr. Eggman "But how am I going to find out who they spy is?"

"You could send out a spy probe to find out who the spy is." suggested Alonzo.

"Or you could hire someone especially skilled at this kind of stuff to do it." said an unfamiliar feminine voice that appeared to come from the ceiling.

Dr. Eggman and Alonzo were startled by the sudden voice from nowhere and they turned around and looked up at the ceiling. A shadowy figure was clinging on to the ceiling and it appeared to have a tow cable sprouting from its belt. The figure leaped off the ceiling and lowered it's self down to the floor. It landed and it put the tow cable away. The figure was a female skunk dressed in an olive green suit that covered her whole body. She also wore silver arm pieces, forest green boots with black soles, a backpack, a chest plate with added shoulder pads, a belt with a triangular buckle and two gun holsters and a helmet with a black visor. Her long flowing white hair peeped out from behind the helmet and her tail poked out of her outfit. Dr. Eggman was surprised at the arrival of such a dressed up woman but on the other hand, it was still a Mobian so he let it slide.

"Guards, get that Mobian!" he ordered.

Two robots appeared on either side of the skunk girl and prepared to grab her but the girl whipped out two handheld pistols and swiftly blasted the robots in the chest. The two robots collapsed to the floor. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo were speechless to say the least. The girl put her blasters away, removed her helmet and tucked it under her arm. Her face looked very much like Geoffrey St. John's only more feminine like with hazel eyes and she had a single black stripe under her left eye.

"The name's Lola Gunn." said the girl "And I've come here to help you with your thorny problem, not to fight."

"Well that's unusual." said Alonzo to Eggman "A Mobian that's willing to help us! I think we should let her help us don't you master?"

"Hold on a moment." said Dr. Eggman. "So my dear Lola," he said to Lola "Why are you willing to help me? Don't you know who I am?"

"I do know who you are fatty." said Lola in a deadpan tone "You're the crazy Dr. Eggman guy who wants to take over Mobius, as if I care."

"So why are you willing to help the one person who is trying to doom this planet?" asked Dr. Eggman.

"I'm a bounty hunter, the best there is on Mobius." explained Lola "I kill for profit and I enjoy it oh so much. I will be willing to help you find out who's spying on you and kill him or her for you, IF you're willing to pay."

Dr. Eggman put a hand to his chin for a moment and then said "Me and Alonzo will decide on that now."

His chair rotated around so Lola couldn't see him. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo gathered together and began whispering quietly to one another.

"Master, are you sure we can trust that woman?" whispered Alonzo.

"If she kills for money, I'll be willing to trust her." whispered Dr. Eggman "She maybe able to find out who the spy is and eliminate it."

"But how are you going to pay her?" asked Alonzo "You don't have money on you!"

"I'm NOT going to pay her." hissed Dr. Eggman "Once she's done the deed I'll have her destroyed."

"How did I not see that coming?" mumbled Alonzo.

Dr. Eggman and Alonzo stopped talking to one another and turned back around to face Lola, who appeared to be staring at her fingers for some reason.

"Lola my dear, after much deliberation." said Dr. Eggman "We've decided to hire you to destroy the one who is spying on us."

"How much are you willing to pay me then?" said Lola, looking up at Eggman.

"1,000 Mobiums." said Dr. Eggman.

Mobiums is the currency of Mobius and Dr. Eggman obviously didn't have any Mobiums. Lola snorted at Eggman and whipped out a pistol. She pointed it straight at Eggman's face and said.

"That's nowhere near enough you walking boulder. You must pay me 150,000 Mobiums, no less. I don't work for free you know."

"Very well, 150,000 Mobiums it is." said Dr. Eggman nervously "I'll pay you as soon as you've killed the spy. And maybe you'd be willing to kill someone else for me too."

"Who might that be then?" asked Lola.

"Would you happen to know Sonic the Hedgehog by any chance?" asked Dr. Eggman.

Lola snorted.

"Of course I know that blue moron." she snapped "He's the over hyped big hero of this stupid world and I'd love to shoot him if someone hired me for it."

"Well after you've killed the spy, you can kill Sonic the Hedgehog for me too." said Dr. Eggman with a big smile on his face "And I'll pay you 250,000 Mobiums if you do so."

Lola pretended to consider this offer and then said in a low soft voice "I like the sound of that. I think I'm going to enjoy working with you Dr. Eggman. You'll make me richer then I've ever been in my life. No one I've worked for has ever offered me so much glorious money before!"

"In that case you'd better get a move on!" shouted Dr. Eggman "I must have that spy dead now!"

"Keep your hair on tubby!" snapped Lola "I only work at night. Night time's the best time to strike since no one can see me and the victims will be unprepared for my attack."

"Very well." said Dr. Eggman "I suppose I can wait that long. Thank you ever so much for offering to help rid myself of a big danger that threatens my downfall Miss Gunn."

"Don't you dare call me Miss Gunn!" snarled Lola, pointing the pistol at Eggman's face again. "Just call me Lola."

"OK I'm sorry." said Dr. Eggman sweat dropping "Thank you for your services and I look forward to paying you tonight."

"And I look forward to seeing my cold hard cash." said Lola "Bye, bye Egghead."

And with that she left the room. After she left, Dr. Eggman turned his attention back to the still flashing computer monitors.

"That Lola Gunn person certainly isn't very bright is she?" he said to himself "She should know better then to trust someone like me!"

"I can almost imagine the look on her face when you order your robots to destroy her when she asks for her money!" said Alonzo with delight.

"She'll rid me of Sonic and the spy and she won't be getting a single penny from me, because I have no money!" cackled Dr. Eggman.

He and Alonzo began laughing loud enough to bring the house down.

Meanwhile, Tails was outside and working on his next big project. He was building a blue bi-plane with four rings, a propeller and Sonic's name on it as well as few symbols of his tails on the tail fin and wings. The reason Tails was building a plane is so he and Sonic could get to really far away places a lot quicker and a lot easier. He was trying hard to make sure the plane was fast and durable so it could withstand heavy attacks and manoeuvre really quickly to avoid being shot at. Not to mention Sonic always liked going fast. So far Tails was only on the layouts stage where he was working out which piece goes where and what would be the best engine to make the plan go. As Tails worked, Sonic sped past him. He skidded to a halt and ran back up to Tails. Tails looked up from his work and smiled at his best friend who seemed so full of energy and excitement right now.

"Hey Tails, you missed the B.S.T.E.!" exclaimed Sonic.

"B.S.T.E.?" questioned Tails.

"Best Squad Thrashing Ever!" said Sonic with heaps of excitement surging up his body "Me and Team Chaotix sent that squad of Eggman robots to the scrap heap in a matter of moments! I can almost picture Dr. Eggman's furious face right now! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

Tails laughed with him as he pictured Dr. Eggman pounding the control pad in rage and stomping about and throwing tantrums like a little baby.

"And we all know who we have to thank for that." said Sonic "If it weren't for your brilliant idea to spy on Dr. Eggman, none of this would be possible so I think you're even more of a hero then I am. You've saved dozens, probably hundreds of lives just by snitching on Dr. Eggman and warning everybody in advance about his nefarious plots! So I think you should take all the credit for this little buddy."

Tails blushed with pleasure.

"Oh Sonic, I'm not that much of a hero." he said bashfully.

"Oh come on Tails, don't start with the low self esteem nonsense." said Sonic sternly "You've saved more lives then I ever could by finding out what Dr. Eggman's up to and giving everybody the heads up. Surely you can take the praise for once?"

"OK I will." said Tails "But I don't want to become as popular as you though. I prefer to be, you know, just normal and all that, not very famous like you are."

"I guess that's reasonable." said Sonic "So, what are you up to then?"

"I'm building a plane that I can use to battle Eggman's forces and fly us to faraway places in a jiffy." explained Tails "I'm gonna make it so it can go really fast so it suits your tastes."

"Sounds cool." said Sonic "I always wondered what it would be like to fly. Even though I sort of found that out when I was Super Sonic that one time."

"Yeah you had the ability to fly when you were Super Sonic." said Tails as he did some more work on the layouts "I wonder if you'll ever be able to become him again."

"Maybe I might be able to become him again." said Sonic "But why would I need to? With you spying on Dr. Eggman and the Royal Fighters being about ten steps ahead of Dr. Eggman, we'll send him packing before you know it!"

And with that, the two boys laughed half heartedly. Unfortunately for Sonic and Tails, Lola Gunn happened to be passing by whilst looking for the spy and ended up eavesdropping on their conversation. She had hidden behind a tree and listened to every word that had been spoken. After hearing Sonic say "With you spying on Dr. Eggman" to Tails, she instantly pulled out a communicator and switched it on. She crouched down low so it would be hard to see her behind the tree and whispered into the communicator.

"Hey Eggman, I've found the spy." she hissed to Dr. Eggman in the communicator.

"Excellent work Lola!" cheered Dr. Eggman "I trust you'll terminate the spy at nightfall?"

"It will be done, and you'd better have my pay check ready or I'll kill you too." warned Lola.

"It is ready!" lied Dr. Eggman "Me and Alonzo are counting the money now!"

And with that, he pretended to count something by saying a few numbers.

"One…two…three…four…"

Lola was fooled by this fake act and she switched the communicator off. She hooked it back onto her belt and watched Sonic and Tails closely. Her beady eyes stared at them from behind the helmet's black shiny visor.

"I've found the spy AND Sonic the Hedgehog at the same time." she purred to herself "If they're both together by the time night falls, I'll have them BOTH and all in one night! I'm such a lucky girl sometimes aren't I?" she sneered, rubbing her hands greedily.

Night time was going to be a time she would be eagerly awaiting from then on. Sonic and Tails would not stand a chance against her cunning, subtlety and weaponry. They'd be dead before they even realized what they were up against.

Sonic and Tails spent the rest of the day building the plane which Tails had decided to name the Tornado. By nightfall, they'd managed to build half of the plane's underbelly. It was coming on well so far but unfortunately, they had to stop since it was night time and they need their sleep so Tails stored the half built plane underbelly in the garage that was attached to the left side of Sonic's house. After storing the plane away, Tails closed the garage door and stretched.

"Oh I could do with a good sleep right now." he yawned "Building is hard work after all."

So Tails went back inside the house to go to bed. Sonic was not home right now. He had zipped off to the shops to get Tails a new spanner since Tails had accidentally broken his old one earlier today. The nearest shop was in Knothole so luckily, Sonic wouldn't be gone long. Tails kicked his shoes off and climbed into bed. He pulled the duvet over himself and closed his eyes. As he started to drift into sleep, he began thinking on what plans Eggman had next.

Another thought then suddenly bugged him. Project: Metal Sonic. What did that even mean anyway? Was Eggman making a robot that looks like Sonic to fight him or something? Tails would have to investigate this scenario further. And why did he keep forgetting to tell Sonic about Project: Metal Sonic? Maybe because he didn't want Sonic to start thinking about Mecha Sonic. As those thoughts circled around his head like goldfish in a bowl, Tails soon drifted off into a much needed sleep.

Outside however, Lola Gunn was watching the fox from behind the window. She had been waiting for Tails to fall asleep and it seems like he finally has. Lola pulled on her backpack straps and lowered her arms to let it slide off her back and onto the ground. She unzipped the backpack and began rummaging about for something. She pulled out two halves of a really long chrome rifle and a packet of toxic darts. She opened the bag of darts and took one out. Then she clipped the barrel of the rifle and the handle of the rifle together to make it a whole rifle. Then she slipped the dart into the rifle barrel and primed the rifle.

"That kid is so cute when he's asleep I almost feel bad about this." Lola said sarcastically "But I'm in it for the money so why do I care?"

She opened the window very slowly so she wouldn't wake Tails up. After opening the window she rested the rifle on the windowsill and aimed at Tails' neck which luckily for her, wasn't covered up by the duvet. Then Lola fired the dart! The dart rocketed out of the rifle barrel with a silent bang and plunged into Tails' neck. The sudden sharp prick of the dart jolted Tails awake instantly. Lola ran off. Tails sat up in bed and felt his neck. He felt the toxic dart and pulled it out of his neck.

"What is this?" he cried "Is someone trying to kill me? Who fired this at me?"

He looked at the open window only to see no one there. Tails was suddenly baffled at the fact the window was open even though he didn't open it before he went to bed. This could only mean one thing. Someone had opened the window and fired the dart at him. But who?

Lola retrieved her backpack, put it back on her back and ran off with the rifle still in her hands. She cackled to herself.

"Yes! One down and one to go!" she cheered.

She didn't run far though. Sonic the Hedgehog had returned from the shops with a brand new spanner for Tails and he saw Lola running away from his house. He spin-dashed straight into her stomach and sent her flying into a tree. The bounty hunter got back to her feet and glared at Sonic from behind the helmet's visor.

"Who the heck are you and what are you doing snooping around my place!" demanded Sonic angrily.

"The name's Lola Gunn." said Lola, picking up the rifle and aiming it at Sonic's face "And I am a bounty hunter. I've been hired to kill the one spying on Dr. Eggman, and you."

Before Sonic could say anything, Lola pulled the trigger and sent a brilliant laser blast hurtling towards him…

Footnotes:

 See Story 20 for a showdown you'll never forget

* See Story 18 for Eggman's Egg-strodinary Circus Park

 See Story 15 for Super Sonic's cracking debut

The clock ticks as Tails' life begins to seep away! Is this the end of poor Tails? Or can Sonic find a cure for Lola Gunn's toxic dart? Read and Review. Also, see the spin-off title* Tales from Mobius *for The Cosmo and Cream Adventure which takes place during this story and the next.

Special thanks once again goes to Kratos Pwns for being a dedicated reader. I'm really glad you're enjoying it. :)

Hired Hands Part 2

Story 27: Hired Hands Part 2: Bounty on the Head

Sonic leaped out of the way in a perfect rainbow arch and the laser blast just singed the grass slightly. Lola growled in frustration and tried to shoot Sonic again. Sonic dodged the rifle shot again. Lola kept shooting madly at him but Sonic kept dodging the shots without breaking a sweat.

"Keep still you miscreant!" snarled Lola as she kept trying to shoot him.

"I think not!" yelled Sonic.

He spin-dashed straight into Lola and snapped the rifle in two as well as give her a good hard whack. Lola tumbled backwards in roly-poly fashion and landed on her stomach. Her helmet had fallen off too, revealing her rather pretty face. Sonic stood in front of her with his foot on her helmet. He glared at her.

"OK Miss Trigger-Happy what were you doing around my place?" demanded Sonic "If you've hurt Tails you'll be sorry you were born!"

Lola glowered up at Sonic but gave him a villainous smirk.

"I've shot him with a toxic dart." she said "That boy will be as good as dead in one hour's time."

Sonic felt like somebody had shot him through the heart. Tails had been poisoned and was going to die in one hour? That did it; Sonic lost his temper and went into another spin-dash.

"You creep!" he yelled "I'm gonna spin-dash you so hard people can use you as a carpet!"

He charged at Lola but the female skunk leaped out of his way and whipped out her twin pistols. She held them both sideways and began rapidly shooting at Sonic. Sonic ran around her as Lola tried to blast him with her two pistols. However since Sonic was running circles around Lola, Lola had to constantly spin around in an attempt to blast Sonic away. After a minute of doing this, Lola began to feel extremely dizzy and she fell to the ground in defeat, dropping her two pistols. Sonic quickly scooped the pistols up and smashed them to pieces by stomping on them.

"Man I hate guns!" he said "I wouldn't be caught dead using one of those!"

As for poor Lola, she didn't seem to know which way was up. The whole world was spinning madly around her. Sonic glared at the dizzy skunk angrily.

"You are not killing me and you are not killing Tails!" he said "Not today, not tomorrow, not ever! Once I save Tails' life, I'm gonna make you pay for this!"

And with that he ran into the house, leaving Lola to stare up at the sky while everything was still spinning around her. The dizzy skunk picked herself up and wobbly walked off.

Sonic ran quickly into the bedroom to see Tails still lying there and staring at the toxic dart he had pulled out of his neck and he was staring at it. He looked like he was frozen to the spot because he kept his attention glued to the dart in his hand.

"Tails!" Sonic called to him.

Tails looked up to see Sonic and was overcome with relief.

"Oh Sonic!" cried Tails "You'll not believe what's just happened to me! I've been shot by this!"

He held out the dart for Sonic to see. Sonic took the dart out of Tails' hand and looked at it up close.

"I think that's the toxic dart Lola Gunn said she'd fired at you." said Sonic.

"Who's Lola Gunn?" asked Tails.

"Some bounty hunter I've never encountered before." explained Sonic "I had a brief scuffle with her outside and she says she fired a toxic dart at you and you'll die in an hour's time."

"I'm WHAT?" shrieked Tails. His face turned snow white. "I'm going to…die?" he gasped hoarsely.

"No you aren't!" said Sonic "Because I'm gonna find a cure for whatever was in that dart."

"But you can't possibly find a cure in that amount of time!" wailed Tails "You don't even know WHAT the cure is!"

"That is unfortunately true." said Sonic "But I will go to any length's necessary to make sure you live and that's a promise."

Tails didn't know what to say. Sixty minutes away from death and yet Sonic remains undefeated and will try whatever he can to save his life. Sonic truly was a great friend.

"Sonic, you're the best friend I've ever had." said Tails.

"Thank you." said Sonic "Now you just hang in there while I try what I can. I'll save you if it's the last thing I do!"

"Take this watch." said Tails, handing Sonic a wrist watch he kept in a drawer next to the bed "That way, you'll be able to keep the time and figure out how long you've got before I'm doomed."

Sonic put the watch on his wrist and looked at the time. It said 9:30. Sonic had to have a cure by 10:30 or Tails will die.

"Thanks Tails." said Sonic "I promise I'll save you. I'll be back as quick as I can!"

And with that he rocketed out of the bedroom and out of the house and headed for one of his favourite places to go to: Knothole. He had a feeling someone would be able to help him out. And that someone was a certain pink hedgehog he knew and secretly fancied. That someone was none other then his biggest fan, Amy Rose. Hopefully Amy Rose would be able to help Sonic out otherwise Tails would not live to see the next morning…

As for Lola, she had staggered a good distance away from the battlefield and she clumsily collapsed over her own feet. Her head was still spinning but it was beginning to get better. After falling over, she sat up and shook herself. Her senses had finally come too and the dizziness had stopped. Everything was still once again. After recovering from her dizziness, Lola suddenly realized she was weapon less. Sonic had snapped her rifle after spin-dashing in her and while she was dizzy, Sonic had crushed her two pistols to pieces. However, Lola had one final trick up her sleeve. She took her backpack off and opened it. She pulled out that appeared to be another rifle. This one was only half as long as the first rifle and was coloured a dull grey colour.

"This rifle isn't exactly sleek and shiny but it'll have to do." sighed Lola as she loaded it.

Then she felt something vibrate on her wrist. It was Dr. Eggman trying to call her on the communicator. Lola switched it on and spoke into it.

"What do you want now baldy nose hair?" she snapped.

"Don't be so rude Lola dear!" Dr. Eggman bellowed to her on the other side of the communicator "Have you done the job yet?"

"Sort of." said Lola "The job's half done right now. I've shot the spy in the neck with a toxic dart and in one hour he'll be dead. Sonic still lives unfortunately."

"Well don't just stand there wasting time!" roared Dr. Eggman "Get a move on! I want that hedgehog dead as a doornail!"

"OK, OK! Keep your pants on Mr. Shouty face!" snapped Lola; she switched off the communicator in a huff "Geez, men are so unbearable at times! All they bloomin' do is shout their heads off for nothing!" she ranted.

Lola got to her feet and silently tip-toed through the forest.

"I hope Sonic's close by or I'll have to wait until the next night." Lola said to herself rather grimly "The day time's not a safe time to be hunting people since I'll be easier to see."

Lola continued tip-toeing through the forest, desperate to find Sonic the Hedgehog and kill him so she would complete her mission and get her whopping great reward.

Seven minutes later, Sonic arrived in Knothole and screeched to a halt. He looked around for Amy's house and spotted it. A pink and red house is pretty hard to miss after all so Sonic didn't have to look long for it. He ran over to Amy's house and knocked on the door. Amy opened the door and her eyes widened in surprise.

"Oh Sonic!" she chirped "This is a surprise. I was just about to go to bed and then you arrive. Whatever's the matter?"

"A bounty hunter shot Tails with this." said Sonic, showing Amy the toxic dart that Lola had shot Tails with "And if we don't get a cure for him in fifty-three minutes, he'll die!"

"Oh no!" gasped Amy, putting her hands on her cheeks in alarm "We need to act fast and I know just the person who will have a cure for the poison in that dart in a jiffy!"

"You do?" said Sonic, almost dumbstruck at how lucky he had just ended up being right now "Who is that person?"

"Follow me." said Amy, taking Sonic by the hand "She lives in Knothole and I'll be able to find her house for you."

She ran off with Sonic in tow and the two went searching all through Knothole. A while later the two hedgehogs came across a house with a faded brownish paint job on the walls and a coned shaped roof made from thick straw. Thin red smoke trailed out of the house's only window which was around the back and square shaped. Sonic stared at the house uneasily. It looked more like a witch's cottage then an actual house.

"Um…who lives here?" said Sonic with a tone of disgust in his voice.

"This is the home of Mariah the Medicine Cat." said Amy "She is a national hero amongst the villagers and all of Mobius due to the fact she can whip up a medicine for any disease known to Mobian kind. I met her when I was younger. She's a genius and she's the key to Tails' survival."

"I hope you're right Amy." said Sonic uneasily.

Amy just scoffed at him and knocked on the door.

"YES! WHAT?" barked a fierce rough voice from behind the door.

"It's me, Amy Rose. Fan of Sonic's?" said Amy.

"Oh it's you Miss Rose." said the voice in a much sweeter tone "I haven't seen you for a while now. Do come in."

Amy walked in with Sonic keeping close behind. They stepped into a really small living room. There was only a wooden rocking chair and a soft little sofa that only had room for two people. The sound of bubbling could be heard in the next room and hot air was creeping into the living room. An elderly female cat walked into the room with her eyes half open. She had brown fur with white paws and a white muzzle and she wore a long silky white robe with blue flowery patterns on the chest and sleeves. Her face was wrinkled and her right ear was missing a chunk as if she'd had it bitten off or something. Her eyes were a very pale yellow. The moment she saw Amy Rose, she held her arms out to welcome her in a hug.

"Miss Rose!" she said cheerfully "How delightful to meet you again! And my how much have you grown since I've last seen you? You were only a little tiddler the last time I saw you!"

The cat laughed a hearty laugh and Amy chuckled uneasily.

"Um Mariah, this is Sonic the Hedgehog." said Amy, diverting the cat's attention to the blue hedgehog who tried to make himself scarce "He's the big hero of Mobius who fights long and hard to stop Dr. Eggman from taking over Mobius and soon-to-be my boyfriend."

"Amy!" hissed Sonic "Ix-nay on the An girl-fay!"

"Sorry." said Amy, blushing slightly.

Mariah waddled over to Sonic and stared closely at him as if she was struggling to see him properly so she had to get really close.

"Sonic the Hedgehog." she said "I've heard about you and your legendary speed. Who hasn't? Every time I hear about you, I daydream about what it would be like if I could run as fast as you."

Mariah stared up at the ceiling dreamily.

"Sadly, I'm an old woman now and my legs are weak and feeble so I'll never be able to run again." she said glumly "Still, at least I can make my many marvellous medicines to cure the lovely folk of Mobius." she added cheerfully "It's such a shame no one else on this blasted planet has my genius so who's gonna carry on my medicines when I'm gone? I may have to teach someone and then maybe I'll have someone who can carry on my business and become the new medicine person of..."

"Yeah, yeah, I get the message." interrupted Sonic "We're in a hurry right now so we need your medicine making genius pronto!"

"OK, don't rush me boy!" barked Mariah "I swear teenagers these days have no respect for the elderly!"

"Sorry about that but we need a medicine quick." said Sonic "My friend Tails got shot by a toxic dart and he'll die in about fifty-one minutes, do you have a cure for the poison found in one of these?"

He handed Mariah the toxic dart Tails had been shot with. Mariah took the dart and held it up close to her eyes.

"Ah yes." she said "The hunter's dart. Bounty hunter scum use darts like these to kill their victims! Horrible! I suppose your friend was shot by a bounty hunter?"

"He was." said Sonic "Do you have a cure for the poison in that dart?"

"I do indeed." beamed Mariah "The poison in a hunter's dart is known as Hunternos Toxicus. Once fired into a victim, it kills them in sixty minutes. I have developed a cure for this and I've helped save many lives from bounty hunters who use these darts."

"Can you make the medicine needed to cure Tails?" asked Sonic desperately.

"Don't need to." said Mariah "I have some bottled up in my storage cupboard. Follow me."

She led the two hedgehogs into a room that was very small indeed. The only things in the room were a giant black cauldron that sat in the middle of the room, a storage cupboard, and an ingredients cupboard. The cauldron had strange colourful liquid that bubbled and made red smoke that trialled out through the window. Sonic stared at the cauldron in fascination. Mariah noticed Sonic was looking at the cauldron and she smiled half-heartedly at the hedgehog's curiosity.

"I use that to make the medicines." she said "All that colourful liquid becomes a medicine for whatever I'm making one for. Heart disease, all forms of cancer, flu, headaches, I can make a medicine for anything and due to my genius, they always work. So your friend is as good as saved thanks to my medicine making genius."

She opened the storage cupboard. The shelves were full of bottled liquid that were various different colours. The bottles were all labelled and filed in alphabetical order so Mariah would know which medicine she was looking for and it would be easy to find.

"Now, where did I put that Anti-Hunternos?" she muttered to herself as she searched through the "A" column of the cupboard.

"Ah! There it is." she said.

She pulled out a small round bottle that contained a pale translucent coloured liquid. She handed Sonic the bottle.

"One drop of this and your friend will be as good as new." said Mariah with an old wrinkly smile "Don't give him more then one spoonful though because too much of that medicine may cause an unpleasant side effect."

"Got it." said Sonic "Mariah, you're way past cool!" he added, winking at her and giving her the thumbs up sign.

"Oh ho, ho, ho!" chuckled Mariah modestly "I'm just happy to help Sonic! It's my job to create medicines to help the sick and the weak."

"Thank you very much Mariah." said Amy "We owe you one big time. Goodbye and take care of yourself."

"Same to you dear." said Mariah "And be careful not to drop that bottle. If you do, I'll have to make a new one from scratch and that will take some time off your hands."

"We'll be careful." said Sonic "And once we've cured Tails, I'll give him your regards."

"No need to." said Mariah kindly "Just get to him and save him already!"

"OK then." said Sonic, suddenly realizing he only had forty-four minutes left "See ya around Mariah and thanks for everything!"

Sonic and Amy ran out of the house and headed for Green Hill Zone in a desperate race against time to save Tails' life. Mariah waved them goodbye and watched Sonic disappeared into the dark of the night.

"How does that boy run so fast?" she wondered.

Sonic sped through the silent dark forest carrying Amy bridal style so they could speed things up. Amy held the bottle tightly to her chest so she wouldn't drop it.

"How much time do we have left?" asked Amy.

"Forty-three minutes." said Sonic "Not that time matters since due to my speed I can get from my place to Knothole in seven minutes so I can get from Knothole to my place in seven minutes."

"It's a good thing we acted when we had the opportunity or Tails really would be dead." said Amy "I still wonder who's the heartless brute who dared to do such a thing to poor Tails?"

"I'll tell ya later Ames." said Sonic.

He continued running down the forest. Despite the fact he had plenty of time, he wasn't going to take his time to get home, he wanted to cure Tails as quickly as possible so he would suffer less from the poison. Unfortunately, things weren't going to go right. Lola Gunn was hiding up a tree and waiting for Sonic to run past so she could shoot him. She knew she'd have trouble hitting something that moved so fast but the rifle she had could lock onto the opponent so once she fired, Sonic would get blasted no matter how fast he went. Sonic came into view and Lola pointed the rifle at him. She waited for a few seconds before finally pulling the trigger. The rifle fired a brilliant laser blast and it hurtled towards the running hedgehog. The blast hit the ground just in front of Sonic and the force of the impact sent him flying backwards. Sonic landed on his back and Amy took a tumble for the worst. She had been sent flying too and after she landed, the medicine bottle flew out of her hands and came down to the ground with a smash! The translucent liquid lay in a tiny puddle on the grass and bits of glass littered the ground. Amy was overcome with horror when she saw the broken medicine bottle.

"No!" she wailed "No!"

"What's up Ames?" asked Sonic, getting back to his feet.

"The medicine bottle broke!" shrieked Amy, showing Sonic the bits of glass that remained "We'll have to go back to Mariah's and ask her to make some more of this medicine!"

"You will be staying here and tasting the wrath of my guns!" growled Lola, leaping from the tree.

She landed on the ground and pointed the rifle straight at Sonic's face. Amy got mad and summoned her Piko-Piko Hammer.

"Put the gun down and I won't have to hammer your head in missy!" snarled Amy.

Lola turned her attention away from Sonic and glared at Amy. Then her expression strangely enough changed to a smirk of some sorts.

"I didn't know you had a girlfriend Sonic." she crooned "I guess that gives me more of a reason to shoot her eh?"

"She's not my girlfriend!" grumbled Sonic.

"Sure she isn't." sniffed Lola sarcastically. She turned her attention back to Amy "I must say you're not bad looking pinkie."

"Oh um…thank you?" said Amy, taken aback by the comment.

"Pity you have terrible fashion sense." sneered Lola.

That set Amy off! She leaped on Lola and brought the hammer crashing down but the sneaky skunk elegantly dodged the blow.

" I have terrible fashion sense?" shrieked Amy, rising her hammer ready for another blow "I could say the same about you what with that hideous combat suit you wear!"

"Do you really think you can defeat me with just a hammer pinkie?" gloated Lola.

"Yes I do!" shrieked Amy, lunging at her to try and hit her once more.

Lola merely dodged the hammer blow once again. After Amy's hammer hit the ground, Lola delivered a painful kick to the head and sent Amy sprawling. Then Lola picked up Amy's hammer and whacked her with it before she could get up. Amy rolled over several times and stopped. Lola prepared to whack Amy again but she was tackled from behind by a spin-dash from Sonic. Lola fell flat on her face and Sonic stood on top of her.

"Amy, you get back to Mariah the Medicine Cat and get another bottle of that medicine, I'll keep Miss Trigger-Happy busy!" ordered Sonic.

"But I want to help you beat her up." said Amy pathetically.

"Amy, that's an order!" yelled Sonic "We have less then thirty-nine minutes to save Tails so we need a replacement bottle now!"

"OK." said Amy; she knew when she was defeated "I won't be too long."

And with that, Amy ran off and headed back to Knothole. Lola tried to get up and stop her but Sonic remained standing on top of her so she couldn't move.

"Get off me!" growled Lola "I will not be denied my reward!"

"I can't believe how sick you are!" said Sonic angrily "You'd willingly kill an innocent little kid just to get some filthy stinking money? What is up with you?"

"Nothing is up with me!" snapped Lola "And besides, I get much more money by killing people then I would do any other way! You will not deny me my money now get off me!"

Sonic refused to move. He remained on top of her. He was planning to keep her like that until Amy returned with the new bottle of medicine they needed to cure Tails and then he would head for home as quickly as possible. Unfortunately, he didn't manage to keep Lola subdued for long. Lola had a very sharp knife hidden in a pouch on her thigh and she pulled it out. She aimed for Sonic's leg and tried to slash him but Sonic saw the knife and leaped off her before she could swipe at him. Lola jumped to her feet but she was soon knocked down again by a sonic spin-dash. She dropped her knife and Sonic snatched it away before she could pick it up again. Sonic threw the knife away.

"This will be a battle with no weapons of any kind." said Sonic "You'll have to face me hand to hand."

"So be it." said Lola grimly.

She leaped into the air and hurtled towards Sonic with a flying kick. Sonic defended the blow with a kick of his own and Lola was sent cart wheeling backwards. The skunk landed on her feet and only just managed to dodge a homing attack from Sonic. Before Sonic could retaliate in time, Lola seized him by the arms and threw him into the air. Sonic hit a tree feet first and sprang towards Lola. Lola dodged Sonic's oncoming blow and the blue hedgehog skidded across the ground feet first. Lola ran towards Sonic and prepared to punch him from behind but Sonic flipped backwards over her and attacked her in the back. Lola fell on her face.

"You fight much better without a stupid gun." Sonic complimented.

"Oh do I?" said Lola casually "A lot of people reckon that. I guess that means I'm not an easy person to defeat in battle."

"Still doesn't mean you're going to beat me." huffed Sonic "Let's finish this shall we?"

"My pleasure." said Lola darkly.

The two lunged at each other…

Meanwhile, Amy Rose had finally made it into Knothole and she burst wildly into Mariah's house. The old cat was in the cauldron room making another medicine. She stirred some thick, bubbling red liquid around and around in the cauldron. The moment she heard Amy burst in she put on a grim face and turned to face her. Amy was worn out from all that running she did but she managed to gasp the words out.

"Mariah!" panted Amy "We…need…you…again!"

"Let me guess, you dropped the medicine bottle even though I explicitly told you not to!" barked Mariah, prodding Amy sharply in the stomach with a long white finger. Amy bent over and rubbed her aching stomach.

"We didn't drop the bottle." gasped Amy "Some girl in a green suit with a gun shot at us and caused us to drop it. All the same, we need another bottle desperately!"

"I told you already you noodle-brain, I don't have anymore!" snapped Mariah "I shall have to make a new bottle of Anti-Hunternos from scratch. Luckily for you, it'll only take five to six minutes for me to make."

"Well that's convenient." said Amy.

Mariah went back into the cauldron room and opened the ingredients cupboard. She leafed through the many bottles and contents that were stacked on the shelves.

"Now what were the ingredients for Anti-Hunternos?" she said to herself, her brain whirring away as she tried to remember.

"Ah yes," she remembered, pulling three bottles and two small plastic boxes down from the shelf.

"The feathers of a Flicky bird." Mariah said, opening one box and pouring the contents into the cauldron.

"The DNA of a Chao." she said, opening a bottle and pouring it into the cauldron.

"A little drop of water from the Lake of Rings." she added, pouring it into the cauldron.

"A pinch of gold glitter." she added, taking a pinch of gold glitter from a box and sprinkling it in the cauldron.

"And finally, a squirt of grape juice." she added, pouring the grape juice into the cauldron.

The boiling liquid began to turn into a faint purple colour. Amy was amazed by this.

"Your medicine ingredients are definitely not what you'd expect eh Mariah?" said Amy.

"That's why my medicines are like no other." said Mariah "I don't use ingredients doctors put in medicines, I use my own formula and my medicines always work every time."

"So, what do you now?" asked Amy.

"I just let this boil for five minutes, providing little gentle stirs along the way and then its done." said Mariah, tenderly stirring the faint purple liquid with a wooden spoon.

"Thank goodness your medicines don't take long to make." said Amy "We'll make up the lost time easily."

"Let's hope so." said Mariah wearily "Or your friend is history."

The fight between Sonic and Lola was getting desperate now. Lola appeared to be getting better at dodging Sonic's attacks so Sonic spent a lot of time spin-dashing at her and missing by inches. Sonic spin-dashed at Lola once again but the skunk dodged him once again and let him dive into the ground. Before Sonic could get back up, Lola kicked him in the back. Sonic fell on his stomach. Lola tried to attack him again but Sonic got out of the way and kicked her in the stomach. That kick was so hard Lola ended up being winded and she ended up bending over in spluttering. Before she could recover, Sonic spin-dashed her yet again, this time hitting her since she was unprepared. Loa was sent flying backwards and she collided with a tree. Several apples fell out of the tree and bopped her on the head. Lola rubbed her head and groaned. Sonic walked up to her, picked up an apple and took a small bite out of it. Then he tossed it over his shoulder.

"Give up Lola, we all know who's going to win this fight." said Sonic "So save yourself the beating and go home."

"Never!" cried Lola "I will not rest until you're dead as a dumpling!"

She picked up an apple and threw it straight into Sonic's eye! Sonic yelped in pain and clutched his sore eye. Lola leaped on him like a pouncing tiger and tackled him to the ground. She grabbed Sonic's neck and began to strangle him. Sonic grabbed Lola's arms and tried to prise her hands off his neck. The struggle was kept up for a couple of minutes.

"Man you're strong!" gasped Sonic as he tried to get Lola's hands off.

Lola didn't say anything. She continued to throttle him. Sonic tried as hard as he could to get Lola's hands off but he couldn't quite do it. Her grasp was pretty strong. Then Sonic had an idea. He closed his eyes and pretended to pass out from the lack of oxygen he was getting from being strangled. Lola fell for the trick and let go of his neck so she could fetch her rifle and shoot him before he came to. The moment Lola got off him, Sonic spin-dashed her right in the face. Lola tumbled over backwards and landed sharply on her back. Sonic laughed at her.

"For a bounty hunter you sure are stupid!" he taunted "How could anyone fall for a trick like that? I thought you bounty hunters had to keep your guard up at all times."

Lola got back to her feet and scowled at the taunting hedgehog.

"That was a cheap shot." she claimed "You won't be so lucky next time."

Suddenly, instead of lunging at Sonic, she ran off. She picked up her rifle which was lying next to a tree and she opened fire on Sonic madly. Sonic found himself being showered by laser blasts and he had a tough time dodging them all.

"He-He-Hey!" cried Sonic as he continued dodging rifle blasts "I said no weapons!"

"I'm the kind of girl who doesn't play by the rules." sneered Lola "Rules are obsolete when I'm involved."

She continued to shower Sonic with rifle blasts. Sonic ran as fast as he could to dodge them all but he only managed to dodge them by inches. Lola was pulling the trigger extremely quickly so she was firing a laser blast every five seconds. This was a desperate attempt to catch Sonic off guard since it would be hard to keep up with a laser being fired every five seconds. Sonic leaped into the air in an attempt to dodge the lasers but Lola aimed the rifle up at him and blasted him. The blast singed Sonic across the side and the pained hedgehog ended up falling in somersaults to the ground. He landed sharply on his back and ended up in serious pain. His whole back seemed to explode with pain. Lola ran up to Sonic and pinned him down with her foot. She aimed the rifle at his chest. Sonic glared at Lola but Lola kept on a casual face.

"Time to say goodbye hedgehog." she said dryly.

Lola was just about to pull the trigger until suddenly she felt a sharp whack on the back of her head and the skunk passed out. Sonic looked up and to his relief, he saw Amy Rose with her hammer in hand and looking furious.

"No one shoots my Sonic and lives!" she yelled at the unconscious skunk.

"Amy, your timing is perfect!" exclaimed Sonic "I thought for a moment I would die!"

"Well I did have to wait for Mariah to make the medicine and then I had to run all the way back." said Amy "With all that time gone I'm amazed I actually made it in time to save you."

"Speaking of time…" said Sonic, looking down at his watch. The moment he saw the time, his quills straightened in amazement.

"Holy hedgehogs!" he shrieked "That fight lasted a long time didn't it? We only have eight minutes left to save Tails!"

"We'd best get going!" shrieked Amy.

Unfortunately, Lola recovered from the sharp whack Amy had given her and leaped on Amy. Lola grabbed her rifle and pointed it at Amy's chest.

"Leave her alone!" ordered Sonic.

"You hand over the medicine you're going to use to cure Tails or this horribly dressed girl will die." threatened Lola, her finger twitching on the trigger.

"I haven't got the medicine!" snapped Sonic.

"Well if you haven't got it then I suppose pinkie here has it?" said Lola.

"I do." said Amy "But I'm not letting you have it!"

"Then you die, simple as." said Lola, preparing to pull the trigger.

Sonic took the opportunity to spin-dash Lola in the side just before she could fire. Lola was sent hurtling off Amy and skidding across the ground. Amy leaped to her feet and picked up her Piko-Piko hammer. Sonic and Amy stood over Lola and glowered at her.

"Give it up Lola!" ordered Sonic "You can hardly keep up with me so I don't think you'll be able to take me AND Amy on at once!"

Lola glared at the two hedgehogs. Despite her stubbornness and eagerness to finish the job, she knew when she was beaten. Lola picked herself up and ran away as fast as she could run. Amy wanted to run after her but Sonic held his arm up as if to say "Let her go". They watched the defeated skunk disappear into the distance. After Lola disappeared from sight, Sonic smiled.

"I can't imagine her bosses being too pleased with her." he sneered.

"I bet they'll be furious." chuckled Amy "I hope we never see that gun loving witch again!"

"I don't think she'll be showing up again in a hurry." said Sonic "The humiliation will be too much for her I bet."

"Hey Sonic, how much time do we have now?" piped Amy.

Sonic looked at the watch and did a wild double-take.

"We only have seven minutes left!" he shrieked "We need to make up the lost time and fast!"

Quick as a flash, she scooped Amy up in bridal style and rocketed off at such a terrific speed he broke the sound barrier! Sonic ran as fast as he could through the dark murky forest, desperate to get home as quick as possible. Despite the sheer darkness of the forest, Sonic still knew where he was going. He knew his way home even in the dark so the dark was no obstacle for him.

Three minutes later, Sonic finally made it home. He and Amy ran inside and into the bedroom where Tails lay. Tails looked terrible. His body had become a faint mix of green and yellow and he was having trouble keeping his eyes open. He groaned ever so horribly too. The poison was beginning to take hold of him. Luckily, Sonic and Amy had made it home with four minutes to spare. Amy took the bottle out of her pocket and gave it to Sonic. Sonic ran over to his sickened friend and gently poured a small trickle of medicine into Tails' mouth. Tails swallowed the medicine and smacked his lips. Sonic stood back and waited for something to happen. Would the medicine work as well as Mariah said it would? Or would it take a while to take effect? Shortly after Tails had been given the medicine, his fur began to change back to its normal yellow colour. Then the fox cub opened his eyes without any trouble this time. He looked around to see he was still in the bedroom and Sonic and Amy were watching him.

"Am I dead yet?" he said ever so quietly.

Sonic was so relived the medicine had worked he ran over to Tails grasped him in a hug.

"Tails! The medicine worked!" he cried "You're going to live!"

"I am?" said Tails.

"Yes you are little buddy!" cried Sonic "Amy took me to see Mariah the Medicine Cat and she gave us the medicine that cures the type of poison in that dart Lola shot at you."

"Oh thank goodness!" cried Tails. He leaped into the air and cheered "Yippee! I'm going to live!" he screamed happily.

"Yes you are Tails." said Sonic happily.

"Oh thank you for saving my life Sonic!" cried Tails, hugging Sonic.

"Well actually I think you should thank Amy." said Sonic "She knew who Mariah the Medicine Cat was and she took me to her to get the medicine needed to cure you so I think Amy's the real hero."

"Oh Sonic!" said Amy, blushing bright red "You're just as much a hero as I am. You were fast enough to get us home in time to save Tails so technically we're both heroes."

"Well I'm grateful to both of you." said Tails "I owe you both big time. And if you meet this Mariah the Medicine Cat person can you tell her I said thanks a lot?"

"Sure thing big guy." said Sonic.

"One thing concerns me." said Amy "Who on Mobius hired that skunk woman to kill Tails?"

"I think Dr. Eggman did." said Sonic "Because earlier she said she'd been hired to kill the one spying on Dr. Eggman so I assume it was Eggman who hired her."

"Well I'm gonna quit spying on Dr. Eggman." said Tails dramatically "I don't wanna be a spy as long as I live."

Sonic stared at Tails.

"But Tails, how can we be one step ahead of Eggman if you're gonna quit spying on him?" asked Sonic.

"We'll just have to take him out the old fashioned way." said Tails "If I stop spying on Eggman, he won't send any more bounty hunters to kill me."

Even though Sonic wasn't pleased with Tails' decision, he knew he was right. Better safe then sorry as the old saying went.

"OK Tails." said Sonic "The spying business is over. But I don't care; I'm just too relieved I managed to save your life."

"And I'm relived I'm going to live." said Tails "Thanks to you and Amy."

"Any time." said Amy "Now I think we should all have a good night's sleep so we're well rested and ready to fight Dr. Eggman once again!"

"I think that's a good idea." said Sonic with a yawn "Goodnight everyone."

He lay down on his bed and Tails lay back down in his. Since Amy had a long walk back to Knothole, she decided to spend the night at Sonic's. She went into the living room and lay on the sofa. The three friends couldn't wait to foil Dr. Eggman's next scheme tomorrow morning.

"So let me get this straight." said Dr. Eggman "You shot the spy but you've failed to kill Sonic and then you surrendered like a coward and let them get back home with a medicine to cure the spy and they've probably cured him by now?"

"Yes Dr. Eggman sir." said Lola "I'm sorry I couldn't complete the mission. Please forgive me."

Lola had run all the way back to the Northern Border and reported her failure to Dr. Eggman. He was less then pleased to hear that Lola had failed her mission.

"Since you've failed to do the job correctly, you get no money and you're fired." said Dr. Eggman "Robots, take her to the roboticizer!" he ordered.

"WHAT?" shrieked Lola "You can't do that to me!"

Too late. Two BI-CEP drones seized Lola by the arms and took her away, kicking and screaming.

"I'll get you for this you boulder with legs!" she screamed.

The BI-CEP robots dragged Lola away and the door shut behind them. Dr. Eggman turned back around to his computer monitors.

"Well she was a waste of time." said Dr. Eggman "At least Tails has decided to quit spying on me for the sake of his health so I won't have to worry about spies anymore."

"But what about your failed attacks sir?" asked Alonzo "The Mobians are one step ahead of you and more of your regions are crumbling under their onslaught!"

"That is obsolete now." said Dr. Eggman "The Mobians will be no match for my latest and greatest invention, Metal Sonic! Sonic is a match for me so Metal Sonic will be a match for the Mobians. Once I unleash him, Mobius will succumb to my might once and for all!"

And with that he cackled a loud demented cackle of victory.

Yeah...I feel a bit miffed with how this turned out. I resorted to Deus Ex Machina in this story, the one thing I strive to avoid when writing. Don't worry, I won't do it again...hopefully...never mind, join me next time as everybody's favourite green hedgehog from the notorious Sonic comic by Archie makes his grand debut ! :) Reviews are welcome.

A Real Scourge Part 1

Story 28: A Real Scourge Part 1

Sometimes night time is a peaceful time. Night time is the time where everybody sleeps; waiting for the morning to come so they could do whatever they liked all over again. Not all nights are peaceful though. Night time at a prison sometimes isn't peaceful and tonight was just that. The alarm was blaring as loud as it could blare, waking up the entire prison centre. The policemen who worked at the centre knew that alarm all too well. That was the prison break alarm. A prisoner had escaped.

But this prisoner was like no other. He was a green hedgehog with blue eyes, red sunglasses and thick green and black boots. He looked almost the same as Sonic save for the colour changes and different shoes. The prisoner tore off his orange prison outfit, revealing a cool leather jacket with flames on the arms underneath. He seemed a lot happier to be rid of the prison outfit.

Unfortunately for the police, this hedgehog could run just as fast as Sonic too. By the time most of them arrived on the scene, the hedgehog had gone. How had he escaped? The cells of the MPD (Mobian Police Department) were almost impossible to escape from so how had this prisoner escaped? Well they saw a police officer lying unconscious in the prisoner's cell so that suggested he had knocked the officer out and ran for it while he had the chance. The officers had a suspicion that the escaped prisoner was heading for the exit so a lot of them gathered up at the exit to block his escape. But even a wall of police officers was no match for the might of this Sonic look-a-like. The hedgehog spin-dashed them all out of the way before they could even pull their guns out and fire at him. The officers were sent sprawling everywhere and the prisoner charged out the door. The only thing that separated him from freedom was a steel wall that was too high to climb up. The prisoner screeched to a halt and stared at what he was up against. Even more officers with their guns loaded, plus the man in charge, Melchett the Hedgehog. He was a grey hedgehog with four quills on his head, a thick, bushy, black moustache and a blue police uniform. He was a proud officer and he was not about to let this prisoner get away. He pulled his gun out, held it sideways and pointed it at the prisoner.

"Scourge the Hedgehog!" boomed Melchett "You are hopelessly outnumbered and surrounded so give up and get back in your nice warm cell!"

"I think not!" snarled the hedgehog known as Scourge. His voice was a raspy tough guy kind of voice.

He ran around all the officers at a terrific speed and began to whip up a Sonic Tornado smiliar to what Sonic the Hedgehog could do, only his tornado was green instead of blue. The officers were swept up in the tornado and spun around like spinning tops. Even Melchett the Hedgehog was swept up in the terrifying tornado. The police officers were thrown into the wall by the tornado and knocked out whereas some others weren't so lucky. They were thrown straight over the wall and killed by the force of the impact. Melchett was one of the lucky survivors. After the tornado ended, Scourge hurtled into the air and landed on the ground a good distance outside the prison walls. He was free at last. He had been in jail for two whole years and now he was going to get his revenge on the one person who put him there. He looked up at the sky and roared at the top of his voice.

"SONIC!"

Then he spoke in a softer voice. "I have returned…" his eyes narrowed to an evil slit. He couldn't wait to get his revenge on Sonic the Hedgehog and no one would be able to stop him…

"And…another Eggman robot bites the dust!" cheered Sonic the Hedgehog, spinning in the air and landing in perfect fashion.

"Alonzo, am I allowed to say I hate that hedgehog yet again?" grumbled Dr. Eggman as the Egg-Mobile detached from his destroyed machine and hovered away.

"Yes master. You are." muttered his wormy sidekick Alonzo the Butler Bot.

The next day had arrived and Eggman decided to attack Green Hill Zone and set fire to it with his latest machine, Egg-Blaze. Egg-Blaze was a tall four legged machine armed with two flame throwers on the top and there was a canopy for his Egg-Mobile to neatly slot into so he could command the machine. The reason Eggman wanted to burn Green Hill Zone down is because he thought if there was no forest, Sonic might be easier to find and he wouldn't have much hiding places either. However Egg-Blaze was no match for Sonic though and the super speedy hedgehog quickly brought it crashing down into pieces. With his most recent robot defeated and his plan foiled, Dr. Eggman retreated away in his Egg-Mobile. Sonic teasingly waved him goodbye and walked away from the smoking pile of robot parts. His best friend, Tails the fox cheered for him.

"Alright Sonic! That was way past awesome!" cried Tails.

"No, no, no, no, no. The phrase is way past cool, not way past awesome Tails." corrected Sonic, doing one of his signature finger waggles.

"Oh, sorry." said Tails.

"Don't sweat it Tails, you can say way past awesome if you want." laughed Sonic "It does almost sound as good as way past cool at least."

"OK then." said Tails "I wonder why Eggman tried to burn the forest down?"

"He thinks with no forest, it'll be harder for me to hide from him." explained Sonic "And the fact he just loves to wreck the environment adds to that too."

"I don't see why anyone would want to burn a forest down." said Tails "Forests are a great environment and we need trees to live you know."

"We do?" said Sonic with a tone of surprise in his voice.

"Sure we do." said Tails "Trees are what give us…"

Before he could say anything else he heard two female voices calling his and Sonic's names. Sonic and Tails looked to the left to see Cream the Rabbit with her pet Cheese the Chao and Cosmo the Seedrian running up to them. They were very pleased to see Sonic and Tails again. Cream threw her arms around Sonic in a welcoming hug and Cosmo did the same to Tails.

"Hey Cream and Cosmo!" said Sonic happily "So good to see you two again!"

"It's good to see you too Mr. Sonic." said Cream sweetly.

"Chao!" piped Cheese excitedly.

"So, how did your flower picking go?" asked Tails.

"Well, it was more then just flower picking." said Cosmo modestly "You'll not believe what we've just been through."

"Why don't we all sit down and Cosmo can tell us everything?" suggested Sonic.

Everybody sat down in the grass and Cosmo told them about their adventure with the Chao and Marik the Martian*. She explained everything from the Chao that called for help to rescuing the Chao from Marik and the destruction of his ship. Sonic and Tails were intrigued by the story and even though Sonic couldn't believe the two had just taken Marik out all by themselves, he was impressed with what Cosmo had told him. Just proves that even the weak and inexperienced can manage to pull some surprises on you.

"And that's what me and Cream have been through all this time." finished Cosmo.

"Well, that's pretty cool." said Sonic "I bet Marik will live with that humiliation for the rest of his stinking life!"

"But I thought you killed Marik Sonic." noted Tails "You used his own diamond against him and knocked him off a cliff."

"Marik survived that fall unfortunately." said Cosmo "Martians have pretty solid bodies so a fall off a cliff only hurts them at the most. But after Cheese accidentally set his ship to self-destruct, I can't guarantee Marik survived that one. He didn't make it off the ship so I think we can safely say he's as good as gone."

"I hope so." said Sonic "I don't ever wanna see that creep again!"

"So what have you two been up to?" asked Cream.

"Tails spied on Eggman and helped several Royal Fighters trump Eggman's armies." explained Sonic "Unfortunately, he almost lost his life last night after Eggman hired a bounty hunter to kill him."

"Oh my gosh!" gasped Cream, putting her hands to her mouth to stop herself from screaming.

"And because of that, I've quit being a spy." said Tails "Gives Eggman less of a reason to want to kill me now. I'm working on something much better though. A plane that me and Sonic can use to get to faraway places and combat Dr. Eggman from the skies."

"That sounds good." said Cream "I bet it'll be lots of fun flying in a plane."

"When will it be finished Tails?" asked Cosmo.

"Oh it's got a while away yet." said Tails, his ears drooping down "But it'll be built soon I'm sure."

"What's with all the robot parts?" asked Cream.

She pointed at the pile of robot parts that remained from Eggman's Egg-Blaze machine.

"Oh, me and Eggman had a fight pretty early this morning." said Sonic "I beat him in about five minutes though. That machine is pathetic!"

Tails suddenly had a bright idea.

"Hey, maybe I can salvage some of those robot parts and use them to build the Tornado with!" he said excitedly "I'm sure some of these parts will come in handy!"

"You're gonna need some help carrying those parts." said Sonic "They look pretty heavy."

"We'll help." Cream offered eagerly.

So the four friends set to work on scavenging the best parts of Egg Blaze's wrecked remains and carrying them back to Sonic's house. Tails knew some of the parts were bound to come in handy when building his upcoming plane, the Tornado. In a way, they could thank Dr. Eggman for this since he'd sent the robot and Sonic destroyed it and now they were using its parts to help Tails build something. Maybe Eggman could do something good after all. Pity he wasn't naturally good otherwise things would be a whole lot nicer. And knowing Dr. Eggman, he was probably plotting something else right now.

Meanwhile, Scourge the Hedgehog came across Empire City, the city were the people of Mobotropolis resided until it could be rebuilt. Scourge knew that Sonic lived in Mobotropolis and he also knew that Mobotropolis had been completely destroyed by Dr. Eggman a long time ago* so he thought that if he was to find Sonic, he would find him in Empire City. Scourge casually wondered through the city, pretending to be some ordinary pedestrian having a stroll down the street. Empire City was a fascinating city to the green hedgehog since he had never been to Empire City before. He looked up at the towering skyscrapers and admired the busy streets full of people and hover cars.

"Once I take over the world." Scourge said to himself "Maybe I should build my kingdom in this place, it's such an awesome looking city."

"Hey buddy." said a pedestrian who was a fat beaver with a striped shirt.

Scourge turned to face the beaver and scowled at him.

"You really shouldn't talk to yourself." said the beaver "People will think you're crazy."

Scourge resisted the urge to skin the beaver alive.

"Thanks for the tip tubby." he said through gritted teeth "I was just looking for the one known as Sonic the Hedgehog. I'm an old friend of his." he lied.

"If I remember correctly he lives in Green Hill Zone now." said the beaver "Empire City ran out of room for him so he had to live somewhere else."

Green Hill Zone! Why on Mobius would Sonic be living in a forest full of loop-de-loop rocks? Maybe there were houses in Green Hill Zone. Still, if Sonic was there, then that was where he needed to be.

"Thanks a lot fatso." said Scourge "I'll be off now."

And with that, he sped off at sonic speed, causing a gust of wind to blow past the beaver. The beaver just stared at him in disbelief.

"He looks like he can run just as fast as Sonic the Hedgehog." he said to himself "Oh great! Now I'm talking to myself!" he grumbled.

Scourge sped out of Empire City and headed for Green Hill Zone. Despite spending two years behind bars, he still remembered where Green Hill Zone was. He sped by the still under construction Mobotropolis and looked at the progress coming on. It was clear whoever destroyed Mobotropolis was a not force to be reckoned with, not that Scourge cared since he was insanely powerful just like Sonic. Scourge headed on and found himself running into Green Hill Zone. Now all he had to do was find Sonic the Hedgehog and make him pay for what he did to him two years ago…

Meanwhile, Sonic, Tails, Cosmo and Cream had scavenged all the best parts from Dr. Eggman's destroyed machine and now Tails was continuing his work on the Tornado. Using parts they'd salvaged from the remains of Egg-Blaze and parts Tails already had, they began to form the frame of the plane. Once they'd built the frame, they would install all the mechanics and motors needed to power the plane and then build the outer body around the frame of the plane. It would take a long time, but Tails knew it would be worth it in the end.

"I wish we could help Tails build the plane." said Cream "That way we'd have it built quicker."

"That would be nice but we aren't technical people so we can't." said Sonic "The most we can do is keep watch to make sure Dr. Eggman isn't plotting a revenge attack on us."

"I don't think Dr. Eggman will be showing up after such a swift defeat this morning." said Tails as he began to install the motors needed to power the plane "He'll more likely come back the next day or something like that."

Sonic however had a feeling Dr. Eggman would show up again and he had a feeling it wouldn't be tomorrow or any other day, he had a feeling it would be right now or some time soon.

"Cosmo can you pass me that spanner please?" asked Tails.

Cosmo handed him a spanner. Tails took the spanner and began tightening some bolts. Sweat began to trickle down his forehead like raindrops trickling down a window. Tails wiped his forehead with his hand and carried on working.

"I always wondered if Tails will ever come up with an invention that will lead us to victory." Sonic said aloud.

"If I ever come up with an idea that's certain to guarantee us victory over Eggman for good, I'll build it." said Tails as he tightened some bolts.

Deep down though, Tails knew he would never be able to build anything that would help them defeat Dr. Eggman for good. Still, anything he did build gave his friends an extra hand in helping push back Dr. Eggman's forces so if he kept building things to aid his friends and the Royal Fighters in battling Dr. Eggman, Dr. Eggman's defeat was certain.

"Hey Tails, why don't we put some music on while you work?" suggested Cream "It'll make your work more fun."

"I think that's a nice idea Cream." said Tails, getting up off his knees and onto his feet "I'll get my portable radio."

He ran into the house to fetch his portable radio. A few seconds later he arrived with a small rectangular blue radio he had built some time ago. He turned a few knobs on the radio to get it working. His radio ended up on a news station that was giving the daily news for the morning. As usual the news station droned about things Tails never understood such as politics, relationship disorders and celebrity gossip as well as its fair share of what's happening in the world.

"I hate listening to the news." said Tails grumpily "I'll see if I can get the all music channel on."

"No leave it Tails." said Sonic quickly "Something they're saying's just grabbed my attention."

Tails left the radio on the news station and Sonic listened to what was just being said. Cosmo and Cream listened with him.

"…despite this happy news we've been proud to inform you listeners of I'm afraid we now go to the darker side of the world." the news reporter's voice trailed out of the radio "First off: Scourge the Hedgehog who is the infamous brother of our good friend Sonic the Hedgehog, has managed to escape from prison. This shocking event happened last night and many police officers were killed or severely injured by the escaping mad hog. If anyone sees Scourge the Hedgehog, it is well advised to keep away from the maniacal hedgehog and call the cops. Melchett the Hedgehog, head of the Mobian Police Department has stated he will not rest until Scourge is behind glass once again…"

Sonic turned white all over his body while listening to what the radio was saying. Tails and the girls just pulled faces at one another and exchanged puzzling glances. Tails switched the radio off.

"I didn't know Sonic had a brother." said Tails slowly.

"Nor I." said Cream.

"Sonic, who is Scourge the Hedgehog and is he dangerous?" asked

Cosmo wearily "He sounds horrible from what the radio just said about him."

Sonic snapped out of his petrified gaze and breathed heavily.

"Scourge is my brother." said Sonic "Me and him never really got on well when we were kids. We often fought and competed for our parent's affection. Even when we were teenagers we fought a lot. Two years ago me and Scourge visited Angel Island and Scourge was so entranced by the Master Emerald, he tried to steal it. Instead, his soul was filled with dark chaos energy and he became corrupted by the power he absorbed. After that power surge, he changed forever. He became highly aggressive, selfish and greedy and he literally tried to take over the world. I managed to stop him and Scourge was put under heavy lockdown. I never saw him again and I never had to worry about him again. But now he's escaped, I'll have to defeat him once again."

"That Scourge sounds an awful lot like Marik!" squeaked Cosmo fearfully.

"Maybe he's worse then Mr. Marik since he's Sonic's brother!" cried Cream.

"What does Scourge look like?" asked Tails.

"He looks like me only he has green fur, blue eyes, red sunglasses, a leather jacket and big green and black boots." explained Sonic "You can't miss him."

"Now we know what he looks like, we'll know which hedgehog to look out for." said Tails "What should we do if we meet Scourge?"

"Don't make contact with him at all." said Sonic seriously "If you see Scourge, come straight to me, understood?"

"Understood." said Tails, Cream and Cosmo.

"Good." said Sonic "Now let's forget about him for the time being and continue working on Tails' plane."

Everybody nodded and Tails switched his radio on so they could listen to some music while he worked. A bright melodic tune began to trial out of the radio. Tails liked the music immediately and Cream and Cosmo seemed to like it to. Sonic however, was still worried over Scourge. He knew how dangerous his brother could be and he also knew Scourge could scale a city if he wanted to. Scourge would stop at nothing to take over the world and he would probably be after Sonic for revenge on getting him arrested. Well whatever Scourge wanted to do, Sonic would make sure he fails and is put back in prison where he belongs. Then something snapped him out of his train of thoughts. Dr. Eggman had returned surprisingly enough and he brought a squadron of robots with him. These robots were a fiery red colour with flame throwers attached to their arms. A rubber hose connected the flamethrowers to a backpack where the fuel needed for their flame throwers was kept. Tails switched his radio off and stared at Eggman's sudden arrival.

"Bet you weren't expecting me back so soon were you Sonic the Hedgehog?" crowed Dr. Eggman.

"What do you want now Egg-Face?" demanded Sonic angrily "You're not here to burn the forest down again are ya?"

"Yes I am." said Dr. Eggman "Fire-bots, burn the forest to the ground!"

The squad obeyed and began spouting fire out from their flamethrowers. They set the grass alight and the fire began to spread around the Mobians in a next circle. Sonic leaped out of the ring of fire in perfect fashion and ran around it at super sonic speed. Due to how fast he was running, the fire was beginning to simmer out because of the high winds Sonic created when he ran. The ring of fire was eventually extinguished and Sonic set his sights on the fire squad. One robot tried to set him on fire but he missed and Sonic destroyed it with on fell kick to the head. Another robot tried to set him on fire but Sonic destroyed it with a spin-dash. The final two robots had him surrounded and they tried to set Sonic on fire but Sonic ducked so they blasted each other. The robots were heat proof though so their own fire didn't do any harm whatsoever but it did distract them. Sonic spin-dashed them both and destroyed them instantly.

"Ha, ha!" sneered Sonic "Dr. Eggman's gonna have to do better then this if he wants to burn Green Hill Zone down!"

"Sonic help!" shrieked Tails.

Sonic turned around and to his horror, he saw Dr. Eggman's Egg-Mobile with its arms deployed and holding Tails in one of its hands and Cosmo in the other. Cream stared up at the Egg-Mobile and was finding it hard to resist the urge to scream.

"Has it dawned on you that every time you leave your friends unguarded I always manage to catch them?" laughed Dr. Eggman.

"You let them go this minute!" demanded Sonic.

"No, I think I'll take these two to my base if you don't mind." laughed Dr. Eggman "I can't wait to see what a Mecha Tails will look like."

Sonic spin-dashed towards Dr. Eggman's Egg-Mobile but the sneaky scientist pressed a button on the Egg-Mobile and in one bright dazzling flash, he vanished into thin air. Sonic ended up spin-dashing straight into the ground. He sat up and rubbed himself better. Cream helped him up and began to panic.

"What are we gonna do Mr. Sonic?" squealed Cream "Dr. Eggman's gonna turn Tails and Cosmo into robots!"

"We are gonna go to Eggman's base and rescue them." declared Sonic, punching the air with his fist "I will not let Tails suffer the same fate I once had!"

As Sonic told Cream what he was going to do, Scourge the Hedgehog appeared in a tree and watched Sonic talking to Cream. He grinned wickedly showing off his sharp white teeth that glistened like a thousand daggers in the sunlight. He flipped his sunglasses down over his eyes.

"I've finally found you brother." he purred "Now it's time to give you what you deserve."

He leaped out of the tree and landed. He was about to run up to Sonic and punch his daylights out until a pink hedgehog in a red dress leaped out from nowhere and threw her arms around him.

"Oy! Get off me!" yelped Scourge, flapping his arms about madly.

"I've gotcha now Sonic!" shrieked the voice of none other then Amy Rose, Sonic's biggest fan and admirer "So wonderful to come across you in these woods."

She opened her eyes and realized she was not hugging Sonic. She almost felt sick and she nearly did a double take in Scourge's face. She let go of him and backed away in fright.

"Hey you're not Sonic!" she shrieked "Oh I'm so sorry about that!"

She covered her face in embarrassment. Scourge straightened his jacket and glared at the girl who just randomly grasped him in a hug.

"Are you usually like this?" he growled rudely "If you are then you need to see a psychiatrist…"

He was soon cut off at the fact he suddenly noticed Sonic the Hedgehog had disappeared.

"Hey! Where'd he go?" cried Scourge desperately.

He glowered at Amy.

"Thanks a lot you pink nutter!" he roared, raising his fist as if he was ready to punch her around the face. Amy fell on her bottom and cowered as Scourge ranted on.

"Because of you leaping on me and grasping me in a hug, I missed Sonic the Hedgehog!"

"I'm so sorry!" whimpered Amy "Please don't hurt me!"

Scourge lowered his fist and calmed down. He held his hand out to help Amy back onto her feet. Amy took his hand and Scourge helped her back up.

"I'm sorry I caused you to miss someone." said Amy "Who did you say you were looking for?"

"I was looking for Sonic the Hedgehog." said Scourge "You see, I'm his brother and we haven't seen each other for a while so I wanted to meet up with him and say hi."

"I didn't know Sonic had a brother." said Amy.

"He doesn't talk about me much." said Scourge, kicking some stones away with his foot "But that's probably because he's jealous of my awesomeness."

"I'll help you find Sonic." Amy offered eagerly "You see, I'm looking for Sonic too so if we both look, we'll be bound to find him."

"That's very thoughtful of you babe but I'd rather look by myself thanks." said Scourge.

"Come on." pleaded Amy "Two heads are better then one when looking for someone right?"

Scourge began to think of something. Maybe if he worked with Amy, she'd help him get closer to Sonic and he'd get the pleasure of watching her horrified face when he killed him. Scourge decided to go with Amy.

"OK babe." said Scourge "We'll look together."

"My name is Amy Rose." said Amy "What's yours?"

"Scourge." said Scourge.

"That's an unusual name." said Amy "I don't know many people called Scourge."

"I know it's an unusual name." said Scourge "But at least my name isn't Sonic the Second!" he laughed.

Amy laughed too.

"So shall we start looking?" asked Amy.

"Whenever you're ready Amy." said Scourge already running off.

"Hey wait up!" cried Amy, running after Scourge.

The two hedgehogs ran through Green Hill Zone. Scourge smiled to himself. His plan was formulated and Amy would end up helping him find Sonic. He could picture his brother's demise now and the very thought made him cackle with glee. Sonic may have beaten him before but he'd had some beefing up while he was in prison so Sonic wouldn't stand a chance against him this time.

"Maybe this day's starting to take a turn for the better for once eh Alonzo?" purred Dr. Eggman as he flew through the air in his Egg-Mobile with Tails and Cosmo grasped firmly in the mobile's hands.

"Oh yes sir." said Alonzo "You got Sonic's best friend and… whatever the hell that is." he said, pointing at Cosmo.

"I'm not familiar with the plant like girl." mused Eggman, stroking his moustache "Once I arrive back at base I'll have to examine her. She definitely doesn't look like she's from around here."

As Dr. Eggman and Alonzo chattered amongst one another, Tails kept squirming in the grasp of the metal hand that held him but try as he might, he just couldn't get free. A robot hand can grip pretty tightly, especially if it's really large. Cosmo didn't try to get free, she just stared into space, wondering what was going to happen to her and Tails. Would Eggman turn her and Tails and robots? Tails finally gave up squirming and panted heavily.

"I hope Sonic hurries up." he said tiredly "I don't wanna be a robot!"

"Is that what he's going to do to us?" asked Cosmo worriedly "Turn us into robots?"

"That's exactly what Egg-Face is going to do." said Tails "That's what he strives for, to roboticize all life on Mobius. I'm pretty sure he'll still roboticize you even though you're not Mobian."

Cosmo shivered at the very thought of being mechanical. What would her mother think if she saw her as a robot?

"But don't worry Cosmo." said Tails, beaming "Sonic will save us. He's always there in the nick of time to save us all."

"Speaking of Sonic." said Dr. Eggman, who had been listening in onto their conversation "I have a little surprise for the rodent once he gets here."

"As a matter of facts…here he comes!" shrieked Alonzo.

Eggman turned around to see Sonic running at top speed towards him on the ground. Dr. Eggman just smiled wickedly and pressed a button on the control pad.

Down on the ground, Sonic ran after the Egg-Mobile while carrying Cream bridal style. Cream held Cheese close to her chest. Sonic was not about to let the Egg-Mobile get away, especially since it had Tails and Cosmo so he ran as fast as he could. Then suddenly, the whole ground collapsed right underneath his feet and he, Cream and Cheese found themselves falling down a deep pit! That was the surprise Eggman had set up for Sonic, he rigged up explosives in the ground and they had gone off to make the ground collapse and cave in. Tails and Cosmo watched the performance from over their shoulders and gasped. Dr. Eggman cackled loudly.

"That was my little surprise Tails." said Dr. Eggman "I made a pit for Sonic to play in. I can't imagine him getting out there in a hurry."

"It's gonna take more then a lousy old pit to stop Sonic!" cried Tails.

"Oh there's more to this then trapping him down a pit…" purred Dr. Eggman.

The Egg-Mobile flew on as Dr. Eggman cackled to himself.

As for Sonic and Cream, they had finally reached the bottom of the pit and they landed on their backsides. Sonic sat up and rubbed himself better whereas Cream dusted herself off. Cheese shook some dirt off his wings. Sonic looked up at the way out of the pit. They were an awful long way down; the pit was at least twenty feet deep.

"That was a pretty cunning move I'll have to say." said Sonic "Dr.

Eggman had a pit set up for me. Well its gonna take more then a pit to keep this hedgehog down!"

"I'll fly up and see if it's safe to come out." said Cream, flapping her ears and taking flight.

Cream and Cheese flew up to the top of the pit and were about to fly out…until they hit something. Cream rubbed her head and stared in confusion. There was nothing there so what did they just bump into? Cream felt the thing they'd bumped into. It was glass, thick glass, very, VERY thick glass. In fact it was Diamond Glass, one of the hardest substances on Mobius and almost impossible to break. There was no way Sonic could get out of this pit. Cream flew back down to the bottom of the pit to tell Sonic what was up.

"Oh Mr. Sonic it's terrible!" squeaked Cream "The top of the pit is blocked by glass! We can't get out!"

"Chao!" added Cheese.

"Oh really?" said Sonic "Well I'll just see how thick this glass is!"

Sonic revved his feet up and ran straight up the wall of the pit. Cream stared at him, wondering how he does that kind of thing. Sonic charged up the wall like a speeding bullet and headed for the glass. He smacked against the glass and fell straight back down. Cream flew up to catch him and only just managed to grab one of his quills. Using all her might, Cream lowered Sonic back down to the ground.

"Are you OK Mr. Sonic?" asked Cream sweetly.

"Well apart from this major headache I'm alright." said Sonic, rubbing the small bump that had appeared on his head "But I can't break that glass. It's Diamond Glass, the hardest glass on Mobius. By the time I eventually break that it'll be Christmas in the year 2153."

"We can't wait eleven years for you to get us outta here." said Cream "We need to get out now or Eggman will roboticize Tails and Cosmo!"

"If we don't get out the whole world will be roboticized, never mind just Tails and Cosmo." noted Sonic "Now how am I gonna get outta here?"

"Um, Mr. Sonic?" said Cream "I'm not sure if this is a problem but… look!" she squealed, pointing at some thing with a trembling finger.

Sonic looked in Cream's direction and saw what she was so frightened at. The pit had more then just Diamond Glass to trap Sonic in it, there were five robotical worms that Eggman had placed there just to finish Sonic off. They were gold in colour and full of razor sharp teeth. Sonic got ready to attack as the worms neared him with their teeth bared.

"Stay back Cream, I'll handle this!" yelled Sonic.

"OK." said Cream, crouching down against the wall behind Sonic.

Sonic spun into a spin-dash and charged straight at the nearest robot-worm. Surprisingly enough, the worm dodged his attack with ease. Sonic hurtled straight into the wall and churned his way through the thick brown soil, sending it showering over the robot-worms. Even though Sonic hadn't intended for this to happen, he was glad it did because it gave him an idea. True the Diamond Glass would trap him down the pit, but he could easily dig his way out of the pit by digging around the Diamond Glass. Cream and Cheese followed Sonic through the tunnel he was digging, making sure they were a fair distance away so they wouldn't get soil in their eyes. Unfortunately, the robot worms slithered after them, their razor sharp teeth gleaming like steak knives. Sonic erupted through the earth like a missile shooting up through the underground. Sonic landed on his feet and dusted himself off with his hands while Cream & Cheese climbed out of the tunnel and into the warm daylight. They took a quick breath of fresh air and sighted happily

"That was a brilliant idea Mr. Sonic." said Cream, smiling brightly.

"Chao!" agreed Cheese.

"Thank you." said Sonic, keeping his ego down "What can I say? A pit can't contain this hedgehog!"

"I'll say!" said Cream "Not even a pit with glass over it can stop you!"

Then suddenly one of the robot worms leaped out of the ground and landed on Cream, roaring angrily. Then it scooped Cream up in its jaws and swallowed her whole! Cheese panicked and flew away but another robo-worm popped up from the ground and swallowed him up! Sonic just stared in utter astonishment at the worms. The robot-worms set their sights on Sonic and prepared to eat him up. Sonic just gave them a brave glare and prepared to spin-dash them into tiny little pieces.

"I dunno about you but I'd skip lunch if you don't mind!" he said, lunging at the worm that ate Cream in a homing attack.

The robo-worm slapped him away with its tail and Sonic hurtled into the Diamond Glass above the pit he had just escaped. Diamond Glass is very hard so Sonic hurt his face and he clutched it in pain, groaning quietly. The robo-worm that had eaten Cheese lunged for Sonic and prepared to snatch him up with its jagged jaws. Sonic just stood there and let the robo-worm grab him in its jaws and swallow him up. Big mistake! The moment the worm ate Sonic; Sonic spun into a spin-dash as he entered the pit of the robo-worm's inside and smashed his way straight out of its belly! The worm squealed an electronic squeal and fell to pieces. Cheese flew out of the remains and cooed happily as the fact he was free. Sonic laughed at the robo-worm.

"What's the matter? Don't like hedgehogs for dinner?" he jeered "Too bad! Ha, Ha, Ha!"

Then he spin-dashed into the worm that ate Cream and smashed straight through the robo-worm's stomach. He burst out of the robo-worm's back with Cream in his arms and the robo-worm fainted, falling to pieces after it hit the ground. Sonic landed and put Cream down. The poor rabbit was covered with sticky slimy oil after being inside the robo-worm. She squeezed on one of her ears to get the oil off.

"This stuff is yucky and smells horrible!" she said with disgust "Thanks for getting me out of that horrible robot Mr. Sonic."

"No problem." said Sonic, winking "I'm not letting Dr. Eggman capture you just after he captures Tails and Cosmo."

"Sonic look out!" yelped Cream.

Sonic turned around and saw a robo-worm lunging for him in a rainbow arch. Sonic spin-dashed straight down the robo-worm's mouth and burst through the end of its tail. The worm collapsed to the ground and smashed to pieces. Its head landed in front of Cream, making her jump back in fright. There were only two robo-worms left. Sonic spin-dashed towards them but one of the robo-worms smacked him away with its tail. Sonic landed front first on the ground and screeched to a painful halt. The other robo-worm slithered towards him and smacked him with its tail before he could get up. Cream got mad and decided to help her friend. She flew towards the robo-worm attacking Sonic and kicked it in the head. The robo-worm hissed horribly at Cream but before it could do anything to her, Sonic spin-dashed it in the centre and sliced it into two halves. The robo-worm fell lifelessly to the ground. As for the last robo-worm, it crept up behind Sonic and tried to eat him up but Cheese walloped it in the back of the head and made its head fall forwards and embed itself into the ground. Before the worm could pull its head out, Sonic spin-dashed it into pieces. Sonic dusted his hands off and smirked at the pile of robot pieces.

"OK, seriously, Dr. Eggman's getting worse!" jeered Sonic "First that Egg-Blaze and now those robo-worm things! And the funny thing is, he managed to make a robotical suit that managed to match my strength and almost destroy me**."

"That seems a little weird doesn't it?" said Cream "Eggman was getting good at his stuff and now he's getting bad. Maybe he's losing his touch."

"Either that or Eggman's just running out of good ideas." mused Sonic "Now we've defeated his pathetic robo-worms, we'd best get back to trying to save Tails and Cosmo."

"But Eggman's probably a long way away now." said Cream "We'll never catch up with him!"

"There's only one place Eggman lives in." noted Sonic "And that's his city of Robotropolis in the Northern Border of Megapolis."

"Oh you mean that city Eggman built and disguised as a circus park to trick us into thinking he'd turned nice?" questioned Cream.

"That's exactly what I mean." said Sonic "So I know where Eggman is, it's just the matter of making it in time to save Tails and Cosmo."

He scooped Cream up in bridal style. Cream held Cheese close to her chest.

"Hang tight Cream, I'm going to run as fast as I can possibly run!" ordered Sonic.

"OK." said Cream, clutching Sonic's shoulders tightly.

Sonic nodded and bent down, ready to run.

"Here…we…GO!" he yelled.

He rocketed off and sped through the forests of Green Hill Zone at blinding speed. He was going at supersonic speeds and the feeling of going at this speed gave Cream a tremendous thrilling feeling of excitement as if this was an awesome ride of some sorts. Running at speeds like this, Sonic was bound to arrive in time to save his two friends from roboticization.

The moment Sonic had left; Amy and Scourge arrived on the scene, taking note of the piles of golden robot parts and worm heads. Scourge scowled at them, wondering what the heck they were. Amy searched around, sniffing the air as if she was expecting to find a familiar scent somewhere.

"I think Sonic was just here a moment ago." pondered Amy "But he must have run off."

Scourge picked up a robo-worm's head and stuck his tongue out at it.

"What the heck is this?" he spat.

Amy looked at the worm head.

"I think that was an Eggman robot." said Amy "If there are destroyed Eggman robots here then Sonic must have been in a battle a moment ago."

"Yeah, pity we just missed him." moaned Scourge, kicking the head away "Goodness knows where the hell he is now."

"I'm sure we'll find him eventually." said Amy "I can't wait to see Sonic's face when he sees you again."

Yeah, he'll be good and terrified when he sees my awesome self standing before him! thought Scourge evilly.

"You know looking at you," said Amy for no apparent reason "It isn't hard to tell you're related to Sonic. You and Sonic look almost identical."

"Yeah we do." said Scourge "But we're not twins, I'm a year older then he is."

"I see." said Amy "So, shall we continue looking for Sonic?"

"Of course babe." said Scourge with a flashy smile that could make any woman weak at the knee "In fact, I think I'll carry you so I don't have to hold back for you." he added, flipping his sunglasses down over his eyes.

"Oh, um…OK." said Amy as Scourge scooped her up bridal style.

"If you think Sonic's fast, wait till you see my speed!" bragged Scourge, preparing to run.

He jolted off and sped down the path in the exact same direction Sonic had been running a moment ago. Amy was overwhelmed by the thrilling feeling she was getting from Scourge's incredible speed. Sonic the Hedgehog was the fastest thing alive but Scourge was just as fast so if the two had a race, it would be a tie every time. Scourge sped through the forests, sensing that he wasn't far off from Sonic. He had a feeling Sonic was ahead and if he was right, he could catch up to him and make him pay for the indignity he had caused him and wouldn't Amy get a shock when she watched him beat Sonic to a pulp? Scourge smiled sadistically to himself as he pictured Sonic's demise in his evil mind…

Robotropolis, the city of Dr. Eggman, the city of robots and the one place Eggman ruled over with complete and total authority due to the fact he had built the city and populated it with his own robots. After all even evil geniuses needed a homey little city to plot in. This city was a paradise for Dr. Eggman since the air around the city was polluted, everything was robotical and it was swarming with his finest creations. Only Sonic, Tails, Amy, Cream, Wilson and Mandy had seen the city and actually been in it as well so not many Mobians would know about this place. Dr. Eggman had arrived back at Robotropolis not long ago and had just taken Tails and Cosmo to his headquarters. He put them both in separate glass cages and readied the roboticizer for action. Tails and Cosmo exchanged worrying glances amongst each other as Eggman prepared everything.

"The roboticizer will be ready in a couple of minutes." said Dr. Eggman as he pulled a lever "I just need to adjust a few more controls and dials and then it'll be show time! Hee, Hee, Hee, Hee!"

"All systems are primed and ready." said Alonzo "We just need to wait for this thing to switch on and then the roboticizer will be ready to go."

"I know Alonzo now do me a favour and keep an eye on the monitors." ordered Dr. Eggman as he twisted a knob "We must be ready for Sonic the Hedgehog's arrival."

"Absolutely sir." said Alonzo, zipping over to the computer monitors that displayed the entire perimeter of the city as well as outside the gates. "Although I don't see why you're so concerned since the gates are too tough for him to smash through." he mumbled to himself. Unfortunately Dr. Eggman heard him.

"I want to know if he's there so I can send a robot to destroy him!" yelled Dr. Eggman "Now keep your stupid mouth shut while I ready this thing!"

Alonzo did as he was told and kept his sharp eyes on the computer monitors. Cosmo curled herself up and sat against the glass, shaking like a leaf. Tails noticed Cosmo's terrified state and tried to comfort her.

"Don't be scared Cosmo, Sonic will save us." Tails assured her.

"But what if he doesn't get there in time?" worried Cosmo, shaking ever harder "We'll be robots and probably under the control of that horrible man there!"

"Sonic always manages to get there in the nick of time." said Tails "He'll save us with minutes to spare I promise you."

"Sonic won't be saving you at all since he's trapped at the bottom of a pit I made for him!" retorted Dr. Eggman who had heard everything Tails had been saying to Cosmo.

"You're wrong Eggman!" cried Tails "Its gonna take more then a stupid pit to stop Sonic!"

"I know, that's why I put a sheet of Diamond Glass over the top to prevent him from escaping!" said Dr. Eggman, grinning widely "And I've planted some robo-worms to finish him off. He should be as good as eaten by now; I'll have to go check on the pit after I roboticize you and your new friend here."

Dr. Eggman stopped fiddling with the control pad and walked over to Cosmo's cage, the plant girl still backed against the wall and shivering as if she was deathly cold. Even though Dr. Eggman was nowhere near as scary looking as Marik the Martian, he still sacred her. Dr. Eggman looked at Cosmo and hummed with interest.

"As for you my dear, what are you?" he mused "You definitely don't look like a local."

"I…I'm…I'm not." stammered Cosmo "I come from…another… world…"

"Interesting…" said Dr. Eggman to himself "You're from another world eh? That'll make you all the more special once I roboticize you won't it? Ha, ha, ha!"

Cosmo shook even more and her heart almost stopped. Tails got mad at what Eggman was saying to Cosmo and decided to stand up for her.

"You leave her alone!" cried Tails.

"Or what?" sneered Dr. Eggman "You can't do anything to me, you're trapped like a big fat filthy rat!"

"You let me outta here and I'll show you who's the rat around here!" threatened Tails.

"And why would I be stupid enough to do that?" asked Dr. Eggman snidely "You're staying in that cage and that's the end of it! You won't be so cocky when I roboticize you!"

He turned his back on the two and walked back to the control panel, laughing loudly. Tails began to ram himself against the glass in an attempt to break it but his attempts were futile seeing as this was Diamond Glass. All he ended up doing was giving himself a sore shoulder. After twenty-five futile rams against the glass, Tails collapsed in exhaustion. He panted hard and his tongue hung out from the side of his mouth. Cosmo just looked at him sadly and felt sorry for poor Tails. Dr. Eggman flicked the switch on the control pad that powered the roboticizer up and the roboticizer began to whirr and buzz into life. Tails stared helplessly around him as his cage began to lighten up. That was a sign the roboticizer was almost ready to activate. Cosmo had no idea what was going on but she knew it was bad so she continued to hug herself in fear.

"It's almost ready now." Dr. Eggman announced needlessly loudly "I hope you're all good and terrified before I activate this machine!"

"We are!" snapped Tails "Do you really need to ask?"

Eggman ignored Tails' rude remark and continued working. Or at least he would have done if Dr. Alonzo hadn't started shrieking like mad.

"Master! Master! Sonic the Hedgehog has arrived!" screamed Alonzo "He's just outside the gates!"

Dr. Eggman immediately ran over to Alonzo and peered at the monitors. Tails and Cosmo's faces brightened at the news. Dr. Eggman smiled at the sight of Sonic on the monitor.

"So Sonic has somehow escaped my pit of peril and has now shown up to save his pitiful friends?" he crooned.

"How the heck did he escape the pit?" said Alonzo wildly "You covered it with Diamond Glass! He shouldn't be strong enough to smash through that!"

"I have no idea but now he's here, we can unleash something that will guarantee his defeat!" Dr. Eggman declared proudly "Alonzo, you will take Egg-Scorpion Mk II and give Sonic a warm welcome!"

"Yeesss sir!" said Alonzo obediently.

He zoomed out of the room like a motorbike.

"No matter what you do, Sonic will smash your bot, kick your butt and rescue us!" claimed Tails.

"We'll see about that won't we?" laughed Dr. Eggman "Egg-Scorpion Mk II will be much more reliable then the first Egg-Scorpion and it'll ground Sonic into the dirt!"

"Fat chance." muttered Tails.

Dr. Eggman ignored Tails and set his eyes on the computer monitors, ready to watch Sonic's demise.

Outside Robotropolis gates, Sonic screeched to a halt and put Cream down. He glared at the gates and grumbled under his breath.

"I remember those darn gates." he moaned "They're strong enough to resist my attacks and they're almost invulnerable so I'll never be able to get through by knocking the gates down."

"Should I fly you over Mr. Sonic?" asked Cream.

"That would be good idea but I don't want to risk you getting caught as well." said Sonic "Not to mention Eggman must have some kind of flying robot to take out anyone flying over the gates."

"Then how are we going to get in?" asked Cream.

"I hope that tunnel Wilson dug under the wall* is still there." said Sonic "If it is then I can just spin-dash through that and presto I'm in!"

He ran away from the gates and headed further across the wall. He came to the location that Wilson dug under when he and Mandy were asked to help him and the others rescue Cream and stopped. Fortunately, the hole was still there. Eggman obviously hadn't found it and filled it in.

"Well that's lucky." said Sonic "I'll just spin-dash through that hole and then I'm in!"

But before he could do anything, he heard a familiar shrilly girl's voice calling his name from a distance.

"Sonic!" called the voice of Amy Rose.

"How the heck did Amy get here?" wondered Sonic, turning around to see a cloud of dust coming over the horizon.

There was more then just Amy though. She was being carried by Scourge the Hedgehog and Scourge was rocketing towards him at top speed. Cream ran up to Sonic and saw what he was looking at.

"Hey Mr. Sonic, who's the green hedgehog carrying Miss Rose?" asked Cream.

"I think I know who it is." said Sonic dryly.

Scourge came into view with Amy in his arms. He screeched to a halt and sent sand flying all over Sonic and Cream. Some sand got in Cream's eyes and she yelped. She rubbed them to get the sand out of her eyes. Scourge put Amy down and flashed a wicked smile at the shocked Sonic. Sonic just stared at Scourge in disbelief. Amy ran up to Sonic and grasped him in a hug.

"Hi Sonic!" she said cheerfully "I bet you're wondering what I'm here for. Well I happened to come across your brother here and I decided to help him look for you and now that we've found you, you and your brother can have a happy reunion!"

Sonic said nothing and Amy let go of him, wondering why he was acting like that. Scourge raised his sunglasses, revealing his cobalt blue eyes and angry expression underneath.

"Hello bro." he said coldly.

"Scourge." said Sonic, trying not to show any signs of fear "Long time no see."

"Of course its long time no see!" snarled Scourge "I've been rotting in jail for two years because of you! And now I've returned, I will make you pay for all the indignity you've ever caused me! And by that, I mean KILL you!"

Amy couldn't believe her ears.

"You want to kill Sonic?" she screeched "But I thought…"

"Amy, he's played you for a sap." said Sonic "He was obviously using you to get to me. Scourge doesn't want a happy reunion; he just wants to spin-dash me to a pulp and mount my head on the wall."

"Oh my gosh!" cried Amy "Why does he wanna do that?"

"Because, toots." Scourge said before Sonic could say anything "Wimpo Sonic here decided to deny me what's mine and put me in jail! Well no one denies Scourge the Hedgehog total domination of this world!"

"Well I'm denying you domination of this world so there!" cried Sonic "I beat you before and I'll beat you again Scourge!"

"Just try it weakling!" challenged Scourge, daring Sonic to make the first blow by making "come get some" gestures with his hand "I've been doing serious workouts in prison so I'll be too strong for you this time!"

"We'll see about that." growled Sonic "Amy, you back me up. Cream, you and Cheese stay out of trouble."

"OK." said Cream.

She wanted to help but she was too polite to protest so she did as she was told and stayed back from the fight. Amy summoned her Piko-Piko hammer and charged at Scourge before Sonic could say anything. Scourge gave her a massive uppercut to the jaw and Amy hurtled backwards. That punch had cracked some of her teeth and a thin trickle of blood came out from the side of her lip. Scourge just laughed at the dazed hedgehog.

"Does a girl as pathetic as this seriously think she'll get lucky with you Sonic?" he jeered "I bet you wouldn't hang out with Amy if your life depended on it!"

"That does it!" shouted Sonic, his fists shaking with rage "No one hurts Amy or anyone of my friends like that! You're going down Scourge the Hedgehog!"

"Bring it on bro!" dared Scourge.

Sonic sped towards Scourge in a homing attack but Scourge got into a spin-dash and bashed straight into him. Scourge's attack was strong and Sonic fell head over heels onto his stomach. Then Scourge spin-dash Sonic in the back before he could get up. Sonic managed to stand back up but Scourge knocked him over again with a spin-dash. Then Scourge decided to knock it off with the spin-dashes and grabbed Sonic by the arms. Using all the strength he had, he threw Sonic straight into the iron wall that surrounded Robotropolis. He threw Sonic so hard that he dented the wall after he hit it! Sonic fell on his bottom and groaned. Scourge seized Sonic by the throat and pinned him to the wall. He bared his sharp teeth and glared a terrifying death glare at his brother.

"See?" he said "I've barely started and already I've whupped your backside! That workout's done wonders for me hasn't it?"

"Just because you're all beefed up and that…it doesn't make…you any stronger!" choked Sonic as he tried to free himself from Scourge's grasp.

"You're close to death and yet you still decide to insult me?" blurted Scourge "How arrogant are you Sonic?"

"Nowhere near as arrogant as you!" snapped Sonic.

He kicked Scourge in the thigh. Scourge yelped and let go of Sonic to rub his leg better but Sonic decided to attack with a terrific punch to the face that sent Scourge staggering backwards. Before Scourge could regain his senses, Sonic spin-dashed straight into him, sending him flying through the air like a tossed stone. Scourge landed on his back and skidded across the hard, rocky, sandy terrain. That attack didn't do much to him but he did have some scrape marks on the back of his leather jacket. Scourge got back to his feet, flipped his sunglasses down and growled like a dinosaur. Sonic got into a battle ready stance, ready to attack Scourge once again.

"That's it brother!" snarled Scourge "You can lock me up for as long as you wish, but no one ruins this jacket!"

"I'll ruin more then just that stupid jacket!" yelled Sonic "I'll break your sunglasses too!"

And with that the two hedgehogs rushed towards each other like speeding bullets. They both crashed into each other and knocked each other over. It was almost like they were playing dodgem cars. Sonic and Scourge rubbed their foreheads and groaned in unison.

"Geez Scourge what is your head made of?" groaned Sonic.

"I could ask you the same thing Sonic!" retorted Scourge.

But that was the least of their problems. Sonic and Scourge both got back to their feet but they were interrupted by the sound of a robot leaping out from the city. They both stared at Robotropolis and saw a giant scorpion robot leaping over the fence and out of the city. It was Egg-Scorpion Mk II. It looked very much like the original Egg-Scorpion albeit with a row of golden horns on its head, bigger claws and a bigger tail with more cannons on then before. Alonzo was piloting it. The scorpion robot skittered towards the two hedgehogs. It opened one of its giant claws and seized Scourge the Hedgehog instead of Sonic. Seeing as his brother was captured, Sonic ran off before Alonzo could spot him and spin-dashed under the hole in the fence. Amy, who had recovered from Scourge's uppercut earlier, and Cream crawled under the fence after him. As for Scourge, he squirmed in the giant scorpion's grasp. Alonzo held Scourge close to the cockpit so he could see him and he hooted with maniacal laughter.

"I did it! I caught Sonic the Hedgehog!" he giggled "My master will be so pleased with me!"

"Put me down you moron!" roared Scourge, pounding Egg-Scorpion's claw with his fist "And I'm not Sonic the Hedgehog!"

Alonzo stopped laughing and stared at the hedgehog in his grasp.

"That's weird." he mused "Sonic doesn't have a raspy evil voice like that."

He opened the cockpit so he could get a better look since the cockpit window was completely red so he couldn't see what colour Scourge was. Alonzo stared at Scourge and almost had a malfunction on the spot.

"Oh my goodness!" he gurgled "You aren't Sonic the Hedgehog! You're just some cheap imitator of Sonic!"

"Cheap? CHEAP IMITATOR?" bellowed Scourge, flinging his arms about in a mad temper "I'm no cheap imitator of Sonic! I'm his older brother I'll have you know and I want nothing more then for Sonic the Hedgehog to eat mud and get bent!"

Alonzo listened to Scourge's ranting with interest.

"So you're Sonic the Hedgehog's brother eh?" he said "And you want to destroy him as well?"

"Yes!" roared Scourge "I want to make Sonic and anyone affiliated with him suffer and I also want to take over the world! Mobius will bow before me and I shall be King Scourge, ruler of Mobius!"

"Oh no you won't!" said Alonzo firmly "If anyone's taking over the world it's me! I-I-I mean it's my master Dr. Eggman!" he corrected himself "If you wish to take over the world then I'll have to terminate you so Eggman won't have any contest!"

"Dr. Eggman?" said Scourge "Isn't he that crazy fat man who wants to roboticize everybody?"

"Yes he is." said Alonzo "And he is taking over the world. Not you." he prodded Scourge in the chest with a long sharp finger "I'll take you to Eggman to be roboticized and that way, you can't interfere with him."

"You'll have to defeat me first you missile on wheels!" shouted Scourge.

"And defeat you I shall." said Alonzo darkly "I've already got you tightly trapped within the Egg-Scorpion's claws so there's no way you'll be able to do anything now."

"Oh yeah?" growled Scourge "Well watch this!"

He gripped the insides of the claw with his hands and using all the strength he had, he tried to force the claw open so he could free himself. Alonzo just stood by and watched, smirking confidently. There was no way Scourge was going to get free of that claw. But Scourge managed to force the claw open with one mighty push with his arms. The claw opened and Scourge fell to the ground. Alonzo's optics widened so much with shock they popped out of their sockets! He caught his optics and put them back in his eye sockets. Alonzo hopped back in the cockpit and closed the hatch. Scourge smirked coolly at the giant robot scorpion that loomed before him.

"You want me to rough that giant tin-can up for you?" he said evilly "I'll be happy to oblige!"

"I'll roughen you up you egotistical, power hungry sapsucker!" yelled

Alonzo. Then he thought to himself Hey that sounds like something I would say to my master if I had the courage to do so!

Scourge spin-dashed straight into Egg-Scorpion Mk II and bounced straight off the cockpit. That one little spin-dash sent the scorpion bot staggering backwards and falling on it's side. Alonzo was well and truly shaken by that onslaught.

"Oooooh my goooooodnesssss!" he burbled "That was even stronger then any attack Sonic could ever do!"

"If you thought that was mind-blowing, wait till you see the real stuff!" crowed Scourge.

And with that he spin-dashed into Egg-Scorpion once again…

Meanwhile, Sonic, Amy and Cream had made it into Robotropolis and were just making their way into Eggman's base. Sonic had explained everything that had happened earlier to Amy so she was up to speed.

"So Eggman has Tails and Cosmo and is probably ready to roboticize them any moment now?" said Amy, hoping she'd gotten everything right.

"Yup." said Sonic "And that's why me and Cream have come to Robotropolis."

"Well I hope we're not too late." said Amy "And I still can't believe Scourge tricked me like that!"

"You didn't know who he was." said Sonic "You were bound to fall for his act. It's no big deal."

"It is a big deal!" shrieked Amy "Thanks to me, Scourge is here to get you and he won't stop until he kills you!"

"Amy please be quiet." said Cream "The nasty robots will hear you."

"Sorry." said Amy, clasping her hands over her mouth.

Luckily, no robots had heard Amy shrieking. Sonic peeked around the corner of a domed shaped building and spotted Dr. Eggman's headquarters, proudly standing in the centre of this robotic metropolis. It was the tallest building in the city so it wasn't hard to find it.

Sonic, Amy and Cream headed towards the colossal building and Sonic broke the doors down with one hard spin-dash. This immediately alerted the guard bots and they opened fire on the Mobians with their laser cannons. Sonic homing attacked them and smashed them to pieces, Amy squashed them flat with a hefty swing of the Piko-Piko hammer and Cream and Cheese teamed up with kicks to the head and flying punches on the robots to distract them so Sonic and Amy could destroy them. After the guard bots had been effortlessly dealt with, Sonic, Amy and Cream ran on and headed for the roboticizer chamber where Dr. Eggman likely was. They hadn't been in the roboticizer chamber the last time they were in Eggman's base but Sonic had a sneaky suspicion on where it was. It would likely be on the upper floors of the building so Sonic and the girls headed upstairs. Sonic's guess was fortunately correct; the chamber was on the upper floors of the building. After climbing up two floors, Sonic and the girls found the chamber. Sonic spin-dashed the door down and Dr. Eggman jumped in surprise. Tails and Cosmo's faces brightened at the sight of their blue spiky friend standing there with a big smirk on his face.

"Sonic! You made it just in time!" cried Tails.

"I can see that." said Sonic, taking note of the glowing cages they were trapped in.

"B-b-b-b-b-b-but!" stuttered Dr. Eggman "How can you be here, when Alonzo's fighting you outside the gates? You can't be so fast you're in two places at once!"

"I'm not in two places at once." said Sonic "That hedgehog Alonzo's fighting is my evil brother and I bet he's tearing your scorpion bot to smithereens!"

Dr. Eggman looked at the monitors quickly and true to Sonic's guess, Scourge was tearing Egg-Scorpion apart limb from limb.

"Oh that's just great!" he groaned "One supersonic hedgehog is bad enough but he has a brother that seems to be just as fast and strong as he is? How can I cope with two supersonic hedgehogs on my back?"

While Dr. Eggman moaned, Sonic spin-dashed into Tails and Cosmo's glass cages and shattered them to tiny little shards. Then the Mobians all made a run for it before Eggman could finish being grumpy. Dr. Eggman turned away from the monitors and saw the broken cages and the missing Mobians. He face-palmed himself as hard as he could.

"Oh for Pete's sake!" he grumbled "Why did I just let those stupid computer monitors divert my attention? I could have roboticized those two at the touch of a button just before Sonic could free them both but no! I let the monitors distract me and now Tails and that plant girl have gotten away! Oooooh I really hate it when my prisoners escape!"

His temper was so great he kicked the control pad as hard as he could and just ended up severely hurting his foot. Dr. Eggman screeched in pain and leaped about like a mad rabbit while clutching his foot. After he finally stopped hopping about in pain, he pressed a button on the control pad for the computer monitors.

"Alonzo, return to base immediately!" ordered Dr. Eggman.

No answer came from the other side of the microphone.

"Alonzo! I said return to base immediately you ignorant slop bucket!" roared Dr. Eggman.

Still no answer came. Then suddenly a green spiky ball smashed through a window and screeched to a halt across the floor. It was Scourge the Hedgehog, holding a very battered and very beaten Alonzo in his hands. Alonzo had dents and cracks everywhere and his left arm was clinging on by a thread of wire. Both his wheels were missing and his right optic was smashed to pieces so he could only see through one eye. The tip of his head was bent backwards.

"I'm…sorry…master…" grunted Alonzo "I…tried…."

Then Scourge threw Alonzo onto the floor. Dr. Eggman screamed in terror and Scourge seized him by his uniform. Then, somehow, using all the strength he had, he hoisted Dr. Eggman clean off the floor with one arm! Dr. Eggman waved his arms and legs around wildly as Scourge held him firmly off the floor.

"Please! Don't hurt me!" he begged "I'll never try to harm Sonic the Hedgehog again! I swear! I'll never harm another Mobian again!"

"Good!" said Scourge crossly "Because I wanna do that!"

Dr. Eggman stopped gibbering like an idiot and stared at the green hedgehog that held him with one arm.

"You, what?" he said.

"I said, I wanna harm Sonic the Hedgehog!" retorted Scourge "I wish nothing more then doom open that blue moron and anyone affiliated with him!"

"You mean you're not on Sonic's side?" said Dr. Eggman, his face brightening.

"Yes! I'm not on that wimpo hedgehog's side!" snarled Scourge "He locked me up for two years and I've come for revenge! Once I destroy that hedgehog I will conquer the world and everyone will bow beneath my feet!"

"So, you want to conquer the world do you?" purred Dr. Eggman.

"Yes!" growled Scourge, holding Eggman close to his face "And I will not let YOU get in my way!"

"Oh no green Sonic." said Dr. Eggman, waving his hands about "I don't want to get in your way. You see, I hate Sonic the Hedgehog too and I want to conquer the world too. If you and me team up, we can vanquish Sonic the Hedgehog and we can BOTH be rulers of Mobius! The planet will bow down to us and we shall rule over it all! Whadda ya say?"

Scourge pretended to consider this offer by putting a finger to his chin. Then he tightened his grip on Dr Eggman's uniform, glared at him and gritted his teeth. Dr. Eggman's moustache drooped down in dismay.

"Do you really think I'm gonna make an alliance with someone as pathetic as you?" he said, his voice dangerously soft and nasty like " I will conquer Mobius, I will rule over it all and Mobius will bow to my feet! I will not share power with you or anyone else!"

"But green Sonic…"

"And stop calling me that!" roared Scourge "My name is Scourge!"

"OK, Scourge ." Eggman corrected himself "How can you turn down such an offer? We'll be invincible together!"

"I don't need you or anyone else's help!" snarled Scourge "I will conquer Mobius by myself! I have the power and no one can stop me! And besides, if I did make that stupid alliance, you would stab me in the back after we conquer Mobius!"

"No I wouldn't!" protested Dr. Eggman "Honest I wouldn't!"

"Yes you would!" retorted Scourge "I bet the moment we conquer this planet you'll blast me dead with one of your stupid robots or roboticize me! Well guess what? It ain't happening and I am overthrowing you!"

And with that he did the one thing Sonic would never dream of doing. He tossed Dr. Eggman straight out of the broken window with one hefty throw! Dr. Eggman screamed a loud throaty scream as he plummeted out the window and straight down to the ground. Luckily for him, a flying robot saw him and swooped straight down to catch him. Unfortunately, Scourge saw the flying robot and spin-dashed into it, smashing it to pieces before it could get to Dr. Eggman. Eggman continued falling. However more luck struck for him, a robot on the ground spotted him falling and caught him in its arms. Dr. Eggman breathed a huge sight of relief. He had lived to fight another day but he had a feeling Robotropolis wouldn't. Scourge got mad at the fact Dr. Eggman had been saved from falling to his doom and he decided to take his rage out on the city. He spin-dashed into every building he aimed at, causing them to shudder and shake and tumble over to the ground and he destroyed every single robot that tried to stop him. The robot that had saved Dr. Eggman from his fall ran out of Robotropolis, carrying Dr. Eggman with him as fast as it could run.

Scourge ploughed through yet another building, causing it to shake about and then topple over and crash to the ground, smashing any Eggman robots unfortunate enough to be in the building's path. A squadron of Egg-Pawns began aimlessly shooting at Scourge with their pistols but they missed every shot and Scourge destroyed them all with a spin-dash and a punch. One Egg-Pawn tried to skewer him with its lance weapon but he snatched the lance and impaled the robot through the head with it. The robot toppled to the ground lifelessly. More Egg-Pawns tried to skewer Scourge with their lances but Scourge swiped at them with his lance and sent their lances flying straight out of their hands with one powerful clash. Then he chucked the lance he had straight into an Egg-Pawn's chest. Two Egg-Pawns tried to grab him but Scourge jumped up and landed on one Egg-Pawn's head and then stomped on it, crushing it instantly and killing the bot. Then he did an amazing back flip off the dead Egg-Pawn and landed behind the other one. He kicked the Egg-Pawn as hard as he could and then he stomped on its back. Then he picked up the Egg-Pawn and threw it straight into another Eggman robot. A giant silver Egg-Pawn armed with an enormous, beefy hammer and a red helmet, stomped its way towards Scourge and tried to smash him with its hammer. Scourge dodged the hammer blow and tried to homing attack it but seeing as the robot was shielded with an invulnerable helmet he only hurt himself and he fell backwards. The robot tried to smash him with its hammer again but Scourge dodged the smash and homing attacked its hands, causing it to drop the hammer. Scourge grabbed the giant thing and only just managed to lift it up. He began to spin himself around with the hammer in his hands. The hammer robot decided now was a good time to run for it so it turned around and ran for its life. Scourge kept on spinning around in a circle until he was nothing more then a green circular blur. Any robot stupid enough to get close to this spinning circle got smashed by the hammer. Then Scourge let got of the hammer and sent it hurling through the air. All the Eggman robots began to run away in blind panic, fearing they would get smashed by the hammer after it landed. But by sheer bad luck for the robots, the hammer hurtled towards the oil station mounted on the side of Eggman's head quarters. The hammer smashed through the station and oil began to spill everywhere. All Scourge needed was fire and then the city would be blown sky high. The robot with the hammer retrieved its hammer from the destroyed oil station and tried once again to smash Scourge with it. Scourge dodged the hammer blow and kicked its helmet off. Without its helmet, the robot was now vulnerable to attack. Scourge spin-dashed it in the head and crushed it instantly. Then Scourge snatched the robot's hammer and whacked the robot with it. The robot hurtled straight into the oil station and wrecked it even more. The robot's smashed head was sparking madly and the sparks flew into the oil and set the spilling oil alight! The oil was now alight with flames and the flames spread into the remains of the station. The station was engulfed with flames and then the entire city erupted into an enormous explosion that could have woken up China. Sonic, Tails, Amy, Cosmo and Cream were a good distance away from Robotropolis and they were blown over by the force of the explosion. It had spread pretty far from where Robotropolis was. Dr. Eggman looked back on Robotropolis and saw its blazing state. It riled him ever so much to see his city in ruins now. He had spent forever building it and now Scourge had blown it up, destroying everything and every robot out there. Now he would have to rebuild the entire city from scratch. The robot that saved him put him down and Eggman grumbled to himself.

"That stupid Scourge the Hedgehog!" he yelled "He's ruined my life's work! My glorious city is in ruins and all my robots are destroyed! Now I'll have to rebuild everything! Oh the indignity!"

Then something soared through the air and bounced off the ground two times before coming to a halt at Eggman's feet. It was the head of Alonzo; the only thing that remained of the stuck-up servant bot. Eggman picked up Alonzo's head and observed it. Despite the damages, Alonzo was still alive.

"Master…" he croaked weakly "Our…city…is…gone…"

"I know it is Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman "but there's one thing that Scourge won't have destroyed and that's my secret bunker underneath my headquarters."

"You…have…a…se…cret…bunker…sir…?" rasped Alonzo.

"Yes I do Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman proudly "And I have just the things to get Robotropolis back in business, a robot production chamber and I've kept Metal Sonic there in case something like this happened."

"Wow…mas…ter…you…are…brill…i…ant…" croaked Alonzo.

"Of course I'm brilliant!" bragged Dr. Eggman "I'm an evil genius and evil geniuses are brilliant! Now once the smoke clears, we shall get down to the bunker, make some more robots, give you a new body and install the final preparations to Metal Sonic and unleash him on Mobius at long last!"

"Very…good…master…" said Alonzo.

"Oh Scourge, you have not seen the last of me!" Eggman declared "I'll be back to get you and Sonic! Just you wait and see!"

Meanwhile, Sonic and friends had picked themselves up after the explosion knocked them over and they looked at the smoking ruins of Robotropolis. Despite being in the distance, they could tell what it must be like up close.

"Eggman's city is destroyed!" exclaimed Tails.

"Who did that?" asked Cosmo "I bet Eggman didn't blow the city up himself."

"He didn't." said Sonic "I bet it was Scourge."

"But why would Scourge do us a favour and destroy Robotropolis for us?" asked Tails "I thought you said he was evil."

"He is evil." said Sonic "It's just that Scourge doesn't want any competition for ruler of Mobius so I guess he did that to get rid of Dr. Eggman."

"Somehow, I don't think he did." said Amy sadly "I bet Eggman made it out somehow."

"You might be right Amy." said Sonic "Because no matter what we do, that Eggman always seems to spring back to us so I bet this isn't the last we've seen of him."

"But I bet it's the last you've seen of Scourge." said Cream "I bet that nasty hedgehog perished in the explosion he caused."

Sonic didn't think Cream was right but he knew that no one, not even Scourge could survive an explosion like that. Scourge must have perished in the explosion he had caused himself. If that was the case then Sonic wouldn't have to worry about his evil, maniacal brother anymore.

"Scourge must have perished." said Sonic "There's no way he could have survived an explosion strong enough to knock us over even though we're half a mile away from the explosion."

"I agree." said Tails "You'd have to be immortal to survive something like that."

Sonic nodded.

"Now I've saved you and Cosmo from roboticization, let's go home and continue working on that plane you're building." said Sonic.

With that said, Sonic, Tails and the girls set off for home in Green Hill Zone.

As for Robotropolis, what was once a grand robotical city fit for a machine lover had been reduced to a miserable pile of debris, oil and smoking ruins. Machine parts lay everywhere and sparks flew in several different places. It would take Dr. Eggman a long time to rebuild all this but he would do it. Even though the city was a wreck and there didn't appear to be any survivors, there was one. A big pile of ravaged steel began to shake furiously before suddenly being flung everywhere by a terrific punch. It was Scourge the Hedgehog! He had survived the terrific explosion by digging underground with a spin-dash and waiting for everything to clear up. Scourge climbed out of the hole and dusted himself off. He surveyed his surroundings and was pleased to see Robotropolis had been obliterated by the damage he'd caused.

"Now that's grand!" he hissed "I've destroyed that loser Eggman's city! I bet he won't dare to take me on anytime soon!"

He walked slowly through the wreck, ignoring the billowing smoke, piles of debris and destroyed robots that surrounded him. After leaving the destroyed city he put on a grim, angry face for he had realized that Sonic the Hedgehog had evaded him and fled for it and he had no idea where Sonic could possibly be right now. Scourge stomped the ground in blind fury and only just refrained from throwing a fit.

"~?:#!" he swore "That dweeb got away and it's all because of that moron Eggman! Well Sonic can run but he can't hide from Scourge the Hedgehog! I'll find him somehow and I won't stop until I do!"

He put his hands to his mouth and screamed at the top of his raspy voice.

"HEY SONIC! IF YOU CAN HEAR ME, I WILL KILL YOU AND I WON'T STOP UNTIL I DO!"

His voice echoed for a few moments before fading away into silence. Scourge put his arms to the side and sighed loudly. Then suddenly he had an idea on how to draw Sonic out of hiding. He smiled a wicked toothy smile at himself. Sonic couldn't resist the urge to save those in need so if Scourge just picked somewhere to cause malice and mayhem, Sonic would be on the case immediately and then he and Scourge will have their long awaited final showdown. Scourge knew where he wanted to attack and he ran off to the west direction.

"If my memory serves my correctly, Spagonia should be a few good miles from where I am now." he said to himself "Once I get there, I'll threaten to lay siege to the city and demand Sonic to show himself and face me or else. Then I'll smash that wimp into the ground and then I'll take over the world! Ha, Ha, Ha, Ha, Ha!"

He continued laughed evilly to himself as he continued his journey to Spagonia. He couldn't wait for the final showdown between him and his brother and he knew he was going to enjoy every moment of beating Sonic up. The battle would be legendary…

Footnotes:

 See Tales from Mobius: Arc 2 for the whole adventure!

* See Story 24

 See Stories 26-27

* We still cannot forget the shocking events of Story 2 can we?

* See Story 20

 See Stories 17-18

 See Story 19

Scourge the Hedgehog has entered the building baby! Oh and Scourge fans, please don't get too mad at me for changing his character a little, this is my take on the Sonic Universe so I can make little changes to the characters to make this continuity more separate from the others. Related to Sonic or not, he's still the same old Scourge isn't he...? Reviews are welcome as always.

A Real Scourge Part 2

Story 29: A Real Scourge Part 2

Shortly after Scourge had left the Northern Border to go to Spagonia, Dr. Eggman headed to the remains of his headquarters carrying Alonzo's head in his hands. He pushed his way through a pile of debris until he spotted a blue trap door mounted in the ground. Dr. Eggman opened the door and ran down a fight of stairs that led to another door. He opened the door and went inside. He was in his secret bunker which was as big as the roboticizer chamber in his quarters. The bunker contained a roboticizer, a robot production line and some desks laden with toolboxes and diagrams. He put Alonzo's head on a worktable and grabbed a toolbox.

"Now we've arrived in my secret bunker the first thing I'm gonna do is give you a new body." said Dr. Eggman, putting the toolbox on the table.

"Thank…you…sir…" croaked Alonzo pathetically.

"And once I've fixed you up I'll finish off Metal Sonic." said Dr. Eggman "And once I've unleashed Metal Sonic, I'll rebuild my robot army and set them to work on rebuilding Robotropolis."

"You…certainly…are…busy…aren't…you?" rasped Alonzo.

"I'm always busy." said Dr. Eggman "But all this work I'm doing will be worth it. I'll destroy Sonic at long last and finally claim total domination of Mobius!"

He laughed his usual loud demented cackle.

"I…bet…Metal…Sonic…will…be…too…strong…for…even… Scourge…to…defeat…" said Alonzo.

"If Metal Sonic is supposed to match Sonic in everyway then he'll match Scourge in everyway." claimed Dr. Eggman "Scourge and Sonic are the same when it comes to combat it's just Scourge is a bit more violent when it comes to fighting."

"Agreed…" Alonzo gasped hoarsely.

"Now, shall we get started on your new body my good servant?" said Dr. Eggman, pulling out a screwdriver from the toolbox.

"Yes sir…" whispered Alonzo.

"Then let's get started." said Dr. Eggman, twirling the screwdriver in his fingers.

Spagonia may have been very far away from the Northern Border of Megapolis but distance was obsolete to anyone with supersonic speeds. A normal person running from the Northern Border to Spagonia would have taken three days at the most but Scourge could run as fast as Sonic himself so he arrived at Spagonia in less than two hours. He arrived at the glamorous little town and slowed to a halt. Spagonia was a small but nice looking village with a Western European theme going on. Most of the roofs to the buildings were red in colour and there was a clock tower that stood proudly in the centre of the village, chiming beautiful soft chimes every quarter hour. Spagonia also had a university that was very well known amongst the people of Spagonia and many Mobians graduated from there. Scourge and Sonic had both visited Spagonia before so Scourge was very familiar with this place. He casually strolled through the village as if he was just a perfectly normal person going on his daily errands about the place. As he walked through the village he eyed the houses and the stalls nearby and grinned wickedly.

"Ah this place is so familiar to me it feels like I only visited it yesterday." Scourge said to himself quietly "I think when I take over the world, this will be the first place I wreck and remould into my image."

As he passed a stall selling various sweet smelling fruits, the stall manger, who was an orange otter, called out to him.

"Hey kid! D'ya wanna buy an apple?" he asked, presenting to Scourge a shiny fresh red apple.

Scourge seized the man by the collar and pulled him close to his face.

"D'ya wanna get a nosebleed?" he snarled.

"What? What did I say?" yelped the manager.

"You don't just yell at people "D'ya wanna buy an apple?" you moron!" ranted Scourge "If we wanted to buy an apple, we would stop and buy one, not continue walking past you dumbass!"

He pushed the managed over and the manager fell onto his back. Then Scourge tipped the boxes of apples over and the apples all fell onto the manager and bounced off the ground. The apples wouldn't be fit to sell now since they'd be all bruised and dirty from bouncing on the ground. The manager wailed loudly and Scourge merely walked away, leaving the manager to complain to himself.

Now, what malice could he cause that would attract the attention of that scumbag Sonic the Hedgehog? Scourge had the answer, destroy the village of course!

Scourge rolled into a ball and charged at the first house he came across in a mad spin-dash. The spin-dash was so powerful the building literally collapsed to the ground like a sandcastle! The Mobians of Spagonia instantly noticed the tumbling building and began to panic. Then Scourge hurtled into another building as hard as he could and sent that one crumbling down. Any Mobians unfortunate enough to be near that crumbling building at the time were showered by falling bricks and tiles. The Mobians began to do more then just panic now, they ran around in circles, screaming at the top of their lungs. Some Mobians accidentally bumped into each other and knocked each other over. Scourge spin-dashed into a nearby archway, causing it to crumble and rain down on the ground, crushing any Mobian unfortunate enough to be under the archway at the time and injuring anyone that was on it. The Mobian's panicked state became more and more frenzied. They were like a panicked swarm of bees running this way and that, not sure what to do about the person attacking them. Scourge wasn't finished unfortunately. He spin-dashed into another tall building and that building tumbled forward and crumbled to the ground. There were a bunch of stalls at the foot of the crumbling building and all the stall managers ran for their lives before the rain of bricks, sand and rubble could crush them. Scourge stood on top of a flat topped building and smiled wickedly at the panicking Mobians. It gave him great pleasure to watch them running around in fear due to the mayhem he caused. He laughed to himself.

"That's it ya losers!" he yelled "Scream in terror as I heartlessly wreck your pathetic village! All this mayhem I'm causing is bound to attract that dweeb Sonic the Hedgehog!"

He leaped into the air and spin-dashed into another archway, reducing it to a miserable pile of shattered rocks and broken stones.

"And once he comes here to save the day, I'll have him!" declared Scourge gleefully.

The Mobians ran for their lives as Scourge prepared for his next attack. If Sonic didn't arrive in time to save the day, Spagonia would be reduced to architectural ruins. Speaking of the hedgehog…

…after he, Amy and Cream had saved Tails and Cosmo from being roboticized by Dr. Eggman previously, the five friends had arrived back at Green Hill Zone and the moment they made it home, Tails immediately set to work on the Tornado, his next big project and soon to be mode of transport for him and the others. He had been working for two hours straight and the plane already looked like it was a quarter of the way finished. If Tails kept this amazing work up he would finish the plane before nightfall. Sonic admired the work Tails was doing. The plane's frames had all been made and half of the mechanical work and machinery had been installed. Tails certainly was a fast worker when he was focused one something wasn't he? Tails began tightening some bolts on one of the frames for the wings, using the new spanner Sonic had bought for him the other night*.

"Well Tails I've gotta say, I'm impressed." said Sonic "I've never seen anyone build a plane that fast before, you've already done a quarter of it and its only just past noon!"

"Well I was always gifted for being able to build quickly." said Tails modestly "My dad always said people born with the ability to invent things also have the ability to build fast."

"Sweet." said Sonic "Where would I be without you Tails?"

"Heh, heh. I'm not sure really." said Tails humbly, wiping his forehead with his gloved hand "I guess the situations you get in wouldn't be so easy to get out of."

"I can't argue with that Tails." said Sonic "Now why don't we both join the girls for lunch? You could use a break right now."

"No thanks." said Tails, tightening another bolt "I'm not hungry."

Sonic just shrugged and left Tails to his work. That was one dedicated mechanic. As for Amy, Cosmo and Cream, they had set up a garden table with a parasol and five garden chairs. They were having lunch which was a nicely prepared selection of sandwiches, salad and cupcakes. Amy had done most of the food with Cream helping her. Cosmo tucked into a tuna sandwich happily.

"The food you Mobians eat is wonderful." said Cosmo "It's much more of a variety then the food we have back home."

"Oh really?" said Amy, taking a small bite out of a cheese sandwich "Do you Seedrians eat plant food and fertilizer on your planet?"

Cosmo laughed half heartedly at Amy's joke.

"Miss Rose, what's fertilizer?" asked Cream.

"I'll tell ya later, it's not an appropriate topic at the lunch table." said Amy.

Sonic wondered over to the table and picked out a ham sandwich from the plate of sandwiches and tucked into it.

"Mmm…a ham sandwich is nearly as nice as a freshly made chilli-dog." he said to himself "Pity there aren't any right now."

"Well next time I make lunch I'll make a selection of chilli-dogs shall I?" asked Amy sweetly.

"Ah don't strain yourself." chuckled Sonic "I can make them myself."

Cream took a sip of lemonade and passed her pet Chao Cheese a cress sandwich. Cheese was fond of cress and the little Chao was happily tucking into it. Cream looked towards the under construction plane that Tails was working so heavily on. He showed no signs of wanting to stop; the little fox looked like he wanted to go on for the rest of the day.

"I do hope Tails doesn't push himself too far with his work." said Cream "Otherwise he'll tire himself out."

"Don't you worry too much Cream." said Sonic, taking a bite out of another ham sandwich "Tails knows when to take a break. He won't push himself too far."

"Although I will admit," he added "I'm amazed at the dedication to his work right now. I've never seen him this keen to build something before."

"I admire that in Tails for some reason." said Cosmo "His determination to his work reminds me of my determination to stop the Martians and return to my home planet where I can live in never ending peace once again." she sighed sadly.

"The only difference is it's much easier to build a proper working plane then it is to stop a war." said Amy "But I'm sure your kind will defeat those jerks once and for all and your world will be at peace again."

Cosmo said nothing but she nodded in agreement. Tails finally finished tightening the bolts on the wing frames and flew down to the ground. He ran over to the selection of bits and pieces to get an engine so he could install it into the plane. He chose a large brown engine that was narrow and tall. This engine was for the plane's propeller and hopefully it would work splendidly once the plane was done.

"Once I install this engine, I should give it a test and see how well the propeller works." said Tails.

He grabbed the engine and tried to lift it up but the engine was much too heavy for the poor fox to carry. He tried to drag the engine across the grassy ground but to no avail. He only budged it a tiny bit each time. Sonic noticed Tails needed help so he left the lunch table and ran over to help Tails. Sonic grabbed the engine from behind and helped Tails to slowly hoist it off the ground and carry it over to the plane. Even though Sonic was stronger then Tails, he was finding it difficult to keep the engine hoisted off the ground.

"Man! I wish Knuckles was here right now!" grunted Sonic as he and Tails carried the engine to the plane "He could lift this thing easily!"

"I don't think even Knuckles could lift this!" joked Tails as he and Sonic put the engine down in the place Tails wanted it.

Now the engine was in place, Tails set to work on fitting it neatly and connecting everything up to the engine so hopefully if it worked properly, the propeller would spin and the plane would fly. However his work was interrupted by something beeping. Sonic felt a vibration against his wrist and he looked at it. He still had the communicator Nicole the Lynx gave to him so she could contact him whenever possible and it was going off. Sonic pushed the wrist part of his glove back to reveal the communicator underneath and he answered it.

"Yo Nicole what's up?" asked Sonic "Another Royal Fighter group needs help?"

"Not exactly." said Nicole on the other side of the communicator "We're receiving distress calls from Spagonia. They say a green hedgehog is destroying the village!"

Sonic's quills shuddered with horror and his eyes widened. He knew what Nicole meant by green hedgehog. Scourge had obviously survived the destruction of Robotropolis earlier and was now attacking Spagonia, a place he remembered from a long time ago.

"Hello?" said Nicole "Sonic? Are you alright?"

Sonic snapped out of his horrified state and answered the lynx.

"Um…OK I'll get there as quickly as possible." said Sonic.

He shut the communicator off and pulled his glove back up. Tails flew out of the Tornado and landed beside Sonic.

"What's the matter Sonic?" he asked "Is there trouble going on?"

"Scourge somehow survived the destruction of Robotropolis and he is now attacking Spagonia." said Sonic "I've gotta get to Spagonia quickly before Scourge levels the place!"

"But how?" asked Tails "Spagonia is miles away from Green Hill Zone and even if you run at top speed, you won't get there in time! The quickest way we can get to Spagonia is flying but the Tornado won't be completed until tomorrow at most!"

"I'll just have to run then." said Sonic "There's no other way that's speedy and available right now."

"What are we gonna do?" asked Amy, getting up from the table and running over to Sonic "We can't keep up with you and we'll only slow you down."

"You aren't gonna do anything." said Sonic "This battle will be between me and Scourge. I don't want you, Cream or Cosmo getting involved since Scourge will try to attack or even kill you and I can't fight Scourge and worry about you at the same time so Amy, you, Cream and Cosmo will stay here."

"But…" protested Amy.

"Amy, let's do what Sonic says." said Cosmo "He knows Scourge better then us and we should take his advice for granted."

"OK." said Amy glumly.

"So what am I doing?" asked Tails "Am I staying with the girls?"

"Nah, you're coming with me." said Sonic "You're the only one who can keep up with me and I could do with the back up when I need it."

"OK." said Tails "I'll try and keep outta trouble while you and Scourge duke it out with each other."

"Good idea." said Sonic "Now let's do it to it!"

"Wait!" said Amy.

Sonic stopped before he could run off.

"You two be careful out there." said Amy "If anything goes wrong, we'll call Knuckles to help you."

"Sounds swell." said Sonic "And we'll be careful Amy don't you worry. Now Tails, let's go!" he cried, rushing off at his trademark speed.

Tails twisted his tails around one another and took to the skies. He flew after Sonic as fast as he could fly. The little fox could only just keep up with his supersonic friend. Sonic and Tails headed off for Spagonia and the moment they disappeared over the horizon, Amy sat back down at the table.

"I wish I could have gone with Sonic." she moaned "I'd love to wallop Scourge's backside in for tricking me into helping him find Sonic before!"

"Well hopefully Mr. Sonic will stop Scourge and put him back in jail for good." said Cream "And that way he won't be able to destroy anymore villages."

"One thing I wonder is why is Scourge attacking a village?" said Cosmo aloud "Don't you think he would have attacked something more populated then a little village?"

"You have a point there Cosmo." said Amy "I think if Scourge wanted Sonic to come and face him he would have attacked something more serious then Spagonia like Empire City or Grand Metropolis to get his attention. Maybe Scourge has some sort of trick up his sleeve." she mused to herself.

"What kind of trick?" asked Cosmo.

"Something sneaky and bad I'm sure." said Amy "But hopefully, Sonic won't fall for it and he'll stop that green menace before he causes more harm."

Amy looked into the horizon, thinking on what might happen when Sonic arrives at Spagonia and battles his evil brother...

One hour and forty-five minutes later, Sonic and Tails arrived at the small but glamorous village of Spagonia, now not looking so glamorous. Many buildings had been destroyed and knocked down and the whole village was empty since it had been evacuated. Sonic and Tails entered Spagonia and surveyed the scenery around them. Piles of bricks, pieces of tile and chunks of stone littered the pavement and ruined market stalls lay in splinters at the foot of some buildings that had crumbled or were still standing. Sonic didn't like this and he knew that if he ever turned bad such as when he became Mecha Sonic, he himself could easily do damage like this to any city or village he came across. Seeing the damage done to Spagonia made Tails feel uneasy too.

"G-g-gosh." said Tails nervously "S-Scourge r-really knew h-h-how to c-cause a riot!"

"He does indeed." said Sonic "And that's why I'm so determined to get that homicidal manic back in prison where he belongs. I wonder where is that jerk right now? I can't see him anywhere."

"M-m-maybe he's g-gone." said Tails hopefully.

"I hope he is but I don't think he is." said Sonic grimly "I bet he's lying in wait for us and waiting to attack us at the right moment. Tails keep your senses alert." he ordered.

Tails obeyed and listened out for anything suspicious with his large sensitive ears. Sonic walked to the left and began searching through the mess of rocks and tiles to see if Scourge was hiding anywhere. But he wouldn't find Scourge on the ground because Scourge was hiding on top of a building. He stood at the edge of the roof, watching Sonic search for him and grinned an evil, toothy grin that could make anyone feel faint. He prepared to leap from the building and spin-dash Sonic straight in the back but he stopped and caught sight of Tails, listening out for anything.

"Hmm…" said Tails "If Scourge is planning an ambush…" he fell silent as he thought to himself. He put a finger to his lips and stared at the rooftops to the buildings still intact.

"…then maybe he's hiding up there." he mused "I'll have a quick search to see if I'm right."

He rotated his tails around and flew up onto the rooftops. Scourge hid behind a roof structure and waited for Tails to come near him. Tails put his hand over his eyes to shade them from the sun and peered into the distance. Then he searched around the rooftops. He didn't find anything. He walked past the tall stony structure that Scourge was hiding behind and Scourge nabbed him. He clasped his hand around Tails' mouth and wrapped his other arm around Tails' neck. Tails tried to scream for help but he could only get muffled cries out because Scourge's hand was clasped tightly around his mouth.

"You're clever kid." hissed Scourge "But not quite clever enough! You'll not be able to save Sonic from my wrath."

He bent down to see Sonic still looking around on the ground for him. Tails tried to cry for help but he couldn't. His cries were muffled by Scourge's hand and Sonic didn't seem to have heard Tails' muffled cries. He just continued searching for Scourge. Scourge smiled wickedly as Sonic came nearer to the building he was hiding upon.

"That's it blue." he whispered to himself "Just a few more steps and I've got you!"

Sonic wondered up to the building Scourge was hiding upon and was about to open the door and go inside until he heard something. Scourge had ever so gently moved a foot and sent a tiny pebble falling from the roof and it made a faint clatter noise on the ground. Sonic just shrugged it off and opened the door.

"SONIC MY FRIEND!" bellowed Scourge from on the roof.

He let go of Tails, pushed him away and spin-dashed straight into Sonic's back. Sonic was knocked straight off his feet and sent scraping across the ground for a few feet.

"Sonic!" cried Tails.

Sonic got back to his feet, groaning in pain while Scourge stood before him, smirking like a demon. That one spin-dash and scrape across the ground had given Sonic several scrape marks on his tummy, legs and face.

"Gee Scourge, how cowardly of you to attack me from behind!" taunted Sonic "You always had a habit of cheating when it came to battles."

"Well that's my point wimpo!" cackled Scourge "I always cheat, I never play fair! Playing fair's for losers like you Sonic!"

"I'll make you eat those words Scourge!" yelled Sonic.

The two hedgehogs charged at each other. They both bashed into each other and sent each other skidding backwards. Then Sonic leaped into the air and tried to spin-dash Scourge but Scourge dodged and decided to use his own spin-dash. They two spin-dashed into each other, the two spinning hedgehogs bounced off each other as they hit. They did the same thing over and over and over until finally Scourge overpowered Sonic and sent him flying into an abandoned market stall that was selling dates and figs. Sonic crashed into the market and sent figs flying everywhere. Scourge tried to spin-dash Sonic again but Sonic got to his feet and stomped on a long thick chunk of wood that was lying on top of a crate. This caused the chunk of wood to fly up and smack Scourge away as if he was a baseball just before he could hit Sonic. Scourge smashed into a building and sent some bricks falling to the ground. Sonic ran out of the pile of wood and looked up at the building Scourge crashed into. He had made a large hole in the building. Scourge got back to his feet, groaning to himself and stood at the edge of the hole. Sonic saw the opportunity to spin-dash him straight in the stomach before he recovered. Scourge was sent hurtling backwards and Sonic had hit him so hard Scourge actually crashed through a window and fell out the other side of the building! Scourge landed on the pavement and made a hedgehog sized crater in it. Sonic leaped out of the building and almost landed on Scourge feet first but the green hedgehog dodged him so Sonic landed in the hedgehog shaped crater that Scourge had made when he crashed into the ground. Scourge tried to kick Sonic but Sonic grabbed his foot and threw his leg upwards, causing Scourge to fall on his back. Then Sonic grabbed Scourge by the jacket, hauled him onto his feet and threw him into a stall selling grapes. Scourge crashed into the crates full of grapes and was covered in grape juice. Scourge grumbled loudly and he picked up a crate of grapes he hadn't crashed into. Sonic charged at Scourge and Scourge threw the crate into Sonic's face, causing him to get splattered by the grapes. Sonic staggered and fell over, giving Scourge the opportunity to stomp on his back. Sonic yelped in pain and Scourge prepared to do it again. He was about to bring his foot smashing down on Sonic's back until Tails flew straight into him and punched him over. With Scourge distracted, Sonic got back to his feet and spin-dashed Scourge in the face. Scourge fell on his back and rubbed his jaw while Sonic looked down at him.

"Had enough yet Scourge?" he said snidely.

"I'm just getting warmed up you blue hack!" snarled Scourge "And your freaky friend here best stop interfering or else!"

"I am not a freak!" screamed Tails, hurtling towards Scourge at top speed.

Unfortunately, Scourge was ready for him this time and he punched Tails in the cheek, sending the fox darting to the side and landing on his shoulder.

"Shut up you mutant brat!" growled Scourge "Or I'll spin-dash you until your bones crack!"

Then Sonic tripped him up with one swipe of the leg. Scourge fell flat on his face and his sunglasses fell off. Scourge grabbed them and put them back on. Sonic then pinned him down with his foot. Scourge tried to get up but Sonic was too strong so Scourge remained pinned down to the ground.

"Get off me!" growled Scourge.

"You must think I'm really stupid huh?" sneered Sonic "If I get off you, you'll mash me into chilli-sauce so no I won't get off you."

"So what are ya gonna do?" demanded Scourge "Keep me there until I rot away?"

"No." said Sonic "Tails, see if you can find some rope or anything!" he called to Tails.

"OK Sonic." said Tails, taking to the air and flying away.

"Oh nice, REAL nice!" grumbled Scourge, not impressed with what Sonic was planning "You're gonna tie me up like a pretzel and then haul my awesome self back to jail aren't ya?"

"Of course." said Sonic "You're too dangerous to be let loose so you're going back to jail where you belong."

"I think not blue!" roared Scourge.

Then with out warning, Scourge raised his leg backwards and the heel of his boot smacked Sonic in the bottom. Sonic fell forward and Scourge leaped back to his feet. Before Sonic could recover, Scourge began to shower the blue hedgehog with rapid punches. Tails arrived back on the scene with some rope he had found.

"Hey Sonic, I got some rope!" he said.

Then he gasped in horror as he saw Scourge throwing punches on Sonic. Scourge saw Tails with the rope in his hands and stopped punching Sonic. Scourge ran over to Tails and elbowed him straight in the stomach.

"You got some rope huh?" he said "What'cha gonna do with it?"

Scourge grabbed the rope and wrapped it around Tails' body. Then he knotted the rope up and left Tails sitting there, all tied up and powerless.

"That will ensure me and Sonic aren't disturbed in our fight." said Scourge "You just sit there and be a good boy now while I finish beating Sonic up."

Tails squirmed and struggled but the rope was too thick and strong for him to break. He was stuck so he had no choice but to just sit there and watch helplessly. Scourge turned away from Tails and charged at Sonic, who had only just stood up and knocked him over again.

"Oof!" grunted Sonic as he hit the ground sharply "You really don't play fair do ya?"

"Why should I?" sneered Scourge "If I don't play fair, I'm more likely to win."

"Then maybe I shouldn't play fair either!" said Sonic.

Without warning, Sonic leaned back on his hands and sprung himself, feet first, into Scourge's face. The startled green hedgehog was knocked over and Sonic grabbed him in a chokehold.

"Now who wants a noogie-noogie?" jeered Sonic.

He began to rub his knuckles vigorously and roughly up and down on Scourge's scalp. Sonic often did that to Scourge to torment him when they were kids and even to this day, Scourge really couldn't stand noogie-noogies.

"Ouch! Ow! Knock it off you wretch!" roared Scourge as Sonic continued to noogie him.

Tails burst out laughing at what Sonic was doing to Scourge. Then Sonic let go of Scourge, nicked his sunglasses and pushed him away. Sonic put Scourge's sunglasses on.

"Gee Scourge, how do you see through these? They're almost as dark as you are!" laughed Sonic "Are they supposed to make you look cool?"

"Yes they are!" roared Scourge "Now give them back or I'll…"

"Yeah, yeah, yeah whatever." sighed Sonic.

Scourge leaped up to nab him but Sonic took the sunglasses off and stuffed them in Scourge's mouth. Then he punched him in the back of the head, causing Scourge to crash into the ground and hitting the ground made him accidentally crack his sunglasses in his jaw. Scourge spat the pieces out and growled. He was really fond of those sunglasses and now Sonic had just made him break them made him furious.

"That's it, you're going down!" thundered Scourge.

"Bring it on jerk!" yelled Sonic.

The two hedgehogs rolled into balls and spin-dashed into each other yet again. Their attacks repelled each other and the spin-dashing hedgehogs bounced away but they came back for more. The two hedgehogs spin-dashed into each other three more times before Scourge got the upper hand and bashed into Sonic so hard that Sonic hurled through the air like a whacked baseball.

Disaster struck.

After Scourge had sent Sonic flying, Sonic ended up crashing straight into the enormous clock tower that stood in the centre of Spagonia! Sonic's impact did major damage to the tower but it still remained standing. That is until Scourge decided to add insult to injury by spin-dashing into the clock tower again. Scourge's attack did much more damage to the clock tower. So much damage in fact the whole thing started to tilt forward! Scourge leaped out of the way as the clock tower began to slowly but steadily tilt forward. Then the whole tower came crashing down on Spagonia with a thunderous smash. Any buildings that weren't destroyed by Scourge were crushed by the falling clock tower. Tails could do nothing but sit and watch the disaster unfold before him. The clock tower had been reduced to nothing more then giant chunks of rubble and the houses it had fallen on were smashed to pieces. Spagonia wasn't a pretty sight anymore. As for Sonic, he just lay in the part of the clock tower that hadn't fallen, groaning weakly. Scourge stood before him, grinning like a crocodile. Scourge seized Sonic by the throat and hauled him to his height.

"You see Sonic? I won." hissed Scourge happily "And I won because I'm faster, stronger and far more powerful then you wish you could be. You may have beaten me two years ago but that was then, this is now."

"So go on…finish me!" dared Sonic.

"I will, just not in the way you're thinking of wimp!" laughed Scourge "I'll explain it all once we get to the top of Spagonia Temple."

"Spagonia…Temple?" said Sonic "What are…we going…there for?"

"You'll see." snapped Scourge "Now be quiet while I collect your freaky friend."

Scourge, still holding Sonic, rushed off to where Tails was sitting and scooped him up. He draped the beaten Sonic over his shoulder and held Tails under his arm.

"Put us down you monster!" cried Tails.

Scourge ignored him and ran off at top speed, leaving the wrecked Spagonia behind. The moment he left though, a purple chameleon materialized into view and watched Scourge running away with Sonic and Tails. It was Espio. He and his friends Vector the Crocodile and Charmy Bee had heard all about the trouble in Spagonia and were on their way to sort the problem out but Sonic and Tails beat them to it so they just stood and watched with Espio being invisible. Now Scourge had gone, Espio turned visible and signalled for Vector and Charmy to come. Vector and Charmy emerged from their hiding places and ran over to the chameleon.

"Yo Espio what's up?" asked Vector "Did Sonic cream that green hedgehog that looks like him?"

"Unfortunately no." said Espio "Scourge has defeated Sonic and is now taking him and Tails to Spagonia Temple."

"What's he taking them to a crummy old temple for?" asked Charmy "Temples are boring!"

"I think I know why Scourge is taking Sonic to the temple." said Espio "Let's go! I'll explain everything on the way but right now, Sonic needs help and we're the only one's available."

"I couldn't have said it better myself." said Vector with a smile "Sonic needs us and we're gonna help him! Team Chaotix away!"

"Yay! Fun, fun, fun!" cried Charmy happily.

And with that, Team Chaotix ran off, following the same route Scourge was going down. Sonic was in trouble and they were going to save him, no matter the cost…

A while later, Scourge arrived at the Spagonia Temple. The temple was huge, almost as large as a five storey house and laden with ruin. Despite it's staggering age, the temple was still standing as strong as ever even though it probably would crumble to the ground if something hit it hard enough. There was cube shaped structure at the top of the temple and each of the four sides had cuffs. Scourge cuffed Sonic and Tails by their arms to the cube and laughed triumphantly at them.

"Look at everybody's favourite hedgehog now!" he gloated "Beaten to a pulp and helpless to stop me! You'll never live down the shame will you brother?"

"I'm no brother of yours anymore Scourge!" snapped Sonic, struggling to get free of his bonds "And you may stop me, but I've got friends who will fight in my name!"

"Oh really?" sneered Scourge "I bet they're just as wimpy as you are and I'll stomp on them just as easily!"

"No you won't Scourge!" said Tails bravely "Our friends will kick your sorry butt back to jail, you'll see!"

Scourge stomped over to Tails and snarled at him.

"How can my idiot brother stand someone as annoying as you?" he said coldly "If you were my sidekick, I'd give you to that moron Eggman and let him have ya!"

Tails gulped in fear and began shaking as horrible images of Eggman roboticizing him poured into his head.

"Hey, pick on someone your own size buddy!" yelled Sonic.

"Like…you?" purred Scourge "I'll be happy to pick on you as much as I wish blue!"

"What a surprise." muttered Sonic "So, what have you dragged us all the way up here for? Are you gonna leave us here until we rot?"

"Of course not!" retorted Scourge "If I did, someone will rescue you two before you even begin to perish!"

He jammed his face into Sonic's face and began speaking in a low chilling voice that could make even Marik the Martian shiver.

"The reason I've dragged you two up here is because that's how I'm gonna finish you two off." said Scourge "Have you heard of that old Spagonia legend about this cube?"

"Nope." said Sonic "Never was much of a legends guy."

"Have you heard the legend surrounding this cube, two tails?" asked Scourge.

Tails thought for a moment before finally saying "What legend?"

Scourge sighed loudly and spoke again.

"The legend is, in a time way before ours, the Spagonians often punished crime committers by chaining them to this very cube at the top of this very temple." he explained "Usually they would just leave them there and rot away but one Spagonian found a tiny little pearl that was supposed to fit in the centre of the cube."

He paused to point at the little hole in the top of the cube. Sonic and Tails couldn't see it because they were cuffed to the faces of the cube. Scourge continued.

"They had no idea why the pearl wasn't in the cube to start with although they assumed someone had stolen it and dropped it while trying to get away." he said "So the Royals put the pearl back in the cube and an amazing thing happened."

He altered his voice to a much more sinister pitch.

"The moment they put the pearl in the cube, the sky went black and some magical voodoo of some sorts began to happen. And then in one bright flash of lightening, the prisoners chained to the cube literally disintegrated right before their very eyes!" he screeched "They assumed it was some stupid thing about the Gods punishing the prisoners by destroying them so from then on, anyone found guilty of crime of any sorts would be sacrificed to the Gods as they called it."

Sonic and Tails stared at Scourge in amazement.

"How the heck did you know all that?" asked Sonic "I never know mythology was your type of subject!"

"It isn't." snapped Scourge "It's just that that particular myth fascinated me so I read more about it before I was put in prison."

"So if I've got this straight, you're gonna sacrifice us…gulp!…to the Gods?" squeaked Tails.

"To put it frankly yes." said Scourge wickedly.

"Ha! I bet you don't have the pearl that activates the cube's magical thingamajig!" said Sonic cockily.

"Unfortunately for you, yes I do." retorted Scourge, pulling the pearl out of his pocket. The pearl was no bigger then a fingernail and it was a sparkling dark shade of violet. Sonic's jaw dropped.

"Wha…What?" he gasped "How did you find it?"

"The pearl was in a small museum in Spagonia." said Scourge "While attacking Spagonia, I attacked the museum and found the pearl. After reading the information given about it, I realized it was what I needed so I stole it and hid it in my pocket until the time was right."

He leaped on top of the cube and placed the pearl down the hole in the centre of the cube.

"In a matter of moments, you'll disintegrate before my very eyes!" Scourge cried gleefully "This is the perfect revenge to get on you Sonic the Hedgehog! This is what you deserve, and now you're gonna get it!"

The ancient and strange looking patterns on all four of the cube's faces began to glow a very bright icy blue colour. A thin beam of light emitted from the hole on top of the cube and went up into the sky. Then all the clouds in the sky began to turn black as if there was a terrible thunderstorm approaching the temple. Then strange ghostly creatures and swirling beams of light began to fly out of the glowing patterns and surrounded the cube as if the whole thing was some strange supernatural ritual of some sorts. Sonic and Tails watched the circling lights and creatures swirling around them as the cube's strange magical abilities continued. Scourge just stood by and watched the magic happen, laughing demonically at the scene unfolding before him. In a matter of seconds, Sonic and Tails would disintegrate and be wiped out from existence. Tails began to panic, he was breathing very fast and his heart was thumping wildly.

"Sonic! What are we gonna do?" he cried.

Sonic just closed his eyes and said

"There's nothing we can do." said Sonic "We're beaten, Scourge has won."

"Sonic! You can't give up now!" exclaimed Tails "We're inches from death and you think we're beaten?"

"I don't think we're beaten." said Sonic "We are, we can't get free so therefore, we can't get away. We're going to be disintegrated and there's no way we can survive this one."

Sonic should have known better then to just give up because Team Chaotix arrived on the scene just minutes after the pearl's power activated the cube. Vector, Espio and Charmy stared up at the black clouds over Spagonia Temple and the beam of light emitting from the tope of the temple.

"Its happened." said Espio hoarsely "That green hedgehog Scourge must be using the temple's mysterious power to disintegrate Sonic and Tails!"

"Whoa! How is he doing that?" asked Charmy.

"Geez Charmy, didn't you hear Espio on the way here?" grumbled Vector "He said some kind of pearl makes the temple disintegrate anyone on top of it!"

"We'd best get moving we haven't got much time left!" exclaimed Espio, running off as fast as he could.

Vector ran after the speedy ninja chameleon and Charmy flew after them, flying faster then he'd ever flown before. A thunderstorm was building up and there were loud roars of thunder booming throughout the dunes. Lightening strikes flashed and lit up the dark skies. Tails screamed in terror.

"Oh man I'm scared of lightening!" he whimpered.

"In that case, your demise will be more entertaining." said Scourge sadistically "Once lightening strikes the cube; you will be reduced to nothing!"

The situation was looking very hopeless now. The thunder storm was getting closer to the temple and Sonic could tell by counting the seconds between the lightening flashes and the thunderclaps. The less he counted meant the closer the storm was getting. Tails, who couldn't bear to watch anymore, closed his eyes tightly, waiting for the inevitable strike. Scourge continued to laugh demonically at what was happening. Team Chaotix finally made it to the temple and Espio, using his ninja skills, managed to climb straight up the temple whereas Charmy flew up to the top and Vector climbed after Espio, albeit not as quickly and smoothly as Espio. Charmy landed the first blow by flying straight into Scourge's stomach head first and knocking him off the temple. Scourge cried out in surprise as he plunged to the ground. Espio leaped onto the roof and dipped his fingers inside the hole. He grabbed the pearl and yanked it out of the hole and then he threw it away as hard as he could. The pearl would never be found again. The moment the pearl had been removed from the cube, the cube stopped glowing, the magical ghostly images had vanished and the black clouds disappeared into a bright blue sky. Sonic could hardly believe his luck that Team Chaotix arrived at just the right time to save his and Tails' lives. Tails opened his eyes and was relived to see he and Sonic were still alive. Vector finally made it to the top of the temple and using his massive jaws, he broke Sonic and Tails' bonds to set them free. Tails clutched his chest and breathed heavily.

"Gosh that was so lucky!" he shrieked "I thought we were done for!"

"Admittedly I was kinda scared too." said Sonic "I don't think I've ever been so close to death before."

"And you thought we were beaten!" said Tails mockingly.

"Well I didn't know Team Chaotix were gonna arrive just in time to save our lives did I?" protested Sonic.

"Just be thankful we did arrive in time to save your lives!" said Vector "I didn't think we were gonna make it!"

"We are thankful." said Sonic "I owe you three big time!"

"No need." said Espio "We're just doing our duty."

"So Vector." said Tails "What are you, Espio and Charmy doing in Spagonia anyway?"

"Oh we heard about the attacks on Spagonia so we decided to go and help but you two beat us to it so we just hid and watched Sonic and that green hedgehog pound each other's brains out." said Vector.

"And you didn't think to give me a hand when Scourge had me down for the count?" said Sonic crossly, tapping his foot.

"Um…no we didn't." said Vector "Sorry."

"It doesn't matter, you've made up for it by saving us from Scourge and that cube." said Sonic "Speaking of which, where is he?"

"I knocked him off the temple." said Charmy, a big stupid grin on his face "I think he's lying on the ground down below."

Everybody peered over the edge of the temple to see Scourge lying on his back at the foot of the temple. Sonic leaped off the temple, followed by Espio and Vector and Tails and Charmy flew off the temple. They surrounded Scourge just as the green hedgehog was getting up and Espio pulled a dagger out of his glove and held it to Scourge's throat to prevent him from doing anything. Scourge glared at Vector and Charmy as Espio held him.

"You two and your chameleon buddy behind me will regret robbing me of my vengeance!" he growled "And I'll make sure your deaths are swift and painful!"

"Save it Scourge!" retorted Sonic "You're beaten, you cannot take me, Tails or the Chaotix on all at once! Now admit defeat so we can haul your ugly butt back to jail were you belong!"

Scourge clenched his teeth and growled like a tiger, prompting Espio to hold the dagger closer to his throat.

"I'll NEVER admit defeat!" cried Scourge "I will not rest until you're dead and the world is mine blue! But your death will have to wait…"

He stomped on Espio's foot as hard as he could, causing the chameleon to let go of him and grab his foot.

"Yeouch!" yelped Espio.

Now he was free, Scourge ran for it. He was retreating so he could fight another day.

"I've had enough fun for one day!" Scourge called to Sonic over his shoulder "But don't think you've seen the last of me because you ain't! This entire world will bow beneath my feet some day soon and that's a promise!

"Charmy, Espio, let's get him!" cried Vector, preparing to chase Scourge down.

"No Vector, let him go." said Sonic "You'll never catch him anyway."

"But…aren't you gonna catch him?" blurted Vector.

"I would but Scourge is too tough for me." said Sonic "I'll need to do some extensive training so I'll be able to match him blow for blow. And I promise the next time we face Scourge, he's going back to jail."

"I hope so." said Tails "I don't ever wanna see that creep again! He's almost as bad as Marik the Martian!"

"Marik the Martian?" said Espio "Wasn't he that man from space who killed the King and Queen the other day?"

"He is." said Sonic "But he's long gone, we won't have to worry about him."

"That's a relief." said Charmy "The way people describe him scares me."

Sonic nodded.

"Let's go home shall we?" said Sonic "I bet Amy, Cream and Cosmo are worrying about me right now."

And with that Sonic, Tails and Team Chaotix left the temple and headed for home. As they walked, Espio turned to Sonic.

"Do you think Scourge will be back?" he asked.

"Oh yes." said Sonic "And I can't wait to kick his butt and put him back where he belongs."

When Scourge would return is a mystery but Sonic knew that day would come soon so he had to be aware of it.

Meanwhile in Eggman's secret bunker, Eggman had rebuilt Alonzo's body, made a new army of robots thanks to the robot production chamber he had in the bunker and now the robots were rebuilding the destroyed Robotropolis. And right now he was adding one last thing to his next greatest invention.

"Now I just need to upload Mecha Sonic's data and then he'll be complete." he said to himself.

"The rebuilding work's coming on nicely sir." said Alonzo "Robotropolis is already beginning to take shape!"

"I know Alonzo, robots can build extremely quickly can't they?" said Dr. Eggman proudly.

Then suddenly his computer made a beeping noise and started saying "Upload complete."

"Yes!" cried Dr. Eggman "After all these weeks he's finally ready!"

"Finally ready?" said Alonzo "You mean…?"

"Yes Alonzo, Metal Sonic is fully operational and ready for action!" cried Dr. Eggman "Now Mobius will fall to me at long last!"

He roared with laughter as Metal Sonic's limbs began to move and the blue, Sonic-sized robot stood up on his own two feet. His plain black visor alit with two red emotionless eyes that could make anyone shiver with fright. Metal Sonic was ready, and he was hungry…for destruction…

Footnotes:

 See Story 26

* See Story 21

Scourge is gone, but he'll be back and Metal Sonic has been completed and is ready to attack! What will he be like? Join in next time as the wrath of Metal Sonic is unleashed... Read and Review.

Thanks again to Kratos Pwns for the reviews. I appreciate your slight criticism of the bounty hunter stories and I'll try to be less...um...clichéd in the future.

A Tale of Two Sonics

Story 30: A Tale of Two Sonics

"Just add a few bits of paint here…and she's complete." said Tails as he painted the last bit of the plane's fuselage blue.

A day had passed since Sonic and Tails' narrow escape from Scourge's wrath and now Tails had finally finished the Tornado. The Tornado was a two seated, vintage style bi-plane with four wings, a landing gear and a shiny coat of blue and yellow paint. Its armoury consisted of a missile launcher mounted in the underbelly of the plane and individual lasers on either side of the propeller. Tails was very pleased with the finished plane and he couldn't wait to give it a test flight. He leaped into the pilot's seat and started the plane's engine. The propeller began to spin around at a tremendous speed, so fast it was nothing more then a white blur at the front of the plane. Tails grabbed the controls and set the plane for take off. The Tornado began to move forwards and the further it moved the more speed it picked up. The Tornado hurtled down the stretch of grass that acted as the plane's runaway and then Tails pulled the levers back. The Tornado began to slowly rise off the ground and fly into the air. The plane slowly began to climb up and up until it was just the right altitude for Tails to fly straight. Tails punched the air triumphantly.

"Yes! It works!" he cried "The Tornado actually works! Whoo-Hoo!"

Just for the fun of it he decided to do make the plane do a loop-the-loop in the air. As for our old friend Sonic the Hedgehog, he had heard the Tornado taking off and decided to come outside and watch. He watched the Tornado do loop-the-loops in the air and laughed to himself.

"Tails certainly is proud of his plane isn't he?" said Sonic "He's having the time of his life up there!"

A short while later, Tails finally landed the plane and leaped out of the pilot's seat.

"The Tornado works perfectly Sonic!" exclaimed Tails "It's as fast as I wanted it to be and it flies as well as I wanted it to! I'm amazed the Tornado worked as well as it did! I can't wait to use it in battle someday…"

"Steady there Tails, calm down." said Sonic waving his hands about "I can see you're very pleased with the plane and you're over the moon right now, you don't need to blabber about it."

"Sorry." said Tails.

"I will hand it to ya, it's not bad looking." said Sonic "You should take me for a ride sometime soon and I'll see how fast it can really go."

"OK, I'll try and remember to do that sooner or later." said Tails.

He looked around and suddenly said "Have you seen Cosmo anywhere?"

"She's with Amy and Cream doing something." said Sonic "I have no idea what it is but Cosmo said it's supposed to be a surprise for me or something like that."

"A surprise for you?" said Tails "I wonder what that could be? Do you think I should help them out so I'm like contributing to this surprise?"

"Maybe." said Sonic "I'm sure Amy, Cream and Cosmo will appreciate you helping them."

"Do you know where they are?" asked Tails.

"Castle Acorn I think." said Sonic "Although I have no idea what they're at Castle Acorn for. Maybe that's there this surprise is set."

"OK." said Tails "I'll fly over to Castle Acorn immediately."

Tails twisted his tails around one another and took flight. Then he flew off and headed for Castle Acorn. Sonic watched his twin-tailed friend leave and admired the Tornado.

"That's one way past cool plane I'll admit." said Sonic "I bet it'll be just as cool when it's in flight."

He looked away from the plane and looked up at the sky.

"But one thing I wonder is what this surprise for me is?" he mused "I hope it's something way past cool, I love surprises."

Sonic certainly would get a surprise at what was to come and it was not something way past cool, it was something way past deadly and he would soon find that out when it arrived…

A short while later, Tails arrived at Castle Acorn, the only building in Mobotropolis that wasn't destroyed when Eggman first attacked*. To his surprise he saw Queen Sally Acorn and her lady-in-waiting Nicole setting up a long row of tables with pink table cloths. Amy, Cream and Cosmo were giving them a hand. Sally was wearing a casual outfit of just a green bra, long skirt and a pair of slippers whereas Nicole was still wearing the same purple toga she always wore. Nicole and Amy pushed two tables together and Cream and Cosmo put the table cloths on. Tails landed and ran over to the girls. Amy spotted him and waved to him.

"Hey Tails!" she called out "Over here!"

Tails ran up to the tables and stopped.

"So what's going on here?" he asked.

"We're setting up Sonic's surprise." explained Sally as she straightened out another table cloth "Have we told you what it is yet?"

"No not yet." said Tails "So what is it?"

Sally looked around to make sure Sonic wasn't around and then spoke quietly to Tails.

"We are hosting a party to celebrate all his heroic deeds over the months." she said "I think it's the most Sonic deserves for all the hard work he's done for us so we need to show him how thankful we are for his heroism."

"I think that's a wonderful idea." said Tails "I'm sure Sonic will appreciate it."

"And that's not all." said Amy, pushing the last two tables together "Sally's inviting some of Sonic's friends to come over such as Wilson, Mandy, Knuckles, The Chaotix and of course me, Cream, Cosmo and you."

"And that's still not all." added Nicole, putting the last tablecloth over the last pair of tables "I've just received news from Megapolis and Downunda that everything is under control and fellow fighters Geoffrey St. John and Bunnie Rabbot are allowed to come back here and celebrate with us."

"Yay!" cried Tails "I remember Bunnie Rabbot from when me and Sonic went to Megapolis to help destroy Eggman's tank! It'll be great to see her again. I haven't met Geoffrey yet but I bet he's a nice guy."

"I'm sure you'll like Mr. St. John Tails." said Nicole "And just wait till Sonic sees him and Bunnie when it's time for him to see the surprise, he'll be thrilled!"

"I think Sonic will be thrilled with the party overall." said Tails.

"I just hope everything goes right." said Cream "I hope that mean old Dr. Eggman won't come here and ruin everything with his army of robots."

"Chao." cooed Cheese.

"I think Eggman will be too busy rebuilding Robotropolis to bother about us." said Tails "After all, Scourge did blow it up the other day."

"I hope you're right Tails." said Cream.

"I hope I'm right too." said Tails ""I certainly don't want Dr. Eggman to ruin this party. We need a good party right now to brighten ourselves up from all the fighting we've done over time."

"I couldn't agree more Tails." said Sally "Fighting robots, stopping criminals and fending off Dr. Eggman must be tiring for poor Sonic so he could use a break."

"Hey Sally I thought I'd ask you something." Tails suddenly said "What's it like being queen now?"

Sally had been hoping Tails wouldn't ask but he had so she had to answer him.

"It's tiring and stressful sometimes since I'm in charge of everything now." she explained "But thanks to tips my mother gave me, I'm managing OK now. I just wish that demon Martian Marik didn't kill my parents before I was ready to take the throne."

Her face fell into despair. Cosmo decided to comfort her.

"But you've managed to raise the kingdom out of the ashes of the tragedy now your majesty." said Cosmo "You're doing your parents proud I'm sure so don't let their deaths continue to bother you or you might not be able to manage things properly."

Sally faced the little plant girl and smiled at her.

"You're right Cosmo." she said "I'm sure my parents are very proud of the efforts I'm making to maintain stability of the kingdom and I shouldn't let their deaths bother me. Even though they're not with me now, they're still with me in spirit."

"That's what my mother always said to me when remembering loved ones." said Cosmo "No matter where they are, they'll always be with you in spirit."

"So Sally, what do you want me to do?" asked Tails, hoping to change the subject.

"Well if you want to help out with the surprise, you can help Nicole prepare the buffet." said Sally.

"OK." said Tails "I wonder what food's on offer?"

He went off into the castle with Nicole leading him. The moment

Tails and Nicole left, Amy began staring into space. Cream noticed this and shook her lightly.

"Hey Miss Rose? Are you alright?" she asked.

Amy stopped day-dreaming and looked at Cream.

"I'm fine, I was just imagining Sonic's surprised face when he sees all the hard work we've done for him." she said "I bet he's gonna love this party."

"I bet he is too." said Cream smiling "All his closest friends will be there to celebrate and there'll be nothing to worry about."

If only Cream was right. This party would go off with more then just a bang and Sonic would have more then just a celebration going on…

Meanwhile, Robotropolis was a quarter finished already due to the extreme speed of Eggman's builders and it was beginning to form its familiar shape and size from before. Eggman watched the construction work with satisfaction and smiled widely to himself.

"Isn't it amazing how fast robots can build?" he said to himself "They'll be done by Tuesday if they keep this up."

Then he heard the sound of clanking feet behind him. The clanking feet came up to his side and stopped. Dr. Eggman turned his head to see none other then his most recent creation Metal Sonic by his side and looking up at him. Metal Sonic was a shiny sleek blue robot with three spikes on his head, a black visor with red glowing eyes, a pointed nose, sharp claws, a jet booster in his back and red feet. Dr. Eggman smiled at Metal Sonic.

"Ah Metal Sonic! How's my favourite creation right now?" he asked.

"Hungry." droned Metal Sonic, his voice was very deep and robotical "Hungry for destruction."

"Ah of course you are." said Dr. Eggman "You want to smash some Mobians to pieces don't you?" he asked "Well you don't have to wait any longer my little robot for you shall have your destruction!"

"What is your command Master Eggman?" asked Metal Sonic, saluting him.

"You will go to Mobotropolis and destroy the one known as Sonic the Hedgehog!" ordered Dr. Eggman "And you may destroy anyone affiliated with him as well!"

"It will be done Master." droned Metal Sonic "Mobius will lie in ruins and Sonic the Hedgehog will be exterminated. I shall not fail you Master."

"That's a good little robot." said Dr. Eggman "Now go Metal Sonic! GO! Go and show them who the true Sonic is!"

"I am the true Sonic." said Metal Sonic.

He activated the jet booster in his back and rocketed off at supersonic speed. Metal Sonic went so fast he caused a sonic boom in the distance and Eggman was truly blown away by it.

"Whoa ho, ho, ho, ho!" he cackled "If Metal Sonic can move that fast then Sonic has no chance against him! Metal Sonic will destroy that infernal hedgehog once and for all!"

He cackled loudly to himself as he watched Metal Sonic disappear in the distance. There were only three things on Metal Sonic's mechanical mind as he sped through the Great Dunes and that was kill, maim and destroy. Metal Sonic would arrive at Mobotropolis, destroy Sonic and destroy Mobius all in the name of Dr. Eggman. This was going to be one tough battle…

Meanwhile, Sonic was taking one of his usual lengthy jogs around Green Hill Zone to keep himself occupied. He zoomed up and around a loop-de-loop shaped rock and rocketed on through the plains. No matter how fast he ran or what he did, he couldn't keep his mind of the surprise that Castle Acorn was setting up for him. He was really tempted to sneak up to Castle Acorn and find out what the surprise was but then it wouldn't be a surprise if he knew what it was so he resisted the temptation. Yet he couldn't stop thinking about it and trying to guess what the surprise was.

What sort of surprise would Queen Sally be setting up for me? he thought to himself Whatever it is, I bet it'll be way past cool. I wonder if it has anything to do with all my heroism over the months.

As he continued to think to himself, he wasn't concentrating on his running and he didn't see fellow fighter Mandy Mouse coming towards him and he accidentally crashed into her. They both fell over onto the grass. Sonic got to his feet and helped Mandy back onto her feet.

"Whoa, sorry Mandy, I didn't see you there." apologized Sonic

"It's OK true blue." Mandy assured him even though deep inside she wanted to gripe at Sonic for being so careless "It isn't easy to keep your eye on the road especially when you run that fast and everything's a blur to you."

"I guess that makes sense." said Sonic "So, where are you off to?"

"Oh…somewhere." said Mandy, trying to hide the fact she was heading to Castle Acorn since she had been invited to the celebration party "I'll meet you later OK?"

"OK." said Sonic.

Mandy then ran off in a hurry. Sonic scratched his head in thought.

"What did Mandy mean by somewhere?" he wondered "Is she hiding something from me?"

As he though on that, he was about to run off again until he saw Mandy's best friend, Wilson the Dog strolling by, carrying a lot of colourful boxes. He accidentally dropped one and tried to bend down to pick it up but that just made him drop all the boxes.

"Oh darn it!" he cried "Why did I have to drop these before I make it to Castle Acorn? I might wreck them!"

"Here Wilson, let me give you a hand." said Sonic, rushing over to help him pick up the boxes.

"Oh…thank you Sonic." said Wilson, surprised to see Sonic there.

Sonic and Wilson picked up all the boxes and stacked them together. Wilson picked the pile up and tried to stagger off. Sonic couldn't help but wonder what the boxes were for and why they were brightly coloured as if they were presents for a birthday party.

"Hey Wilson? What's with the boxes?" asked Sonic.

"Oh, they're for the surprise at Castle Acorn." said Wilson, still trying to walk off "You'll find out what's in them when it's time. See ya."

And with that Wilson disappeared into the woods, still staggering about with the tower of boxes he was carrying. Sonic scratched his head in thought again.

"What's Wilson taking boxes to Castle Acorn for?" he wondered "Is he helping out too? And I wonder why they look like birthday presents? It's not my birthday today."

Then he chuckled slightly.

"I wonder if they think it's my birthday and they're planning a surprise party for me." he said to himself "It'd be a shame for them to go for all this hard work for nothing so maybe I should pretend it's my birthday or something."

Sonic was about to run off yet again but something else caught his eye. It was none other then the Guardian of the Master Emerald himself, Knuckles the Echidna. Knuckles was carrying a long piece of material that looked suspiciously like a banner of sorts. Knuckles saw Sonic and waved to him.

"Hey Sonic." he said "Out jogging?"

"Yep." said Sonic "What brings you here Knucklehead?"

"I'm off to help with the surprise Sally's planning for you." said Knuckles "And this thing I have is for the surprise."

"What is it?" asked Sonic.

"If you want to find out what it is you have to fight me first!" joked Knuckles, clenching his fists.

"Nah, I'm not in the mood for a fight right now." said Sonic "Maybe some other time."

Knuckles just laughed at Sonic.

"You're just saying that to avoid me giving you a migraine aren't you?" he sneered "Well, I've gotta deliver this thing to Castle Acorn, see ya around Sonic."

He walked off, carrying the banner on his shoulder. Sonic just watched Knuckles leave and scratched his head in thought again.

"First Mandy, then Wilson and now Knuckles." he mused "What are those three going to Castle Acorn for? Are they involved with the surprise in someway or another? I wonder who's next? Bunnie and Geoffrey?"

He ran off at top speed and sped through the plains as he thought to himself. Whatever this surprise was going to be, it certainly seemed like it was going to be fun. He just wondered what Wilson, Mandy and Knuckles were doing there. Maybe they had been invited to it or something like that. And whatever the reason for the invites was, he would find that out when the surprise was ready…

On the other side of Green Hill Zone, there was a skunk in a green combat suit with an arm mounted crossbow on his right arm and there was a female rabbit with a robotical left arm and robotical legs walking through the forest and back to Mobotropolis. These two were Sonic's good friends Geoffrey St. John and Bunnie Rabbot. They had been part of the Mobotropolis Royal Fighters along with Sonic and they had been away helping other groups that needed an extra hand. Bunnie had been fighting in Megapolis and Geoffrey had been fighting in Downunda. Things were under control in both those places now so they were allowed to return home at long last. It felt like they had been away for years even though it had only been a month or two at the most for both of them. As they walked through the forest, Bunnie and Geoffrey chatted to each other about their respective missions.

"…and since the capture of Eggman's tank, everything's been goin' smoothly for lil ol' Thomas Tiger and his troop." explained Bunnie "Eggman hasn't given us a decent fight since the Egg Tank's capture. And even though sugah-hog destroyed it when he was Mecha Sonic* we still managed to defeat Eggman's last remaining robots and now Megapolis has everything under control once again."

"You sound like you've had fun luv." said Geoffrey with a smile "All I had to do was foil a train delivery and that was it, Eggman's army has been in total collapse since then. How does stopping one important train delivery cause so much damage to an army?"

"That train delivery must' a been quite important." suggested Bunnie "What was it delivering anyhow?"

"Just a very powerful missile that had enough power to sink continents when it hits its target." said Geoffrey "Good thing I stopped that train or all the continents on Mobius would end up like the city of Atlantis!"

"That Eggman's a bit crazy isn't he?" said Bunnie, putting her finger to her head and twirling it around as if to say Eggman was loopy "Ah mean, sinkin' entire continents? That's a lil extreme ain't it?"

"Nothing's too extreme for that Eggman bloke luv." said Geoffrey grimly "I bet if he wanted to he would destroy the entire world rather then try to take over it."

"Well if he ever tries that we'll be there to stop him!" said Bunnie hotly "He's no match for mah metal limbs!"

"And he's no match for my combat skills and arm mounted crossbow." said Geoffrey proudly lifting his arm to show his famed weapon "And he's no match for Sonic's speed either. That blighter will lose eventually and he'll leave Mobius and never return."

"Ah sure hope that happens some day Geoffrey." said Bunnie "Ah miss the good old days where it was just us Mobians doing as we pleased and we had nothin' to worry about."

"I long for those days to Bunnie." said Geoffrey with a sigh "Before that bloke arrived, I was a happy little soul living with my loving parents who thankfully aren't roboticized and I managed to get out of the ashes of that little event that could have ended my life here and there."

"Yo mentioned somethin' like that before." said Bunnie "What was that little event that could have ended your life?"

"I don't wanna talk about it." said Geoffrey as the painful memories came back to his head "It's too depressing for me."

Then suddenly he heard something rustle in the bushes and he aimed his crossbow directly in front of him.

"Bunnie, did you hear that?" he hissed, bending down on one knee.

"Ah sure did sugah." said Bunnie, deploying her arm cannon and aiming it in the same direction Geoffrey was aiming at "Ah bet it's an Eggman robot wanting revenge on us."

The two Mobians remained still and waited for whatever was making those rustling sounds to come out and face them. Little did they know…the thing was directly behind them! And the thing that was directly behind them was Metal Sonic. He detected them both when searching for Sonic and they registered as enemies so he decided to deal with them first. Metal Sonic leaped into the air and tried to attack Bunnie but Bunnie heard him, turned around and blasted the robot in the face with her cannon arm, making Geoffrey jump almost a foot in the air. Metal Sonic landed on his feet and skidded backwards before stopping himself and baring his claws. Bunnie and Geoffrey kept their weapons aimed at the metal monster.

"What is that?" asked Geoffrey "Another Mecha Sonic?"

"Don't tell me Eggman roboticized Sonic again!" cried Bunnie.

"Correction: I am not Sonic the Hedgehog." droned Metal Sonic in his deep robotical voice "I am Dr. Ivo Eggman's greatest machine ever: Metal Sonic."

"Metal Sonic?" said Geoffrey "What are you supposed to be a lame robot copy of Sonic the Hedgehog or something?"

"I am no copy!" boomed Metal Sonic "I am the real Sonic and I will show you why!"

He rocketed straight into Geoffrey's stomach and sent the skunk hurling backwards into a tree. Geoffrey fell forward and landed on his stomach. He groaned loudly. Then before Bunnie could act, Metal Sonic landed a flying punch to the eye on her and sent Bunnie falling on her back. That punch had given Bunnie a black eye and it hurt ever so badly. Bunnie rubbed it tenderly and watched Metal Sonic glare at her.

"Ah can beat you Metal Sonic, even with one eye!" she declared "Now it's your turn for a punch in the eye!"

She punched at Metal Sonic and her robot arm extended. Metal Sonic dodged but Bunnie's extending arm followed him around as the robot flew away from it. Her arm managed to catch up with Metal Sonic and it tried to wrap around him but Metal Sonic grabbed the arm and held it above his head to prevent it from fully wrapping around him. Then Bunnie swung her arm down, bringing Metal Sonic crashing into the ground. But he didn't smash to pieces like a normal robot would, he withstood the impact. Metal Sonic got back to his feet and since he was still holding Bunnie's arm, he yanked on it and pulled her forward. Bunnie yelped as she was pulled towards Metal Sonic and Metal Sonic blasted her in the face with the laser mounted in his torso. Then he threw her arm away, causing her to fall backwards onto her back. Then Metal Sonic tried to jump on Bunnie but he narrowly saw Geoffrey leaping for him so he quickly dodged and left Geoffrey to crash face first into the ground. Geoffrey recovered and fired a dart from his crossbow at Metal Sonic but quick as a flash, Metal Sonic caught it in his claws and threw it away! Geoffrey tried to kick Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic grabbed his foot and threw it up, causing Geoffrey to somersault backwards and land on his face. Bunnie tried to attack him but Metal Sonic heard her coming and he blasted her with the laser mounted in his back.

Bunnie fell onto her knees and panted. Then Metal Sonic grabbed her by the ears and took flight. He lifted Bunnie straight off the ground by her ears and he began to spin her around in mid air. Down on the ground, Geoffrey aimed his arm mounted crossbow up at Metal Sonic and wanted to shoot him but he dared not to in case he accidentally hit Bunnie. Metal Sonic stopped spinning and finally let go of Bunnie, sending her flying straight into Geoffrey. The two Mobians fell over and Geoffrey's crossbow accidentally fired a dart straight into a tree branch.

"Darn, I wasted a shot!" he moaned.

Metal Sonic charged towards the downed Mobians but Geoffrey recovered just in time to give Metal Sonic a kick to the forehead that sent him crashing face first into the ground. Metal Sonic recovered all too quickly just as Geoffrey was about to land another blow on him. Metal Sonic grabbed Geoffrey by the shoulders and kneed him directly in the gut. Geoffrey wheezed loudly as all the air in his lungs began to escape him. A knee to the gut can be very painful but when a robot does it, it's even more painful and Geoffrey found himself lying on the ground in excruciating pain. Metal Sonic tried to attack Geoffrey again but Bunnie fisted him in the back of the head with her metal arm.

"Don't ya dare touch Geoffrey ya Sonic rip-off!" screamed Bunnie as Metal Sonic staggered over onto his knees.

"Your resistance is amusing as it is infuriating." droned Metal Sonic, standing back up "I guess I'll have to double my efforts."

With that said, Metal Sonic emitted a spin-dash very similar to Sonic's own spin-dash only far more dangerous looking and charged straight into Bunnie. The impact left some slashes on Bunnie's stomach and the stunned rabbit fell to her knees and clutched her stomach in pain. Geoffrey tried to attack once again but Metal Sonic dodged the skunk, spun around and kicked him in the back of the head. Geoffrey fell on his face and groaned.

"I dunno about you luv, but I think we need help." grunted Geoffrey, trying to get back to his feet.

"That Metal Sonic cough! sure is a handful isn't he?" coughed Bunnie "Ah reckon he's stronger then even Mecha Sonic!"

Metal Sonic glared at his victims with satisfaction.

"You have been an amusing bunch of vermin." he taunted "But now is the time for your lives to end. Prepare to feel my spin-dash Mobians!"

He emitted another spin-dash and charged at Bunnie and Geoffrey. Geoffrey got back to his feet and kicked Metal Sonic away. Metal Sonic ended up digging his way down into the ground slightly due to his spin-dash and now he had embedded himself into the thick soil and grass. While Metal Sonic was trying to free himself, Geoffrey pulled Bunnie close to him.

"We need a plan and I think I have one luv." said Geoffrey "You keep him busy while I load up my crossbow with an EMP dart and then I'll shot the blighter in the back. He'll be put out of commission and then we can destroy him."

"Good idea sugah." said Bunnie "Ah hope it works."

"Let's try it now Bunnie." said Geoffrey "I think the metal bloke's just about free himself from the ground!"

And he was right, Metal Sonic wrenched himself free and sent chunks of soil flying everywhere. Bunnie immediately went into action and tried to punch Metal Sonic with her robot arm. Metal Sonic dodged the blow and seized Bunnie's extending arm. He yanked on the arm and pulled Bunnie towards him. He punched Bunnie and released her arm. Geoffrey pulled an EMP dart out of his pocket and loaded his crossbow. He aimed at Metal Sonic and prepared to fire. Metal Sonic tried to slash at Bunnie but Bunnie had activated her shield generator to defend herself. She couldn't keep the shield up forever since using her robot limbs a lot wore her out a little so Geoffrey had to act before Metal Sonic broke through. Geoffrey fired the dart and the dart went straight into Metal Sonic's back. The startled robot was engulfed by a painful electric shock that pulsed through his circuits and made him switch off. Metal Sonic collapsed to the ground. Geoffrey smiled and blow the smoke coming out of his crossbow away.

"Bull's-eye." he said.

Bunnie observed the knocked out Metal Sonic carefully to make sure he was out of commission. The robot didn't move. He appeared to be completely immobilized.

"Well Geoffrey, ah think he's down and out for now." she said "He's not movin'."

"Well that's what happens when you use EMP on robots." said Geoffrey "EMP stands for Electromagnetic pulse and it can do a great deal of damage to robot circuits you know."

"Ah know." said Bunnie "Now Metal Sonic's down we should smash him to pieces before he wakes up."

"I agree." said Geoffrey "Use your arm cannon, that'll destroy him."

"Ah would but ah feel a little worn out from using mah limbs so much." said Bunnie "If ah use mah arm cannon again ah'll collapse."

"Then maybe you should just use your robot arm to smash him up." said Geoffrey "I'm sure you have enough strength to rip robots to pieces."

"Ah'll do just that." said Bunnie "Metal Sonic will be no more when ah've finished with him…"

She turned around to grab Metal Sonic and rip him apart only to find he had disappeared. Bunnie's ears stuck up straight in surprise and Geoffrey leaped backwards.

"Hey! Where'd he go? Where'd he go?" screeched Geoffrey "He's gone! But how? My dart shouldn't have worn off yet!"

"How did he get away without us knowing about it?" cried Bunnie "He must be one silent fella!"

"I bet he's hiding and waiting to pounce on us any moment now." said Geoffrey "Keep your senses alert, we'll continue our way to Mobotropolis and if Metal Sonic tries to attack, we'll fight back."

"Ah hope he doesn't catch us by surprise." said Bunnie "Ah've had all ah can take for today."

Geoffrey and Bunnie walked on further through Green Hill Zone, keeping their senses alert for Metal Sonic. Speaking of Metal Sonic, he was hiding behind some thickly grown bushes and waiting for the perfect moment to emerge. Geoffrey's dart didn't have much of an effect on him due to his strong build so he was only knocked out for a few seconds and while Bunnie and Geoffrey were talking, he crawled away and hid. He waited for Bunnie and Geoffrey to disappear into the woods before emerging from his hiding place and silently following them. He had a feeling if he followed Bunnie and Geoffrey, they'd take him to where Sonic was and then he would have him! Sonic would not know what had hit him…

Meanwhile at Castle Acorn, the celebration party was ready. The guests had arrived, the tables had been set, the food had been laid out and Knuckles, with some help from Tails and Cream, had managed to pin up the banner he had brought to the party. The banner said in big blue letters "THANK YOU SONIC!" and it hung over one of the Castle's windows. Everything looked splendid and Sally couldn't wait for Sonic to see it.

"Well boys and girls, everything's set." said Sally "Now all we need to do is find Sonic and tell him the surprise is ready."

"I'll go." offered Tails eagerly "I'll be able to find him."

"OK Tails." said Sally.

Tails twisted his tails around one another and he took flight. Then Tails flew off and headed for Green Hill Zone to look for Sonic since the hedgehog was likely to be there right now. The moment Tails left, Sally said

"Well everything's going well so far. Maybe this'll be a quiet day for us."

"That'll be a first." said Mandy grimly "A quiet day's an impossibility for us ever since Dr. Eggman arrived."

"Oh Mandy liven up will you?" said Wilson teasingly "There's no need to be so melancholy all the time."

Mandy ignored her friend and gave him the cold shoulder. As for Amy, she was talking to Knuckles.

"Do the people of Angel Island ever have parties?" asked Amy.

"We do host a celebration every ten years to celebrate years of guardian work." said Knuckles "The next time I'll have that kind of celebration is when I turn twenty and I'm sixteen now so that's at least four years away from now."

"I bet it's a lot of fun isn't it?" asked Amy.

"It's OK really." said Knuckles casually.

As for Cream, she and Cosmo were talking to Team Chaotix. Vector was telling them about the time they narrowly managed to save Sonic and Tails from Scourge's wrath.

"…and just as it looks like they're doomed, Charmy here," Vector patted Charmy on the head and the bee smiled with appreciation "Head-butted Scourge in the stomach and sent him falling off the temple! Then Espio snatches the pearl out of the cube and throws it away and I freed Sonic and Tails from their binds."

"It was a team effort." said Espio casually "And the green menace ran like a coward."

"That was so brave of you guys to rescue Mr. Sonic and Tails like that!" Cream squealed happily "No wonder my mother likes it when you three come to visit us!"

"Heh, no wonder." agreed Vector "And we're the Chaotix detective agency, we do what we do best and…Charmy keep away from the nachos!" he yelled.

Charmy was about to steal some nachos from the buffet table but Vector caught him so he put his hands behind his back and moaned.

"But Vector all this food is making me hungry and my mouth's about to become a waterfall!" he whined.

"You'll have to wait until Sonic arrives." said Espio sternly "I hope Tails doesn't take too long."

"I'm sure he won't." said Cosmo "Tails is good at finding things."

"By they way, I don't believe we've met." said Espio politely "I'm Espio, may I have your name miss?"

"I'm Cosmo." said Cosmo.

"Ah, I've heard about you from the newspapers we read!" exclaimed Vector "Aren't you that plant girl who saved Sally from being killed by that Marik guy?"

"I am." said Cosmo "I saved Sally from Marik the Martian who hopefully we will never see again."

"I hope so." said Charmy "That guy sounds creepy!"

"He's worse then creepy Charmy." said Cream "He's mean, he's evil and he's…"

"Cream that's quite enough." interrupted Cosmo "Marik's gone so we don't need to tell everyone about him."

"Sorry Cosmo." said Cream, looking to her right. She suddenly spotted something turned to Vector.

"Um Vector, do you know those two over there?" asked Cream, pointing at some figures in the distance.

Everybody looked in Cream's direction and saw what she saw. She had seen Bunnie and Geoffrey, limping towards Castle Acorn. They looked terrible from the fight with Metal Sonic they had just been in, they were covered with cuts and bruises and Geoffrey's suit was torn in places. Nicole ran over to give them a hand.

"Here Bunnie and Geoffrey, let me help you." she offered, holding Bunnie's hand and helping her onwards.

"Thank you Nicole." said Bunnie weakly.

Geoffrey was still strong enough to walk so he didn't need helping. Sally ran over to the two and immediately began asking them questions.

"What happened to you two?" she exclaimed "You look like you've been in a fight!"

"We have luv." said Geoffrey "We were engaged in combat with a robot clone of Sonic!"

Sally and Nicole's jaws dropped and they looked at each other. Amy and Knuckles overheard them and they exchanged worried glances. Was this the return of Mecha Sonic or something worse?

"It's a robot called Metal Sonic." explained Bunnie, falling onto her knees "It's even faster and stronger then Mecha Sonic. Ah barely managed to beat Mecha Sonic and me and Geoffrey together were no match for Metal Sonic!"

"Where is this Metal Sonic?" shrieked Sally "Is he waiting to attack?"

"Well he disappeared after I knocked it out." explained Geoffrey "And it didn't leap out and attack us while we were walking through the forest so it may have retreated."

"Ah think it's waiting to attack us." said Bunnie "Ah think it's takin' the subtle approach."

Sally and Nicole didn't know what to think of the situation. Everybody else just murmured to one another.

"Do you think we should postpone the celebration until Metal Sonic is disposed of?" suggested Nicole.

"We may have to." said Sally "I don't want this perfectly set up party to be ruined by a robot clone of Sonic."

Then all of the sudden Tails and Sonic showed up with Tails leading Sonic.

"And here we are Sonic." said Tails "Here's your surprise."

Sonic looked at the nicely set up tables and banner that were all set up outside Castle Acorn. He admired the banner and looked at all the guests there. His closest friends were all here and obviously taking part in the celebration. Strange how they didn't seem thrilled to see him.

"Say, what's with the faces?" asked Sonic "Is something wrong?"

"Yes." said Sally "Geoffrey and Bunnie have been in battle with a robot clone of you and it might be waiting to get us!" she shrieked "I'm sorry Sonic but we're postponing the celebration until Metal Sonic is defeated!"

"Metal Sonic?" sneered Sonic "How corny! It just sounds like Mecha Sonic with a different name! Is Eggman really that short on ideas recently?"

"This isn't something to joke about Sonic!" snapped Sally "Look what it did to Bunnie and Geoffrey!"

Sonic looked at his two friends and gasped. He ran over to their sides to comfort them.

"Hey you two, long time no see." he said "What did Metal Sonic do to ya?"

"A lot, that's all we can say." said Geoffrey "That blighter's worse then you in Mecha form!"

"Well I was already a handful when I was Mecha Sonic so Metal Sonic sounds like a challenge." said Sonic "I can't wait to destroy him!"

"No Sonic, it is you who will be destroyed!" boomed a terrible voice from above their heads.

Everybody looked up and spotted Metal Sonic standing on the roof of Castle Acorn, glowering at them with his terrible red optics. Sonic got into a battle ready stance and prepared to pounce.

"So you must be Metal Sonic." said Sonic, smirking "Eggman really shouldn't have. It was so kind of him to send a robot copy of me for me to destroy!"

"You are the copy, I am the real Sonic." droned Metal Sonic "And I will destroy you, copy!"

"Who are you calling copy? Copy!" retorted Sonic "We'll see who the copy really is!"

Metal Sonic leaped off the building and charged towards Sonic. Knuckles leaped up and punched Metal Sonic in the side of the head and sent him crashing into the ground.

"Hey Knuckles, I wanted to do that!" griped Sonic.

"Well I'm giving you a helping hand." said Knuckles.

"And so are we." said Amy, brandishing her Piko-Piko hammer.

She and everybody else were prepared to attack Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic got back to his feet and charged at Knuckles. He elbowed the echidna in the stomach and then threw him into the tables. Knuckles knocked a table over and the food flew everywhere. Sonic tried to attack but Metal Sonic blasted him with his torso laser and sent Sonic flying away. Sally was next to retaliate by trying to kick Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic ducked.

"I spent all day preparing this party for Sonic and I won't have you wrecking it!" screamed Sally "And you won't wreck Castle Acorn either!"

"Silence!" boomed Metal Sonic malevolently.

He kneed Sally straight in the stomach and sent her buckling over. Then he elbowed her in the back of the head, sending the queen falling on her face. Espio was next to attack by throwing a shuriken at the robot Sonic clone. Metal Sonic caught the deadly stars and threw them back at Espio. The chameleon found himself running for cover from his own weapons. The shuriken failed to catch him and they embedded themselves into the ground. Espio picked them up but Metal Sonic attacked him from behind and gave him a sharp thump on the head with his knuckles, putting the chameleon out of commission for now. Vector lunged at Metal Sonic and tried to chomp him up in his jaws but Metal Sonic wrenched them open and fired his torso mounted laser straight in Vector's mouth. Vector jumped back and hit the walls of the castle, coughing loudly. Charmy tried to sting Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic just smacked the bee away with one powerful swipe.

"I'm baffled as to how the master is having trouble taking you fools on." he droned "You Mobians are weak, feeble and pathetic."

"Do you call THIS weak, feeble and pathetic?" shrieked Amy, trying to attack Metal Sonic with her hammer.

Metal Sonic grabbed her arms before her hammer could hit and threw Amy straight into the air. Tails caught her and lowered her gently to the ground. Then Metal Sonic attacked Tails by flying up to him and drop kicking him into the ground. Wilson tried to attack by ramming Metal Sonic with his shoulder but Metal Sonic stepped out the way and punched him in the back, sending Wilson falling over himself and landing on Tails. Mandy threw a bomb at Metal Sonic but the terrifying robot caught it in his claws and threw it back at her. Mandy ducked and the bomb hit the castle doors, blowing them up and knocking them down. Then Metal Sonic head-butted Mandy and sent her crashing into another table. The table's legs gave way and the table collapsed with Mandy on top of it. Bunnie and Geoffrey, despite their injuries tried to join in but Metal Sonic picked up a bench and threw it at them both. The bench took them both out in an instant. Nicole tried to step in with some of her novice style combat skills but Metal Sonic effortlessly managed to take her out with a spin-dash. Cream and Cheese sneaked up from behind and tried to attack but Metal Sonic blasted them with the laser in his back. Cosmo picked up some of the food that had fallen on the ground after Knuckles crashed into the table and threw it at Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic got splattered by a cream pie and that made him angry. He turned around and ran up to Cosmo. With one powerful head butt, he sent Cosmo flying into the wall. A very sharp flush of pain flooded up her back and the pain was excruciating. Then Metal Sonic advanced on Cosmo menacingly. Cosmo cowered with her back against the wall. She covered her eyes and waited for Metal Sonic to strike.

"You will die freak of nature and so will the rest of you for your insolence and disloyalty to the true ruler of Mobius, Dr. Eggman!" growled Metal Sonic.

"Don't hurt me please!" begged Cosmo.

Metal Sonic ignored her and prepared to attack until he was spin-dashed from behind by Sonic the Hedgehog. Metal Sonic turned around to face the blue hedgehog who seemed mostly unhurt from Metal Sonic's earlier attack.

"That's pretty good stuff Metal Sonic but now it's time to get personal!" declared Sonic "I'm not pleased you've wrecked the celebration party all my friends have put together, and no one hurts my friends like that, ever!"

"So be it copy!" boomed Metal Sonic "You shall have the pleasure of dying by my claws!"

Sonic and Metal Sonic charged at each other with their fists clenched. This was it, the battle of the Sonics, the Supersonic Showdown that would determine who the better Sonic was…

Footnotes:

 See the now almost legendary Story 2

* See Stories 6-7

 See Story 28

 Who can possibly forget the events of Story 12?

Metal Sonic is unleashed and he's kicking everybody's butts! Can Sonic defeat him? Or is Metal Sonic just too much? Join me next time...

As we Sonic fans all know, the games haven't really...um...given Metal Sonic any glory recently so after putting Metal Sonic into this story I decided to give him the glory he once had but no longer can have thanks to SEGA being lazy and not giving a damn about him anymore. Have I succeeded? Or have I made Metal Sonic even worse? Reviews are welcome.

A Worldwide Sonic Showdown Part 1

Story 31: A Worldwide Sonic Showdown Part 1

Sonic found himself crashing into the ground yet again by Metal Sonic's spin-dash. The fight had been pretty one-sided so far and that one-side unfortunately happened to be Metal Sonic. Most of the fight had been spent spin-dashing each other but being metal, Metal Sonic's spin-dashes were harder and Sonic kept getting knocked down by the metal monster. Sonic got back to his feet and tried to spin-dash Metal Sonic once again. Metal Sonic held his hands up and caught Sonic in his claws. Sonic managed to push Metal Sonic backwards for a bit but Metal Sonic eventually overpowered his organic nemesis and threw him away. Sonic crashed straight into the castle, sending some bricks falling down and smashing to pieces against the ground. Everybody else had been watching the fight desperately and helplessly from behind the overturned tables, watching Metal Sonic match Sonic blow after blow after blow.

"This is ridiculous!" cried Sally "At the rate they're going, Castle Acorn will be a wreck!"

"I think Mobius will be a wreck if Sonic doesn't defeat Metal Sonic already." said Tails "No matter what Sonic does, Metal Sonic seems to do it better!"

"Not to mention he just took us all on and defeated us all." said Espio.

"Well we need to give Sonic a helping hand." said Sally "Everybody, let's go!"

And with that, all the Mobians emerged from their hiding place and ran over to Metal Sonic. Cosmo remained hidden, knowing she would be of no help to them. Sonic freed himself from the wall and spin-dashed towards Metal Sonic. Since Metal Sonic was looking at everybody else, he didn't see Sonic coming and Sonic spin-dashed him directly in the head, knocking him over. He managed to get back up but Sally and Nicole both double-teamed him with some good kicks to the head. But Metal Sonic managed to take the two girls out with one hard punch to each of them. Knuckles then leaped on Metal Sonic, knocking him over again and began violently punching him around the head. Metal Sonic blasted him with his torso laser, sending Knuckles flying off him and onto his back. Wilson and Geoffrey St. John leaped on Metal Sonic, grabbed his arms and pinned him down so he couldn't defend himself from Sonic's attacks. Sonic tried to spin-dash Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic activated his jet booster and took off with Wilson and Geoffrey still holding his arms.

"Criiiiiikeeeeeeeeyyyyyyy!" screeched Geoffrey as he was lifted off the ground.

"Help!" squeaked Wilson.

Tails and Bunnie blew into the sky after Metal Sonic and Bunnie tried to punch Metal Sonic with her robot hand but he ducked. Then he threw Wilson and Geoffrey directly at Tails and Bunnie. Bunnie caught Wilson and Tails caught Geoffrey. Then Metal Sonic charged at the foursome and sent them falling to the ground with a heavy crash. Luckily, no one was hurt. Metal Sonic charged at Tails, Bunnie, Geoffrey and Wilson and tried to attack them but Sonic interfered with a spin-dash to the side. Metal Sonic was sent spiralling into the ground face first. Sonic stood beside him with one foot on Metal Sonic's back to keep him there.

"Give it up Metal Sonic, you can't hold this up forever." said Sonic "We'll eventually overpower you and you'll be nothing but scrap heap. So what do you say? Why don't you retreat so you'll live to fight another day?"

Metal Sonic said nothing. He reached behind himself, grabbed Sonic's leg and flipped him straight over onto his back. Then Metal Sonic, still holding Sonic's leg, proceeded to lift him up and smash him into the ground multiple times before throwing him into the air and flying after him so he could kick him. But Charmy Bee flew after Metal Sonic and pounded him in the side to distract him and then he caught Sonic.

"Thanks Charmy." said Sonic.

"You're welcome." said Charmy "Now let's get outta here before that Metal Sonic guy kicks our butts again…"

Unfortunately Metal Sonic sped up from behind and kicked Charmy in the head. The bee's helmet fell off and he began to plummet down to the ground. Vector ran up to catch Sonic and Charmy. He just made it and caught them in his arms.

"Whoa! Good catch Vector!" said Sonic with a thumbs up sign.

"Thank you." said Vector "I thought I was gonna miss."

"Watch out, here comes Metal Sonic!" shrieked Charmy, putting his helmet back on his head.

Surely enough, Metal Sonic came racing towards them at top speed. Sonic leaped up and spin-dashed him before he could come close to the ground. Metal Sonic landed on his feet and skidded backwards. Suddenly, he found himself being attacked from behind by Cream and Cheese.

"Take this you bad robot!" cried Cream as she and Cheese pounded him with their fists.

Metal Sonic grabbed Cream by the ears and swung her around in a perfect 360 degree spin before throwing her directly into an oncoming Sonic and knocking him over. Cheese stopped attacking Metal Sonic and flew over to Cream's aid.

"Sorry Mr. Sonic!" cried Cream.

"It's OK Cream, we'll still beat this guy." said Sonic.

Sonic got back to his feet and charged at him in a homing attack. Metal Sonic blocked the attack and smacked him away. Then Knuckles stepped in with an uppercut to the chin. Metal Sonic was thrown up for a bout five feet and then he landed on his back. Metal Sonic only just stood up but Knuckles charged at him with another punch. Then Knuckles began to shower the robot with punches. Unfortunately for him, Metal Sonic was strong enough to resist Knuckle's punches although he couldn't keep it up forever, he had to stop Knuckles punching him before his armour eventually gave way.

Amy ran up to Metal Sonic and walloped him with her hammer. Metal Sonic fell onto his side and skidded across the dirt. Knuckles and Amy ran up to him, ready to attack him again but Metal Sonic was ready for them. He leaped to his feet and let them have it with both fists in the face. His fists were as hard as anything due to them being metal and Knuckles & Amy both felt the sheer hardness of them.

"And I thought my punches were hard!" groaned Knuckles as he clutched his face.

Metal Sonic tried to attack them again but he was struck in the side by a flying shuriken. It was Espio. After throwing the shuriken at Metal Sonic, he pulled out a knife and ran up to Metal Sonic.

"I will destroy you Metal Sonic!" declared Espio, throwing the knife at him.

Metal Sonic just caught the knife in his claws and threw it away. Then he pulled out the shuriken that was embedded in his side and threw it at Espio. Espio caught the deadly weapon and threw it back. Metal Sonic just smacked the shuriken away and lunged at the chameleon. Espio let him have a ninja-style punch to the face and then he kicked Metal Sonic in the torso. Metal Sonic backed off and tried to attack again but Espio turned invisible. Metal Sonic was taken aback at that sudden act but he knew invisibility wouldn't do Espio any good. His hearing was greater then any Mobian so he could hear Espio coming, no matter how quiet he was. While invisible, Espio tip-toed behind Metal Sonic and prepared to stab him in the back with his knife. But Metal Sonic heard him tip-toeing behind him and let him have it with his back laser. Espio was blown away and he landed on his back, turning back visible.

Mandy Mouse pulled another bomb off her utility belt and threw it at Metal Sonic, hoping to get him this time, especially since she shortened the fuse. Metal Sonic saw the bomb coming and scanned it quickly. He found out the fuse was too short for him to catch it and throw it away so he just sped out of the bomb's path and the bomb exploded when it hit the ground. Mandy ran over to Metal Sonic and tried to drop kick him around the head but Metal Sonic caught her leg and threw her over his shoulder. She skidded across the grass and slumped on the ground.

Sonic and Vector were the only ones left so they ran up to Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic jumped out their way, somersaulted in the air, landed behind them and punched them both in the back. Vector turned around and snapped at Metal Sonic with his jaws. Then he tried to let Metal Sonic have it with both fists but Metal Sonic blocked both punches with his hands and threw Vector over his shoulder. Sonic spin-dashed into Metal Sonic but the robot blocked his attacks with his arms. Sonic stopped spin-dashing him and kicked him in the head. Then Sonic let Metal Sonic have it with both fists in the face. His punches didn't hurt Metal Sonic much but the robot was effected he could tell. The two Sonics stared each other down and prepared to attack. Sonic began to pant.

"You know what Metal?" said Sonic "We seem evenly matched don't we? You can clearly hold your own out there!"

"I was built with strength one hundred times greater then Mecha Sonic himself." droned Metal Sonic "You will never defeat me. Even if you were Mecha Sonic, you couldn't defeat me. I will always defeat you Sonic, and all your friends together cannot match my power."

"Well let's see shall we?" said Sonic "But to make things more interesting, I'm going to run for my life right now. Think you can catch me copy?"

"I do not think I can chase you down Sonic, I know I can." droned Metal Sonic "My speed is greater then yours."

"Let's see shall we?" sneered Sonic.

He ran off at top speed and darted through the under construction Mobotropolis and then into the forests of Green Hill Zone. Metal Sonic activated his jet booster and roared after him at top speed. Soon the two Sonics disappeared into the forests. Sonic's battered and beaten friends picked themselves up and watched the two Sonics run off.

"Where are they going?" asked Cosmo, emerging from her hiding place.

"They're running off somewhere." said Tails "But why? Is Sonic just doing that to save us from even more injury from Metal Sonic or is he just trying to show Metal Sonic who's the fastest?"

"Whatever the reason is." said Sally, dusting herself off "We need to follow them and see what they're up to and also give Sonic a hand while we're at it."

"But Sally, we can't defeat Metal Sonic." said Nicole "I mean look at us! There was fifteen of us and only one of him and he beat us all without breaking a sweat!"

"Hopefully, Sonic will weaken Metal Sonic while he's doing whatever he's doing." said Sally "Metal Sonic shouldn't be able to keep this up forever. Wilson!" she said loudly "Get the R.F.S.* jet ready! We'll fly after the two Sonics in it."

"Certainly your Majesty." said Wilson, running off.

"I'll take my plane." said Tails "I think it's about time the Tornado was put in use."

"You own a plane?" said Geoffrey with surprise in his voice.

"Yep." said Tails proudly "I built it myself too. I can fix and repair things as well as build things from scratch."

"Well Sonic's lucky to have a friend like you on his side isn't he?" said Geoffrey, stroking Tails' head playfully.

"Heh, heh. Yes he is." said Tails.

"Hey, has anyone seen Mandy?" asked Bunnie.

Everybody looked around only to see the little mouse had disappeared. She was nowhere to be seen.

"I guess that mouse turned chicken and ran." said Geoffrey "It's just like girls to do that." he added, remembering Fiona's sudden departure from a few weeks ago.

"Geoffrey, it's not nice to belittle our friends like that." said Nicole "Although it wasn't nice for Mandy to abandon us like that. I thought the Royal Fighters stuck together."

"We'll just have to go without her." said Sally "Everybody come with me to the R.F.S. jet. Tails, you get your plane."

"Yes Queen Sally." said Tails.

Tails took flight and headed for Sonic's house, where the Tornado was kept. Sally led everyone else to where the R.F.S. jet was. Sally couldn't help but wonder what Sonic and Metal Sonic were doing right now. And she couldn't help but wonder WHERE on Mobius they were right now…

Meanwhile in Robotropolis: the rebuilding of the new city was half finished and Dr. Eggman was watching Metal Sonic's performance in his secret bunker. Watching Metal Sonic beat everybody up brought a great big smile to Dr. Eggman's face. He was kind of amazed himself as to how well Metal Sonic was holding up against fifteen different Mobians. It's clear that giving Metal Sonic Mecha Sonic's data and adding a few more tweaks here and there made Metal Sonic stronger then he imagined. Dr. Eggman was a little puzzled as to why Sonic and Metal Sonic had stopped fighting and were now chasing each other. Dr. Eggman laughed as Metal Sonic almost caught Sonic.

"Oh don't think you can outrun my little beauty Sonic!" chortled Dr. Eggman "His speed is greater then yours and even your evil brother's! You'll never outrun Metal Sonic!"

Eggman's servant bot Alonzo appeared into the bunker and stopped beside Dr. Eggman and saluted him.

"Master, the building work is fifty percent complete and still going." he reported "New Robotropolis should be completed in no time."

"Yes wonderful Alonzo." said Eggman, not really paying attention to his metal minion.

"How's the marvellous Metal Sonic doing sir?" asked Alonzo.

"Metal Sonic is doing splendidly Alonzo." announced Eggman happily "He managed to hold his own against fifteen Mobians at once!"

"Fifteen?" shrieked Alonzo "And I thought Mecha Sonic was powerful! Metal Sonic takes the bolts doesn't he?"

"He does." said Eggman "And I'm so proud of my little machine right now I could kiss him!"

"Very nice sir." said Alonzo sarcastically.

"If Metal Sonic can hold his own against fifteen Mobians then victory for me is certain!" declared Eggman with an evil smile "I shall conquer Mobius once and for all!"

"You know what I think you should do master?" asked Alonzo "I think you should build an army of Metal Sonics, then you'll be unstoppable."

"That would be a good idea wouldn't it?" said Dr. Eggman, putting a finger to his lips "But I don't have the parts to build an army of Metal Sonics right now so one will have to do."

"So, what is Metal Sonic doing now?" asked Alonzo.

"For some reason, Sonic's running away and Metal Sonic's chasing him." said Eggman "I have no idea what's making Sonic run for it. Is he just too afraid to face Metal Sonic so he's trying to escape him?"

"Probably sir." said Alonzo "Where are the two Sonics now?"

"Um…" Eggman's voice trailed off as he observed the monitors in front of him.

It just suddenly dawned on him that Sonic and Metal Sonic were heading towards New Robotropolis! If the two Sonics ran through his under construction city they would cause a great deal of damage and work would be delayed. Dr. Eggman thumped a button on the control pad and bellowed into a microphone.

"Metal Sonic! Take your fight elsewhere! You're heading for New Robotropolis!" screamed Dr. Eggman.

Metal Sonic got the message and stopped flying after Sonic. Then he blasted at Sonic with his torso laser. The shot zoomed over Sonic's head and blasted the ground in front ho him, causing Sonic to stop dead in his tracks. Now Sonic had stopped, Metal Sonic flew towards Sonic and grabbed him from behind.

"He-He-Hey! What's the big idea metal brains?" cried Sonic.

"We are heading for Eggman's new city." explained Metal Sonic "I will not let you wreck it while we're on this chase so I'm taking this battle somewhere else."

"I know a good place to tussle." said Sonic, spinning into a spin-dash to make Metal Sonic let go of him "If you follow me, I'll take you to the perfect place to battle! Try to keep up metal-head!"

Sonic sped off into the west with Metal Sonic roaring after him. Sonic hoped he'd be able to keep this up until he arrived at the location he wanted to be at. But he had a feeling Metal Sonic would have him by then as the metal monster got closer and closer.

Meanwhile, Tails had made it home and leaped into the pilot seat of the Tornado. He activated the plane's propeller and he pulled on the thrusters. The Tornado sped down the stretch of green that acted as his runway and the plane took to the skies. As he began to climb into the air, he spotted another aircraft on the ground near to Castle Acorn. This craft was the R.F.S. jet Sally had mentioned earlier. It was a huge silver aircraft with the ability to hover like a helicopter and fly like a plane. Its wings were long and they could rotate up and down for hovering and flying abilities. Wilson was the jet's pilot and everybody else was seat-belted in the back.

"R.F.S. jet, ready for take off!" announced Wilson as the aircraft began to whirr into life.

He pulled on the thrusters and the aircraft began to take off vertically like a helicopter. The craft went straight up until it was just the right height and then the wings rotated forward so they were in the normal position of an actual plane's wings. Then the R.F.S. jet began to shoot forward, its jet engines roaring louder then a pride of lions. Tails watched the jet go and was amazed at the craft's speed. He pulled forward on the thrusters and the Tornado began to pick up speed whilst flying after the R.F.S. jet. The Tornado managed to catch up with the R.F.S. jet and he remained at the side of the jet. In the jet Wilson let go of the controls, put the jet on autopilot and sighed to himself.

"R.F.S. jet is flying smoothly everyone and it is now on autopilot." he announced "You're free to unbuckle yourselves until the sign above the door tells you to put your belts back on."

Everybody unbuckled themselves. Wilson put his arms behind his head and stared at the clouds whizzing past the jet as it continued to go forward.

"I wonder where Mandy is?" he said to himself "Pity she had to just up and vanish like that, she loves the idea of flying just like I do. I always did prefer planes to cars after all. I just hope Mandy's somewhere safe and out of harm's way."

As for the others, they were chatting amongst themselves.

"I wonder where Sonic and Metal Sonic are?" said Amy, looking out the window "I do hope Sonic's OK down there."

"He'll be fine." said Knuckles "Sonic will hold out in the end."

"But Knuckles, Metal Sonic can beat all of us combined so what chance do you think Sonic has?" blurted Vector "Sonic's toast down there!"

"Vector, don't lose faith in Mr. Sonic." said Cream "Mr. Sonic always wins in the end. He'll beat Metal Sonic, you'll see."

"I most certainly agree!" put in Amy "Sonic never loses faith on us so don't lose faith in him Vector!"

"OK, OK! I get it!" cried Vector "Geesh, you girls are unbearable sometimes!"

"Will you lot stop arguing?" snapped Sally as she stared out the window "We need to focus on finding Sonic and helping him defeat Metal Sonic now!"

"We're not arguing." retorted Amy "We're just debating over Sonic's capabilities."

"Well stop debating then." muttered Sally.

"Does anyone see the twin-tailed kid in his little plane anywhere?" asked Geoffrey.

"I think that's him over there." said Nicole, pointing at a blue and yellow bi-plane that was flying beside the jet.

"That is him." said Cosmo "I can recognize that plane design from when it was almost completed yesterday."

"I never knew Tails could build things." said Nicole "He is a remarkable boy isn't he?"

"You could say that." said Amy "And Sonic's lucky to have a friend like him."

"I wonder if Tails would like to be the Royal Fighters Service's mechanic?" pondered Geoffrey "He could be a valuable asset to the team with abilities like that."

"Ah think Tails is alright how he is Geoff." said Bunnie "Ah don't think he needs more weight on his shoulders."

"But Tails doesn't carry weights on his shoulders." said Cosmo.

Bunnie and Geoffrey chuckled at the little Seedrian.

"It's a figure of speech mate." said Geoffrey "It doesn't literally mean he carries weights on his shoulders. I can see you're not used to our language yet are you?"

"Well I can speak like you can but I don't understand what some of your sayings mean." said Cosmo "Such as that weight on his shoulders saying."

"I wouldn't worry too much sugah." said Bunnie "Ya'll don't have to understand what the sayings mean."

Then suddenly the seatbelt sign above the cockpit door began to glow, meaning everybody had to sit back down and buckle themselves up. Everybody did just that and Wilson announced from inside the cockpit,

"I've caught something on the radar and I'm going to follow it. Hold on tight everybody!"

The R.F.S. jet titled up a little and turned slightly to the right. Tails did the same and the two planes followed the thing Wilson had picked up on radar. Tails was picking up the same thing on his radar.

"I bet that's either Sonic, Metal Sonic or both." said Tails "Either way, we're following this thing to see what it is. We'll catch up to the two Sonics in no time."

But that would take longer then expected being as Sonic and Metal Sonic were faster then both jets and they were already a good distance ahead. This would defiantly take a while. Hopefully Sonic would manage to hold out until they caught up to him.

Sonic and Metal Sonic had been running for hours on end and their running had finally taken them to a place Sonic wanted to fight Metal Sonic in. They had arrived in an ancient place known as Kingdom Valley which was well known for its old abandoned castles. However there was one problem, Kingdom Valley was surrounded by water and if Sonic fell in the water, he'd have trouble getting out since he can't swim so he had to be careful. Sonic leaped in one large graceful leap and landed on top of a bridge that connected two palaces together. Metal Sonic remained hovering in the air and glowered at Sonic.

"Come on then Metal Sonic!" jeered Sonic "Don't you wanna fight me?"

Metal Sonic did not wait to be asked twice. He charged at Sonic at blinding speed, ready to send him flying off the bridge and into the water. Sonic however, leaped out of the way and kicked Metal Sonic in the back of the head and sent the robot diving straight down towards the water. Sonic leaped off the bridge and landed on one of the old castles and watched Metal Sonic plummet towards the water.

Unfortunately, Metal Sonic managed to activate his jet booster and stop himself just before he could fall in the water. Metal Sonic rocketed back into the sky and headed for the castle Sonic stood on. Sonic leaped back and Metal Sonic crashed straight through the roof. Sonic leaped over the giant hole in the roof but as bad luck would have it, Metal Sonic came through the roof and seized him by the leg. Then Metal Sonic threw Sonic down towards the water. Sonic managed to grab a nearby rope and the rope began to sag lower and lower until Sonic was close enough to the water to lightly dap it with the tip of his shoe. Then the rope pulled Sonic back up and Sonic flew straight up into the air. He activated his spin-dash and hurtled towards Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic leaped up and punched him away. Sonic was sent spinning wildly out of control and he crashed into another castle. Metal Sonic flew in after him. Sonic got back to his feet and he kicked Metal Sonic in the torso. Metal Sonic staggered backwards and Sonic lunged at him in a homing attack. Metal Sonic fell on his back and Sonic kicked him again in an attempt to send him falling into the water. But Metal Sonic grabbed the edges of the wall and pulled himself back up. Then he spin-dashed Sonic and sent him flying into the wall. To add insult to injury, Metal Sonic charged at Sonic and they crashed through the wall. Both Sonics plummeted straight into the water with a big splash. They both began to sink like stones into the water. They continued to fight, throwing punches at one another as they went down and down below. Sonic gave Metal Sonic a kick to the head that sent him cart wheeling backwards but Metal Sonic came back and grabbed Sonic's arms, activated his jet booster and he flew straight out of the water with Sonic in tow. Sonic couldn't believe it.

"No way! Water doesn't affect you?" he screeched.

"Correct: I was built to be water resistant." droned Metal Sonic "Dr. Eggman knew that I might end up falling in water at some point so he made me waterproof to save me from obliteration."

"Well he sure planned you in advanced didn't he?" spluttered Sonic.

"Yes. Now you die." droned Metal Sonic, letting go of Sonic's arms.

With a bloodcurdling yell, Sonic plummeted straight down. Metal Sonic had brought him up a good thirty feet and now Sonic began to plummet down from thirty feet and towards the water that awaited him at the bottom. Sonic however had a brilliant idea. He began to move his feet as if he was on land and running really fast. His legs became a red blur due to how fast they were moving and when he landed into the water, his fast moving legs stopped him from sinking and he ran straight across it! Metal Sonic looked like he was going to have a mechanical fit.

"Impossible!" he croaked "How can the hedgehog copy move on water with out sinking?"

Regardless of what he was wondering, he decided to chase Sonic and if he managed to catch up, he could wallop him and end up making him sink. Sonic ran across the water, waves flying behind him as he ran. Metal Sonic was finding it hard to keep up with him due to the fact that waves of water were flying in his face. Sonic finally made it to dry land and he leaped into the air and onto it.

"I don't know about you Metal Sonic but I think I've had enough of Kingdom Valley now." said Sonic "Let's go somewhere a little dryer shall we?"

And with that, Sonic rocketed off in a certain direction with Metal Sonic roaring after him.

A short while later, Sonic came across the familiar scorching hot county of Downunda, home of Angel Island. Angel Island had moved since the last time Sonic had been there and now the island was directly over the small village of Downunda that was near to the ruins of Albion. Sonic knew that Metal Sonic might try to target the Master Emerald so he had to keep his attention away from Angel Island. Sonic stopped running, turned around and charged straight at Metal Sonic, who was coming towards him at top speed. They both collided with each other but Metal Sonic overpowered Sonic and knocked him over. Then Metal Sonic spotted Angel Island floating just above the Downunda village. He stared in wonder at the floating island and wondered how such a thing could be possible. Then suddenly Eggman communicated him.

"Metal Sonic, I see you're looking at Angel Island." Dr. Eggman's voice emitted from the side of Metal Sonic's head "Get up on that island and you should see a giant, glowing, green emerald called the Master Emerald sitting on a shrine. Get that emerald and bring it to me!"

"Understood." droned Metal Sonic "But what about my infuriating copy?"

"Squash him later if you wish!" bellowed Dr. Eggman "Just get me that emerald! Its power will ensure me victory!"

"I obey." droned Metal Sonic.

He took flight and was about to fly up into the air but Sonic spin-dashed him and sent him falling back down.

"I dunno about you Metal Sonic but I think the Master Emerald is staying where it belongs thank you!" said Sonic.

Metal Sonic got back to his feet and glared at Sonic with his cold red optics.

"You will not deny me what is Eggman's!" growled Metal Sonic "Eggman wants the Master Emerald and Eggman will get the Master Emerald."

"Yeah, over my dead body!" retorted Sonic, spin-dashing into Metal Sonic yet again.

The ruthless metal copy fell on his back again. Metal Sonic got back to his feet and blasted an oncoming Sonic away with his torso cannon. Sonic was hurled through the air like a tossed football and he crashed straight through the roof of a house in the village. The family in the house screamed in surprise as Sonic crashed through the roof and landed directly on the table. Sonic groaned and picked himself up.

"Sorry about that guys and gals." he said to the family and Sonic leaped out of the house through the hole in the roof, leaving the gobsmacked family to stare in amazement.

Sonic landed on the roof and saw Metal Sonic flying towards Angel Island. Sonic spun into a spin-dash and tried to hit Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic spotted him and caught him in his claws. Then he threw the spin-dashing Sonic straight up into underbelly of the island. Sonic suddenly found himself embedded in the large pointy rocky bit that protruded from under Angel Island. Metal Sonic flew onto Angel Island and spotted the shrine which Angel Island stood upon. For some reason there was no one on guard duty right now so the emerald was wide open for theft. Metal Sonic advanced towards the Master Emerald but Sonic, who had managed to free himself and climb onto Angel Island, spin-dashed towards Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic heard him coming and ducked. Sonic smacked straight into the Master Emerald and knocked it straight off the shrine. The Master Emerald rolled away from the shrine and ended up very nearly going over the edge. Metal Sonic sped over to the emerald and caught it.

"Now I shall take this gem to Dr. Eggman." droned Metal Sonic "I'll be back to crush you copy."

"No you won't!" cried Sonic, leaping onto the Master Emerald and kicking Metal Sonic.

Metal Sonic dropped the Master Emerald and Sonic pushed the emerald back towards the shrine. Sonic lifted the Master Emerald just above his head and carried it up the stairs and put it back on the shrine where it belonged. Metal Sonic charged into Sonic and knocked him straight off the Master Emerald. Then Metal Sonic, ignoring the gem, decided to attack Sonic again. Sonic leaped up and gripped Metal Sonic's shoulders. Metal Sonic began to fly around in crazy circles as Sonic began to steer him about.

"Hey metal head! Why don't you take us somewhere else to do battle?" cried Sonic as Metal Sonic tried to shake him off.

Metal Sonic ignored him and continued flying about madly. In the midst of his crazy flying, he actually ended up taking Sonic and himself away from Downunda and now they were heading somewhere else. The ironic thing is, thirty seconds after they left Downunda, the Tornado and the R.F.S. jet arrived on the scene. Tails checked his scanner and groaned to see Sonic and Metal Sonic had just left.

"Man they can't keep still for a second can they?" he griped "We follow them all the way through Megapolis, then they end up in Kingdom Valley and now they've just been through Downunda! Where are they heading next?"

Tails would soon find that out as the two jets continued flying after the two Sonics.

Sonic and Metal Sonic were still having a crazy flight and that crazy flight had brought them to the beautiful costal city-state and kingdom known as Soleanna. Soleanna was a city with a very Mediterranean theme going on and it was surrounded by water, hence it's nickname "The City of Water". Sonic liked Soleanna and he didn't want to do battle here since he would probably wreck the place or he might fall in the water and drown. Metal Sonic blasted Sonic with his torso laser which finally forced Sonic to let go of him and Sonic plummeted to the ground. Metal Sonic flew over to Sonic and punched him so Sonic fell to the right. Sonic hit a building, bounced off and fell straight into the water! Sonic began to sink like a stone as plunged down and down into the cold water. Metal Sonic hovered straight above the water and began scanning.

"Sonic the Hedgehog: Ability to swim: Considered nonexistent. Overall: he is a goner down there." he droned to himself "My mission is complete and my copy is dead. Now I can return and destroy the others."

Metal Sonic activated his jet booster and took flight. And with that, Metal Sonic left Soleanna behind. However Metal Sonic should have known better then to jump to conclusions. Sonic came back to the surface after bouncing off the floor and began splashing about wildly. He needed help and he needed it fast since he couldn't swim. If help didn't arrive then Sonic would drown. Then to his good luck, a rowing boat came straight past him and the rower spotted Sonic in trouble. The rower held out an oar for Sonic to grab and Sonic grabbed it. Then the rower hoisted Sonic out of the water and put him down on the boat. Sonic shook himself dry and coughed heavily.

"Thanks a lot there." he said "I thought I was a goner."

"You're welcome." said the rower, with a smile "What are you playing in water for if you can't swim?"

"Well for starters I wasn't playing in the water." said Sonic "I got knocked into the water by a blue robot that almost looks like me. Have you seen him anywhere?"

"Well I saw a blue robot hover just above the water about a minute before you came to the surface." said the rower "He took off and went that way."

He pointed to his left hand side. Sonic looked in the rower's direction and just caught a glimpse of flame from Metal Sonic's jet booster.

"Oh man I hope he isn't heading where I think he's heading!" cried Sonic, leaping out of the rowing boat and onto a rooftop.

Then he sped off as fast as he could to chase down Metal Sonic and stop him from attacking anyone. He had a thought on where Metal Sonic might be heading now and he didn't want Metal Sonic to start causing any trouble there.

The place Metal Sonic was heading to was a little country called Adabat which was a place with a vague Asian theme going on. Adabat had a small population that lived in a village or in stilt houses which as the name implies, are houses on stilts just above shallow water. Adabat was also known for its flowing rivers, waterfalls and high cliffs. Adabat had a beautiful beach too which was a hotspot for tourists. Metal Sonic didn't show any interest in attacking Adabat at all so he just continued flying over it. As for Sonic, he had managed to catch up with Metal Sonic and he saw him flying onwards. Strange how he wasn't attacking anyone or causing damage to the place but Sonic knew that he couldn't let Metal Sonic go on because he might end up in Mobotropolis again and then he would attack Mobotropolis and probably destroy it before it could finish being rebuilt. Sonic leaped onto a rooftop and homing attacked Metal Sonic. He struck the robot in the back and the two Sonics plummeted down to the ground. They both landed in the shallow water and Sonic stood up.

"Man I'm getting tired of falling in water right now!" he griped "How many more times am I gonna get wet today?"

Metal Sonic merely punched him and sent him flying into a stilt house's stilt. Sonic unfortunately broke the stilt and the house began to slightly tilt to the side. Then the other silts snapped under the strain and weight and the whole house fell straight into the water. The water came half way up to the front door and it began to seep through the cracks and into the house. Sonic wasn't pleased to see that Metal Sonic had caused him to knock a house down so he decided to pay him back for it. Sonic leaped into the air and landed a powerful kick on Metal Sonic's forehead. Metal Sonic staggered backwards but he regained his balance. Sonic charged at Metal Sonic again but the ruthless robot grabbed his arms and threw him into another stilt house. Luckily Sonic didn't crash into the stilts and make the house fall down again, he just crashed straight through the door and knocked it off its hinges. Sonic crashed into the wall at the back of the front room. Metal Sonic flew into the house to attack Sonic again but Sonic kicked the front door directly at Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic punched the door back at Sonic but Sonic dodged and the door was reduced to splinters after crashing into the wall. Sonic spin-dashed into Metal Sonic and both Sonics went straight out of the house and into the shallow water yet again. Sonic punched Metal Sonic in the face but Metal Sonic punched him back harder and then Metal Sonic punched Sonic into another house only this time Sonic didn't go straight through the wall, he only crashed into it. Sonic decided he'd had enough of this and wanted to get out of Adabat before any more damage was done to the village. He revved his feet up and sped off. Metal Sonic activated his jet booster and flew after Sonic. The chase was beginning to get on Metal Sonic's nerves now since Sonic couldn't seem to make up his mind on where their fight was going to take place in, he just kept running from location to location. So Metal Sonic decided to make this his number one priority: catch Sonic and just kill him already. Sonic led Metal Sonic up onto the high cliffs and began running ever faster. Metal Sonic remained hot in his tail, his claws bared and his jet booster roaring.

"Will you cease this irritating chase and just pick a place for us to battle?" growled Metal Sonic "You are beginning to irk me."

"No Metal Sonic." Sonic called to him over his shoulder "The main reason for this chase is to wear you out until you're too weak to fight metal brain! You can't keep going forever you know!"

"Correction: I can." droned Metal Sonic "I can go on for a very long period of time due to the powerful battery Eggman installed in me. It'll be years before my power runs dry!"

Sonic couldn't believe his ears. Metal Sonic could go on for a very long time? Then that meant his beautiful plan was ruined. He couldn't run Metal Sonic to the point his power cells would run dry so he had no choice but to fight Metal Sonic and hopefully destroy him. But Metal Sonic was way too tough, even for fifteen people all attacking him at once so how could he defeat this metal clone? As Sonic kept thinking on a way to defeat Metal Sonic, he failed to notice he had just ended up running into Chun-Nan, a Chinese style country with pagodas, an extremely long wall resembling the Great Wall of China and a temple that stood on the top of a mountain. Sonic suddenly realized where he was but he kept on running. He ran straight up the long wall and sped across it. The wall was mostly straight with no tight turns so Sonic could run as fast as he liked.

"Whoo!" he screamed "This is awesome! I can go extremely fast now!"

"So can I." droned Metal Sonic icily.

He stopped chasing Sonic and flew in a rainbow arch away from the wall and straight back to it. Metal Sonic smashed his way straight through the wall, sending tonnes of bricks flying everywhere. The wall began to crumble just ahead of Sonic and the poor hedgehog was caught off guard and he fell down the wall with the crumbling bricks. Sonic landed on his feet and ran out of the way before he could get crushed by the falling bricks. Metal Sonic saw him running away and flew after him.

"This is your last location copy." he boomed "The only logical choice for you now is to surrender to me."

"Yeah um…not happening!" retorted Sonic "And I'll decide where our last location is and it's not here!"

Metal Sonic flew towards Sonic and grabbed him by the quills on his head. He picked Sonic up and threw him through the air. Sonic smashed through the rooftop of a tall pagoda and crashed straight into a gong on a hilltop. The gong rang its low ominous ring that echoed through the valley and made everyone on the ground wonder what the gong was for. Sonic had a terrible ringing sound that rung through his entire body and made him shaky. Before Sonic could recover, Metal Sonic dropkicked him and Sonic fell off the hilltop and into a bamboo forest.

Sonic hit a few bamboo sticks and broke them in two as he plummeted to the ground. Sonic got back to his feet and ran through the thickly grown forest. Metal Sonic would likely have trouble seeing him since he was in a bamboo forest so he would be able to escape without Metal Sonic knowing about it. Unfortunately, Metal Sonic did know about it. After Sonic fell into the bamboo forest, he followed him and saw him running away so Metal Sonic began to fly after Sonic, weaving elegantly through the thick trees and bamboo sticks. Sonic looked over his shoulder and saw Metal Sonic coming after him. Thinking fast, Sonic jumped onto a bamboo stick. The stick bent over due to his weight and Sonic leaped off in an elegant rainbow arch, causing the stick to fling back up and smack Metal Sonic in the face. The stunned robot spiralled out of control and knocked some bamboo sticks over. Metal Sonic got furious and decided to spin-dash his way through the forest. His deadly spin-dash cleaved through the sticks and trees with ease and he began to catch up to Sonic, who was almost at the end of the forest. Sonic leaped into the air and landed out of the bamboo forest and immediately began running again.

But Metal Sonic had finally sawed his way through the bamboo forest and he spin-dashed Sonic directly in the back. Sonic yelped as he was knocked off his feet by Metal Sonic's lethal spin-dash. Sonic scrambled back to his feet but he was knocked over by Metal Sonic again. Sonic got back up just in time to run off before Metal Sonic could attack him again. Metal Sonic spotted his prey getting away and chased after him. The two Sonics ran out of Chun-Nan and headed for goodness knows where. Seconds after Sonic and Metal Sonic left Chun-Nan, the Tornado and the R.F.S. jet appeared over the country. Tails checked his scanned and groaned as yet again the two Sonics had moved location.

"OK, this is getting weird." said Tails "Why do the two Sonics keep running place to place? Can they not find a suitable enough battlefield or something? Or is this part of some plan Sonic probably has?"

As for those in the R.F.S. jet, Wilson was getting frustrated with the constant change in location too.

"Men alive, I wish those two would keep still for a minute so we can catch up with them!" griped Wilson "What is up with those two anyway?"

In the cabin, the others were wondering what was the matter too.

"I wish Wilson would make up his mind." grumbled Knuckles "First he says Sonic's in Kingdom Valley, then he says he's in Downunda, then he says he's in Soleanna and then he say's he's in Adabat and now he say's he's in Chun-Nan and yet we're still flying after him!"

"Maybe Sonic and Metal Sonic keep moving place to place." suggested Amy "Although I really wonder why my Sonic would do something like that."

"I'm not an expert on machines but I suppose Metal Sonic might run out of power if he keeps on going." thought Cosmo "Maybe that's what Sonic's planning on doing, running him around the world until his power runs out."

"That's not a bad suggestion little one." said Geoffrey "But we can't be too sure that'll happen. Metal Sonic's stamina is tremendous after all."

"Ah just hope sugah-hog is doin' alright down there." said Bunnie.

"We'll see for ourselves when we finally catch up with him." said Sally "And hopefully, that won't be too long."

The two planes continued their flight, hoping to finally catch up to Sonic and Metal Sonic and give Sonic a much needed hand in fighting him.

Sonic had led Metal Sonic all the way to a hot, sticky and thickly grown jungle just simply known as Tropical Jungle. The jungle was full of trees, streams with huge lily pads, colourful fruits, low hanging vines and giant turtles with bright colourful shells that swam through the waters. Sonic decided this would be the last location he would take Metal Sonic to and he would finish things here and now but first he needed a plan. Metal Sonic resisted every attack he threw at him so he needed to change his tactics. He decided to hide in the thick undergrowth and hide there until Metal Sonic went past and then he could ambush him. Plus he knew he would be able to use the jungle to his advantage in someway or another but he wasn't sure how yet. Sonic dived into some giant bushes and lay low. He peeked through the leaves to see where Metal Sonic was. Metal Sonic appeared shortly after Sonic had hidden himself and looked around only to see that Sonic was nowhere in sight. He scanned the area but he couldn't find the blue hedgehog. Metal Sonic drifted off in search of Sonic, his scanners still alert. Sonic smiled to himself.

"Now's my chance to ambush him." he said to himself "I'd best creep as quietly as I can and then I can get the drop on him."

He was so busy talking to himself he failed to notice a dark shadowy shape lurking behind him evilly. Sonic got up off his knees and crept out of the bushes…and got spin-dashed in the back by someone! The spin-dash pinned Sonic to a tree and Sonic gagged loudly.

"Hurk! How the heck did you find me Metal Sonic?" he cried.

He opened his eyes only to find it wasn't Metal Sonic at all! It was his treacherous brother Scourge the Hedgehog! He bared his teeth and smiled like a crocodile at Sonic.

"Hey there wuss boy." hissed Scourge "How nice of you to drop by and get your butt whupped by yours truly!"

"Wha…wha…what the heck are you doing here Scourge?" squeaked Sonic.

"Plotting my revenge that's what!" snarled Scourge "I have a brilliant plan of revenge in mind but the plan is obsolete now you're here blue! I can just cave yer skull in here and now!"

And with that he put his hand on Sonic's head and pushed him straight down into the sludgy mud beneath their feet face first. Sonic got up and wiped the mud off his face.

"As much as I'd like to beat you up again Scourge," said Sonic "I'm kinda occupied right now. You see, I have this evil robot clone of me and…"

"You're not talking your way outta this one wimp!" roared Scourge "I'm gonna smash you into tiny bite-sized hedgehog pieces!"

He spin-dashed Sonic fiercely in the side and sent him flying into more mud. Sonic got up and gritted his teeth.

"Fine have it your way green!" shouted Sonic "After all, I'm dying to haul your evil butt back to jail!"

"And I'm dying to see your blood splattered on the ground right now!" roared Scourge "Get ready for a pounding!"

But the forthcoming fight was rudely interrupted by the arrival of Metal Sonic, blasting both Sonic and Scourge with his torso laser. Both hedgehogs were knocked off their feet and Metal Sonic stood before them. He glared at the two hedgehogs coldly.

"Two Sonics?" he mused "No matter, that just gives me more copies to destroy. And the green one will be no harder to fight then Sonic."

Scourge was slightly taken aback at the arrival of a machine that looked so much like Sonic but he decided to use it to this sudden arrival to his advantage.

"Look buddy, you've got it all wrong." said Scourge, getting back to his feet and staring Metal Sonic straight in the eye "I'm Scourge the Hedgehog and I'm not a copy of Sonic. I'm his brother and arch-enemy and I wanna smash him just as much as you do metal guy."

"You do?" blurted Metal Sonic.

"Sure thing Sonic-bot." said Scourge reassuringly "How about we form a truce until we squish Sonic and then we can fight each other for the planet afterwards hmm?"

Metal Sonic considered for a moment.

"Teaming up with another who is an enemy of Sonic's equals a 20% more chance of success then before and I can beat you just as easily as I can beat Sonic." droned Metal Sonic "Request: Approved. We are allies up until Sonic's demise."

"Good choice bro." said Scourge with a smile that could please any carnivorous creature "Now let's spin-dash the dweeb into nothingness shall we?"

Scourge and Metal Sonic stood on either side of Sonic, preparing to attack. Sonic feebly raised his fists and stared helplessly at his two opponents. Metal Sonic and Scourge were bad enough as they were alone but BOTH Metal Sonic and Scourge together at once? Sonic was toast out there and he knew it.

"This isn't gonna end well!" whimpered Sonic as his two opponents prepared to lunge at him…

Footnotes:

R.F.S. stands for Royal Fighters Service

*Fiona Fox quit the team in Story 3 remember?

Talk about a worldwide showdown! That was so fast and intense I had trouble keeping up with it! Well it seems Sonic has met his match here! Scourge the Hedgehog AND Metal Sonic both taking him on at once? Does Sonic even have an ounce of a chance? We'll see next time as this thrilling saga comes to an end! Read and Review.

A Worldwide Sonic Showdown Part 2

Story 32: A Worldwide Sonic Showdown Part 2

Scourge and Metal Sonic both lunged for Sonic in a homing attack but Sonic leaped out of their way and grabbed a low hanging vine, causing Scourge and Metal Sonic to bash heads with each other. Metal Sonic couldn't feel pain so it didn't bother him but Scourge felt like his head had just split open and he fell on the ground.

"Ouch! Watch it you dumb bolt!" growled Scourge.

"Explanation: The fault was not mine." droned Metal Sonic "The fault was Sonic's for jumping out of our way. If he did not do that then we would not have missed."

"Yeah I've got that metal head." grumbled Scourge "Now let's get the wimpy hedgehog before he gets the drop on us!"

"Too late!" announced Sonic, swinging from the vine and kicking Scourge straight in the head.

Scourge tumbled over in roly-poly and hit a tree. Unfortunately Metal Sonic blasted the vine with his torso laser while Sonic was still swinging and the vine snapped, causing Sonic to go flying and land straight into a mud puddle. Sonic sat in the mud and groaned in disgust.

"Ugh!" he grimaced "I think I actually preferred falling into water then mud!"

Metal Sonic activated his jet booster and flew towards Sonic, his claws bared and ready to snatch him up. Sonic grabbed a handful of sludgy, runny mud and prepared to throw it.

"Hey Metal Sonic, here's mud in your eye!" he yelled.

He threw the mud straight into Metal Sonic's visor and the robot began to panic.

"Warning: my vision is impaired!" blurted Metal Sonic "Ability to see has diminished!"

Metal Sonic couldn't see where he was going at all and he flew straight into a tree and appeared to knock himself out. Sonic laughed at his metal copy.

"And I thought this fight was gonna be hard!" he chortled "I'm winning here!"

"Not for long nit-wit!" called Scourge from behind.

Scourge rammed Sonic in the back with his shoulder and sent Sonic crashing into a tree. Then Scourge grabbed a vine that had fallen to the ground and wrapped it around Sonic's legs. Now Sonic couldn't move his legs. Sonic struggled against the vine but he couldn't snap it, it was much too thick. Scourge seized the opportunity to spin-dash Sonic over and over while he was subdued. A few minutes later Sonic was battered like a cod and bruised all over. Scourge gave him one final spin-dash and sent the beaten hedgehog flying in a low arch and bouncing off the ground. The vine around Sonic's legs snapped and Sonic lay there, battered and beaten. At that same moment, Metal Sonic came to and got back to his feet. He saw Scourge standing over a defeated Sonic and he flew over to him. Sonic had passed out from Scourge's beating and Scourge was ready to kill him.

"Hey robot Sonic!" he called to Metal Sonic as the robot copy landed beside him "I've just subdued Sonic!"

"Good." droned Metal Sonic "Now step back so I can exterminate him."

"Oh no you don't!" growled Scourge "I beat Sonic up! I've knocked him out so I destroy him!"

"Correction: I will destroy him." droned Metal Sonic "I was ordered to do so by Dr. Eggman so therefore, I will destroy him."

"Well I beg to differ!" retorted Scourge "I'm destroying Sonic and that's the end of it!"

"We have a truce." noted Metal Sonic "So logically, it should not matter who destroys Sonic."

"Well the truce is off bolt brains!" yelled Scourge "Now push off while I kill Sonic and then we can kill each other!"

Metal Sonic grabbed Scourge by the arms and threw him into a tree as hard as he could. Scourge crashed into the tree and knocked it straight over! The tree landed with a smash beside Metal Sonic.

"If you will not step down and let me complete my objective then I shall have to get rid of you first." growled Metal Sonic.

Scourge got back to his feet and bent over in a battle ready stance.

"So bet it robot Sonic!" he roared "You'll be just as easy to smash as my wimpy brother!"

"Correction: My designated title is Metal Sonic." retorted Metal Sonic "And I will not be easy to smash."

"We'll see about that!" bellowed Scourge, spin-dashing towards Metal Sonic.

Metal Sonic swiped at Scourge and smacked the spin-dashing hedgehog away. Scourge dived straight into the ground and skidded across it face first. That skid really hurt Scourge's face and the evil hedgehog could do nothing more then just lie there groaning in pain. Metal Sonic clanked over to Scourge, grabbed him by the neck and hoisted him up to his height.

"You will end up wishing you hadn't decided to double-cross me." droned Metal Sonic coldly "Now you will be vanquished."

And with that Metal Sonic held Scourge in front of himself and blasted the green hedgehog with his torso laser. Scourge was sent hurling thirty feet backwards, knocking down hundreds of trees as he did so and came to a halt near a river bank. Scourge tried to get back up but he couldn't find the strength to do so.

"So powerful…" grunted Scourge "How…is…that possible…?"

As for Metal Sonic had decided Scourge was down and out for now and turned his attention back to Sonic.

"Now Sonic, my loathsome copy." droned Metal Sonic "It's time to meet your end as well."

He picked Sonic up but before he could do anything to him, something from up above began shooting at him. It was the Tornado. Tails' little bi-plane began shooting lasers at Metal Sonic in an attempt to destroy him.

"You put Sonic down you monster!" screeched Tails.

Metal Sonic did what he was told and tossed the still unconscious Sonic into a mud puddle (Yeah, he's gonna be a dirty boy at the end of the day isn't he?). Metal Sonic flew into the air and tried to attack the Tornado but he heard the sound of a missile screaming loudly and rocketing towards him so he was forced to dodge otherwise he would be blown up. The missile had been fired by the R.F.S. jet. At long last Sonic's friends had all caught up with the two Sonics. Sally put on a headset and spoke into it.

"Tails, we're landing so we can collect Sonic. Can you keep Metal Sonic busy for us?"

"Sure thing your Majesty." said Tails, firing lasers at Metal Sonic "After all, I can't land here since a jungle isn't the best kind of runway for a plane."

Fortunately, Tails wouldn't have to worry about landing anymore. Unfortunately, the reason why was because Metal Sonic had managed to sneak under the plane and he smashed his way straight up it, causing the plane to burst into flames and break in two! Tails screamed in terror as his plane began to plummet from the sky. He quickly unbelted himself and flew out of the pilot's seat just before the two halves of the Tornado could hit the ground and explode into pieces. Tails looked sadly at the exploded remains of his beautiful plane.

"Aw, I spent forever building that!" he whined "And now it's gone up in smoke! I'm gonna have to…"

He was suddenly cut off by a sharp kick to the back of the head by Metal Sonic and the startled fox plummeted to the ground. Luckily for him, the R.F.S. jet had landed and everybody was just getting out of the plane until they saw Tails falling and Wilson ran out to catch him.

"I've gotcha! I've gotcha!" he cried as Tails continued falling.

Wilson leaped like a jackrabbit and caught the falling fox in his arms. He landed very painfully on his shoulder and ended up scraping it. Everybody else ran up to the dog and fox.

"Are you OK Wilson?" asked Sally.

"Well apart from a grazed shoulder I'm doing fine." said Wilson "But Tails looks like he got hit good and hard, poor fella."

Tails had passed out from Metal Sonic's onslaught which had caused him to fall. Cosmo ran up to the unconscious fox that Wilson held in his arms.

"Is he going to be OK?" she asked worriedly.

"He'll wake up eventually flower girl." said Wilson "He's only knocked out."

"Hey, where's Metal Sonic?" asked Vector, looking around wildly.

Then right on cue, Metal Sonic began rocketing down towards the group below.

"Here he comes!" shrieked Amy "Duck for cover!"

But too late. Metal Sonic charged through all the Mobians and sent them hurling everywhere. Sally and Nicole landed face first into a mud puddle, Team Chaotix were sent flying into trees, Geoffrey, Bunnie, Amy, Cream and Cosmo were all sent flying into the R.F.S. jet, Wilson landed in a bush and Knuckles just landed on his back. Immediately after Metal Sonic's attack, Sonic finally came to and sat up, moaning.

"Hrrmm…what happened here…" he mumbled to himself.

Then he saw Metal Sonic attacking his friends. He was throttling Nicole and holding Sally at bay so she couldn't stop him.

"Hey! Metal Sonic!" yelled Sonic "Pick on someone your own size will you?"

Metal Sonic turned sharply and glared at Sonic. He let go of Nicole and lunged at him. Sonic leaped out of the way but Metal Sonic skidded to a halt and came back for him. He struck Sonic in the back and knocked him over. Then Knuckles leaped onto the scene and punched Metal Sonic off of Sonic.

"I owe you a headache Metal Sonic!" roared Knuckles.

The ruthless robot didn't seem to care about what Knuckles had to say. He lunged at Knuckles and he and the echidna linked hands and pushed on one another. Metal Sonic appeared to be coming out on top but Vector took the opportunity to let Metal Sonic have it with both fists. He punched him in the side of the head which distracted Metal Sonic and Knuckles gave him another punch that should have taken his entire head off but Metal Sonic was made of strong stuff so it would take more then just a punch to the head to knock it off. While Metal Sonic was down, Espio threw his shuriken at the robot's wrists. The shuriken embedded themselves into the ground on top of his wrists, pinning the robot down to the ground. But unfortunately, even that wasn't enough to keep Metal Sonic down as he just simply pulled on his arms and pulled the shuriken out of the ground. Then Metal Sonic threw the shuriken at Knuckles and Espio. The sharp ninja-stars slashed them both above their eyes and they were brought to their knees in pain. Vector tried to chomp up Metal Sonic in his jaws but Metal Sonic punched him directly in the jaws and sent the crocodile staggering backwards. In face, Vector lost a tooth due to how hard that punch was. Charmy tried to attack with his stinger but Metal Sonic spin-dashed the bee away. Amy pounced on him with her hammer in hand and tried to hit him but she missed and Metal Sonic dropkicked her in the nose. He pinched Amy's hammer and whacked an oncoming Cream with it. Geoffrey St. John fired a dart at Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic whacked the dart away and only just managed to dodge an oncoming blow from Bunnie Rabbot.

"Eat mah fist gruesome!" yelled Bunnie as she raised her arm, ready for another punch.

Her robot arm extended and she tried to punch Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic ducked so she accidentally punched Geoffrey in the face.

"Oh Geoffrey ah'm so sorry!" cried Bunnie, running to the skunk's aid.

"Crikey, your robot fist really does hurt!" groaned Geoffrey, rubbing his face.

Metal Sonic tried to attack Bunnie and Geoffrey while they were distracted but Wilson interfered with a kick to the shoulder. Metal Sonic landed on his side and skidded to a halt. Metal Sonic got back to his feet, only to be spin-dashed from behind by Sonic the Hedgehog. Metal Sonic landed face first into the ground and ended up covered in mud.

"Not so tough now are you metal head?" sneered Sonic.

Then suddenly he was spin-dashed from behind! It was Scourge the Hedgehog this time though. Scourge had finally recovered and decided to join in the fight. Scourge glared at all the other Mobians that were staring at him in disbelief.

"What?" he snorted "You morons never seen a green hedgehog before?"

"Who the heck is he?" asked Geoffrey "He looks like Sonic painted green!"

"That is my evil brother Scourge the Hedgehog." said Sonic "And he's just as bad as Metal Sonic."

"Oh that's just great!" grumbled Knuckles "Now we have two evil Sonics to fight!"

"Maybe we don't have to fight both Sonics at once." suggested Sally "Half of us can fight Metal Sonic and the other half can fight Scourge."

"OK then." said Sonic "We'll have teams of seven. Team 1 will be me, Tails, Knuckles, Geoffrey, Wilson, Nicole and Cosmo. Team 2 will be Sally, Amy, Cream, Vector, Espio, Charmy and Bunnie. Team 1 will fight Metal Sonic, Team 2 will fight Scourge."

"Sounds good to me." said Sally "I hope you know what you're doing Sonic Hedgehog."

"Since when do I never know what I'm doing?" sneered Sonic.

"OK everyone, Attack!" ordered Sally.

And with that, Sonic's team lunged for Metal Sonic while Sally's team lunged for Scourge. Scourge was not impressed at all and almost immediately after the call for attack had been called, Scourge leaped into the air and landed upside down on his hands. He did a perfect split and kicked both Sally and Amy as they tried to attack him. Then Scourge grabbed Sally by the neck and jammed his face into hers.

"Ah so you're the new Queen of Mobotropolis after the king and queen were murdered by some space man eh?" purred Scourge "Then you must be the one I should stomp on before I conquer this stinking planet!"

"You leave the queen alone!" shrieked Amy, hammering Scourge and sending him falling off Sally.

Bunnie was next to attack by giving the green hedgehog an uppercut with her robot arm. Scourge had never felt such a punch in his life. Not even his cellmates could punch that hard so he was amazed so say the least. Before Scourge could recover from that incredibly hard punch that had stunned him heavily, Espio gave him a ninjutsu style kick to the head and then Vector grabbed him with his hands and held him in place so Charmy could attack. Unfortunately, Scourge decided to spin-dash in order to make Vector let go of him and then Scourge spin-dashed Charmy in the head and knocked his helmet off.

"That's for ruining my attempts to kill Sonic in Spagonia* you bratty bee!" growled Scourge.

"Oh will you shut up already?" yelled Amy, trying to hammer Scourge again.

"You shut up you pink moron!" retorted Scourge, dropkicking Amy in the head.

Then suddenly he found himself being tripped over by someone. Cream's pet Chao Cheese had rammed him in the leg and knocked him over.

"Good work Cheese." praised Cream.

"Chao! Chao!" piped Cheese.

Then suddenly Scourge spin-dashed Cream in the chest and Cream fell onto her bottom.

"Sonic must be desperate for some team mates if he's got little kids in his army!" taunted Scourge "I mean, what use are you long ears?"

"I'll teach you to hurt Cream you green menace!" roared Amy, walloping Scourge with her hammer.

Scourge cried in pain as the heavy hammer hit him. To add insult to injury Bunnie Rabbot decided to punch Scourge with her robot arm again. Then Espio punched Scourge in the cheek and Charmy punched Scourge in the back. Sally landed a kick to the forehead on Scourge and Amy and Cream both exchanged blows on the green hedgehog. Then to finish him off, Bunnie blasted the green hedgehog with her cannon arm and sent Scourge flying into a tree. He landed on the branches and the branches snapped, causing him to fall. But Scourge had gotten tangled up in the vines so all he did was dangle in the vines just above the ground and groan. Bunnie fell to her knees and panted.

"Oh mah stars!" she exclaimed "Ah must have worn mah self down after that cannon blast because ah feel pooped!"

"Well after our combined efforts, I don't believe Scourge will be up and running any minute now." said Sally "We must restrain that hedgehog before he does any more damage."

"I'll do it." said Espio.

He pulled out a knife from his glove and cut the vines Scourge dangled from. Then he pulled out some ninja rope and tied Scourge's hands up behind his back. Then he tied the rope around Scourge's ankles too. Scourge would be going nowhere now.

"Now that horrible Scourge is all tied up, we can help Mr. Sonic fight Metal Sonic." said Cream.

"I wonder how Sonic and his team are doing?" wondered Sally, looking in the direction of their fight.

Things were not going well at all. Tails had finally come to and after Sonic explained everything they lunged at Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic slugged both Sonic and Tails in the stomach and let them have it with his torso laser. Knuckles tried to attack him from behind but Metal Sonic blasted him with his back laser. Geoffrey tried to stun Metal Sonic with a dart but Metal Sonic smacked the dart away just in time to defend himself from a kick to the face by Wilson. Metal Sonic slapped the dog away and punched Geoffrey in the chest. Nicole grabbed some nearby vine and wrapped it around Metal Sonic's neck to hold him back but Metal Sonic snapped the vine and elbowed the lynx in the stomach. Cosmo let Metal Sonic have it with a mud pie but she missed his visor and hit him in the forehead. Metal Sonic wiped the mud off and threw it back at the peace-loving Seedrian. Sonic recovered from Metal Sonic's onslaught and spin-dashed at him but Metal Sonic spotted him and spin-dashed towards him. The two hedgehogs spin-dashed and bounced away like ping-pong balls. They spin-dashed each other over and over until Metal Sonic finally over powered Sonic and sent him crashing into the ground. Knuckles and Tails both surrounded from the front and back and they lunged for the killer robot but Metal Sonic fired BOTH lasers at once, Tails got blasted by the front laser and Knuckles got blasted by the back laser! Geoffrey finally managed to get the drop on Metal Sonic by kicking him in the head. Metal Sonic tried to shoot him but Geoffrey somersaulted over the laser blast and smacked him with an upwards karate chop. Wilson and Nicole both kicked Metal Sonic in the back and Cosmo had another go at throwing mud at Metal Sonic's visor so he couldn't see. Unfortunately, she accidentally hit Wilson with the mud.

"OW! I've got mud in my eye!" yelped Wilson.

"Oh I'm so sorry!" wailed Cosmo.

Metal Sonic grabbed Wilson from behind and flipped him straight over his shoulder and slammed him down in front of him. Metal Sonic swiped at Nicole but the novice style lynx bent over backwards to dodge the blow and retaliated with a punch to the face. But she wasn't as tough as the boys and Metal Sonic was made of strong stuff so she hurt her fist.

"Ow!" wailed Nicole "Ouch, Oh, Ow! That hurts so badly!"

Metal Sonic retaliated with a punch to the face. Nicole fell onto her back, writhing in more pain then before. Sonic spin-dashed Metal Sonic again and sent the robot falling forward but Metal Sonic was quick to attack with his own spin-dash. Tails tail-whipped Metal Sonic but that attack had no effect on him and Metal Sonic grabbed Tails' tails. He spun the fox around in a perfect 360 degree spin, smacking anyone stupid enough to get close to him. Then he let go of Tails and sent the fox hurling into a tree. Tails landed on a branch and grimaced in pain. Metal Sonic blocked yet another punch from Knuckles and he threw the echidna over his shoulder. Geoffrey grabbed Metal Sonic into a chokehold and held him in place, leaving Sonic the opportunity to spin-dash at him with no means of defence. Geoffrey had chosen his position carefully when choke holding Metal Sonic so he wouldn't get blasted by Metal Sonic's back laser when he fired it but Metal Sonic had other ways of getting out of his grasp. Just as Sonic was coming towards him, Metal Sonic grabbed Geoffrey's shoulders and bent over so Geoffrey was now a shield for him. Sonic then accidentally spin-dashed Geoffrey and the skunk cried in pain.

"Sorry Geoffrey!" cried Sonic.

Metal Sonic threw Geoffrey into the air and the skunk crashed into Sonic just before Sonic could land on his feet. Sonic and Geoffrey collapsed in a heap on the ground. Seeing as they needed help, Sally decided her team should join in.

"Come on everyone, we must give Sonic's group a helping hand!"

she called to them.

"But what about Scourge?" asked Amy.

"He's not going anywhere so don't worry." said Sally "Now let's help Sonic defeat Metal Sonic once and for all!"

"OK!" said Amy, brandishing her hammer "I owe that fake Sonic a great big smash from my hammer!"

And with that Sally, Bunnie, Amy, Cream, Vector, Espio and Charmy charged into battle. Metal Sonic had just kicked Cosmo away before Espio pounced on him and knocked him over. Metal Sonic kicked Espio in the back and stood up, causing Espio to fall off him. Then he grabbed the chameleon by the tail and proceeded to swing his entire arm around in a perfect circle. Espio was nothing more then a purple blur on the side of Metal Sonic. Charmy tried to attack Metal Sonic but the robot threw Espio straight into him, knocking the bee out of the sky. Bunnie deployed her arm cannon and tried to shoot Metal Sonic but as bad luck would have it, she was still too exhausted to use it and if she tried to, she would make herself faint so she had to use her plain normal robot fist. Metal Sonic lunged at the cyborg rabbit but Bunnie punched the metal monster in the visor with her robot arm. Metal Sonic was flung backwards and before he could land anywhere, Knuckles punched him back towards Bunnie. Bunnie then gave Metal Sonic an uppercut that should have taken his head straight off but didn't due to his tough build and Metal Sonic flew straight up into the air. He was hit so high he was directly above the trees. Cream and Tails flew into the air to double-team him but Metal Sonic activated his jet booster to regain his balance and he kicked Tails and Cream with a perfect split just as they were coming towards him. Tails and Cream were stunned momentarily but Metal Sonic took advantage of the situation and grabbed them both. He flew straight down below the trees and slammed the both into the ground. Amy tried to smack Metal Sonic with her hammer but she missed and hit a tree branch that snapped and fell to the ground. Growling furiously, she climbed up a tree and leaped after Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic and Amy landed on a thick branch that would easily hold their weight and they began to duel it out. Amy swiped at Metal Sonic with her hammer but Metal Sonic dodged and swiped at her, only for Amy to defend the blow with her hammer.

As for Scourge, he had finally come to and he was watching the battle with interest.

"Heh, at the rate those losers are going, Metal Sonic will cave their skulls in for me!" he chortled "Then I can smash Metal Sonic myself and take over the world!"

Sonic and Sally, who were watching Amy and Metal Sonic fight up in the tree turned around and yelled in unison at Scourge

"Will you be quiet?"

"Spoilsports." muttered Scourge.

Amy slammed her hammer down on the tree branch but she still didn't hit Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic grabbed a low hanging vine, pulled it down so he had more length and he wrapped it straight around Amy's neck. The poor pink hedgehog gagged horribly as Metal Sonic wrapped the vine around her. Sonic noticed Amy was in trouble and tried to leap up and save her but Metal Sonic pushed her off the tree. Amy began to plummet to the ground screaming at the top of her voice, the vine still wrapped around her neck. If Sonic didn't snap that vine before it ran out of length, Amy would get hung. Sonic leaped over Metal Sonic and spin-dashed the vine, cutting it in two and saving Amy from getting hung and Bunnie Rabbot caught her on the ground.

"Whew! Ah caught ya sugah!" she gasped breathlessly.

"Thanks Bunnie." said Amy.

Sonic landed beside Bunnie and Bunnie but Amy down.

"Whoa, I thought I wasn't gonna save you in time!" he spluttered "I must be faster then I thought!"

"Well you are Sonic the Hedgehog sugah-hog." said Bunnie brightly.

"Thank you so much for saving me from getting hanged!" shrieked Amy, grasping Sonic in a hug "Thank you, thank you, thank you, thank you Sonic!"

"Y-you're welcome Amy." said Sonic meekly "Can you let go now? We need to defeat Metal Sonic!"

"OK." said Amy sheepishly.

"Hey Amy! Where did Scourge go?" yelped Bunnie.

Sonic and Amy turned around and saw that Scourge had vanished. All that was left were snapped pieces of rope that lay in a pile on the ground where he had once been. Amy looked like she was about to go crazy.

"But Espio tied him up good and tight!" she exclaimed "How did he get away?"

"Scourge can wait until next time." said Sonic "Right now, we need to destroy Metal Sonic. Let's go!"

Speaking of Metal Sonic, he was defending himself from blows by Geoffrey, Wilson and Knuckles all at once. Metal Sonic ducked before Knuckles could punch him and he nearly ended up punching Wilson. Before Knuckles could retract his arm ready for another blow, Metal Sonic grabbed it and he swung Knuckles into Geoffrey. Wilson punched Metal Sonic on the top of the head but Metal Sonic just shoved him over. Then suddenly, Sonic spin-dashed Metal Sonic in the back and knocked him over. Metal Sonic tried to get back up but Sonic tripped him over and kicked him onto his back. Sally and Nicole both landed dropkicks on Metal Sonic and Cosmo threw more mud at him. The mud splattered in Metal Sonic's right eye but Metal Sonic merely wiped the mud off and scooped some mud up in his claws. He threw three mud pies, one each at Sonic, Sally and Nicole. The mud pies got them in the eyes, momentarily blinding them. Cosmo threw more mud at Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic held his hand up to catch the mud and he threw it back at Cosmo. The mud hit Cosmo in the face and the Seedrian staggered over. Tails punched Metal Sonic around the head in an angry fit.

"Don't you dare hurt Cosmo like that!" he screeched.

Metal Sonic leaped up into the air and dropkicked Tails, sending the fox crashing into the ground yet again. Bunnie tried to punch Metal Sonic but he grabbed Bunnie's extending arm and threw her into an oncoming Nicole, sending the two girls tumbling over. All three members of Team Chaotix tried to attack him together but Metal Sonic spin-dashed Vector, Espio and Charmy in the stomachs all at once. Then Metal Sonic grabbed Vector by the jaws and slammed him down on top of Espio and Charmy. Geoffrey crept up to Metal Sonic and elbowed him in the shoulder, knocking him off balance and then Geoffrey grabbed Metal Sonic and threw him into a high hanging tree branch. For the first time since they fought, Metal Sonic was showing signs of damage. The tree branch had dented his head but not severely. Metal Sonic got furious and he snapped a very thick branch free from the tree. He flew down to the ground and proceeded to whack Sonic, Tails, Knuckles, Sally, Amy and Wilson with one giant swing. Bunnie, Geoffrey, Cream and Nicole lunged for Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic smacked them with the tree branch and sent them flying away. Team Chaotix were pretty much already defeated and Cosmo couldn't do anything to help so the whole team had been taken out of commission. Sonic groaned as he tried to sit up. He was in so much pain he seemed to be having great trouble just sitting up. Sally, straining heavily, managed to sit up and gasp.

"This is ludicrous!" she grunted "There's fourteen of us and only one of him and he's caving our heads in! We fought him earlier and Sonic's even taken him on a worldwide tour to wear him down and we still can't defeat him!"

"Yes we can!" claimed Sonic "We'll defeat Metal Sonic if we just keep trying!"

"But Sonic, if we keep this up we might not all make it to the end." noted Sally "Metal Sonic just seems too good for us, even with our strength combined so there's only one thing we can do."

"I hope it isn't what I think it is." said Sonic, dreading to think what Sally was going to say.

"We should surrender the match and flee." said Sally "Everyone back on the R.F.S. jet now."

"WHAT?" shrieked Sonic "Are you out of your mind? If we surrender, Metal Sonic will kill us all and destroy the world!"

"Sonic, if we keep fighting he'll kill us anyway so we must get outta here while we can!" snapped Sally "Now just do as you're told and get on the plane!"

"No!" retorted Sonic "I'm gonna smash Metal Sonic to itty, bitty pieces and that's that!"

"I'm the Queen of Mobotropolis so you have to do as you're told!" noted Sally "Let it go and get on the plane!"

"Make me!" retorted Sonic.

"I really don't wanna do this but you leave me no choice you stubborn hot head." said Sally dryly.

She nodded to Geoffrey St. John and the reluctant skunk shot Sonic in the back with a dart. Sonic yelped in pain and pulled the dart out of his back. Before he could say anything, his eyes closed and he passed out. The dart had put him to sleep. Now Sonic was subdued, Sally and Geoffrey carried him into the R.F.S. jet.

"I'm so sorry Sonic." said Sally sadly "But I had to save you from killing yourself."

After Sonic was carried onboard, everybody else ran onboard and the hatch closed up behind them. After everybody was onboard, rain began to fall. The R.F.S. jet got ready fort take off. Metal Sonic just stood there and watched the R.F.S. jet's engines roar into life. He made no attempt to stop them from getting away; he just let the jet get away. The jet took off vertically and then the jet shot forward at top speed, leaving Metal Sonic behind in the raining jungle. Metal Sonic took flight and flew away from the jungle in the opposite direction to the R.F.S. jet.

"Run." he droned to himself "Run away like cowards. You're only delaying the inevitable. I may be worn down but I'll be back, hungry for more Sonic the Hedgehog. I will destroy you once and for all my loathsome copy!"

Metal Sonic flew on through the sky, heading for home in Robotropolis. The fight had left him worn out so he needed to rest up and then he would be ready to smash Sonic again. He could picture Sonic's glorious demise right now as he headed for home.

As for the others, the effects of Geoffrey's dart had worn off and Sonic had come to. He wasn't pleased to see that he had been taken away from the battle and he just grumbled to himself.

"I could have taken Metal Sonic out but you decided to take me away!" he moaned "Why did you do it Sally?"

"Well for starters we're unfit to fight!" yelled Sally "Look at us! And I bet you're all battered and beaten aren't you?"

"Well I am but…"

"That's why we needed to retreat, because we're too weak to fight and we need a battle plan!" explained Sally "We need to rethink our methods and think of a way to destroy Metal Sonic once and for all!"

"Right." said Sonic, realizing the situation now "Maybe we should have some more training so we can make ourselves stronger and then we'll be able to take Metal Sonic down at long last!"

"Precisely." said Sally "So are you still mad I took you away from the battle?"

"Not as much." said Sonic cheekily "So once we're all rested and healed up, we can begin training so we will be ready for the next time we face Metal Sonic!"

"I just wonder why Metal Sonic isn't chasing us down." said Tails "Don't you think he should be following us right now?"

"Maybe he's worn out too." suggested Cosmo "Maybe Metal Sonic's going back to Dr. Eggman to rest himself for the next time he fights us."

"Maybe he is." said Tails "After all, I bet all that fighting and chasing has left Metal Sonic power drained."

"Why ever Metal Sonic isn't chasing us doesn't matter." said Sonic "What matters is us focusing on how to defeat him."

"One thing I wonder is where your slimy brother Scourge is." said Amy "I still can't believe he got away!"

"Well there's one thing I'm willing to bet." said Sonic "And it's that I may be seeing Scourge again real soon, even sooner then I'm gonna see Metal Sonic again.

Whether that was true or not remains to be seen. Sonic knew that he had long hours of tough training ahead of him and hopefully that training would pay off and Metal Sonic would be reduced to scrap metal. He just wondered when the metal menace would return for him…

Footnotes:

Don't tell me you don't remember the nail-biting climax of Story 29 do you?

Metal Sonic sure is a handful isn't he? And I bet he'll continue to be a handful for Sonic and friends. But now we'll give Metal Sonic a rest and move onto the next story which features Scourge the Hedgehog's next sinister move on the throne of Castle Acorn... Reviews are welcome.

Ruthless Relatives Part 1

Story 33: Ruthless Relatives Part 1: There's One In Every Family

Families can be a wonderful thing at times. They love and care for each other, they're good company, they're there for you when no one else is, families are some of the most wonderful things in the world and the only group of people you can hang around and trust with your heart. Unfortunately, some unfortunate person would have a rather bratty family member that wishes nothing more then to just make their life miserable. Tails was one of those people. True his parents were very loving but one member of his family was ungodly cruel to him when he was younger. And that person was known as Ginger the Fox. Ginger was Tails' slimy cousin who was extremely opinionated, egotistical and selfish but above all, he was downright cruel. Ginger looked very much like Tails only he had ginger fur instead of yellow fur, his whiskers were trimmed and styled, he had neat black hair and hazel eyes that always seemed to burn with hatred. For some reason Ginger couldn't stand Tails and Tails did not know why. Maybe it was because he was much loved amongst all the family; even Ginger's parents adored Tails because he was so cute and Ginger was deathly jealous of that. Whenever no grown ups were around, Ginger would do whatever he could to make Tails miserable. Whatever you do, don't make me go into detail about some of the things this rotten fox did to Tails. I'll just hint at the things he did. Ginger saw Tails as nothing more then a stepping stone. And he took that thought too far and would stand on Tails' back for hours on end which left Tails with horrible backaches afterwards. And another cruel thing he used to do was hang Tails in a tree by his tails and leave him there until he untied himself. Yes, Ginger was ungodly cruel to poor Tails. I bet the little brat would kill poor Tails if he had the chance! Luckily for Tails, when he was six Ginger left the village he used to live in and went to live in a fancy estate in Central City and Tails spent the rest of his life free from Ginger. Right now though, Ginger was reading newspapers and every time he saw an article about Sonic the Hedgehog and Tails, he growled with anger and ripped the column to shreds. Ginger for some reason couldn't stand Sonic either. I think the little worm is just jealous of the fact everybody loves Sonic and Sonic is a hero whereas Ginger is a nobody. Ginger ripped yet another newspaper to bits and chucked the remains on the pavement instead of throwing it in the bin like a sensible person would (yes he has no respect for the environment I forgot to mention!). A pedestrian walked by and glared at him for the littering. Ginger ignored him and grumbled to himself.

"Why does everybody love that blue buffoon?" he moaned "He's an idiot! He charges into battle and always expects himself to win! Why can't anyone other then me see that? The entire world is an idiot and I'm the only fortune person to be intelligent it seems!"

He picked up a torn bit of newspaper that had Tails' face on it.

"And why does everybody love my idiot of a cousin?" he grumbled "He's a dweeb! Not only that he's also a nerd! Why on Mobius would you want to waste your life away on pathetic little machines when you could do more important things like finding a pretty woman to marry or increasing your wealth?"

He scrunched up the paper in his hand and tossed it back on the floor.

"Ooooooooh! How I hate my cousin!" growled Ginger "I'm supposed to be loved, not him! I'm far more talented and better looking then he is! He's supposed to be a low-life living on the streets begging for money, not the sidekick to that moron Sonic the Hedgehog!"

"Oy you!" snarled a badger wearing a dress coat and a fedora "Will you shut up you little brat? People can hear you!"

"You shut up you poorly dressed dingbat!" snapped Ginger.

Before he knew it, Ginger found himself lying behind the bench he had been sitting on and groaning in pain. Ginger had no idea how that happened although I can make a rough guess. I think the badger gave him a knuckle sandwich hard enough to make Knuckles jealous (just kidding, but he does punch hard!).

"Hopefully you'll learn some manners you little creep!" snarled the badger "And I hope someone has a good dumpster they can toss you into as well!"

And with that the badger left in a huff. Ginger swaggered back onto the bench and clutched his head.

"Oh that imbecile!" he moaned "I should have him arrested for that!"

"Quit talking to yourself you weirdo!" snapped a ferret wearing sports shorts that jogged by and slapped Ginger on the back of the head as he passed.

"Ouch!" cried Ginger "Since when have pedestrians been allowed to assault people on the streets? This world is becoming a savage place! I've gotta get out of here before someone pulls a knife on me or something!"

He only just realized he had been shrieking at the top of his voice and attracted a large crowd of people that stared at him angrily. Ginger turned bright red with embarrassment and chuckled nervously.

"Um…hi?" he squeaked.

"Calling us savages are ya?" snarled a beaver in a leather jacket "Let's get him folks!"

And with that the entire crowd chased the little fox around an entire city block before Ginger ducked for cover in a dumpster in an alleyway. But one Mobian has seen him and said to the crowd

"Guys, he's in here!"

The crowd saw the dumpster Ginger was hiding in and they decided to leave him there.

"That little twerp's where he belongs." said the beaver "In a dumpster. He's rubbish after all."

And with that the entire crowd left to continue with their daily lives. Ginger climbed out of the dumpster and brushed some bits of litter off. He growled to himself.

"This is all that Tails' fault this is happening to me!" growled Ginger "It's his fault my dopey family moved here because he kept complaining about me! Well he has not seen the last of me! I'll get my revenge if it's the last thing I do!"

"Well that sounds cool." said a raspy tough man voice from the shadows of the alleyway "Your determination for revenge impresses me."

Ginger jumped and looked around the alleyway. A hedgehog was standing in the shadows and he was coming out of the shadows towards Ginger. Ginger whimpered with fear as the hedgehog revealed himself to be none other then Scourge the Hedgehog, Sonic's evil brother and vicious tyrannical would-be-world conqueror. Ginger screamed in terror and cowered on the floor.

"Oh no! Not Scourge the Hedgehog, Sonic's evil brother!" screamed Ginger "Please don't hurt me!"

"OK kid, I have two things here." said Scourge "One: I ain't gonna hurt ya. Two: how do you know my name?"

"I've read all about you in the newspapers." whimpered Ginger "You want to conquer the world and destroy Sonic the Hedgehog am I right?"

"That's me to a T." said Scourge with a toothy grin that could make a Tyrannosaurus Rex cry.

"Well I'm glad you want to destroy Sonic because I think that guy's a moron." said Ginger, getting up off the ground "Had any luck yet?"

"No." said Scourge, scowling "I almost succeeded once but a crocodile, a chameleon and a bee ruined everything!*"

"Oh that's a shame." said Ginger "Do you know who I want revenge on?"

"Nope and should I care?" snapped Scourge rudely.

"Maybe not." said Ginger meekly "The person I want revenge on is my idiot cousin Tails, the one person I hate with a burning passion."

"Tails." said Scourge as if the name rung a bell "Isn't he the twin-tailed sucker who follows Sonic everywhere?"

"He is." said Ginger "I want revenge on him for making me move to this wretched city and I won't stop until my revenge is complete!"

"Yeah you said summet like that and your desire for revenge impresses me." said Scourge, putting an arm around Ginger and flipping his sunglass down over his eyes "So I've decided to make a proposition I know you can't resist."

"What is it?" asked Ginger, gulping.

"Me and you could team up to get our revenge on Sonic and Tails respectively." said Scourge "With my help, you can't possibly fail to get revenge on your cousin and I can't fail to get revenge on my brother. If you help me then when I take over the world…I will make you king of your very own land on Mobius but I get Mobotropolis. So do we have a deal?"

Ginger thought for a moment. This was a tempting offer but would Scourge keep his promise? He had a feeling he shouldn't trust Scourge but he wanted revenge on Tails more then anything in the world. Ginger held his hand out for Scourge to shake.

"You have a deal." said Ginger.

Scourge grabbed Ginger's hand and squeezed it as hard as he could, causing the fox to yelp in pain.

"Good boy!" he cackled "I knew you couldn't resist this offer! Now listen to me because I have a plan and I'm only going to tell you it once so pay attention!"

"OK." said Ginger, rubbing his throbbing hand tenderly.

Scourge pulled Ginger close to himself and whispered down his ear. Ginger listened to every single word Scourge said and he smiled wickedly.

"That's bound to work!" he screeched with joy "It's foolproof! Revenge on Sonic and Tails is certain!"

"Yes it is ginger boy." said Scourge "Now you have to do what I tell you or this whole thing can go kaput on us."

"I'll do whatever you say." said Ginger.

"Good." said Scourge "Now we'll do it tonight where no one will see us and they're more likely to fall for our trick. Meet me at the Mobian Store Department at ten o' clock tonight and not a second later or you're fired. Capisce?"

"Got it." said Ginger "I'd best get my hair styled."

And with that he ran out of the alleyway, leaving Scourge alone in the alleyway to do nothing more then smile at himself.

"Kids are so gullible aren't they?" he sneered "As if I'm gonna share power with a nine year old! Once ginger boy does what I've told him to do I will throw him on a spike or something like that. Ha! Ha! Ha!"

And with that he retreated back into the shadows, laughing evilly.

"Sonic, you will end up tasting the life I led for two years straight now!" he cackled.

Whatever Scourge and Ginger were going to do to make Sonic and Tails' lives miserable was bound to be bad and we would find that out sooner or later…

"Hiya!" cried Geoffrey St. John the skunk as he snapped a plank of wood in two with one powerful kick.

Training had been tough and hard since the Mobians had retreated from their fight with Metal Sonic but it seemed to be paying off at long last. Sonic's spin-dashes appeared to be stronger, Tails was far more agile in flight and Amy's accuracy with her hammer was even better then before. Even Geoffrey St. John appeared to be improving on his combat skills.

"How about that then mates?" he said "I couldn't break wood with one kick before so that new training course must be doing wonders for me."

"It seems to be doing wonders for all of us." said Sonic "Tails is so agile in flight you'd think he was a jet!"

"Oh come on Sonic I'm not THAT fast." said Tails modestly.

"Come on little buddy, don't give me that low self esteem again!" teased Sonic "Where's that sense of pride and determination you once had?"

He held Tails tightly and playfully gave him a noogie-noogie.

"Hey! No fair! Lemme go!" laughed Tails as Sonic noogied him.

Geoffrey couldn't help but laugh at the two.

"Look at you two blokes, you're like brothers." he said with a smile "No wonder your team work is unrivalled in this group."

"Yep, that's us Geoffrey." said Sonic "We're friends to the end and our friendship can never be broken."

"Never ever!" cried Tails.

"So how's Amy been doing on this course?" asked Geoffrey "I haven't seen her since this morning."

"She's doing more target practice with her hammer." said Sonic "Her accuracy is much better then before I'll give it ya. She can hit almost anything in one hit! I bet she wouldn't have any trouble hitting me at top speed with accuracy like that!" he added, chuckling.

"I don't think even Amy will be fast enough to hit someone like you Sonic." said Tails "With or without a hammer."

Sonic nodded in agreement.

"I hope you're not still too sore over losing to Metal Sonic the other day mate." said Geoffrey "After all, it was for our own good."

"I'm not still sore over it." said Sonic "I'm still not happy over the fact we had to flee but I've got over it and now I'm gonna keep on training until I'm fast and strong enough to keep up with even my phoney metal twin."

"I still wonder how is Metal Sonic so strong?" said Tails "He can defeat the likes of Knuckles, Team Chaotix and even Bunnie Rabbot. What did Eggman do to that robot?"

"That is something for him to know and us to find out." said Sonic grimly "But I can't see that happening since we'll never be able to get close enough to Metal Sonic to find out his secrets."

"Never say never mate!" said Geoffrey boldly "We might be able to find that out if we can just sneak into the Eggman bloke's city and spy on him…"

"No, no spying." said Tails "Spying almost got me killed the other day and I don't wanna repeat of that."

"Right." said Geoffrey "How did spying nearly get you killed anyway?"

"I don't wanna talk about it." said Tails, tears coming to his eyes just thinking about it "I'm gonna get horrible images in my head again and I only just managed to get them out."

"Oh, sorry mate." said Geoffrey "Didn't mean ta upset ya. I didn't know about it since I wasn't here at the time."

"It's OK Mr. St. John sir." said Tails.

"So…" said Sonic, trying to change the subject "I bet Knuckles and Team Chaotix are training their hearts out right now."

"Who knows what those blokes are doing?" said Geoffrey "I wonder how Wilson and Mandy are doing too."

"I bet they're doing fine." said Sonic "I still wonder why Mandy wasn't fighting Metal Sonic with us in the jungle? Was she too cowardly to fight?"

"Nah, she disappeared before we even left." said Geoffrey "I have no idea why she vanished and where she skived off to but when we returned yesterday she was there waiting for us."

"Who knows." said Sonic "But hopefully she won't do it again otherwise I'm gonna get suspicious about her."

"I agree." said Geoffrey "I do hope there isn't the horrible feeling of treachery creeping around the Royal Fighters Service."

"I don't think anyone is going to betray us Mr. St. John." said Tails "I don't think we have anything to worry about."

"I only wish I could agree with you little fella." said Geoffrey gloomily "I still have a sneaky suspicion of treachery hiding among us."

Their discussion was cut off by the arrival of a very cheerful looking Amy Rose with her hammer draped over her shoulder.

"Hey boys." said Amy happily "How's your training coming on?"

"We're doing fine Amy, we're just taking a break." said Sonic "You should see Geoffrey's new found strength Amy, he can snap wood with one kick now."

"Can he?" said Amy with surprise "That's amazing Geoffrey! You should show me when you're ready to go at it some more!"

"Oh I'll show you alright." said Geoffrey, smirking cockily "So how's your training coming on luv?"

"I'm taking a break too." said Amy "But I'm doing just fine thanks. I can hit harder and more accurately with my hammer now. Metal Sonic will have no idea what hit him next time we fight!"

"You can say that again Amy!" chuckled Sonic "I just hope you never pull that hammer on me at all!"

And with that everybody laughed. After they stopped laughing Sonic said

"I can't wait for the rematch with Metal Sonic."

"Neither can I." said Geoffrey, loading his crossbow "That blighter will get his just desserts the next time we fight!"

And with that he fired his crossbow and hit a nearby target on a stick right in the centre. All this training would defiantly pay off the next time Sonic and friends fought Metal Sonic…

Nightfall. It was ten o' clock and Scourge was waiting at the Mobian Store Department but for some reason he wasn't wearing his leather jacket, boots and sunglasses, instead he wore sneakers that looked like Sonic's own sneakers. It made Scourge groan at the fact he had to look exactly like his wormy brother for this robbery but the plan wouldn't work if he didn't look like Sonic so he had to live with it. He tapped his foot impatiently as he waited for Ginger the Fox to arrive. Thirty seconds later, Ginger arrived on the scene, flying like Tails since he had two tails as well. He had dyed his neat black hair ginger like his fur and styled it into three separate hairs like Tails. It made him growl over the fact he looked like his stupid cousin but Ginger knew that was the plan and he had to bear it just for tonight. Ginger landed in front of Scourge and the green hedgehog glared at him.

"I told you to arrive at the Mobian Store Department at ten o' clock exactly and not a second later you scumbag!" roared Scourge "You're thirty seconds late you slowpoke!"

"Sorry Scourge but I forgot about it and I was about to get my beauty sleep until I realized I should be here with you and I flew here as fast as I could!" explained Ginger "I'm so sorry your lordship!"

"Well better late then never." sighed Scourge "Now let's rob this thing before we lose time."

"Are you sure about this Scourge?" asked Ginger "What if someone sees us?"

"No one will see us you dweeb!" snapped Scourge "We're in the dark of the night, everybody's sleeping by now! The only think that's on the alert are those stupid security cameras but they're necessary for the plan so they don't matter. Now come on before I boot you in the butt!"

"Yes sir!" said Ginger obediently.

Scourge smiled and then span into a spin-dash. With one mighty spin-dash he managed to break the door down. Nothing stirred so Scourge didn't appear to have alerted anything or anybody so he continued. Scourge and Ginger surveyed the room with interest. It was laden with jewels and diamonds galore and any crook would be stupid to pass these beauties up. Scourge, using his super speed, snatched all the jewels up, avoiding the sensor lasers as he went while Ginger made horrible rude faces at the camera in order to make Tails look rude and immature. Sooner or alter Scourge had snatched up all the jewels and he ran for it. Ginger set off the burglar alarm by touching a sensor laser that Scourge had managed to avoid while snatching the jewels. Ginger flew for it as the burglar alarm blared loudly. It seemed loud enough to wake up an entire city. No sooner had Scourge and Ginger left, Swarms of hovering police cars arrived on the scene and swarms of police officers emerged from the cars and ran into the building, all brandishing revolvers. Melchett the Hedgehog and his assistant Big Dave were leading the pack. They searched the entire building only to find all the display cases had been broken into and the jewels had been stolen. Melchett was amazed by this and began to wonder how the robbers had managed to strip the place of all it's jewels so quickly.

"The whole place has been robbed to the last diamond!" he cried "How did this happen?"

"You don't possibly think it was Scourge the Hedgehog do you sir?" asked an officer.

"Likely." said Melchett "But we don't know that for sure. Let's check the security tapes."

And with that Melchett ran into the surveillance room to have a look at everything the security cameras had recorded. He sat down in front of a computer and rewound the tape to the beginning of the burglary. He played it and watched the whole tape closely. What he was watching made his eyes pop.

"Hey Melchett!" cried Big Dave excitedly "What are you watching? Is it a cartoon? I love cartoons! Lemme watch!"

"Shut up you big lummox!" snarled Melchett "I'm trying to watch this!"

He continued watching and was shocked at what appeared to be Sonic the Hedgehog and Tails the Fox robbing the store. Sonic whizzed around at sonic speeds, snatching up every jewel he came across and Tails was making horrible rude faces at the camera. We all know it's actually Scourge and Ginger disguised as Sonic and Tails don't we? But that old fool Melchett doesn't, he's so shocked at the fact he thinks it's them it didn't occur to him that their fur was the wrong colour, he just jumped to the conclusion it was Sonic and Tails robbing the shop.

"No…!" he gasped "It can't be…he's the hero of the planet!"

"What? What? What is it Melchett buddy? Tell meeeeeeeeeeee!" begged Big Dave, dancing about like a dopey person.

"Sonic the Hedgehog and his buddy Tails have turned traitor and have robbed this store!" gasped Melchett "Why on Mobius would they do such a thing?"

"Sonic's a bad guy now?" said Big Dave dopily "That's silly! Sonic would never betray us like this!"

"Just watch the tape you monkey in gopher's clothing!" snapped Melchett.

Big Dave watched the tape and couldn't believe his eyes. Sonic and Tails appeared to be robbing the store and even though he was stupid, he knew that they were committing a crime and that meant they were criminals now. Big Dave turned away from the monitors and yelled at Melchett.

"Oh my gosh! Sonic and Tails are traitors! That's not very nice! Waaaah!" he sobbed.

"Oh stop crying you big idiot." said Melchett harshly "We'll make them pay for this crime and that's a promise!"

"Yeah! We're gonna capture Tonic and Sails!" declared Big Dave, wielding his baton high in the air.

"It's Sonic and Tails you numbskull!" corrected Melchett.

"Oh." said Big Dave.

Melchett and Big Dave left the surveillance room and gave the bad news to the other cops anxiously waiting for them to come out. The policemen all gave a chorus of gasping at the sudden "betrayal" of Sonic and Tails and they all frowned angrily and began talking amongst one another.

"How could Sonic do this to us?"

"I thought he was a good guy!"

"I can't wait to knock his brains out with my bat!"

"I'm gonna make sure he does time good and hard for this!"

"We will capture Sonic and I promise you that." said Melchett "I know where the hedgehog and his twin-tailed accomplice live so we will go there and arrest them in the morning."

"Good idea Melchett." said an officer who was a chipmunk named General Chipper.

"General Chipper, I'm trusting you with the tranquillizer gun when we arrest Sonic tomorrow." said Melchett "We'll need to subdue Sonic the Hedgehog so we can capture him easier since he can run fast."

"Thank you sir." said the General, saluting.

"Everybody, let's go back to the police station." ordered Melchett "We have a big raid tomorrow morning so we need to be well rested and ready for action."

"Yes sir!" said all the policemen.

They all ran out of the store and back into their cars. The police cars hovered slightly above the road and they drove away, their sirens blaring like mad. Scourge and Ginger had been watching the whole thing from above a building and they smiled wickedly to see their plan had worked to perfection.

"The idiots fell for it!" laughed Scourge "Sonic will be getting a taste of the life I once had when I was in jail and so will his bratty buddy!"

"My revenge is complete!" cheered Ginger "Tails will be in his lowly place at last and I will be on high as King Ginger, assistant ruler of King Scourge of Mobius!"

"Thanks kid." said Scourge "You know what? You're the first person I've ever taken a liking to in my entire life. I really like your evilness; it really matches mine doesn't it?"

"Yeah, it kinda does doesn't it?" said Ginger "We're almost like an evil version of Sonic and Tails aren't we?"

"The only difference is, we look cool." said Scourge "And I can't wait to see Sonic get arrested tomorrow!"

"And I can't wait to see my wormy cousin get arrested tomorrow!" said Ginger, rubbing his hands happily "I'll try to remind myself to pay him a visit so I can taunt him mercilessly!"

The two evil Mobians laughed in unison, thinking about the big raid Melchett would perform on Sonic tomorrow morning…

Morning dawned and Sonic and Tails were eating breakfast. Sonic had decided to make something different instead of having chilli-dogs and eggs again. He had made himself and Tails a portion of beans, four rashers of bacon each and two slices of toast each. Tails tucked in happily since he loved bacon and toast. Sonic took a mouthful of beans and looked out of the window. It was another beautiful day, just the perfect day to go training again. He couldn't wait for today's training as Sally had promised him it would be more challenging then yesterday's training course. Tails swallowed a mouthful of toast and bacon and spoke.

"Thinking about today's new course aren't you?" he asked the blue hedgehog.

"Yes I am little buddy." said Sonic "I wonder what Sally's set up for us today?"

"I can't wait to see Bunnie Rabbot." said Tails "Sally said she would be participating with us today along with Wilson and Mandy."

"Yeah, I'm looking forward to seeing Bunnie too." said Sonic "I wonder how she's been doing lately?"

He finished his last mouthful of beans and got up from the table to get some orange juice. But when he opened the cupboard to get a cup for his juice, a bunch of necklaces, rubies and diamonds all fell out of the cupboard and onto the counter or onto the floor with a loud clatter! Tails gasped in horror at what he saw and Sonic couldn't believe his eyes either.

"Sonic! What are all these jewels doing in your cupboard?" he shrieked.

"I…I…I seriously have no idea!" choked Sonic "I didn't even know they were even there!"

"Oh my gosh Sonic, you didn't steal them did you?" cried Tails.

"No of course not!" shrieked Sonic "Why would I wanna steal jewels?"

"Well if you didn't steal those jewels then how did they get here?" asked Tails "Did someone else steal them and hide them there in an attempt to frame you or something?"

"Well if that's the case then that person must be crazy if they think they can frame me for a jewel robbery!" said Sonic crossly "Everyone knows I would never steal a thing in my life!"

Then suddenly there was a loud knock on the door.

"Sonic the Hedgehog, this is the police!" boomed the voice of Melchett the Hedgehog from outside "Open up or we'll break the door down!"

"Now what the heck are those guys doing here?" wondered Sonic as he marched over to the door.

He opened the door and Melchett pushed past him and stormed into the house.

"Hey, what gives?" demanded Sonic.

Melchett ignored him and walked into the kitchen. Tails put his hands up and whimpered as Melchett searched the place. He saw the jewels lying on the counter and the floor. That was all the evidence he needed.

"These are the jewels that were stolen from the Mobian Store Department last night!" shrieked Melchett.

Tails tried to creep out of the room but Big Dave blocked his way and seized him by the arms. He snapped a pair of handcuffs around Tails' wrists and then Sonic ran into the room.

"Hey! What the heck is going on here?" demanded Sonic angrily "Why are you arresting Tails and why are you barging into my house like this?"

"You should know why traitor!" snarled Melchett "Aren't the jewels lying on your floor a big enough clue as to why we're here?"

Sonic suddenly realized what was going on.

"You think me and Tails robbed a jewellery store?" shrieked Sonic "How dare you even think something like that! How can you possibly think me and Tails are jewellery robbers?"

"Well for starters the jewels are in your house." said Melchett "Second, the store caught you two on tape. We clearly saw you robbing the store at lightening speed and Tails pulling rude faces at the camera on the tape! Security tapes don't lie and we've got the evidence needed to put you two away for a very long time!"

Sonic and Tails both thought they were about to go berserk. Melchett had the nerve to think they robbed a jewellery store and claims to have seen them on tape doing the crime? Sonic knew that couldn't be true since he wasn't even at a jewellery store last night and neither was Tails so what was going on? Sonic had to investigate on this and fast before Melchett tried to arrest him.

"Melchett, you've made a big mistake!" protested Sonic "Me and Tails were right here all night! We didn't go to any jewellery stores at all!"

"Yeah as if I'm gonna believe the petty lies of a treacherous criminal like you." scoffed Melchett "The evidence is clear and you two are guilty! You're under arrest and that's that!"

"No I'm not!" said Sonic, kicking Melchett in the gut and sending the police hog falling on his back "You'll have to catch me before you arrest me you dopey cop!"

Before Melchett could get up, Sonic spin-dashed Big Dave and snapped Tails' handcuffs. He picked Tails up and sped through the door at sonic speed, knocking everybody over as he ran by. Melchett ran out of the house and watched Sonic speed away.

"Get him you idiots!" he yelled "And stop lying on the job!"

"We're not laying on the job you grumpy git-face!" retorted General Chipper, getting up and picking up his tranquillizer gun "Sonic knocked us over with his super speed!"

"Right." said Melchett "Get in your cars everybody; we may have a chance of catching up to that treacherous hedgehog!"

"Yes sir!" the police squad said in unison.

They all ran into their police cars and darted off after Sonic and Tails in them. Sonic looked over his shoulder to see a group of policeman chasing him down.

"Those guys are desperate aren't they?" he muttered.

"They're cops Sonic, that's what their job is!" cried Tails "And why did you attack Melchett and Big Dave like that? Don't you realize that isn't going to prove our innocence and neither is running for our lives?"

"Tails, we're running for our lives because we need to clear our names and we can't do that if we're arrested!" noted Sonic "Now hold on tight!"

He continued to run as the police cars tried to keep up with Sonic. Hover cars were fast, but not fast enough to catch up with Sonic at top speed so the cars were failing and lagging behind miserably. However they did have a sure fire ace up their sleeves. General Chipper leaned out of his hover car whilst another officer drove it and he aimed the tranquillizer gun at Sonic. However Tails was clinging onto Sonic's back so it was making it hard for Chipper to get a good aim on Sonic only. Chipper managed to find a spot just underneath Sonic's bottom and he fired the gun. The dart shot out of the gun's long barrel and whizzed towards Sonic like an arrow. The dart caught Sonic and he was so surprised he fell over and onto his face. Tails was sent hurling off Sonic's back and rolling across the grass. Sonic got back to his feet and pulled the dart out of his backside.

"So they're trying to sedate me are they?" he said "Maybe Melchett isn't a big buffoon after all."

"But what are we gonna do when you pass out?" asked Tails.

"I'm gonna hide somewhere until I wake up which will probably take a long time." said Sonic "The police will be long gone by the time I wake up and emerge from my hiding place."

Unfortunately for Sonic, the dart's effects suddenly ended up taking effect on him much sooner then he expected. Sonic began to feel woozy and he swaggered about as if he was drunk. Tails knew what was happening and he grabbed the droopy hedgehog. He twisted his tails around one another lifted Sonic off the ground. He was about to take him up into a tree to hide until the police all arrived and they burst out of their cars with revolvers in their hands. Tails was so shocked he almost dropped Sonic.

"Get down here and face your sentence little boy!" snarled Melchett "We'll open fire if we have to and we won't hesitate!"

"But sir, we're not criminals!" shouted Tails "Why can't you idiots get that through your thick heads? We're being framed, I know we are and if you leave us alone we can prove it to you!"

"There's nothing to prove." said Melchett dryly "You were caught on tape, you're guilty as heck and you're under arrest. Now get down here or we'll blow your head off!"

Tails wanted to argue some more but he knew it was futile since Melchett was a very strict policeman and he believed anything he saw and it was obvious he wasn't in the mood for believing Tails. Tails decided to surrender since he didn't want to be shot at so he flew down to the ground with Sonic snoozing away from the dart's effects. The moment Tails landed, Big Dave leaped on him and snapped a new pair of handcuffs around Tails' wrists. Then he handcuffed the sleeping Sonic the Hedgehog.

"Look Melchett! I arrested them!" squealed Big Dave, clapping merrily and dancing stupidly.

"Congratulations." muttered Melchett sarcastically "Now put those traitors in the car."

"We're not traitors!" screamed Tails "Quit calling us that!"

"You have the right to remain silent young man!" snarled Melchett as Big Dave stuffed Sonic and Tails into his police car.

All the policemen got back into their cars and they drove away into the woods. Tails looked down at his feet. He couldn't believe it, he and his best friend Sonic were both being convicted for something they hadn't done! What on Mobius managed to convince Melchett it was them? Well whatever it was, Tails knew he and Sonic had to get out of prison otherwise they wouldn't be able to clear their names and prove their innocence. But who were the real criminals? And why did they frame him and Sonic? Tails had no idea but he was determined to find out. But first he would have to escape from prison and goodness knows how long that would take. The moment the police cars disappeared into the woodland, Scourge and Ginger arrived. They were back to their normal selves this time and they were grinning like a pair of goblins.

"Aaaah." said Scourge, sniffing the air "That's the sweet smell of revenge in the air this morning."

"You've said it Scourge." said Ginger "Boy I'm so happy that Tails is going to be locked up in a cold dark prison cell where he belongs I could scream with joy!"

"Now the two pipsqueaks are out of the way, I can make my first nefarious move to take over Mobius!" said Scourge happily "Come on Ginger, we have much to do."

And with that, the two criminals ran deep into the forest, laughing like hyenas.

Unbeknownst to Scourge and Ginger, Dr. Eggman had been watching the whole thing from his incredible computer monitors and he was pleased with what he was watching.

"Well this is an unexpected yet pleasing turn of events!" he said happily "Scourge and some fox that looks like Tails have managed to trick the police into arresting Sonic and Tails!"

He chortled with laughter at the thought of his enemies in jail.

"Scourge has done me a great big favour hasn't he?" he said gleefully "Now Sonic is out of the way, I can destroy Castle Acorn and he won't be there to stop it!"

"But sir, won't Scourge try to stop you since he wants to take over the world?" asked his snooty servant bot Alonzo.

"Scourge won't stop me." said Dr. Eggman "After all, I have Metal Sonic!" he added dramatically "The only catch is, Metal Sonic still isn't ready yet so I can't send him out until he's all rested up."

"So does this mean you're going to wait until Metal Sonic is ready before you attack?" asked Alonzo.

"Yes I am Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman "I would love to send a robot or two but no machine I send can take on someone as fierce as Scourge. Only Metal Sonic can take on Scourge so I'm going to have to wait until he's ready."

"While we're waiting, why don't we watch Sonic and Tails in jail and laugh at them?" suggested Alonzo cruelly.

"I was going to suggest that myself Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman "We'll do just that."

So they continued watching the monitors, eagerly awaiting the moment Sonic and Tails were put behind bars so they could laugh at them.

Meanwhile at Castle Acorn, Queen Sally Acorn had set up a training course for Sonic and friends. This course looked so challenging I bet Espio the Chameleon would have a bit of trouble getting through it! And for today, Sally was dressed in her long flowing pink dress with the long gloves again. Sonic and Tails were supposed to be at the castle right now but they weren't and Sally was beginning to get worried. She paced back and forth as time began to tick slowly by.

"Ooh, where are Sonic and Tails?" she moaned to herself "They should be here right now. Where are they?"

"Don't worry Sally." said her beautiful lady-in-waiting Nicole the Lynx "I'm sure they'll be here sooner or later. Maybe they're just running late or something."

"I do hope Dr. Eggman hasn't got them." said Sally "After all, he made Metal Sonic and he's sure to have sent that robot to get them."

"I hope Metal Sonic hasn't been sent to get them too Sally." said Nicole "That robot's been giving me nightmares since we retreated from the battle with him and Scourge."

"Were they terrible?" asked Sally.

"Too horrible for words." said Nicole, her long ears dropping back in despair "I'm constantly woken by them in the night and I really don't like it."

Sally put an arm around her friend and smiled sympathetically at her.

"Oh Nicole, don't let the nightmares bother you." she said kindly "We all know they're not going to happen in real life. Sonic will not allow Dr. Eggman and Metal Sonic to win and we both know that don't we?"

Nicole looked Sally in the eye and smiled at her.

"You're right Sally." said Nicole "Sonic is not going to let Metal Sonic kill us all. He'll stop him and it will be all because of that new training course that'll be making him stronger and faster in battle."

"Sally." Nicole added "I'm so happy I'm your lady-in-waiting."

And with that she gave Sally a warm friendly hug and Sally hugged Nicole back.

"I'm happy to have you in the castle with me." said Sally "I would be so lonely without you Nicole."

Unfortunately, their loving friendly moment was cut short by the sudden and unexpected arrival of fellow fighter and cyborg Bunnie Rabbot. She had ran all the way to Castle Acorn and she was out of breath. She panted heavily and tried to catch her breath back.

"Bunnie?" said Sally "Whatever's the matter? You look like you've been chased by a car!"

Bunnie wheezed loudly before finally speaking, albeit with heavy breaths in between.

"Sally-girl…pant! ya'll won't believe…this!" gasped Bunnie "But for some…pant! reason…Chief Officer Melchett and his…police squad have…arrested Sonic and Tails on suspicion…gasp!…of a jewel store robbery!"

Sally and Nicole stared at each other in horror. Both of them looked like they were going to faint side by side. Sonic and Tails, criminals? Had they suddenly turned traitor on the world? This couldn't be!

"Bunnie, please tell me you're serious and not joking!" cried Sally.

"Ah'm tellin' ya the truth your Majesty!" wheezed Bunnie "Ah saw it all with mah own eyes and heard it all with mah own ears!"

Sally did not know what to say. Should she take this sudden revelation with a shaker of salt or should she take Bunnie's word for granted and believe her? It seemed so unbelievable that Sonic and Tails would be the world's greatest heroes and then suddenly they'd turn traitor on the world. Sally decided she would get to the bottom of this and find out what exactly was going on.

"Nicole, can you manage things while I'm gone?" she asked.

"Um, sure your highness but where are you going?" asked Nicole.

"To the Mobian Police Department. I'm going to have a word with Melchett the Hedgehog personally!" said Sally "I think that cop's getting really bad at his stuff if he's arresting Sonic and Tails for something I know they could not and would not ever do!"

And with that, the angry Queen squirrel stormed off and headed through the still un-finished Mobotropolis on her way to the MPD to speak with Melchett. Nicole and Bunnie looked at each other and exchanged worrying glances. They knew this wasn't going to end well.

The Mobian Police Department that Sonic and Tails had been taken to was in Empire City, the city where the homeless citizens of Mobotropolis had to live in until New Mobotropolis was completed. Sonic and Tails were both dressed in orange prison uniforms and were forced to sit and wait in the office with Melchett while the policemen tried to find some available prison cells for them since the prisons in Empire City were full. General Chipper typed on a computer and tried to find some available prison cells for Sonic and Tails. Melchett was beginning to lose his patience and he began to get stroppy.

"Will you hurry up and find an available prison block?" he moaned at General Chipper "I keep thinking Sonic's going to try and run for it right now!"

"Don't rush me Moany Melchett!" snapped General Chipper rudely "I can't search things up at the speed of light you know so be patient!"

Melchett grumbled and left General Chipper to the work.

"Will you give it a rest Melchy Welchy?" said Sonic crossly "I'm not going to try and run for it so you have nothing to fear."

"Well that's good to know." said Melchett.

"The only reason I'm not going to try and escape is because someone will find out we've been framed and then they'll prove it to you and clear our names before you can even find an available cell." said Sonic.

"You have not been framed!" shouted Melchett "You two are criminals, the proof is in the bag so you are going to prison now shut your horrible little mouth will you?"

"I wish you'd shut your horrible little mouth." muttered Tails "You never say anything nice to anybody."

"Agreed." said General Chipper without looking up from his work.

Melchett scowled at the general but said nothing. Then suddenly the door to the office swung open and in burst the beautiful Queen Sally Acorn who clearly didn't seem to be in a good mood. Sonic and Tails' faces brightened at the sight of her and they thought she would be bailing them out right now. Melchett was surprised at the arrival of the Queen and be bowed down in respect.

"Madame." he said "What a pleasure it is to have a figure of your nature on policeman grounds! How may I help you?"

"I would like to have a word with you Melchett." said Sally sternly.

"Oh uh…OK." said Melchett, his voice trembling and his moustache shaking.

Sonic and Tails beamed. Melchett was so gonna get it from Sally right now! Sally began to shout at Melchett.

"Are you out of your mind?" she shrieked "You go and arrest the Hero of Mobius and his best friend for something they would never even dream of doing in their entire lives! Are you getting desperate to arrest somebody?"

"I most certainly am not your royal highness!" bellowed Melchett "I've arrested those two because they robbed a jewellery store last night!"

"And what evidence do you have to assure it was them and not someone trying to frame them?" demanded Sally angrily.

"This!" said Melchett, presenting a video tape to Sally. "This is a video tape from the security cameras at the store. This video will prove everything your Majesty."

He put the tape into a TV set and the TV played the footage recorded from last night. Sonic and Tails couldn't see the tape from where they were so they could only guess what was happening in it. Sally watched the tape closely and her eyes widened at what she was watching. Sonic was robbing the store at lightening speed and Tails was pulling rude faces at the camera. The tape ended and the TV screen faded to black.

"See?" sneered Melchett.

Sally was so shocked she couldn't speak. She stepped away from the TV and began to shake.

"Sally? What's wrong?" asked Sonic.

Sally finally spoke.

"That can't be true!" she blurted "The tape must be forged!"

"There is no evidence of forgery in the tape." stated Melchett "And no one even touched the security cameras so the tape certainly hasn't been forged. Admit it your Majesty, Sonic and Tails are traitors and they must get their comeuppance for what they've done."

Sally, defeated turned to Sonic and Tails. She looked like she was going to cry.

"You two." she said hoarsely "I can't believe you two would betray us like this! Please tell me you didn't really do this!"

"We didn't Sally!" claimed Sonic "Honest! We've been framed but no one believes us! Please don't disbelieve us like the others!"

"I believe you Sonic and Tails." said Sally, fighting back tears but one managed to trickle down her face without her realizing "But the evidence seems to imply you did rob that store. I will try to see if you really are innocent but until then I'm afraid you're under arrest until I can prove you aren't traitors."

"NO!" cried Sonic and Tails.

"I'm so, so sorry Sonic but I can't do anything about it since there's no evidence you two didn't do it!" wailed Sally "I hope I can clear your names before something really bad happens. Until then, try to hold on for me."

And with that, Sally left the MPD station, crying her broken heart out. Sonic and Tails couldn't believe it. Sally knew they were innocent but she was letting Melchett lock them up until further notice? What proof did they need to give to everybody to prove their innocence? After Sally left, Melchett grinned wickedly at the two.

"See? Even your precious Queen doesn't believe you." he purred "You two are as guilty as Scourge the Hedgehog and you're going to be put away for a very long time. I do hope you enjoy your stay."

Sonic growled at Melchett but he resisted the urge to cave his skull in since that wouldn't do any good. Then suddenly, General Chipper said something.

"Melchett sir! Good news!" he said "One of the prisoners in this MPD station has served his sentence and is now set free so we have room for Sonic or Tails in this station and Central City has an empty cell for one of them."

"Well Central City has better security then ours so Sonic can go there." said Melchett "Tails will reside in this one."

"No! No you can't tear us apart like this!" wailed Tails "I'm sticking with Sonic and that's that!"

"General Chipper, take Tails to his cell will you?" ordered Melchett hastily.

General Chipper grumpily got out of his seat and grabbed Tails roughly by the arms. He hauled Tails away from Sonic and dragged him through a pair of doors, kicking and screaming. Sonic held his hand out for Tails but he didn't run after him. He remained seated and awaited for Melchett to do something to him.

"I will send an escort to drive you to Central City." said Melchett "Don't try anything clever or funny."

"I'm not." said Sonic with a scowl "That'll only make things worse so why bother?"

"Good boy." said Melchett "Oh look, here comes your escort now." He added as a police officer walked through the doors, whistling merrily.

"Timothy?" he asked "Can you drive Sonic down to the MPD station in Central City? There's a cell free for him there."

"OK chief." said Timothy brightly "Come on sonny Jim. We're going for a nice ride now."

Sonic reluctantly got to his feet and followed Timothy outside of the MPD station and to the car park where all the police cars were kept. Timothy opened the door to one car and Sonic stepped into the back seat. Timothy got into the driver's seat and drove away in the car. He was now on the way to Central City to deliver Sonic the Hedgehog to the MPD station there so he could do time for the crime he didn't do.

"Y'know what sonny Jim?" said Timothy without turning around "I don't believe this nonsense about you and Tails robbing a store, it's gotta be a hoax but until we can prove it isn't true I'm afraid you're going to be staying in a nice warm prison cell for now."

"Thanks for notifying." muttered Sonic.

He looked out the car window and thought to himself.

Oh Tails, I hope you're OK in your cell. he thought And I hope someone will clear our names soon enough.

That someone would have to be quick since Scourge and Ginger were on their way to Castle Acorn and ready to ransack it. Without Sonic, Sally had no chance so Sonic would need to get out fast…

Back in Empire City, General Chipper dragged Tails to his cell. All the other cells were full of horrible, ugly, murderous looking scoundrels that made Tails shiver with fright when he saw them. General Chipper opened the glass door to a cell with a touch of a button and he threw Tails inside. Tails fell on the floor and Chipper closed the door.

"Hopefully a few years in this cell will teach you a lesson." he said coldly to Tails "No one gets away with anything while we're around."

Tails ran up to the glass and pressed his face against it, ready to protest but General Chipper had already begun to walk away.

"Don't leave me here! Let me out! I'm innocent! So is Sonic! You can't leave me in here!" Tails screamed at the top of his voice, pounding feebly on the door.

But General Chipper had already left the cell blockade. Tails' eyes poured with tears and he pounded the floor at the foot of the door.

"It's not fair!" he sobbed "Why won't those stupid policemen believe us? Me and Sonic didn't rob that jewellery store, someone else did but they won't believe us! Why, why, why?"

"Welcome to my territory Tails!" snarled a horrible voice that Tails never thought he would hear again.

Tails stopped crying and began to shiver with fear as if something gripped him by the throat.

"That…voice…!" he gasped "No…no…It can't be! Not…"

He turned around and saw a little figure sitting in a corner at the back of the cell. He was wearing a ragged old robe, a gold helmet with three spikes on it and long golden shoes with spikes at the back. He had a metal hand with sharp claws and scowling orange eyes. Tails recognized him instantly.

"MARIK THE MARTIAN?" he screamed.

Marik just scowled at Tails and he bared his sharp metal claws as Tails shook with fear with his back against the glass door…

Footnotes:

 See Story 29 for more

* Who can forget Tails' near death in Stories 26-27?

Mandy mysteriously vanished before the others departed to follow Sonic in Story 31

MARIK'S ALIVE? Well...this sucks for poor Tails doesn't it? He and Sonic are locked away and Scourge the Hedgehog is ready to make his move on Castle Acorn! Is he going to succeed? Or will Sonic get out somehow...? Reviews are welcome.

By the way, Ginger is such a b isn't he? He's easily the worst character I've ever created for this series! He's so bad, I'm ashamed to admit I created him! I look forward to the day I kill the brat off and believe me, I AM GOING TO DO IT! And when I kill a character, the character stays killed so Ginger's death is easily something I'm looking forward to and I bet everybody else is!

Ruthless Relatives Part 2

Story 34: Ruthless Relatives Part 2: Heroes Behind Bars

"No! No! No! It can't be!" gasped Tails "I'm in the same cell as you?"

Marik just snorted at his cellmate.

"Do you think I'm thrilled to have you as a cellmate too?" he scoffed.

"But, but you can't possibly be here now!" exclaimed Tails "You're supposed to be dead! Cosmo told me your ship blew up with you inside it!"

Marik groaned angrily.

"So Cosmo the little vermin has told you all about my humiliating defeat at the hands of her and Cream the Rabbit* has she?" he said "Oh well, I'd best explain how I'm still alive now."

Tails sat down against the glass door as Marik explained everything to him.

"True I was blown up thanks to that stupid Chao Cheese for setting my ship to self destruct but I was never killed." said Marik "I actually managed to get through the escape hatch in the roof but before I could fly away, the ship exploded and I was sent hurling through the air and into the ground. A puny fall from the sky isn't enough to kill someone as tough as myself so I obviously lived." he added "And that's all I can remember. I have no idea how I got here although I assume the cops got me while I was knocked out."

"Well at least they did something right." muttered Tails bitterly "You belong in a prison cell after all."

Marik decided to ignore the fox's insult.

"So, what the hell are you doing here?" demanded Marik "You're a good guy, good guys don't belong in a prison cell!"

"Well that idiot Melchett thinks me and Sonic robbed a jewellery store so he's arrested me and Sonic." said Tails "I'm in here with you and Sonic's in Central City, both of us doing time for something we haven't done."

Marik exploded into a fit of laughter and he clutched his sides as he rolled around snickering. This was the most entertaining thing he had ever heard since his imprisonment.

"Oh my goodness! You two have been falsely imprisoned for something you haven't done?" he laughed "Oh that's just made me day! If only I was outside to celebrate it properly instead of this cold dark place!"

Tails just let Marik continue laughing about him and Sonic being in prison, held his head in his hands and let out a long heavy sigh. After Marik finished laughing Tails suddenly decided to ask him something.

"By the way Marik, why are you wearing a robe instead of a prison outfit like the others?" asked Tails.

"Well for starters I'm not wearing that hideous orange filth they call clothes!" spat Marik "And it's cold in here so I put my robe on. Martians carry these when going on trips to other planets in case it's cold and we can fold them up so tiny it looks like we haven't got one anywhere."

"So all the while you've been here, you've had that thing folded up in your jacket pocket?" said Tails.

"Precisely." said Marik "And I'm so much warmer wearing this then that disgusting prison outfit."

"But haven't the cops protested or anything?" said Tails "I mean why should you be allowed to wear a nice long robe whereas the others have to wear prison outfits?"

"They've tried to take my robe away but all I need to do is growl at them and bear my claws and they keep away from me." said Marik, showing Tails his shiny metal hand.

The fox gasped at it.

"What have you done to your hand?" he cried.

"I badly crippled it after Sonic threw me off that cliff last time we met." explained Marik "I installed cybernetics into it to get it working again and it works ever so nicely. I was able to electrocute people but the voltage compactor is broken."

He showed Tails the palm of his metal hand which had a cracked orb in the middle. Tails studied it closely with interest.

"Is that orb in the palm of your hand the voltage compactor?" asked Tails.

"It is indeed." said Marik "If it wasn't broken I would have taken great deliberation in electrocuting you right now but it is broken so I can't do anything about it."

"How strong are your electric attacks?" asked Tails.

"Strong enough to hurt but not kill." said Marik, frowning as if that was a major design flaw "So if I did shock you, you wouldn't have to worry about dying, although I could probably kill if I kept it up for as long as I wished…"

"Hasn't life in prison taught you anything Marik?" shrieked Tails.

"Life in prison has taught me it's a harsh, boring, miserable place full of bullies and cops who love to hurt inmates and I am so desperate to escape from it." said Marik "And once I escape maybe I should change my ways."

"Maybe I should be a kind hearted soul from now on and then I will never be locked away again." he thought "I could apologize for murdering the King and Queen and I could apologize to Cosmo for all the pain I've tried to inflict on her. And maybe I could borrow a spaceship and leave this planet forever so you don't have to worry about me again."

Tails couldn't believe what he was hearing. Life in prison really had taught Marik a lesson or two. Marik appeared to be a changed

Martian and he seemed desperate to escape and turn over a new leaf so he would never be locked up again. But was Marik being serious or was this all a trick? Tails didn't know but he knew he had to play along for now and not jump to conclusions.

"Hey Marik." said Tails "If you really have changed and want to start a new life then I'll be happy to help you escape."

Marik was speechless.

"You would help me escape?" he said in surprise "Well that's very kind of you but don't you think that will make it look like you really have turned traitor and therefore give the police a real reason to arrest you?"

"I'll be able to clear up the misunderstanding somehow." said Tails "But I'm only going to help you on one condition. That you are absolutely truthful on changing your ways and you're not doing this to trick me."

"Tails, tricks don't do it for me anymore." said Marik "I swear on my father's soul that this is not a trick and I really will change my wicked ways forever."

"That's good to know." said Tails "And as a token of gratitude for changing your ways, I'll fix your voltage compactor for you."

"How very kind of you." said Marik ""I'll direct you so you don't go wrong when fixing it. I just wonder if there's anywhere in this prison I can fix it in."

"There maybe a workshop or something." said Tails "We'll have to see once we get outta here."

"And that will be any moment now." said Marik "I can hear General Chipper coming and announcing it's exercise time."

Marik was right on that. General Chipper had come to announce it was exercise time for all the prisoners.

"OK everybody, it's time for the exercise yard." he announced "I want you all in single file and to follow me to the yard just as always.

No fighting or being rough while you're out there." he added with a tone in his voice that suggested fights in the yard had happened before.

All the prison cell doors opened and all the prisoners marched out and lined up in single file. Tails and Marik were in the centre of the line and Tails began to quiver.

"I'm not going to like this." he whispered to himself.

Then one by one, the prisoners marched out of the cell room and out into the exercise yard. Tails hoped he would survive this as he had a feeling it was going to be rough and hard…

As for Sonic the Hedgehog, he had been delivered to Central City and unlike Tails, he was not put in the same cell as some evil doer, he had a whole cell to himself although he wasn't pleased with it since he felt lonely and isolated. Just like the MPD station in Empire City, it was exercise time for the prisoners in the MPD station here. Sonic and all the other prisoners went out into the exercise yard and they were allowed to do exercise to their heart's content for an hour before returning to the prison block for lunch. The exercise yard was really large and contained a small basketball court for those playing basketball. It was surrounded by wired fences with barbed wire at the top to prevent anyone from escaping. Shortly after going into the yard though, Sonic was surrounded by a group of thugs who looked like they were ready to beat the snot out of him. The group consisted of a muscle-bound cougar with an eye patch, a skinny little jackal with scars under his eyes, an armadillo with a golden stripy shell and a broad looking bear wearing boxing gloves. These were all criminals whose crimes Sonic had foiled long before Dr. Eggman's arrival and they were pleased to see Sonic in jail with them so they could beat him up to make him pay for ruining their fun. Sonic just looked up at them glumly as if he didn't care he was face to face with this group right now.

"He-hey boys, look who's here!" said the cougar with a sadistic grin on his face.

"It's the great big "I'm so fast" hero Sonic the Hedgehog!" cackled the jackal "He got us arrested and then he thinks he can stoop to our level and get away with it! Some hero hey tiny?"

"Oh shove off you jokers." sighed Sonic "I'm not even a criminal. I've been framed."

"By who?" asked the armadillo eagerly "I bet it must be someone who really hates you like Dr. Eggman. I bet he made a robot that looks like you to frame you didn't he?"

"I have no idea Shellshock." said Sonic glumly "Eggman did make a robot clone of me but it isn't the spitting image of me so I don't think Metal Sonic would have been convincing enough to frame me."

"Well you're stuck with us aren't you Sonic boy?" taunted the bear, thumping his fists together "And we'd best give you a good beating up before someone realizes your innocence and gets you outta here!"

"You said it Buster!" said the cougar gleefully "Jack, Shellshock! Surround the hedgehog and then me and Buster will come in for the kill!"

"Yes Theo!" said Jack the Jackal and Shellshock the Armadillo.

Sonic didn't make any attempts to run away as Shellshock and Jack surrounded him on both sides. In fact, Sonic didn't even bat an eyelid, he just remained perfectly still as if he didn't care about what was going to happen. Theo the Cougar and Buster the Bear advanced on him menacingly with their fists clenched and their teeth bared. Those two were former boxing champions before becoming criminals and they could punch good and hard so Sonic was in for a beating. Theo lunged for Sonic but Sonic leaped out of the way and Theo crashed into Jack and Shellshock. Buster tried to give Sonic an uppercut but Sonic dodged the blow and spin-dashed him in the stomach. Buster fell on his back and groaned loudly. Sonic landed on his feet and ran for cover behind a wall as a policeman came out to see what the fuss was.

"Hey! I've told you hooligans to play nice!" yelled the warden "And that acquires to all prisoners in this facility, especially your four!"

He glowered at Theo's group who were lying on the ground. To the warden it looked like Theo had punched Buster and then tackled Jack and Shellshock afterwards.

"We haven't been doing anything!" protested Theo "Sonic attacked us for no reason at all!"

"I don't give a flying monkeys on what you have to say Theo." snarled the warden "Criminals are natural born liars and everything you say is bound to be a lie. You four can go back to your cells for playing roughly with one another now."

Theo, Jack, Shellshock and Buster all growled angrily as the warden escorted them back into the prison block. Sonic smirked at the four as they were escorted away but the smile left his face as he sat back down against the wall. He stared up at the sky and began thinking to himself

"I really do wonder who's framed me and Tails and how the evidence has convinced the police so much its us?" he thought aloud "Something really doesn't add up and I'm sure I'll find out what it is."

He racked his brain for an answer but he couldn't find any answer anywhere no matter how hard he thought. Then he began to think about the tape Melchett had shown Queen Sally Acorn to convince her the criminals were Sonic and Tails. Maybe the tape had the reason why the cops are so certain he and Tails were the criminals. And maybe the tape could give him the evidence needed to prove their innocence. Sonic then snapped his fingers in realization. He knew what he needed to do now! He needed to get to Empire City and demand to see the tape and see if he can find out who the real criminals are and how they've tricked the police into thinking it was him and Tails! Then suddenly the bell for exercise time was over and all the prisoners began to file back into the cell blockade. Sonic emerged from his hiding place and ran over to the other prisoners. The warden ticked them off one by one was they filed into the blockade. Sonic ran over to the warden and tapped him on the shoulder. The warden looked at Sonic crossly.

"What do you want traitor?" he asked "Why aren't you in the queue with the other prisoners?"

"Can you take me to Empire City?" asked Sonic "I am respectfully demanding to see the surveillance tape that Melchett got from the robbed jewellery store."

"And why do you want to see the tape then?" asked the warden "Is this a last minute attempt at proving your innocence?"

"In a way yes." said Sonic "I'm sure I can work out how the criminals have framed us if you just kindly let me look at the tape."

The warden thought for a moment and with a heavy sigh he said.

"OK. I'll take you to Empire City right now. But I hope this won't all be for nothing."

"I have a feeling it won't be." said Sonic.

And with that, the warden held Sonic firmly by the arm and took him through the prison block and into the car park. He put Sonic in a hovering police car, got in the car himself and drove off to Empire City. Sonic prayed to himself that the tape would be able to prove his and Tails' innocence. If not then all hope would be lost…

Back at Castle Acorn, Nicole was sitting in the lounge reading a book quietly to herself. As she read the book to herself she couldn't help but wonder how Sally was doing with Melchett the Hedgehog at the MPD station. Then right on cue, the front doors opened and in walked a rather miserable looking Sally Acorn. Nicole put the book down and got up from her chair to greet her.

"Hi Sally, how did it go?" she asked, hoping for a good answer.

Sally looked at Nicole, her eyes still brimming with tears and her cheeks wet from crying. Nicole caught those signs and began to assume that she wasn't going to get a good answer.

"Oh Nicole, Melchett was right." said Sally miserably "Sonic and Tails did rob a jewellery store! Melchett showed me the surveillance tape from the store and it showed Sonic robbing the store at his trademark speed and Tails was pulling faces at the camera!"

Nicole was so shocked she almost fell over backwards. She staggered backwards and sat herself down in her chair so she couldn't faint. She hadn't been this shocked since the time Sonic became Mecha Sonic or even when Sally's parents were murdered by Marik the Martian.

"Sally, this cannot be true!" gasped Nicole "Sonic and Tails would never betray us like this! They would never rob a store even if their lives depended on it!"

"I know Nicole." said Sally "Which is why I'm sure the tape was forged or they're being framed by look-a-likes. I'm going to try and find evidence to prove that Sonic and Tails are innocent! Melchett may not believe it but I know those two are still on our side I just know it!"

"I have a feeling that the boys are innocent too." said Nicole "I'll help you try to clear their names if you wish Sally."

"That would be very nice Nicole." said Sally "Now, where do we start?"

Outside, Scourge and Ginger were standing on a hillside behind Castle Acorn and admiring it from up top.

"Isn't it a beauty Ginger?" asked Scourge.

"It most certainly is." said Ginger "I've always dreamed of seeing this castle in real life and here it is, right in front of me now! I'm so glorified I could just squeal right now!"

"Well don't squeal near me or you'll look like a wuss and I don't like wusses." said Scourge crossly "Now, follow my lead ginger boy."

Scourge ran down the hill with Ginger flying after him. After getting down the hill they ran to the front doors of the castle and stopped and waited for a moment.

"OK, here we go!" cried Scourge, getting into a spin-dash and launching himself at a window.

CRAAAAAAASSSSSSSSHHHHHHHH!

Scourge smashed his way through the window with one mighty spin-dash and shards of glass were sent hurling everywhere. Sally and Nicole were so shocked by the smash they nearly jumped up high and got their heads stuck in the ceiling. They ran into the hallway to see what it was and they saw Scourge standing before them with his sunglasses over his eyes and a wide toothy grin on his face.

"Yo ladies wassup?" he said tauntingly.

"Scourge the Hedgehog?" squealed Sally "Oh no, not you! What are you doing here?"

"I'll give you three guesses your royal doofus." said Scourge.

"You're not here to try and usurp the throne from me are you?" asked Sally.

"Duh! Of course I am!" snapped Scourge "And if that wasn't enough, I have an assistant."

Right on cue, Ginger flew into the hallway and waved at Sally.

"Greetings former Queen of Mobotropolis." he said with a rude smile.

"Who the heck is he?" asked Nicole.

"I am Ginger, Tails' cousin and Scourge's apprentice." said Ginger "Me and Scourge are the ones responsible for framing Sonic and Tails and getting them put into prison when they haven't done anything wrong…"

"GARBAGE BRAIN!" roared Scourge.

And with that he gave Ginger an uppercut so hard that Ginger flew backwards into the air and straight back out the broken window! He landed with a thump headfirst on the ground outside.

"It's supposed to be a secret you dumbass!" snarled Scourge.

"Sorry sir." said Ginger groggily as he tried to climb back through the window.

Sally glared at Scourge with her beautiful blue eyes.

"You and the ginger fox are responsible for framing Sonic and Tails?" she said "I should have known. There's only you in the whole wide world who looks like Sonic and has a criminal record!"

"And yet the dumbo policemen and even you were fooled." sneered Scourge "Proves how slow-witted you are."

Then suddenly he was hit in the face by a flying kick from Sally. Scourge fell over backwards onto his back.

"First you frame the biggest hero on Mobius and now you're here to try and take over the castle!" Sally said angrily "You are in a heap of trouble at the end of the day Scourge and I'm going to make sure you get put back in jail for this!"

"Shut it you royal brat!" snarled Scourge, getting back to his feet and spin-dashing Sally in the stomach.

Ginger climbed back into the hallway and tried to help Scourge attack Sally but he was hit in the face by a flying kick from Nicole.

"You are a horrible little boy!" yelled Nicole "Framing your own cousin like that! Have you no shame?"

"Yes I have no shame." said Ginger, trying to punch the lynx but Nicole dodged his blows "Tails is an imbecile and I gave him what he deserved! Tails is locked away like a wild animal and I'm going to be assistant ruler alongside Scourge when he takes over this kingdom!"

"Oh no you're not!" yelled Nicole, elbowing Ginger in the gut.

Then suddenly she was spin-dashed from behind by Scourge. Nicole was sent falling on to her tummy and Scourge pinned her down. He grabbed her arm and forced it behind her back. Nicole winced as pain began to flood up her arm.

"Ginger, you need fighting lessons if you're letting a mere lady-in-waiting beat the cuss outta ya!" said Scourge meanly.

"Sorry Scourge." said Ginger.

Sally got back to her feet and ran over to help Nicole but Ginger let her have it in the face with both feet. Sally was knocked onto her back.

"How's that for fighting?" sneered Ginger.

"Oh anyone can do that Ginger." said Scourge ungratefully "That doesn't make you tough though."

"Scourge, please stop hurting me!" begged Nicole as Scourge suddenly gave her arm a sharp twist.

Then for some strange reason, Scourge did so and let go of her arm. He got off Nicole and scooped her up onto his shoulder.

"I've got a good place for you two." he said "Ginger, get the Queen."

Ginger obeyed and picked Sally up by the arms. Then Scourge and Ginger carried Sally and Nicole through the hallway and Scourge led them to the dungeons. Scourge had never been in Castle Acorn before but he had a rough guess where the dungeons where and his guess was correct. Scourge and Ginger carried the girls inside and Scourge made them stand against the wall and rise up their arms. Ginger flew up to the height their arms were raised at and he snapped a couple of shackles around their wrists. Now Sally and Nicole were chained to the wall and unable to do anything about it. Scourge laughed at them.

"Look at yourself oh so high and mighty Queen Sally Acorn!" he cackled "You've quickly diminished to nothing but a lowly prisoner in my castle! I do hope you're not too humiliated!"

"I'm not humiliated at all." said Sally, tugging on her chains feebly "You let me and Nicole go right now!"

"Sorry toots but I'm afraid the answer is no." said Scourge "You can stay here until your body rots away while I take your throne and make Mobius mine. So you won't be needing this anymore will you?"

He snatched Sally's crown from right off her head and put it on his own head. Just putting the crown on made Scourge feel all powerful and mighty. Ginger bowed down to him respectfully.

"All hail King Scourge!" he said "The new king of Mobotropolis, soon to be king of the world!"

"Thank you squirt." said Scourge "Now if you'll excuse me ladies, I've got a castle to redecorate into my image."

"Don't you dare!" warned Sally.

Scourge ignored her and marched out of the dungeons with Ginger scuttling behind him like a lap dog. Scourge slammed the door behind him, making a loud echoing clang that rung through Sally and Nicole's ears. Nicole's ears drooped back in despair and looked at Sally worriedly.

"Oh Sally, what's going to become of us?" she fretted "We're going to perish in here aren't we?"

"I just hope someone gets Sonic outta prison so he can stop his power hungry brother and get us outta here." said Sally "I'm not spending the rest of my life in here."

"I don't think anyone will be able to help Sonic or Tails now." said Nicole sadly "I think we're stuck here forever and Scourge has well and truly won."

"Nicole, don't lose hope." said Sally "Don't forget there's still other people like Amy, Geoffrey, Bunnie, Wilson and Mandy who might be able to help us."

"But will they be able to take down Scourge?" fretted Nicole "He's probably just as strong as Sonic so he won't be easy."

"I hope so Nicole." said Sally, looking up at the ceiling above her and then looking down at her feet. "I hope so."

Meanwhile, exercise time was over for the prisoners at the MPD station in Empire City and they had all been escorted back to their cells. However Tails had managed to sneak into a workshop and steal some tools so he could fix Marik's voltage compactor and he had spent the whole time fixing it. Exercise time was over before he could finish but luckily he only needed a screwdriver to finish the job so he hid the screwdriver in his back pocket and returned to his cell with Marik. Once they had been shut away, Tails began tightening a few things on Marik's metal hand with the stolen screwdriver.

"OK, just to tighten this last piece here and…its done." he said.

He tightened the last bit and put the screwdriver down.

"OK Marik, give it a test." said Tails.

Marik pointed a finger as sharp as a steak knife at the bed in the left hand corner of the cell and just as he was hoping to do, he fired a brilliant jolt of electricity at it. He singed the covers and the sheets of the bed and left a big black burn mark on them. Marik smiled happily at his fixed hand.

"Brilliant!" he said "I can electrocute people again! Thank you Tails."

"You're welcome." said Tails "But I do hope you're going to use that thing for good instead of evil."

"Tails, I'm changing my wicked ways once I get out of here." said Marik "I will only use my electric powers for good now. I can't imagine many criminals getting away from someone like me."

"OK then." said Tails "Now listen Marik, I think I have a plan on how we can get outta here."

"You have a plan?" said Marik "Well I do hope it's a good one."

"It is a good one." retorted Tails "Now listen carefully."

He pulled Marik close and whispered his plan to him. Marik smiled wickedly at what he was hearing.

"Tails, that really is a good plan." said Marik "With your brilliant brain and my strength and powers, we're bound to get out!"

"Yes, yes Marik but please don't kill anyone." begged Tails "That's not going to set a good example."

"I give my word that I will not rid anyone of their lives here." said Marik "Besides, why would I want to kill anyone since I'm good now?"

"Hmm…" said Tails suspiciously.

Then he heard the sound of General Chipper walking by, making sure everybody was back in their cells. Now was the time for step one of the escape plan. Tails and Marik got to their feet and pretended to have an argument just as General Chipper walked past.

"Hey Marik! I thought I told you to leave me alone!" griped Tails "Why don't you pick on someone your own size?"

"What are you gonna do about it shrimpy?" sneered Marik "Tickle me to death with your twin paintbrushes?"

And with that, Tails and Marik pretended to fight each other. Marik tackled Tails and pinned him down while Tails tried to push Marik off of him. General Chipper noticed the scuffle and immediately opened the door to run in and break up the fight.

"Oy! Oy! Break it up you two!" ordered General Chipper "Cellmates are supposed to play nicely!"

Tails and Marik stopped fighting and ran straight past General Chipper and out of the prison cell! Marik closed the door immediately after leaving so General Chipper was trapped in their cell. General Chipper an up to the door and pounded against it.

"Oy! You let me out this minute!" he yelled at Marik.

Marik just stuck his orange tongue out at him and ran away. He caught up with Tails who had just made it out of the cell blockade.

"Well that was way too easy!" he said "But I don't think the others will be so easy to get past!"

"Don't worry." said Marik "The rest will just be a walk in the park."

Then suddenly something very big and very heavy tackled Tails from behind and sat on him. It was Big Dave and he had a pair of handcuffs with him. Marik stopped running and saw Big Dave trying to apprehend Tails.

"Now I'll just put these thingies on your wrists and then you'll go back to your cell." said Big Dave, snapping the handcuffs on Tails.

But for some reason, he cuffed Tails' tails instead of his wrists.

"Big Dave you big galoot! Why did you just handcuff my tails?" asked Tails.

"Oops, sorry." said Big Dave goofily, realizing his mistake "Shall I take them off?"

"You get off Tails you blundering blockhead!" snarled Marik, swiping the air with his arms and hitting Big Dave with an energy wave.

Big Dave was knocked off of Tails and he rolled across the floor like a beach ball. Marik helped Tails onto his feet and the two ran for it again.

"Thanks for saving me Marik." said Tails.

"Well you fixed my metal hand and you're helping me escape now so I felt like I owed you one so I got that fat cop off you." said Marik "I do hope he won't be too mad about it."

Then suddenly they were both stopped dead in their tracks by Melchett the Hedgehog. He pointed a pistol at them, sideways of course.

"You two are going to get back in your cells or I'm going to pop your guts full of lead." snarled Melchett.

"Why are you holding your gun sideways when everybody else holds them all the way up?" asked Tails.

"It looks cool." said Melchett "Now get back in your cell, now!"

"I think not wretched cop!" bellowed Marik.

He pointed his finger like a dagger at Melchett at let fly a terrific electrical surge that pulsed up Melchett body and made him drop the gun. Melchett screamed loudly as electrical shocks began to surge up and down his body like a current. Tails grabbed Marik by the shoulder and began yelling at him.

"Marik, that's enough! That's enough!" he yelled "Please stop it!"

Marik was reluctant to stop since he hated Melchett so much for his unkind remarks to him during his time in prison but he knew he had to since he was changing his wicked ways. Marik stopped electrocuting Melchett and he left the police-hog panting and gasping on the floor.

"I cannot tell you how much I've been looking forward to zapping that moustached moron." said Marik "Melchett is the most annoying, unkind policeman I've ever seen in my life!"

"I'll say." said Tails "His speech is never delicate, even to his own men. And he's such a stooge too since he stupidly believes that me and Sonic are robbers."

"Agreed." said Marik, glaring at Melchett "This cop takes stupidity to the next level doesn't he? I think he should be fired and replaced with a much better cop."

Melchett raised his head and glared at Marik and Tails with his amber eyes. He looked like he was about ready to kill them both.

"Oooooh! You're in so much trouble you two savages!" he growled.

"Oh shut up!" snapped Marik, giving Melchett another zap.

This time he only kept it up for three seconds and then he and Tails ran for it again, leaving Melchett sprawling on the floor and trying to get his breath back. Big Dave ran over to Melchett and looked at him with a gormless grin on his face.

"Hey Melchett! You look funny!" he said "Are you trying to be a carpet?"

"Shut up you big baboon!" snapped Melchett "Get General Chipper and then me and you will apprehend Tails and Marik and escort them back to their cells!"

"Yes sir." said Big Dave, running away to find General Chipper.

Melchett picked up his pistol and staggered to his feet. As he watched Tails and Marik disappear down the corridor, he scowled to himself.

"How the heck did Marik zap me like that?" he wondered "He's never done it before."

Meanwhile, Tails and Marik had finally made it out of the station and they ran across the exercise yard and towards the wall which was the only obstacle left for them to overcome. Once they made it over the wall, they would be free. They ran up to the wall and stared up at it helplessly. It was a very tall wall and it was covered with barbed wire at the top. They would cut themselves pretty badly if they tried to climb over that.

"So genius, what do we do now?" asked Marik.

"Well I can't fly us over the wall since Big Dave handcuffed my tails together." said Tails, looking bitterly at his cuffed tails "Why don't you fly us over Marik?" he asked.

"My shoes were damaged from the explosion too." said Marik, showing Tails the bottom of his shoes which were heavily cracked "So I can't fly anymore."

"Well why didn't you tell me that?" asked Tails, annoyed at this revelation "I could have fixed your shoes for you while I was fixing your hand!"

"I forgot." said Marik "And I didn't think I'd need them fixing since you could have just flown us over the wall but you can't now so we need a plan."

"How about I give you a leg up and you hoist yourself onto the wall and then once you're up there you can pull me up." said Tails "Although we need to do something about the barbed wire at the top."

"No problem." said Marik, swiping the air with both arms.

He sent an energy wave soaring into the thick mass of barbed wire and the waved sliced the wires to pieces, leaving a wide clean empty space for Tails and Marik to safely climb onto and over. Marik smiled at himself and he took his ragged old robe off, revealing his still gleaming black leather jacket and he folded the robe up so small it looked more like a small envelope and he put the robe into his pocket.

"Don't need the robe since I'm not cold anymore." said Marik "Now Tails, let's do this shall we?"

"OK." said Tails.

He put both his hands together and Marik put his foot onto them. Marik hoisted himself up and stretched as far as he could so he could reach the top of the wall. Tails grunted loudly as he tried to lift Marik up and keep him up without falling over. Tails managed to lift Marik high enough to reach the top of the wall with his fingertips. Marik gripped the edge of the wall and tried as hard as he could to pull himself onto the wall. He felt himself slipping so he dug his metal claws into the wall to stop himself falling. He then threw one of his legs onto the top of the wall and using his leg, he pulled himself onto the top. He wrenched his claws free of the wall and bent over to help Tails. Then suddenly, Melchett the Hedgehog, Big Dave and General Chipper burst out of the station and began running towards Tails with batons in their hands.

"They're escaping! Stop them!" cried Melchett.

Marik watched the policemen coming towards them and Tails began hoping up and down desperately.

"Marik! Marik! Help me!" cried Tails "The police are coming! Help me get over! Marik! Marik!"

Marik looked down at Tails and grinned a wicked evil grin that could make anyone shudder.

"Where's your precious Sonic now Tails?" he said wickedly.

Tails stopped hopping up and down and stared at Marik in disbelief. His eyes widened and his jaw dropped in horror. Marik wouldn't would he?

"Bye-bye!" said Marik, waving goodbye to Tails and leaping over onto the other side of the wall, laughing demonically.

Tails' heart stopped and his stomach felt sick. Marik hadn't changed at all! He was tricking the poor fox into helping him escape all along! Now he had just freed the most dangerous villain on Mobius and there was nothing he could do about it since he and Sonic were in prison! Tails began to growl in anger.

"Marik! I'll kill you for this!" screeched Tails.

Then suddenly he was tackled from behind by Melchett, Big Dave and General Chipper. They whacked him in the back with their batons and they snapped a pair of handcuffs onto his wrists. Then they hauled the fox onto his feet and dragged him away.

"Boy, you have just freed Marik the Martian!" growled Melchett "I hope you're happy you filthy little traitor!"

"I'm not happy at all!" retorted Tails "Marik tricked me into helping him escape! I had no idea he was stringing me all along! If I had known he was tricking me I wouldn't have done this!"

"I don't give a flying monkeys on what excuses you have now Tails!" snapped Melchett "You are convicted of robbery and now you will do extra time for helping one of our prisoners escape! I doubt you'll ever taste freedom again little boy!"

As for Marik, he had been listening to the struggle from the other side of the wall and he smiled happily at what Melchett had been saying to Tails. He laughed demonically to himself and he tore up clumps of soil and threw them into the air.

"Free! I'm…FREE! FREE AT LAST!" he bellowed at the sky and continued laughing.

"That fox is such a gullible prat isn't he?" he sneered to himself "He should have remembered I'm a peace hater and peace haters don't turn good no matter what! Well I'm grateful to him for freeing me from that wretched prison!" he added "Now I'm free to cause mayhem and malice once again!"

And with that, he activated his jet shoes and he rocketed off at the fastest speed he could go, laughing a loud, grating, demonic laugh. Who knew what plans Marik the Martian had for Mobius right now since he was free to cause trouble again…

At the village of Knothole, Sonic's pink hedgehog friend Amy Rose had heard the news all about Sonic and Tails' "store robbery" and she had been a depressed, broken hearted little soul all day. The news had surprised and shocked her so much she spent the whole morning crying her eyes out and now she was spending the afternoon outside in the back garden feeling down in the dumps. Her friends Cream the Rabbit and Cosmo the Seedrian tried all they could to assure her Sonic and Tails weren't really criminals and that they were still good guys but Amy wouldn't have any of it. In order to leave her in peace, Cream and Cosmo decided to stay in doors and talk to each other. They for one didn't believe that Sonic and Tails would ever rob a jewellery store under their own actions, they were certain something was wrong.

"What do you think about this whole jewellery store robbery Cosmo?" asked Cream.

"I don't know what to think Cream." said Cosmo sadly "But I'm sure Sonic and Tails are innocent. They must be being framed or something. I know they would never do a thing like that, especially Tails. If he was a criminal he wouldn't have stood up for me when Marik threatened my life the time he tried to take over the kingdom."

"I agree Cosmo." said Cream "But who would be clever enough to frame Mr. Sonic and Tails? Maybe Dr. Eggman's done this?"

"Chao." said her pet Chao Cheese unsurely.

"I don't think a robot would be convincing enough to frame Sonic and Tails." said Cosmo "Even Metal Sonic isn't an exact copy of him, he looks different enough for you to tell it isn't Sonic."

"Well maybe Dr. Eggman was using mind control to make them rob the store." suggested Cream "It's a possibility after all."

"Maybe it was mind control." said Cosmo "But if it was, how did Eggman mind control them both?"

"I dunno." said Cream "But I bet he did it in a clever way."

Then suddenly there was some loud knocking at Amy's front door that made Cosmo and Cream jump out of their shoes. The back door opened and in walked Amy Rose. She had obviously heard the knocking from in the garden so she had come in to answer it. Amy walked over to the front door, scuffing her feet and she opened it. Fellow fighter Bunnie Rabbot was there and she looked frantic.

"Oh Bunnie, hello." said Amy "Did you hear about Sonic and Tails…"

"Nevah mind that for a minute sugah-plum!" flustered Bunnie "Ah was walkin' to Castle Acorn to say hi to Queen Sally Acorn but ah saw something terrible!"

Amy, Cosmo and Cream all stared at Bunnie wide eyed and opened mouthed as she explained to them what was going on.

"Scourge has ransacked the castle and he's locked Sally and Nicole away so he can take over the kingdom!" shrieked Bunnie.

"Oh my gosh!" blurted Amy "Scourge is trying to take over the castle? We need to save it before he takes over the whole kingdom!"

"But Amy, we can't beat Scourge without Sonic." said Cosmo "You know we can't."

"I know we can't beat Scourge without Sonic but I also know we can't let Scourge win." said Amy, whipping out her Piko-Piko hammer "We've got to try. If we bring Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy with us, we may have an edge since there's seven of us and only one of him."

"I hope you're right Miss Rose." said Cream, hugging Cheese worriedly.

"OK girls, let's go!" ordered Amy, marching out of the house with her weapon in hand "We'll defeat Scourge in the name of Sonic the Hedgehog and save the kingdom!"

Bunnie, Cream and Cosmo followed her as she headed out of Knothole and onto Castle Acorn…

Footnotes:

 See Tales from Mobius Arc 2: The Cosmo and Cream Adventure for the whole story!

* See Story 24

See Story 23

Talk about things getting worse! Castle Acorn's under siege, Marik's free and Tails is just in MORE trouble! Will Sonic be able to prove his innocence just in time to save the day? Will Sonic's friends be able to save the kingdom? And will someone shove a grenade up Ginger's ass and blow him to pieces? (God I wish!) Join me next time for the finale to the Ruthless Relatives trilogy! Reviews are welcome.

Special thanks to Kratos Pwns again and banjobandicoot52 for your reviews. They mean a lot to me. :)

Ruthless Relatives Part 3

Story 35: Ruthless Relatives Part 3: Family Fight

"Now this isn't a bad little throne room isn't it?" said Scourge as he admired the redecorated throne room "It really shows off my greatness doesn't it?"

The walls to the throne room had been repainted green, black and gold to represent Scourge's favourite colours, all the family portraits had been taken down and replaced with portraits of Scourge which were drawn by Ginger himself. Ginger was a talented artist and he happened to be exceptionally quick at drawing so he had drawn all five portraits in only two hours. The throne had been remoulded so it had a sculpted image of Scourge's face on the top. Scourge sat in the comfy throne and marvelled at the new, improved throne room. Ginger bowed down respectfully at Scourge's feet.

"Oh great king Scourge the Hedgehog, how may I serve you?" he asked.

"Just get outta here and leave me in peace for a minute shorty." snapped Scourge ungratefully.

"Oh, OK." said Ginger, a little disappointed at the fact Scourge didn't want him around "Hey your majesty, can I go to the prison Tails is in so I can mercilessly taunt him?"

"Do what you want." said Scourge "I'm not bothered right now. I've got more redecorating to do."

"Oh thank you sire!" said Ginger "I'll be right back!"

And with that, Ginger skipped out of the room and shut the door, laughing merrily to himself. The moment Ginger left the room, Scourge smiled happily and he put his arms behind his head.

"Aaaah, this is the life." he said "I'm finally going to be king of Mobius. The whole world will bow beneath my feet and everybody will have to do as I say. I'm going to get the title I deserve and no one will be able to stop me, not even my wimpy brother Sonic the Hedgehog."

He stroked the crown on his head and smiled even wider.

"This crown gives me a feeling of power and greatness." he said "I am powerful and I am great so it's fitting. Hopefully the people of Mobius will appreciate my power and greatness. Well if they don't, I have some good punishments for them!"

Then suddenly the throne room door swung open and Bunnie Rabbot bust into the room with a wild and angry look on her face. Scourge jumped in surprise and glared at her.

"What do you think you're doing bursting in on me like this?" snarled Scourge "Can't a king have any privacy around here?"

"Ya'll are not a king Scourge!" said Bunnie coldly "You are gettin' a beating from us!"

And with that she extended her robot arm and seized Scourge by the neck. The crown fell off his head and onto the floor. Bunnie hoisted Scourge into the air and threw him straight out of the window. Scourge hurtled out of the window and landed sharply on his back down below. Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy were all waiting for him on the ground and once Scourge had landed, they pounced on him in a dog pile to pin him down. Bunnie flew out of the window and joined in. Unfortunately, they didn't keep him pinned down for long. Scourge, somehow, managed to throw everybody off of him. Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Geoffrey, Wilson, Mandy and Bunnie were all sent sprawling everywhere. Scourge leapt to his feet and glared at everybody.

"You jerks! That's not a nice way to treat your new king you know!" griped Scourge.

"You're not a king Scourge, you're a wannabe king!" said Amy, getting up on her feet "Not only that, you're also a villain and a bully! Sally would never hand her crown over to you!"

"The royal brat didn't hand the crown over to me." said Scourge smugly "I took it by force, I've taken the castle by force and the throne room is redecorated into my image so this kingdom is mine!"

"Oh no it's not." said Geoffrey St. John, loading his arm mounted crossbow and aiming it at Scourge "You need clearance from the Council of Acorn before you can become ruler you blighter!"

"I don't need stupid clearance from a stupid council!" bellowed Scourge "I'll just stomp this so called Council of Acorn into the dirt and make my own council that will give me the rights to rule!"

"In yer dreams you blackguard!" yelled Geoffrey.

He leaped into the air and dropkicked Scourge in the forehead. Scourge toppled over backwards and before he could recover, Bunnie Rabbot grabbed him with her robotic arm and threw him straight into the air. Scourge hurtled straight up like a whacked baseball. Then Bunnie flew up into the air after him and punched him on top of his head so he hurtled straight down. Before Scourge could land on the ground, Wilson and Mandy both leaped up and double teamed him with a kick to the back each. This just got Scourge angry and he decided to do something about it. Before Wilson and Mandy could attack again, he rolled up into a ball and spin-dashed them both. The dog and mouse were sent hurling backwards and rolling over in roly-poly style.

"Blimey! I wonder if Sonic's spin-dashes hurt that much!" gasped Wilson, wincing in pain.

"I don't think he does since he's not as brutal as this guy." spluttered Mandy, clutching her stomach.

Geoffrey pounced on Scourge and an attempt to attack him but Scourge leaped up and dropkicked him in the face.

"How's that you smelly old skunk?" sneered Scourge "I'm not sure what stinks more, you or your fighting skills."

"The only thing that smells around here is you!" shrieked Amy, trying to hit Scourge with her hammer but missing by a mile after Scourge ducked.

Scourge then slugged Amy hard in the stomach, causing her to drop her hammer and drop to the ground on her knees. Scourge had punched her so hard she felt like she had a tummy ache. Scourge picked Amy's hammer up and threw it away. He smiled smugly at the pink girl.

"I know about your fondness for Sonic pinkie." he said to her "But I can easily see why he runs away from you. With a temper and bad fighting skills like that I can't imagine Sonic and you ever getting lucky, I bet Sonic would sooner run to Holoska then be with you."

Amy really wanted to give Scourge a knuckle sandwich right now but the pain in her stomach was too great. Then suddenly Cream and Cheese grabbed Scourge by the quills and pulled him backwards away from Amy.

"Ouch! Let go you ruffians!" growled Scourge.

"You are going to stop being so mean to everybody!" yelled Cream as she continued to pull "And you're not ruling over the planet!"

"Chao!" agreed Cheese.

Scourge suddenly went into a spin-dash and because Cream and Cheese were holding on, they were spun around with Scourge. Scourge now looked like a green and brownish spinning ball as he spun around. Eventually Cream and Cheese lost their grip and they were propelled off of Scourge. Scourge hurtled towards Cream and began to pull on her ears.

"Ow!" yelped Cream as Scourge tugged on her long floppy ears.

"You think it's funny to pull people's appendages? Well let's see how you like it!" said Scourge wickedly.

"Please don't hurt her!" begged Cosmo, stepping into help Cream.

"Shut it you alien brat!" snarled Scourge, giving Cosmo a terrific uppercut.

Cosmo fell onto her back and Scourge pulled on her delicate leafy hair. Cosmo tried not to yelp in pain.

"Speaking of aliens, what planet are you from?" snorted Scourge as he observed Cosmo "The Planet of Trees? Does this mean when I stomp on you, you will squish any differently to the others?"

Cosmo's eyes widened and she shook like a million leaves.

"You will not harm Cosmo you power hungry tyrant!" shouted Amy, successfully walloping Scourge with her hammer and sending him flying through the air like a tossed stone.

Scourge staggered back to his feet but was soon knocked over again by a punch from Bunnie Rabbot's robot arm. The Mobians surrounded Scourge and prepared to seize him.

"You've lost Scourge now make this easy on yourself and surrender." said Amy "That way we won't use brute force on you."

"Surrender? SURRENDER?" shrieked Scourge "ME? Surrender to the likes of you? I think…NOT!"

And with that he leaped onto his feet and began to run around the group in one big circle. He ran around them faster and faster and faster until he was nothing more then a big, green blurry circle surrounding the fighters.

"What's he doing?" shrieked Cream.

"I know what this is!" cried Mandy "I've seen Sonic do this before!"

"Same here!" said Wilson "He's doing a Sonic Tornado!"

And right on the mark was Wilson. Scourge was indeed doing a Sonic Tornado. He called it the Death Tornado instead of Sonic Tornado though since he thought the Death Tornado sounded better. Scourge picked up so much speed that a tornado was beginning to form in the centre of the circle and everybody was picked up in the terrifying tornado. They were spun around and around as if they were on a supersonic merry-go-round ride and there was no way of escaping it. Then suddenly, everybody was flung out of the tornado and they were sent crashing everywhere. Amy, Cream and Cosmo all crashed into Castle Acorn, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy crashed into the ground and Bunnie landed in a tree somewhere on the outskirts of Mobotropolis. Scourge stopped running around and he panted heavily.

"pant! pant! That Death Tornado…gasp!…works every time!" he wheezed "Pity it tires…you out so much after…wards…"

Scourge glanced at his defeated enemies and he smiled wickedly to himself.

"I really have out done myself this time." he said to himself "Now the junior league is squished, I can lock them up along with the Queen and lynx woman."

And with that, he ran around at supersonic speed, gathering up the unconscious Mobians as he went. Once he had gathered everybody up, he ran into Castle Acorn, took them into the dungeon, chained them all to the wall and left the room. And he did all that in about five minutes if my watch was correct. Sally and Nicole glanced despairingly at the unconscious fighters who were now in their position.

"Great." muttered Sally "The combined forces of Amy Rose, Cream the Rabbit, Cosmo the Seedrian, Geoffrey St. John, Bunnie Rabbot, Wilson the Dog and Mandy Mouse weren't enough to bring Scourge down! If this lot couldn't take out Scourge then Sonic has no chance."

"I think you're right Sally." said Nicole, looking on the verge of tears right now "We're doomed to perish in here and Mobius is doomed to be ruled by Scourge!"

Or was it…?

Meanwhile at the Empire City MPD station, Tails had been put back into his cell and they had removed the handcuffs from his two tails but they left the handcuffs on his wrists on. He sat at the back of the cell with his back turned on everybody and his face looking down at the floor. He had spent the whole time crying to himself mostly because he was no better then before and he had unknowingly been duped into helping Marik the Martian escape. Sonic was going to be furious with him when he found that out. The only good thing to come out of all this was the fact Tails didn't have Marik as a cellmate anymore, and even that wasn't good enough.

How could I have been so stupid? Tails thought to himself between snivels. How did I fail to notice Marik was tricking me? I should have known Marik would never change his evil ways! Oh how did I fall for such an obvious trick? How? HOW?

His thoughts were suddenly interrupted by the arrival of General Chipper outside his cell. He opened the cell door but Tails kept his back turned on him.

"Tails, you have a visitor." said General Chipper "It's someone you know apparently."

"I'm not in the mood for visitors General." mumbled Tails gloomily, keeping his head hanging low.

"Oh." said General Chipper "Well I'll send him in anyway, I'm sure this visitor will make you feel better."

"How can I feel better when I'm locked up for something I didn't do?" mumbled Tails.

Luckily, General Chipper didn't hear him. The visitor walked inside Tails' cell and General Chipper closed the door behind the visitor.

"You have ten minutes and then I'm letting you out." said General Chipper "I'm going to check on the others."

The visitor waved to the general and General Chipper walked off further down the blockade. The visitor walked up to Tails and spoke to him.

"Hello cousin." he said dryly.

Tails' ears pricked up but he kept his back turned on him and his head down. He knew that voice; it was a voice he hoped he would never hear again. It was Ginger the Fox, his wormy cousin and the reason life was hard for him a few years ago.

"Oh great, my wormy cousin's come here to make me feel worse!" moaned Tails "Can my life get any worse?"

"It's lovely to see you too cousin." said Ginger mockingly "So how's life been for you since my departure?"

"A lot better without you, you slimy toad." mumbled Tails "But now it's taken a turn for the worse since I've been accused of something I haven't done along with Sonic the Hedgehog and the stupid police won't believe me. And now you're here to gloat in my face no doubt."

"I am indeed." said Ginger "I can't tell you how happy I am to see you locked up like a wild animal. You've finally gotten what you deserve you dirty little scab!"

And he laughed a stupid, pathetic evil laugh. Tails tried to resist the urge to mash Ginger into toothpaste and tried to ignore him. Ginger continued.

"I always knew you would end up like this cousin." he said "I think this just shows you who's the smarter out of us. You chose the life of a superhero; I chose the life of a normal person and who's come out better? Me of course! I'm free as a songbird and enjoying myself and you're here in a dusky prison cell where you'll be spending the rest of your life in."

Tails was beginning to lose his temper now.

"If only you weren't so stubborn and you listened to me instead of being your own person, you wouldn't be in this mess would you cousin?" sneered Ginger "Oh and would you like to hear a secret?"

Tails didn't answer but Ginger decided to tell him anyway.

"Just between you and me, I know who framed you and Sonic." whispered Ginger "Would you like to know who they were dear cousin?"

"Yes." snapped Tails.

Ginger smiled darkly and whispered into Tails' ear.

"The framers are me and Sonic's brother Scourge."

That did it, Tails cracked. He leapt to his feet and turned around to face Ginger, his face contorted with rage.

"WHAT?" he shrieked at the top of his voice "YOU AND SCOURGE FRAMED ME AND SONIC? HOW COULD YOU DO SUCH A THING?"

"I hate you." said Ginger "And Scourge hates Sonic so we decided to get rid of you both so you two would stop making our lives miserable. And now you and Sonic are locked away, Scourge has successfully taken over Castle Acorn and he's going to become king! Try and stop that if you can!"

Tails growled like a lion and he tugged so hard on his handcuffs he actually managed to snap them in half! Ginger was gobsmacked and even Tails was surprised, he never knew he was that strong. Ginger immediately panicked and he ran over to the cell door, pounding on it feebly and shrieking.

"HELP! LET ME OUT! TAILS IS GOING CRAZY!" he screamed.

Tails grabbed Ginger by the neck and pinned him to the wall. He looked like he wanted to tear the stupid fox apart limb from limb and he was so angry I swear to god his face turned from yellow to red!

"You slimy ugly old toad!" snarled Tails "You will tell General Chipper the truth or I am going to make you suffer even worse then you made me suffer!"

"Tails please! You wouldn't hurt your own cousin would you?" pleaded Ginger.

"Why shouldn't I? You hurt me so I think I should hurt you to see how you like it!" yelled Tails "Now tell General Chipper the truth NOW!"

"I can't stupid head, we're locked in here." scoffed Ginger.

Then suddenly General Chipper walked past the cell and opened it up. He was not pleased at what he was seeing at all.

"What on Mobius is going on here?" shrieked the police chipmunk.

"My cousin has a confession to make." said Tails "Go on Ginger, tell him!"

Ginger scowled at Tails and turned to face General Chipper. The chipmunk cop looked at him sternly and tapped his foot, waiting for an answer. Ginger reluctantly spoke.

"OK I confess!" he blurted, falling onto his knees "I did it! Me and Scourge the Hedgehog robbed that stupid jewellery store, not Sonic and Tails! They're innocent! You were fooled now lock me up forever so I'm safe from this crazy lunatic!"

General Chipper was overcome with shock.

"Oh my god!" he blurted "You teamed up with that evil maniac Scourge to frame Sonic and Tails?"

"Yes!" wailed Ginger "Yes we did! We disguised ourselves as them so you were fooled by us!"

General Chipper's face turned into a scowl.

"Well young man, you are in big, big trouble!" he growled "How could you trick us like this! Tails, give Ginger your prison uniform."

"Gladly." said Tails, taking the orange uniform off and tossing it to Ginger.

Ginger scowled at Tails and he put the outfit on. Ginger did not like the way he looked in the outfit at all. General Chipper shoved Ginger into the prison cell and he closed the door. Tails put his thumbs to his head, wiggled his fingers blew a raspberry at Ginger.

"I'll make sure your cousin does plenty of time here for what he's done to you." said General Chipper "I'm so sorry we didn't believe you Tails, can you forgive us?"

"Of course I can." said Tails with a smile "It's an honest mistake, Scourge and Ginger look a little like us and they disguised themselves so they look completely like us so all this is easily forgivable."

"Well I'm glad you're not sore about it anymore." said General Chipper "To make all this up for you, you and Sonic are relieved of your sentences and you don't have to do time for helping Marik the Martian escape, you are free to go."

"Thank you General." said Tails, shaking his hand "I do hope Melchett isn't going to be a Moaning Mertle over this terrible mistake he's made."

"He'll get over it because I'm going to make him." said General Chipper "Make no mistake about that. Now off you go Tails, you don't belong here anymore."

"Goodbye General Chipper." said Tails "And I hope we can capture Scourge for you."

Tails ran out of the cell blockade with General Chipper running after him. Ginger scowled at them from inside his cell. He then reached into his sock and pulled out a sharp little pen knife and he began to cut a neat circle in the glass door.

"Don't celebrate too soon Tails!" he growled to himself "You have not seen the last of me!"

He continued cutting the glass with the penknife. Once he'd finished, he'd be able to kick the circular chunk of glass he'd cut out and be able to escape just like that. He was looking forward to making Tails suffer once he escaped from this cell…

Meanwhile, the warden from Central City arrived at Empire City with Sonic the Hedgehog and Sonic ran inside the MPD station. Melchett the Hedgehog was gobsmacked to see Sonic there and he immediately got cross.

"What the blazes are you doing here?" he demanded "You're supposed to be in Central City!"

"I demand to see the surveillance tape from the jewellery store!" said Sonic immediately "I wanna see if that really is us in the tape!"

"Why waste your time knowing you can't prove anything?" scoffed Melchett "You'll only realize how stupid you are for thinking the tape's going to be any different to you then it is to us."

Nevertheless, he got out the tape and he shoved it into the VCR and the TV blared into life. Sonic watched the tape closely. Scourge and Ginger had broken into the store and Scourge was robbing everything at supersonic speed while Ginger was pulling rude faces at the camera. Sonic watched the whole tape and he noticed the one tiny detail that everybody else viewing the tape somehow seemed to miss. The tape finished and the screen went static. Melchett ejected the tape and put it away.

"Well?" said Melchett, smirking.

Sonic stared at Melchett with a clam look on his face.

"Melchett, you seemed to have missed one tiny little detail." said Sonic.

"THE HEDGEHOG ON THE TAPE IS GREEN!" he shouted at the top of his voice "What colour am I?" he added, pointing to himself "I'm blue! And have you also failed to notice the fox on the tape is ginger, not yellow like Tails!" he added crossly.

Melchett was amazed at the fact Sonic appeared to have noticed something he missed so he played the tape again. He looked closely at the footage and saw what Sonic saw, the hedgehog robbing the store was indeed green and not blue like Sonic was. Still, the cop was refusing to admit defeat, he hated being wrong so he was determined to win this.

"That doesn't prove anything!" he protested "You two must have painted yourselves a different colour to fool us!"

Sonic face-palmed himself angrily.

"Melchett, will you just give up already?" yelled Sonic "Admit it! You were wrong! We are innocent, we get to go home, end of story!"

"No you don't!" said Melchett crossly "Your silly little protest is not convincing enough for me to let you go! You two obviously painted yourselves a different colour in a vain attempt to trick us but it didn't work so there!"

Sonic had had enough of Melchett trying to prove himself in the right so he showed him another detail he was too stupid to notice.

"Another thing you don't seem to have noticed is the hedgehog on the tape has blue eyes and the ginger fox has hazel eyes!" noted Sonic angrily "What colour are my eyes huh? And does Tails have hazel eyes? I don't think so! So what does that mean Melchy-Welchy?"

Melchett stared at the screen and noticed the different coloured eyes. There was no way that Sonic and Tails could possibly have changed their eye colour so he sighed and reluctantly admitted defeat. In fact as he spoke, he had a wincing look on his face as if admitting he was wrong was physically hurting him.

"OK Sonic, I was wrong, you was right." said Melchett glumly "But if that's not you two robbing the store then who are they?"

"Oh for the love of…" grumbled Sonic "The green hedgehog is my evil brother Scourge you dummy! You've had Scourge in custody for two whole years and you can't tell that's him on the tape? Are you blind or something?"

"My eyesight is perfect thank you!" snapped Melchett "So the hedgehog robbing the store is Scourge, any ideas on who the fox is?"

"Nope." said Sonic "Never seen him before but he looks an awful lot like Tails so maybe he's a relative of his."

Then suddenly the doors to the office opened and in walked General Chipper and Tails. Sonic turned around and saw them and was rather confused at the fact Tails didn't have a prison uniform on anymore. General Chipper came up to Melchett.

"Melchett sir, there's been a terrible mistake." said General Chipper "Sonic and Tails are innocent, they were framed by Scourge the Hedgehog and a fox named Ginger who is Tails' cousin apparently. Ginger told me everything."

"I know." said Melchett "Sonic managed to point out several details we missed. I feel like such a fool."

"Good." said General Chipper "You are a fool after all for jumping to conclusions like that. You'll be lucky if you don't get fired for this."

Melchett didn't say anything. General Chipper turned to Sonic.

"You and Tails are free to go." said General Chipper "We deeply apologize for the misunderstanding."

"I'll let it slide." said Sonic, taking his prison uniform off and handing it to General Chipper "After all, anyone can make mistakes, even me."

Now that the whole situation had been cleared up, Sonic and Tails left the MPD station, happy to be free once again. Sonic and Tails both took a deep breath of fresh air and sighed happily.

"Man does it feel good to be outta prison." said Sonic.

"Yeah, good old fresh air is tough to beat." said Tails "And now my wormy cousin is where he belongs and hopefully we can put Scourge back where be belongs."

"That reminds me." said Sonic "I didn't know you had a cousin."

"That's because I never want to acknowledge his existence." said Tails "I hate that ginger moron so much I refuse to acknowledge him as my cousin."

"Why, what's so bad about this Ginger guy?" asked Sonic.

"He treated me like dirt when I was four." said Tails, his expression becoming sorrowful as memories of the past flooded to his head "He really hates me for some reason but he never told me why, he just bullied me and I was too young to do anything about it. His family moved him to Central City after my parents were sick and tired of Ginger bullying me and since then I never talked about him to anyone, I just pretended he never existed and even I forgot about him after a while until he showed up again."

Sonic listened to the heart-breaking story and he felt sorry for poor Tails. It was bad enough that Dr. Eggman's made his life hard after destroying his village and roboticizing his parents but his own cousin made life miserable for him when he was only four! Good lord this fox has had a hard time hasn't he? Sonic put his arm around Tails and said

"You don't need to worry about that jerk of a cousin anymore Tails. You'll never see him again and you've got me by your side. I'll be with you no matter what big guy and that's a promise."

Tails looked at Sonic with happy tears in his eyes. Tails hugged Sonic tightly.

"Thank you so much Sonic." said Tails "You're the best friend I've ever had."

"Don't sweat it Tails." said Sonic "I'm just taking care of those who need it."

"I missed you while I was in jail." said Tails.

"I did too." said Sonic "But we're back together again and no one is going to tear us apart again."

Tails let go of Sonic and they both smiled at each other. Then Tails suddenly remembered something.

"Oh Sonic I almost forgot!" he cried "Ginger told me Scourge has taken over Castle Acorn!"

"He what?" cried Sonic "He's taken over Castle Acorn?"

"Yes!" shrieked Tails "We need to get there before he hurts Miss Sally or someone!"

Tails suddenly found himself being scooped up by Sonic and lifted off the ground.

"We need to get there first so I'm just speeding you up." said Sonic "Hang on tight little bro! Here…we…GO!"

And with that he rocketed off faster then an accelerating dragster. He rushed through Empire City at top speed with Tails in his arms and he headed for Castle Acorn. He hoped Scourge hadn't done too much harm to the castle and he also hoped that everybody in the castle was OK. Unfortunately for Sonic and Tails, they were being followed by Ginger. He had managed to escape his prison cell and he was not letting Sonic and Tails stop Scourge in a hurry so he decided to follow them and stop them.

A few minutes later, Sonic and Tails arrived at Castle Acorn and to their satisfaction the castle looked to be OK. That meant Scourge hadn't spin-dashed the place to the ground but that made Sonic wonder about what was he up to. Sonic screeched to a halt and put Tails down. They both took cover behind a bush and Sonic peeked over the top to see if he could see anything. He spotted Scourge strolling around with Sally Acorn's crown on his head and he appeared to be thinking about something. He stood still and put a hand to his chin.

"Hmm…maybe an awesome statue of me should go there." said Scourge, pointing to a wide patch of green "I hope one of the dorks in the dungeon knows how to sculpt statues. And maybe the statue should have a water fountain or something? And maybe I should have a flag with my face on it standing right there." He pointed to another patch of green "The whole world needs to know my title and position so a flag would be a good idea. Heh, heh, heh. I wonder if there's anything else that would be a good thing to put up out here…"

His voice trailed off as he wondered off somewhere. Sonic turned back to Tails and whispered to him.

"OK Tails, we are gonna creep up on Scourge and then we'll catch him by surprise. You attack when I attack, got it?"

"Got it." said Tails, giving him a thumbs up.

Sonic just snickered and the two crept out of the bush. The poked their heads around the corner of the castle and spotted Scourge using a spin-dash to dig in the grass for some reason. Scourge stopped digging and said to himself

"I think that's a good spot for a flag. Now if only I had one…"

Now was their chance. Sonic and Tails crept out from behind the castle and they tip-toed towards Scourge who had his back turned on them and he was thinking to himself about something. Unfortunately, before Sonic and Tails could pounce on him, they were struck from behind by a flying kick to the head. It was Ginger! The slimy little fox had sneaked up on them while flying and he tackled them while he had the chance.

"You're not attacking Scourge you mongrels!" yelled Ginger.

Scourge turned around to see what was happening and almost had a heart attack at what he was looking at. Sonic and Tails were lying on their fronts on the ground before him and glaring up at him.

"What the hell?" shrieked Scourge "You two are supposed to be in jail!"

"I managed to get Ginger to rat you and him out." said Tails "But how did you manage to get out of your cell Ginger?" asked Tails.

"All I had to do was cut a neat little circle in the glass and presto I'm out." gloated Ginger, showing off the penknife he had hidden in his sock "Aren't I a genius?"

"No, you're a worm." said Tails, getting to his feet "And I'm gonna make you pay for all the misery you've inflicted on me four years ago!"

"But Tails, what about Scourge?" asked Sonic "I may need your help in this…"

"If the brat wants to fight his cousin let him blue!" interrupted Scourge, spin-dashing Sonic in the chest and knocking him over "All four of us can have one big family fight for Castle Acorn! Brother vs. Brother, Cousin vs. Cousin."

Sonic smirked confidently and picked himself up.

"Let the best relative win I guess." he said casually.

"I plan to wuss!" said Scourge, grinning like a crocodile "And once I whup your backside, you can join your friends in the castle dungeons and I will be King of the World!"

Sonic was gobsmacked at what Scourge had just said.

"My friends are where?" he exclaimed.

"In the dungeons dweeb." said Scourge "I've locked away the Queen, the lynx lady, Amy, that soppy rabbit girl, the flower freak, the skunk guy, the cyborg rabbit, the dog guy and the mouse girl and you and Tails can join them once I defeat you!"

Sonic suddenly caught Scourge off guard with a spin-dash to the stomach.

"I'm gonna make you pay for that!" yelled Sonic.

"Just try it dumb-hog!" retorted Scourge, recovering from the blow and lunging for Sonic.

The two hedgehogs tackled each other in a homing attack and they knocked each other backwards. They skidded to a halt and lunged at each other again. Scourge tackled Sonic with a punch to the side and Sonic crashed into the ground face first. Scourge tried to spin-dash Sonic again but Sonic moved out of the way, leaving Scourge to dig a hole in the ground. When Scourge came back up, Sonic spun into his own spin-dash and the two hedgehogs charged at each other. They bounced off of one another and then they landed on the ground. They charged at each other and grappled arms with one another, trying to get the best of each other.

As for Tails and Ginger, they were staring each other down, ready to fight. They glared at each other and they gritted their teeth.

"Ginger, before we start this fight." said Tails "Why do you hate me so much? What have I ever done to upset you so much you hate me with a burning passion?"

Ginger snorted.

"Why does it matter to you dork?" he sniffed rudely "And why I hate you is none of your business so keep your big fat nose out!"

"Ginger, why won't you tell me why you hate me?" asked Tails, annoyed at him "Or don't you have a reason and you just hate me for the heck of it?"

Ginger scowled at his cousin and sighed.

"OK, I'll tell you." he said, defeated "I hate you because you make me envy you. Everybody loved you so much; even my own parents ignored me and gave you all the attention when you visited me. Not to mention your taste in mechanics infuriates me since mechanics are filthy little people who shouldn't exist. That's why I hate you so much."

Tails couldn't believe his ears. All that meanness to him just out of jealousy? Ginger really is a worm isn't he?

"You hate me because you envy the fact everybody loved me and paid no attention to you?" said Tails, bewildered at what Ginger had said to him "And my love for machines disgusted you? What is the matter with you?"

"Nothing's the matter with me you wretched pup!" snarled Ginger "I'm sick to death of you! I'm sick of the fact you're famous and I'm not when it should be the other way around, I'm sick of your ear-splitting voice, I'm sick of your heroism and I'm sick of your dirty mouth! And in order to save myself from going insane, I'm going to kill you wretched cousin and put you out of my misery once and for all!"

And with that he pounced on Tails with his sharp pen knife in his hand. He tackled Tails to the ground, pinned him down and tried to stab him in the chest with the knife. Desperate to live, Tails grabbed Ginger's arm and kept him from stabbing him. Ginger tried to punch Tails with his other hand but Tails blocked it and kept it held there so now Tails was blocking both of Ginger's arms. Ginger tried to stab Tails but Tails managed to hold his arm in place to keep him from doing so even though he had a feeling he wouldn't be able to keep this up. Sonic noticed Tails was in trouble and tried to escape his fight with Scourge.

"Tails, hang on I'm coming!" cried Sonic.

"Leave him alone you blue twerp!" yelled Scourge, ramming Sonic over with his shoulder "Your little friend is having his fight so you can have your fight which is with me!"

"Forget it Scourge, I'm not letting Tails die at the hands of his own cousin!" yelled Sonic, trying to get up.

"Too bad." said Scourge coldly, spin-dashing Sonic to knock him over again "You'll have to fight me first."

Sonic knew that Tails needed help but how could he get past Scourge? Sonic had no idea but he was determined to find a way. Sonic leaped back to his feet and tried to attack Scourge but Scourge jumped out of the way and dropkicked him in the head. Then Scourge leaped on Sonic and pinned him to the ground. Now Sonic found himself in the same position as Tails only Scourge wasn't trying to stab him since he didn't have a weapon. Sonic pushed against Scourge's arms in an attempt to get up but Scourge was a strong hedgehog and he wasn't letting Sonic get up so easily.

"Once I squish you into nothing but dirt blue, you will hail to me." said Scourge "You will hail King Scourge of Mobius and you will bow down to me just like everybody else!"

"Never!" grunted Sonic, trying to shove Scourge away from him but to no avail.

Meanwhile, Tails was still struggling with Ginger. Ginger refused to give up and he kept trying to stab Tails but he just couldn't get the knife any closer to him due to Tails keeping him at bay. Tails began to sweat madly, he needed a way out of this and fast.

"Ginger!" he cried desperately "Please, don't do this! I know you can be better then this! We don't we put our rivalry behind us and be friends? We would make a good team!"

"Are you out of your mind?" snapped Ginger "What good does heroism get you? Nothing! Heroism is a dangerous thing and it gets you killed and I'm about to prove it! You should have stayed in prison where you belong but no, you had to get out and try to save the day with that moron Sonic the Hedgehog! And now I'm going to show you what happens to stupid heroic people who think they can do what they like!"

Tails gulped. His heart was racing like mad. He was staring death right in the face and there was no way out of it. Not to mention his strength was beginning to give way, Ginger was beginning to overpower him! If Tails didn't save himself, he would be dead. Tails then had an idea. Ginger's head was awfully close to his, just the right distance for a little head butt to the head. Tails swung his head forward and in turn walloped Ginger's own head. Ginger screamed in pain and got off Tails in order to rub his head better. Tails kicked Ginger in the back, causing the fox to drop his penknife. Tails stomped on the knife and broke it into little pieces, never to be used again. Ginger recovered from Tails' head butt and he glared at the fox.

"Oooh I could just get my hands on you Tails!" he growled "Especially after that really hard head butt you gave me!"

"Oh Ginger will you give it a rest?" sighed Tails "If you wanna fight me then stop wasting your breath and fight me!"

Ginger smiled as if he was saying "Gladly!" Ginger charged at Tails in blind rage and his hands open as if he was ready to grab Tails by the neck and throttle him. Tails jumped out of the way and dropkicked Ginger in the back of the head. Before Ginger could get back up, Tails grabbed Ginger by both tails and began to spin him around in a perfect circle. Tails then let go of Ginger's tails and Ginger went flying straight into Scourge who was still trying to shove Sonic away. Ginger knocked Scourge over onto his side. Scourge punched Ginger off of him and stood over him, scowling at him.

"You stupid ginger moron!" bellowed Scourge "You're supposed to be knocking Tails over not me!"

"Sorry Scourge, Tails threw me into you!" claimed Ginger.

"How are you getting your butt whupped by Sonic's wimpy friend?" retorted Scourge "Tails can't be that hard to beat!"

Then suddenly Tails landed an amazing kick on Ginger's back and sent him falling over. But before Tails could do anything else, Scourge gave Tails an uppercut that sent Tails flying backwards in a perfect rainbow arch. Tails landed on his back and groaned loudly in pain about the uppercut he had just received from Scourge. Scourge then pinned Tails down to the ground with his foot and glared at him.

"Well since Ginger seems to be having trouble beating his own cousin, I guess I'll have to do it for him!" snarled Scourge "I think your head might look nice hanging above the fireplace in the throne room!"

Tails clutched his throat and shook like mad. Before Scourge could do anything though, Sonic spin-dashed him in the back and sent Scourge hurtling off of Tails. Then Sonic ran over to Scourge, grabbed one of his arms and forced it behind his back and kept him pinned to the ground.

"Tails, Scourge has our friends locked in the dungeons!" cried Sonic "I'll keep Scourge busy, you go and rescue them!"

"OK Sonic but please be careful." said Tails.

Tails ran off and headed towards Castle Acorn. Ginger recovered and tried to fly after Tails but Sonic let go of Scourge and spin-dashed Ginger and sent him falling down. Scourge tried to attack Sonic but Sonic threw Ginger into him. Scourge swaggered and stumbled but he managed to remain standing. He seized Ginger by the scruff of his neck and glowered at him.

"Why can't you do anything useful you pathetic lump of slag?" griped Scourge.

"I'm trying to do my best but Sonic and Tails are tough guys!" protested Ginger "It's not my fault I keep…"

Then suddenly Scourge threw Ginger forward and leaped out of the way. He had seen Sonic heading towards him in a spin-dash and he decided to let Ginger take the blow while he spun into his own spin-dash. Sonic didn't see Scourge coming in time and Scourge spin-dashed him cleanly in the back and sent him skidding across the dirt. Sonic now had his face buried in a mound of dirt and grass and soil. Scourge stood behind him cackling evilly.

"You haven't a hope of defeating me weakling." said Scourge "You succumbed to me before and you'll succumb to me now. Why don't you make this easy on yourself?" he said smoothly, kneeling down to his brother's side.

"If you surrender to me then I will be willing to make you assistant ruler of my kingdom." he offered.

"OY! That's my job!" protested Ginger.

"You're lucky if I even give you your own castle you sad sack of wimpiness!" bellowed Scourge.

Ginger shut himself up and hid his hands behind his back. Scourge continued.

"Me and you could bring peace and prosperity to the world. We could end the menace that is Dr. Eggman together. Eggman had trouble against one of us so he has no chance against both of us, we'll kick his butt out of Mobius. Mobius will be at peace and we, the hedgehog brothers will be twin kings of Mobius and everybody will love and respect us. What do ya say brother?" he purred into Sonic's ear.

Sonic had listened to every word Scourge had said and he wasn't thrilled. Sonic raised his head out of the mound of dirt and he turned to face Scourge, his face covered in soil.

"That's a tempting offer Scourge," said Sonic "But I don't wanna be king of anything. Being a king's not my kind of game. And besides, Mobius would be a horrible place with you on the throne! So even if I wanted to be a king my answer is and always will be no!"

Scourge couldn't believe his ears. How can Sonic refuse such a great offer he made for him? Sonic certainly is persistent isn't he?

"Do you not WANT Dr. Eggman to be defeated then?" roared Scourge.

"I want Dr. Eggman defeated but I don't want to be twin ruler with you!" yelled Sonic "I'll defeat Eggman on my own and you can try to conquer Mobius alone!"

"So be it!" hissed Scourge, flipping his sunglasses down over his eyes "You'll wish you had taken my deal though you blue moron!"

Sonic leaped away from Scourge in an amazing back flip and he landed a very long distance away from Scourge. Sonic clenched his fists, gritted his teeth and bent over, ready to charge. Scourge did the same and prepared to charge. Then both hedgehogs revved up their supersonic feet and they charged at each other like a pair of bulls. Sonic and Scourge then suddenly leaped into the air at both the exact same time and they collided in mid-air with one another. They both fell back to the ground and they began launching punches on one another. Then they both managed to get back on their feet and the grappled arms with one another.

"This kingdom is mine Sonic!" yelled Scourge as he struggled against Sonic.

"In your dreams Scourge!" Sonic yelled back as he struggled against Scourge.

Then they both let go of each other and they spin-dashed each other. Then they recoiled and charged at each other in spin-dash again…

Meanwhile, Tails had found the dungeon but he couldn't open it since Scourge had locked it. Luckily the key was hung on a peg next to the door so Tails got the key and unlocked the door. Everybody in the dungeon, who had begun to lose all hope of ever seeing the sun again, were surprised to see the door open and Tails walk inside. Tails was surprised to see how many prisoners there were. Scourge had captured Sally, Nicole, Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Geoffrey, Bunnie, Wilson and Mandy all at once!

"Tails?" said Sally "How is this possible? You're supposed to be in jail!"

"We managed to convince the cops we're innocent at long last." said Tails "The ones who framed us were…"

"I know, your cousin told me everything." said Sally "That Scourge and he played us all for saps and we thought you and Sonic were criminals."

"Yeah they did didn't they?" said Tails, flying over to Sally's shackles and inserting the key into the key hole. But they key wouldn't fit. Tails tried it as hard as he could but the key wouldn't turn or go in.

"I can't get this thing to fit!" cried Tails.

"The key to our shackles isn't the same key that opens the door." said Nicole "They key that opens our shackles is on the wall over there."

She pointed at the wall on the right hand side of the door. Tails spotted the key on the wall and he flew over to get it. He grabbed the key and flew back over to Sally to unlock her shackles. He slotted the key neatly into the keyhole and turned it. The shackles opened and Sally was now free. Tails gave her the key.

"You free everybody else." he said "I'm going back outside to help Sonic beat Scourge."

"You be careful out there Tails." said Sally as she freed Nicole from her shackles "We'll be with you as quick as possible."

Tails nodded and he flew out of the dungeon, leaving Sally to free everybody else from their chains.

"Ha, ha, ha! I could keep this up all day slowpoke!" taunted Scourge as he kicked Sonic off the roof of the castle and sent him crashing down on the ground below.

Sonic and Scourge's fight had been completely in Scourge's favour these past few minutes. Scourge and Sonic had been spin-dashing each other over and over and then they decided to take their fight onto the roof which resulted in heavy fighting and Scourge kicking Sonic off the roof. After Sonic landed on the ground Scourge jumped off the roof, landed beside Sonic and grabbed him in chokehold. Sonic gagged as Scourge's arm was clenched tightly around his neck. Then Scourge decided to give Sonic a noogie-noogie to pay him back for all the times Sonic had noogied him in the past.

"How does this feel wimp?" he taunted as he viciously rubbed Sonic's scalp with his knuckles.

"Ouch! Ouch! Ouch! Knock it off Scourge! Ow! That hurts!" cried Sonic.

"Now you know how I feel when you do that to me!" laughed Scourge.

Ginger (the little fool) just stood there watching and laughing.

"Ha! Ha! Ha! Noogie him harder Scourge!" he urged.

Scourge obliged and proceeded to noogie Sonic even harder.

"Scourge, you'll take my head off if you're not careful!" yelped Sonic.

"Then let's hope that really happens!" said Scourge wickedly.

But then Scourge decided to stop giving Sonic noogie-noogies and he threw Sonic towards Ginger. Ginger bounced into the air using his tails as a spring and he kicked Sonic in the face. Sonic fell on his stomach and groaned. He couldn't keep the fight up anymore, Scourge had well and truly worn him down. Scourge stood over Sonic and placed his foot onto his back.

"You could have avoided all this if you had just taken my deal Sonic." said Scourge, his voice low and hissy "But now it's time I stomped you into nothing. Goodbye Sonic!"

Scourge then raised his foot and prepared to slam it down on Sonic's back until suddenly something pricked his bottom and he was stunned into submission. He fell over onto his front just as Sonic crawled out of the way. Ginger stared in disbelief at Scourge's sudden pass-out. Sonic turned to see all his friends standing before him and glaring at Scourge. The dart that had sedated Scourge had been fired by Geoffrey St. John and he smirked at the unconscious hedgehog.

"That'll teach the bloke to lock us up like that!" he said.

"Tails, you got everybody out just in time!" said a very relieved Sonic "I was about to get my spine broken!"

"It's a good thing we made it then isn't it?" said Tails, helping Sonic onto his feet.

"Sonic!" cried Amy, grasping the blue hedgehog into a hug "I'm so glad you and Tails aren't criminals! I knew you weren't criminals all along!"

"Hey that's great Amy." said Sonic feebly "But how did you know that?"

"Ginger stupidly told me and Nicole that he and Scourge were responsible for framing you and Tails and after locking the others away we told them." explained Sally "So the whole mess is cleared up now."

"Not yet your highness." said Mandy "The ginger fox is flying away with Scourge!"

Everybody looked up in the air to see Ginger flying away, carrying an unconscious Scourge by the arms. Ginger had flown pretty high so no one could catch him unless they could fly.

"Ah'm not letting those guys get away!" cried Bunnie Rabbot, preparing to take off "Ah'm gonna fly after them and capture them!"

"No Bunnie, let them go." said Sally "They're not worth it right now."

"But Sally-girl, ah could catch them in a jiffy!" protested Bunnie "Ah'm a fast flier so Ginger can't get away from me!"

"Bunnie, I said let them go." said Sally sternly "We'll catch them next time but right now we need to rest ourselves up for the next time Dr. Eggman may attack."

Bunnie was a little disappointed at the fact she had to let Ginger and Scourge get away but she knew arguing with the queen was pointless so she did what she was told. Sonic noticed Sally's crown lying on the ground near him. It had fallen of Scourge's head when Scourge was sedated and luckily it was still intact. Sonic picked the crown up, dusted some dirt off and presented it to Sally.

"Here's your crown back your majesty." said Sonic "And good thing is Scourge didn't wreck it."

Sally took the crown from Sonic and put it back onto her own head.

"Everyone." she said "If it wasn't for your heroic efforts and support, Castle Acorn would have fallen to a deadly foe and the kingdom would have been in collapse. Thank you everybody for saving the day."

The boys bowed down and the girls curtsied to Sally. Sally smiled graciously at the heroes before her.

"Now let's prepare for the next Eggman attack which maybe some time soon now Scourge is out of the picture for now." said Sally.

"I can't wait for that." said Sonic "Metal Sonic better watch out, he won't know what hit him!"

Tomorrow would be a much more eventful day then just fighting Dr. Eggman though. Tomorrow would he a struggle over a little shining emerald which contained power great enough to turn the tides of the war between the Mobians and Dr. Eggman…

And that's it for this saga! But don't think this is the last we've seen of Scourge the Hedgehog! He'll be back and so...will...Ginger...DAAAAAAAAAMMMMMMMMNNNNNNNN! :(Oh well, at least I don't have to deal with that ginger turd for a while now since it'll be a while until Scourge returns. Ahem! Anyway, join me next time for the grand debut of the mystical, mysterious and magical Chaos Emeralds! Reviews are welcome.

P.S. What's the best way to kill off Ginger the Fox? Should I...

A: Let Tails stab him with a sword?

B: Let someone shove a grenade up his ass?

C: Let Scourge the Hedgehog kill him for being useless?

or

D: All of the above!

Pick your choice! Nah I'm just kidding! I know how I'm going to kill off Ginger and I'm sure you'll be very satisfied with my choice...! ;)

Chaos Chocolate

Story 36: Chaos Chocolate

In the dark of the night, a lone chocolate factory had been shut down for the night and all its workers had left for home so they could get some rest and be ready for work in the morning. The chocolate factory had many funnels for all the steam building up inside to seep out and into the sky and it was very large, larger then twenty barnyards stacked up in rows of ten. The chocolate factory was just like any other chocolate factory, it was large and it made chocolate day after day, week after week and month after month. The only thing different about this chocolate factory was the fact a little green glowing emerald was sitting out of sight on the rooftop, still glowing to itself. The emerald had been up there for years and no one had ever seen it. But the emerald would be on the roof no longer for a crow flying nearby had sighted the emerald with its keen vision and flew over to it. The crow examined this pretty little gem and it pecked at it. The crow ever so slightly nudged the emerald with its beak. Then it nudged it some more. And some more. The crow was trying to pick up the emerald for it was thrilled by its shiny glow but it couldn't pick the thing up, it was much too big. The crow kept nudging the emerald with every vain attempt to grasp it with it's beak but it just kept nudging the emerald away from its original sitting place. Then the crow nudged the emerald near to a hole in the roof and the emerald fell down the hole and into the factory, much to the disappointment of the crow who flew away in disappointment. The emerald fell down the hall and bounced nosily off a nearby pipe. Then it pinged off some machinery and fell into a vat of chocolate with a splash. The shining green gem submerged into the thick brown gooey goodness and disappeared from sight. Now the factory would be sending a chocolate covered emerald to the candy stores the next morning and goodness knows who is going to get it…

Robotropolis. Dr. Eggman's grand metropolis and robot city had been torn down and blown to smithereens by Scourge the Hedgehog but Dr. Eggman's extremely fast building crew had rebuilt the entire city from scratch and it had only taken them two days to do so. Dr. Eggman was pleased with the rebuilt city and now he didn't have to hide in his secret bunker anymore. He now resided in the newly rebuilt headquarters that proudly stood in the centre of the vast machine metropolis. Now he had a much better place to store Metal Sonic to ready him for combat and thanks to the technology of the city, Metal Sonic was now fit and ready to go once again. Right now, Metal Sonic didn't have any orders so he just stood to attention and waited for Dr. Eggman to give him any while Dr. Eggman was overseeing management in his city.

As for Sonic the Hedgehog, he had brought Tails and Amy with him on a special sabotage mission. With acute spying work from Espio the Chameleon, he had found the robot production line in Eggman's headquarters and after informing Sonic on where it was, he decided to sabotage it so the production of Eggman's robot army would be slowed down for a while. Sonic had been a little surprised at the fact Eggman had rebuilt Robotropolis so suddenly but he didn't let it bother him for he had a mission. The three friends were taking shelter behind a bunch of rocks and observing the scenery around them to make sure the coast was clear. There wasn't a robot to be found anywhere so it was safe for Sonic, Tails and Amy to come out. Sonic turned to his two friends and they gathered round to discuss their plans.

"OK do you remember the plan?" asked Sonic.

"Yes." said Tails and Amy together.

"Good." said Sonic "I'll keep Eggman's bunch of bots at bay while you two sabotage the production line. Espio gave me the coordinates on this little tracking device." he added, pulling the device out of his glove and handing it to Tails "You shouldn't have much trouble finding it with that tracker."

"OK." said Tails "We won't let you down Sonic."

"Don't worry about letting me down, worry about letting the Council of Acorn down!" laughed Sonic "They authorised this mission remember?"

"Yeah I remember." said Amy glumly "That pig guy in the council was so rude!"

"OK then, let's do it to it you two." said Sonic.

The three friends emerged from their hiding place and ran over to Robotropolis. Like the old Robotropolis, the new one was surrounded by a huge iron fence with huge iron gates that took a lot of spin-dashing to bring down. Sonic knew that there was a quicker way to get into the city and that was dig under the fence. Sonic spun into a spin-dash and began to dig a hole down and under the iron fence. Sand flew everywhere as Sonic churned his way through the sand. Then Sonic finally spin-dashed out of the ground and up into the open. He was immediately greeted by a bunch of robots that happened to be in patrol. They sighted Sonic and immediately deployed and primed their weapons.

"Hey butt-bots, think you can catch the world's fastest hedgehog?" bragged Sonic, shaking his bum tauntingly at the robots "Well come and get me if you think you're fast enough!"

And with that Sonic took off like a torpedo and all the Egg-man robots ran after him, weapons blazing and sensors alert. Tails and Amy poked their heads out of the hole Sonic had dug to see if it was safe to come out. All the robots were chasing Sonic so there wasn't a single robot around. Tails and Amy climbed out of the hole and they ran off to Eggman's headquarters which wasn't far to go.

"So once we get into fat-boy's playhouse what do we do?" asked Amy, summoning her Piko-Piko Hammer to her hands and keeping it at the ready in case she needed to smash something.

"We take the elevator up three floors and go into the first room on the right." said Tails, reading the tracker out loud "And once we're in there, we sabotage the production line."

"Good thing I have a big hammer to smash it with isn't it?" said Amy, smirking to herself at the thought of destroying Eggman's hard work.

"Yes it's a good thing you have a big hammer to smash it with." said Tails "Although it would have been better if I had brought some bombs with me which I didn't unbelievably."

Tails and Amy ran on to Eggman's headquarters. As for Dr. Eggman, he had noticed the break-in and was watching the whole thing on the monitors. He was only focused on Sonic since Sonic was the only one he noticed, he failed to notice Tails and Amy somehow.

"Sonic has broken into my territory has he?" growled Dr. Eggman "Well he won't be staying for long that's for sure! Metal Sonic, get the hedgehog!"

Metal Sonic wordlessly nodded and he left the room. The moment Metal Sonic left the room, Alonzo, Eggman's servant-bot, looked at one of the monitors and cried out in horror.

"Master! We have a breach on the ground floor!" he shrieked.

"What?" cried Dr. Eggman, looking at the same monitor Alonzo was looking at.

This monitor showed Eggman what was happening on the ground floor. Tails and Amy had just broken into the base which was accomplished by Amy smashing the door down with her hammer and now the two were heading for the elevator. Eggman was furious. Sonic was just a distraction while Tails and Amy sabotage him? Well he wasn't going to let that happen! Dr. Eggman spoke into a microphone on the control pad.

"Metal Sonic, change of priority." said Dr. Eggman "We have intruders taking the elevator some where! Find them!"

Metal Sonic, who was on the third floor right now had gotten the message and looked around for Tails and Amy. Speaking of Tails and Amy, they had taken the elevator up to the fourth floor, the exact floor they needed to be on. Metal Sonic had seen the elevator going up on the floor he was on so he headed for the stairs that led to the fourth floor. As for Tails and Amy, remembering the coordinates Espio had given them, they ran down a corridor until they came across the first door on their right. The door was big and silver with warning stripes on the top and bottom and they slid away instead of opening outwards like a normal door. Tails plugged the tracker into the door's keypad and he taped away on the keys, trying to break the code so he could get in. Espio had found out the code while he was spying on Eggman and had uploaded the code on the tracker so Tails broke it in a matter of seconds and the door opened. Tails and Amy walked into the room. As you would expect a reproduction chamber to look, it was a large room with giant machines and treadmills and computers so Eggman could decide on the designs the robots the machines made would have.

"OK Tails, do we just wreck everything?" asked Amy.

"Well we could." said Tails "But I wonder if there's a faster way of sabotaging this place then just smashing it with a hammer?"

"I dunno but I'm smashing this hideous place anyway!" cried Amy, brandishing her hammer and getting ready to swing.

She marched over to a large machine with a treadmill attached to it and was prepared to smash it to tiny bite-sized pieces until Tails suddenly screamed in terror.

"Amy! Help!" he shrieked.

Amy turned around and to her horror, Metal Sonic was there, clutching Tails by the throat and holding him aloft. Amy ran over to Metal Sonic and tried to whack him with her hammer but Metal Sonic threw Tails directly in her path so she ended up whacking Tails in the face by accident. Tails clutched his nose and groaned loudly.

"Oh Tails I'm so sorry!" shrieked Amy.

"Ow! Gosh your hammer really does hurt!" groaned Tails.

Then suddenly it was Amy's turn to get attacked. Metal Sonic slashed at her and caught her on the cheek. Amy tried to smash him with her hammer but Metal Sonic just snatched the hammer out of her hand and whacked her with it. Amy flew through the air like a tossed stone and she landed slap-bang into the wall and slid slowly down to the floor. Metal Sonic threw Amy's hammer away and advanced menacingly on her. Amy kept her back pressed against the wall and her eyes wide open as Metal Sonic came up to her, his claws bared and his optics burning with murderous intent. Metal Sonic raised his arm and prepared to attack the poor girl until Tails distracted him.

"Hey! Metal Sonic, I'm going to tamper with this machine!" jeered Tails who was standing next to one of the production machines.

Metal Sonic turned away from Amy and he blasted at Tails with his torso cannon. Tails flew out of the way so Metal Sonic ended up accidentally destroying the machine. The machine exploded and showered the floor with tiny little pieces. Metal Sonic soon realized his mistake and kept it in mind not to do it again. Tails landed near another machine and pulled faces at Metal Sonic in an attempt to coax him into shooting at him again. But Metal Sonic knew what he was up to so instead of shooting at Tails, Metal Sonic lunged at Tails and grabbed him by the arms. Tails cried out in surprise as Metal Sonic held him at arm's length and prepared to blast him. Since he was holding Tails directly in front of himself, there was no way he could miss this time. Amy summoned a new hammer into her hand and ran up to Metal Sonic, ready to smash his head in. But Metal Sonic heard her coming and blasted her away with his back laser. Amy staggered over and passed out. Now Tails was trapped, Metal Sonic was bound to shoot him now. That is until Tails spun his tails around and took off with Metal Sonic still holding him. Then Tails kicked Metal Sonic as hard as he could and the killer robot Sonic clone let go of him but he didn't fall down to the floor like Tails wanted him to, Metal Sonic just activated his jet booster and now he was flying too. It was an air-to-air showdown between Tails and Metal Sonic as the two began flying around the room trying to best each other. Tails had an idea and hoped Metal Sonic would fall for it. Tails flew extremely close to a machine and Metal Sonic followed but he didn't quite see the machine in time and ended up crashing straight through it. Metal Sonic emerged from the other side of the machine and he flew after Tails, his claws bared and ready to grab him. Tails flew on, desperately trying to avoid Metal Sonic. He flew close to another machine in an attempt to get Metal Sonic to crash into it but Metal Sonic was all the wiser so while Tails flew close to the machine, Metal Sonic flew around the other side of the machine so he would catch Tails. Tails fell for it and he ended up flying directly into Metal Sonic's arms. Metal Sonic grabbed the squirming fox and held him tight. Then he rocketed down to the floor and slammed Tails into the floor as hard as he could. Metal Sonic had slammed Tails into the floor so hard that Tails made an image of himself in the floor. Tails tried to get up but Metal Sonic pinned him down with his foot. Metal Sonic bent over and prepared to fire his torso cannon but Amy, who had just woken up, whacked him as hard as she could with her hammer and sent Metal Sonic flying straight into a production machine. Metal Sonic went straight through it and left a giant hole in the machine. Tails was relieved that Amy had just saved him and Amy helped Tails onto his feet.

"So I guess its mission accomplished?" she asked the brainy fox.

"Mission accomplished Amy." said Tails, with a smile "Eggman's production line is out of order. That was a good hit by the way." he added, notifying Amy's brilliant whack on Metal Sonic.

"Well what can I say? I'm amazing." said Amy, preening "Now let's get out of this hideous place before Metal Faker wakes up."

With that said, Tails and Amy ran out of the production chamber and headed for the elevator. Unfortunately for them, Metal Sonic emerged from the ruined machine, unharmed and thirsty for revenge. Using his jet booster, Metal Sonic rocketed out of the chamber and flew after Tails and Amy. Tails and Amy had only just made it into the elevator and Metal Sonic was coming towards them. The doors closed and the elevator prepared to descend but Metal Sonic smashed his way through the doors and the elevator began to descend. Now Tails and Amy were trapped with Metal Sonic until the elevator reached the ground floor. Metal Sonic grabbed them both and pinned them against the wall and held them there until the elevator reached the ground floor. The doors opened and Metal Sonic threw Tails and Amy out of the elevator. Before they could get up, Metal Sonic pile-dived Amy in the back and stomped on Tails' back. Then he picked them both up and hurled them a good distance across the floor. They hit the floor and slid across it until they came to a halt against the wall. But before Metal Sonic could do anything else, Sonic the Hedgehog burst into the base and spin-dashed him in the back.

"Hey Metal Joker!" taunted Sonic "So nice to see you again!"

Metal Sonic got back to his feet and slashed at Sonic. Sonic did a back flip and dodged the attack and then he rammed Metal Sonic in the centre of his torso.

"What's the matter Metal?" asked Sonic "You losing your touch or something?"

Metal Sonic's response was a spin-dash to the chest and he sent Sonic hurtling backwards. Sonic flew out of the broken doors and landed on his back. He recovered just in time to dodge another spin-dash from Metal Sonic.

"Come on Metal Sonic, you can do better than that!" teased Sonic.

Then Metal Sonic and Sonic linked arms and grappled with each other.

"Hey what's with all the silence Metal Sonic?" asked Sonic, noting the fact that he hadn't received any comebacks from his insults "Why won't you say something? Come on, I love hearing your stupid, deep, booming voice!"

Metal Sonic didn't say anything, he just threw Sonic away and the hedgehog landed face first into the ground. Sonic picked himself up just in time to dodge another spin-dash from Metal Sonic. Sonic and Metal Sonic both lunged at each other but Metal Sonic ducked so Sonic soared over him and Metal Sonic delivered an uppercut to the stomach before Sonic could finish flying over him. Then Metal Sonic grabbed Sonic by the leg and slammed him into the ground. Tails and Amy ran out of the base and joined in the fight. Tails flew in the air and punched Metal Sonic in the head, although the punch hurt Tails more then it hurt Metal Sonic due to him being metal. Amy tried to wallop Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic dodged the blow and dropkicked Amy. Tails landed beside Sonic and helped him up.

"Sonic, the mission is completed, it's time to go." he said.

"Aw, but I'm not done duelling with Metal Me yet!" groaned Sonic.

"Metal Sonic's just as strong as ever Sonic." said Tails "If we keep this up, we won't make it to the end so we've gotta go!"

Sonic got to his feet and spin-dashed Metal Sonic in the back to distract him. Before Metal Sonic could get up, Tails grabbed Sonic and flew him over the iron fence and then he went back to fetch Amy. After Amy was safely flown over the fence, Sonic held their hands and sped off at his trademark speed. Metal Sonic flew over the fence and watched Sonic speed away. Regardless of his desire to squash Sonic, he decided he would wait another day so he flew back over the fence and headed back to Eggman's base.

As for Dr. Eggman, he and Alonzo had run down to the production chamber and needless to say, Eggman wasn't happy with what had happened.

"Curse that twin-tailed fox and curse that pink hedgehog!" growled Dr. Eggman "They've made a mess of my glorious production chamber!"

"I bet that was their intentions sir." said Alonzo "Because they've gone now."

"Well if they think they can sabotage me then they've got something devious coming their way!" huffed Dr. Eggman "I'm going to march over to Mobotropolis in my Egg-Mobile and attack Castle Acorn!"

"But who's going to fix the production chamber?" asked Alonzo.

"YOU are." said Dr. Eggman, grinning like a mad man "Me and Metal Sonic will go and attack that castle."

And with that Dr. Eggman left the room, leaving Alonzo to stare hopelessly at the mess that awaited him. Alonzo grumbled and picked up a sweep. He began to sweep away the slithers of metal that littered the floor.

Outside, Dr. Eggman came across Metal Sonic and Metal Sonic saluted him.

"Ah, Metal Sonic! I was looking for you." said Dr. Eggman, smiling widely "Come with me, we're going for a little ride."

Metal Sonic obeyed and followed Dr. Eggman back into the base.

"So that's how it happened was it?" asked Sonic as Tails and Amy told him, Cosmo and Cream what had happened in the production chamber.

"Yes, that's how it happened." said Tails "So you could say Metal Sonic kinda did the work for us, with a little temptation from me that is." he added with a slight chuckle.

Once Sonic, Tails and Amy had made it back home, they greeted Cosmo and Cream and they told them everything that had happened on the mission. Cosmo and Cream were impressed to say the least and they laughed at the fact Tails tricked Metal Sonic into destroying some of the machines in the chamber.

"You three are so brave." said Cream "Did Metal Sonic scare you when he came out?"

"Me? Nah!" scoffed Sonic "Metal Sonic doesn't scare me! He's just another robot waiting to be smashed that's all."

"A very TOUGH robot waiting to be smashed." noted Tails "Metal Sonic's no weaker then before you know."

"Maybe on your next mission, someone should sneak into Eggman's base and sabotage Metal Sonic." suggested Cosmo "Then Metal Sonic wouldn't be such a big threat to us would he?"

"No he won't." said Amy "Maybe we should do that next time huh Sonic?"

"Sounds good to me." said Sonic casually "Although I'd rather smash Metal Sonic myself then sabotage him to the point he's useless."

"But you can't smash Metal Sonic, that's the point." said Tails "He's built to withstand you and probably all of us so we have to weaken Metal Sonic the mechanical way which is take him apart bit by bit while he's deactivated or something."

Sonic just rolled his eyes but said nothing. Tails was right after all, he couldn't beat Metal Sonic in combat so it would be better to weaken him when he wasn't activated. After a minute's silence, Cream spoke up.

"So, what do we do now?" she asked.

"I think we should buy a nice treat from the store to celebrate our success with." suggested Amy "I can think of a few things already."

"As long as chilli-dogs are involved, I'm satisfied." said Sonic casually.

"I'll come with you Amy." said Tails "I can think of something nice we could eat."

"OK Tails." said Amy brightly "Does anyone else wanna come?"

"I'll come and help you with the shopping bags." volunteered Cream eagerly.

Sonic and Cosmo didn't offer.

"OK then it's settled. Come on Tails and Cream, we're going to Knothole." said Amy "I know a good store there."

And with that Amy, Tails and Cream left and headed off to the store while Sonic and Cosmo remained sitting at the garden table.

"So Cosmo, what do you wanna do while we're waiting?" asked Sonic.

"Um…I don't know." said Cosmo "Maybe we could talk to each other to pass the time."

"Nah, I'll just go for a jog." said Sonic, getting up on his feet "See ya Cosmo."

Sonic ran off at top speed and sped off into the distance. Seeing as she was on her own with nothing to do, Cosmo decided to just lie on the grass and stare up at the sky, thinking of happier times back on her home planet and how beautiful it was before the war with the Martians started.

"I hope you're OK mother." said Cosmo under her breath "I hope you're OK…"

A short while later, Amy, Tails and Cream arrived at Amy's home village of Knothole. After arriving at Knothole, Amy took them to the store. The store was medium sized and full of all sorts of groceries but not to the extent of a superstore. Still, it was a nice place for the villagers to do their shopping in and Amy shopped there every time she needed groceries. The pink hedgehog, tan coloured rabbit and yellow twin-tailed fox entered the store and began looking around for something nice to eat to celebrate Sonic, Tails and Amy's success in Robotropolis.

"Now where to they keep the hot-dogs for Sonic's chilli-dog?" wondered Amy as he scanned the aisles.

"Don't you think Mr. Sonic already has hot-dogs at home?" asked Cream.

"He probably does." said Amy "But he should try a hot-dog from Knothole, they taste so nice."

"If you want Amy you could buy some onions since Sonic likes a lot of onions on his chilli-dogs." said Tails as he wondered down the aisles.

"Sonic likes onions on his chilli-dogs does he?" said Amy "Well he'll love the onions they sell here, nothing beats them."

"I wonder what would be a nice treat for you Amy." said Cream politely.

"Oh you don't need to worry about me." said Amy "I can find something I really like."

As Amy and Cream continued looking down the aisle, Tails wondered to the sweets aisle, the very aisle he was looking for. He wanted a nice bar of mint chocolate for his treat so he was looking through the chocolates to see what they had on offer. Then something caught Tails' eye. On the top shelf of the sweets aisle, there were chocolates shaped like emeralds. They were about as big as the palm of your hand and they did look very scrumptious. Tails decided he would try one of the emerald chocolates so he stood up on tip-toe and reached up for the chocolate. But he couldn't quite reach it and he didn't want to fly up and get it since people would look at him funny so he just kept trying to reach. Then an old cat lady with a shopping basket came by and noticed Tails was having difficulty reaching the chocolate's so she reached up and got it for him.

"Here you go little boy." she said kindly, handing it to Tails.

"Thank you miss." said Tails.

"Before I go little one, may I ask you something?" asked the cat.

"Yes." said Tails, wondering what she wanted to ask.

"Are you the twin-tailed fox known as Tails who is a friend of Sonic the Hedgehog?" asked the cat.

"I am." said Tails "Why?"

"I'm Mariah the Medicine Cat and I've been looking forward to meeting you young man." said Mariah, with a smile.

"Mariah the Medicine Cat?" said Tails "Wait a minute, Sonic told me you were the one who made the medicine he gave me to save my life from a bounty hunter!*"

"That is correct." said Mariah "I made the medicine that saved your life. And you don't need to thank me, I was just doing my job."

"OK." said Tails "But I do appreciate the fact you helped Sonic save me."

"And I was just happy to help." said Mariah "Now if you'll excuse me, I need to continue with my shopping. Bye Tails."

"Bye Mariah." said Tails as Mariah walked on down the aisle.

After Mariah left, Tails took his emerald chocolate to the till and waited for Amy and Cream to finish shopping. Then the girls appeared from round an aisle with the shopping basket half full of goodies. Amy had brought herself a box a fairy cakes as well as the onions and hot-dogs needed for Sonic's special chilli-dog and Cream had brought a small cartoon of ice-cream, her most favourite food in the world. The three friends paid for their items and they left the shop and headed for Sonic's house.

"So Tails, what did you buy?" asked Amy.

"I bought an emerald shaped chocolate." said Tails, showing Amy the chocolate "And I'm going to share it with Cosmo. I hope she's going to like it."

"Ah chocolate, no one can resist it." said Amy "And it's the perfect gift for the perfect girlfriend isn't it?" she added teasingly.

Tails went red all over and Cream laughed at him.

"Amy, don't do that!" whined Tails "You're making me blush!"

"Oh I'm so sorry Tails." said Amy mockingly "I didn't know you really fancy Cosmo."

Tails blushed even harder and his cheeks began to feel hot.

"Amy, it's not nice to tease people because they fancy someone." said Cream "You fancy Mr. Sonic and you wouldn't like it if Tails made fun of you for it would you?"

"Oh come on Cream, I'm just playing, I mean no harm on Tails do I?" said Amy.

Tails just kept quiet and his eyes fixed on the chocolate emerald in his hands. Amy noticed Tails was feeling shy so she decided to say nothing more and leave him alone until they got home.

Cosmo was still lying on the grass and staring up at the sky. Her train of thoughts were suddenly interrupted by the return of Sonic.

He had just finished jogging around Green Hill Zone and he arrived back to see how things were going.

"Hey Cosmo, I guess Amy, Tails and Cream aren't back yet." said Sonic after he screeched to a halt.

"No they aren't." said Cosmo "Did you have a nice jog?"

"Yeah it was thrilling." said Sonic "I never get tired of running up those loop-de-loop shaped rocks when running around Green Hill Zone. I still wonder how on Mobius did we ever get rocks shaped like that?"

"Hey Sonic, Amy, Tails and Cream are back." said Cosmo, standing up and pointing.

Sonic looked in Cosmo's direction and saw them coming. Amy, Tails and Cream arrived back at the house and showed Sonic the items they brought.

"We brought a fresh jar of hot-dogs for you because I thought you'd love to try a hot-dog from Knothole." said Amy "I bet you'll like it. And we got onions for you too." she added, showing the onions to Sonic.

"Sweet." said Sonic, licking his lips "I bet I'm gonna enjoy this."

And with that he took the jar of hot-dogs and onions and went inside to make the chilli-dog. Amy and Cream followed him, leaving Tails alone with Cosmo. Tails began to feel a little nervous now he was alone with Cosmo. He had feelings for her but he was much too shy to show them. And yet he knew if he didn't try then he would never get the girl he fancied.

"So Tails, what did you buy?" asked Cosmo.

"Um…I brought this." said Tails, showing her the chocolate shaped emerald he had brought from the store. He took the wrapping off, revealing the chocolate's brown goodness underneath.

"What is it?" asked Cosmo "It's shaped remarkably like an emerald."

"Its chocolate." said Tails "A very tasty sweet food we Mobians love to eat. Do they do chocolate on your home world?"

"Um…not that I can think of, no they don't do chocolate on my home planet." said Cosmo.

"Well you're in for a treat Cosmo." said Tails "You'll love this. I'm going to eat half of it and then I'm going to let you have the other half."

Tails eagerly bit into the chocolate. But the moment he bit into it, his teeth cracked, his eyes widened and pain flooded through his gums.

"OW!" yelped Tails, dropping the chocolate and grabbing his sore mouth "Ouch! Oh! What is that thing made of?"

"Are you OK Tails?" asked Cosmo, kneeling beside him and patting him in the back.

"Apart from a killer toothache, I'm just fine." grumbled Tails "That chocolate's as hard as rock!"

Cosmo looked at the chocolate emerald lying on the ground. She noticed the piece of emerald Tails had bitten into and little bits of chocolate had broken away, revealing a shiny glitter from inside. Cosmo picked the emerald up and thumped it on the ground hard enough to crack the chocolate and the chocolate crumbled to pieces, revealing a REAL emerald underneath! So it wasn't a chocolate shaped like an emerald, it was an emerald COVERED in chocolate! The emerald was green in colour and it shone like a million stars all at once. Cosmo stared at the emerald in her hands and was engulfed in its beauty. Tails had finally recovered from the pain in his mouth and he stared at the emerald in Cosmo's hands. Tails gasped at it.

"Cosmo, it was an emerald covered in chocolate!" gasped Tails "And that's not just any emerald!"

"Its beautiful." said Cosmo, unable to take her eyes off it "And it gives me a loving warm feeling for some reason. What kind of emerald is this Tails?"

"It's a Chaos Emerald." said Tails, pointing at it "I've heard all about them from stories my mom used to read to me. Chaos Emeralds are powerful and there used to be cascades of them all over Mobius. But someone used the powers of Chaos and merged all the emeralds together to make seven emeralds. They are the colours green, blue, yellow, purple, red, cyan and grey respectively and if you have all seven emeralds, a miracle will happen."

"What kind of miracle?" asked Cosmo.

"I dunno." said Tails "But we'd better hide this so Dr. Eggman doesn't get it. If Eggman gets this emerald or indeed all seven of them, victory for him is certain."

"I'm sure Sonic will know where to hide this." said Cosmo "Eggman wouldn't think to look in a house in the middle of nowhere would he?"

"I hope not." said Tails "I wonder if Sonic knows all about…"

Then suddenly something leaped out of the bushes from around the corner of the house and it pounced on Cosmo, pinned her down to the ground and snatched the emerald out of her hands. Tails gasped in terror. It was none other then the insidious Marik the Martian! Cosmo thought she was going to die of shock at the sight of Marik on top of her with the emerald in his hand.

"No…No…Not you again!" squeaked Cosmo.

"Yes Cosmo it is me, Marik the Martian once again!" sneered Marik "And here to make your life miserable!"

"Marik, please don't hurt Cosmo!" begged Tails.

"Why shouldn't I?" scoffed Marik "It's her fault I almost died the last time we metso I'm giving her, her comeuppance!"

He bared his metal claws and prepared to plunge them into Cosmo's chest.

"Wait!" cried Cosmo "How are you still alive Marik?"

"Do I always have to explain how I'm still alive?" moaned Marik "Oh well here we go again: The ship exploded and sent me flying. Due to my well muscled body, I survived the impact but barely and I was put in prison. But your twin-tailed boyfriend decided to turn traitor and help me escape from prison so I could kill you all."

"I did not!" snapped Tails "You tricked me into helping you escape!"

"Yeah as if anyone's going to believe that." sniffed Marik "You'd better listen to me Cosmo, Tails is a traitor and if you stick around him, you'll end up worse off then you are now."

Cosmo couldn't believe what she was hearing. Tails, a traitor? Then again, she knew that Marik loved to be a liar so she knew that she should take Marik's statement with a pinch of salt.

"Tails, please tell me that isn't true!" gasped Cosmo "You didn't willingly help Marik escape from prison did you?"

"Of course not." said Tails with a sad face "Marik tricked me into thinking if I helped him escape, he would help me escape and he would turn good. But it turned out he was tricking me all along and he was using me to help him escape. It's the truth Cosmo, honest it is. I'm no traitor."

Marik snorted at Tails.

"Pretty words foxy boy but do you think the others would believe you? Even Sonic the Hedgehog?" he purred.

"I believe Tails." said Cosmo "I certainly don't believe you Marik, you always were known for being a deceiver and I know Sonic won't believe you since he's known Tails long enough to know he wouldn't lie to him."

"Now I'm convinced my lie isn't working." muttered Marik "Oh well, Cosmo it's time for you to die now. Tails, I'm going to spare your life as a token of appreciation for helping me escape so you be a good boy and let me do my job."

"No!" cried Tails "You leave Cosmo alone you big bully!"

Marik just pointed a finger as sharp as a steak knife at Tails and gave him an extremely painful electric shock. Tails screamed at the top of his voice and he was brought down to his knees as electricity surged up his fluffy little body. Marik didn't hesitate, he kept up the shocking just to give Tails more pain as he felt he deserved it. Cosmo didn't know what to do, she couldn't help Tails since Marik had pinned her down and Marik had the Chaos Emerald just out of her reach. All she could do was hope Sonic would come out and save her and Tails. Marik then suddenly stopped zapping Tails and let him have a moment to breathe. Tails panted and coughed heavily as the air that almost left his lungs began to return to him.

"I said I'll spare your life as a token of appreciation Tails." said Marik dryly "Don't make me change my mind because you know I'll do it."

"What's the point of you sparing me?" said Tails bitterly "You'll only kill me later when you take over Mobius and turn it into a war zone."

Marik just rolled his eyes.

"Just because I'm going to turn this place into a war zone, it doesn't mean I'm going to kill anyone." said Marik "I'll make the citizens fight each other to the death. And with this so-called Chaos Emerald I'll be able to make all this possible!"

He grinned wickedly as he admired the shiny gem in his hand. Marik had overheard Tails explaining the Chaos Emeralds to Cosmo and he was eager to use one. Tails tried to get up so he could retrieve the emerald but he couldn't, the painful shock Marik had given him had done a good deal of pain to him. Then suddenly a window flung open and Sonic jumped out of the window in a spin-dash. He hit Marik, causing him to fall off Cosmo and drop the emerald. Cosmo quickly grabbed the emerald and stayed back as Sonic got into a battle-ready stance and Marik had only just finished standing back up.

"Hey, Martian features!" yelled Sonic "Do you mind telling me what this is all about?"

"I should have expected your unwelcome arrival Sonic the Hedgehog!" snarled Marik "You just can't leave me alone for five minutes can you?"

"Well since you're trying to kill my friends, no I can't." said Sonic "And why should I be surprised that you're here right now even though you got blown up in your own spaceship?"

"I'm getting tired of explaining why I'm still alive every time it looks like I'm dead so let's just say I lived the explosion shall we?" sighed Marik.

"If that's what you want then OK." said Sonic "Now, do you mind telling me what this is all about?"

"Well after I tricked Tails into helping me escape from prison, I decided to yet again, try to kill Cosmo." said Marik "But then they find that Chaos Emerald and I listened in on their conversation about it and it sounds like a useful tool so I decided to take it for myself if you don't mind."

Sonic turned to Tails and Cosmo.

"Where did you find that Chaos Emerald you two?" he asked.

"It was covered in chocolate and I brought it from the store." said Tails "How it ended up being covered in chocolate is a mystery to me though."

"I see." said Sonic "And did I hear Marik wrong or did he say he tricked you into helping him escape from prison?"

"You heard him right Sonic." said Tails, his ears dropping back in despair "Marik tricked me into helping him escape. If you're wondering how he got there in the first place…"

"I think I can pretty much guess how he got in jail." interrupted Sonic "Now Marik, shall we fight?"

"Gladly!" said Marik, baring his metal claws "Winner takes all, loser gets killed. Sound fair?"

"Whatever you say you tiny psychopath." said Sonic "Now here's hedgehog in your face!"

Without warning, Sonic spin-dashed Marik, literally in the face! Marik hurtled backwards and skidded through the dirt. Marik leapt to his feet and tried to zap Sonic with a jolt of electricity. Sonic dodged the zap but Marik zapped at him again and just skimmed him across the thigh.

"Since when did you have electrical attacks?" yelped Sonic as Marik kept trying to zap him.

"This new metal hand I have gives me the ability to zap people." said Marik, zapping at him again "I will warn you though, it's very painful, but like I care about that! I love inflicting pain amongst others!"

Marik zapped at Sonic again but Sonic dodged the jolt and he spin-dashed Marik in the head, leaving a huge dent on his spiked helmet. Marik punched Sonic in the face with his metal hand. Marik's metal hand felt like a handbag full of rocks to Sonic because it was that hard. Sonic fell onto his side and spat out a tooth. Before Sonic could get up, Marik swiped the air with both arms and smacked Sonic with an energy wave. Sonic somersaulted in midair and landed on his back.

"Just because I don't have an Energy Diamond to help me it doesn't mean I'm any easier to defeat!" said Marik, smiling like a Tyrannosaurus Rex "I'm still as strong as ever Sonic and you will not defeat me this time!"

"I beg to differ though." said Sonic, leaping up, somersaulting in the air and landing behind Marik "I'm as strong as ever too and I've been active all the time you've spent imprisoned so all that time doing nothing must be affecting the way you fight now."

He then roundhouse kicked Marik in the back and sent the Martian sprawling. Before Marik could get up, Tails decided to intervene by dropkicking him. Then Amy and Cream ran outside and joined in. Marik only just stood up but Amy walloped him with her hammer and sent the Martian hurling through the air like a golf ball. Cream and her pet Chao Cheese both punched Marik in the face and the Martian crashed down to the ground. He lifted his head and spat out dirt and soil. Sonic and his friends stood before him, smirking triumphantly.

"I guess I was right." said Sonic "You're not nearly half as strong as you once were. We're gonna haul your sick-twisted mind back to jail where you belong!"

Marik just remained as he was, sitting on his knees and staring at the grass beneath him. Seeing as Marik appeared to be out of commission, Sonic and friends advanced on him, ready to nab him and restrain him. Then Marik turned around at a terrific speed and let fly four jolts of electricity from all four fingers! Sonic, Tails, Amy and Cream were all painfully electrocuted from the shocks and Marik drew his arm back and thrust it forward to send them all flying backwards. Sonic and Tails crashed into the wall of Sonic's house and they groaned in pain whereas Amy and Cream landed in front of the doorstep. Cosmo gasped in horror at her downed friends and she backed against the wall, clutching the Chaos Emerald tightly to her chest. Marik smiled wickedly at his triumph and he advanced on Cosmo menacingly.

"I win so I get the prize which is the Chaos Emerald." said Marik "Now Cosmo, would you be a nice little girl and hand it over?"

Cosmo clutched the emerald tighter and shook her head, she was too frightened to speak. Marik tried to keep his temper under control.

"Cosmo, if you hand over that emerald, I won't kill everybody." he lied.

Cosmo still refused to give him the emerald. Then suddenly, before Marik could do anything, a three clawed robotical hand appeared from nowhere and grabbed the Chaos Emerald in Cosmo's hands. Cosmo held on tight but the robot hand was too strong and it wrenched the emerald right out of her hands. Marik looked up to see where the hand had come from and he saw none other then Dr. Eggman in his Egg-Mobile hovering above them with Metal Sonic hovering next to him and the Chaos Emerald in the Egg-Mobile's robotical hand. The hand lifted the emerald up to Eggman and he took it into his own hands. He stared at the beautiful gem and grinned wickedly.

"So that's the power source my Egg-Mobile detected is it?" he said "It must be valuable then. This emerald looks a lot like the Master Emerald and Angel Island only a lot smaller but I bet it's just as powerful!"

"That emerald is mine you fat, moustachioed moron!" yelled Marik, leaping up and grabbing the robot arm that was still extended from underneath the Egg-Mobile.

Eggman bent over the edge to see what was going on underneath his Egg-Mobile and he screwed his face up at what he saw. Marik tried to climb up the arm so he could get to Eggman and snatch the Chaos Emerald back.

"Who the devil are you?" said Dr. Eggman, bewildered at the fact he wasn't looking at a Mobian.

"I am Marik the Martian and you will give me that Chaos Emerald!" yelled Marik "Or I will rip your limbs off and shove them up your nose!"

Then suddenly Metal Sonic punched Marik and the little Martian was sent flying off the Egg-Mobile's robot arm and he landed on his back. Dr. Eggman put a finger to his lips and mused for a moment.

"He's a Martian eh?" he said "So Martians DO exist! My kind have always believed in Martians for a long time and now I'm seeing one with my own eyes! I am the luckiest man alive!"

Back on the ground Marik had only just stood up and then Sonic, who had recovered from Marik's earlier attacks, spin-dashed him and knocked him onto his front. Marik got back up and smacked Sonic with an energy wave from his arm again. But before Marik could do anything else, Metal Sonic grabbed him by the arms from behind. Marik turned his head around to see what he was up against.

"What's this? A robot clone of Sonic?" he sniffed "No matter, it'll be destroyed just as easily!"

He grabbed Metal Sonic and flung him over and onto his back. Metal Sonic got back up and tried to slash at Marik but Marik dodged and gave him a whopping good kick that sent Metal Sonic staggering.

Then Marik swiped the air with his arms and hit Metal Sonic with an energy wave. Metal Sonic tried to strike back but Marik punched him with his robot hand and Metal Sonic was sent hurling backwards. Sonic and friends were watching the whole fight and they were amazed at how well Marik was doing against Metal Sonic.

"It's not fair!" whined Amy "How come we can barely lay a finger on Metal Sonic and yet Marik's beating him up without breaking a sweat?"

"I think I know why Amy." said Tails "Metal Sonic was built to withstand Sonic and anyone affiliated with him. But he's not built to withstand Marik the Martian since Dr. Eggman has never met Marik before. So that way, Metal Sonic will be a scrap heap when Marik's finished with him."

"That's the only decent thing he's ever going to do for us." said Sonic grimly "Although I wanted to smash Metal Sonic."

Marik punched Metal Sonic and the robot Sonic clone was sent skidding backwards. He stood up straight and began scanning Marik just as the Martian was getting ready for another attack. His visor then said the words "Martian Data: Copied" and then reverted back to his natural red optics. Marik tried to kick Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic was suddenly all the wiser. He grabbed Marik's leg and then swung him around in a perfect 360 degree spin and let go of him. Marik flew straight into the air and he landed painfully on his back. Marik got back to his feet and tried to attack again but Metal Sonic elbowed him in the stomach, then slammed him on the head with his fist, then gave him an upper cut and then gave him a good kick in the back side. And to top all that, he blasted him with his torso cannon. Marik fell to the ground, exhausted and defeated as Metal Sonic stood there watching him icily. Sonic couldn't believe it, Marik had the fight totally in his favour and now Metal Sonic is on top! What was going on?

"Hey Eggman!" yelled Sonic, turning into Eggman's direction "How come Metal Sonic was losing to Marik and now he's winning him?"

"That's very simple Sonic." said Dr. Eggman, smiling widely "Metal Sonic has the ability to copy other people's data. That's how he was able to defeat you and fourteen of your friends at once, he copied all your data before he even battled you. And it doesn't matter if you get a new friend or ally; Metal Sonic will copy their data and be just as strong as ever. You'll NEVER defeat Metal Sonic, Sonic, no matter what you do, Metal Sonic will always be on top!"

He laughed his usual loud grating laugh. Sonic got mad and spin-dashed his Egg-Mobile. Eggman yelped as he wobbled about furiously and he dropped the Chaos Emerald. Cream flew up and caught it in her hands. Dr. Eggman suddenly realized his Chaos Emerald was missing and he saw Cream, flying back down to the ground with it so he tried to snatch it off of her with the Egg-Mobile's metal claw. But Sonic sliced it in two with his spin-dash and Cream landed safely on the ground. Dr. Eggman got furious and he pounded the Egg-Mobile's sides with anger.

"You ruffians! Give me back my well earned Chaos Emerald!" he ordered.

"Nope, the emerald is ours." said Sonic smugly "Finders keepers you know."

Then Marik elbowed Sonic in the ribs and sent Sonic falling over. He zapped Cream with a quick electric jolt which caused her to drop the Chaos Emerald and Marik seized it in his hands. But then Metal Sonic drop-kicked him and snatched the emerald off of Marik. Then Amy got a sneak attack on Metal Sonic and walloped him with her hammer, causing Metal Sonic to drop the Chaos Emerald and Cosmo grabbed it.

"You get inside with the emerald Cosmo." ordered Sonic "We've got this."

"Be careful Sonic." said Cosmo as she went into the house with the emerald in her hands.

Marik tried to run after her but Sonic grabbed him by the collar of his leather jacket and held him back.

"Yo Martian head, timeout!" said Sonic, doing a time-out gesture "This fight is going to get us nowhere so why don't me and you form a temporary truce until we defeat Dr. Eggman and Metal Sonic? Once we defeat Eggman, me and you can have an out-to-out brawl for the Chaos Emerald, deal?"

"You've got it hedgehog!" said Marik, shaking Sonic's hand with his metal hand so he could give Sonic's hand a hard squeeze but Sonic didn't seem to notice "We beat Eggman, then we fight for the emerald. I like this plan."

"Yeah but don't start getting ahead of yourself!" warned Amy "You defiantly aren't getting that Chaos Emerald because we are!"

"Oh shut up you pink moron." muttered Marik.

Sonic, Tails, Amy, Cream and Marik all bent down into battle ready stances and they prepared to charge at Metal Sonic, who stood ominously before them, waiting to attack. Sonic, Tails, Amy and Cream all charged into battle. Marik just stood still. He smiled wickedly at the Mobians as they went into battle with Metal Sonic.

"Those fools will believe anything won't they?" he sneered "Now I can sneak into the house, kill Cosmo and get the emerald. Then I'll make a clean get away."

So he tip-toed away from the battlefield but he didn't get far. A warp-ring appeared right in front of him, causing Marik to jump and then he got a terrific uppercut to the face that actually knocked him out cold! It was Knuckles the Echidna! He had sensed the Chaos Emerald's sighting and he decided to come and see what was happening. He glowered at the unconscious Martian that lay before him.

"How is he still alive?" he wondered "Oh well, I've gotta help Sonic take down Egg-head and Metal Sonic."

As for the fight, Metal Sonic was holding everybody off as usual. Sonic tried to spin-dash him but Metal Sonic grabbed him and threw him away. He kicked Amy in the gut before she could hammer him into the ground, he grabbed Cream by the ears and threw her away and then he gave Tails an uppercut that made his lip bleed. Knuckles stepped in and gave Metal Sonic a terrific sucker punch.

Metal Sonic definitely did not see that coming and he was stunned by the punch. Metal Sonic fell onto his back and then Knuckles grabbed Metal Sonic and threw him straight up into Eggman's Egg-Mobile. Metal Sonic hit the Egg-Mobile so hard that Dr. Eggman literally fell out of the hovering machine and he fell onto his back. Then Metal Sonic landed with a thunk on top of him. And then the Egg-Mobile fell to the ground just behind Dr. Eggman. Sonic's face brightened at the fact help had just arrived.

"Hey Knuckles, perfect timing!" said Sonic.

"I know." said Knuckles "The Master Emerald was sensing rifts in the Chaos force which to me is a sign that someone has found a Chaos Emerald so I warped myself over the minute I managed to get a warp ring."

"Well you came just in time." said Sonic "We're having a tough time out here."

"I can see that." said Knuckles "I knocked Marik out the minute I got here." he added, pointing to the unconscious Martian that lay on the ground a few feet away "And then I helped you defeat Metal Sonic." he pointed to the groaning Dr. Eggman and the blacked out Metal Sonic.

"Well thanks for the help." said Sonic "And don't worry about the Chaos Emerald, Cosmo has it and she's hiding in my house so it's in safe hands."

"That's a relief." said Knuckles "Imagine how much trouble Eggman or Marik could do if they got it."

The moment Knuckles said Marik's name, the Martian woke up and got to his feet. Marik swaggered about as he stood up and he faced the Mobians standing before him.

"As if things couldn't get any worse." he muttered "Back up for Sonic had to arrive."

"That's right Martian head and I'm going to give you another knuckle sandwich for the crimes you've done in the past!" growled Knuckles, raising his fists.

"Why don't you by a good boy and run for it Marik?" said Sonic "You're injured and weak, you can't possibly hope to defeat us!"

Marik hated to admit it but Sonic was right, he was in no condition to fight so he did the only logical choice, retreat and rest until he was fit to fight again.

"Alright you win you filthy heathens!" growled Marik "But don't think I won't be back because I will! And that Chaos Emerald will be mine, and so will the other six Chaos Emeralds!"

And with that, Marik turned and ran as fast as he could possibly go. As for Dr. Eggman, he had recovered from Knuckles' attack and he knew he was in no condition to steal the emerald, especially since Metal Sonic was out of commission so he got into his Egg-Mobile, which amazingly still worked despite the damage sustained, and he flew away.

"I'm going to repair Metal Sonic, but I'll be back and I'll get those Chaos Emeralds, just you wait and see!" declared Dr. Eggman as he flew up into the sky.

Sonic just watched him fly away. The moment the villains vanished he called out.

"Hey Cosmo, it's safe to come out now!"

Cosmo opened the door and came out of the house with the Chaos Emerald in her hands. Knuckles saw the emerald and his eyes widened at the sight of it.

"After all these years of hiding." he said "The Chaos Emeralds show themselves once again. How did you find it Sonic?" he asked.

"I found it actually." said Tails "It was covered in chocolate and I bought it from the store. I have no idea how it got covered in chocolate in the first place but it's a good thing I bought it so now we have the emerald."

"It was a lucky thing." said Knuckles "Mobius would be in catastrophe if someone like Eggman ever got that emerald."

"So if we've got one of seven Chaos Emeralds then does that mean the other six will be somewhere around?" asked Amy "And if that's the case, shall we start a Chaos Emerald hunt so we can get the emeralds before the villains do?"

"That would be the best thing to do." said Knuckles "We mustn't let those emeralds fall into enemy hands!"

"Before we start this search for the Chaos Emeralds." said Sonic "I think we should recruit our friends to give us an extra hand in this search. We'll make two teams and we'll start searching for the emeralds."

With that said, Sonic dashed off to give the word to the very people he was looking for, Team Chaotix and his fellow team-mates from the Royal Fighters. As the friends watched Sonic run off, Cosmo said to Knuckles

"This Chaos Emerald hunt is going to be a tough one isn't it?"

"It sure is Cosmo." said Knuckles "But we'll find them all and keep them safe from Dr. Eggman, even if it takes us forever…"

Footnotes:

Tails is of course talking about his near-death experience in Story 27

*Don't miss Arc 2: The Cosmo and Cream Adventure from the exciting spin-off title Sonic the Hedgehog: Tales from Mobius !

Don't tell me you forgotten the shocking events of Story 34 have you?

The first Chaos Emerald has been found! The Chaos Emerald hunt is about to begin! And believe me, this is not going to be your tradtional Chaos Emerald hunt! No, this hunt features more twists and turns then a tin of spaghetti and it will not end in total victory for Sonic either! Join me next time as the hunt for the Chaos Emeralds begins... Read and Review.

By the way Kratos Pwns, just out of interest, what's your opinion on that punchable dork Ginger the Fox? If you wish, you can explain it in a review. :)

Shiver my Emeralds! Part 1

Story 37: Shiver my Emeralds! Part 1

Moments later, Sonic arrived back with recruitments. He had brought with him: Team Chaotix which consisted of Espio the Chameleon, Vector the Crocodile and Charmy Bee and his fellow team-mates from the Royal Fighters Service: Geoffrey St. John the Skunk, Bunnie Rabbot the Cyborg Rabbit, Wilson the Dog and Mandy Mouse. They were all wondering what the commotion was all about as Sonic gathered them up and brought them back to the others who had stood waiting for him.

"So mate, what's with all the gander then?" asked Geoffrey.

"Is there a big mission which involves fighting Dr. Eggman for us all?" asked Mandy, hoping it was since she was looking forward to kicking Eggman's backside for what he did to her sister Marion the other month*.

Sonic signalled for everybody to quieten down. Everybody fell into silence and then Sonic spoke:

"The reason I have gathered you all here today is because we have found one of the seven Chaos Emeralds."

Cosmo the Seedrian showed everybody the gleaming green gem she held in her hands. Everybody stared at it in amazement but then they exchanged confused glances.

"Um, what is a Chaos Emerald?" asked Wilson "Is it something important?"

"Yes it is." said Knuckles the Echidna "Does anyone else not know what a Chaos Emerald is?"

Everybody except Espio raised their hands. Vector looked at the chameleon in surprise.

"You know what a Chaos Emerald is?" he asked, taken aback at the fact Espio knew something he didn't.

"Yes I know what a Chaos Emerald is." said Espio "Us chameleons know everything due to the fact we are acute information gatherers and we don't miss many details."

"Well for those who don't know what a Chaos Emerald is, I'll tell you." said Knuckles.

Everybody sat down in a circle as Knuckles explained the history of the Chaos Emeralds to them.

"The Chaos Emeralds are mystical gems with unfathomable power." said Knuckles "There used to be thousands of them buried in the crater where Angel Island once was. But the traitor of Angel Island Imperator Ix unearthed them all and tried to use their power to destroy us and bring Angel Island down. My father stopped them and using Chaos powers, merged the gems together to make seven so there are only seven Chaos Emeralds. After Ix was defeated, my father's last act was to send the Chaos Emeralds away. They've been hidden for years but I think all that hiding is about to end since we now have one of them so we've gathered you all here to help us find the seven Chaos Emeralds and keep them out of the reach of Dr. Eggman or any other villain out there."

The group had listened to everything and they were intrigued with the story.

"So we've gotta find those Chaos Emeralds before Eggman does?" said Bunnie "Shouldn't be a problem for us fighters at all!"

"You said it Bunnie." said Wilson in agreement "By the way Knuckles, are the Chaos Emeralds all green in colour?"

"No." said Knuckles "They are green, blue, yellow, purple, red, cyan and grey but they are all the same shape so it shouldn't be too hard to tell it's a Chaos Emerald."

"So when do we begin this emerald hunt?" asked Charmy eagerly "It sounds like lots of fun!"

"Right now." said Sonic "We'll have teams of two. Team One will be me, Tails, Knuckles, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy and Team 2 can be Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Bunnie, Vector, Espio and Charmy. We'll split up and search all over Mobius for the emeralds."

"But how do we find the Chaos Emeralds?" asked Mandy "Is there a way of tracking them down?"

"If you have a Chaos Emerald with you, it glows brighter when it's near another Chaos Emerald." said Knuckles.

"But we only have one Chaos Emerald." noted Mandy "How's the other team going to find a Chaos Emerald if that team doesn't have an emerald?"

"I have an idea." said Tails, pulling the tracker he used to find the production chamber in Eggman's base out of his glove "If I can upload the Chaos Emerald's energy signature into this tracker then it should be able to track other Chaos Emeralds."

Cosmo held out the Chaos Emerald and Tails did a little scan of the Chaos Emerald with the tracker. After the scan was finished Tails did a few settings on the tracker. Then he set it to track mode and held it in front of the Chaos Emerald. It began beeping.

"It worked!" said Tails "The other team can use this tracker to find the Chaos Emeralds!"

"Wow kid, you're smart." complimented Mandy.

Tails just smiled modestly.

"Well that's settled then." said Sonic "We have a way of finding Chaos Emeralds so let's go emerald hunting everyone!"

"Yeah!" everybody cheered in unison.

Sonic gave the tracker to Amy and they held hands while staring into each other's eyes.

"Amy, you take care of yourself and your team." said Sonic "Because we won't be around to save you if you get in trouble."

"Don't worry Sonic, we'll be A Okay!" said Amy "I'll try my best to find those Chaos Emeralds. I hope your team has good luck too."

"We'll be fine Amy." said Sonic "Especially since my team has me, the world's fastest hedgehog. Goodbye for now and good luck."

"Same to you my handsome hero." said Amy teasingly.

Sonic just groaned quietly as Amy turned around to speak to the team she was paired up with.

"OK girls and boys, we've got a mission and let's not let anyone stand in our way!" said Amy in the manner of a tough army general "Now let's get going!"

With that said, Amy's team immediately departed and started their emerald hunt with Amy leading since she had the tracker. The moment they left, Geoffrey turned to Sonic.

"So when do we start?" he asked.

"Right now." said Sonic "Me and Tails will search the mountains, you and the others will search on the ground. While we're here. If we don't find anything we search somewhere else."

"Sounds good to me." said Wilson "I wonder how many emeralds we will find?"

"Who knows?" said Sonic "But don't get competitive. This isn't a competition of who can find the most Chaos Emeralds, we just need to find all seven and that's it."

"Then let's get going!" yelled Knuckles "Those emeralds aren't gonna find themselves!"

That was more then enough to get everybody going. Sonic and Tails headed north to where the mountains that protruded proudly from the centre of Green Hill Zone were and Knuckles, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy started prowling around the forest to see if a Chaos Emerald was there. Sonic had taken the Chaos Emerald with him so he knew when he was getting close to one. Sonic and Tails reached the mountains and stared up at them. The mountains were very tall but not the tallest mountains on Mobius, they were very rocky, they were flat on the top and they looked hard to climb up. Sonic never had trouble climbing anything since he could run fast and he could scale a smooth surface and Tails could fly so climbing this mountain would not be a problem. Sonic ran up the mountain at top speed and Tails flew after him. But the moment they reached the top of the tall, rocky mountain, they had an unexpected surprise awaiting them. There, sitting in the middle of the top of the mountain was Marik the Martian and he was sitting there with his feet and hands lightly pressed together and his eyes closed as if he was meditating. Sonic seemed more surprised at Marik's calm nature then the fact he was sitting at the top of a mountain but he shook it off and prepared to fight.

"Well, well, well if it isn't Marik the Martian?" said Sonic.

"Sonic the Hedgehog." said Marik softly "I should have expected your unpleasant presence sometime soon."

"You probably should have." said Sonic "Now you can make this easy on yourself and surrender so we can put you in a nice warm prison cell or you can get your butt kicked by me and Tails."

"I will do neither." said Marik quietly

His eyes snapped open and he blasted Sonic with an unpredicted jolt of electricity from his metal fingers. Sonic cried out in pain as electricity surged through his body and Marik stopped to give him a breather. The moment he stopped shocking Sonic, he turned around and leaped off the mountain. Tails did not want Marik to get away so he flew after him while Sonic began to recover from the painful shock he had received from Marik. Marik was still falling down the mountain after jumping off it and he saw Tails flying after him. Marik pointed a metal claw at Tails and tried to shock him but Tails dodged the jolt. Marik tried again but Tails yet again, dodged the jolt. Then Marik landed on a steep slope and he slid down the slope as if he was snowboarding. Tails continued flying after him, trying to keep up with Marik's fast sliding. Marik then shot up a ramp and flew through the air. He spun around five times in midair before landing on another slope and began to slide down that. Tails tried to keep up with Marik but Marik's sliding was too quick for him. Marik then slid straight through an archway and he shot at it with a jolt of electricity. The archway caved in and blocked the slope but Tails effortlessly flew over them. Marik then slid up a loop-de-loop shaped rock and he flew through the air. He landed on his feet and jumped down a hole in the ground. Tails didn't see that and he flew straight past the hole, wondering where Marik had escaped to. Tails touched down and scanned the surroundings. Then something appeared behind him and touched him in the shoulder. Tails screamed and leaped into the air, only to see it was Sonic the Hedgehog standing there.

"Oh Sonic, you almost gave me a heart-attack!" gasped Tails.

"What? Am I naturally scary or something?" joked Sonic "Where's Marik?"

"He's gone." said Tails "I think I lost him. I'm sorry I couldn't catch him Sonic."

"Don't sweat it big guy, we'll find him." said Sonic "If I didn't know any better I'd say Marik is hiding in a cave since caves are good places to hide."

"Like over there?" asked Tails, pointing to a nearby cave.

Sonic looked in Tails' direction and saw the cave he was pointing at. The cave's entrance was wide and full of sharp pointy rocks dangling from the ceiling.

"Yeah, like over there." said Sonic "Let's see if that miserable Martian is in there."

Sonic and Tails wondered over to the cave. The cave, like all other caves was pitch black in darkness and they couldn't see a thing in there so Tails pulled out the green Chaos Emerald they had to light the way. The two friends walked quietly into the cave with the emerald providing light for them. The cave was eerily quiet with the exception of water dripping from the ceiling. Sonic and Tails looked around to see if they could find anything. There didn't appear to be anyone around, they appeared to be the only life forms in the cave. Tails began to shiver; he was feeling a little scared right now due to the cave's dark and creepy nature and the fact Marik was probably waiting to pounce on him and Sonic any second now. Sonic didn't seem bothered at all. He kept his senses alert for anything suspicious. Then he heard a little noise as if someone scuffed a shoe on the stony ground. Sonic froze and listened again. Tails stood still and waited for Sonic to say something.

"Did you hear something?" asked Tails nervously.

"I think I did." said Sonic softly "But I'm not sure what it was."

Then they saw a flash of electricity shoot through the air and hit the huge rocky wall above them. The jolt of electricity caused a massive bang and the wall began to rain down with rocks and boulders in a big avalanche.

"TAILS RUN!" screamed Sonic.

Tails immediately ran for it and Sonic zipped away. The rocks all came crashing down with deafening smashes and Tails was struck in the back by one, causing him to fall over and drop the Chaos Emerald. Then more rocks crashed down on the ground and either caused the ground to slightly crack or broke into pieces. The avalanche finally finished and the dust floated away into nothingness. That jolt of electricity had been caused by Marik the Martian who was standing on a ledge above the entrance. He put a metal finger to his lips and blew at it as if he was blowing the thin trial of smoke from a fired revolver away. Then Marik did an amazing leap and landed in front of the rock pile. He saw a faint green glisten coming from underneath the rock pile and he dug into the pile furiously, throwing big chunks of rock over his shoulder. After throwing away many rocks he found it, the dropped Chaos Emerald that Sonic and Tails had. Marik seized the emerald and wrenched it out of the pile. He brought the gleaming gem to his face and smiled wickedly.

"You won't be needing this anymore Sonic the Hedgehog." he purred to himself.

He opened his jacket up and stuffed the emerald in a pocket that was inside the jacket. He patted his side casually and he walked away from the rock pile. Marik exited the dark cave and he turned back around to face the entrance. He aimed a finger as sharp as a flint at the roof of the cave and fired a jolt of electricity at it. The electrical jolt caused yet another avalanche and the entrance caved in! The entrance was now full of large heavy rocks and no one would be getting in or out of that cave anymore. Marik blew at his finger and walked away.

"I do hope they were crushed in that avalanche." he said with a sadistic grin on his face "And if not, then hopefully any creatures living in there will finish them off."

He smiled at the very thought of Sonic and Tails, crushed underneath tonnes of rocks as he walked on away from the valley of mountains.

If Marik had decided to stick around, he would have died of disappointment. Tails managed to heave himself out of the pile of rocks on top of him. He brushed some pebbles off his fur and then he began to dig into the rock pile beside him.

"Sonic!" he cried as he began throwing rocks behind him "Oh Sonic, are you in there?"

"Tails when I tell you to run I mean run!" came a teenage voice from behind that Tails knew so well.

Sonic did not get caught up in the avalanche at all; he had run away and stayed put until it stopped. Tails was relieved to see Sonic was OK.

"Oh thank goodness Sonic, you're OK." he sighed.

Then Tails looked at his hands, only to see no Chaos Emerald there.

"Oh no, the Chaos Emerald!" he cried

He felt himself over frantically and then got on his hands and knees and began searching desperately.

"Where is it?" asked Sonic.

"I think it got knocked out of my hand." said Tails as he threw a rock over his shoulder.

"By a rock?" sniffed Sonic.

"Yes, by a rock." grumbled Tails, searching through the rock pile.

"Tails, you need to take more care of the Chaos Emeralds you know." said Sonic sternly "They have great power and if they fall into the wrong hands Mobius will fall into chaos."

"I'm sorry I lost the emerald Sonic." said Tails, his ears drooping down into despair "But I wouldn't have lost it if that rockslide didn't happen."

"Speaking of the rockslide, how did it happen in the first place?" wondered Sonic.

"I think Marik did it." said Tails "I saw a jolt of electricity hit those rocks and only Marik has electrical abilities."

"I saw it too." said Sonic "So if Marik caused the rockslide…then maybe he has the Chaos Emerald!" he shrieked "That's it! Marik must have caused that rockslide in an attempt to kill us and before we recovered, he took the Chaos Emerald to boot!"

"Now I'm REALLY sorry I lost the Chaos Emerald." said Tails sadly.

"Hey Tails, don't lose hope, we'll get it back." said Sonic softly "After all, with my supersonic speed, Marik won't get far without me catching him. Now let's leave this cave shall we?"

"Yes." said Tails "I'm tired of being in a cave now."

Sonic and Tails ran off to the entrance of the cave. They had a hard time though due to the fact they had no Chaos Emerald to light the way so the cave was very dark and they spent a lot of time almost stumbling over something or banging their foot on a rock. When they finally reached the entrance of the cave, they got a nasty shock. The cave's entrance was blocked thanks to Marik the Martian's electrical attacks.

"Oh no!" cried Tails "Marik must have blocked the entrance! We're trapped in here!"

"Not if I can help it!" yelled Sonic, spinning into a ball and spin-dashing the rock-pile.

He crushed one rock to pieces with his spin-dash. That one rock was more then enough though. The moment Sonic crushed the rock, the entire pile began to fall down and let in the light of day. Rocks tumbled over and fell down to the ground. Soon half of the pile had fallen away, allowing Sonic and Tails to escape. Sonic and Tails crawled over the pile of rocks and made it out into the fresh air and the light of day. They shielded their eyes for a moment as they waited for their eyes to adjust and then they moved on.

"Boy does it feel good to get out of that cave." said Sonic, stretching and inhaling deeply "Now where did that creep Marik go?"

"I dunno." said Tails "But we can't let him keep that Chaos Emerald. We must find him."

"Well I hope you can keep up little buddy." said Sonic "Because I'm gonna go really fast now."

Sonic revved his feet up and he ran off at his trademark speed. Tails twisted his tails around one another, took flight and he flew off after Sonic. Sonic and Tails sped through the valley of mountains, desperately searching for Marik the Martian. They knew that Martian had to be captured otherwise he would try to misuse the emerald's power and cause mayhem and destruction…

Marik had left the mountains and now he continued walking through the ever stretching fields of Green Hill Zone, holding the Chaos Emerald in his hand and staring at it with enormous interest. The emerald's beauty enchanted him and he could not keep his eyes off it. Marik, despite having a passion for death and destruction, was very fond of shiny gems and riches and treasure. Marik often felt a great sense of power just touching glamorous gems and he often felt that being surrounded by riches makes you a highly respected person.

"Oh little Chaos Emerald." he purred to himself "What kind of power do you possess? How powerful are you on your own? Or do I need all seven to unlock your power?"

His train of thoughts were soon cut off by the sound of voices in the distance. He quickly put the Chaos Emerald back in his pocket and wondered on some more. He came to a hill drop and he peered down the hill. He had come to the end of the field and had come across a boat port. There was a huge galleon at port with enormous sails and wooden bodywork. It mystified Marik as to why anyone would be using an old fashioned boat like that instead of a modern boat. But then Marik found the answer. He saw a gang of sixteen Mobians at the port, carrying heavy luggage on board as if they were preparing to leave. They were all dressed strangely too. Fifteen of the Mobians wore ragged stripy shirts and ragged shorts and they had no shoes on their feet. The sixteenth pirate was obviously their leader since he wore more fancy clothes then the others. He wore a purple dress-coat which was a fancy coat with a long section at the back often known as the tails, a blue French-cocked hat with a giant feather sticking out of it and white gloves. This Mobian was a hyena and he was a well respected leader of a pirate gang, the very gang Marik was observing now and he was known as Cutthroat Jim. He got his nickname from the fact he was deathly fond of cutting throats with his cutlass and he wore a lot of jewellery.

"Avast ye bilge rats!" Cutthroat Jim yelled at his gang "Hurry up with the loading! We be sailing in a matter of minutes!"

"Oh good. Fresh meat to sink my claws into." Marik said to himself, rubbing his hands "And they happen to be pirates too. When there are pirates, there is treasure to be had! I think I'll just stroll down there and sneak after them and see what treasures they seek."

And with that Marik sped down the hill and took shelter behind a large crate. He opened the crate and slipped inside, finding himself sitting on a lot of cups for the pirates to drink out of and he closed the lid. The pirates continued loading the ship and Marik slightly eased the lid open so he could see what they were doing. Cutthroat Jim continued barking orders out to his crew.

"You be careful with that matey!" he yelled at a pair of pirates who were carelessly carrying a crate full of expensive products "That contains me precious booty from past raids and I don't want you careless dogs breaking anything!"

"Sorry Captain." said the pirates, carrying the crate more carefully this time.

"Once we set sail, we shall head off to the Coco Islands." announced Cutthroat Jim "The treasure we seek is there and I have the treasure map to prove it."

He pulled a long slip of paper out of his sleeve and unfolded it.

"Hey can I see it?" asked a dopey pirate who was a vole with a dopey voice.

"No you may not First Mate Gormless!" yelled Cutthroat Jim, keeping the map out of Gormless' reach "Only the Captain sees ye map. Those are the rules and you swabs will obey ye rules or I will throw you all overboard!"

"Yes Captain." said Gormless.

"I do hope this so called Emerald of the Seas is worth searching for." said a nearby pirate who did some stretches to ease his aching back.

"The Emerald of the Seas matey…" said Cutthroat Jim, lifting the pirate's head up to his own and staring him directly in the eye "Is said to be the most beautiful emerald ever to be seen and that he who touches it gets a feeling of power and greatness so yes it will be worth searching for you moody, grouchy old cockroach!"

"OK Captain, I'm sorry I protested!" squeaked the pirate.

Marik had heard everything and he smiled to himself.

"Emerald of the Seas eh?" he said under his breath "He who touches it gets a feeling of power and greatness eh? Well this is one treasure I simply must steal! And primitive pirates will be no obstacle for me!"

Then suddenly he felt himself being hoisted off the ground. A pirate had picked up the crate he was hiding in and now he was carrying it onto the galleon. Marik smiled to himself. He was coming along for the trip it seemed and he would be taken all the way to Coco Island and once the pirates found the treasure, he would steal it. Cutthroat Jim watched the loading process and he glanced at the treasure map again.

"I hope this emerald is as good as the person who gave me this map says it is." he said to himself "Otherwise I will give that person a good pirate style punishment."

But Cutthroat Jim was about to get more then he bargained for on this trip…

Meanwhile, Knuckles, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy had searched then entire forest for two hours straight and they hadn't found a thing since they started the hunt. Geoffrey began searching through probably the thirtieth bush he'd been searching in since this emerald hunt started and Knuckles looked in a hole in a tree only to find nothing there. Knuckles glided down from the tree with his dreadlocks and he landed beside Geoffrey.

"Hey skunk boy, found anything?" he asked.

"Not so much as a Flicky Bird mate." said Geoffrey with a tone of disappointment in his voice "Those Chaos Emeralds aren't as easy to find as I thought."

"Um Knuckles, you say that we can find a Chaos Emerald by using another Chaos Emerald right?" said Wilson.

"Yes." said Knuckles.

"But Sonic has the Chaos Emerald so how are we supposed to find another emerald without it?" asked Wilson.

"I can sense if Chaos Energy is nearby or not." said Knuckles "Years of guarding the Master Emerald have given me a good sense of Chaos Energy and whenever I'm close to Chaos Energy I can feel it in my veins so I know if we're near or not."

"You mean you can feel Chaos Energy?" said Wilson "Well we're lucky aren't we?"

While they were talking, Mandy crept past them on tip-toe, trying to make sure nobody was watching her and she sneaked up to the deeper parts of the forest. Unfortunately, Knuckles spotted her and stopped her dead in her tracks.

"And just where do you think you are going mouse?" demanded Knuckles.

Mandy sweat-dropped and turned to face Knuckles nervously.

"Um…I'm looking for Sonic and Tails." she said quickly "I want to make sure those two are alright."

"Oh." said Knuckles "If you wanted to go looking for Sonic and Tails you could have just told us. You didn't need to go creeping off like that."

Mandy nodded and ran off as quick as she could. After Mandy disappeared into the forest, Wilson began scratching his head in thought.

"Mandy's been acting funny recently I've noticed." he said "She keeps sneaking off somewhere without telling anybody and then she comes back and never says a thing about it. I think she's hiding something."

Geoffrey's eyes narrowed to a glare and he primed his arm-mounted crossbow.

"If she's doing villainous work behind our backs then she'd better watch out." he said threateningly "Because I've got a crossbow that loves to deal with traitors and scoundrels alike."

"Now, now Geoffrey, take it easy boy." said Wilson "I don't think Mandy's going to betray us or anything like that. Maybe she's just troubled and doesn't wanna talk about it."

Geoffrey lowered his arm.

"I don't think there are any Chaos Emeralds here." said Knuckles "We've literally searched the entire place and I haven't had a whiff of Chaos Energy throughout the search."

"I think we should look somewhere else." said Geoffrey "I wonder if Sonic and Tails have found anything while they've been searching on their own."

Just as he finished that sentence, Knuckles spotted Sonic and Tails speeding by in the distance. They were heading somewhere and Knuckles wanted to find out where they were heading and why.

"Come on guys, we're following Sonic!" said Knuckles "We're gonna see where he's heading in such a hurry."

Knuckles and Geoffrey ran off whereas Wilson waited for Mandy to reappear. No sooner had Knuckles and Geoffrey run off, Mandy emerged from the forest and ran up to Wilson.

"Did I miss something?" she asked "Where are Knuckles and Geoffrey going in such a hurry?"

"Knuckles just spotted Sonic whizzing by and he decided we should go and follow him to see where he's going."

"I wish I brought my car." said Mandy grimly "We'd catch up with him easily in it."

"Well I'm afraid we'll have to run." said Wilson "Come on before Knuckles and Geoffrey lose us!"

Wilson and Mandy ran as fast as they could run and they caught up with Knuckles and Geoffrey. The four knew that they couldn't catch up to Sonic or keep up with him due to his speed but they kept on running and tried as hard as they could to keep up.

As for Sonic and Tails, they had left the mountain valley after finding no sign of Marik anywhere and they found a trail he left in the grassy meadows from walking through it so they followed it, totally unaware of the fact Knuckles, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy were about four miles behind them and trying to keep up. Sonic and Tails continued to follow the trial.

"How far did Marik walk after leaving us?" wondered Sonic "We've been following this trial forever!"

"I have no idea." said Tails "But if you're running and he's only walking, we'll catch him in an instant won't we?"

"I hope so." said Sonic "I wanna pound Marik's head in for daring to steal that Chaos Emerald from us!"

Then Sonic suddenly screeched to a halt at the edge of a hilltop he had just come across. Tails landed beside him and they both peered down at the bottom of the hill. They saw Cutthroat Jim and his pirate gang still loading things onto the ship and getting ready to set sail.

"Pirates?" said Sonic with a tone of confusion in his voice "Why would Marik be dabbling with pirates?"

"Who knows?" said Tails, shrugging "Maybe he hates pirates just as much as he hates peace lovers."

"Well if Marik thinks he can sneak onto a pirate ship with the Chaos Emerald in tow then he's got another thing coming!" declared Sonic "Tails, we are going with those pirates and we're gonna see where Marik is!"

Tails gulped.

"You're not serious are you?" he said weakly.

"I'm totally serious here." said Sonic "If Marik's on that ship and that ship sets sail, we'll never be able to catch him so we need to get on that ship and find him."

"But what if it sets sail before we can get off?" asked Tails.

"You can just fly me off the ship and presto, we're back on dry land." said Sonic "Don't worry Tails, this'll be a piece of cake."

"OK." said Tails reluctantly; scuffing his shoe "I hope it'll work."

So Sonic and Tails ran down the hill and took shelter behind a stack of barrels. Sonic peeked around the corner to see what the pirates were up to. Cutthroat Jim just stood there barking more orders to his crew as they loaded the few pieces of luggage that was left. What the pirates needed all that luggage for and what was in it was a mystery to Sonic but he knew that the luggage was a way of getting on the ship undetected. Sonic opened a barrel and Tails climbed into it. The barrel reeked of fish and Tails screwed his face up at the very smell of it. He clutched his nose as Sonic closed the barrel he was hiding in. Sonic opened another barrel that reeked of fish and was just about to climb in until he spotted something sticking out of Cutthroat Jim's pocket. Moving at lightening speed, Sonic zipped by Jim and snatched the thing out of his pocket. To Cutthroat Jim, it felt like a huge gust of wind blowing behind him and he almost fell over. Sonic leaped into the barrel and closed the lid. He looked at the thing he had just pinched from Cutthroat Jim. He had stolen the treasure map and he looked at it very closely. It was dark in the barrel so Sonic couldn't see all that much but he could see one thing that caught his attention. The X on the map which marks where the treasure was had a picture of a blue emerald above it and the emerald's shape was very similar to a Chaos Emerald's. An ordinary emerald only comes in the colour green and according to Knuckles, the Chaos Emeralds came in the colours green, blue, yellow, purple, red, cyan and grey so does this mean that the treasure the pirates seek is a Chaos Emerald? Sonic had no idea but he knew the pirates wouldn't find the treasure if they didn't have the map so he had to give it them back. Sonic opened the barrel a tiny bit and slipped the map out through the gap. It floated gently down to the ground and rested there. As for Cutthroat Jim, he had noticed the map was missing and he was doing a mad search for it.

"Curse ye rotten wind to swabble me map away!" he cursed "How am I going to find ye Emerald of the Seas if I have no map?"

"Hey Cutthroat Jim! I found it!" cried First Mate Gormless.

He was just about to pick up the barrels and started loading them but he spotted the map lying around so he picked it up and showed it to Cutthroat Jim. Cutthroat Jim took the map and bonked Gormless on the head with his fist.

"You blundering blockhead!" he yelled "Haven't a told you only the Captain touches ye map Gormless?"

"Yes Captain, you have." said Gormless.

"Well do as the Captain says in the future!" scolded Cutthroat Jim "Now load those barrels on board you lazy dog! They're the only things left to load!"

"Yes sir!" said Gormless stupidly and he zipped off to do the job.

He picked up the barrel Tails was hiding in and he carried it across the boarding ramp and into the ship's hold. Despite being stupid, Gormless knew the barrel he was carrying suspiciously weighed more then it should and he couldn't understand why it felt so heavy. After dumping the barrel onto the floor, he went back outside to get another barrel. Gormless grabbed the barrel Sonic was hiding in and he carried that onto the ship and into the hold. He couldn't understand why that barrel felt heavy too. After he dumped the barrel, he went outside to get the rest and to his relief, they weighed as much as a barrel of fish should usually weigh so the two he'd just loaded obviously had more fish then the others did. At long last the cargo had been loaded and now Cutthroat Jim was ready to go. He boarded the ship along with his fifteen pirates and he pulled the boarding ramp onboard the ship. As for Knuckles, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy, they came across the pirate gang and they spotted Sonic climbing into the barrel so they knew where he was. They lay low until the pirates had finished loading and now the huge galleon deployed its enormous sails and the ship left the port and sailed off into the wavy blue sea. The four Mobians ran down the hill and to the edge of the port and watched the galleon disappear from view.

"Now this strike me as odd." said Geoffrey, putting a finger to his chin "Why would Sonic follow them pirate blokes?"

"Maybe they have a Chaos Emerald or something." suggested Mandy "So Sonic's following them to get the emerald and run for it."

"But how can we follow him?" asked Wilson "We haven't got a boat and there doesn't appear to be a boat anywhere on this port so we can't follow that ship and get Sonic off!"

"There's a speedboat over there." said Knuckles, pointing to it "We could use that to follow them."

The speedboat was large enough for a crew of four and it was a gleaming silver colour that sparkled like a million knives in the sun. The four Mobians scrambled onto the speedboat and Mandy took control since she knew how to drive a boat as well as a car.

"Hold on tight boys!" she said "This is going to be a really fast ride!"

The boys gripped the railings on the sides of the speedboat and Mandy started the engine. The speedboat roared into life and its engine spluttered as the boat began to start up. Then the speedboat took off at top speed and roared through the water like a torpedo, sending small waves flying everywhere. Mandy squealed with delight as she enjoyed going fast whereas Wilson looked like he was about to faint. Knuckles and Geoffrey kept their eyes on the horizon to see if they could see the galleon.

"What do you want us to do when we catch up to the pirate ship?" Geoffrey shouted to Knuckles, trying to be heard over the boat's engine.

"We kill the engine so those pirates don't hear us and we just follow it nice and slowly!" Knuckles shouted back "Those pirates won't suspect a thing!"

"I hope we catch up soon!" cried Wilson "I hate going at extremely fast speeds!"

"Oh you're such a skitter bug Wilson." sighed Mandy.

But Wilson didn't hear her because of the engine's loud motor roaring away. One whole minute later, Knuckles and Geoffrey spotted the galleon in the distance, its sails flapping in the wind like clothes on a washing line on a rainy day. Mandy stopped the motor and the speedboat slowed down to a cruising speed. The motor fell into silence and the speedboat slowly drifted through the water. The speedboat was still going fast enough to catch up to the galleon but it wasn't going at a terrific speed, it was just going slowly through the water so the pirates wouldn't hear them. After a minute of drifting towards the sailing galleon, Geoffrey aimed his arm mounted crossbow and he fired at he galleon. He had fired a grappling hook and it hooked itself onto a railing high up on the galleon. Geoffrey pulled the end of the line out of his crossbow and he tied it around the railing to the speedboat.

"There, now the blokes can't lose us." said Geoffrey.

"Good thinking skunk." said Knuckles "Let's just hope the pirates don't notice us."

"I just hope they haven't found Sonic yet." said Wilson "Pirates are vicious and bloodthirsty sadists after all and they like to throw people overboard."

"Wilson, I wish you'd calm down a little." said Mandy "Sonic can beat an army of Eggman robots, a bunch of lame pirates are not going to be a problem for him."

"I agree." said Knuckles "And they'd certainly be no match for me if they decided to pick a fight with me. I'd ground them all into the dirt."

"But the plan isn't to fight the pirates is it?" said Geoffrey "It's just to help Sonic get off the ship if he tries to escape it."

"And that's what we're doing." said Knuckles.

The galleon sailed on through the calm, still ocean with the speedboat clinging onto it and being pulled after the galleon by the grappling hook Geoffrey had set up.

Meanwhile, Sonic and Tails opened the barrels they were hiding in and they gasped for breath. The smell of fish burnt their nostrils and they were relieved to be out of the barrels at long last. They climbed out of the barrels they were hiding in and they closed them. Tails wiped some ice off his fur.

"I always wonder why do fish smell so bad and yet we love to eat them?" griped Tails.

"Beats me." said Sonic "Now if Marik's hiding on this ship, which is likely, then maybe he's in here and probably hiding in one of those crates."

Sonic ran over to one crate and he opened it. The crate was full of spare uniforms for if the pirates ever needed a clean outfit, especially Cutthroat Jim since he loved his outfits to be spic-and-span. Sonic closed the crate and looked in another one. This crate contained some of Cutthroat Jim's most prized possessions that he loved to show off to other pirates just to make them jealous. He would also show off these insanely expensive riches to people he attacked to show them how much he had raided in his life-time and how much business he meant. Sonic closed the crate and looked in another one. Tails began looking in crates too. He looked in a crate full of spare weapons for in case the pirates ever lost theirs in battle and they needed back up. The crate was full of cutlasses, pistols, pikes and boarding axes. Pirates are brutal people and they carried a great deal of brutal weapons. Tails shuddered at his find and he closed the crate in a hurry. He spotted a small crate sitting at the back of the hold. Tails had a sneaky feeling Marik was hiding in there. Tails crept over to the crate while trying not to trip over the mess of nets and cannonballs that littered the hold. He made it to the crate and he ever so slightly eased it open. The moment he opened it though, Marik leaped out of the crate and gave Tails a very painful electric shock that brought the fox to his knees. Sonic saw Marik hurting Tails and he spin-dashed the Martian straight into the wall. Marik hit the wall and groaned and Sonic grabbed him by the arms and held him there.

"OK Marik the Martian, you give us that Chaos Emerald back or I'm throwing you overboard!" threatened Sonic.

"Fat chance hedgehog!" said Marik, trying to aim his claws at Sonic so he could electrocute him.

Tails ran over to the weapons crate he looked in earlier and he grabbed a pistol. But he didn't shoot Marik with the pistol, instead he ran up to the pinned Martian and he whacked the palm of his robotic hand with it.

"OUCH!" cried Marik "Watch it you wretched little rat! Little kids shouldn't play with guns!"

He kicked Sonic away from him and he tried to electrocute Tails but Tails had smashed the voltage compactor, the little dome in the palm of his metal hand, with the gun so Marik couldn't use his electric attacks. His fingers just sparked harmlessly as he tried to shock him. Sonic saw his chance and he spin-dashed Marik again. Marik fell to the ground and Sonic grabbed a cutlass from the weapons crate. Sonic pinned Marik to the ground by his jacket with the cutlass so Marik couldn't get away, he was stuck and helpless. Sonic stood over the pinned Martian and glared at him.

"Marik, all we want is the Chaos Emerald back and we don't wanna cause any trouble on here since this is a pirate's ship so make this easy on yourself and surrender." said Sonic.

"I will not give you the Chaos Emerald back!" yelled Marik "It's mine and mine alone!"

"Fine, we'll take it back ourselves." said Tails, reaching into Marik's pocket and grabbing the emerald.

But Marik grabbed Tails' arm before he could pull the emerald out of his pocket. Then Marik reached over his shoulder and he pulled the cutlass out of the floorboard, freeing himself and giving himself a weapon at the same time. Marik held the cutlass to Tails' neck and he held him tightly by the arm. Tails squirmed but the Martian held him very tightly and the cutlass was so close to his neck it was practically touching his fur.

"Hey, drop that sword and let Tails go you creep!" yelled Sonic.

"Or what?" sneered Marik "What are you gonna do about it? You will surrender and leave this ship so I can raid it in peace or Tails' head is going on my bedroom wall back on Mars!"

Tails gulped so loudly you'd think he'd just swallowed a rock.

"Why do you wanna raid an old pirate ship?" asked Sonic.

"I have a passion for treasures and pirates always have large quantities of them so I'm going to steal all the pirate's treasure." said

Marik "Especially the one they've set sail to look for right now."

Sonic's quills shuddered. Marik was going to steal the treasure the pirates were looking for? If the treasure was a Chaos Emerald like he thought it was then Marik would have two Chaos Emeralds! Sonic had to stop the Martian and fast but he couldn't let Marik kill Tails so what could he do? Then as if things couldn't get any worse, the hold doors flung open and Cutthroat Jim stormed in into the hold, wielding a pistol and looking furious. He pointed the pistol at the three strangers that stood before him, staring straight at him. Marik dropped the cutlass, let go of Tails and put his hands up. Sonic and Tails put their hands up too.

"Shiver me timbers!" cried Cutthroat Jim "I have stowaways on me ship it seems! Well I'll have to throw you all overboard it seems!"

"Sorry Captain but I'm not going for a swim today!" said Sonic, spin-dashing Cutthroat Jim in the stomach, causing him to drop his pistol and fall onto his back.

Seeing their chance, Tails and Marik ran for it. Sonic grabbed Cutthroat Jim's pistol and he threw it as hard as he could. The pistol hurtled through the air and it fell into the ocean with a splash, never to be found again.

"When will I ever see the end of guns?" moaned Sonic as he ran for his life.

Unfortunately more trouble happened. Cutthroat Jim's crew had heard Sonic attacking him and they all lay in wait for him. They had already captured Tails and Marik and tied them up in rope and now Sonic had run into the fifteen pirates that lay in wait for him. Sonic yelped in surprise as fifteen pirates all pounced on him at once. They all had rope and they wrapped it tightly around his wrists, arms and ankles so Sonic was tied up tighter then a pretzel on sale at a bakery. They threw Sonic next to the tied up Tails and Marik, the latter glaring at him.

"So much for your heroism hedgehog!" he jeered "You got nabbed by a bunch of primitive pirates!"

"Oh shut up Marik!" yelled Sonic "You're no better yourself!"

"What are we gonna do Sonic?" said Tails helplessly.

"I dunno yet big guy, but I'll get us outta this!" said Sonic, struggling and squirming in the rope that was tightly tied around him.

But try as he might, he couldn't get free of the rope. Cutthroat Jim, who had recovered from Sonic's attack earlier, stood before the prisoners with a devilish grin on his face.

"Har, har, har, har!" he chortled "You scurvy landlubbers fought you could overpower Cutthroat Jim did ye? Well you've failed miserably and I have you swabs at my mercy!"

"Yeah, yeah whatever." muttered Sonic "Let us go!"

"I don't think I'll be doing that landlubber." said Cutthroat Jim darkly "Once I capture someone, I never release them! Now why are you three stowing away on me ship? Did you come to steal me treasure huh, huh?"

"Me and Sonic are only here to capture him." said Tails, motioning to Marik so the pirates knew what he was talking about "We're not here to steal anything."

"Do you expect me to believe the lies of landlubbers?" snarled Cutthroat Jim, his eyes narrowing to a glare that made Tails feel nervous "You three are here to steal me treasure and now I'm going to execute you all. Mateys, throw all three of them overboard!"

"Aye, aye sir!" said the crew of pirates.

The pirates picked up Sonic, Tails and Marik and they prepared to throw them over the ship and into the water where they would sink and drown due to the fact their limbs were tied up, preventing them from swimming. But what they didn't know is that Marik had managed to use his metal claws to cut his ropes just before they picked him up and the Martian waited for the right moment to strike. The pirates prepared to throw the trio overboard. They raised them above their heads and they got ready to throw them into the water. Then Marik broke free of his cut ropes and dropkicked the pirates holding him above their heads. Then Marik swiped at the entire crew with his arm and sent them all flying with an energy wave. The entire crew fell in a heap against the edge of the ship. Cutthroat Jim tried to get away but Marik caught him with an energy wave and knocked him over. Then Marik grabbed Cutthroat Jim by the collar and he threw the pirate leader into the hold. As for Sonic and Tails, they lay on their sides and they were still tied up and they couldn't do anything about it since they didn't have metal claws to cut their ropes like Marik did. They squirmed violently but they just couldn't get free of the ropes, they were just too thick and too strong. Then Marik seized Sonic and Tails by the ropes and hoisted them up to his height. He grinned like a hobgoblin at the helpless heroes in his hands.

"As for you two, I think I'll do Cutthroat Jim a favour and throw you overboard for him!" said Marik wickedly "I hope you like water!"

"I don't!" yelped Sonic.

"Well your demise will be more enjoyable then." sneered Marik "Bon voyage Mobian filth!"

And with that said, he threw Sonic and Tails as if they were tennis balls and the tied up hedgehog and fox fell screaming into the ocean with a mighty splash. After the water stopped rippling and the bubbles faded, Sonic and Tails disappeared under the gentle, still ocean. They had submerged and were likely going to sink all the way down to the bottom or come back up a while later only to go under again. Satisfied with his work, Marik dusted his hands off and walked away. But what Marik didn't know is that Knuckles had seen Sonic and Tails falling into the water and he, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy immediately set to rescuing them. Geoffrey unhooked his grappling hook so the speedboat was free to move and Mandy activated the engine. The speedboat zoomed up to the spot Sonic and Tails had fallen into the water and Mandy stopped the engine.

"How are we gonna save the two boys?" she asked "I bet they've gone down awfully deep!"

"We'll have to leap in there and rescue them!" said Geoffrey "I'll go, I'm not afraid of water."

"I'll go too." said Wilson.

"Wilson, you don't like swimming remember?" said Mandy "Why ever are you going down there with Geoffrey?"

"Because I wanna prove I'm not a great big skitter bug." said Wilson.

With that said, Geoffrey and Wilson held their breath and they both dived into the water. Knuckles and Mandy watched and waited as the skunk and dog went down into the ocean blue. Under the water, Geoffrey and Wilson spotted Sonic and Tails sinking fast and running out of air even faster. Geoffrey and Wilson both swam down as fast as they could go in a desperate attempt to catch up to the sinking hedgehog and fox. Geoffrey soon began to feel worried. He was beginning to run out of air and he wasn't that close to Sonic and Tails. He began to worry that if he didn't get them in time and swim back up in a hurry, he wouldn't make it to the surface in time. Wilson began to feel the same but he didn't let that bother him this time. He wanted to prove he could do something without getting scared or worried and that's what he was going to do. Not to mention he might impress Mandy with his heroic feat. Just as Sonic and Tails were beginning to pass out from the lack of air they were getting from being underwater, Wilson managed to grab their ropes and stop them sinking any further. He passed Sonic to Geoffrey and the two began to swim back to the surface as fast as they could swim. Unfortunately as they neared the surface, Geoffrey couldn't hold his breath any longer and he gave in. Wilson noticed this but he couldn't stop now, he had to get Sonic and Tails to the surface and then he had to go back for Geoffrey. Wilson finally made it to the surface of the water and he helped Knuckles and Mandy pull Sonic and Tails onto the speedboat.

"Wilson you did it!" cried Mandy.

"Not quite." said Wilson "Geoffrey's in trouble now, I'm going down to help him."

And with that Wilson held his breath and went back under the water.

"That dog's a lot braver then I thought he was." said Knuckles.

"Agreed." said Mandy "And I thought he was a worry guts all the time."

Under the water, Geoffrey was beginning to sink down to the bottom, his eyes closed and his mouth open due to the fact he was unconscious now. Wilson saw the skunk and he swam over to him quickly. He grabbed the skunk and he swam back to the surface as fast as he could. He was beginning to run out of air but Wilson didn't give up, he was almost there, he just needed a few more paddles and…he finally made it back to the surface and gasped for breath. Then he helped Geoffrey onto the speedboat with Knuckles and Mandy pulling him on. Then they helped Wilson back onto the boat. Mandy threw her arms around the sopping wet dog.

"You're brilliant Wilson!" she cried "I never knew you had the courage in you to do this!"

"Thank you Mandy." said Wilson modestly.

As for Knuckles, he had untied Sonic and Tails and he did some heavy chest compressions on Sonic, Tails and Geoffrey in an effort to wake them up. The first few attempts came to no avail but Knuckles didn't give up. He tried again on all three. This time it worked. Sonic woke up, coughing and spluttering, Tails woke up, coughing out water and Geoffrey woke up, spluttering loudly. They sat up and shook themselves dry.

"Blimey!" said Geoffrey "I went down there to rescue you blokes." he said to Sonic and Tails "And then I ended up needing to be rescued as well!"

"Well I'm glad you guys made it in time." said Sonic, squeezing one of his quills to get the water out "I hate water and I don't want my demise to be a watery grave if ever that time comes."

"Well if Geoffrey went down to save us, and then he needed saving as well then who saved us?" asked Tails.

"I did." said Wilson "Even though I don't like swimming, I decided to risk my life for you two and then I decided to risk it again for Geoffrey when he failed to make it."

"Well I thank you dearly mate." said Geoffrey "I owe you my life Wilson and from now on, you have my willing trust."

"Me and Tails are grateful too Wilson." said Sonic, giving the dog a thumbs up "Good job man."

Wilson just smiled with pleasure.

"Alright Sonic and Tails, what were you two doing on that pirate ship?" asked Knuckles "Did you take a wild chance in thinking you could take on a pirate gang?"

"No not at all." said Sonic "Marik the Martian stole the Chaos Emerald we had and he went onto that ship so we followed him in an attempt to get the emerald back but we got caught by the pirates and Marik threw us overboard."

Knuckles couldn't believe his ears.

"You mean to tell me Marik has the green Chaos Emerald now?" he said.

"Exactly." said Sonic.

Knuckles lost his wick and he went into a mad rant on Sonic, who cowered back from the mad echidna.

"ARE YOU CRAZY?" he yelled "JUST THINK OF WHAT MARIK COULD DO WITH THAT CHAOS EMERALD!"

"It wasn't our fault." said Tails "Marik got the drop on us with a rockslide which caused me to drop it."

"That still doesn't change the fact Marik has the Chaos Emerald!" yelled Knuckles "Chaos Emeralds have great power and just one of those emeralds can make you powerful so imagine how strong Marik will be if he uses it's power!"

"Look, we're sorry OK?" said Sonic "But we'll get the emerald back I promise."

"I hope so." said Knuckles "Or I'll have to punch you overboard."

Sonic decided to ignore the echidna's threat and talk about something else.

"Besides, I found something interesting." he said "I stole Cutthroat Jim's map and the treasure marked on the map looks like a Chaos Emerald. It was shaped like a Chaos Emerald and it was coloured blue and you said one of the Chaos Emeralds is blue so I think the treasure the pirates seek is a Chaos Emerald."

Knuckles' eyes widened in surprise.

"Well that certainly seems like a weird coincidence." he said "The treasure the pirates are looking for just happens to be a Chaos Emerald. We have to get that emerald before them!"

"Do you still have the treasure map?" asked Tails.

"No, I gave it back to Cutthroat Jim so he could find it." said Sonic "I was hoping that after he found it, I could grab it from him and run but now I'm not on the ship with the pirates I can't do that now."

"We should just follow the blighters and then ambush them when they find the emerald." said Geoffrey "After all, if we keep it nice and quiet they won't hear us following them."

"I think we should steal the treasure map again." said Mandy "If the pirates don't have the map but we do then we'll find the Chaos Emerald and they won't."

"That's a good idea Mandy." said Sonic "We'll do that then."

"And while we steal the treasure map, we can also try and get the Chaos Emerald Marik stole back." suggested Tails.

"We'll do that as well." said Sonic "OK guys, let's follow that ship and get that map and emerald!"

Mandy ignited the engine and the speedboat roared into life. The speedboat rocketed through the water and sped off after the galleon that continued sailing through the still ocean. Sonic felt the wind whiz past him as the speedboat sped through the ocean. Cutthroat Jim wouldn't know what hit him this time and the pirate leader would get a surprise when he found out what it was…

Meanwhile, Marik and the pirates had stopped fighting each other and Marik stood to attention with his arms behind his back while Cutthroat Jim paced up and down, staring angrily at him.

"You freak of nature will pay for daring to mar me pride and glory as well as me glorious crew!" he growled "And you'll pay by not being thrown overboard, but by being run through by me sword!"

He unsheathed his cutlass and got ready to stab Marik. He lunged at Marik with his sword but the Martian just grabbed the blade with his metal hand before Cutthroat Jim could hit home and then Marik proceeded to shatter the blade with his claws.

"I wouldn't try to kill me if I were you pirate scum." said Marik coldly "Your primitive weapons are no match for my brute strength and I can easily take all sixteen of you on so why bother wasting your time on me when you can be doing something more important like finding buried treasure?"

Cutthroat Jim scowled at Marik, his amber eyes burned with rage but he made no attempt on his life again.

"So if we cannot kill you, then what shall we do with you?" asked Cutthroat Jim.

"You don't need to do anything Captain." said Marik, waving his hands about "I don't wish doom on you all, but I wish to make an alliance with you."

Cutthroat Jim put a finger to his chin and thought for a moment.

"You would make an alliance with us?" he asked, not sure if he should agree to it or not "What do you want to make an alliance with us pirates for?"

"With my strength, my cunning and my brilliance," said Marik gloatingly "I may be able to help you find that treasure you want and I'll keep any "landlubbers" away from you since they'll be scared of me. I can guarantee you won't have to worry about enemy pirates or anyone else ever again."

Cutthroat Jim thought for a moment. This sounded like a tempting offer but could he trust Marik? Then again, Cutthroat Jim could just easily run Marik through once he found the treasure and leave him for dead, preventing him from trying to stab him in the back and take the treasure to boot. Cutthroat Jim shook Marik's hand.

"You have a deal matey." he said with a dirty smile full of maggots "You will keep any scurvy landlubbers and enemy ships away from me and you will help me find that treasure!"

"You have my word as an honoree member of this crew." lied Marik "Now, how much further have we got until we reach the island the treasure is buried on?"

Cutthroat Jim pulled out the treasure map and unfolded it. He peered at the map and read it to himself. Then he looked up from the map to see if he could tell where they were and then he peered at the map again.

"We should be hitting shore in about twenty minutes." said Cutthroat Jim "The Island will come into view shortly."

Marik smiled to himself, pleased to know they didn't have far until they arrived. Then suddenly he heard the roaring sound of a motor coming from behind the ship. Cutthroat Jim heard it too and he looked around wildly to see what it was.

"What is it?" he cried "Are we under siege? Gormless!" he barked "Find out what that blasted noise is!"

Gormless did a dopey salute and he ran over to the edge of the ship and tripped over the railing and landed into a lifeboat that hung on the side of the ship for in case the pirates needed to make a quick getaway. Gormless pulled out a telescope and looked through it the wrong way so what he was seeing looked very tiny to him.

"I can't see it very well Captain!" said Gormless loudly "It's too far away!"

"You're holding the telescope the wrong way round ye dunce head!" snapped Cutthroat Jim, taking the telescope of Gormless and turning it around so Gormless could see properly.

Gormless looked through it again and he saw a silver speedboat with a blue hedgehog, a yellow twin-tailed fox, a red spike-fisted echidna, a skunk in a combat suit, an orange dog in a combat suit and a purple mouse in a combat suit. Gormless jumped in surprise and he scrambled quickly back onto the ship.

"We have enemies coming in at clock o' twelve! I mean twelve o' clock!" shrieked Gormless "They're in a speedboat and they're coming to steal our booty!"

Cutthroat Jim roared angrily and he peered over the edge of the ship to see what Gormless had seen. There was the speedboat, directly behind the ship and coming in fast. The speedboat then came side to side with the galleon and Mandy lowered the speed so the speedboat was now level with the galleon. Cutthroat Jim saw the Mobians driving the speedboat and he was so gobsmacked his hat leaped up, did a somersault and landed back on his head.

"Hi Captain!" said Sonic mockingly.

"Impossible!" shrieked Cutthroat Jim "I thought you drowned the blue hedgehog and his twin-tailed friend already!" he yelled at Marik.

"I thought I did too!" snapped Marik "But it's obvious they were rescued. You must stop them from getting onto the ship!"

But just as he said that, Tails flew above the ship, carrying Sonic and Knuckles in either hand. Tails swung the hedgehog and echidna back and forth three times and then he let go. Sonic hurtled towards the pirates and knocked them all over in a brilliant spin-dash and Knuckles landed terrific punches onto the faces of some pirates. Cutthroat Jim cried in surprise and he ran into the hold to get another cutlass since Marik had broken his. All the pirates got back to their feet and they unsheathed their cutlasses. They charged at Sonic and Knuckles, roaring loud bloodcurdling roars that pirates are well known for. Sonic and Knuckles stood back to back, ready to attack as the pirates neared them.

"Hey Knuckles, let's show these pirates how to party shall we?" said Sonic.

"You said it Sonic!" said Knuckles with a devilish grin on his face.

The pirates all closed in on Sonic and Knuckles but they didn't get them. Sonic kicked one pirate in the stomach and he stole his cutlass. Two pirates tried to slice Sonic to pieces but Sonic blocked their blows with his cutlass and he clashed swords with them. Three pirates tried to stab Knuckles with their cutlasses but Knuckles leaped out of their way and he punched one of the pirates so hard he literally sent him overboard and into the water! The other two pirates made another attempt to slice Knuckles to pieces but Tails dropkicked them before they could even attempt to attack, causing them to drop their cutlasses and fall to the ground. Four more pirates tried to attack but Knuckles gave two of them uppercuts powerful enough to knock them senseless and Tails dodged the other two's sword swings and kicked them both in the face. As for Sonic, he and the other two pirates were clashing swords wildly but neither of them was gaining the upper hand on each other. Then Sonic rolled into a spin-dash and he knocked the two pirates away. Then Sonic found himself in a sword fight with another pirate. But this one didn't last long. They clashed swords twice and then Sonic somersaulted backwards and charged at the pirate in a homing attack. He walloped the pirate in the stomach and sent him flying backwards and crashing into a mast. Gormless sneaked up on Sonic and tried to get him but Sonic punched Gormless without even turning around. The dopey pirate smiled stupidly and he fell onto his back. As for Tails and Knuckles, they took out the remaining three pirates with hard uppercuts and tail-whips and they three pirates were knocked out. Sonic, Tails and Knuckles all high-fived each other and yelled "Yeah!" in unison.

"That was way past cool!" cried Sonic "Those pirates were no match for us!"

"We've got Cutthroat Jim left to deal with." noted Tails "I wonder where he's gone to in such a hurry?"

Tails didn't have to wait long for an answer. Cutthroat Jim emerged from the hold, brandishing two cutlasses with long curved blades and gleaming golden hand guards with purple gems on them and looking very furious. He twirled both swords in his hands and snarled loudly.

"No one assaults the great Cutthroat Jim and his crew!" he growled "I will run you landlubbers through and feed your carcasses to the sharks that live in these waters!"

"Just try it Jimmy!" sneered Sonic "With my super speed, Tails' flying abilities and Knuckles' strength, you have no chance against us Captain!"

Then suddenly without warning, Marik leaped in on the scene and he did a perfect split kick on Tails and Knuckles' heads, sending the fox and echidna sprawling onto the deck.

"You will not harm Cutthroat Jim you wretched vermin!" snarled Marik, seizing Tails by his three hairs and seizing Knuckles by his dreadlocks and then bashing their heads together. Tails and Knuckles groaned in pain and they rubbed their heads. Sonic took a step back.

"Wait a minute Marik, you're working with Cutthroat Jim?" said Sonic with a tone of surprise in his voice.

"Yes I am hog-face!" snapped Marik "Why does it matter to you? I was a threat on my own so what does having an ally make me? A danger that's what! Cutthroat Jim, let's get that hedgehog!"

"With pleasure matey!" said Cutthroat Jim, twirling his cutlasses around.

Sonic glanced at his two foes and thought fast. He would defiantly have a hard time against a vicious pirate captain and a sadistic war-loving Martian fighting him together so he had do keep the fight up until Tails and Knuckles recovered from their injuries. Cutthroat Jim lunged at Sonic but Sonic ducked and kicked the pirate hyena in the chin. Marik got a much better shot and he slashed Sonic just above his eye with his metal claws. Sonic grabbed Marik's arm before he could retract it and he threw Marik into Cutthroat Jim. Then Sonic grabbed a cutlass that lay on the deck and he engaged Cutthroat

Jim in battle with his cutlass. Marik grabbed a cutlass and he decided to help Cutthroat Jim in the battle. The ship was now ringing with the sound of clashing swords. Cutthroat Jim lunged at Sonic with his two cutlasses but Sonic defended himself with his cutlass and he pushed Jim away. Marik slashed at Sonic but Sonic clashed swords with the Martian and he kicked Marik in the leg, causing Marik to fall down on one knee. Before Sonic could strike again, Cutthroat Jim cut in with his two cutlasses and blocked Sonic's attack. Sonic swiped at Cutthroat Jim, narrowly missing his arm and he and the vicious pirate clashed cutlasses. Cutthroat Jim put his cutlasses together, making an X shape out of the two blades and defended himself from a blow from Sonic. Sonic slashed at Cutthroat Jim multiple times but Cutthroat Jim's two cutlasses withstood the blows every time and then suddenly Cutthroat Jim slashed at Sonic vertically with both cutlasses, narrowly missing him. Sonic stepped back and only just managed to dodge a slash from Marik. Marik and Cutthroat Jim lunged at Sonic but Sonic dodged, leaving the Martian and hyena to clash swords with each other. Realizing their mistake, they broke away and they lunged at Sonic with their swords. Sonic dodged a blow from Cutthroat Jim and he clashed swords with Marik just as the Martian was attacking him. Sonic and Marik clashed with each other viciously and then Marik decided to cheat and catch Sonic off-guard with an energy wave. The energy wave smacked Sonic in the face and he dropped his cutlass. Sonic landed on his back and Cutthroat Jim advanced on him with an evil smile on his face and his cutlasses at the ready. Sonic got back to his feet and he spin-dashed Cutthroat Jim in the stomach, causing him to drop his two cutlasses and fall onto his back. Sonic then picked up his cutlass and lunged at Marik with his weapon in hand. Marik blocked Sonic's attack with his cutlass and then the two rivals clashed viciously with each other, their cutlasses making a loud clang noise that rung in their ears as they did so. Sonic and Marik clashed again and then the crossed swords at face level. They glared at each other as they struggled to push each other away.

"You are not keeping the Chaos Emerald you stole from me Marik!" yelled Sonic.

"I beg to differ hedge-swine!" yelled Marik angrily "The Chaos Emerald is mine and I'm going to find the other six so I'll have all seven! And once I have all seven emeralds, I'll wreck this planet!"

"Yeah um…not gonna happen buddy!" yelled Sonic, ramming the hand guard into Marik's face.

Marik yelled in pain and shielded his face. Sonic tried to attack again but Cutthroat Jim rammed him from the side and sent the hedgehog falling over. Before Sonic could get back to his feet, Cutthroat Jim bore down on him with his cutlasses gleaming in the sunlight and he tried to slice Sonic in half but Sonic defended himself with his cutlass and he kicked the hyena pirate away. Cutthroat Jim staggered backwards but he regained his balance and he bent down in a battle ready stance. Marik stood beside him in a battle ready stance. Then both villains charged at Sonic but Sonic managed to block both their blows with his cutlass and he kicked Marik away before he could attack again. Cutthroat Jim and Sonic clashed swords with each other and then Sonic leaped into the air and spun around in mid-air whilst holding the cutlass. Cutthroat Jim held both cutlasses in front of his face to block Sonic's spinning attack but it was a pretty strong attack and Cutthroat Jim almost dropped his cutlasses due to how hard Sonic's attack was. Sonic stopped spinning and he whacked one of Cutthroat Jim's cutlasses so hard he knocked it out of his hand and sent it spinning through the air and diving into the water. Cutthroat Jim and Sonic clashed swords with one another and Marik tried to attack from behind but Sonic kicked him in the stomach and spun around to slash at Marik. Marik blocked the attack and he swiped his arm at Sonic, sending an energy wave flying into his face and knocking him off his feet. Sonic fell onto his back but he managed to get back onto his feet just in time to block another blow from Marik. Cutthroat Jim slashed at him but Sonic dodged the blow and then he grabbed Cutthroat Jim's sleeve and head-butted the pirate captain in the face. Marik punched Sonic in the shoulder with his metal hand and then he slashed his arm with his cutlass. A thin trickle of blood poured down Sonic's arm faster then a running tap. Sonic ignored the pain in his arm long enough to clash swords with Marik and push him away. Then the two began to violently thwack each other's cutlasses as they stared each other down angrily with angry faces and gritted teeth. They clashed good and hard ten times before Marik gave the killer swing and whacked Sonic's cutlass so hard he literally sent it flying out of his hand and it impaled itself into a mast high out of anyone's reach. Marik knocked Sonic over with another energy wave and then he stood over the hedgehog with the cutlass pointing at the hedgehog's chest. Sonic was done for now, there was no way he was going to escape this now, Marik had him completely at his mercy and now he was going to kill him.

"Sonic, you've fought valiantly but now is the time for you to fall to me." said Marik "And boy am I going to enjoy watching you scream as I plunge this sword into your heart!"

"Do away with me if you wish!" yelled Sonic "But I've got friends who will take my place and beat you creep!"

"Oh you are so misguided Sonic!" laughed Marik "No life form is a match for a well-trained Martian warrior such as myself! Your friends will fall just as hard as you Sonic! Now it's time for you to say goodbye and join the dead people in the heavens hedgehog."

He drew his arm back and he prepared to plunge the sword into Sonic's chest. Sonic just kept a straight face and awaited his fate. Then suddenly Marik got an amazing punch to the face that sent him flying into a door and crashing into it. It was Knuckles! He and Tails recovered from their injuries and now they were up on their feet and ready for battle. Knuckles helped Sonic onto his feet and Sonic gave him a thumbs up.

"Thanks a million Knuckles!" said Sonic "Boy was I done for until you stepped in!"

"You're lucky we were here." said Knuckles, cracking his knuckles "Otherwise you would have been dead now."

Cutthroat Jim ran up to Sonic and Tails, snarling a bloodcurdling pirate snarl and his cutlass blazing and he prepared to slash them to pieces but Tails flew in behind him and kicked him in the back of the head, causing the pirate to fall onto his face and drop his weapon. Tails then reached into Cutthroat Jim's pocket and he pulled out the treasure map and flew over to Sonic and Knuckles before the pirate could recover.

"Sonic, I got the map!" puffed Tails, handing it to the blue hedgehog.

Sonic folded the map up and slipped it into his glove.

"Now Cutthroat Jim will never find the Chaos Emerald." said Sonic "But we still haven't retrieved the green Chaos Emerald Marik stole from us."

Then suddenly Marik leaped onto Tails, snarling like a lion and he pinned the fox down with his metal hand. Tails screamed in terror and he tried to get up but Marik wouldn't let him. Knuckles tried to help but Marik threw the twin-tailed fox straight into him and knocked him over. Sonic spin-dashed Marik in the head and knocked him over. Marik hit the deck with a thud and the Chaos Emerald rolled out of his pocket and came to a stop next to an unconscious pirate. Tails picked himself up and he grabbed the emerald quickly before anyone else could. Marik tried to zap Tails but he remembered his voltage compactor was broken so he couldn't. Instead he swiped his arms and tried to hit Tails with an energy wave but Tails dodged the wave and he flew off the ship and into the speedboat. Knuckles punched Marik in the back of the head and then he and Sonic jumped off the ship and into the speedboat.

"We've got the map and emerald now punch it Mandy!" cried Sonic.

"With pleasure blue dude!" said Mandy, giving him a thumbs up.

She started the engine and the speedboat's engine roared into life. Then the sleek silver boat rocketed off and shot through the ocean like a torpedo under the water. Marik watched helplessly as the speedboat zoomed away from the galleon and disappeared into the horizon. Marik punched the deck so hard he latterly cracked one of the floorboards and he cursed Sonic under his breath.

"Those wretched heathens have stolen my emerald!" he roared "Oh the indignity of it all!"

"That's not all matey." said Cutthroat Jim, picking himself up and putting his hat back on "The landlubbers have stolen me treasure map. We'll never find the treasure now."

Marik didn't care about that though, he only cared about the lost Chaos Emerald. Then Marik spotted something in the distance. It was only very faint and very small but he could see something the galleon was heading towards and it looked like an island.

"Hey Captain, can I borrow a telescope?" he asked.

"Sure matey." said Cutthroat Jim "Have ye found something?"

He handed Marik his telescope and Marik extended it to its full length. Marik put the telescope to his eye, pointed it at what he was looking at and he looked through it. Through the telescope he could see a tropical island full of palm trees and sandy beaches and he saw the speedboat Sonic was riding pulling up on the shore. This meant one thing: That Sonic and crew had stolen Cutthroat Jim's treasure map so they could find the treasure and he wouldn't and the island he had spotted was the one Cutthroat Jim was sailing to. But why would Sonic want to hunt pirate treasure? Sonic wasn't the kind that valued money was he?

"What do you see matey?" asked Cutthroat Jim.

"Sonic and his friends have pulled up to a tropical island." said Marik "Is this Coco Island, the island you're heading to?"

Cutthroat Jim took the telescope off Marik and he looked through it himself. Then he lowered the telescope and put it away.

"That be Coco Island alright." said Cutthroat Jim "Those scurvy landlubbers are going to find me treasure and steal it for themselves! Well I'll show them what happens to those who mess with Cutthroat Jim!"

"And indeed you shall Captain." said Marik, smirking "Since they have the map and they're looking for the treasure, they'll lead us to the treasure and then once they find it, we'll ambush them and take it for ourselves!"

"Ha Hargh! You are ye smart one matey!" said Cutthroat Jim, giving Marik a playful slap on the back "Those scurvy landlubbers won't know what hit them!"

The two villains laughed to each other as they pictured their ambush on Sonic and friends in their foul little minds. This was one heist they were certainly looking forward to…

Footnotes:

See *STH: Tales from Mobius Arc 1

Well shiver me timbers and fire on the poop deck! We have a Chaos Emerald hunt mixed in with pirates we do! Who will win ye treasure? The scurvy landlubbers known as Sonic and friends or Marik and the cut throat pirate gang? Join me next time as ye ol' sea tale continues... Read and Review you scurvy landlubbers!

Shiver my Emeralds! Part 2

Story 38: Shiver my Emeralds! Part 2

The speedboat pulled up onto a beach and Mandy stopped the motor. The speedboat stopped with half of its body on the beach and the other half still in the water so it would be able to back up into the water when it was time to get away. Everybody climbed out of the boat and Sonic pulled the map out of his glove and unfolded it. He studied it closely to see if he could work out where they should start and what path they should take. He glanced up from the map to survey his surroundings. The island they were on seemed to match the island on the map so they were in the right place at least.

"So Sonic, which way do we go?" asked Tails.

"I think the map says we should go twenty paces that way." said Sonic, pointing to the right which led to a dense tropical jungle with thick trees and low hanging vines.

Tails looked at the map to see if Sonic was reading it correctly. The map indicated you had to go twenty paces into the jungle and then make a sharp turn left from a tree and carry on from there.

"You're right Sonic." said Tails "The map says go twenty paces that way to start off and then make a sharp turn left when you get to a tree with a skull and crossbones carved on it."

"Now what kind of crazy bloke would carve a skull and crossbones symbol on a tree?" snorted Geoffrey St. John "Is that some pathetic attempt to scare other people away or mark where other pirates maybe?"

"Maybe it's supposed to help Cutthroat Jim find the treasure easier." suggested Mandy "If he knows which tree to turn left from the rest will be simple."

"I suppose that makes sense." said Geoffrey.

"Come on team! We've got a Chaos Emerald to find!" said Sonic as he, Tails and Knuckles began walking off.

Wilson, Mandy and Geoffrey caught up with them quickly.

"OK, Tails is map reader since he seems to be able to read it better then me." said Sonic "And Knuckles has the Chaos Emerald so if we get close to it, we'll know about it because it'll glow brighter then usual."

"That is if the treasure Cutthroat Jim is looking for IS a Chaos Emerald and not just an ordinary blue emerald." said Knuckles grimly.

"It won't be an ordinary emerald." said Tails "Ordinary emeralds only come in green, there's no such thing as a blue emerald, unless you're talking about Chaos Emeralds that is."

Knuckles just sighed and held the Chaos Emerald in front of him. The six Mobians entered the densely grown jungle. What a sight it was to behold for the Mobians. There were trees as big as houses with leaves as big as surfboards. Thickly grown vines hung low down from the trees. Lots of colourful fruit hung from the trees ranging from mangos to bananas. A mango fell out of a tree and landed in Wilson's hand. Wilson took a bite out of the juicy fruit and threw it away, leaving it to land with a splat on the ground. As they walked through the jungle, they counted their paces to make sure they weren't going too far since the map said they had to go twenty paces into the jungle. As soon as they counted to twenty, they stopped and Tails looked for the tree with a skull and crossbones carved on it. He couldn't seem to find it anywhere.

"That's odd." said Tails, studying the map again "It says walk twenty paces into this jungle and then make a sharp turn left from the tree with a skull and crossbones carved in it. We've walked twenty paces into this jungle but I don't see a tree with a skull and crossbones carved on it."

"Maybe we miscounted and walked too far?" suggested Wilson.

"I don't think that's the case." said Knuckles "I know I haven't miscounted."

Sonic searched the trees up and down for a carving since he had the theory on that the carving could be high up on a tree or near the tree trunks at the bottom. He looked all the way up. No carving. He looked all the way down. No carving. Sonic scratched his head in thought. Maybe they were missing something? Maybe Tails was misreading the map a little?

"Hey Tails, are you sure you're reading the map right?" asked Sonic.

"Um...I'm sure I am." said Tails "I'll just read it again."

Tails studied the map once again. The map didn't tell him any differently to when he first read it but he did notice one thing he'd missed the first time. The map had a detailed sketch of which tree supposedly had the skull and crossbones carving on so now Tails knew which tree to look at.

"According to the map..." said Tails, looking up from the map "The tree that should have the carving on...is that one there."

He pointed at thin tree with three branches, one sticking up from the top of the tree, one protruding from the left and one sagging from the right. The Mobians all walked over to the tree and they observed it top to bottom. They couldn't see any carving anywhere on the tree. Geoffrey was beginning to get frustrated.

"How many bloomin' times are we gonna look at trees only to find none of them have a carving of a skull and crossbones on them?" he moaned "Tails, let me read that."

He snatched the map off Tails and read it himself. The map told him exactly what Tails had said a few times already.

"So Tails isn't reading this wrong." said Geoffrey "Maybe there's something we're missing here."

"I'm not sure about missing something." said Mandy, kneeling down and looking at something "But I'm a little suspicious of that mound of fungus there."

She pointed at a mound of green fungus that stuck near to the bottom of the tree. Sonic looked at the fungus and then, using his hands, he scrapped fungus off the tree and wiped it on the sides to get it off his gloves. And that's when he saw the one thing they had been looking for. The carving of a skull and crossbones. Sonic's eyes widened.

"Hey Tails! We've found the carving at last!" he exclaimed.

"You have?" said Tails, looking over Sonic's shoulder and seeing the carving at the foot of the tree it was on "How did you find it?"

"Mandy got suspicious of that mound of fungus that was where the carving was so I scraped it off and there it is." said Sonic.

"Well at least we're back on track." said Knuckles "So what do we do after we mark a sharp turn left Tails?"

Tails studied the map again for a few seconds.

"Um...after making a sharp turn left from the tree with a skull and crossbones carved on it, we continue sixty-seven paces up to Devil's Quagmire and once we get to the quagmire we have to get over it and then go right." said Tails.

"Quagmire?" said Wilson "Well we'd best keep our eyes open if there's a quagmire somewhere in this jungle!"

"I'm sure there will be a warning sign telling us where the quagmire is." said Geoffrey "No need to worry about falling in it Wilson mate."

Now that the Mobians knew where they were going, they set off deeper into the thick, hot jungle in search of the treasure.

Meanwhile Cutthroat Jim and his insidious crew had finally pulled up to the shores of Coco Island. The ship docked and the crew walked onto the island. Marik followed them and he surveyed his surroundings with disgust. Beautiful sights were not an eye pleaser for him at all, he hated beaches and jungles and he clearly wasn't happy to be on a beach right now. But he knew that Sonic and friends had his Chaos Emerald so he had to grit his teeth and bear the environment for now. He then noticed the speedboat that Sonic and friends had been using and so they couldn't use it to get off the island, Marik swiped the air with his arms and struck the speedboat with an energy wave. The speedboat got smacked in the keel and then it drifted out into the calm sea. Then the speedboat began to sink. Marik's attack had made a giant hole in the left side of the boat so water was getting in and pulling the speedboat under. The speedboat completely submerged under the water and disappeared from sight. Marik grinned happily. Sonic and friends would not be able to get off the island now their only method of transport was gone. As for Cutthroat Jim, he was looking for Sonic and friends but he couldn't find them anywhere for they were elsewhere.

"Blast it all, where are those swabs?" he moaned to himself.

"Well Captain, didn't it occur to you that they might have started the treasure hunt now?" noted Marik "And how did you not notice this clearly obvious trial of footprints there?"

Marik pointed at a trial of footprints in the sand that had been left by Sonic and friends. The footprints led straight into the thick, dense jungle that Coco Island was famous for and Cutthroat Jim noticed the trial.

"So the landlubbers be in the jungle I see?" he mused "Well let's follow them and see how close to finding me treasure they are!"

"I assure you captain once we find the "landlubbers" we'll find the treasure you seek since they're seeking the same treasure." said Marik "And once we find the treasure, we grab it and run off and get back to the ship. And once we're on the ship, we can set sail and leave them stranded on the island!"

"Argh yes!" said Cutthroat Jim excitedly "We maroon those thieves to make them pay for what they've done! I like you smart boy. You would be a great crew mate for my pirate gang you would!"

"I might consider joining your amusing gang." said Marik "But now we've got treasure to save from being stolen by those crooks!"

"Argh, right you are matey!" said Cutthroat Jim "Come on you bilge rats! Let's follow this trial of footprints! We'll find that scurvy hedgehog and his band of miscreants and save me treasure from getting stolen by them!"

The pirate gang obeyed and the whole gang followed the footprints with Cutthroat Jim taking lead and Marik staying close to his side. The footprints led them into the jungle and they were going the exact same route Sonic and friends had gone. The trial of footprints would lead them to the Mobians and the Mobians would lead to the treasure and once they found the treasure, they would ambush Sonic and friends and take the treasure to boot. The Mobians would defiantly not see this coming and Marik was looking forward to the ambush a lot, especially since he would get the green Chaos Emerald back in the scuffle and maybe he could take the treasure as well. If he did so then he would be one glamorous looking Martian with two emeralds to show off. He even wondered what his parents would think if they saw the two emeralds he had successfully stolen. But now was not the time to daydream, he shook his train of thoughts away and focussed on the hunt. The pirates continued following the trial. They came to the tree marked with a skull and crossbones and they turned left from the tree and followed the trial of footprints. Sonic and friends were as good as found if the kept this up...

The next few minutes had been exhausting for Sonic and friends. The jungle they waded through was full of thick growth, low hanging vines and large tree trunks. Not to mention it was very hot so the Mobians got a lot of discomfort from the heat of the jungle and their throats were dry. Wilson was panting like a dog in hot weather always does and everybody else was beginning to trudge through the jungle due to the heat making them feel a little weaker then before. In fact they all looked like they could do with a good rest.

"Sonic, I'm getting tired from this muggy jungle." moaned Mandy "How about resting the legs?"

"We don't have time to rest." said Sonic, who seemed to be the least effected out of the Mobians "We've gotta find that Chaos Emerald before someone else does so we can't stop now."

"Sonic, I think we should." said Tails "Everybody's exhausted and we need a good drink right now."

Sonic looked over his shoulder to see Knuckles, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy all looking very tired and very thirsty so Sonic decided to do what Tails said.

"Alright, we rest for ten minutes." said Sonic "Then we carry on."

The whole team flopped down on the ground and breathed a huge sigh of relief for they had finally gotten off their aching feet.

"I wonder if there's a place to drink around here?" said Geoffrey "I haven't seen any lakes or rivers around here and I'm perishing with thirst."

"We all are." said Knuckles, still looking at the Chaos Emerald to see if it was having any reactions yet. The emerald was now brighter then before so there obviously weren't any emeralds nearby.

"Tails, are there any rivers marked on the map?" asked Sonic.

Tails studied the map again. As luck would have it, according to the map, there was a flowing river about ten paces to the left. They could drink out of that river and then get back on track.

"There's a river that way." said Tails, pointing to the left "It's only ten paces away so you don't have far to walk."

"Sweet." said Sonic "Everybody can go to the river and have a drink and then we get back to the treasure hunt."

Everybody got to their feet and ran to the left. And surely enough, they saw a beautiful, clear, flowing river just gently flowing through the jungle just as Tails had read off the map. All six Mobians bent down on the bank of the river and scooped the water up with their hands, then they brought it to their mouths and sipped it up before it could all runaway. A couple of minutes later, the Mobians had all satisfied their thirst and they walked back ten paces so they were back on track and ready to go.

"That was refreshing." said Knuckles "How much farther do we have until we get to Devil's Quagmire Tails?"

Tails looked at the map again.

"Well the map says go sixty-seven paces to Devil's Quagmire and if I'm reading this, we've only done forty-three." said Tails "We have another twenty-four paces to go and then we're there."

"Then it's not much further." said Sonic "Let's get going."

The Mobians continued their trek through the jungle. Knuckles could sense they were getting closer to the Chaos Emerald every step they took. This must mean that the treasure the pirates were looking for is a Chaos Emerald after all. This only begged the question of how the emerald ended up being a pirate's treasure and who found it and who buried it for Cutthroat Jim to find. At least they had the map so they would find the Chaos Emerald and Cutthroat Jim wouldn't. After all, who knew what mayhem a vicious pirate leader could cause if he got the Chaos Emerald. Sonic brushed his way through some thick bushes and ducked under a low hanging vine whilst keeping his eyes open for the quagmire which according to Tails was another twenty four paces away. He also kept his senses alert for any sneak attacks, likely to come from Dr. Eggman and Metal Sonic, that were waiting for him and his team. Geoffrey pushed a low hanging tree branch out of his way but he didn't realize Mandy was rather close behind him so after pushing the branch out of the way and letting go of it, it swung backwards and smacked Mandy in the face.

"OUCH!" yelped Mandy, clutching her nose.

"Oops, sorry luv." said Geoffrey "Didn't know you were right behind me."

"It's OK Mr. St. John." Mandy reassured him while still rubbing her face better "These things are bound to happen in a place like this."

As for Wilson and Tails, they had gone ahead of the others and Tails had his eyes glued to the map. He counted his steps so he knew how many paces he and the others were taking to make sure they were following the map correctly. Wilson just followed Tails and kept fretting about the quagmire. Wilson is a bit of a worry guts after all and anything dangerous that's coming their way or waiting for them always gets him in a bit of a nervous state. Still, he knew that Tails was reading the map so Tails would find the quagmire and warn everybody about it so he didn't have to worry about falling in. Unfortunately, Tails was so focussed on the map he wasn't watching where he was going and he walked right past a bright orange warning sign with a picture of a muggy bog above two words saying in big capital letters "DANGER! QUAGMIRE!" This was obviously there to warn people of the quagmire but Tails didn't notice it because he was reading the map and he didn't look up to see where he was. Wilson saw the sign and stopped immediately. He read it and smiled to himself, now he knew the quagmire was ahead, he didn't have to worry about falling in. But he saw Tails walking on and he immediately panicked. Tails was going to fall in if he didn't warn him so he immediately began shouting at Tails.

"Tails! Stop! You're heading for the quagmire!" yelped Wilson.

"Beg pardon?" said Tails, looking up from the map and looking over his shoulder.

He carried on walking though and he walked up a rock that sloped up. If he didn't stop there he would fall straight into the quagmire.

"You're heading for the quagmire!" shouted Wilson "Come back!"

"I can't be heading for the quagmire." said Tails "If there was one, there would be a warning sign telling us where it !" he screeched as he suddenly fell forward.

He had walked to the edge of the rock and fell off and straight into the quagmire with a splash. The quagmire was boggy, muddy and watery and it smelt terrible. Not to mention it was hard to swim in it due to how thick and grimy the water was so Tails wouldn't be able to swim out of the quagmire. Wilson panicked and ran up the rock Tails had fallen off. He lay down on his stomach and bent over the edge to see where Tails was. He was coughing and spluttering and trying frantically to get out of the boggy waters but he couldn't.

"I told you, you were heading for the quagmire!" scolded Wilson

"Why didn't you listen to me you stupid boy?"

"Can we talk about this later? Like before I drown in this thing?" exclaimed Tails, still trying to swim but to no avail.

Wilson reached out to Tails with his hand and Tails reached up to Wilson's hand and tried to grab it. But Tails had fallen too far out into the quagmire and the rock was too high up for Wilson to reach out to him. They were much too far apart so Wilson couldn't grab Tails and pull him out.

"Try to get closer to the edge!" suggested Wilson "I might be able to reach you then!"

"I can't!" cried Tails "This water's too..." his voice went off as his mouth went underwater whilst he was trying to shift himself forward. He raised his head and finished his sentence "...boggy and marsh! It's impossible to swim in this thing!"

"Oooh, what am I gonna do?" fretted Wilson, looking around wildly "Sonic will kill me if I fail to rescue you!"

Then right on cue, Sonic, Knuckles, Geoffrey and Mandy arrived on the scene.

"Yo Wilson, what's going on?" asked Sonic immediately "I thought I heard you and Tails screaming!"

"Tails has fallen into the quagmire!" shrieked Wilson "He's going to sink if we don't help him now!"

Sonic ran to the edge of the rock and saw Tails, feebly trying to get out of the quagmire. Sonic's eyes widened and his brain immediately began racing for an idea.

"Sonic! Help me!" cried Tails "I can't stay above any longer..." his voice trailed off as he submerged again and got back to the surface.

"I'll save you Tails, I just don't know how yet!" cried Sonic.

"I'll do it." said Mandy "I have a plan."

She strolled over to the edge of the rock, bent over and lowered her yellow tail down to the quagmire. She clutched the edges of the rock to save herself from falling in as well and she stretched her tail out as far as it would go.

"Grab my tail kid!" called Mandy "Once you've done so, I'll try and pull you out!"

Tails reached out for Mandy's tail but no matter how far he stretched, he just couldn't reach her. He was only inches away from grabbing it but he couldn't push himself any further due to his failing strength and the muggy water and Mandy couldn't stretch any further otherwise she would fall in as well.

"It's no use! I can't reach you Mandy!" cried Tails.

"Well I can't stretch any further or I'll be joining you in there." said Mandy "I'm sorry kid but my plan's not gonna work."

"I'll try and help the lad." said Geoffrey, putting a dart in his arm-mounted crossbow.

"You be careful Geoffrey." said Mandy sternly as she pulled herself back onto the rock and standing aside so Geoffrey could step forward "You'd better make sure you don't accidentally shoot Tails in the head with that crossbow of yours."

"Trust me Mandy-girl, I know what I'm doing." said Geoffrey smugly.

The skunk stood at the edge of the rock, just above the quagmire and he aimed his crossbow at the water. He fired it and the dart shot into the water with a long cable trailing behind it. Geoffrey had used a cable dart and all Tails had to do was grab the line and Geoffrey would try and pull him out. Tails could reach the cable easily since Geoffrey had fired the dart close to him so he could reach out and grab it. Frantically gasping, Tails grabbed the cable and Geoffrey tried to pull him out. But try as he might, he wasn't strong enough. Geoffrey pulled as hard as he could on the cable but he couldn't quite pull Tails out. He was making little progress second by second but not enough. Tails held on tight to the cable as Geoffrey continued to pull. Seeing as the skunk needed help, Wilson and Mandy grabbed each of his shoulders and pulled with him. With three people pulling at once, Tails slowly began to come out of the quagmire. But disaster struck again. The cable from Geoffrey's dart couldn't stake the strain anymore and it suddenly snapped! Tails fell back into the swampy waters and Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy shot backwards and fell in a heap on the rock. Geoffrey cursed his bad luck.

"Darn it! I thought these cables could take the weight of five children at once!" he grumbled "How did this thing snap?"

"Maybe it's not as strong as you thought it was." said Wilson "How are we gonna save Tails now?"

As for Sonic, he still had no idea on how to save his twin-tailed friend. Tails was too far away from all edges of the quagmire so they couldn't reach out and pull him out, Geoffrey's cable didn't work and there wasn't anything they could use to extend their reach. However, Knuckles had a brilliant idea. Using his fists of steal, he ran up to a tree and began to punch it furiously. Sonic saw what Knuckles was doing and wondered what he was up to.

"Hey, Knuckles! We're supposed to be helping Tails, not using a tree as a punching bag!" yelled Sonic.

"I AM helping Tails stupid!" snapped Knuckles as he gave the tree the killer punch "I'm knocking this tree down so we can use it to bridge our way across the quagmire and pull him out!"

"Right, know you're talking sense." said Sonic "I never Knuckles had a brain under that thick skull of his." he muttered mockingly to himself.

Knuckles decided to ignore Sonic's playful insult as he gave the tree one last punch and the tree fell over with a loud creak of breaking tree bark and wood. The tree crashed down on the ground with a tremendous smash. Now the tree had fallen over, Knuckles used his amazing strength to push the fallen tree towards the quagmire. Tails was just starting to fail and submerge under the water when Knuckles finally managed to push the tree over the quagmire. The tree was long enough to go completely across the quagmire so anybody coming towards it would be able to cross the quagmire easily. Sonic ran across the tree and stopped where Tails was. He reached down to the drowning fox and grabbed him by the hand just before his head could completely submerge under the marshy water. Sonic pulled with all his might and Tails began to come out of the quagmire. Sonic kept pulling as hard as he could and Tails was slowly beginning to come out of the quagmire. With one final yank, Sonic managed to pull a very muddy and very wet Tails out of the boggy, swampy waters of the quagmire. Sonic took Tails off the tree and they both settled down on the nice dry ground. Tails coughed and spluttered loudly and he shook his fur dry. Sonic shielded his face with his hands as Tails shook bits of dirt and mud off his fur.

"cough! I think we can easily say that me and water don't mix." coughed Tails "This is the fourth time I've been saved from drowning already! One of these days, I am gonna drown and that'll be the end of it!"

"Well that day will never come." said Sonic "Especially since you've got friends that will risk their lives to save yours."

"And I'm grateful for that." said Tails "Thank you Sonic."

"You'll have to thank Knuckles really." said Sonic "He punched that tree down so I could save you."

"Thanks Knuckles." said Tails.

"Don't mention it Tails." said Knuckles "Where's the treasure map?"

Tails suddenly realized he didn't have the map with him and he felt all over himself. The map was nowhere to be found.

"Oh no! I think I lost it in the quagmire!" moaned Tails, his ears drooped back in despair "We'll never find it now!"

"Well that's fantastic!" moaned Sonic "How are we gonna find the Chaos Emerald now?"

"We use this." said Knuckles, holding up the green Chaos Emerald "This will help us find the Chaos Emerald that so happens to be the treasure the pirates seek."

"Oh yeah, you said the emerald glows brighter when we get near a Chaos Emerald." said Sonic "The only problem is, we have to find it in order for our emerald to glow brighter."

"We'll find it Sonic, I know we will." said Knuckles "So stop yapping and let's find it already!"

"OK, OK! Sheesh, calm down knuckle-head!" snapped Sonic.

Sonic, Tails and Knuckles all walked off again. Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy ran down from the rock and past the quagmire and caught up with Sonic, Tails and Knuckles. The six Mobians continued their trek in the jungle and searched ever further for the Chaos Emerald. Unbeknownst to the Mobians though, Cutthroat Jim, Marik and the pirates had all caught up with them and they remained hidden until they had gone. Now the Mobians were gone, the villains were free to come out and follow them again.

"Hey Captain." said First Mate Gormless "How can the blue hedgehog find our treasure if he hasn't got the map anymore?"

"He has an emerald that seems to have magical powers." said Cutthroat Jim "And according to the red porcupine thing, it glows brighter when it's near other emeralds so maybe their emerald will help them find our treasure."

"Duh...that made no sense." said Gormless.

"Just shut up you daft dog!" snapped Cutthroat Jim "Let's follow them before they swaggle me booty!"

"Why do pirates always talk like that?" wondered Marik as Cutthroat Jim and his crew began moving again "It's so stupid!"

The villains crept past the quagmire and they followed the trial of footprints left by the Mobians. Now the quagmire was no longer a threat, they only had to focus on the Mobians and ambushing them and getting the treasure. And it wouldn't be too hard since the Mobians wouldn't see it coming...

"Phowar! That quagmire's done a lot to your scent mate!" grumbled Geoffrey, clutching his nose and pulling a face "You smell worse then a skunk you do and that's saying a lot!"

"Well it's not my fault quagmires smell bad!" snapped Tails, annoyed at Geoffrey commenting on his smell.

"Well it's your fault you fell in one." noted Wilson "If you listened to me instead of wondering off, this wouldn't have happened."

"Can you guys give it a rest back there?" called Sonic from over his shoulder "You're beginning to bug me with your complaining!"

The trek had been anything but peaceful since Tails' near death experience with the quagmire. The Mobians had been walking around for hours with no clue as to where they were going since they had no map to guide them to the treasure and the Chaos Emerald they had would only glow if it was near another one so it wouldn't be of much help to them unless they were getting closer. For all they knew the emerald could be on the other side of the island and it would be nightfall by the time they found it so this trek could take a long time to complete but Sonic was not going to rest now for he knew how valuable the Chaos Emeralds were and how badly they needed to be found before any villains could get them so he pressed on. Knuckles kept glancing at the green Chaos Emerald in his hand to see if it was glowing brightly or not. The emerald had remained the same brightness for the past few minutes and Knuckles knew what that meant, the emerald was deeper into the jungle then they had thought and it was not going to be an easy find. Yet Knuckles could still sense the abundance of Chaos energy building up somewhere so the Chaos Emerald must be near.

"That Chaos Emerald's gotta be close." said Knuckles "I can sense it."

"Oh really?" sneered Sonic "Maybe we should use you as an emerald detector and you can make a high pitched squeak every time you find an emerald! Ha, ha, ha, ha!" he broke down snickering and he slapped his knee whilst laughing.

"Sonic, are you trying to make me lose my temper?" asked

Knuckles, gritting his teeth and trying to contain his anger "Because it certainly sounds like you are!"

"Oh come on rad red, I'm only having a laugh, don't get your dread-locks in a knot." said Sonic snidely.

"Well be funny to someone else!" growled Knuckles "I haven't got time for your snarky attitude right now!"

Sonic just sighed and Knuckles focussed his attention back onto the green Chaos Emerald he held in his hand. He faced Mandy who was walking behind him and appearing to be deep in thought about something.

"Knuckles is such a killjoy isn't he?" he asked.

"Hmm?" mumbled Mandy "What was that?"

"Never mind." said Sonic, seeing as Mandy hadn't been paying attention to anything right now.

"I hope that pirate's treasure is near." said Geoffrey "I wanna grab it and get outta here quick before Cutthroat Jim and his goons arrive onto this island and ambush us for trying to find their treasure."

"Are you sure they'll find us?" asked Wilson, brushing aside some low hanging leaves from a huge tree. "We stole their map so they can't possibly know where we've headed to now."

"The treasure is on this island and they were heading for this island so they can find it." explained Geoffrey, pushing a low hanging vine out of his way "And since we've stolen their map and gone here to find the treasure, they know we're going to be here so they're definitely going to come here and hunt us down before we can find the treasure."

Wilson shivered like a human standing in the middle of a freezing cold river with no clothes on. The mere thought of a pirate attack petrified him and he was shivering at the mere image of Cutthroat Jim pouncing on everybody and slitting their throats with his cutlass.

"We've been here for hours and we haven't seen a single pirate so I don't think Cutthroat Jim and his bunch of morons will be bothering us any time soon." said Mandy "So there's no need to worry Wilson."

She lightly touched the dog on the shoulder and Wilson stopped shivering. If there's anything that always calmed him down when worried, it was Mandy's gentle touch. The mouse knew how to make him feel warm and safe after all since she and Wilson had been friends for a long time and they knew each other as if they were brother and sister.

"Just because we haven't seen any pirates it doesn't mean there aren't any." said Tails unhelpfully "For all we know, they're probably here and hiding, waiting to attack us or something."

"Oh Tails, I just calmed Wilson down and then you start being unhelpful and filling everybody's heads with dread again!" scolded Mandy "If you can't say anything helpful, don't say anything!"

"Sorry." said Tails quickly, putting his hands behind his back.

Mandy pushed a tree branch out of the way as the Mobians continued walking through the jungle. Sonic and Knuckles stepped over some thorny branches that were lying on the ground. Tails didn't see them and he stood on them but since he wore shoes, the thorns didn't do any harm to him. Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy stood over the branches and the Mobians slowly moved through the tall grassy grounds that they had come across. Things in jungles often grew tall and grass was of no exception, they grass was about as long as Sonic's legs and getting through the grass was like pushing you way through a bunch of thickly grown bushes due to how long and tall they were. The Mobians pushed their way through the sea of grass and looked left and right for anything unusual. Then suddenly the Chaos Emerald Knuckles held began to glow slightly brighter. The light's increase in brightness was so faint that Knuckles failed to notice it. Then with every step he took, the emerald's glow got brighter and brighter. Knuckles looked down at his hand and noticed the increase in brightness on the Chaos Emerald. He knew what this meant; they were getting closer to the Chaos Emerald that Cutthroat Jim was inadvertently seeking now. As Knuckles continued walking, the Chaos Emerald continued glowing brighter. Sonic, who was walking behind Knuckles could see the emerald's light getting brighter from behind Knuckles.

"Hey Knuckles, are we getting close to that emerald?" asked Sonic "Because that Chaos Emerald we have is glowing brighter."

"We are indeed Sonic." said Knuckles "It's glowing brighter with every step I take."

"Glowing brighter with every step you take?" repeated Sonic "We've practically found the thing then. Let's keep moving."

After a few more paces, the emerald glowed its maximum glow; it would not glow any brighter. When the emerald was at its brightest that meant the emerald it was sensing was nearby. The Mobians pushed their way out of the sea of tall, waving grass and found a little X in the middle of a sandy patch of ground. In a treasure hunt, X marked the spot so this meant Sonic and friends had found the treasure at long last.

"The emerald's underground." said Knuckles "We need to dig it up and then we can get outta here."

"I'll do it." said Wilson eagerly "I'm a dog and dogs are good diggers."

Wilson ran over to the X, got down on all fours and using his hands, he began to dig his way into the soil. His paws moved like lightening and he dug through the soil effortlessly, bits of soil flung everywhere as he dug down. Sonic and the others kept back to avoid getting hit by the flying bits of soil. Wilson kept on digging and digging until his entire front half had completely gone down. The treasure was buried deep and Wilson had a lot of digging to do to get to it. A minute later, Wilson had completely gone underground but he was still digging as quickly as he could. Sonic knew dogs could dig but he had never seen a dog of any kind dig so fast before, Wilson was obviously highly trained at digging compared to other dogs. Then suddenly, the soil stopped flying and everything fell into a stand still for a moment before the sound of something being pulled up towards the surface was heard. Wilson emerged from the hole and he climbed out whilst pulling something with his hands. He gave the thing a mighty tug and he pulled it out. It was a treasure chest. The chest was red and gold with a padlock shaped like Cutthroat Jim's head keeping it shut.

"I've got the treasure!" puffed Wilson "It was a lot deeper down then I thought it would be."

"Now the treasure's here, let's see what's inside shall we?" said Sonic, even though he and the whole group knew what was inside it.

Sonic leaped into the air as high as he could, spun into a spin-dash and…Knuckles punched the chest and smashed it open with his fists of steel before Sonic could hit it. Sonic crashed into the ground and groaned loudly. Everybody laughed at him.

"Knuckles, I was gonna open that!" moaned Sonic.

"Well I beat you to it so there." said Knuckles "You're not as fast as you think you are."

As for the open chest, a faint blue glow was coming out from the inside. Knuckles reached into the chest and pulled out its contents. The thing in the chest was a blue Chaos Emerald. The blue Chaos Emerald glowed brightly as it was held next to the green Chaos Emerald Knuckles already had.

"We were right, the treasure Cutthroat Jim and his goons are after IS a Chaos Emerald!" gasped Knuckles.

"I can see why Cutthroat Jim thinks it's called the Emerald of the Seas." said Tails "It's blue just like the ocean."

"Well now we've got the "booty"." said Sonic "We can get outta here and get off this island and go searching for the other Chaos Emeralds."

But before anyone could so much as stand up, Cutthroat Jim, Marik and the entire pirate crew leaped out from their hiding places, which were thickly grown bushes, tall trees or shallow pits nearby and they pounced on Sonic and friends. Soon a big scuffle broke out. The scuffle was full of flying rope, swinging arms, kicks, punches and a lot of shrieking and shouting that echoed around the usually quiet jungle. Dust clouds flew everywhere as the scuffle went on. The scuffle was tight, tough and violent but in the end, Cutthroat Jim's crew came out on top and they defeated the Mobians. All six Mobians were tightly tied up with ropes around their bodies and legs and gags around their mouths. They were not going anywhere in a hurry. Marik pointed a metal finger as sharp as a flint at them and laughed at the top of his lungs. Seeing Sonic and friends so powerless before him was such a wonderful sight for him and now the Mobians were tied up, Marik could take the green Chaos Emerald back, which he did of course. He held the shining green gem close to his face and smiled widely. Cutthroat Jim stood tall over the Mobians and glowered at them with his cold ruthless eyes, holding the blue Chaos Emerald in his hand. He grinned a dirty, toothy pirate grin at his captives who just stared up at him.

"Ha, ha, ha, ha, Hargh!" he cackled "Ya thought you could just swaggle me treasure map and steal me treasure did ya? Well ye scurvy landlubbers have failed miserably I'm afraid. I have the treasure, you are my prisoners and I am going to be one wealthy pirate with this booty here." he added, tauntingly waving the emerald in Sonic's face.

"But you're already wealthy sir." said Gormless.

"Shut up you noisy old parrot!" snapped Cutthroat Jim.

He stared at the beautiful blue Chaos Emerald in his hands. The emerald was everything the person who gave him the map said, beautiful, sparkly and it gave him a wonderful feeling of power and greatness just holding it. The Chaos Emerald truly was a marvellous treasure and he was lucky to have found it before any other pirate gangs could. The other crew members stared at the emerald and marvelled at its beauty.

"Isn't it grand Mateys?" asked Cutthroat Jim, stroking the emerald as if it was a cat or some other cuddly creature people loved to stroke "Isn't it the most wonderful gem ye have ever laid ye eyes on?"

"Yes it is captain!" the crew said in unison.

Cutthroat Jim turned to Marik, who stood there with his arms folded and the green Chaos Emerald tucked safely away in his pocket.

Cutthroat Jim presented the emerald to Marik and Marik stared at it in awe. The blue Chaos Emerald looked just as wonderful as the green one although Marik preferred green over blue since in his culture, blue symbolizes peace so anything blue wasn't going to appeal to him as much as any other colour.

"This is one grand emerald isn't it Marik?" asked Cutthroat Jim "The Emerald of the Seas is as grand as I had imagined it. I am going to be one fabulous pirate aren't I?"

"Yes you are." said Marik, grinning like a hyena "The Emerald of the Seas is so wonderful and so sparkling…I think I might take it for myself!"

And then suddenly without warning, Marik slashed Cutthroat Jim across the face with his metal claws and then he elbowed the insidious pirate hard in the gut. Cutthroat Jim collapsed and rubbed his throbbing, stinging, bleeding face tenderly. He had dropped the emerald after Marik slugged him and Marik seized it. Sonic and friends made muffled gasps from behind their gags as they had not expected Marik to suddenly turn on his accomplice like that. Marik yanked the green Chaos Emerald out of his pocket and held the two gleaming Chaos Emeralds side by side. They both shone like the sun in the sky in unison. Marik smiled wickedly at the two gleaming gems in his hands.

"Ha, ha, ha, ha!" he cackled "I now have TWO Chaos Emeralds! At the rate I'm going, I will have all seven emeralds and then I'll turn this planet into a war-loving hell-hole with nothing but violence, malice and destruction everywhere!"

Cutthroat Jim got onto his knees and he glared up at Marik. He gritted his horrible, sharp teeth and he snarled viciously and fiercely at the traitor before him.

"Mutiny!" he screeched "How dare you betray the great Cutthroat Jim and steal his booty? I am going to rip your stomach open and tear all your internal organs out and decorate the trees with them when I'm finished with you, you sly old fox!"

"If you're going to be a sadist then do it properly." snapped Marik, un-amused at Cutthroat Jim's statement "That's the thing about pirates, their attempts at sadism are poor compared to us Martians. And besides, I'm like a pirate in some ways, if I want something, I get it and I wanted the blue Chaos Emerald and I've got it!"

"Not for long ye haven't!" snarled Cutthroat Jim, unsheathing his cutlass and roaring like a lion.

He lunged at Marik with his cutlass gleaming and his amber eyes screaming red with rage. Marik ducked just as Cutthroat Jim gave him a deadly swing of the cutlass. Marik grabbed Cutthroat Jim by the collar and he threw the pirate leader straight into the hole the treasure chest had once been. Then Marik grabbed the opened chest and he smashed it on Cutthroat Jim's heads, reducing the thing to splinters and chunks of wood. Cutthroat Jim was knocked out cold but not dead. Gormless and the other pirates drew their cutlasses and they tried to skewer Marik with their sharp swords but Marik swiped both his arms and swept the pirates away with a giant energy wave. The pirates were blown off their feet by the sheer power of the wave and they all fell on to their backs, their cutlasses flying everywhere and either resting on their sides or impaling themselves into the ground or a tree. Seeing his opponents were down and out, Marik put both Chaos Emeralds into his pockets and he sped off with his jet-shoes. He shot through the jungle like a rocket and left a long sandy trial behind as he sped on. He disappeared into the tall grass wavy grass. The pirate crew picked themselves up and they groaned a chorus of moans.

"Oooh what a bad day we're having!" moaned one crew member who wore an eye patch on his left eye "We lose our map to landlubbers and then we get our treasure stolen by an alien! Can this day get any worse?"

"Never mind this day getting any worse!" snapped a crew member, his face laden with scars from previous battles "That freak of nature is getting away with our prize and we must catch him before he steals our ship and escapes from the island!"

"But we'll never catch him!" moaned the eye-patch pirate "He can go faster then a tiger, he'll be out of here by the time we catch him!"

Sonic tried to say something but due to his mouth being gagged, only muffled mumbles came out. The two pirates that had been talking to one another heard Sonic trying to tell them something and they ripped the gag off his mouth so they could tell what he was supposed to be saying.

"If you dopes untie me and my friends, we'll catch Marik for you and retrieve your treasure." said Sonic "I'm the fastest thing alive so I'll catch him easily."

"Do you think we're going to do that?" sneered the scar-faced pirate, drops of saliva flying out of his mouth as he spoke "You're our prisoner and you are staying put! We will catch that Marik guy ourselves!"

"No ye won't ya dopey dolts!" barked a fierce voice from the hole in the ground.

Cutthroat Jim had just recovered from Marik's onslaught earlier and he climbed out of the hole. He picked up his cutlass, which was lying near the hole and he held the sword close to Sonic's face. He glared at the hedgehog.

"I am setting you and your friends free landlubber." hissed Cutthroat Jim "But only so you can catch Marik and rescue me booty. Once you rescue me booty, you must give it back to me or I'll kill you all. Understood?"

"You have my word that your treasure returns to you safely." lied Sonic "I promise Marik will be as good as captured."

Cutthroat Jim nodded and then with one mighty slash of the cutlass, he sliced everybody's ropes in two, freeing the Mobians and allowing them to stand up and take their gags off save Sonic since his had already been taken off.

"Aaaah does it feel good to breathe again." said Geoffrey, breathing in deeply.

"I'm more in the case of "It's good to be free again"." said Sonic "Now stand back everybody, I've got a Martian to catch!"

He bent down in a sprinting ready pose and then he took off at the speed of sound. He sped off down the jungle faster then a speeding bullet and disappeared from sight in the tall grass.

"So what do we do now?" asked Mandy "Stand here and wait for Sonic to come back?"

"No, we follow him." said Tails "So we can give Sonic a hand in getting those emeralds back."

"Well let's go!" cried Knuckles "There's no time to lose!"

Tails, Knuckles, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy all ran off after Sonic. The pirate crew ran after them so they would be there to collect their stolen treasure when Sonic got it back from Marik.

As for Marik, he had just made it past the quagmire and he was heading back to the pirate ship which waited on the beach. Once there, he would climb aboard and make his quick getaway. He was very pleased with himself about having captured two Chaos Emeralds. He couldn't wait to find the other five. He began picturing his take-over in his foul little mind as he sped on. Unfortunately for him, his good luck came to a close. He could hear another sound coming from behind and he looked over his shoulder to see what it was. To his annoyance, it was none other then Sonic the Hedgehog speeding after him like an Olympic sprinter with super speed. Sonic ran on and on until he was side-by side with Marik. The two enemies glared at each other as they continued speeding through the dense jungle.

"Hey Marik, care to give me those two Chaos Emeralds back?" said Sonic snidely.

"Certainly not hedge-swine!" snarled Marik "Those emeralds are mine and that's the end of it!"

"Yeah um…NOT!" yelled Sonic, ramming Marik in the side with his shoulder.

Marik wobbled a little and almost tripped but he managed to keep his balance. Marik glared at Sonic and then he yanked both Chaos Emeralds out of his pockets.

"If you want the emeralds so badly then here they are!" roared Marik.

He thrust the two Chaos Emeralds in Sonic's face. The sheer brightness of their light blinded Sonic and Sonic shielded his eyes. Then suddenly, since Sonic couldn't see what he was doing anymore, he tripped over and fell onto his face. He skidded to a very painful halt on his face. His face was covered in scrapes and grazes after that painful episode. Marik laughed at Sonic as he began to leave him behind. Sonic picked himself up and groaned as he watched Marik get away. He was not going to let that Martian get away from him with two Chaos Emeralds so he ran off again. Since Sonic was faster then Marik by a long shot, he had no trouble catching up with the Martian again. But by the time he had caught up to the Martian, Marik had made it to the beach where Cutthroat Jim's galleon was waiting for him. Sonic leaped forward and tried to catch Marik but Marik leaped an amazing leap into the air and he landed on the bow of the ship, leaving to Sonic to fall on his face and spit sand out. Marik dug his metal claws in the wooden hull of the ship and climbed up the bow of the ship and then he threw himself over onto the deck. Sonic leaped onto the deck and landed a dropkick to the face on Marik, knocking the Martian onto his back. Marik sprawled on the deck but he wasn't down for long. He picked himself up and swiped the air with his arm, sending an energy wave hurling into Sonic's face. Sonic staggered backwards but he regained his balance and prevented himself from falling over. Sonic got into a battle ready stance and Marik did the same, his claws bared and his eyes burning with hatred.

"Those emeralds are mine Marik so save yourself a beating and give them to me!" ordered Sonic.

"More like you surrender and save yourself from a brutal beating from me!" snarled Marik "The emeralds are mine Sonic and there's nothing you can do about it!"

"How about this?" yelled Sonic, charging at Marik faster then a bull and elbowing the Martian in the gut.

Marik wheezed like an asthmatic person and he fell onto his knees after such a painful blow. Sonic then grabbed Marik by the jacket and he plunged his hand into Marik's pocket. He had managed to grab the blue Chaos Emerald and he pulled it out of Marik's pocket. But Marik grabbed Sonic by the wrist with his metal hand and he squeezed it, causing Sonic's hand to open up and drop the Chaos Emerald. Marik tried to grab the Chaos Emerald but Sonic kicked it away from Marik and punched him in the eye. While Marik was distracted, Sonic ran over to the Chaos Emerald and he picked it up. Then, remembering something he'd learnt about the Chaos Emeralds after reading legends about them, he held the Chaos Emerald in front of his face and waited for Marik to leap for him. Marik had recovered from Sonic's punch to the eye and he lunged at Sonic like a leaping tiger. Now was his chance, Sonic held the emerald before him and yelled.

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

Marik's leap suddenly began to slow down and time around the Martian ground to a halt. Chaos Emeralds have Chaos powers and Chaos Control was one of them. With it, the user could stop time momentarily or teleport. If all seven were collected then something incredible would happen. Now Marik was frozen like statue, Sonic spin-dashed him in the head as hard as he could. Time resumed itself and Marik flung through the air like a baseball. Marik landed sharply on a barrel of rum and destroyed it as he crashed. Rum spilled everywhere and seeped through the tiny gaps in between the wooden gaps of the beck. Marik shook his head furiously and stared in amazement at Sonic.

"Wha…what?" he gasped "How did you do that? How did you just stop time around me?"

"Chaos Control." said Sonic smugly "Chaos Emeralds have powers like that. Chaos Control can do a good deal of things to anyone the user is fighting which is why these emeralds are so powerful."

"Well let's see what happens if I do it!" said Marik wickedly, yanking the green Chaos Emerald out of his pocket and thrusting it in front of him.

"Chaos…CONTROL!" he yelled.

Sonic was too late to react and time around him slowed to a stop. Sonic was trapped in a pose making him look like he was about to leap backwards in surprise. Now Sonic was frozen, Marik leaped on him and began throwing heavy punches on him. Time resumed and Sonic fell onto his back with Marik throwing heavy punches onto him. Sonic could take the punches from Marik's organic hand but the punches from his metal hand were hurting severely. If Marik kept this up, Sonic wouldn't be able to fight back due to his injuries. Marik then stopped punching Sonic and he viciously threw him straight into three barrels of rum. The barrels were reduced to planks and splinters and Sonic was drenched in rum. To add insult to injury, Marik grabbed Sonic by the quills before he could get up and Marik chucked Sonic straight into a mast. Sonic hit the mast so hard, the high, tall mast collapsed and came down with a crash on the deck of the ship. The floor had been completely destroyed and the mast lay there on the ship, half in and half out. The ship had been breached in the underbelly by the mast and if it was sailing right now, it would have sunk but the ship hadn't set sail so it just rested on the shallow bank of the island. Then suddenly, the sky turned grey and it began to throw it down with heavy rain. Thunder boomed through the sky and lightening flashed briefly. Sonic picked himself up and struggled onto his feet. Marik struck him again before Sonic could even suspect the Martian was there. Marik knocked Sonic onto his stomach and stomped savagely on his back. Sonic screamed loudly as Marik stomped on him. Thunder clapped again and Marik picked up Sonic with one arm. Marik threw Sonic as hard as he could and Sonic crashed through a door that led to the galley. The door was ripped off its hinges and reduced to bits of wood. Sonic lay there, battered and beaten and unfit to fight back. He tried to get back onto his feet but Marik had beaten him too badly so he couldn't get back up. Amazing how one Chaos Control from Marik had managed to turn the tides of the battle so quickly. Marik stood in the doorway and grinned at Sonic. Lightening flashed behind him, making the Martian appear as a silhouette to Sonic. Marik strolled over to Sonic and Sonic feebly tried to punch him but Marik just smacked him in the face and sent Sonic falling down again. Marik grabbed Sonic by the neck and pinned him to the wall. Sonic choked feebly and weakly in the Martian's grasp but due to the beating Marik had given him, he was too weak to do anything about it. Marik grinned a crazed, evil grin that made him look extremely demented and he bared his metal claws.

"Nice try Sonic, very nice try." purred Marik "But I'm afraid the battle has turned in my favour now. You are beaten, I am victorious and now you die like you must do."

"No Marik…please…" gasped Sonic hoarsely as Marik's grip tightened.

Marik threw Sonic on the floor, stomped on his back yet again and then he picked up a cutlass that was lying on the floor. He held the cutlass above his head with the blade pointing down. Sonic turned his head to see what Marik was doing and he gasped feebly.

"No…don't…Marik…don't do it!" begged Sonic weakly.

Marik ignored him and got ready to plunge the sword into Sonic's back and kill him.

"Die Sonic the wretched little hedgehog!" he snarled.

He brought the sword plunging down on Sonic but before he could hit home, something grabbed him by the collar and held him back. Marik dropped the sword and yelped as he was lifted off the ground. It was Tails! He had finally made it to the ship thanks to his fast flying and he saw Sonic in distress so he flew into the galley to help him. Tails held Marik off the ground by his jacket and then with one mighty swing, Tails threw Marik out the galley and back onto the decks in the thundering rain. Before Marik could stand back up, Tails tackled Marik with a punch from behind.

"How dare you try to kill Sonic!" scolded Tails "I'm going to make you pay for that!"

But Marik slapped him in the cheek with his metal hand before Tails could even attempt to attack again. Tails landed on his side and groaned. He sat up and stared up at Marik who stood before him with an evil scowl on his face.

"Will you shut up you annoying little blister?" snarled Marik "How does Sonic bear your obnoxious nature?"

"I'm not annoying!" snapped Tails.

"Well in my eyes you are." said Marik "And I'm going to make sure your death is very painful and gory for stopping me from killing Sonic!"

But before Marik could lay a finger on poor Tails, he got a terrific punch to the back from none other then Knuckles the Echidna. Knuckles and the others had caught up and boarded the ship at last and now they were here to stop Marik and retrieve the stolen Chaos Emeralds from him. Marik picked himself up and he glared at the Mobians before him. His eyes were like pools of fire.

"I bet you hate this don't you Marik?" taunted Knuckles "Every time you get a chance to kill someone, someone else interferes."

"I do hate this!" snarled Marik "But you fools are not going to defeat me! I have put Sonic out of commission, I have a Chaos Emerald to use Chaos Control with and I am going to make sure you all suffer for all the indignity you've ever caused me!"

"But we've never met you mate." said Geoffrey, noting the fact he, Wilson and Mandy were new to Marik "Why would you want to make us suffer you blackguard?"

"Because I hate your race skunk boy." said Marik "Everyone on this planet is my enemy and anyone who is my enemy gets a gruesome fate from me."

Then suddenly without warning, he lunged at Knuckles and slugged him right in the stomach with his metal hand. Knuckles gasped so hard he felt like his lungs were about to explode but Marik didn't stop there. He yanked on the echidna's dreadlocks almost hard enough to rip them off his head and then he began to spin Knuckles around and around in a circle. Tails, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy stayed back as Marik continued to spin Knuckles around. Marik let go of Knuckles and Knuckles hurtled into Geoffrey and he knocked the skunk onto his back. Geoffrey shoved Knuckles off himself and he shot a dart at Marik. Marik just stood there and caught the dart in his fingers! Geoffrey gasped in horror at that sudden act.

"Blimey! You're a quick un' aren't you?" he spluttered.

"I am indeed smelly." said Marik casually, tossing the useless dart over his shoulder "Much too quick for you and your comrades."

"Is that so?" sneered Geoffrey "Well can you keep up with this?"

He ran up to Marik as fast as he could and Marik whipped the Chaos Emerald out of his pocket. But before he could even utter a word, Geoffrey socked him in the face with his fist and then let him have it in the gut with an elbow. Marik slashed Geoffrey in the arm with his metal hand and ripped a few bits of fabric from Geoffrey's sleeve. Geoffrey shot at Marik with his crossbow again but Marik slapped the dart away with his metal hand and then Geoffrey kicked Marik in the shoulder. Marik tumbled over and then Wilson and Mandy double-teamed him from behind with a pair of kicks just as he was standing back up. Marik kicked back and hit Wilson and Mandy each in the chest. Marik grabbed Wilson by the neck and gave the poor dog a horrible choke with one squeeze of the hand.

"You leave Wilson alone you vile monster!" screamed Mandy.

Marik ignored her and he kicked Mandy in the knee, causing the mouse to fall over. Marik threw Wilson away and he grabbed Mandy by the ears.

"I'm going to make sure your death is very gory and painful girl." snarled Marik "I have a bitter hatred of mice since all they do is cause chaos and be a nuisance to anybody they come across."

Mandy gulped and her tail shook. Marik bared his claw and prepared to plunge them into Mandy's neck but Wilson appeared from behind and bit him on the arm. Marik screamed in pain and let go of Mandy's ears. Mandy got back to her feet and kicked Marik sharply in the stomach as Wilson held him for her to attack. That kick felt strangely harder then a usual kick though and Marik knew it.

"Ooofff!" he spluttered "Your foot feels like metal mouse-girl! What are you made of?"

"Same as all Mobians, flesh and bones." said Mandy "My boots are obviously really hard aren't they?"

"I'll say they are!" said Wilson "You've hurt him good!"

Marik growled and wrenched himself out of Wilson's grasp and gave him a sucker punch to the jaw. Geoffrey stepped in with a great big whip of his big, black, stripy, bushy tail and then he slugged Marik in the chest. Marik leaped back to his feet and slashed Geoffrey across the nose with his metal claws, leaving scars that would never heal on it. Geoffrey screamed and clutched his nose and then Marik leaped up, spun in mid-air, and kicked Geoffrey in the cheek. Mandy tried to attack Marik from behind but Marik grabbed her by the wrists and flipped her over himself and onto the floor in front of him. Mandy landed sharply on her back and she groaned loudly. Wilson socked Marik in the back with both fists before Marik could see him coming and before Marik could get back up, Wilson hauled him onto his feet and then he threw him into the side of the deck. Marik almost went overboard but he managed to save himself from going over. Wilson ran up to Marik in an attempt to push him over before he could get back onboard but Marik swiped the air with his arm and smacked Wilson with an energy wave. Wilson was knocked off his feet and sent sprawling across the deck. Thunder clapped and lightening flashed once again. Marik leaped back onboard and attempt to make another attack but Knuckles, who had recovered from Marik's onslaught earlier, gave the Martian a terrifically powerful uppercut to the jaw and sent the Martian falling onto his back. Tails picked Marik up whilst in flight and then he threw Marik into a wall. Marik hit the wall and cracked it. He groaned loudly as pain flooded his back but he still wasn't down and out for the count yet. The five Mobians stood before Marik and they glared down at him. Geoffrey aimed his crossbow at Marik, ready to shot him and put him to sleep.

"Don't you dare do anything Marik." warned Knuckles "Geoffrey is aching to put you to sleep you know so the wise thing to do it give up, you can't beat us all."

"Oh yes I can you dumb head!" snarled Marik "I have this!"

He yanked the Chaos Emerald out of his pocket so hard he actually ripped his pocket in two! Marik held the emerald before him and yelled

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

Knuckles immediately lunged at him but time slowed down to a stop and everybody but Marik froze to the spot. Marik stood up and walked away from his frozen enemies. He grabbed a nearby barrel, tipped it upside down and emptied its contents, which was a lot of fish and carried it over to the others. He put the barrel down and grabbed the frozen Tails. He stuffed Tails in the barrel and then he grabbed Knuckles, who was frozen in mid-leap and stuffed him in the barrel. The barrel had no more room for anyone else so Marik got another barrel and emptied it. He carried it over to the Mobians and he stuffed Geoffrey and Wilson in the barrel. There was only Mandy left and Marik got another barrel and emptied it. Marik carried the barrel back over to Mandy and he stuffed Mandy into the barrel. He closed all the barrels and he tipped them onto their sides. He rolled the barrels towards the edge of the ship and tried to pick them up. The barrels were very heavy now they were full of Mobians but he managed to get the first barrel onto the railing and prepared to tip it overboard so the Mobians inside would drown. But his Chaos Control had worn off now and Sonic, who had managed to get back to his feet, staggered out of the galley and using the blue Chaos Emerald yelled "Chaos…CONTROL!" and stopped Marik dead in his tracks. Marik froze in time just as he pushed the barrel over. The barrel tipped slowly over the railing but Sonic ran over to it and saved the barrel from plunging into the sea. Sonic pushed the barrel onto the deck and he opened them all, freeing the Mobians trapped inside. Tails, Knuckles, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy all poured out of the three barrels and they gasped for air.

"Oh that was horrible!" gasped Wilson "At least we're free now!"

"Sonic, you're OK!" said Tails, getting up onto his feet "But how did you stop Marik from throwing us into the ocean?"

"I used Chaos Control to freeze him in time." said Sonic, still struggling to stay stood up "Chaos Control is an ability the Chaos Emeralds have and it stops time momentarily or teleports you."

"Well it's a good thing you used it." said Knuckles "We were about to become victims of the water until you stopped Marik."

Then suddenly, time around Marik unfroze and Marik finished his pushing motion, only to realize that he was not pushing anything. He turned around and gasped at the sight of his enemies, free from their barrels and standing before him, ready to attack him.

"WHAT?" he gasped "How is this possible? I was pushing two of you into the ocean!"

"I used Chaos Control to stop you long enough to save my friends." said Sonic "Now I'm here, we can all take you on together Marik."

"I'll kill you all!" snarled Marik "I'll use Chaos Control to destroy you all!"

"How does Marik even know how to use Chaos Control or even what it is?" demanded Knuckles wildly.

"I used it on him and he decided to copy me." said Sonic "But that's not gonna help him."

And with that, before anyone could blink, Sonic yelled "Chaos… CONTROL!" and time around Marik slowed to a halt again. Now Marik was frozen to the spot, Sonic ran over to Marik and kicked him over the railing and into the ocean. Marik fell into the water with a mighty splash. Time resumed itself and Marik came up to the surface of the water, spluttering and gasping and splashing madly. He glared up at Sonic who was peering down on him from the ship's great height and smirking at him.

"How's the water Marik?" asked Sonic mockingly "Too hot? Too cold? Just right?"

"You will pay for this Sonic I assure you!" snarled Marik, shaking his fist "But that'll have to wait! I've got injuries to heal and five more emeralds to find so I will be leaving! I'll be back for your Chaos Emerald and that's a promise!"

And with that, Marik fished the green Chaos Emerald out of his pocket, held it above his head and yelled.

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

Instead of time freezing and slowing to a stop, Marik was engulfed with a dazzling bright light and then Marik vanished into thin air just as thunder boomed through the sky again. Sonic and crew were amazed at the fact Marik had decided to flee like that.

"Where'd he go?" asked Mandy.

"He teleported using Chaos Control." explained Sonic "He's gone for now."

"But we'll meet him again." said Tails "And the next time we meet him, we'll finally bring him to justice and put him behind bars for good."

"I hope he doesn't find the other Chaos Emeralds." said Knuckles "It's bad enough he has one emerald but if he gets the rest, he'll be invincible."

"Well we'd best get back home and continue our Chaos Emerald hunt elsewhere!" announced Sonic "And we don't need a ship to get back to shore, we'll use our little Chaos Emerald to warp ourselves back home."

"I can't guarantee Cutthroat Jim and his band of blackguards will be getting outta here in a hurry." said Geoffrey, surveying the damages done to the ship due to Sonic knocking the mast over after Marik threw him into it "Their ship is not fit to sail."

"Like I care about that." said Sonic "Cutthroat Jim can stay on this island, that's the most he deserves for all the trouble he's caused us. Now, let's get outta here shall we?"

Everybody formed a circle and held hands with one another. Sonic held the Chaos Emerald before him and yelled.

"Chaos…CONTROL!"

The six Mobians were swallowed up by a giant, dazzling pool of light that lit up the dark, rainy scenery around them. The light shone for a moment and then died down into nothingness. The Mobians had vanished into thin air and not a trace of their existence was left. Cutthroat Jim and his pirate gang had witnessed everything and the pirate leader was wild with rage. He threw his hat onto the ground and stomped on it.

"Shiver me timbers and fire on the poop deck!" he raved "Those cheating, lying landlubbers have stolen me treasure and vanished from sight! I knew I shouldn't have trusted them!"

"I agree." said Gormless dimly, trying to sound smart.

"Hey Captain, we're stranded here." said a pirate wearing a headscarf "The ship's mast has fallen over and caused extensive damage to the hull. The damage is so great, the lower decks have holes in them and the ship can't float. If we try to leave, we'll sink!"

"ARGH!" roared Cutthroat Jim "We're marooned here! Oh the indignity of it all! Curse those Mobians for wounding me pride and leaving me stranded here! GRRRRR!"

And with that, he threw a fierce, angry tantrum. The pirates all sighed in despair. They were stuck here forever and no one would be coming to save them. They had to make his island their new home since their ship was damaged and they did not have the tools to repair it so they couldn't escape from the island. Only time would tell if the pirates would ever, EVER make it off the island at all…

Sonic and friends have one Chaos Emerald and Marik has one Chaos Emerald. But this hunt is only just beginning. Join me next time as Amy Rose takes the spotlight in the next story. Will her team be able to find a Chaos Emerald? Reviews are welcome.

Special thanks to Kratos Pwns, banjobandicoot52 and Ultimate Black Ace for your reviews and Ginger hatred. I love all your opinions on that dork. XD

A Three Way Emerald Fight

Story 39: A Three Way Emerald Fight

An long, stretching, patch of green grass that swayed in the gentle breeze was suddenly alight with a giant, bright, dazzling glow that appeared from nowhere. Then out of the blue, Marik the Martian flashed into existence and stood in the swaying grassy meadow he had just appeared in. This meadow was the exact same one he walked through before he came across Cutthroat Jim earlier*. Marik surveyed his surroundings and was pleased to see there was no one around. He put the green Chaos Emerald back in his pocket, the one that wasn't ripped that is, inhaled deeply and sighed loudly. Then he shook all the rainwater off of his body so he was dry again.

"What a terrible defeat that was." he moaned, remembering his defeat at the hands of Sonic previously "Those Mobians are more dangerous then ever just because they have a Chaos Emerald. I must steal it off of them and find the other five before they do or I'll never conquer this planet and transform it into a war-zone."

He trudged through the grass glumly, his face as dark as a thundercloud and headed off to nowhere in particular.

"I do hope Sonic and the others are faraway from me right now." he mumbled to himself "I'm not ready to see them in combat until I've healed from my minor injuries from that fierce fight."

Then he felt the Chaos Emerald tingle against his thigh from inside his pocket. He studied it and realized it was glowing brighter then usual. It was only a tad brighter but that was enough to convince Marik something was up.

"What's this?" he mused to himself "If I heard that obnoxious echidna properly, Chaos Emeralds glow brighter when another emerald is nearby. That must mean…I'm close to another Chaos Emerald! YES! I must seize this opportunity now I have it!"

And with that, Marik ran off like a jackrabbit with the Chaos Emerald held in front of him to see if he was on the trial or not. Marik felt a tingle of excitement burn in his stomach as he ran for it. He was near another Chaos Emerald! Now all he had to do was find it and run off with it before someone else knew about it. With two emeralds at his side, he would be more powerful then ever before and he would find the other four Chaos Emeralds with them. And once he'd found the other four Chaos Emeralds, he would steal Sonic's emerald and then have all seven at his side, ready to cause destruction and carnage with the seven colourful gems and end all peace on Mobius for all eternity. All Marik could do was hope for no competition and for this to be an easy catch operation for himself…

The Chaos Emerald hunt had not been a very easy one for Sonic's biggest fan, Amy Rose and her team mates Cream the Rabbit, Cosmo the Seedrian, Bunnie Rabbot, Espio the Chameleon, Vector the Crocodile and Charmy Bee. Despite the fact Tails had managed to rework a tracker and get it to detect Chaos Emeralds, they had not found a thing since the hunt had started. They had searched high and low, far and wide and in any possible hiding place. But they had not found so much as a stone. They had been at this for hours on end with literally no rest or anything so you can imagine how famished these poor people must be. And yet, Amy pushed on with determination that could not be suppressed by anything else. Their hunt had taken them into the Great Forest, home of the legendary Lake of Rings. They had just begun searching in there now and Amy kept glancing at the tracker to see if it was detecting anything. As before, nothing appeared on the tracker. Amy had managed to bear hours of not finding anything, but now her patience had reached breaking point. She was getting very frustrated at her team's unsuccessful find over the hours so she groaned angrily.

"For heaven's sake! Where are those damn Chaos Emeralds?" she whined "They can't be THAT hard to find!"

"Maybe they're well hidden sugah." suggested Bunnie as she prowled through a bush only to find absolutely nothing inside "It may take us a while at the least to find one of them."

"Can we rest first Miss Rose?" asked Cream sweetly "I'm tired and my feet hurt."

Amy sighed loudly but she couldn't find an emerald if her team weren't fit enough to do any searching so she reluctantly called a break for everybody.

"OK everybody, it's time to rest." announced Amy.

Everybody stopped what they were doing and the team sat down in a circle. Amy discussed their progress so far.

"OK, we've been at this for hours on end and we haven't found a thing." said Amy "What does that tell us?"

"It tells me that this emerald hunt isn't as fun as I thought it was gonna be." groaned Charmy.

"Oh shut up Charmy!" snapped Vector, grabbing the bee by his head.

"OK." said Charmy quickly.

Vector let go of him.

"OK so…what does that tell anyone else?" asked Amy, hoping for a more logical and intelligent answer this time.

"It tells me those emeralds are well hidden." said Espio "If we're going to find them, we need a lot of patience and we need to take it steady or we'll just get frustrated and we'll take even longer to find the emeralds."

"That's…a good point actually." said Amy slowly "I'll have to keep that in mind on the rest of this trek."

"I hope Sonic and his team are doing alright." said Cosmo as she thought about Sonic's current status now "I can't stop thinking about them right now."

"I'm sure they're fine Cosmo." said Amy gently "After all, Sonic can take care of himself."

"And so can Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy." added Bunnie "Those three are well-trained fighters after all."

"And I'm sure that Knuckles can take care of himself." said Amy "He was strong enough to destroy Eggman's combat suit that time Sonic and Eggman had a showdown that almost ended in tears for us."

"So Sonic and his team will be just fine." said Cosmo brightly "I shouldn't need to worry about them."

"Yes Cosmo, you shouldn't." said Amy smugly "No one can beat my Sonic the Hedgehog. He is unstoppable and that's why I'm so crazily in love with him!"

She got up on her feet and started spinning around in a love-entranced daze.

"I can just imagine Sonic's heroic feats right now." said Amy dreamily "So dashing, so daring and so amazing. I can't wait until the day Sonic admits his love for me arrives and we marry and have a future together!"

Amy was so blinded by her love for Sonic right now, she failed to notice everybody staring at her weird. Everybody sweat-dropped in confusion and shifted uncomfortably on the ground.

"Um…is the sugah-hog girl usually like this?" asked Bunnie uncomfortably.

"Not usually." said Cream "I know Miss Rose fancies Mr. Sonic but, she doesn't usually act like this."

These Mobians are strange creatures. thought Cosmo to herself.

Vector got to his feet and put a hand the size of a gorilla's on Amy's head to stop her spinning.

"Um Amy…I think you should snap out of it and focus right now." said Vector "We've got emeralds to find."

Amy suddenly came back down to earth and realized what she had been doing in front of everybody and went bright red all over her body. Her cheeks were hot with embarrassment.

"I'm so sorry you all had to see that." she choked uneasily.

"We'll pretend we didn't see that." said Espio smoothly "Now, are we ready to continue this hunt? I feel like I'm ready to go again."

"Certainly." said Amy "Let's go team!"

Everybody got back to their feet and continued searching. Not a million miles away (to put it more precise, just a few feet away really) a bush rustled and shook and out popped Marik the Martian. He had been searching for the Chaos Emerald he had detected and the search had taken him into the Great Forest. The emerald was telling him it was near so he knew he hadn't got far. He was annoyed to see he had come across another team of Mobians that appeared to be searching for the same thing but what made him even angrier was the fact Amy, Cream and Cosmo were there. Cosmo and Cream in particular since he still bitterly remembered his humiliating defeat at their hands.

"Oh for the love of Phobos*!" he cursed "Did I have to come across more vermin while I was searching for a Chaos Emerald? Oh well, I'll give them a brutal beating later. The Chaos Emerald my emerald is detecting is nearby so I'll find it first."

He ducked back into the bush and then silently crept out of it, making sure nobody heard him as he sneaked away like a snake slithering through the bushes for its unsuspecting prey. Now he was out of the bush, he ran for it since there was nothing around for him to make a sound and catch some attention. Soon he was safely out of range for Amy and her team and now he could continue searching for the Chaos Emerald. The Chaos Emerald he had shone so brightly you would permanently blind yourself if you stared at it for too long. Marik glanced at it quickly and realized the emerald was very close to him now. He looked around only to see a lot of trees and fallen branches lying on the ground.

"The Chaos Emerald must be somewhere…" mused Marik "And I bet it's hiding up a tree somewhere. There's no other hiding place around here for it."

So Marik strolled over to a tree and held the green Chaos Emerald up in the air. The green Chaos Emerald kept glowing so that meant the Chaos Emerald Marik detected was up that tree. The tree was tall and brimming with acorns, just fit for the squirrels and other rodents of Mobius. Marik put the green Chaos Emerald in his intact pocket and he dug his metal claws into the tree, the sharp fingers easily penetrating the thick bark of the tree. Marik then dug the spikes on the edge of his shoes into the bark so he could easily climb up the tree. Every step up the tree he took he pulled his claws out and dug them into the bark above his head so he could climb higher. He climbed up and up and up the tall tree until he was halfway up off the ground and he came across a hole in the tree. The hole in the tree was empty except for one thing. Something gleaming and shiny shone from the hole. Marik peered into the hole and quickly pulled his head out to avoid getting blinded by the sheer brightness of the thing. The thing in the hole was a yellow Chaos Emerald! Marik immediately seized it with his organic hand and held it to his face. He scowled at it.

"Why is this emerald yellow?" he grumbled "Yellow's a horrible colour! More horrible then blue! Oh well, at least I've got another Chaos Emerald. I'm amazed that find was so easy. My luck must be increasing now."

He stuffed the emerald in a pocket inside his jacket whilst holding on to the tree with his metal hand and he zipped it up so the emerald wouldn't fall out. Then Marik climbed down the tree. The one thing Marik hated about climbing is it was much easier to get UP the thing he was climbing then it was climbing DOWN it and trees were no exception.

"If only I'd gotten that idiot fox to fix my hover shoes before I broke out of prison." he moaned to himself "I could have just flown up and down this stupid tree in a jiffy. If I find a lab or something I'll have to fix my jet shoes and then fix my voltage compactor so I can electrocute people again." he added, remembering the fact Tails had smashed his voltage compactor with a revolver during the whole incident with the pirates earlier***.

After a minute or two, Marik finally made it down to the ground and he let go of the tree. Now he had his prize, he walked away with a big smile on his evil face. Now he had two Chaos Emeralds in his possession. If he was lucky, he'd be able to find the other four Chaos Emeralds and use their powers for his own evil deeds.

Meanwhile, Amy's team continued searching but yet again, they STILL found nothing. If Marik hadn't had already found the Chaos Emerald and walked off with it, Amy's tracker might have picked it up and they would have found it but Marik had found it first so the emerald was out of range. Cosmo peered into the bush that Marik had been in earlier only to find nothing but some fallen leaves and a little trial left by Marik after he'd left.

"Hmm…Has someone been hiding in here?" wondered Cosmo "And if so, I wonder who it was."

Team Chaotix kept prowling through bushes to see what they could find and Cream and her pet Chao Cheese both searched up and down trees with Bunnie Rabbot. Both rabbits could fly, Cream had her big flapping ears to use as wings and Bunnie Rabbot had her jets in her feet to fly. The two rabbits and Chao searched in about every tree they came across only to find the trees were as empty as abandoned houses. These trees were obviously not occupied by any of the wildlife that lived in this forest. The two rabbits gave up and lowered down to the ground.

"No Chaos Emerald here ah'm afraid." said Bunnie with her hands on her hips and looking up at the trees they had just searched.

"I wonder where those emeralds are hiding?" said Cream "We can't find one anywhere."

Cream shouldn't have said "We can't find one anywhere" because Amy just did. She had been prowling further up then everybody else and her tracker suddenly picked up the two Chaos Emeralds Marik had. Amy got proper excited and she almost bounced up and down like a spring in a bed.

"Hey guys, my tracker's picking up not one but TWO Chaos Emeralds!" she shrieked "We've finally found some emeralds!"

"We have?" the entire group called out.

"Yes!" yelled Amy "Come on! Let's get them before we lose them!"

Amy ran off like a wildebeest running from a hungry lion. Everybody else followed them. Cosmo, Vector and Espio ran after Amy while Bunnie, Cream and Charmy flew after Amy as she bounded off down the forest. Amy kept her eyes on the tracker to see how close they were to the two emeralds. Excitement flushed up her stomach and her heart pounded with glee. What a touch of good luck she'd suddenly had! Two Chaos Emeralds had been detected! At long last they had found an emerald! The seven Mobians ran and ran deeper and deeper into the forest, Amy glancing at the tracker every second to see how close they were. The team ran to the left and bounded onwards. After what seemed like twenty miles even though they hadn't been running that long, the team had finally caught up to the Chaos Emeralds. They took cover behind a tree and Amy glanced at the tracker.

"OK, so the tracker says the emeralds are up ahead." said Amy "Let's get them!"

She leaped out from behind the tree and…froze to the spot in horror and her jaw dropped. There ahead of her, sitting down and meditating with his back turned on everybody was Marik the Martian. Marik didn't appear to have heard anybody because he didn't twitch or move a muscle at all. He remained sitting there with his hands together, his eyes closed and legs crossed. Marik was a little tired from the fighting earlier and all the walking and climbing he'd done a moment ago so he decided to sit down and rest himself. Amy resisted the urge to scream and she glanced at the tracker. She almost died of shock at what the tracker was telling her. The tracker was telling her the Chaos Emeralds were right in front of her, in other words with Marik the Martian! Amy silently retreated behind the tree and pressed her back against it whilst panting heavily and clutching her thumping chest.

"What's wrong?" asked Vector "Have you found the emeralds?"

"Yes." gasped Amy "But unfortunately, Marik the Martian has them!"

Cosmo's eyes almost popped out of her head and she felt so wobbly and weak at the knee she had to sit down.

"Not…Marik again!" whimpered Cosmo.

"You're kidding!" cried Vector "I've read in a newspaper Sonic threw him off a cliff! He couldn't have survived that!"

"Well he did." said Amy "Unfortunately." she added bitterly.

"Oh no! Hide me!" squeaked Charmy "Marik's gonna kill us all!"

"Shut up Charmy!" cried Vector and Espio, the two of them seizing the bee and clasping their hands around his mouth to shut him up.

"Who in the who-hah is Marik the Martian?" asked Bunnie "Ah've nevah heard of that guy."

"Marik is the epitome of sadism." said Amy "He's horrible, violent, cruel and has an unhealthy love for violence and destruction. He detests peace and wants all peace lovers to die."

"Oh mah stars!" shrieked Bunnie "He sounds much worse then that darn Dr. Eggman!"

"He IS worse then Dr. Eggman." said Cosmo quietly "Marik is probably the most evil thing in the galaxy and I should know because my kind are at war with him."

"Oh mah stars again!" cried Bunnie "No wonder ya'll look so petrified little Cosmo!"

Cosmo nodded weakly at the cyborg rabbit.

"I don't want to go near that Martian again." whimpered Cream, putting her hands to her mouth and shaking terribly "I bet he wants to kill me and Cosmo in revenge for what we did to him the time he was kidnapping Chao for his evil experiments."

"You won't have to." said Amy "Because I'm going to knock him out and steal the Chaos Emeralds while he's out and run for it. You wait here and I'll knock Marik out. If I need help, you all come out and attack."

Everybody nodded in agreement. Amy summoned her Piko-Piko hammer to her hand and she tip-toed out from behind the tree. Marik didn't stir or make any signs of movement at all. He remained where he was, silently humming to himself and making weird hand symbols while meditating. Amy was rather baffled to see a bloodthirsty peace-hating sadist like Marik doing something peaceful like meditating right now but she had a feeling that Marik did it for an evil reason, not a peaceful reason. She shook off her bafflement and continued creeping up on Marik with her hammer in hand. She crept so quietly that I doubt a bat would have heard her and they have good ears. Marik remained still, completely oblivious to the fact someone was creeping up on him. Amy smiled evilly to her self and she put her hammer down, rubbed her hands and picked it back up. She raised the hammer above her head and aimed for Marik's head. The helmet may protect him a little from the hammer but not a whole lot. Amy raised her hammer the highest she could raise it and she brought it swinging down on Marik. But Marik reached above his head and caught the hammer head just before it could hit him! Amy gasped in horror and Marik proceeded to throw Amy over his head and onto the ground in front of him whilst still sitting down. Amy landed ever so sharply on her back and she grimaced heavily. Her hammer landed beside her. Marik opened his eyes and glared at the pink hedgehog that lay before him. Marik stood up and put a foot on Amy's face. Amy shook madly, she knew what was coming.

"Did you really think I was unaware of your presence?" snarled Marik "Just because I'm phased out it doesn't mean I can't hear you creeping on me!"

"But I didn't make a sound at all!" shrieked Amy "How could you possibly hear me?"

"When you're meditating like I am, you can hear the quietest of sounds no matter how quiet someone tries to sneak up on you." explained Marik "My hearing is so good I can hear the silent footsteps you make with every tip-toe. Not to mention I heard you rubbing your hands just before you were about to wallop me."

"Wow, that's good hearing." said Amy.

"Yeah as if you'd know about it." snorted Marik "You Mobians can't hear as well a Martian can. Now let's see what a crushed Mobian skull looks like shall we?"

He raised his foot and prepared to bring it slamming down on Amy's face. Bunnie Rabbot leaped out from behind the tree and blasted at Marik with her arm cannon but Marik heard it coming and he leaped out of the way of the blast. The blast singed a tree just ahead of Amy. Amy quickly got onto her feet, picked up her hammer and ran up to Marik, growling loudly. She tried to whack Marik with her hammer but she missed as Marik leaped out of the way and then Marik gave her a painful uppercut, made more painful by the fact it was his metal hand he used. Amy flew through the air in a perfect arch and landed sharply on her back again (I wonder if she'll get rheumatism from this at the end of the day?). Marik tried to attack Amy again but Bunnie Rabbot stepped in and tried to punch the Martian with her robot arm.

"You leave the sugah-gal alone gruesome!" snarled Bunnie.

Marik dodged the extending arm with no effort whatsoever and then he grabbed her arm before it could retract back for another attack. Bunnie's ears straightened in surprise and Marik gave her a wild grin that made him look extremely demented and insane.

"You know for some one with robot limbs, I would have expected you to have much better aim then that!" sneered Marik, yanking on the arm and pulling Bunnie onto her stomach "At least my aim is much better!"

He swung Bunnie around by the arm and threw the cyborg-rabbit straight into a tree. Bunnie screeched in pain and fell to the ground. Marik laughed at the downed rabbit and he advanced on her. Bunnie lay there, staring up at Marik and her ears drooped back in fear. Marik stared down at her and grinned like a hobgoblin.

"So you're a cyborg I guess?" said Marik "Not bad since cyborgs are powerful but when I'm finished with you, Rabbot, you'll need more robot parts then what you've already got!"

"So go ahead then, finish me." said Bunnie "What's keeping ya'll?"

Marik pointed a metal finger as sharp as a steak knife at Bunnie and the Rabbot gulped and sweat-dropped at the same time.

"The only reason I'm not tearing you apart right now rabbit bot." he hissed, his voice soft and dangerous sounding "Is because I find your accent mildly amusing."

"Oh yeah, well ah find your evilness mildly annoying!" snapped Bunnie "And ah've got a present for you!"

Before Marik could do anything, she delivered a well aimed sucker-punch to Marik's face with her robot arm. Marik was completely bewildered by the sheer power of the punch and he flew through the air in a perfect arch. He landed on his head and the spikes of his helmet embedded themselves into the ground. Marik was now upside down and stuck in the ground by his helmet. Marik's body flopped down and he pulled the helmet out of the ground and put it back on his head, only to get a ninja kick in the cheek from Espio. Marik fell onto his side and then got a flying punch from Charmy Bee before he could stand back up. Marik was in a daze and his eyes were spinning around like roundabouts. Vector charged up to Marik and seized him by the collar with his giant jaws. Then Vector hoisted Marik off the ground and began to spin him around. Vector spun his head around and around whilst he was holding Marik in his jaws and he was spinning his head so fast Marik became a black, red and gold blur and Vector's head was a green blur at the top of his body. Vector finally let go of Marik and the Martian shot through the air like a dart whizzing towards the dartboard and he crashed slap-bang headfirst into a rock. Marik's hard helmet saved him from a lot of pain but the impact still hurt him and the rock cracked heavily. Vector felt a little dizzy from spinning his head so much but he didn't take long to shake it off and recover from his dizzy spell. Charmy Bee laughed goofily at what Vector did to Marik.

"Ha, ha, ha, ha! That was funny! Do it again!" giggled Charmy.

"If it didn't make me dizzy afterwards, I'd happily do so." said Vector.

As for Marik, he had been knocked out cold from that impact and he lay against the rock, still and motionless. Amy, Cream and Cosmo crept up to the unconscious Martian and they stood and stared at him. Amy held the tracker near him and the tracker picked up the Chaos Emeralds Marik had in his pockets.

"Marik has the two Chaos Emeralds we picked up earlier." said Amy "Can someone search his pockets and find them before he wakes up?"

Cream and Cosmo were reluctant to get this close to the insidious Martian but they had to open his pockets and get the Chaos Emeralds since they were too valuable to leave in his possession. Cosmo reached into Marik's left pocket, the one that wasn't ripped, and grabbed the green Chaos Emerald that he had stolen from Sonic. Cosmo stared in amazement.

"This is the first emerald we found." said Cosmo "How did Marik ever get it from Sonic?"

"Dunno." said Amy "But if we come across Sonic, we can give it back to him."

Cream reached into Marik's ripped pocket only to inevitably find nothing inside. Then Cosmo gently turned Marik on to his back and Cream opened his leather jacket and reached into the inside pocket. Her fingers closed around the yellow Chaos Emerald and she slowly pulled it out of his pocket, being careful not to wake him up. Cream finally pulled the emerald out of Marik's pocket, her heart pounding and she sighed with relief. The girls stared at the yellow emerald Cream was now holding in her hand.

"I guess Marik found this emerald with the green emerald." said Amy "Knuckles did say Chaos Emeralds can be used to find other emeralds."

"Well now we've got them, Marik can't use them to find another Chaos Emerald." said Cosmo "Let's get outta here before he…"

Then suddenly Marik snapped awake, his eyes wide and bloodshot looking and he grabbed Cosmo and Cream by their wrists, causing the girls to shriek in terror. Marik made Cosmo drop the green Chaos Emerald due to the fact he was squeezing the hand she was holding the Chaos Emerald with but Cream still had hers and in a terrified state, she actually THREW the gleaming gem straight into Marik's forehead! Marik screamed in pain and Cream and Cosmo picked up the Chaos Emeralds before Marik could catch them and the two girls ran for safety while Amy, Bunnie and Team Chaotix prepared to give Marik another beating. Marik just lay against the rock, glaring at them like an eagle staring its prey down before it came in for the kill.

"I wouldn't try and do anything stupid if I were you Marik." said Amy "You're surrounded and outnumbered so do us all a favour and give up. If you do we won't use brute force on you."

Marik just snorted like a wild bull and swiped at the five Mobians surrounding him with his arms. Amy, Bunnie, Espio, Vector and Charmy were swept away by an energy wave and they all landed on their backs. Marik leapt to his feet and charged towards Cosmo and Cream, who were standing watching and petrified with fear. The two girls finally decided to run for their lives but Marik leaped into the air and did a split-kick on them both. Cosmo and Cream were knocked over onto their sides and they dropped the Chaos Emeralds. Marik bore down on Cream, the rabbit shaking with indescribable fear. Cheese the Chao tried to stop Marik from inflicting any pain on his owner but Marik slapped him away with his metal hand. Cheese dived into the ground and groaned. Marik bared his claws and clenched his teeth. He looked like a carnivorous creature waiting to devour its prey.

"Don't think I don't remember my humiliating defeat at yours and Cosmo's hands Cream!" snarled Marik as the rabbit whimpered before him "Because I do, clear as daylight! And because you are such a nuisance, I am going to kill you first!"

"Oh please Marik, don't do it!" wailed Cream "I don't want to die!"

"And I'm supposed to care?" snorted Marik "I don't care if you don't want to die, I want you to stop living and I care about that so I'm going to kill you!"

Cream closed her eyes and looked away as Marik bore down on her even more, his claws ready to sink into her throat.

"Oh Marik please, I beg you, don't hurt Cream!" begged Cosmo "I'll do anything you want, but please don't hurt my friend!"

Marik looked away from Cream and at Cosmo. His orange eyes were like fire and his stare was colder then a vampire's.

"Are you begging for me to kill you first Cosmo?" said Marik coldly "Because it sounds suspiciously like it!"

"I don't care what you do with me Marik." said Cosmo "Just please, for the love of this world, don't hurt Cream."

"I'll hurt who I want thank you very much!" snapped Marik "You don't control what I do so I do what I want!"

"If I give you the Chaos Emeralds will you leave us alone?" asked Cosmo "Please? If you refuse, I won't let you have them."

Marik just smiled at the feeble Seedrian that was trying to make an amend with him. He decided to play along with it since he was on an emerald hunt and not a killing mission right now. Marik stepped away from Cream and advanced on Cosmo. The Seedrian tried her best not to shiver as Marik advanced on her with a smile that could make the easily scared faint in an instant. Cosmo immediately handed Marik the two Chaos Emeralds and Marik took them off her.

"Thank you Cosmo. At least you're reasonable unlike some people on this stupid planet." said Marik, his voice like ice "And as a token of appreciation, I'm going to let you live long enough until the next time you see me."

"Um…thanks?" said Cosmo weakly.

"Now if you'll excuse me, I've got to find the other Chaos Emeralds." said Marik "Do not attempt to follow me or I'll kill you now."

Then suddenly something flew up and kicked Marik in the back of the head, causing the Martian to fall onto his face and drop the Chaos Emeralds. Then the attacker scooped up the emeralds and flew back up into the air so no one could pounce on it and get them back. Amy and the others had recovered from Marik's attack and they saw Marik lying on the ground in pain from that sudden attack from behind. Amy looked up and saw none other then Rouge the Bat flying above the ground with the two Chaos Emeralds in hand and smirking to herself.

"Well aren't I a lucky girl?" she purred to herself "I got two beautiful Chaos Emeralds at once. I'm such a lucky girl."

"Hey you!" Amy called out to the bat "Who are you?"

"Oh how rude of me, I forgot to introduce myself." said Rouge "I'm Rouge the Bat but you can call me Rouge and I've just taken out some scary guy you lot are having problems with for you and saved these two emeralds."

She motioned to the downed Marik the Martian who was just beginning to get back onto his feet. He rubbed the back of his head tenderly and grumbled under his breath.

"Well thanks a bunch Rouge." said Amy "Now can we have the emeralds back? We need them badly."

Rouge pretended to think for a moment before saying "Nah, I'll keep these gorgeous gems for myself if you don't mind. I'm a jewel thief and treasure hunter after all and any gem I find is mine."

"WHAT?" screamed Amy "Those are our emeralds you thieving little…you give them back or I'll hammer you into the ground like a nail!"

"And how are you gonna do that pinkie?" sneered Rouge "You're down there and I'm up here. You can't possibly reach me…"

Then suddenly Marik leaped into the air, snarling like a wolf and Rouge gasped in surprise.

"Those emeralds are mine!" snarled Marik "You give me those emeralds back you b…"

"Bat." said Rouge, giving Marik a sharp kick in the stomach and throwing the Martian into the ground as hard as she could "Remember that."

Marik growled louder then a pack of African Dogs as he lay on the ground, his face covered in dirt. Rouge laughed at the downed Martian only to get a sharp punch from behind by Bunnie Rabbot. Rouge dropped the emeralds and fell to the ground like a bird that had been shot by a hunter. Bunnie flew down to the ground and she caught both emeralds in her hands, leaving Rouge to crash into the ground face first.

"Ah've got the emeralds!" cried Bunnie.

"Not anymore!" crowed Marik, leaping over Bunnie like a pouncing wolf and snatching the emeralds straight out of her hands.

But he didn't keep hold of them for long. Amy walloped Marik in the back with her hammer, causing the Martian to drop the emeralds and fall onto his face. Cream grabbed the emeralds and tried to fly away but Rouge, who had recovered from Bunnie's attack earlier, flew up into the sky after the little rabbit and she grabbed Cream by the ears. Cream yelped and dropped the emeralds, only for Charmy Bee to catch them before they could land on the ground. Rouge let go of Cream and flew after Charmy but Charmy, despite being a ditz, knew how to deal with her. He tossed the emeralds over to Espio, who had climbed up a tree in order to reach the bee and the chameleon caught them. Then Charmy flew towards Rouge and punched the bat on the nose. Rouge got mad and kicked the bee in the head as hard as she could. Then she dived towards Espio but Espio tossed the emeralds over to Vector, who was down below waiting to catch them. Vector caught them and then Espio gave Rouge a ninja style kick in the cheek. Then Espio added a punch to the forehead, distracting the bat long enough for Vector to run for it. Rouge recovered from Espio's attacks and flew after Vector.

"Give me those emeralds you lumbering swamp creature!" ordered Rouge.

"No, I'll give them to Cosmo if you don't mind." said Vector, throwing the emeralds to the little Seedrian who was not far from him.

Cosmo caught the emeralds like baseballs and ran for cover while Vector gave Rouge a sharp punch in the gut. Rouge kicked Vector in the jaw but Vector was a strong crocodile so the kick didn't hurt him much and he recovered with a snap of a jaws which caused Rouge to leap back to avoid getting bitten. Vector readied himself for another attack as Rouge charged at him again only for Marik the Martian to climb up his back, leap off his head and double-kick Rouge in the face and then dropkick her into the ground. Vector was taken-aback at the sudden helpfulness of Marik but then the Martian slashed him across the snout with his metal claws, causing the crocodile to wince in pain and grab his snout which now had three bloody cuts. With Vector and Rouge out of commission for the time being, Marik ran after Cosmo, the Seedrian still running for her life with the two Chaos Emeralds. Marik leaped at Cosmo like a pouncing tiger but Cosmo threw the emeralds at Cream and dodged Marik's leap, leaving Marik to miss and land on his hands. He screeched to a halt and ran after Cream, the rabbit taking flight so Marik couldn't catch her. But Marik swiped the air with his arm and caught Cream in mid-air with an energy wave. Cream dropped the emeralds and fell to the ground like a stone. Marik tried to catch the emeralds but Bunnie Rabbot punched him away with her metal arm and caught Cream before the young rabbit could hit the ground and severely injure herself. Amy caught the two Chaos Emeralds in her hands before they could smash to pieces.

"Are ya'll OK sugah?" asked Bunnie nicely.

"I'm fine now you saved my life." said Cream "Thank you Miss Rabbot."

"I've got the emeralds." said Amy "Now let's get outta here before Rouge and Marik recover."

"Great idea sugah." said Bunnie "Those two are gettin' on mah nerves what with them tryin' to steal our emeralds."

"Oh yeah? Well you're getting on MY nerves with you causing trouble for me!" snarled Marik, slugging Bunnie straight in the back and then elbowing her in the neck, causing Bunnie to collapse and grimace.

Amy took off almost as fast as Sonic but Marik unfortunately caught up with her due to his jet shoes and he tackled Amy in the legs with a kick, tripping the female hedgehog up and sending her falling over.

She dropped the emeralds and Marik immediately grabbed them. Marik ran off, cackling to himself with the emeralds in hand. But he didn't get far. Espio had turned invisible and he was lying in wait for Marik and now Marik ran past him, he turned visible and kicked Marik in the head. Marik landed face-first in a mud puddle and Espio grabbed the emeralds.

"Why are ninjas so annoying?" gurgled Marik from in the mud puddle.

Espio ran for it before Marik could recover but now Rouge the Bat was coming for him. Espio threw a shuriken at Rouge to keep her away but Rouge dodged the shuriken and screw-kicked Espio. The chameleon dropped the emeralds and was sent hurling in the air. He landed on a tree and bounced off, sending himself flying towards Rouge. The two kicked each other and sent each other flying backwards. Espio landed on the ground and Rouge flew after the dropped emeralds. Amy caught them first and walloped Rouge with her hammer. The bat fell onto her side and scraped her shoulder on the ground.

"That's for taking things that don't belong to you!" said Amy crossly.

"As if you knew about that." said Rouge "The emeralds don't belong to anybody so I'm not taking things that don't belong to me."

"Well I say the emeralds belong to me so there!" snapped Amy "And I am gonna pound your face in for…"

"I do wish you would shut the hell up you little brat!" snarled Marik, pile-diving Amy in the back and knocking her over.

Amy dropped the emeralds and Rouge grabbed them before anyone could notice. Amy tried to get up But Marik stomped on her back, forcing her back down. Then he grabbed Amy by the quills and started to swing her around in a circle. Rouge decided to stay and watch the show since this looked interesting. Amy became a pink and red blur around a spinning Marik as the Martian swung her around and around and around faster then the Trunchbull when she swung a kid around by her pigtails. Marik then let go of Amy and the hedgehog was sent flying into a tree branch. She hit it head first and fell back down to the ground with a sharp thud. But Marik didn't stop there; he pounced on Amy, sat on top of her, grabbed her arm and forced it behind her back. He yanked on it as hard as he could just to make Amy scream in pain. Then he gave it a very, VERY sharp twist. Amy screamed extremely loudly, so loudly she could have woken the entire planet up if everybody was a sleep at the time. Tears of pain began to stream down Amy's cheeks as Marik continued to hurt her.

"I'm gonna enjoy this so much!" said Marik sadistically "I'm gonna be so happy when I break your arm Amy Rose!"

"Marik please stop this! You're hurting me so much!" howled Amy.

"That's why I'm doing it!" snapped Marik "You deserve this you obnoxious little…"

He lowered his head to Amy's ear and whispered an extremely dirty word that cannot be mentioned. Amy was shocked to say the least that Marik had just called her that. Then Marik let go of Amy's arm and grabbed her other arm and twisted it behind her back. Amy screeched but Marik thumped her on the head, causing her to shut up.

"Stop screaming you twerp!" snarled Marik "You're driving me nuts!"

"I can't help it!" wailed Amy, her face streaming with tears "You're hurting me!"

"You're a weakling!" said Marik cruelly "I've inflicted pain on many of my victims in the past and not one of them screams as loud as you! In fact, some of them don't scream at all and they just take the pain so surely you can!"

"I can't!" retorted Amy "You're hurting me too much for me to take it…"

Marik yanked on Amy's arm and made her yelp.

"Oh shut up and give me the Chaos Emeralds and I'll stop hurting you if it makes you feel any better!" growled Marik.

"I haven't got the stupid emeralds!" snapped Amy "You made me drop them you idiot!"

"Well if you don't have them then who does?" demanded Marik.

"I do alien boy." said Rouge coyly, waving the yellow emerald tauntingly at the Martian.

Marik immediately leapt off of Amy and lunged at Rouge like a werewolf. Rouge just flew out of the way and Marik ran past her. Then Rouge screw-kicked Marik in the back and Marik found himself eating dirt once again. Rouge flew away with her prizes, laughing like an evil sorceress. She didn't get far though. Cream and Charmy flew after the bat and they grabbed the emeralds and yanked them out of her hands. Rouge immediately kicked them both and made them drop the emeralds. The Chaos Emeralds plummeted to the ground like meteors and Rouge swooped after them like an eagle swooping for its prey. Cream and Charmy flew after Rouge in an attempt to catch the emeralds before she did but Rouge was too fast and she caught the emeralds first before they could hit the ground. But then Bunnie Rabbot took flight and gave Rouge an uppercut that made her drop the emeralds. Bunnie caught the emeralds and threw them at Cosmo before Rouge could try and get them back. Cosmo caught both emeralds and ran for it but Rouge caught her with no effort at all and tackled her in the back. The Seedrian dropped the emeralds and fell onto her side. Rouge seized the emeralds only to lose them to Vector after he snapped his jaws at Rouge and caught them both in his mouth. Vector spat them out to Espio and the chameleon caught them. Unfortunately Marik tackled him and took his legs out from underneath him, causing Espio to fall over. Before Espio could stand back up, Marik snatched the emeralds off of him and ran for it before anyone could stop him. Amy threw her hammer at Marik but the giant red and yellow hammer completely missed the Martian and Marik activated his jet shoes for a very speedy get away. Marik disappeared from sight with both of the Chaos Emeralds to boot. Amy thumped the ground in anger.

"NO!" she screeched "No, no, no, no! That creep has stolen the Chaos Emeralds and gotten away!"

"And we all know who's fault that is." said Rouge the Bat, glaring at Amy with her ocean blue eyes angrily.

"My fault? MY FAULT?" screamed Amy, leaping to her feet and clenching her fists "How is this my fault you robber bandit? If you never showed up, none of this would have happened!"

"It's your fault in the sense that you didn't let me fly away with the emeralds." said Rouge "If you had just decided to leave well enough alone, the emeralds would have been safe and out of villain's reach but no, you had to get your band of morons to fight me for it didn't you?"

"We had this fight because we are looking for the emeralds in the name of the Royal Fighters Service!" yelled Amy "Me and Sonic have a team each and we're searching all over Mobius for the seven Chaos Emeralds just so we can keep them out of villains reach! What good would precious, powerful gems like the Chaos Emeralds be in your hands batfink?"

"I collect gems and store them away." said Rouge "That's it. If a gem has power I never use it, I only put it away on display. That's all I was gonna do with those Chaos Emeralds but since you're such a hot-head, you had to stop me saving them didn't you?"

Amy was about to argue back only to realize she was completely in the wrong and Rouge was in the right. If Rouge had gotten the emeralds and stored them away, no one would be able to use them or even find them. Amy felt like an awful fool right at this moment. She stared at the ground and scuffed her feet in guilt.

"I'm so sorry Rouge." said Amy softly "I didn't know you had good intentions for the emeralds."

"I should hope you are sweetheart." snapped Rouge "Because of your actions and your incompetence, that alien guy, whatever his name is, is getting away with two powerful gems and if we don't get them back, he might find the other five and have all seven. Who knows what he's going to do with the seven Chaos Emeralds?"

"That just begs another question." said Amy suddenly "How do you even know what a Chaos Emerald is and what it does?"

"Years of hanging around Angel Island and trying to steal the Master Emerald pays off." said Rouge "I hear all these legends the echidnas say to one another and I've heard all about the Chaos Emeralds after snooping around one day."

"Wow. You're nosey." said Amy.

Rouge scowled at Amy and decided to overlook the pink hedgehog's comment.

"I've heard that if you collect all seven Chaos Emeralds a miracle's supposed to happen, whatever that miracle is." said Rouge "And that miracle could spell doom on us all if that alien guy ever finds out what it is. I have to get those emeralds back."

"Actually, "we" are going to get those emeralds back." corrected Amy "Because you cannot take on Marik by yourself. Marik can hold his own against Sonic, Tails, Knuckles, me, Cream and Cosmo altogether so you'll be no contest for him."

"We'll see about that." said Rouge crossly "But I'll take you up on your offer since it's always better to work in teams then alone to stop somebody."

"Then its settled." said Amy "We'll work together to stop Marik and get the Chaos Emeralds back. I get to keep one and you get to keep the other so there are no arguments over who gets the emeralds."

Yeah right! thought Rouge. She was not leaving a valuable gem in Amy's incapable hands! She was having both emeralds for herself and that was that! Still, she had to play nice for now and then strike when the time was right.

"Sounds good." said Rouge "Now how do we catch this Marik or whatever his name is and get the emeralds back?"

"Um…we track him down and…we um…catch him I guess." said Amy, even though she had no plan whatsoever "I have a tracker that's used to locate Chaos Emeralds and since Marik has the two emeralds, we'll be able to track him down no matter where he goes."

"I see honey." said Rouge snidely "Any plan on how to stop him?"

"Um…no." said Amy sadly "No plan."

"The only logical plan right now is to beat him into the dirt and make off with the emeralds." said Espio "That's the best we can do really."

"But Marik has amazing stamina and endurance." said Cosmo "We'll be fighting him for hours before he finally gives into us and even then, we might not be able to keep a fight up for that long."

"In that case, we need a quicker way of defeating him." said Espio "But what?"

"Hey I've just been struck by an idea!" said Amy suddenly.

"Oh great, pinkie has an idea." scoffed Rouge "This better be a good plan."

"It is Rouge and it'll work so shut up and listen!" retorted Amy "Everyone, gather round while I tell you the plan."

The Mobians gathered around and Amy told them her plan.

"We could go to the Lake of Rings and get a ring." explained Amy "Then we could lie to Marik saying its more powerful then all seven Chaos Emeralds and trick him into trading the emeralds with us."

"Ah don't mean to criticize yo' plan sugah-girl but are ya'll sure that's a clever idea?" asked Bunnie "Ah mean, we're giving Marik a powerful item so we're no better off then before."

"We are better off then before." said Amy "Because magic rings don't have as much power as a Chaos Emerald and they have a negative effect on evil people so Marik is in for a shock when he tries to use the ring."

"Ah see." said Bunnie "But we have another problem. Those rings come out every twenty-four hours and we have no way of tellin' when a ring's gonna come out. For all we know, the ring's already come up and we've missed it or we're hours away before the ring comes out."

Amy looked at the tracker. For some strange reason, Tails installed a clock on the tracker so Amy could tell what time it was by looking at the tracker. The tracker said 14:53 which meant it was twelve minutes to three o'clock.

"It's almost three o' clock." said Amy "According to a guide-book on the Lake of Rings I read in a library once, the rings come out every three o' clock in the afternoon so we've got seven minutes before a ring comes up."

"Well we'd best find that lake before three then." said Cream "Or we'll miss the ring."

That was all they needed to know. The whole group ran for it and began looking for the Lake of Rings. Luckily for Amy, the tracker picked up other traces of concentrated energy then just the Chaos Emeralds so she'd be able to find the Lake of Rings in a jiffy with the tracker.

After about six minutes of searching, Amy finally picked up the Lake of Rings on the tracker. It was just to the north-right of where they were and not a long way away either so they would be there in a moment. They ran as fast as they could, pushing through any bush that was in their way. Amy scanned the tracker again for the time. 14:58. They only had two seconds to get to the lake before the ring came up. They had a good distance from the lake before they could get there. They'd never make it in time! There was only one thing for it.

"Bunnie, you go ahead!" cried Amy "You're fast enough to get there before the ring submerges!"

"Okay sugah!" said Bunnie, activating her jet feet.

The Rabbot took off into the air and she flew in the direction Amy pointed at which was straight ahead since according to the tracker, the lake was ahead of them. Bunnie could see the lake from up where she was and she flew towards it as fast as her jets would let her. The ring of today had only just come up and it hovered there for a second or two. Unfortunately, rings never stayed up for long and Bunnie knew it. She dived towards the ring in a desperate attempt to get it before it submerged under the water. She was a fraction too late and the ring just began to go back down into the water. Frantically, Bunnie's robot arm extended and reached out for the ring. Both the ring and Bunnie's robot hand went under the water. Bunnie had to grab it before it reached the bottom where it would disappear and not come back up until the next day. Luckily for her, she managed to seize the ring just as it was halfway down to the bottom of the lake. Bunnie pulled the ring out of the water and held it up to her beautiful face. She beamed like a sunrise.

"Phew! Ah almost lose the durn thing." she sighed with relief.

The others had finally made it to the lake and they saw Bunnie hovering in the air above the lake. She turned and looked down at her friends and she waved the ring at them. Amy smiled with relief.

"You got it Bunnie!" she exclaimed "And here's me thinking we'd be too late!"

"We almost were!" gasped Bunnie "It went back under but ah extended mah arm and caught the little ring before it could make it back to the bottom!"

"Those robot limbs of yours really are helpful aren't they Miss Rabbot?" said Cream kindly.

"They sure are sugah-bun." said Bunnie, flexing her robot arm "And ah'm proud of them!"

"Now we have the ring, we need to find that stupid Martian." said Vector "And goodness knows where he is now."

Amy quickly glanced at the tracker. The Chaos Emeralds Marik had with him had been detected on the outskirts of the forest just two hundred and fifty feet from where they were now and they didn't appear to be moving.

"The tracker's picked them up." said Amy "He's that way. Let's go!"

The group charged off to the left and ran as fast as they could. They had to catch Marik before he was on the move again and hopefully, the Martian would sit around long enough for that.

As for Marik, he had escaped the forest and decided to sit down and rest for a moment before going somewhere else to look for another Chaos Emerald. It only just occurred to him how much his body was paining him now. He had all the injuries from his previous battle and more injuries from the mad scuffle for the Chaos Emeralds. One injury that especially hadn't stopped hurting since his fights was the dog bite he'd received from Wilson on the pirate's ship. He rolled his sleeve up and looked at his arm. The wound had begun healing but it still hurt him a little so he rubbed it tenderly. Then he took off his helmet and rubbed his throbbing head. His head especially hurt from all the bangs on the head he'd received from his most recent battles. His helmet had amazingly withstood all the impacts although there were some paint chips and scratches everywhere. Marik scowled and he put the spiked helmet back on his head.

"Those Mobians are such a pain." he moaned "I do wish my glorious parents and my uncle were here." he added "They'd be able to help me out dearly and we'd wipe out those stupid Mobians in no time."

He looked at his metal hand and scowled at the broken voltage compactor, the little orb in the palm of his metal hand.

"And I especially wish this wasn't broken again." said Marik "I love electrocuting people. I'm gonna have to give this hand a new design so my voltage compactor won't be so easily broken in battle. Before I go searching for Chaos Emeralds, I'm going to have to find a toolbox so I can fix it again."

He wiggled his sharp, glistening claws and lowered his hands. He stared up at the clouds and thought about how horrible the blue sky looked.

"Why do skies have to be blue on most planets?" he wondered "They look much better when they're red and once I squash this planet flat, I'll turn this sky red."

He began to picture Mobius with a red sky in his mind and the very foul thought made him smile widely. Then suddenly he was interrupted from his "lovely" visions by the sound of approaching feet. A lot of approaching feet. Marik grumbled like an old man who's been woken up too early.

"Not more people bothering me!" he groaned "Can't I have any peace around here?"

He got to his feet and turned to face the people coming to him only to see it was Amy Rose and her team mates running towards him. Marik almost did a somersault in shock as the Mobians ran up to him.

"What in the name of Deimos*?" he cried "How did you finks manage to find me?"

"We have our ways." said Amy "Now don't you dare try to run away Marik or we'll do our worst on you."

Marik scoffed at the annoying pink hedgehog with the bad temper.

"What's the worst you could possibly do to me scum-face?" he sneered "I can do worse then all eight of you mongrels combined!"

"I know that." said Amy in a huff "Which is why we haven't come here to fight. We've come here to barter."

Marik raised an eyebrow suspiciously at Amy.

"Barter?" he said "What piffle is this you're talking about? Why would you want to barter with me?"

"Because we've come to realize that you're the superior being and we cannot beat you." said Amy "So we've got you this."

Bunnie handed Amy the gleaming golden ring and Amy showed it to Marik. Marik stared at the ring. He recognized that ring from when Cosmo had one and he broke it before she could use it on him*****.

"You decided to just give me a ring?" snorted Marik "What use do I have for girlish items like that?"

"It's a magical ring Marik." explained Amy "And it's much more powerful then all seven Chaos Emeralds combined."

"It…is?" gasped Marik, his mouth watering for some reason.

"Yes it is." said Amy "And since you deserve the most powerful items in the world, we're willing to trade you this powerful ring, for those pathetic Chaos Emeralds. With the ring, you'll be able to smash us all and the Chaos Emeralds would have no chance against it."

Marik thought for a moment. The idea of having a more powerful item then the ones he already had was a very tempting offer but there must be some catch to this. Amy wouldn't just hand him an insanely powerful item completely out of generosity, this had to be a trick. But Marik knew how to weasel his way out of cunning plans and he knew how to weasel his way out of this one.

"OK Amy." purred Marik sinisterly "I shall take you up on your generous offer. I do hope your precious Sonic the Hedgehog won't be too mad at you for helping me doom this entire world."

"Oh Sonic won't care anymore." lied Amy "He knows you're too powerful for him to stop anyway."

Amy and Marik stepped forward to each other. Amy held the ring out for Marik to take and Marik held the Chaos Emeralds out for Amy to take. They slowly eased towards each other, making sure neither one was plotting an attack to throw each other off guard. Marik grabbed the ring and Amy grabbed the Chaos Emeralds. Then suddenly Marik slugged Amy in the stomach with the hand holding the Chaos Emeralds! Amy gasped ever so loudly as all the air in her lungs began to escape her. The Mobians watching this whole thing were surprised at Marik's sudden attack and Amy collapsed onto her knees, clutching her aching stomach. Marik roared with laughter as he held the two Chaos Emeralds and the magic ring above his head.

"When will you squabs realize that you can't trust me for a second?" sneered Marik "Did you honestly think even for a minute that I'd let you have the Chaos Emeralds? I don't care if their power is inferior to this ring, if I have this ring AND the Chaos Emeralds all at once, I'll be a god amongst all creatures with all the power in the universe! No one will match my power!"

"Marik please, you mustn't use that ring!" begged Amy, trying to get back up.

"And why shouldn't I?" sneered Marik "What harm can it do to me?"

Just as he said that, the ring began to glow a bright golden gleam in Marik's hand. Marik looked at the ring in wonder and then suddenly the ring's power began to surge up his body like an electrical current. When heroes use the ring's power, they get a power boost that lasts momentarily but when a villain tries to use it, it hurts them very, very badly and Marik soon found that out. Marik screamed at the top of his voice as the ring's power began to surge up and down his body as if he was a lightening rod. Then the ring finally stopped hurting Marik and it powered down. Marik collapsed in a heap and he passed out. The ring was useless now all its power had been used to put Marik down for a moment. The Mobians were surprised at this sudden act and they didn't know what to say.

"What just happened?" asked Cream.

"Simple." said Amy "According to a guide on the Lake of Rings I've read, when evil people try to use the ring's power, it knocks them out cold because only good people can use those magical rings."

"I guess that's how the ring turned Sonic back to normal when his mind was corrupted by Marik's Energy Diamond." suggested Cosmo.

"Yeah probably." said Amy "Power rings are fascinating things aren't they? Pity you can only use them once."

While the girls were talking, Rouge had sneaked like a serpent away from the group and picked up the two Chaos Emeralds. Now she had her beautiful gems, she flew away. Unfortunately, Amy spotted her.

"OY! Rouge! You get back here right now!" she screeched "We had a deal!"

"Tough." said Rouge "I'm not leaving the Chaos Emeralds in your care pinkie. Both these pretty gems will be much safer in my hands then yours."

And with that Rouge continued flying away.

"Should ah catch the double-crossin' bat sugah?" asked Bunnie.

"No leave her to it." said Amy grimly "She'll put them in a good place so they won't be of any trouble to anyone else."

"Yeah, but we're back to square one." said Charmy glumly "No Chaos Emeralds for us unfortunately."

"We'll get the others." said Amy "There's five more to find so we've still got an emerald or two to find."

Unfortunately for Amy, Marik finally came to from the ring's magic attack and he pounced on Amy, snarling like a raptor. Amy screamed at Marik as she was tackled onto the ground. His eyes were red with rage and he had froth around his mouth. He was so angry I can't even put it into words how angry he is! Everybody else immediately ran over to Amy's aid but Marik leapt off Amy and swiped the air with his arms. Team Chaotix were both smacked in the face by an energy wave and the three Mobians collapsed to the ground. Cream and Cosmo kept their distance from the insane Martian and Bunnie tried to attack Marik with a metal punch from her robot arm. Marik dodged the blow and gave Bunnie an uppercut. Then he yanked violently on the rabbit's ears and made her scream. Then he lifted Bunnie off the ground with one arm holding her by the shirt and he threw her away as hard as he could. Bunnie soared through the air and landed back in the forest. Cream and Cosmo took cover before Marik could think about attacking them and Amy tried to run for it but Marik caught up with her effortlessly and leapt on her. Amy was tackled to the ground and she found herself staring directly into Marik's ferocious eyes. Marik roared at her and Amy cowered against the ground. Her heart was pounding so hard against her ribcage she thought it was about to burst its way out of her chest. Marik raised his arm and savagely slashed Amy right across the cheek with his metal claws. Amy screamed as a wave of pain swept through her cheek and blood began to stream down it from the fresh cuts caused by Marik's claws. But Marik didn't stop there. He punched Amy in the face as hard as he possibly could, then he stomped on her stomach the hardest he could, then he flipped her onto her front and stomped on her back just as hard and then he picked her up by the arms and tossed her into the air like a rag doll. Amy hurled through the air like a kicked football and she landed very painfully on her side. She came to a halt near a rock as large as an SUV. Marik ran up to Amy like a wild animal and Amy crawled backwards in right. Her back came against the rock and she got up on to her feet. She pressed her back hard against the rock and whimpered. She was trapped. Marik loomed above her, drips of saliva dripping from his jaws and his eyes burning with rage. His claws dripped with blood from when he slashed Amy and he licked the claws clean. He glared at Amy like a swamp creature waiting to lunge up and grab its prey and bring it back down to its watery, swampy home. Amy shook like a person standing in the middle of the Arctic with no clothes on.

"You vacuous, repulsive, malicious, revolting, obnoxious, disgusting little stain on the face of this tainted, misguided world!" snarled the Martian "You tricked me! That ring hurt me dearly and you've caused me to lose my Chaos Emeralds! You are going to die horribly for this you smothering little ~&!$*!"

"Oh Marik please! I beg you! Please don't do this!" wailed Amy "Please let me live!"

"Shut up! Your screechy, feminine voice is driving me crazy so be quiet while I rip your internal organs out and decorate the trees with them!" snarled Marik, raising his claws and preparing to plunge them into the pink hedgehog.

"No! Please! No!" begged Amy, her eyes shrinking down to tiny little pupils of fear.

Marik ignored her. He was much too angry with Amy to listen to a word she said now. He raised his claws high above his head and aimed them at Amy's chest. Amy closed her eyes tightly and looked away from Marik as the Martian prepared to end her life, her eyes streamed with tears of fright. Cream and Cosmo were watching the whole thing and they felt afraid for Amy. They knew they had no chance against Marik but Amy would die if they didn't step in to help her so they emerged from their hiding place and ran up to Marik.

Marik was just about to plunge his claws into Amy's pounding chest until Cream grabbed him by his jacket collar and hoisted him off the ground. She flew up into the air and carried Marik away from Amy. Marik swung his arms about madder then a five year old child having a tantrum as Cream carried him away. Amy opened her eyes and saw Marik being carried away by Cream. She sighed with relief and panted heavily with her hand over her chest. I cannot put into words how thankful to Cream Amy is right now. She was close to a very violent death and Cream had saved her life. As for the little rabbit, she stopped flying up and she actually LET GO of Marik in mid air! Marik fell to the ground and he crashed into the ground front first. He lay on the ground with his face in the dirt and his arms and legs spread out as if he was doing a star jump. The Martian appeared to be out cold from that impact. Cream flew down to the ground and she dusted her hands off.

"I did it. I saved Miss Rose!" she said happily "Did you see that Cheese?"

"Chao, Chao!" piped Cheese, dancing in midair with excitement.

Then suddenly, Cream was hoisted off her feet and grasped in a bear hug by none other then her best friend Amy Rose.

"Oh Cream thank you so much!" Amy squealed "I thought I was gonna die at the hands of Marik until you saved me!"

"You're very welcome Miss Rose." said Cream "It was my pleasure."

"I want to get out of here before Marik gets up." said Cosmo "I can't stand being around that Martian anymore."

"I'm getting out of here too." said Amy "But we need to wait for Team Chaotix and Bunnie to recover from Marik's attacks first."

The minute she finished that sentence, Espio, Vector and Charmy picked themselves up and got to their feet and Bunnie Rabbot emerged from the forest, groaning like a ghoul.

"What in the who-ha happened?" she slurred.

"That Marik certainly isn't a force to be reckoned with." said Espio, rubbing his yellow horn at the end of his nose "He's tougher then I thought."

"I agree." said Vector "He looked weak to me when I saw his pic in the papers."

"I hope I never see that creep again!" said Charmy "He's no fun to be around and he's nasty!"

"Come on guys!" cried Amy "We're fleeing for it before Evil Peace-Hating Von Sadistic wakes up!"

"You don't have to tell us twice!" cried Vector, immediately running for it with Espio running after him at ninja speed and Charmy flying after them as fast as his wings would let him.

"I'm not staying near that evil guy!" squeaked Charmy.

Bunnie ran after them as well and the entire team took off down the path and away from Marik. The moment the Mobians had escaped the Martian and vanished into the horizon, Marik's arm twitched and lifted up. He pushed the upper part of his body up and lifted his face out of the dirt. He shook all the dust and dirt off his face and he sat up and stretched. He rubbed some dirt that was still on his face off with his organic hand and he surveyed his surroundings. He was completely alone on the path on the outskirts of the Great Forest. Instead of throwing a fit over his failure, he sat there and remained calm. He crossed his legs and put his hands together. He closed his eyes and began to meditate, his breathing becoming a little softer.

"What a disappointing day this has been." Marik mumbled to himself "I lose two of my well earned Chaos Emeralds and I get sorely defeated by a pink germ and her band of misfit dirt bags. Oh well, getting angry isn't going to make things better. I need a better strategy and a good meditation will help me relax long enough to think."

You see, that's why Martians meditate. A relaxed mind thinks better then an enraged mind and Marik knew that well so if he needed a plan but he was angry, he meditated to calm himself down so he could think better and he was so angry over his failure today, he needed a good long meditation to relax his mind long enough to think. As Marik sat there and silently hummed to himself, making weird hand signals with his hands. He wondered where the next Chaos Emerald would be found and who would find it…

A few minutes later, the Mobians had left the Great Forest behind and they were setting off to a new location to look for a Chaos Emerald. Amy had the tracker in hand and she kept glancing at it to see where they had to look. She had a large plaster on her cheek to cover up her wounds from earlier. As the Mobians began their new search, they began to talk amongst each other.

"What a crazy day this has been." said Vector "We have a mad scuffle over two Chaos Emeralds and in the end, Rouge the Bat won and made off with them."

"At least she'll keep them out of harm's reach." said Espio "Jewel thieves never use jewels for evil purposes. They only use them for show and to increase their wealth."

"You're so right Espio." said Vector "So this isn't a total loss really."

"But we still don't have any Chaos Emeralds and we've been searching for them all day." whined Charmy "I wanna find a Chaos Emerald and keep it for myself!"

"Charmy be quiet." said Espio.

"OK." said Charmy.

As for Amy, she and the girls were ahead of the boys and chatting to each other.

"Ah hope ah never see that hideous, sadistic Martian ever again!" said Bunnie "He's creepier then Metal Sonic!"

"He's not only creepier then Metal Sonic, he's worse then Metal Sonic." said Cosmo grimly "Marik is a demon and he likes to blow things up. We've been lucky so far that he hasn't blown anything up yet."

"We've been lucky to survive Mr. Marik's encounters." said Cream "He's come ever so close to killing us after all. I wonder why he didn't electrocute anybody when we had that fight."

"Maybe his voltage compactor is broken again." said Cosmo "Pity it's not that helpful to us since Marik is still powerful without the ability to shock people."

"Can we shut up about Marik now and focus on our mission?" said Amy without looking back "I don't wanna hear another word about that deranged maniac for the rest of the day."

The girls shut up and decided to say something else.

"Ah wonder how sugah hog and his team are doin'?" said Bunnie Rabbot.

"They'll be doing fine Bunnie." said Amy "They'll be doing fine…"

If only she was right. Sonic and his team were about to get a shock big enough to knock them dead on their search for the next Chaos Emerald…

Footnotes:

See Story 37

* See the ever epic Story 20 for a fight you'll never forget

See Tales from Mobius: Arc 2 for probably the most epic fail in villain history!

Phobos is one of two moons of Mars

*Marik tricked Tails into helping him escape from prison in Story 34

 Tails broke Marik's voltage compactor with a revolver in Story 37

 Deimos is the second Moon of Mars

* See Tales from Mobius: Arc 2 again

 See Story 25 (I think I've set a record of footnotes here!)

Now that's what I call a mad scuffle! So Rouge has two Chaos Emeralds, Amy has none and Marik has none. Who's going to get the next Chaos Emerald? Join me next time as the hunt continues...Reviews are welcome.

Hidden Agents

Story 40: Hidden Agents

Things had been busy for Dr. Eggman in Robotropolis as he worked his socks off trying to mend Metal Sonic from his injuries inflicted on him by Knuckles during that mad scuffle for the green Chaos Emerald*. All the while he had been working on Metal Sonic he had not once stopped for a rest. He was too eager to get the robot Sonic duplicate into battle so he didn't stop, he kept up his work for hours on end and the hours ticked by like lightening rods. It was already the next morning by the time he'd fixed Metal Sonic and he had fallen asleep before he could put him back online. Eggman slept the morning away and by the time he woke up, it was almost noon. Eggman woke up added some finishing touches to Metal Sonic and then he booted the robot duplicate back online. Metal Sonic's pitch black visor lit up with two red optics that showed no emotion of any kind. Metal Sonic still didn't have the ability to speak since Eggman preferred Metal Sonic without a voice so he remained as silent as a mouse. Eggman smiled at the newly fixed and online Metal Sonic standing before him awaiting orders.

"Ah, isn't this a beauty?" he said to himself "Metal Sonic, all fixed up from his ordeal with Knuckles and ready for action! I can't wait to send him out again!"

Metal Sonic saluted his master and stood to attention, waiting for his first priority.

"Now Metal Sonic I know you've got a killer desire right now but you'll have to be patient my friend." said Dr. Eggman "We must wait until my agent grabs a Chaos Emerald and then we'll pop out of nowhere and blast them to smithereens!"

Metal Sonic nodded understandably.

"I can't wait to see Sonic's face when my agent strikes upon him." said Dr. Eggman evilly, rubbing his hands "It'll be a wonderful sight for me to behold I bet! Ha, ha, ha, ha!"

"Master?" came the posh accented voice of his snivelling servant bot Alonzo.

"Yes Alonzo?" asked Dr. Eggman, wondering what his sidekick had to say this time.

"I've got word from our agent master." said Dr. Eggman "Sonic and his friends are searching through Kingdom Valley for a Chaos Emerald and they're near the abandoned palace."

"Excellent!" bellowed Dr. Eggman "Now I know where Sonic is hiding, I can send a surprise attack to slow him down a little and wear him out so Metal Sonic can defeat him swiftly and quickly when the time is right!"

"I don't see why we have to wait until that stupid Automaton reports the emerald's location before Metal Sonic attacks." said Alonzo grimly.

"Of course you wouldn't you moronic piece of metal." retorted Dr. Eggman "The reason why is because Metal Sonic is my best robot and he'll keep Sonic and friends at bay long enough for me to escape with the emerald! Get it?"

"Yes master." said Alonzo.

"Good." said Dr. Eggman "Now let's keep quiet and watch the show shall we? It's bound to be entertaining."

He switched a monitor on and sat down in a chair and stared at it, waiting for the fun to begin. Alonzo pressed a button on the control pad and a squad of Eggman robots marched out of Eggman's headquarters in single file. They marched out of the gates of Robotropolis and took flight with their jet packs. They set their courses for Kingdom Valley, the very place Sonic and friends were searching for the next Chaos Emerald. Once they arrived, Sonic and friends would be in for a surprise and they would have no idea on how the robots ever knew where they were. Eggman was looking forward to this battle and he stared longingly at the screen, eagerly awaiting the squad's arrival at Kingdom Valley…

"One thing I always wonder is why of all the places on Mobius, Kingdom Valley has the most beautiful sights?" said fellow fighter Mandy Mouse, standing on the edge of a bridge that had fallen apart and admiring the spectacular view Kingdom Valley had on offer.

Kingdom Valley was full of water, being as it was part of the City of Water Soleanna, and full of ruins since the kingdom was no longer occupied by anybody these days.

"Come on Mandy, we're here to find a Chaos Emerald, not sight-see!" called out fellow fighter Geoffrey St. John the skunk.

"OK I'm coming." moaned Mandy "Typical boys, they never appreciate the beauty of the world do they?"

She walked away from the bridge and ran off after the boys who were further up ahead, looking for the Chaos Emeralds. Sonic the Hedgehog and friends had just rested themselves up from their earlier adventure and now they had chosen to search through Kingdom Valley to look for the next Chaos Emerald since Knuckles the Echidna had a strange feeling that the next Chaos Emerald was there. Sonic was sceptical since he didn't really like water but missions come first so he decided to just bear it and try not to look down at the water. Knuckles held the blue Chaos Emerald in front of himself to see if it was glowing any brighter then before. So far, the emerald had not glowed any brighter since they'd been here. As they walked on over bridges and short cliff tops, Sonic surveyed his surroundings to make sure that no one was around, waiting to attack them from nowhere. Their cliff top walk brought them near a castle with a hole in the wall.

"Hey Knuckles you see that castle there?" asked Sonic pointing at it.

"Yeah." said Knuckles.

"That's where me and Metal Sonic thought when we had that worldwide showdown the other day." said Sonic "Kingdom Valley was the very first place we fought in before we went on to the other places."

"I see." said Knuckles "I never thought to ask you this, why did you have that worldwide showdown with him anyway? Was it a race or something?"

"It was an attempt to wear Metal Sonic down but it didn't work since his battery can go on for years or so he says." explained Sonic.

"A battery that goes on for years?" repeated Knuckles "That Eggman really must have been putting his head into it when he was building that thing hasn't he?"

"I could say the same thing Knuckie." said Sonic as they made it to the end of the bridge and onto solid ground.

As for Sonic's best friend and sidekick Tails the twin-tailed fox, he was flying in the air keeping an eye out for danger, his twin-tails spinning around like a helicopter's rotor blades. Tails was the best at keeping an eye out since he could fly up in the air and see for miles around so if any sign of danger appeared from nowhere, Tails would be the first to spot it. While keeping a look out, Tails admired the lovely view he had from up where he was. Kingdom Valley was one of the most beautiful places on Mobius after all so Tails had to make the most of the view while he had it because the Mobians wouldn't be here forever, they were only here to find a Chaos Emerald and once they'd found it; they would be out of here.

"I wonder what Kingdom Valley used to be like before it got abandoned?" Tails mused to himself as he remained airborne "I bet it was a lush, lively looking kingdom with fancy looking palaces and rich people. I wonder why this place is abandoned anyway."

Why Kingdom Valley no longer had any occupants was a mystery to anybody visiting the place. No one knew why Kingdom Valley was abandoned. Many had theories on why Kingdom Valley had no occupants anymore such as a terrible disaster that occurred in the valley and forced people to leave the valley for their own safety or a disease that swept through the valley and killed everybody living in the valley and no one wanted to live here since. Those were only theories after all, no one knew why Kingdom Valley was no longer occupied by any body and its buildings had been reduced to empty ruin. Tails suddenly snapped out of his thoughts and wonderings and saw something coming. It was a fleet of flying robots! These robots were equipped with jetpacks for flight and many an arsenal of weapons ranging from Gatling guns to missile launchers. They were all Eggman robots of course and the arrival of a fleet of Eggman robots made Tails wonder what had suddenly made Eggman send them here and how they knew where he, Sonic and friends were. Now was not the time to start wondering though, Tails flew back down to the ground at top speed and landed behind Sonic. Sonic jumped in surprise as the sound of feet landing on the ground suddenly appeared from behind.

"Whoa Tails! Are you trying to scare me to death?" squeaked Sonic.

"Sorry." said Tails "It's just that there's an army of Eggman robots coming our way!"

He pointed at the oncoming fleet of flying robots that continued coming towards them with their guns blazing. Sonic was slightly taken aback by the sudden arrival of a fleet of Eggman robots but he shook it off. Smashing Eggman robots was what he did best and he would smash this squad just as easily. Sonic, Tails, Knuckles, Geoffrey, Wilson and Mandy all prepared to start fighting. They bent down in battle ready stances and Geoffrey loaded his crossbow, ready to fire it at an unsuspecting robot. The squad of robots aimed their weapons at the Mobians and they opened fire. The sky began to rain with bullets, laser blasts and missiles all coming towards Sonic and friends. Sonic leaped into the air and landed on a missile, sending it flying into another missile and causing a massive explosion in midair. Sonic landed back down on the ground as a giant ball of fire and smoke spread through the sky, blocking his view of the robots. The robots stopped in their tracks and waited for the explosion to die down so they could attack again. The huge ball of fire and smoke slowly drifted away, leaving a clear view of the Mobians down below. The robots charged down at the Mobians at the speed of a diving eagle. Sonic leaped up into the air again and spin-dash a robot in the back, breaking the jetpack off its back and causing the robot to fall and crash against the cliff-top. It fell down to the water below in pieces with a chorus of splashes. Sonic laughed at the robot's defeat. Two robots flew towards Knuckles with their Gatling guns itching to fire at the echidna. Knuckles leaped up at the robots and punched them so hard he smashed them to pieces.

Another robot fired a missile at Knuckles but Knuckles dodged the missile and punched the robot in the centre. His fist went right through the robot's armour and the robot was dead in a minute. Four robots surrounded Geoffrey and they began shooting at him but the skunk dodged the shots and fired a dart at each of them. The darts were all EMP darts and the four robots were knocked out in an instant. The robots collapsed on the ground and Geoffrey stomped on their heads just to destroy them and kill the robots before they could get back up. Wilson and Mandy stood back to back with a bunch of robots pointing their guns at the dog and mouse. They all fired at Wilson and Mandy but the dog and mouse jumped out of their way and the robots accidentally shot each other to pieces. The robots collapsed in a heap of arms and legs and heads. Wilson and Mandy gave each other a high five. Three more robots came soaring towards Wilson and Mandy but the two Mobians were ready for them. They leaped up and kicked two of the robots in the face and they both accidentally collided with the third. The three robots crashed into the ground and Wilson and Mandy shoved them off the edge and into the water. Tails flew around in the air with some robots chasing him and shooting at him. Tails flew down towards the ground and just like he'd hoped, the robots followed him. Tails flew dangerously close to the ground, so close he was only a few centimetres above it. The robots weren't so lucky though. The moment they tried to follow Tails, the first robot crashed into the ground and the other robots collided with it and they all fell over each other like a falling tower of blocks. The robots rolled across the ground and every hit they had as they rolled tore a limb or two off. When the robots came to a halt, they had all been reduced to nothing more then a torso and a head. Tails laughed at the robot's failure and landed on his feet. As for Sonic, he spin-dashed the remaining robots into tiny little pieces and kicked them all into the water. The squad of robots had been defeated. Sonic dusted his hands off and smirked to himself.

"That Eggman really is losing his touch isn't he?" he sneered "That was one of the easiest victories ever!"

"I know but don't you think it's a little strange that this squad of robots just appeared without warning and they suddenly happened to know where we are?" asked Tails "I mean Eggman's been spending all his time presumably fixing Metal Sonic from his injuries so he can't possibly know where we are right now."

"That is kinda strange." said Sonic "Maybe Eggman just sent this squad out and they coincidentally happened to come across us."

Geoffrey didn't seem that convinced. He had his own suspicions on this whole matter but he didn't bother jumping to conclusions yet as there was no evidence as to if it was what he was thinking it was.

"If this keeps happening then we'll have to keep our senses more alert then before." said Sonic "And we'll have to find out how this keeps happening."

Knuckles glanced at the blue Chaos Emerald he held in his hand. The emerald glowed slightly.

"I wouldn't be too surprised if the robots are after this Chaos Emerald." said Knuckles "But Dr. Eggman hasn't been in action recently so he can't possibly know that we have a Chaos Emerald."

"Don't doubt old egg-head Knuckles." said Wilson "He finds out a lot of things somehow and we never know how he does it. Maybe it's all those computer monitors he has in his base."

"Maybe it is." said Knuckles.

"Let's get going then team!" cried Sonic "If we stand here talking to ourselves Dr. Eggman may catch us again!"

Everybody did not wait to be asked twice. They immediately began walking off again with Knuckles glancing at the Chaos Emerald to see if they were getting any closer to it. As they continued their trek through Kingdom Valley, Sonic kept wondering to himself on what Eggman's up to at this time and what was he possibly planning to do. Hopefully they'd be ready for it if whatever Eggman's planning struck at them.

Meanwhile, Dr. Eggman had watched the whole thing with interest and he wasn't pleased to see that his squad of robots had been taken down so quickly and easily.

"Those were some of my best robots." he said to himself "How did they defeat them so easily?"

"Sonic and his bratty crew are obviously getting better at their stuff sir." said Alonzo "How that is I don't know but those Mobians sure are a handful aren't they?"

"They certainly are Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman "But I'll send out some better robots to attack them. Those robots I'm going to send will defiantly wear them out for a while won't they? And if not, I'll keep sending robots out until Sonic and his friends are too worn out to fight!"

"But if they're too tired to fight, won't they be too tired to find the Chaos Emerald?" asked Alonzo "You didn't think of that one did you?"

"Of course I have." lied Dr. Eggman, even though he clearly hadn't "I'll just send my attacks at certain times so they have time to rest up in between and then they'll hopefully find a Chaos Emerald so my Automaton can steal it off them."

"You're smarter then I thought master." said Alonzo, slightly taken aback at Eggman's sudden statement.

"I have an IQ of 300 after all." said Dr. Eggman "Of course I'm smart! Now let's send the next squad of robots to attack shall we?"

"Certainly master." said Alonzo "We know where those worms are thanks to our Automaton agent so no matter where they go, we'll always know where they are."

He pulled a lever on the control pad.

The next few hours had been strange indeed for Sonic and friends. Squads of Eggman robots had been popping out of nowhere and attacking them. The Mobians were baffled at the sudden arrival at all these attack squads and how they seemed to constantly know where they were and just pop up like that and start firing. The squads were getting stronger and stronger every time Eggman sent one and Sonic realized this as he and his friends kept fighting them off. The last squad they had just thrashed was so strong that Sonic and friends took a total of thirty minutes to finally defeat it! After Sonic had spin-dashed the last robot into tiny little pieces, he panted heavily. He was well and truly worn out after that battle and his friends were just as worn out as he was, maybe a little more since Sonic had a tremendous amount of stamina so he doesn't get tired as easily as the others.

"Whew! Those robot squads are getting better as we keep on fighting them!" gasped Sonic "That Eggman sure isn't fooling around with us today is he?"

"I dunno about you blokes but this is getting too weird." said Geoffrey St. John, loading his crossbow for the next time a fight started "It's almost like Dr. Eggman and his goons know our every move before we make it. I mean don't you think it's far too coincidental for seven squads of robots to suddenly know where we are even though Eggman probably doesn't know where we are and then somehow know where we're going and when they should pop out and attack us?"

"Maybe Eggman's sharper then we thought he was." said Mandy "Or he's spying on us somehow."

"And that somehow is making me shiver with suspicion." said Geoffrey "I haven't seen any spy probes or whatever it is the bloke uses to spy on people around so it can't be that."

"Maybe there is a probe hiding somewhere." suggested Tails, staring at the destroyed, smoking remains of Eggman's latest squad "It's just so well hidden we can't see it anywhere. It might be camouflaged for all we know."

Geoffrey shook his head disagreeably.

"That's a good theory mate but I don't think its that." said the skunk.

"What do you think it is like Geoffrey?" asked Sonic "If you don't think it's spy probes then what do you think it is that's making Eggman sharper then normal?"

Geoffrey fell into a solemn silence for a moment. He stared at the ground below his feet and rubbed the back of his head casually. He sighed slightly and turned to his friend.

"I don't mean to jump to accusations but…" Geoffrey fell silent and bent down beside Sonic and whispered in his ear.

"I think there's a traitor amongst the Royal Fighters."

Sonic stared at Geoffrey as if the skunk had gone completely off his rocker.

"Get away with you Geoffrey!" said Sonic, frowning at the skunk "Traitor amongst the Royal Fighters? What the heck makes you think that?"

"I once learned a lesson a long time ago." said Geoffrey "And that lesson is you can't trust anybody. Just because everybody seems innocent and heroic it doesn't mean they won't turn bad on us any time soon."

"I'm totally in agreement there." said Wilson "Me and Mandy still can't forget about the time General Bostock from Grand Metropolis sold us out to the Mistress of Darkness*."

"Ya' what?" said Geoffrey in amazement "General Bostock sold you out to the Mistress of Darkness?"

"He did." said Mandy grimly "But after the Mistress's own robots turned on her, Bostock turned back good again."

Geoffrey put a finger to his lips and mused under his breath.

"Who's General Bostock?" asked Tails.

"Leader of the Royal Fighters of Grand Metropolis." said Geoffrey "Me and him are good mates and we chat to each other about our respective groups' progresses in this war with Eggman."

"I've heard of him." said Sonic "It's funny how when Wilson and Mandy told me about their time in Grand Metropolis, they never breathed a word about Bostock turning bad on them."

"It wasn't worth talking about." protested Mandy quickly "And it's not like it mattered since he's back on our side now. He only betrayed us to save the city and now the Mistress's evilness is at an end, he doesn't need to be a bad guy anymore so he's back on the side of good."

"It's like I said luv." said Geoffrey casually "You can't trust anyone and I bet there's another Royal Fighter we can't trust around here. Maybe one of you lot is an Eggman agent in disguise and in secret, you keep sending messages to Dr. Eggman and informing him on where we are and getting those robots on us."

"Geoffrey, I think you're goin a little over the edge buddy." said Sonic, trying not to sound rude "None of us is an Eggman agent in disguise at all and you know it."

"Not true mate." said Geoffrey with a cold stare from behind his goggles which he lifted up to let some air get to his face "We don't know if anyone's innocent around here. I know for definite you're not a traitor Sonic since your heroism is too great to even consider turning evil."

"Well you're right not to suspect me skunk-boy." said Sonic "I would NEVER betray anybody even if I was lying on the ground bleeding half to death and the only way to survive was turn evil."

Everybody grimaced at Sonic's rather graphic remark.

"Precisely my point." remarked Geoffrey, dismissing Sonic and turning to the others "Sonic's off the suspect list."

He bent down and glared at Tails. The twin-tailed fox sweat-dropped and he turned all nervous all of the sudden.

"You boy, you claim to have first met Sonic when he saved you from two robots bearing down on you right?" asked Geoffrey.

"Um…uh…yes?" said Tails nervously.

"How do we know you're not really a deep undercover agent sent by Dr. Eggman to infiltrate us in secret?" asked Geoffrey, staring Tails straight in the eye and pointing sharply at the fox "I wouldn't be too surprised if you were there to bait someone like Sonic into saving you and then you pretend to befriend him just to get deeper into our organization and help Dr. Eggman defeat us."

"M…Mr. St. John sir…I…I'm not a deep under cover agent! I'm not even an agent of any kind at all! Honest!" squeaked Tails "I'm a victim of Dr. Eggman! He roboticized my parents, destroyed my village and tried to roboticize me! And if that wasn't enough, he sent a bounty hunter to kill me for spying on him! Why would I possibly want to work for someone who's almost wrecked my life forever?"

Geoffrey stood up straight and thought for a moment.

"That…is a good point young man." said Geoffrey "You're innocent. Eggman's done too much harm to you to make you turn traitor. And Eggman wouldn't send a bounty hunter to kill his own agent would he? That would not be a clever move at all."

So Geoffrey dismissed the relieved Tails and moved onto the next suspect, Knuckles the Echidna who stood there holding the blue Chaos Emerald in his hand.

"Knuckles, I don't believe I know much about you mate." said Geoffrey "Who are you and what do you do?"

"I'm Knuckles the Echidna." said Knuckles "And I'm the Guardian of Angel Island. I guard the Master Emerald, a giant emerald that looks like an oversized Chaos Emerald and the one thing that keeps Angel Island afloat. I hope you're not accusing me of being a traitor skunk boy because I'll give you a knuckle sandwich if you are!"

"Um no mate I'm not." said Geoffrey quickly and waving his hands "You can't possibly be a traitor, you have too much responsibilities under your belt to even think about turning evil."

He hastily shifted away from Knuckles, giggling nervously as Knuckles glared at him suspiciously. He moved onto the next suspect which was Wilson the Dog.

"So you boy, would you ever consider turning evil?" said Geoffrey sharply.

"Oh no never!" gasped Wilson "I almost got roboticized by Dr. Eggman and I got tortured by an evil mistress! I think I still have the scars from those electrical shocks she inflicted on me with that electrical stick!"

"So what does that have to do with anything?" asked Geoffrey.

"My point is, why would I join someone who's hurt me before?" snapped Wilson "It makes no sense!"

Geoffrey put a hand to his lips and silently hummed to himself before dismissing Wilson and moving onto the final suspect, Mandy Mouse who didn't seem very bothered by this sudden blame game Geoffrey was doing right now.

"What do you have to say about turning evil Mandy?" asked Geoffrey quietly.

"I say it's stupid and idiotic." said Mandy "And I will never turn evil."

"That's not convincing enough." said Geoffrey coldly "I need a better statement then that."

"You want convincing? I've got something that'll prove my innocence!" said Mandy angrily "My own sister turned out to be a villain and after getting turned back good, she got killed not long afterwards and I swore on her soul I would fight for freedom in her name! Why would I wanna follow the same path my sister went down when it got her killed?"

Geoffrey was well and truly taken aback by Mandy's angry statement. It made sense that Mandy would never be evil after her sister got killed after being evil. After all that talking, Geoffrey came to realize that his suspicions were going too far and he was jumping to conclusions right now. Everybody seemed innocent and none of them seemed to be an Eggman agent in hiding. Then again, there might be an agent and one of them is just a brilliant actor but Geoffrey couldn't assume that since he didn't know if that was true or not. Then suddenly, Sonic pointed an accusing finger at Geoffrey and spoke up.

"What about YOU Geoffrey?" asked Sonic "How do we know YOU aren't a bad guy in hiding huh?"

Geoffrey glared at Sonic as if he just made a nasty threat to him.

"I most certainly am NOT a bad guy in hiding!" retorted Geoffrey angrily "How dare you make such a suggestion!"

"Well you're accusing us so I felt it was fair to accuse you." noted Sonic "Why are you so concerned about a traitor amongst us?"

Geoffrey's face fell into a solemn expression as if horrible memories were coming back to his head.

"I'm concerned about a traitor amongst us because treachery almost got me killed when I was younger." said Geoffrey sadly.

Sonic and the others murmured to themselves.

"When I was a little lad, I had a friend I trusted with my life and we were as close as brothers." explained Geoffrey "We spent a lot of time together and we were supposedly friends forever. But then the horrible thing happened."

He paused for a moment before continuing.

"Me and my friend were walking by ourselves in a forest and we were ambushed by a bunch of thugs who just loved to hurt little children for fun. My friend turned out to be one of them and he was used by the gang to coax little kids into coming into their territory just so the thugs could attack them. The thugs beat me up almost to death and the gang left me battered and beaten in the forest. I would have died if my father hadn't come looking for me and found me and got me to a hospital so I could recover from my injuries. Since then I have sworn to myself that I cannot trust anyone and my trust is not so easy to win so you can see why my suspicions are high at this moment."

Sonic and the others had listened to Geoffrey's sad story with interest and Sonic was so amazed that someone as strong, brave and dedicated as Geoffrey St. John had such a dark secret hidden in him. Sonic put a hand on the skunk's shoulder affectionately.

"That's some story Geoffrey." said Sonic "After hearing that, I can certainly say you definitely aren't a traitor. Treachery almost got you killed so being a traitor wouldn't make sense."

"Too right Sonic." said Geoffrey "Evil doesn't do it for me and I don't see why any bloke would want to become a black hearted blighter like Dr. Eggman."

"I could say the same." said Knuckles "After all, working for Eggman only ensures your chances of being roboticized since he'll likely roboticize his agents once he's finished with them."

"That's not a bad suggestion." said Sonic "After all, Eggman never keeps his promises and he's always stabbing people in the back like when he pretended to turn good and he used that stupid circus park as a way of fooling us****."

"Don't remind me of that." said Tails, remembering all the circus stunts Eggman made him, Amy and Cream do and then after the show was over, he tried to roboticize everybody.

"So after all that accusing and revelations, I can rule out the idea of there being a traitor in the works." said Geoffrey, breathing a sigh of relief "You're all too innocent to be considered as backstabbers. But that only leaves us wondering how Eggman is sharper then normal?"

But before anyone could breathe a single word, a laser beam appeared from nowhere and struck the ground before them! The force of the impact blew everybody away and Mandy, who unfortunately happened to be near the edge of the cliff after the laser blast hit home, flew backwards and fell over the edge! She managed to grab onto a small ledge before she could plummet all the way down to the bottom but this just left Mandy hanging for dear life on the cliff.

"Help!" she cried.

Everybody had just picked themselves up from that sudden attack and realized that Mandy was in need of help.

"Mandy! I'll save her!" cried Wilson, scurrying over to the cliff.

"No Wilson, you might fall too!" cried Tails, flying after him "I'll save her, I'm not likely to fall."

Wilson screeched to a halt at the edge of the cliff.

"OK Tails, I'm counting on you." said Wilson "After all, you can fly so this'll be an easy rescue."

Tails gave him a thumbs up and he flew down to the ledge where Mandy was clinging onto. Her grip was beginning to weaken and she was slowly slipping off the ledge. Wilson peered over the top of the cliff and watched with a worried face as Tails hovered over Mandy.

"Mandy, grab my hand!" yelled Tails "I'll fly you back up to the top!"

"But if I let go, I might fall!" squeaked Mandy "It might be better for you to grab me by the shoulders or something!"

Tails knew what she meant and he flew behind Mandy, put his hands under her arms and gently carried her up from the ledge and to the top of the cliff. Unfortunately, the laser beam from earlier picked an inconvenient moment to strike again! The beam whizzed over Tails' head and struck the cliff in front of him, sending rocks flying everywhere. Tails flew up faster to avoid being hit by the showering rocks but he didn't make it. A huge rock walloped him in the head and knocked him unconscious then he and Mandy plummeted down to the water at the foot of the cliff. Mandy screamed at the top of her voice as the water below began to catch up to them.

"Tails!" cried Sonic.

"Mandy!" cried Wilson.

The knocked out fox and screaming mouse continued plummeting until suddenly, a huge robot in the shape of a barracuda erupted from the water like a leaping dolphin with its ferocious jaws wide open. Then with one snap of the jaws, it caught the falling Tails and Mandy in its mouth! Sonic couldn't believe his eyes.

"Hey! No one eats my best friend and lives with it!" shouted Sonic "It's time to give you a super sonic spin-dash!"

But before Sonic could do anything, the laser beam from earlier stuck again and blasted Sonic in the back! Wilson leapt back in surprise and the blue hedgehog flew through the air like a rag doll being tossed by a child. Before Sonic could even realize where he was heading, the barracuda robot leaped out of the water again, opened its enormous jaws and caught Sonic inside them. Then the robot disappeared under the water. Knuckles had seen everything happen and he was livid.

"That robot in the water just ate Tails, Mandy and Sonic!" he yelled.

"Um Knuckles, robots can't eat." noted Geoffrey "So they haven't been eaten, they're just trapped in it and we have to get them out before it takes them to Dr. Eggman."

"But what about that laser that keeps catching us off guard?" asked Wilson wildly "It might shoot us into the water and then the barracuda bot will get us as well!"

"We find out where that laser is coming from and then we smash it to pieces!" said Knuckles, baring his fists "And then we leap into the water and destroy that barracuda bot!"

Then suddenly, the laser blast from earlier shot at them again. Knuckles heard it coming and he, Geoffrey and Wilson jumped out of the way just in time before the blast could hit them. Geoffrey loaded his crossbow and aimed up at the sky. To his surprise, what he saw in the sky above him was another barracuda robot. The barracuda robot was long, sleek and silver with a laser cannon in its mouth, small spikes on it's bodywork and sharp looking fins. Its jaws were full of teeth the size of swords and they glistened in the sunshine. Geoffrey stared at the fearsome looking robot above him.

The barracuda robot stared him down, waiting to attack.

"Crikey." said Geoffrey "That's one vicious looking machine! And like the robot in the water, it's a barracuda bot! I never knew that Eggman bloke had a fondness for barracudas."

The barracuda bot opened its jaws and the laser cannon telescoped out from inside its throat. But before it could fire at the skunk staring up at him, Knuckles leaped into the air and punched the robot in the eye. His spiked fists penetrated the tough steel the eye was made of and cracked it heavily. Now the barracuda bot was blind in one eye. The barracuda bot roared furiously and it with mighty jerk of the head, it shook Knuckles off itself and sent the echidna crashing down on the ground. Then more trouble began. The barracuda bot in the water decided to fly out of the water and onto the cliff top to help the other barracuda bot. The one that had Sonic, Tails and Mandy trapped inside didn't have a laser cannon since it was used as a capture bot and the other one was more suited to fighting but that didn't mean the capture barracuda bot couldn't fight. It charged at Knuckles, Geoffrey and Wilson with its sharp fins spread out and ready to chop them to pieces The Mobians dodged the oncoming barracuda bot and the robot ground to a halt, spun around and charged again. The Mobians dodged once more but Knuckles grabbed one of the spikes on the barracuda bot's side and used the other spikes as ladder as he climbed up the side of the robot. He began to punch its back furiously in a desperate attempt to break into the robot and save the captured Mobians inside but the barracuda bot was made of tough armour so it would take the echidna a while to break into the robot's armour. The barracuda bot noticed what was going on and it tried to shake Knuckles off by shaking its long body up and down. Knuckles surprisingly managed to hold on despite the barracuda bot's violent shaking. The laser cannon barracuda bot eyed Knuckles riding on its mate with its only remaining eye and it deployed its laser cannon. Knuckles saw the barracuda bot aiming at him and he leaped off just as it fired at him. The laser blast hit the first barracuda bot and the robot's back was destroyed in seconds. The barracuda bot roared in agony as smoke poured out from its back. Then, out of the billowing smoke came Sonic the Hedgehog in a spin-dash. Sonic shot up into the air and came crashing down on the barracuda bot's head. The barracuda bot let out a bloodcurdling, ear-splitting roar as Sonic smashed its way through its head and destroyed all its vital mechanisms. The robot collapsed onto the ground, its head sparking wildly and smoke still billowing out from its back. As the robot lay there, smoking heavily, Mandy emerged from within the robot's body, carrying a still unconscious Tails in her arms. She ran for it just as the second barracuda bot was preparing to fire at her. The barracuda bot shot at the fleeing mouse with its laser cannon but it didn't keep it up for long. Sonic leaped towards the robot in a spin-dash and went straight up the barracuda bot's laser cannon. Sonic smashed his way through the cannon and then started churning his way through the inside of the robot. Sonic churned all the way through the barracuda bot and then emerged from the robot's tail. The robot roared furiously but it didn't seem defeated yet. It remained airborne and it raised it's tail, ready to give Sonic a good hard smack with it but Geoffrey interfered by firing a stun-dart at it. The dart embedded itself in the robot's only remaining eye and the robot was engulfed with a painful, electrical surge that spread all over its body. The robot collapsed to the ground and went offline. Now the barracuda bot had been put out of commission, Sonic and Knuckles teamed up to completely smash the robot to bits. Knuckles punched it and Sonic spin-dashed it. After the two had finished destroying the robot, the barracuda bot exploded into smithereens, its debris littering the ground as it flew everywhere. Now the two barracuda bots had been destroyed, the Mobians were safe once again. Sonic wiped sweat off his forehead.

"Whew! That was a close one!" he said "I was about to become Eggman's captive until you managed to break me out of there Knuckles!"

"Um…I didn't actually do that Sonic." said Knuckles "The other barracuda bot did by accidentally shooting the barracuda bot that had you, Tails and Mandy although it was trying to shoot me when it did that."

"Speaking of Tails and Mandy, did they make it out of the barracuda bot before it blew up?" asked Sonic.

"Yes we did, we're here." said Mandy, waving to Sonic.

Sonic spotted her and sighed with relief. Mandy stood there with an unconscious Tails in her arms and Wilson and Geoffrey looking at him. Sonic ran over to her and looked at the knocked out fox Mandy was holding.

"Is he alright?" asked Sonic.

"The kid's alright, he's just knocked out." said Mandy, gently stroking Tails' forehead "Poor boy got hit really hard by a flying rock when that laser blast hit the cliff tops."

"Well Eggman certainly planned his next attack well didn't he?" asked Sonic "I mean he actually CAUGHT me! Not only that, he caught me with a laser blast and I'm usually too fast for those things!"

"Well I know one thing for sure." said Geoffrey "We'll have to be more vigilant then before. Who knows when Eggman's going to strike again?"

"We're gonna have to find that next Chaos Emerald soon or Eggman might beat us to it." said Sonic "Maybe that's why he's attacking us? He wants to find the emerald first and these attacks are just distractions for us while he finds it?"

"Possibly." said Knuckles "But I don't think he's found it yet. I can still sense the emerald's energy nearby so Eggman hasn't got it yet."

"That's a relief." said Sonic "Let's get moving before Eggman attacks again."

Nobody waited to be asked twice. The group began to move on with Knuckles leading the way since he had the blue Chaos Emerald. The Chaos Emerald began to glow slightly brighter so that meant they were getting closer to the next emerald. As the group continued their trek through Kingdom Valley, Sonic wondered if Eggman was planning another attack on him and his friends. And if so, what would he be using this time? Hopefully not Metal Sonic since Metal Sonic was a huge problem for everybody, including himself…

Back in Robotropolis, Dr. Eggman was getting his Egg-Mobile ready. He was adding some finishing touches to the hovering machine since it needed a little tune-up before it could be put into use. As he worked on his Egg-Mobile, he kept mumbling to himself.

"Sonic certainly is a handful isn't he? Those twin Egg-Barracudas should have been more then a match for Sonic and his friends! And they actually caught him too but Knuckles had to ruin everything by making the second Egg-Barracuda destroy the first one and free Sonic! They've destroyed my beautiful robots for the last time! This next attack is guaranteed to end their lives, all of them!"

He tightened some bolts with a spanner and then started tightening some screws with a screwdriver. Dr. Eggman kept working away on his Egg-Mobile while Metal Sonic and Alonzo stood to attention, awaiting their orders. Alonzo hated standing near Metal Sonic so he shifted away from him. Metal Sonic made Alonzo feel nervous due to his cold stare and emotionless personality so Alonzo preferred to stay away from Metal Sonic at all times.

"Um master? How long has the Egg-Mobile got until it's finished?" asked Alonzo.

"I just need to fit on this last panel Alonzo and then we're ready to go." said Eggman.

"Why are we going anyway?" asked Alonzo "Are the Mobians close to finding a Chaos Emerald?"

"They are." said Dr. Eggman "And we don't want to be late for the Automaton's order so we're going to Kingdom Valley and we'll hide somewhere until the Automaton gives the command and then we make off with the Chaos Emerald while Metal Sonic destroys everybody."

"I can't wait to see the look on their furry little faces when the Automaton strikes on them!" said Alonzo, rubbing his hands evilly "They'll be in for a shock bigger then ever before!"

"Yes Alonzo, they will." said Dr. Eggman as he screwed in the last screw with his screwdriver.

The Egg-Mobile was now ready to go. Eggman climbed into the hovering machine and Alonzo climbed in after him. Eggman grabbed the controls and set the Egg-Mobile in flight. The Egg-Mobile hovered off the ground and Eggman flew out of his base and into the open air of the outside world. Metal Sonic flew beside Dr. Eggman and the villains set their courses for Kingdom Valley, the very place Sonic and friends were emerald hunting.

"I can almost feel that Chaos Emerald in my hands now." purred Dr. Eggman as he imagined himself holding the Chaos Emerald in his hand "And once I get all seven, I'll use their power for a machine greater then any I've built before!"

"And what machine might that be then?" asked Alonzo with interest.

"You'll see Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman with a malevolent smile on his face as he continued flying through the air in his Egg-Mobile "You'll see…"

Meanwhile, Sonic and friends had climbed down a steep cliff and stepped down onto a walkway that led to a series of temples that hadn't been submerged by the water. The temples were ruins just like the palaces were and they were rather tall and narrow looking in comparison to the grand looking palaces that Sonic and friends had seen earlier. The walkway led to one temple and a walkway at the back of the temple led to another and so forth. There were four temples in total and Knuckles' Chaos Emerald was telling him there was a Chaos Emerald nearby so the emerald had to be in one of the four temples. He didn't know which temple it was in but he knew the Chaos Emerald was in one of them.

"The Chaos Emerald's nearby." said Knuckles "It must be in one of those temples."

"Well I can't see anywhere else it maybe hiding in except the water around us so let's search the temples." said Sonic "I hope it's not a cruel twist of fate and it turns out the Chaos Emerald IS in the water or we'll never get it."

But before anyone could do anything, Tails began to stir in Mandy's arms. He murmured under his breath and made slight moaning noises.

"Hey Sonic, the kid's waking up." said Mandy.

Sonic turned around to see Tails opening his eyes just as Mandy put him down on the ground. Tails started rubbing his head, which felt like someone had hammered a nail into it, and he opened his eyes.

"Ow…My head!" moaned Tails with a grimace "That rock hit me really hard!"

"Hey Tails, how are you feeling?" asked Sonic, bending down and rubbing Tails' head affectionately.

"I feel like my head's about to explode." groaned Tails "Ouch! I've never had a headache as bad as this before!"

"At least you're OK little guy." said Sonic happily "And you've woken up to good news, we're getting close to finding a Chaos Emerald."

"We are?" said Tails, completely forgetting about his killer headache.

"Yes." said Knuckles "We think it's in one of those temples and we're just about to start searching."

That was all Tails needed to hear. He leaped to his feet and ran into the temple. It was almost like the good news had brought new energy into the little fox and his headache was completely forgotten about, much to Sonic's amusement. He and the others followed Tails into the tall, narrow temple. The doors opened with a creak louder then any creaky door ever heard before due to the incredibly rusty hinges. The hinges were so rusty, they looked like they were about to disintegrate and fall apart thus bringing the door falling down. Due to being ruins, the temple was empty and featureless save for another door at the back, some faded artwork on the floor that was very unrecognizable now and some dirty windows that were not fit for looking out of. Sonic and friends looked up to the ceiling only to find nothing of interest. Then they began to search all around the empty temple. Sonic, Tails and Knuckles circled around while Wilson got onto his knees and started sniffing around like a hunting dog searching for wild game to find for its master. Geoffrey and Mandy pressed against the walls to see if anything moved to reveal a secret passage or something. The walls were completely solid, well almost. Geoffrey pushed on the wall and a loose brick fell right through the wall and into the water on the other side much to the skunk's surprise. But the team couldn't find a Chaos Emerald anywhere.

"Darn! Nothing here!" muttered Sonic, kicking some dust away off the floor.

"We'll have to try the next temple." said Knuckles, opening the back door, which creaked just as loudly as the front door.

The Mobians left the first temple and walked across the narrow walkway and single file to the second temple. Sonic opened the door and the hinges to that door were so weak and fragile, they gave way and the door fell over and landed with a clang on the floor! Sonic jumped and then went inside. This temple was like the first one, empty and featureless with faded artwork on the floor and dirty windows. And like the first one, there didn't appear to be anything in this temple and Sonic knew just by observing the inside of the temple that there was no point looking.

"This temple's just as empty as the first." said Sonic "Let's move on to the third one."

"Either the emerald's in the third or forth temple." said Knuckles "This emerald's getting brighter with every step we take."

That sounded good to Sonic. The Mobians walked through the second temple, opened the door on the right and stepped out onto the walkway which led right to the third temple. The third temple was a little boarder looking then the first and second temples and it had more windows and two doors instead of one. Sonic opened the doors to the third temple and they didn't fall in like the door to the second temple did. In fact, they didn't even creak as loudly as the door to the first temple. The third temple's doors didn't have very rusty hinges so it was still fit to use. The third temple was full of metal crates that were blanketed with dust and cobwebs and like the other two, it had faded artwork on the floor although not as faded as the first and its windows were filthy or broken. The six Mobians ran over to the crates and they opened them all and searched inside. Every single crate in the temple was unfortunately empty except for one thing. Tails had found a family portrait of a royal family that had long since been dead since Kingdom Valley's demise and the portrait was surprisingly still in good condition save for a few rips on the corners. The portrait had a grand looking coyote in kingly robes and fool's jewels with his hands on the shoulders of two children, one a son and the other a daughter, both coyotes. They wore prince and princess outfits and they looked very happy in the picture as did the king. The picture must have been painted a long time before Kingdom Valley's downfall and Tails could just imagine what their lives must have been like when Kingdom Valley was populated and alive with life. Wilson peered over the fox's shoulder.

"Hey, what you found Tails?" asked Wilson.

"Just a portrait." said Tails "Is this one of the royal families that ruled over Kingdom Valley before it was deserted?"

He showed Wilson the portrait and Wilson looked at it.

"It is indeed." said Wilson "It's the fifteenth coyote family to have lived in and ruled over this valley. Historians say they were the kindest and most generous of the coyote families in Kingdom Valley and they were in power over one-hundred years ago. So that's one old portrait you've got there."

"Wow, how do you know so much about the royals of Kingdom Valley?" asked Tails.

"I've read books about them." said Wilson "And they're very interesting books to read too. I think I still have them at the new home in Empire City I currently live in."

Sonic closed the crate he had been looking in. Everybody else closed the crates they were looking in and Tails put the portrait back in the crate he was looking in and closed the crate.

"No Chaos Emeralds here." said Sonic "And I had a feeling in my quills we were going to find one in this temple."

"There's one more temple left." said Knuckles "The Chaos Emerald has gotta be in the forth temple and it seems likely it is since our Chaos Emerald is glowing brighter with every temple we look in."

So with that said Sonic and friends exited the temple through the side door that led to the left and walked across the walkway to the last temple. This temple was broader then the third and taller then the other three temples. Above the door was a broken purple orb of some kind that was likely there for display. Like the third temple, this temple had two doors and when Sonic opened them, they didn't creak like the doors to the first three did since the hinges weren't as rusty. The moment Sonic opened the door though; he was met with a purple glow coming from the middle of the floor. The temple was the same on the inside as the other three temples, faded artwork on the floor and dirty windows although this temple had a worn and rusty chandelier hanging from the ceiling with a chain so rusty looking the chandelier looked like it was about to break away, crash onto the floor and break into a million pieces. In the middle of the floor, half embedded, was a purple glowing gem. Tails ran over to the gem, grabbed it and pulled it out of the floor with no trouble at all. It was a Chaos Emerald! They had found another Chaos Emerald at long last!

"Hey guys! We've found another Chaos Emerald!" cried Tails.

"Good, now hand it over!" demanded Mandy in an uncharacteristically cold tone of voice.

Then suddenly, before anyone could say a word, Mandy lashed out and kicked Tails straight in the back! Tails yelped and dropped the purple Chaos Emerald. Mandy grabbed it before anyone else could and pressed a few buttons on her wrist. She held her wrist to her face and spoke into a communicator that was attached there.

"OK boys, its play time now." she said.

Before anyone could do anything else, the temple walls exploded in a shower of bricks and concrete and in flew a bunch of Eggman robots, all armed with Gatling guns and equipped with jet packs. They aimed at Sonic and friends and prepared to fire. Then to sum it all up, Dr. Eggman arrived in his Egg-Mobile with Alonzo beside him and he flew into view. Sonic clenched his fists and gritted his teeth at the mere sight of the fat man before him.

"Hi Sonic!" said Dr. Eggman "So nice to see you again!"

"Eggman!" yelled Sonic "What have you done to Mandy to make her suddenly turn evil on us?"

"Me? Done to Mandy?" said Dr. Eggman innocently "I've done nothing to that infernal mouse! This isn't even the REAL Mandy that stands before you!"

"You what?" blurted Wilson, his eyes wide and shocked looking.

"This is an Automaton." explained Dr. Eggman as Auto-Mandy climbed into the Egg-Mobile and sat beside him "A brilliant little invention of mine that is built to mimic other Mobians. It's so life-like that even the brightest of minds were fooled by it! And now it's gotten me this Chaos Emerald, aren't I brilliant?"

Sonic suddenly realized a few things. He remembered Geoffrey telling him Mandy disappeared before the others followed him around the world during the worldwide showdown with Metal Sonic, he also remembered Knuckles telling him about Mandy creeping off for some weird reason and then he remembered Marik the Martian mentioning Mandy's foot felt like metal after she'd kicked him*. Those things all suddenly made sense to him now, Mandy had disappeared because Eggman kidnapped her and replaced her with an Automaton and she kept creeping off to tell Eggman something in secret and her foot felt like metal because she WAS metal! How did they miss those clues to the fact that it wasn't Mandy Mouse with them all along?

"Boy you sure had us fooled Egg-head!" said Sonic crossly "Now you tell me where the real Mandy is or you're gonna get a supersonic spin-dash!"

"Oh the REAL Mandy Mouse?" said Dr. Eggman "She's dead. I used her for the basis for the Automaton and I extracted her memories so the Automaton would be able to think like her to keep up the subtlety and once I was finished, I let Metal Sonic kill her since she was of no use to me."

Everybody gasped. Sonic couldn't believe his ears. Mandy was dead? Eggman had kidnapped her, made a robot duplicate of her and then killed her? Dr. Eggman had gone too far this time! Sonic revved up and propelled himself into the air. He spun into a ball and rocketed towards Eggman.

"That's it! I'm gonna beat the egg outta you!" yelled Sonic.

But his spin-dash was brought to a stop by Eggman's deadliest robot ever, Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic slammed Sonic against the wall and kept him pinned there. His emotionless red eyes glared at the hedgehog he so desired to destroy.

"Hey Metal Sonic, glad to see you too." said Sonic, pushing the metal hedgehog away from him.

Metal Sonic swiped at Sonic with his claws but Sonic dodged the blow and kicked him in the torso.

"What's the matter? Still not speaking?" said Sonic "Oh well, I think I prefer a quiet Metal Sonic anyway."

Metal Sonic gave Sonic an uppercut that sent the hedgehog flying out of the temple and onto the narrow walkway. Sonic skidded to a painful halt on his back and Metal Sonic lunged after him. Knuckles lunged into the air after Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic saw him and he grabbed him by the arms. He snatched the blue Chaos Emerald out of Knuckles' hand, threw the echidna in the water and tossed the emerald to Dr. Eggman. Dr. Eggman caught it in his hands and exploded with laughter.

"Ha, ha, ha! I now have TWO Chaos Emeralds! Aren't I lucky?" crowed Dr. Eggman "Now if you'll excuse me, I'm going to find the other five emeralds now. Bye, bye!"

And with that Dr. Eggman turned his Egg-Mobile around and flew away. He, Alonzo and Auto-Mandy laughed a chorus of victorious evil laughs as they flew away into the bright blue sky with the jet-pack equipped robots following them.

"Damn it! The blighter got away!" cursed Geoffrey "Now we're back to square one!"

"We haven't got time to degrade ourselves Mr. St. John!" cried Tails "Metal Sonic is still attacking us!"

"Why? Eggman's left so why is the Metal Sonic bloke still here?" asked Geoffrey.

"Maybe Eggman wants him to finish us off." suggested Wilson "After all, we're no match for Metal Sonic, fifteen of us together can't bring him down and Sonic can't bring him down so Eggman probably wants Metal Sonic to kill us since he's the only one capable of doing it."

"Well I'm not letting the blighter kill us!" said Geoffrey hotly. He primed his crossbow; ready for fire "I'm taking that metal head down if it's the last thing I do!"

And with that he, Tails and Wilson ran outside to help Sonic and Knuckles fight Metal Sonic. Sonic and Metal Sonic spin-dashed each other but Metal Sonic came out on top and sent Sonic crashing into the third temple. Knuckles tried to punch Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic caught his punches and threw him back into the forth temple. Tails flew up into the air and tried to attack Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic blasted him with his torso cannon. Tails fell down to the ground but Wilson managed to catch him just before he could hit the ground. Metal Sonic hovered down to the ground and tried to attack Wilson but Geoffrey lashed out with a kick to the forehead. Then the skunk gave Metal Sonic an uppercut that wasn't as powerful as Knuckles but it was powerful enough to knock the metal hedgehog over and then Geoffrey fired a dart at him. The dart pinged harmlessly off Metal Sonic's tough armour. Metal Sonic got back to his feet and then gave Geoffrey a terrific punch to the face. Geoffrey stumbled backwards and tripped over Tails, who was lying behind him. Wilson leaped up and began to lunge a fury of punches on Metal Sonic but the metal hedgehog didn't seem to be affected by them. Wilson was furious over Mandy's supposed death and he wanted to make Eggman pay for it so he was trying his hardest to destroy Metal Sonic. But no matter how many punches he launched, he couldn't do any damage to Metal Sonic; the robot's armour was too tough for a normal punch like his. Metal Sonic slugged Wilson in the stomach and then he threw him into the water. Wilson landed in the water with a splash and he began to swing his arms madly as he thought to stay above the surface. Tails flew after Wilson and grabbed him by the hands. Then he pulled the dog out of the water and carried him back to the temple. Sonic had recovered from Metal Sonic's earlier attack and he spin-dashed Metal Sonic in the back. Then the two hedgehogs kicked at each other, both their feet hitting each others as they kicked, and then they linked arms and grappled with one another. Tails and Geoffrey tried to attack Metal Sonic from behind but Metal Sonic heard them coming and he let them have it with his back laser. Geoffrey and Tails both collapsed in a heap on the walkway. Sonic broke away from their grapple and then he dropkicked Metal Sonic in the head. Before Metal Sonic could recover, Sonic spin-dashed him again and sent him crashing into the forth temple. Metal Sonic bounced off the wall and rammed Sonic in the chest with his elbow. The two hedgehogs were rolling over each other like kids rolling down a hill and they came to a halt in the third temple. Sonic pushed Metal Sonic off himself and tried to punch the metal clone but Metal Sonic dodged and kicked a crate into Sonic. The crate smacked Sonic in the side and knocked him over. Knuckles saw Sonic needed help and he ran into the temple to fight Metal Sonic. Sonic kicked a crate at Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic destroyed it with his torso laser. The crate was reduced to metal pieces and Metal Sonic threw the pieces at Sonic as if they were Frisbees. Sonic dodged most of the flying metal chunks but one clipped him on the shoulder and made him grimace. But before Metal Sonic could do anything, Knuckles punched Metal Sonic in the side of the head. The metal hedgehog was brought down to the floor and Knuckles began to viciously punch Metal Sonic as hard as he could. Unfortunately, Eggman had upgraded Metal Sonic after fixing him from his earlier damages so Knuckles' punches weren't causing as much damage as they usually would. Knuckles then grabbed Metal Sonic by the arm and tried to rip it out of its socket but Metal Sonic blasted him with his torso laser before he could start tugging on his arm. Knuckles cried out in pain and then Metal Sonic punched the echidna off himself and gave the echidna a sucker punch to the face. Knuckles fell onto his back and grimaced in pain. Sonic picked himself up, only to get knocked down by Metal Sonic's spin-dash again.

"Man, Metal Sonic's taking no prisoners today is he?" grunted Sonic.

"He's improved a little since the last time we fought him!" grunted Knuckles "My punches aren't doing much damage to him!"

"We need a plan and fast!" said Sonic "Or Metal Sonic's going to…"

Metal Sonic grabbed Sonic by the scruff of his neck and then he grabbed Knuckles by the scruff of his neck and proceeded to smack the two's heads together! A huge wave of pain swept over Sonic and Knuckles as their heads made painful contact with one another and then Metal Sonic threw them outside where they landed on their fronts and have a painful scrape across the walkway before stopping. The hedgehog and echidna groaned loudly.

"This is going nowhere!" puffed Sonic "Metal Sonic completely has us at his mercy! We can't defeat it!"

"If we keep this up, we may not make it to the end!" grunted Knuckles, trying to get back up but to no avail "We've gotta do something or we're mincemeat!"

"I have an idea." said Tails "Why don't we let Metal Sonic throw us into the water and we swim underwater and hide behind something until he leaves? That way he'll think we've all drowned and we're all dead."

"That's a great idea Tails." said Sonic "Let's do it to it!"

Now they had a plan, Sonic got back to his feet and helped Knuckles stand up too. Then the two got into battle ready stances and prepared to attack as Metal Sonic stood at the entrance of the temple holding a crate above his head. Metal Sonic threw the crate at the Mobians but Knuckles punched it away and tried to attack Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic smacked him away and sent the echidna falling into the water with a splash. Knuckles held his breath and began to swim towards the stone pillars underneath the temple. After swimming up to them, he came up to the surface and peered around the corner to see what Metal Sonic was up to. While under water, Knuckles had swam to the other side of the temple and now he was going to stay put until Metal Sonic flew away. Sonic and Tails tried to double team Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic caught them both and hurled them into the water. Unfortunately for Sonic, he began to sink down and down like a stone but fortunately, Tails was a capable swimmer and he grabbed Sonic's hand and pulled him towards the other side of the temple. They both held their breath and they managed to hold it long enough to get to the other side of the temple and come up for air. Wilson and Geoffrey were the only ones left and they both pounced on Metal Sonic. Geoffrey landed a good hard punch on the robot's face and Wilson stomped on Metal Sonic's arm in an attempt to break it. But Metal Sonic fired his torso cannon to make the dog and skunk back away and then he leapt to his feet and jumped a perfect rainbow arch in the air. He landed in between Geoffrey and Wilson and he did a perfect split to kick them both. Geoffrey and Wilson fell on their sides and Metal Sonic grabbed them by their tail. He hoisted them up and began to swing them around by their tails. His torso section rotated a perfect 360 degrees as he began to swing Geoffrey and Wilson around. Then Metal Sonic released their tails and the two Mobians hurled through the air like stones and they landed with a splash in the water. Luckily for them, there was a walkway that had broken away from whatever it used to be connected to and under the walkway; there was a space above the water that they could use to breathe. The space was only big enough for them to stick their heads above the water but that was all they needed. Metal Sonic hovered above the water and looked around for his victims. His sharp eyesight scanned the surroundings as his head slowly rotated left and right. His scanners weren't registering any signs of life around. The Mobians he had thrown into the water must have sunken all the way to the bottom of the flooded valley and if they were all the way at the bottom that meant they had no chance of getting back to the surface for air so that meant his victims had drowned, or so he thought. Seeing as his mission was accomplished, Metal Sonic turned around and flew away from the water. His jetpack roared nosily as he flew away from Kingdom Valley and headed back home to Robotropolis where his master was waiting for him. He could almost imagine his happy master's face when he found out he'd just killed Sonic the Hedgehog and his friends. After Metal Sonic disappeared from view, Sonic, Tails and Knuckles swam to the walkway and they climbed out of the water. Sonic grabbed his quills and squeezed them as hard as he could to get all the water out of them. Tails shook himself dry like a puppy dog and Knuckles began squeezing water out of his dreadlocks. Geoffrey and Wilson emerged from under the walkway and they swam over to Sonic, Tails and Knuckles. Sonic and Knuckles pulled the skunk and dog out of the water and they dried themselves off.

"I'm getting sick of losing to that metal faker!" moaned Sonic "Next time me and Metal Sonic fight, I'm going to beat him at long last!"

"If only we could." said Tails "He copies our data and in doing so, makes himself stronger then anybody he comes across. He's copied all our data so we're no match for him and even if we get someone new to help us defeat him, he'll just copy that person's data and be as strong as that person."

"He can copy the data of everybody on Mobius for all I care!" yelled Knuckles "Some day, we're going to take down that metal crony of Eggman's!"

"Yeah." said Sonic "I look forward to smashing Metal Sonic to pieces too. But one thing I can't stop wondering about is how did I fail to guess that the Mandy with us was a fake all along? The evidence was on the tip of my nose and I failed to notice it. That Automaton fooled us all didn't it?"

"It did alright." said Geoffrey "I can smell a traitor or a fake anywhere and even I was fooled. At least we know how Eggman was suddenly sharper then usual. That stinking Automaton was informing him of our whereabouts and what we were up to so Eggman knew where to send his robot squads to get us."

"Yeah but that doesn't help with anything." muttered Wilson "Especially since the real Mandy is dead. She was my best friend and that horrible Eggman killed her. How could he do something like this to us?"

The dog crouched down on his knees and stared at the ground. He looked like he was about to cry. Sonic and Geoffrey felt sorry for Wilson and they were sad over Mandy's supposed death as well. They had been with Mandy for eight months straight and they knew how close she and Wilson were. Mandy was a great fighter and she had great courage to match so her death was a heavy loss for the Royal Fighters Service. Regardless, Sonic was not going to let the death of a friend bother him. He was going to stop Dr. Eggman and his robotic cronies once and for all and he would do it in the name of his fallen friend Mandy Mouse. Sonic bent down to Wilson's level and said.

"I know how you feel about Mandy Wilson but we can't let her death bother us now. We've got more Chaos Emeralds to find and we've got three emeralds we have to get back from our enemies. When we get all seven Chaos Emeralds, we'll use their power to put an end to Dr. Eggman's evil once and for all. And I can assure you that Mandy will want you to fight long and hard to save your home planet from Dr. Eggman and his robotic minions so you'll have to be strong Wilson. Will you do that for me and for Mandy buddy?"

Wilson looked at the blue hedgehog and smiled at him.

"I'll do just that." said Wilson happily "I'll make sure Eggman pays for killing my friend."

"That's a good doggie!" said Sonic teasingly, ruffling the fur on Wilson's head up playfully and getting up to his feet "Now why don't we leave Kingdom Valley and start searching for another Chaos Emerald?"

"We don't have our Chaos Emeralds anymore Sonic." noted Tails glumly "So we have no idea on where to find any. We'll be on a wild goose chase!"

Sonic suddenly realized that Tails was right. The Chaos Emeralds could be used to find another Chaos Emerald and now they didn't have any, they had no chance of finding any other emeralds.

"Right." said Sonic "I guess the best thing to do know is find Amy and her team. Amy has that tracker Tails modified for her so she'll be able to find a Chaos Emerald."

"In that case, let's go and find Amy's group and see how they've been doing while we've been on our own search." said Geoffrey, immediately setting off "I wonder if they've had better luck then we have?"

Sonic, Tails, Knuckles and Wilson followed Geoffrey across the walkway and through the ancient temples that they had been searching through for a Chaos Emerald. Sonic had no idea where Amy could possibly be right now but he knew he would find her sooner or later. And one thing he couldn't stop wondering is how she and her group had been doing while he and his group had been dodging death in Kingdom Valley…

Footnotes:

 See Story 36 for the first part of this very saga

* See Stories 37-38 for the second part of this very saga

 See Story 31 for one VERY fast paced adventure

 See Tales from Mobius: Arc 1 for some shocks and surprises

* See Stories 26-27

 See Story 1

 See Stories 17-18 for one of Sonic's most humorous adventures ever

* See Story 31 again

 See Story 37

 See Story 38 (I've set another record of footnotes!)

Well that was unexpected! Mandy is dead and has been replaced by an Automaton and now Eggman has two Chaos Emeralds! Can he get another or will Amy and her team finally get one? Join me next time as Amy takes the spotlight once more to look for another Chaos Emerald...Reviews are welcome.

P.S. Sorry banjobandicoot52 but I am not doing any adaptations of the Sonic games. Not that I don't want to it's just that everybody's done it and I can't bring anything new to the formula so sorry, if you wanted a game adaptation then you're in the wrong story. Thanks for suggesting anyway.

Volcanic Panic

Story 41: Volcanic Panic

If there's one place on Mobius that's a highly recommended holiday resort, it would have to be the country of Adabat. Adabat was the sunniest place on Mobius with an average of three-hundred days of sunshine. Not all sunny days on Adabat were warm though and they rarely had rainy days. The people of Adabat lived in a village. The village was alive with pedestrians, shops, restaurants and buildings of any kind and one part of the village consisted of stilt houses, which are houses on stilts just above shallow water and they had a long stretch of decking connecting the houses together. The people of Adabat enjoyed their lives in this sunny country. Sonic and Metal Sonic had had a brief tussle in Adabat during their worldwide showdown* and the stilt house village had only received minor damages which had since been repaired and Adabat had not had any other misfortune since then. As of this moment, Amy Rose: Sonic's biggest fan and would-be-love interest was sitting in a deck chair with a glass of coconut milk sitting on a table next to her and soaking up the sun's warm rays. Fellow fighter and cyborg Bunnie Rabbit was sitting in a deck chair beside her and enjoying the warmth of the sun and Cream the Rabbit, her pet Chao Cheese and Cosmo the Seedrian were playing in the shallow waters that flowed under the stilt houses. Even though Amy and her team were supposed to be looking for Chaos Emeralds, they had decided to kick back for the moment and relax before setting off again to go emerald hunting again. Their efforts since their encounter with Rouge the Bat and Marik the Martian had not improved and they had not found a thing so they were taking a moment to relax and rest themselves before continuing the hunt. Amy sipped some coconut milk out of her glass and watched Cream, Cheese and Cosmo playing in the water. Cosmo was enjoying herself a lot since she was a plant creature and plants need water to live and she was having a great time swimming around and playfully splashing Cream and Cheese. Cream and Cheese played tag and they swam around in the water trying to catch each other and they would playfully splash Cosmo as they swam past her to which Cosmo would retaliate by splashing them back. Amy giggled to herself as she watched the girls playing so happily with each other.

"Aw, it's so lovely watching Cream and Cosmo playing so happily with each other in the water." said Amy happily.

"It is isn't it sugah?" replied Bunnie Rabbit "When ah was young, ah would play in the water when it was a hot day and ah had a great time slashing about to mah heart's content. Did you like playing in the water Amy?" she asked the pink hedgehog.

"I certainly did when I was younger." said Amy, sipping more milk out her glass "When summer time came, my dad would get the paddling pool out and me, him and mom would all get in together and play until dinner time. Those were good times. Pity I don't see my parents much these days." she added glumly "They're always so occupied with something or another and I rarely get time to meet up with them and chat about how we've been getting on since we've moved apart."

"That's a shame sugah." said Bunnie "But at least ya'll have good friends around ya. Friends ya'll can rely on and friends you love to spend time with like Cream, Cosmo or even the sugah-hog himself, Sonic."

"And I most certainly agree." said Amy happily "Sonic, Tails, Cream, Cosmo, you and the Chaotix are the best friends a girl could ask for. Speaking of the Chaotix, where are they?" she asked, realizing that they weren't around.

"They told me they're looking for a guidebook on Adabat in the village." explained Bunnie "They wanna know a bit about this country so they need a guidebook. They shouldn't be too long so don't worry about them."

"Why should I worry about Team Chaotix?" asked Amy "They're capable of defending themselves. I still can't believe they were the ones who saved my Sonic from being disintegrated by a temple in Spagonia by Scourge. It was so brave of them to dare to take on Sonic's evil brother and save him and Tails from disintegrating."

"Well they're brave boys sugah." said Bunnie "And they're detectives so they have to be brave, it's no good being a detective if ya'll are cowardly."

"You're right Bunnie." said Amy "I can't imagine Team Chaotix doing well at their job if they were chicken hearted boys."

Bunnie chuckled in agreement.

"Hey Cream look out! Cosmo's about to send a tidal wave sweeping over you!" Amy called out to Cream.

"Beg pardon?" said Cream, looking up at Amy.

Then before she knew it, Cosmo sneaked up behind Cream swiped the water with her arms. A wave of water swept over Cream and drenched her. Cheese jumped in surprise and avoided getting splashed by flying away. Cream's ears flopped down over her eyes. She shook her head to dry herself and her ears flopped back in their normal position. Cosmo began to giggle.

"Sorry Cream, was that too hard?" she snickered.

"No it's OK." said Cream politely "I'm not too bothered about getting soaked. That was a good sneak attack though."

"I know." said Cosmo "I'm good at sneaking up on my sisters and drenching them with a wave from behind. Back on my planet we have flower pools and we all take turns to bathe in it when it's bath night. It was lots of fun swimming about in the water and playing with my sisters and friends. The water on this planet is very similar to ours." she added, scooping some up in her hand and looking at it just as it began to run away and drip back into the water "The only difference really is ours is a little sweeter smelling because there's always flowers floating about in the water."

"Really?" said Cream "I'd love to have a swim in a pool full of flowers. I bet the water's very nice."

"It is Cream." said Cosmo, lying on her back and doing some backstrokes.

She swam away on her back, being careful not to bump into anything and Cream did the same. Cheese sat on Cream's tummy and rode on her as if she was a raft floating about on the sea. Amy watched the girls with awe, thinking how adorable Cream and Cosmo looked playing about in the water.

"You know if I wasn't on a Chaos Emerald hunt, I would spend the whole day here." said Amy "Adabat is a beautiful place."

"Ah'm totally in agreement Amy." said Bunnie "In fact, ah might have a vacation here if ah get a day off at all."

"Good for you." said Amy kindly "I think we could all do with a holiday what with all the carnage Dr. Eggman's been causing on Mobius since his arrival. But because of the war with Eggman, we never have the time to sit back and relax so a holiday's gonna be hard to come across."

Bunnie nodded in agreement, her eyes all gloomy looking. The war with Eggman had made times for relaxation scarce so they had to savour this moment because it would be a long time before they ever had a moment to relax and enjoy the sunshine.

As for Team Chaotix, they had been touring the village in search of a bookshop or an information centre since they were the likeliest places to sell guidebooks. The boys hadn't had much luck though. They had been in about three bookshops but neither of them had a guidebook. The team's boss, Vector the Crocodile consulted a map he brought from a souvenir shop so he knew where he was going and where to find an information centre in the village. He found a shop marked with an I on the map. According to the key code at the bottom of the map, shops marked with an I meant it was an information centre. Vector smiled widely.

"Hey boys, I've found an information centre." he said to his team mates Espio the Chameleon and Charmy Bee "It's just that way according to the map." he added, pointing to the left.

"Let's hope they have the book we require." said Espio as the trio walked to the left "I'm getting a bit tired of walking around aimlessly and finding nothing."

"I wish I was with the girls." moaned Charmy as he fluttered beside Espio "They're playing in the water and having fun."

"We're being gentlemen and letting the girls have their peace." said Vector "And we can't trust you to do as you're told and let the girls have their peace so you had to come with us whether you liked it or not. Now stop complaining Charmy!"

"OK." said Charmy.

Team Chaotix walked through the streets with Vector leading and reading the map. A few moments later, they came across a small building with a triangular roof marked with the words "Info. Centre" on a sign just above the door. That must be the information centre. They walked over to the centre and walked inside. The centre was full of leaflets, maps and books. There was a desk clerk sitting at a desk and rummaging through a filing cabinet. He looked up to see that he had three new customers to serve.

"Oh hey there." said the clerk, looking up from the cabinet "How may I help you?"

"Do you have a guidebook on Adabat anywhere?" asked Vector "We're new here and we wanna learn a bit about his country while we're here."

"The guidebooks are on that rack over there." said the clerk, pointing at a rack full of books titled "The Tourist's Guide to Adabat".

Espio wondered over to the rack and chose a book. He handed it to Vector and Vector put it on the desk for the clerk to scan out with the barcode scanner. Vector then paid for the book and the clerk put the money in the cash register.

"Thank you sir." said Vector.

"You're welcome." said the clerk.

Then suddenly a low ominous rumble was heard in the distance. It sounded a bit like an earthquake only without the shaking and buildings crumbling to the ground. Charmy flew about in a panic, wondering what the noise was and accidentally knocking a leaflet rack over. Espio pulled out his shuriken, thinking the rumbling was caused by a monster or a giant Eggman robot or something like that. Then the rumbling stopped and everything was peaceful again. Espio put his shuriken away and Charmy picked up the leaflet rack he'd knocked over. Some leaflets had fallen out so he gathered them all up and put them back in the slots on the rack.

"What was that?" asked Vector.

"Oh it's only Mount Adabat." said the clerk casually as if it was nothing serious "It's a volcano not far from the village and it's surrounded by water so when it erupts, we don't have to worry about molten lava engulfing us since it just all goes into the water and burns out. The volcano itself isn't very active and it only erupts every five years but the volcano's being a little more active then usual. There are the occasional rumbles like you've just witnessed now and the small eruptions that last no longer then thirty minutes. It really is strange since Mount Adabat is not usually this active and we really don't know what's up with the mountain."

"How long has this been going on for?" asked Espio.

"Since last Saturday." said the clerk "Which was five days ago."

"A volcano that's more active then usual?" mused Vector "This sounds like a case for the Chaotix Detective Agency. Maybe we should investigate this scenario."

"Yay! We're looking in a volcano!" cheered Charmy, dancing about happily in mid air.

"Are you sure that's wise Vector?" asked Espio "It could be dangerous and we might not make it out alive."

"Espio, danger is our middle name!" boasted Vector "Its gonna take more then a measly volcano to scare me! We're gonna gather up the girls and investigate this weird business with the volcano!"

"I hope you know what you're doing." said the clerk "Mount Adabat is quite a climb and you never know when it might do a random erupt that it's been doing for the past five days."

"We'll be careful sir." said Vector "We're skilled in dangerous situations so this'll be a piece of cake. We're off now, bye!" he said cheerily.

He left the info centre with Espio and Charmy following him. Now they had left the centre, they ran off and headed back to the stilt house village where the girls were sunbathing. As they ran, Vector wondered what was causing the volcano's weird behaviour and how they were going to sort the problem out. He even wondered if the volcano was going to erupt suddenly and the eruption was worse then before. And if the eruptions were worse then usual would that spell danger for the people of Adabat? Vector had no idea but he knew that they would somehow find out the reason behind Mount Adabat's weird behaviour and put a stop to it. The only thing that bothered him was…how?

Meanwhile, Dr. Eggman and his metal cronies Alonzo, Metal Sonic and Auto-Mandy were still flying home from their victory in Kingdom Valley a few hours ago. They were just flying over the city of Soleanna which was mostly surrounded by water hence it's nickname: the City of Water. Eggman spent the entire trip staring at the two Chaos Emeralds he held in his hands. The blue and purple emeralds glowed in unison and their bright sparkle dazzled Eggman. He felt incredibly lucky to be holding the two Chaos Emeralds in his hands right now. The emeralds gave him a strange but wonderful feeling of great power. Almost as if he could knock someone flat with one punch. If just two Chaos Emeralds made him feel powerful just imagine how all SEVEN of the Chaos Emeralds must feel like!

"These Chaos Emeralds sure are fascinating gems aren't they Alonzo?" asked Dr. Eggman, his eyes still fixed on the emeralds.

"Oh yes master." said Alonzo "I can't believe your Automaton worked to perfection. She played those Mobians for fools and thanks to her, you have the Chaos Emeralds."

"It wasn't just Auto-Mandy who got me the Chaos Emeralds." noted Dr. Eggman "Metal Sonic got me the one Sonic and friends had so it's thanks to Auto-Mandy and Metal Sonic, not just Auto-Mandy. One thing that puzzles me is why don't they have the green Chaos Emerald that they found? Has someone else stolen it from them?"

"If that's the case then we'd best find out who's stolen the green Chaos Emerald and steal if off them." said Alonzo "We'll show he or she who the real emerald thieves are!"

"Agreed Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman "I'm stealing the Chaos Emeralds and anyone who thinks otherwise will feel my robotic wrath!"

Then suddenly, Auto-Mandy's ears began swivelling around in perfect 360 degree circles, her eyes began flashing and her tail straightened. Eggman and Alonzo were surprised by Auto-Mandy's sudden odd activity.

"Auto-Mandy my dear, is something wrong?" asked Dr. Eggman.

"I'm-de-tecting-an-other-Chaos-Emerald." droned Auto-Mandy "It-is-not-very-far-from-where-we-are-now."

Whenever Auto-Mandy spoke now, she droned in a robot voice instead of her Mandy Mouse voice since she didn't need the voice to disguise herself anymore.

"Not very far from where we are eh?" purred Dr. Eggman "Can you pin-point it's location?"

"It-is-in-the-country-known-as-Ad-a-bat." droned Auto-Mandy "I can-not-tell-where-in-Ad-a-bat-ex-act-ly-but-it-is-def-in-ite-ly-in-Ad-a-bat. When-we-get-closer-I-might-be-able-to-tell-where-it-is."

"Right." said Dr. Eggman "Alonzo, how far are we from this so called "Adabat" country?" he asked.

Alonzo checked the radar which was displaying the scenery approaching the Egg-Mobile as it flew over Soleanna.

"We're about twenty-miles away." said Alonzo "We'll arrive there in approximately five minutes."

"That's good." said Dr. Eggman "I'll storm the country and add a third Chaos Emerald to my collection once I find it! This is definitely one of my luckier days so far isn't it?"

"It certainly is master." said Alonzo with a grin on his metal face "Pity we don't get days like this more often. Maybe our luck will increase over the next few days."

"If that happens then I'll be able to defeat Sonic the Hedgehog once and for all." said Dr. Eggman happily "Now let's go to Adabat and find that Chaos Emerald shall we?"

"Indeed master." said Alonzo "I'll set our courses immediately."

He set courses for Adabat on the Egg-Mobile and the flying pod-like machine turned to the north-west direction and flew straight on. Metal Sonic, who was flying beside the Egg-Mobile, followed them. Dr. Eggman began to grin malevolently. He could imagine that third Chaos Emerald in his hands right now. Oooh what a lucky day this was for him! He's stolen two Chaos Emeralds and now he'd detected a third one! If his luck continued, he would have all seven in no time.

"You want to us to go WHERE?" shrieked Amy at the top of her voice. The pink hedgehog almost fell out of her chair.

"I said we're going up Mount Adabat and investigating the volcano's odd behaviour." said Vector "Anything wrong with that?"

"Well YES!" screeched Amy "I'm not going up a freaking volcano! They're dangerous and they spew molten lava over everything! If we go up there we'll be fried like fish!"

Team Chaotix had found the girls and told them everything about Mount Adabat and how they were going to investigate its odd behaviour. Needless to say, Amy's reaction right now was not positive.

"But Amy, if we don't find out what's making Mount Adabat more active then usual a catastrophe could happen and Adabat may cease to exist!" yelled Vector "We have to get up that volcano and find out what's wrong with it!"

"Ah hope ya'll don't mind me saying anything but how can there be something wrong with a volcano?" asked Bunnie "Volcanoes are mountains, not machines and there can't be something wrong with a mountain."

"Well there's something wrong with Mount Adabat and we're finding out what it is." said Vector.

"No we're not!" snapped Amy "I am not getting my eyelashes singed off by that fiery death rock!"

"But Amy, what if Mr. Vector is right and something bad does happen?" asked Cream, climbing out of the water and onto the decking "Volcanoes are very dangerous you know."

"Adabat is fine Cream." Amy insisted through gritted teeth "Mr. Vector is overreacting and he wants us to do something that's of no importance."

"No importance?" blurted Vector "I'll give you no importance you selfish little brat!" he snarled, cracking his knuckles.

"Selfish?" shrieked Amy "I'll show you who's the selfish one around here!"

She summoned her Piko-Piko hammer to her hand and leaped out of her chair. She bent down in a fighting stance and got ready for a fight. Vector bared his teeth and prepared to beat the snot out of the little girl in the red dress that was being too stubborn to do the right thing now. But before the inevitable fight could start, Espio lunged at Amy and pinned her against the wall of a hut near her deck-chair by the arms while Bunnie Rabbit restrained Vector with her robot arm.

"Sorry Vector but ah don't want you and Amy fightin' right now." said Bunnie.

Vector said nothing and remained still. Amy however, was much less civil. She struggled in the grasp of Espio the Chameleon but the chameleon refused to let her go. He held her arms against the wall and kept her pinned there while Amy tried to break free.

"Espio, let me go!" ordered Amy "I'm gonna teach your crocodile friend some manners!"

"I will not let you go unless you calm down and settle things nicely." said Espio sternly "There is no point in senselessly fighting since it's getting us nowhere."

Amy knew Espio right and she decided not to let her stubbornness get the best of her so she sighed heavily and stopped her futile struggles.

"I'm sorry Espio." said Amy "I just don't like people insulting me."

Espio nodded in an understanding manner and let Amy go.

"No one likes being insulted." said Espio "But my master once taught me that insults are a way of losing your focus and its best not to let yourself get annoyed by the enemy's insults or you'll lose your focus and the enemy will have the advantage over you in battle."

"I see." said Amy.

Bunnie let go of Vector and he and Amy walked up to each other, staring each other grimly in the eye.

"I'm sorry I tried to knock your teeth out." said Amy.

"And I'm sorry I called you selfish." said Vector.

The crocodile and hedgehog shook hands in a forgiving manner. After they shook hands, they let go of each other's hands and Amy spoke up.

"What's so bad about Mount Adabat being more active then before?" she asked "How active is it usually?"

"According to the desk clerk at the info centre, it only erupts every five years." explained Espio "But apparently there are occasional rumbles and the volcano does small erupts that only last thirty minutes. We're interested in finding out what's causing the volcano's strange behaviour which is why we want to go up the volcano and investigate."

"But volcanoes are dangerous." said Amy "I don't want anyone getting hurt up there so I'm not keen on this idea."

"Well ah'm going." said Bunnie "I don't want the people of Adabat to get jumpy about their local volcano being more active then normal."

"I wanna go too." said Cream.

"Oh no you don't!" said Amy sternly "Volcanoes are much too dangerous for little girls like you Cream! You're staying here!"

"But…" protested Cream.

"And that's final!" hissed Amy.

"I can't stay here on my own Miss Rose." noted Cream "I'm not responsible enough yet."

"I'm staying here since I'm not risking my life searching through a stupid volcano." said Amy "So I can take care of you. And Cosmo's staying here too since I don't want her risking her life up that volcano."

"If that's what you wish Amy then OK." said Cosmo as she climbed out of the water and shook her skirt dry "I'm not keen on going up a volcano either."

Vector sighed a little but said nothing. Bunnie Rabbot was bound to be a lot of help on this investigation so it didn't matter too much that not everyone was going. Then suddenly Charmy Bee noticed something as he fluttered aimlessly around looking for something to do.

"Hey Amy, why is your tracker beeping?" he asked.

Amy reached into her pocket and fished out the tracker. She peered at the screen and noticed something. The tracker was picking up faint signs of Chaos Energy coming from Mount Adabat which was in the distance. Amy peered up from the tracker and saw the tall volcano, silhouetted due to the distance in the horizon. She was so shocked at what the tracker was telling her she nearly squeaked in amazement.

"Wassup Amy?" asked Charmy "You look surprised? Is something wrong?"

"There's faint Chaos Energy being detected as coming from Mount Adabat." said Amy quietly.

"Chaos Energy?" said Cosmo "Does that mean that there's…a Chaos Emerald in the volcano?"

"Probably." said Espio "That sort of explains the volcano's weird behaviour. Maybe the Chaos Emerald's energy is making the volcano more active then usual."

"How is that possible?" asked Bunnie.

"Chaos Energy is powerful stuff and it sometimes doesn't react very positively to some elements." explained Espio "A Chaos Emerald in a volcano is not a good thing at all since Chaos Energy doesn't react well to intense heat. Chaos Energy is better off cool then hot."

"I see." said Amy "Well after that sudden find, I've changed my mind. We are all going up the volcano together to get that Chaos Emerald."

"Well that's amazing!" laughed Vector "You insist you're not going up that volcano and now there's a Chaos Emerald involved you wanna come with us after all!"

"Well I wanna get a Chaos Emerald." said Amy sheepishly "So I'm going to help get it. Let's get to that volcano before anyone else finds out there's a Chaos Emerald in it!"

With that said, Amy and her team marched off to find a rowing boat to use to get across the water and to Mount Adabat.

Meanwhile, Dr. Eggman had arrived in Adabat and was heading towards the volcano. He observed his surroundings and was rather amused at the sunny nature of the country and the stilt house village was a sight to admire for him. They reminded him of the stilt houses a country on his home planet Earth had. Mobius really is similar to Earth isn't it? All the more reason for him wanting to conquer it. He'd failed to conquer his own planet but conquering Mobius would be a brilliant substitute due to the heavy similarities to Mobius and Earth. Conquering Mobius would be just like conquering Earth; only the planet was populated with anthromorphic animals instead of humans. If he conquered Mobius he would prove that humans were superior to animals whether they were human like or not.

"So Auto-Mandy, have you pin-pointed the emerald's location yet?" asked Dr. Eggman.

Auto-Mandy's ears rotated side to die and her eyes flashed.

"A-ffir-ma-tive." droned Mandy "The-emerald-is-in-the-volcano-a-head-of-us."

Dr. Eggman's moustache drooped down in despair. The Chaos Emerald Auto-Mandy had located was IN a volcano? So much for good luck! He'd never get the Chaos Emerald if it was in a volcano! Volcanoes were extremely hot on the inside and they were full of molten lava. If Eggman tried to get the emerald he would get roasted alive or caught up in an eruption should one go off.

"Well that's nice!" moaned Dr. Eggman "My third Chaos Emerald is in a volcano! How ever am I going to get it?"

"Well you could send Metal Sonic down there." said Alonzo "He'll be able to get the Chaos Emerald without being harmed by the volcano's searing hot molten lava."

"That's the problem though Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman sadly "I didn't make Metal Sonic heatproof. I didn't think he would need to be heatproof since I never thought he would be in a place of extreme heat."

"What about Auto-Mandy?" asked Alonzo "Is she heatproof?"

"Nope." said Dr. Eggman "If I was back in Robotropolis, I could upgrade her armour so it would be heatproof as well as waterproof."

"Can't Metal Sonic upgrade his armour with his data-copying abilities?" asked Alonzo.

"No." said Dr. Eggman "He copies data from life forms and his upgrades don't change his armour the slightest, it remains the same no matter how much data he copies."

"Ah." said Alonzo "That is a problem. We're never going to get that stupid Chaos Emerald now are we?"

"We will." said Dr. Eggman "I'm going straight back to Robotropolis to upgrade Metal Sonic's armour so it'll be heatproof and he'll be able to go into the volcano without being roasted by the lava."

But before Dr. Eggman could do anything, Metal Sonic who was hovering beside the Egg-Mobile spotted something and he tapped Eggman on the shoulder. Eggman looked at his robot duplicate and Metal Sonic pointed down at the water below. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo peered over the edge of the Egg-Mobile and they saw a little rowing boat rowing away from the shore and heading towards the volcano. From their height, they couldn't see who was in the boat so Dr. Eggman activated the built in scanner and zoomed in on the rowing boat down below He almost fell out of the Egg-Mobile in surprise.

"Jumping jackhammers!" blurted Dr. Eggman "Sonic's girlfriend Amy Rose, Cream the Rabbit, Bunnie Rabbot, the plant girl and Team Chaotix are in that rowing boat and they're heading to the volcano!"

"Oh mumbling metal heads!" muttered Alonzo "They've found out there's a Chaos Emerald in the volcano. But they must have a death wish if they're going to look in it!"

Then Dr. Eggman suddenly had an idea.

"Hey Alonzo!" he said suddenly "Maybe we can use the Mobian's determination to get the Chaos Emerald to our advantage! If we hide and wait for them to get the Chaos Emerald, we can ambush them and get the emerald for ourselves!"

"Master, that is a brilliant idea." said Alonzo "But what if the Mobians die trying to get the emerald?"

"Bunnie Rabbot's arms and legs can extend to great lengths." said Dr. Eggman, remembering what her robot limbs were capable of "She may be able to reach into the volcano and get the Chaos Emerald without having to go into the volcano. Once she gets the emerald, we shall snatch it off them, leave Metal Sonic behind to distract them and we make off with the emerald just like we did with Sonic and friends back in Kingdom Valley."

"I'm still smiling at our victory in Kingdom Valley." said Alonzo with a cruel smile on his face "A victory I'll remember forever."

Now Dr. Eggman had a plan, he flew the Egg-Mobile round behind the mountain and picked a good place to stay and wait until the Mobians had gotten the Chaos Emerald. He parked the mobile just above a large ledge sticking out from the volcano and waited for the Mobians to arrive and begin climbing the volcano. He watched his radar so he knew how far away the Mobians were from the volcano. They had made it half way across the water so far and they were still rowing on towards the volcano. They would arrive shortly and climb up the volcano so they could get inside it and get the Chaos Emerald. His good luck was returning to him already…

As for the Mobians, everybody except Amy was rowing the boat. Amy stood at the edge of the boat and admired the volcano they were heading too. Considering the fact that they were heading towards a volcano, it didn't seem too bad. The volcano seemed pretty calm right now. Maybe Amy wouldn't have to worry about getting burnt alive after all.

"Keep rowing everybody!" she yelled in her best commanding voice "We're almost there!"

"I don't see why everybody but you had to row this thing." muttered Vector as he did another stroke with the oar.

"Someone has to take charge." said Amy, preening "And I'm the one who's doing so."

"That still doesn't mean you shouldn't row with us." grumbled Espio.

Amy ignored the chameleon and fixed her eyes back on the volcano. Charmy Bee decided to do something naughty to pay Amy back for this. He did another stroke with the oar he was using and then he flicked the water up into the air with the oar and the water landed on Amy's neck and trickled down her back. The water was so cold Amy leaped a foot into the air and almost fell off the boat! She landed on a seat in-between Cosmo and Cream who had an oar each and were towing along with the others. After that sudden shock Charmy gave Amy, everybody began laughing at her. Amy grumbled and her face turned from pink to red.

"Hey Amy, are you getting sunburn?" laughed Charmy mockingly.

"OK, which one of you thought it was funny to throw water at me?" demanded Amy angrily.

"Oh don't be such a baby Amy, its only water." sneered Vector.

Amy's fists shook with rage and she gritted her teeth. Since nobody decided to own up, she decided to let it go and keep on the look out. She stood at the front of boat and kept her eyes on the volcano. The boat was almost at the volcano, they just needed a few more rows and they would be ashore. Amy peered at the tracker. The tracker had a dot displayed on the screen. That meant there was a Chaos Emerald in the volcano after all. But before the boat could get ashore, the entire scenery began to rumble again. The only thing was the rumble was louder and more intense then the one Vector, Espio and Charmy had experienced earlier since they were closer to the volcano. Then suddenly, the volcano spouted a small amount of lava that trickled down the mountain like a small-waterfall trickling down a mountain and headed straight into the sea. The Mobians quickly rowed away from the volcano just as the lava trickled into the sea. There was a loud hiss just as the hot lava was put out by the cold water and steam slowly drifted up from the lava as it was put out. A few minutes later the lava finished trickling into the sea and the steam faded away and the volcano was silent again. The Mobians rowed back up to the volcano and the boat ground ashore on some flat rock at the bottom of the volcano. Everybody climbed out of the boat and stared up at the volcano. The volcano was enormous and the top of it was extremely high up.

"OK, we've gotta climb that thing and get inside." said Amy "It's gonna be a long climb though."

"No it isn't sugah." said Bunnie "Me, Cream and Charmy can fly so we'll fly ya'll up to the top of the volcano."

With that said, Bunnie held Amy by the hand and activated her jet boosters in her feet and took to the skies. The Rabbot carried Amy up the volcano. Cream flapped her ears and took flight with Cheese flying with her. She held Cosmo by the hand and carried her up to the top of the volcano. Charmy, despite being a small bee was a very strong bee. He managed to carry Espio and Vector both together and he flew them both up to the top of the volcano. Dr. Eggman watched them in secret. He smiled to himself.

"They're here at last." he said to himself "Now they'll get that Chaos Emerald for me and I'll snatch it from their hands!"

He peered up at the top of the volcano and watched as Bunnie Rabbot landed and put Amy down, Cream landed and put Cosmo down and Charmy landed and put his two team-mates down. Dr. Eggman remained in his Egg-Mobile and waited for them to get the Chaos Emerald. As for the Mobians, they peered down into the crater of the volcano which was as wide as a house. The crater was full of molten lava and rocks floating about in the lava. The lava seemed rather restless. It kept swirling around and sweeping in waves against the walls. This definitely made everybody nervous about going inside.

"Well Vector, you wanted to go up here so are we going in?" asked Amy.

"I guess…we'll have to." said Vector quietly "Does the tracker know where the emerald is?" he suddenly asked.

Amy peered at the tracker. The tracker displayed the inside of the volcano's crater and it showed the Chaos Emerald was embedded in a rock in the centre of the crater. Amy looked over the tracker and saw a rock in the centre of the volcano crater. The tracker was telling her that the Chaos Emerald was in that rock.

"The tracker says the emerald is in that rock in the centre of the crater." said Amy, pointing at the rock in the centre of the volcano crater "One of us is going to have to go down there and get it."

"Well don't look at me!" shrieked Charmy "I'm not flying down there and fetching that Chaos Emerald! I'll singe my wings off!"

"No one is going down that crater." said Bunnie "Mah robot arm can extend to great lengths. I'll just reach down into the crater and bring that Chaos Emerald up to us."

"That's great Bunnie!" said Amy "And to think we'd have to risk our lives for this mission."

"Where's the emerald?" asked Bunnie.

"On that rock in the middle." said Amy, pointing at it again.

Bunnie saw the rock and lay down on her tummy near the edge of the crater. She aimed her robot arm at the rock and the robotic arm began to slowly extend. Her arm extended longer and longer and reached further and further down into the searing hot crater. Bunnie could feel the heat of the volcano on her metal hand as her arm extended further and further down the crater. Lava bubbled and crashed against the walls like waves against the cliffs. Bunnie's arm continued extending and soon enough, it was directly above the emerald. But that's when the trouble started. Her arm stopped extending just about two feet above the rock. Her arm wouldn't extend any further and she couldn't reach the Chaos Emerald.

"What's the matter Bunnie?" asked Amy.

"Mah arm has reached its limit." said Bunnie sadly "Ah can't stretch it any further and ah can't reach the Chaos Emerald. I'll have to bend down a little further and…"

"No Bunnie, you might fall in." said Amy "Someone will have to go down your arm and get the Chaos Emerald and once they've got the Chaos Emerald, you pull that person back up."

"But who's gonna be brave enough to do it?" asked Cream "Not me for sure. It looks scary in there."

"Chao." said Cheese in agreement.

Vector, Espio and Charmy all exchanged glances with one another. They were wondering which one of them should go down and get the emerald. But before any of them could say a word, Cosmo stepped forward.

"I will go." she volunteered.

"You?" blurted Amy "Are you sure about this Cosmo? You do realize fire isn't exactly a plant's best friend do you?"

"I know." said Cosmo "But please let me go down. I only wish to be of some use to you and I wish to do so by putting my life ahead of everybody else's."

Amy was rather awestruck by the Seedrian's bravery. She never knew Cosmo had such courage contained inside her all along.

"You're brave Cosmo." Amy complimented.

"That's what the war between my kind and the Martians has taught me." said Cosmo "Be brave no matter what the situation is. Wish me luck down there."

"I certainly will." said Amy with a smile "You be careful down there or I'm coming after you!"

Cosmo nodded and wondered over to Bunnie, the Rabbot still lying near the edge of the crater with her arm extended down into the crater. Cosmo peered down into the lava filled crater and gulped nervously. All of the sudden, she didn't feel so courageous but she knew that no one else was willing to do such a dangerous task so she shook off her fear and grabbed Bunnie's arm. She wrapped her arms and legs around the extended robot arm and began to slowly slide down it like a fire-fighter sliding down a pole.

"Be careful down there sugah." said Bunnie "If ya'll want me to pull you back up to the top, just gently pull mah finger and I'll pull you up."

"OK." said Cosmo, shaking a little "I hope I'm going to make it. Down I go."

Cosmo began to slowly edge her way down Bunnie's arm, her hands and legs holding on tight as she slowly descended down into the crater. Everybody peered down the crater to watch her. The first few feet of her descent weren't too bad but further down, the heat around Cosmo began to increase. It was already hot enough outside but the crater of a volcano was even hotter and Cosmo could feel it over every inch of her small body. She began to sweat a little. She continued edging her way down the extended robot arm, albeit a little quicker so she could get to the bottom faster. Then suddenly, a huge spout of lava leaped up into the air and the poor Seedrian was frightened out of her skin. She screamed at the top of her voice. She was so shocked by that sudden spout of lava she almost fell off Bunnie's arm. The lava spout stopped and it fell back into the pool of lava down below in rainfalls. Cosmo panted and whimpered but she didn't give up. She continued to edge down. She was almost at the bottom of Bunnie's arm which was dangling two feet above the rock. Cosmo was two feet tall so she was the perfect height for this. Cosmo finally made it to the bottom of Bunnie's arm and she stepped down onto the rock that floated in the middle of the crater, her hands and head raining with sweat. It didn't feel very stable; it wobbled dangerously side to side as Cosmo stepped on it. Cosmo held her arms out to the side to keep her balance as the rock wobbled, threatening to throw her off and into the scorching hot lava she was surrounded by. Cosmo fell onto her hands and knees to stop the rock wobbling and she saw a faint red light coming from the centre of the rock. It was the red Chaos Emerald! Cosmo grabbed the emerald and pulled on it. The emerald refused to budge. It had been embedded in the rock and it would take a lot of pulling on it to wrench it free. Cosmo pulled and pulled but she couldn't quite wrench the emerald out of the rock. The emerald was stuck fast. Then suddenly, another jet of lava shot up into the air like a missile and Cosmo jumped in terror. The lava shot straight up and then stopped and fell back down into the lava in huge drops. The lava sizzled as it the drops splashed into it. Cosmo felt her thumping chest and breathed fast and heavily. She thought hard to keep her breathing under control. After Cosmo stopped panting, she tried once again to wrench the emerald out of the rock. She pulled with all her might but the emerald still wouldn't budge. Then more trouble began. The rock the emerald was embedded in had become weak and frail from being in the boiling hot lava for so long and it began to break away into pieces! Cosmo wobbled about but she managed to regain her balance. The rock cracked down the middle, giving Cosmo the opportunity to finally wrench the emerald out of the rock and then it broke away into three pieces, one large piece and two smaller pieces. The two smaller pieces drifted away and sank down in the sizzling hot lava. Cosmo began to panic, she clutched the emerald tightly to her chest just as the rock she stood on broke away in another piece. The only remaining piece was only just big enough for Cosmo to stand up on. Frantic and desperate to get out before she was boiled alive, Cosmo yanked on Bunnie's fingers which dangled just above her head.

"I've got the emerald!" she yelled "Pull me up quickly before I get engulfed by the lava!"

Bunnie did not wait to be asked twice. Her arm began to retract, lifting Cosmo off the rock and bringing her back up to the surface just as a jet of lava shot up again, almost making Cosmo drop the Chaos Emerald. Bunnie's arm retracted more and more until finally it had fully retracted and pulled Cosmo up to the surface of the volcano. Amy and Cream immediately grabbed Cosmo and pulled the terrified Seedrian onto the rocky surface away from the crater. Cosmo was gasping and whimpering slightly but she didn't appear to be hurt the slightest. Her eyes had darkened underneath and the tips of her skirt had been mildly singed from flying drops of lava but she was alright. She handed Amy the glowing red Chaos Emerald. Amy took it.

"You did it Cosmo! You got the Chaos Emerald!" cheered Amy.

"I know I have." gasped Cosmo "I'm never going down a volcano again! It's terrifying down there and I almost got boiled alive!"

"You were very brave Cosmo." Cream complimented "Well done.

We're very proud of you."

Cosmo nodded and wiped her darkened eyes to get the ash off of them.

"Thanks Cream." said Cosmo "I'm glad I was able to help."

"Now we have this Chaos Emerald, we can leave here." said Amy "And hopefully Mount Adabat will be a littler calmer now the Chaos Emerald has been removed from it."

"It seems you're right Amy." said Vector "The lava in the crater appears to be less restless now."

Everybody looked down the crater and saw the pool of lava down below. Surely enough, the waves and jets of lava had stopped, the bubbling had slowed down and the lava was much stiller then before.

"So I guess the Chaos Emerald was the reason for Mount Adabat's odd behaviour." said Espio "In that case, we've done the people of Adabat a favour and put their mountain back to normal."

"That's a good thing." said Amy "It wouldn't be nice for the people of Adabat to be worrying about Mount Adabat being more active then usual so now Mount Adabat's fixed, they have nothing to worry about. Now let's get off this lava factory shall we?" she added "I can't wait to show this Chaos Emerald to Sonic. It definitely makes up for…"

Then suddenly Metal Sonic pounced on Amy from behind and tackled her to the ground! Amy dropped the Chaos Emerald and the gleaming red gem bounced with a noisy clatter down the mountain. Dr. Eggman appeared from behind the volcano in his Egg-Mobile and Auto-Mandy extended her arm to catch the Chaos Emerald just before it could plummet into the water and disappear forever. She withdrew her arm and gave the Chaos Emerald to Dr. Eggman who held it in front of his face and smiled like a child that's just brought a new toy from the toy shop.

"Hello boys and girls!" cackled Dr. Eggman "I bet you didn't see my surprise attack coming did you?"

"Eggman!" snarled Amy, summoning her Piko-Piko hammer to her hand "You give me that Chaos Emerald back or I'll leave a permanent imprint of my hammer on your face!"

Dr. Eggman just laughed a loud, grating laugh at Amy.

"Do you really think you'll be able to that Amy?" crowed Dr. Eggman "I'm all the way up here and out of your reach and I have Metal Sonic ready to beat the cuss out of you all! And he has an assistant too."

He motioned to Auto-Mandy who sat beside him with an evil smirk on her face. Amy stared at the Automaton and pulled a puzzled face.

"Mandy Mouse?" she shrieked "What the heck is she doing with you?"

"It's not Mandy Mouse my dear." said Dr. Eggman with a big grin on his face "It's an Automaton or in other words, a robot duplicate of Mandy Mouse. I used it to fool Sonic and friends and she helped me get two Chaos Emeralds."

He held up the purple and blue Chaos Emeralds for Amy to see. Amy and her entire team gasped in astonishment.

"You have two Chaos Emeralds?" shrieked Amy.

"Yes I do." said Dr. Eggman "And now I've just stolen your Chaos Emerald, I have three. Now if you don't mind, I'm going to fly away and find the other four Chaos Emeralds. Metal Sonic! Auto-Mandy! Keep those fools busy while I escape! If you want, you can kill them just like you killed Sonic and his team." he added with a sadistic grin on his face.

That statement made everybody gasp. Amy was so taken aback with horror she felt numb all over her body. She couldn't even feel her hammer in her hands right now.

"You…killed…Sonic…and…his…team?" squeaked Amy, her voice hoarse and raspy with shock. Her eyes brimmed with tears.

"Yes." said Dr. Eggman "Metal Sonic drowned them all in Kingdom Valley and if you want, you can join them! Bye, bye!"

And with that, his Egg-Mobile turned around and he flew away as fast as he could. Auto-Mandy leaped out of the Egg-Mobile and some flaps of material extended out of her arms to form gliding wings to glide with. She glided towards Mount Adabat and she fired some lasers out of her eyes. Bunnie Rabbot activated her force-field and defended herself from the laser blasts. She flew up into the air and gave Auto-Mandy a terrific uppercut to the chin. The Automaton mouse fell from the sky and dived straight into the sea at the bottom of the volcano. Unfortunately for the Mobians, Auto-Mandy was water proof so she was unaffected by the water. She climbed out of the water and scurried up the volcano like a mouse usually scurries. Back in the air, Bunnie Rabbot flew off in an attempt to catch Dr. Eggman and get the Chaos Emeralds back. Unfortunately, Metal Sonic caught her and punched away to the side. Bunnie cart wheeled through the air and came to a halt before she could crash. She deployed her arm cannon and fired a laser blast at Metal Sonic but the metal duplicate dodged the blow and let her have it with his torso laser. Bunnie was sent hurling through the air and crashing into the volcano. She came to a very painful halt against some sharp stubby rocks. Pain streamed up her back and she felt like someone was shoving a million daggers into her back. Metal Sonic charged towards Bunnie Rabbot with his claws bared but Bunnie Rabbot blasted him before he could attack her and Metal Sonic skimmed over the Rabbot's head. He crashed into the rocky surface of the volcano headfirst but the metal duplicate didn't seem to be hurt the slightest. Metal Sonic picked himself up and charged at Bunnie Rabbot again. Bunnie lunged at Metal Sonic and the two linked arms and began to grapple with one another. While Bunnie and Metal Sonic were duelling, Auto-Mandy finally made it back up to the top of the volcano and she tried to pounce on Bunnie Rabbot but Espio threw a shuriken at the Automaton and it struck her directly in the back. Auto-Mandy fell onto her front and before she could get back up, Vector grabbed her by the arms and proceeded to rip them out of their sockets. The Automaton shrieked at the top of her voice and then Vector smashed Auto-Mandy to pieces with one powerful punch slam to the ground. Auto-Mandy lay in pieces on the rocky surface of the volcano and Vector kicked the remains off the volcano and into the sea. But he didn't have time to celebrate his victory over the Automaton. Metal Sonic had broken free from Bunnie's grapple with him and he was furious to see Auto-Mandy destroyed. Metal Sonic charged into Vector and elbowed him straight in the gut. Vector gasped hoarsely as all the air in his lungs was sucked out of him by Metal Sonic's powerful attack. He fell on his back and grimaced, clutching his sore stomach. Metal Sonic tried to attack him again but Espio threw a shuriken at him which forced Metal Sonic to stop what he was doing and catch the shuriken before it could dissect him. Metal Sonic threw it back at Espio but the ninja-chameleon caught it in lightening speed and put it away. Espio lunged at Metal Sonic and gave him a ninja-style kick to the head and then a punch to the stomach. Metal Sonic retaliated with a ninja-kick of his own only his was harder and Espio staggered backwards. Since Metal Sonic had copied everybody's data, he had their abilities too such as Espio's ninjutsu and Knuckle's super strength. Metal Sonic and Espio both kicked each other but neither of them harmed the other and they landed back on the volcano. Metal Sonic and Espio lunged at each other and Espio gave him an upwards chop to the chin. Then Espio let him have it in the torso with both feet. Metal Sonic back flipped in the air and he landed on his feet and skidded across the hard rocky surface of the mountain. Metal Sonic picked up a rock and he threw it at the ninja chameleon but Espio just kicked the rock and broke it in two. But the rock was just a distraction and Espio found that out after Metal Sonic charged at him and gave him a sucker punch in the face. Espio stumbled and then Metal Sonic spin-dashed the chameleon, sending Espio flying into the air only to get caught by Charmy Bee before he could land anywhere painful. Charmy spun Espio around and around in the air. Seeing as Metal Sonic had copied their data, he knew exactly what they were doing so he took to the sky and flew up towards Charmy and Espio like a rocket taking off. Charmy stopped spinning Espio around and he flung the chameleon towards the oncoming Metal Sonic. Espio shot through the air like a bullet and he raised his arms, ready to land a punch on Metal Sonic. But Metal Sonic was too quick for him and he dodged the oncoming Espio. He dropkicked him and then punch slammed him straight back down into the ground. Cream flew up and caught the chameleon before he could hit the volcano and she lowered him gently down to the surface. Charmy panicked, seeing his attack didn't work and he began to fly away, not daring to take on Metal Sonic himself. But Metal Sonic was much too fast for the bee and he blasted Charmy with his torso laser. Charmy shrieked and he fell down to earth like a falling plane. Vector had recovered from Metal Sonic's earlier attack and he ran up to catch Charmy before he could crash. He leaped up with his arms stretched out as far as they would go and he caught the falling bee before he could make an unpleasant impact with the rocky surface of the volcano. Metal Sonic zoomed down towards Vector and Charmy with his claws bared. But before he could attack them from behind, Cosmo picked a rock up and threw it at Metal Sonic. The rock pinged him on the head and disrupted his dive, causing him to miss Vector and Charmy and crash face first into the ground. The impact seemed to have shaken Metal Sonic a little. After he picked himself up, his eyes were fuzzing a little and his face was full of tiny dents and scratches. Cosmo beamed to herself, her shot had been bang on target. While Metal Sonic was still recovering from that incredible attack, Espio, Vector and Charmy all punched him in the back and sent the robot flying off the volcano. Metal Sonic activated his jet booster to save himself from falling any further and he charged back towards the volcano. Bunnie Rabbot took flight and gave Metal Sonic an uppercut before he could get anywhere near the volcano. Metal Sonic spiralled in the air before regaining balance and then charging at Bunnie again.

While all this fighting had been going off, Amy had just been sitting there on her knees, petrified with shock over Sonic's "death". We all know that Sonic and friends are still alive but Amy didn't know that and the very thought of Sonic dead made Amy feel weak and numb all over. She was so shocked by this she couldn't even cry. She just stared at the ground with her eyes wide open, her mouth hanging open and still as a statue. Her hammer lay beside her.

"Sonic…is…dead?" she repeated to herself for the millionth time already "No…that…can't…be!"

While she mused to herself, Metal Sonic slammed Bunnie down on the volcano surface and then landed some punches on Vector just as the crocodile was about to smash him up in his jaws.

"How could this happen?" Amy croaked "Sonic can't be dead! I know he isn't! I don't care if Eggman says Metal Sonic drowned him and his team mates, I don't believe it. Metal Sonic maybe tough, but there's no way he'd be lucky enough to get the drop on Sonic and kill him. But what if Eggman's right?"

Unbeknownst to Amy, Metal Sonic just gave Espio an uppercut that almost knocked the chameleon out and then he blasted Charmy, who was sneaking up behind the robot duplicate, with his back laser and brought Charmy falling down. Bunnie and Vector both punched Metal Sonic in the head and Bunnie blasted him with her laser cannon. But after that shot, Bunnie fell down on knee and began panting.

"You alright Bunnie?" asked Vector.

"Ah'm fine Vector, ah'm just gettin' a little worn out." panted Bunnie "Mah robot limbs are very tiring to use after all."

"Well you rest up a moment, me and the boys will keep Metal Sonic at bay for you." said Vector.

"OK sugah." said Bunnie, creeping away from the battle and towards the petrified Amy.

Vector, Espio and Charmy continued fighting Metal Sonic while Bunnie rested herself. Cream and Cosmo were with Amy and they were staying well out of the fight since they wouldn't be much help to the others. Cosmo tried to comfort Amy but she still wouldn't snap out of her petrified stance.

"Amy, please stop musing to yourself." said Cosmo, shaking her a little "Your friends need your help right now. Metal Sonic is too tough for the Chaotix and Bunnie to take by themselves; we need you to help them."

Amy didn't move.

"Miss Rose, come on." begged Cream "We need to stop Metal Sonic and catch up to Dr. Eggman so we can get those Chaos Emeralds back."

Amy still didn't move. She remained frozen to the spot with shock. Bunnie frowned at the shocked hedgehog. She marched up to Amy, picked her up and held her up to her face.

"Listen sugah, we're fightin' for our lives here and ya'll can do is sit there grieving over Sonic and his friend's deaths!" she shouted "Do ya'll think Sonic would sit a fight out and do nothin'? No he wouldn't! Ya'll need to stop grieving right now and help us! What do you think Sonic would want you to do right now?"

That snapped Amy out of her petrified gaze. She blinked furiously and shook her head. She had finally come back down to earth and was back to reality.

"Sonic would want me to carry on fighting for him." said Amy quietly "Thanks for helping me regain my senses Bunnie."

"No problem sugah." said Bunnie, putting Amy down "Ah'm just happy helping mah friends out."

Now Amy had come back to reality, she picked up her Piko-Piko hammer and raised it above her head.

"Cream, can you fly me up into the air?" asked Amy.

"Sure Miss Rose." said Cream, taking Amy by the hand and flapping her ears.

She took to the skies and carried Amy up into the air. Metal Sonic was still brawling with Team Chaotix. Vector tried to smash him in his jaws but Metal Sonic grabbed him by the jaws, lifted him off the ground by his jaws and slammed him right on top of Espio, who was running up to attack him. Charmy flew around Metal Sonic and he tried to sting him but Metal Sonic punched Charmy away. Metal Sonic looked up at the sky and saw Cream flying above him with Amy in tow. Metal Sonic took flight and began flying up after them. Cream threw Amy into the air and Amy came hurtling down towards the oncoming Metal Sonic with her hammer raised and ready to smash him into pieces. Amy brought the hammer swinging down and she walloped Metal Sonic right on the cranium and sent the stricken robot diving back down into the ground. Cream caught Amy and lowered her down just as Metal Sonic crashed into the rocky surface. Before Metal Sonic could even get up, Amy smacked him with the hammer and sent him nearly flying over the edge.

"This is for Sonic!" shrieked Amy, running up to Metal Sonic with her hammer raised and ready to smash him to smithereens.

Metal Sonic leaped to his feet and blasted Amy in the face with his torso cannon. The hammer swinging heroine was sent hurtling backwards and landing sharply on her back. Metal Sonic picked up her hammer and walloped Cream, who was trying to attack him from behind and sent the rabbit crashing into a rock. That impact hurt Cream so much she began crying. She had horrible scrapes and thin cuts on her face after crashing into the rock. Metal Sonic threw Amy's hammer away and advanced on the downed pink hedgehog, only to get an uppercut from a fully recovered Bunnie Rabbot.

"Ya'll do not touch Amy Rose gruesome!" said Bunnie firmly "I'm gonna have to teach ya'll a lesson now!"

Metal Sonic and Bunnie both punched at each other, their fists making contact and they both skidded backwards. Bunnie extended her arm and tried to punch Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic grabbed the arm and squeezed on it with his metal claws. Then he did something he never did before. He electrocuted Bunnie Rabbot! Electricity emerged from the palm of his hands and surged up Bunnie's arm like an electrical current. Eggman had given him the data of Mecha Sonic after all so he had all the abilities of Mecha Sonic, even though he didn't use them much and now he was using Mecha Sonic's electrical attack to knock Bunnie out. Bunnie screamed at the top of her voice as electricity surged through her robotic arm and up and down her body. After a minute of shocking her, Bunnie's eyes closed and she collapsed. Amy leapt to her feet, summoned a new hammer to her hand and tried to attack Metal Sonic again but Metal Sonic dropkicked her and threw Amy into Vector, who was just running up to attack him. Then Metal Sonic grabbed the unconscious Bunnie Rabbot by her arms, took flight and carried her away. Amy got back to her feet and threw her hammer at Metal Sonic but the hammer didn't get anywhere near hitting Metal Sonic and it just fell down into the sea. Metal Sonic disappeared from sight with Bunnie Rabbot in his clutches. Amy fell onto her knees and thumped the ground as hard as she could, only to realize it was hard rocky ground and she just made her fist sore and she sucked on it to ease the pain.

"I can't believe our bad luck recently!" moaned Amy "We lose two Chaos Emeralds to Rouge the Bat, we lose one to Dr. Eggman and now Metal Sonic's just kidnapped Bunnie Rabbot! Can it get any worse?"

"I wouldn't ask that if I were you." said Charmy "Because it might get worse and we don't want that to happen do we?"

"Of course not!" snapped Amy.

"How are we going to save Bunnie Amy?" asked Cream "We're all the way in Adabat and by the time we get to Robotropolis, we'll be too late and Eggman might roboticize Bunnie!"

"We don't know until we try." said Amy "We're gonna try and catch up to Metal Sonic and get to Robotropolis in time to save Bunnie and get those Chaos Emeralds from Dr. Eggman!"

"And how exactly are we gonna do that then?" asked Vector "We can't run as fast as Sonic and we don't have a speedy mode of transport. We'll never get to Robotropolis in time!"

It then occurred to Amy that she had no idea whatsoever.

"I…don't know Vector." said Amy "I think we're stumped here."

"It certainly seems that way." said Espio "Dr. Eggman has beaten us this time."

"No he hasn't." said Amy "He may roboticize Bunnie but the researchers still have Eggman's portable roboticizer robot that Tails gave them so even if he does roboticize Bunnie, we can save her."

"I see." said Vector "But I'd much prefer to save her before she gets roboticized. Now let's stop wasting time and get off this volcano already!"

That was all Vector needed to say. Cream took Amy and Cosmo by the hands and she flew them off of Mount Adabat while Charmy carried Espio and Vector off the mountain. In order to get to shore quicker, instead of flying down the mountain and using the rowing boat, they flew all the way back to the shores. They made if there in a matter of seconds and once everybody touched down, they ran for it. Amy had no idea on what to do right now but she knew she had to get out of Adabat and get to Robotropolis as fast as possible. And as luck would have it, they came across a black hover car with no roof that appeared to be unoccupied.

"Look! A hover car!" cried Amy "We can use that to speed things up and get to Robotropolis quicker!"

"Let's just hope its fast enough." said Charmy as everybody ran over to the car.

Vector sat in the driver's seat since he could drive, Espio and Charmy sat in the passenger's seat and Amy, Cream and Cosmo sat in the back. Vector started the car and the hover whirred into life. It raised off the ground and hovered above it and then Vector sped off through the village. In no time, they left Adabat (it's a small country so it doesn't take long to drive out of it) and they were speeding off down the road and off to the Northern Border of Megapolis, the location of Eggman's robotical city, Robotropolis.

"Hang on Bunnie, we're coming!" yelled Amy as the car sped on down the road.

The Mobians didn't know if they would make it in time but Amy hoped with all her might that they would get to Robotropolis and save Bunnie Rabbot from roboticization…

Meanwhile, Metal Sonic arrived in Robotropolis with the captured Bunnie Rabbot and the delight on Dr. Eggman's face at the arrival of such a dangerous enemy was priceless. He literally squealed with joy like a five year old girl! Bunnie was one enemy he had been wanting to capture for ages since she was powerful and hard to bring down and also she was part robot so he wanted to finish her interrupted roboticization off and add her to his Robian army which had recently been on the decline what with the Mobians still using his first Portable Roboticizer to change everybody back to normal. He literally only had thirty Robians left, not that it mattered too much since his robots were just as powerful but Robians created more problems for the Mobians since they had to hold back on them so they wouldn't kill them and eliminate any chance of saving them so he wanted some more. And now Metal Sonic had captured Bunnie Rabbot for him, it looked like he was going to get a new addition to his Robian army and the one addition he'd been dying to add for months on end. To make sure the powerful cyborg rabbit wouldn't get away, Eggman chained her to a post with thick heavy chains. Her arms had been raised over her head and the chains were wrapped around her wrists, arms, thighs, ankles and waist. There were two chains that were criss-crossed around her just to add extra restraint to her. Bunnie was completely immobilized; she was going absolutely nowhere right now. When Bunnie had came to and realize she was wrapped in chains, she tried to break free but Eggman had picked very thick, strong chains and he'd wrapped so many around her she would never escape, even if she struggled for a million years. Not even Knuckles would be able to get free of so many thick chains. Bunnie stopped her pitiful struggling and she remained tight-lipped and she glared at Eggman angrily. Dr. Eggman just laughed at the powerless Rabbot that was completely at his mercy now.

"Wah, ha, ha, ha, ha!" he cackled triumphantly "Oh what a marvellous feeling this is! Sonic and some of his friends are dead and now I have Bunnie Rabbot completely at my mercy! I'm such a brilliant scientist aren't I?"

"Big deal Eggman." muttered Bunnie "It was Metal Sonic who darn caught me and ya'll know it."

Dr. Eggman stopped his merry dance and glanced despairingly at Metal Sonic who stood there silent as a statue with his eyes fixed straight ahead of him.

"Well I built Metal Sonic so the victory is mine." claimed Dr. Eggman "Now, let's get down to business shall we?"

"I suppose by "business" ya'll mean me becoming part of your gruesome robot army." said Bunnie miserably.

"Correct." said Dr. Eggman with a malevolent grin on his hideous face "I've been looking forward to this ever since you joined the Royal Fighters Service you know!"

"Ya'll ain't gonna get away with this Eggman!" said Bunnie coldly "Mah friends are gonna arrive her any moment now and then ya'll well be sorry!"

"Me? Sorry?" sneered Dr. Eggman "Never! I'm all the way over here and they're all the way in Adabat! I'm miles away from Amy and her group, they'll take hours to get here! And don't count on Sonic the Hedgehog saving you because he's dead Rabbot! Face it Bunnie, you're FINISHED at long last!"

Dr. Eggman laughed straight in Bunnie's face, sending drops of salvia flying into her beautiful green eyes. Bunnie blinked to get them out and she frowned at the cackling doctor, not bothering to say another word.

"Now let's stop wasting time and get on with this shall we?" said Dr. Eggman "Alonzo! Get me the Portable Roboticizer 3000 Mk III!"

"Yes sir, defiantly sir, right away sir!" said Alonzo excitedly, zipping off at the speed of a moped and getting the portable roboticizer.

"Mark three?" questioned Bunnie "What happened to the second one like?"

"Sonic wrecked it before I could roboticize the citizens of Knothole." said Dr. Eggman glumly, remembering his first ever encounter with Amy Rose "But since he's gone forever, he won't wreck this one."

Alonzo suddenly reappeared with Port Mk III. Like the first two Portable Roboticizer bots, it was dome shaped with four cannons but it was larger then the other two Portable Roboticizer bots and it was coloured leaf gold. Alonzo tapped a few buttons on the control pad around the back and Port's four cannons pointed straight at the tied up Bunnie Rabbot. Bunnie didn't show any signs of fear. Even though deep inside she was terrified at this, she did not want Dr. Eggman to have the satisfaction of seeing her terrified face so she kept a straight face and glared at the four-cannoned robot pointing its cannons at her, ready to blast her and roboticize her. As Port began to power up, Dr. Eggman smiled evilly at Bunnie.

"Any last words Rabbot?" he sneered.

"Not really apart from "Ah hope someone takes Sonic's place and defeats ya'll once and for all."" mumbled Bunnie.

"Sorry, I didn't hear that." said Dr. Eggman mockingly "But never mind, I think I can guess what they were. Alonzo, activate the portable roboticizer!"

"With pleasure Dr. Eggman." said Alonzo loyally.

He pressed the activate button and Port's cannons began to whir into life. The insides of the cannons began to glow brightly as the lasers were ready to blast. Bunnie closed her eyes and prepared for the inevitable. Then suddenly a blue blur appeared from nowhere and spin-dashed Port Mk III into tiny little pieces just before it could fire! Port exploded right in front of Dr. Eggman and Alonzo and the two villains were thrown off their feet. Metal Sonic somehow remained standing. Bunnie opened her eyes and realized she was still a cyborg. Then suddenly something churned through her chains from behind and they all collapsed to the ground in pieces. Bunnie was free! Dr. Eggman climbed onto his feet and got the biggest shock of his life. His moustache twisted and straightened and his glasses almost fell off his nose! Alonzo was so shocked his optics popped out of their sockets and bounced on the floor like ping-pong balls! Even Bunnie Rabbot was shocked at what she was seeing right now.

"Oh mah stars…" she gasped.

"Hey Eggman!" said the voice of none other then Sonic the Hedgehog. He had Tails the Fox, Knuckles the Echidna, Geoffrey St. John the Skunk and Wilson the Dog standing beside him with their fists bared and itching to beat Eggman up.

"If you're having a party then you should have invited us!" added Sonic, smirking at the gobsmacked scientist that lay before him, unable to believe what he had just seen…

Footnotes:

 See Story 31 for the whole showdown

* See Story 39

 See Story 29 for one of the most nail-biting climaxes ever

 In Story 13, Tails stole Eggman's portable roboticizer

* See Story 15

Eggman now has THREE Chaos Emeralds! It doesn't seem like he'll be keeping hold of them for long though since Sonic the Hedgehog is here! Will Sonic get the emeralds back? And who's going to find the last two emeralds that are left? Join me next time as Sonic dukes it out with Metal Sonic and then dukes it out with some old enemies... Read and Review.

The Grand City Showdown

Story 42: The Grand City Showdown

"Huh…wha…ga…jib…jab…gop…gip…lip…lap…whip…whap…wonk…wink…sink…sank…nick…nack…nock…hink…hank…WHHHHAAAAAAAATTTTTTTTTTT?" gibbered Dr. Eggman "HOW THE FLYING BALLS OF STEEL IS THIS POSSIBLE? Metal Sonic told me he drowned you all! You're supposed to be at the bottom of the water in Kingdom Valley Sonic!"

Sonic scoffed at him.

"Puh! You wish!" he sneered "We hid from Metal Sonic after he threw us into the water to trick him into thinking we'd drowned so you'd think we were dead! And it worked to perfection too. Metal Sonic was fooled and you were fooled Egghead. What do ya say to that fat man?"

Dr. Eggman leaped up onto his feet and a flurry and he was so angry he literally bellowed out the words as he gave the order.

"I say…METAL SONIC! KILL THEM ALL!" he roared.

Metal Sonic obeyed and he spin-dashed towards Sonic. Sonic dodged Metal Sonic's attack, leaving the metal duplicate to crash into the floor and scrape across it while in spin-dash. Metal Sonic stopped and spun around to attack Sonic but Sonic spin-dashed Metal Sonic and sent him falling onto his back. Sonic tried to spin-dash Metal Sonic again but Metal Sonic held his arms out in a cross shape and defended himself from the blow. Sonic managed to push Metal Sonic backwards a little while in spin-dash but Metal Sonic threw him away before he could overpower the vicious metal clone. Then Knuckles punched Metal Sonic in the back of the head and sent him hurtling across the room and landing slap-bang upside down into the wall. Dr. Eggman wasn't pleased with this at all.

"Metal Sonic, stop playing about and destroy them!" roared Dr. Eggman.

Metal Sonic wrenched himself free from the wall and charged towards Sonic. Sonic leaped out of the way and dropkicked him into the floor. Then Knuckles gave Metal Sonic an uppercut that sent him hurling through the air in a rainbow arch. Before he could land thought, Bunnie Rabbot gave Metal Sonic an uppercut and sent him flying back towards Knuckles. Tails flew through the air and dropkicked Metal Sonic into another wall. Metal Sonic crashed into the wall and slid down to the floor. Dr. Eggman couldn't believe his eyes. Metal Sonic, his strongest creation and most ingenious invention ever was LOSING to his most hated enemies? How was that possible?

"Hey Metal Sonic, what's the matter?" sneered Sonic "Are you getting tired? You look worn out buddy! Maybe I can give you a rest…in PIECES that is!"

Sonic leaped into the air, spun into a spin-dash and hurtled towards Metal Sonic. But Metal Sonic was ready this time. He leaped to his feet and he punched the spin-dashing Sonic away. Sonic had no idea where he was going after that attack and he accidentally crashed into Tails and knocked the fox off his feet. Sonic and Tails crashed in a heap on the floor.

"Oooh, sorry Tails." said Sonic weakly.

"That's OK Sonic." said Tails.

Metal Sonic advanced on Sonic and Tails, his claws bared and ready to kill. But Geoffrey stepped in with a karate kick to the head, sending Metal Sonic falling onto his side. Alonzo tried to interfere but Geoffrey fired a dart at Alonzo to keep him back. The dart embedded itself into Alonzo's eye and the butler bot yelped in pain. Geoffrey turned his attention back to Metal Sonic.

"I'm gonna make you and the Eggman bloke pay for tricking us with that Automaton you metal menace!" he said crossly.

But before Geoffrey could land the first punch on Metal Sonic, Metal Sonic swung round onto his back and blasted Geoffrey with his torso laser. Then he grabbed Geoffrey by the collar, took flight and carried him into the air. Then he threw the skunk straight into Wilson and the two fell onto their backs. Knuckles leaped into the air and tried to punch Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic dropkicked him on the head and sent him diving into the floor face first. Then Metal Sonic flew down and elbowed Knuckles in the back before the echidna had any time to get out of the way. Then suddenly Sonic spin-dashed Metal Sonic in the back and sent the metal clone falling onto his face. Sonic stomped on Metal Sonic's back but Metal Sonic kicked Sonic in the leg to make him overbalance and then Metal Sonic stood back up and gave Sonic an uppercut. Sonic fell straight onto his back. Metal Sonic stomped on Sonic's stomach and made Sonic wheeze loudly as if he had asthma. Tails tail-whipped Metal Sonic from behind but the attack didn't hurt Metal Sonic the slightest. Metal Sonic spun-around with a punch and walloped Tails around the face. Then he grabbed the fox into a chokehold and held him down to the floor. Tails gagged and choked hoarsely as Metal Sonic began to squeeze all the air out of his lungs.

"Help…!" he spluttered.

Sonic got back to his feet and he tried to help Tails but Metal Sonic heard him and without even turning around, he blasted him with his back laser. Sonic was thrown away from Metal Sonic and he crashed into the wall. Knuckles, Geoffrey and Wilson surrounded Metal Sonic and they prepared to pound the robot into bits and pieces. Metal Sonic glared at them all with his emotionless red eyes.

"You will all remain still or I'll rip this boy's head off." threatened Metal Sonic in his deep, booming, masculine robot voice.

Dr. Eggman was rather surprised at this sudden occurrence from Metal Sonic.

"Metal Sonic has regained his ability to speak?" he said in confusion "That's strange; I thought I reprogrammed him to be silent."

"Maybe all that fighting has knocked his voice chip back into gear." suggested Alonzo "So now he can speak again."

"Oh wow, Metal Sonic talks again." said Sonic sarcastically, picking himself off the floor "You let Tails go now!" he shouted, pointing sharply at Metal Sonic.

"Correction: I will not let Tails go." droned Metal Sonic "You will stand down or he'll die. It's your choice Sonic. Which will you pick?"

Sonic didn't know what to do. He wanted to smash Metal Sonic into pieces more then anything else but he didn't want Tails to die by the robot's claws. He watched Tails gag and choke helplessly in Metal Sonic's strong, unbreakable grasp.

"Sonic…please…help me!" cried Tails hoarsely.

"I'd love to but I don't know how." said Sonic "Metal Sonic will kill you if I make any attempts to save you but I can't surrender to him or Mobius is doomed to be a robot paradise for Eggman!"

"My, my what a dilemma my brilliant Metal Sonic has put you in eh Sonic?" crowed Dr. Eggman "Which will you pick? Your friend or your survival?"

Sonic was about to retort until suddenly the door to the chamber burst open and in charged Amy Rose, Cream the Rabbit, Cosmo the Seedrian, Vector the Crocodile, Espio the Chameleon and Charmy Bee! Dr. Eggman groaned in frustration.

"Not more people bothering me!" he moaned.

The girls and Team Chaotix ran up to Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic let go of Tails and threw him on the floor, coughing and spluttering. Amy whipped out her Piko-Piko hammer and walloped Metal Sonic as hard as she could. Metal Sonic hurled through the air and crashed straight into the ceiling! Amy smirked at her handy work and she glared at Dr. Eggman fiercely.

"Alright Eggman, if you've roboticized Bunnie Rabbot then I'm going to have to hammer your head in!" she threatened.

"Ah'm OK sugah!" cried Bunnie "Ah haven't been roboticized Amy!"

Amy turned her head to the right and she saw Bunnie Rabbot standing there and surely enough, she was still her normal self. Amy was overcome with relief to see her friend had been saved from roboticization.

"Bunnie!" she cried "You're OK! But shouldn't you have been roboticized right now?"

"She would have if I didn't save her." said Sonic "It's a good thing I decided to drop in and say hello to Eggman isn't it?"

Amy turned to the left and saw Sonic the Hedgehog standing there with his trademark grin on his face. Amy couldn't believe her eyes. She immediately charged at Sonic like a mad bull and she grasped the hedgehog into a hug before Sonic could realize what was happening. Sonic yelped as Amy squeezed the life out of him.

"Oh Sonic! You're alive!" Amy squealed at the top of her voice "Ohmigosh! I knew you weren't really dead! I knew Eggman was lying to us and I'm so glad your death was all a lie Sonic!"

"Hey Amy, nice to see you too." said Sonic feebly "Now can you do me a favour and…GET OFF ME?" he shouted at the top of his voice "Now's not the time for hugs and kisses!"

Amy let go of Sonic and giggled sheepishly.

"Sorry." she said.

"Now Eggman, if you don't mind, we'll be leaving now." said Sonic "Smell you around fat man!"

"You're not leaving yet you foolish Mobians!" snarled Dr. Eggman "Metal Sonic is still operational and he will destroy you all!"

Surely enough, Metal Sonic wrenched himself out of the ceiling and he hovered above the entire group. He glared down at his victims. Everybody bent down in a fighting stance and they prepared to battle Metal Sonic.

"Think you can take all of us?" sneered Sonic.

"I do not think I can take you all. I know I can." said Metal Sonic "I've taken you all on before and defeated you* and I'll do it again."

"We'll see about that won't we?" said Sonic snidely "Let's go everybody!"

Metal Sonic charged down at the twelve Mobians down below and the Mobians all charged at Metal Sonic. They all lunged for each other and a big fight ensued...

Meanwhile, a long way away from Robotropolis, Marik the Martian had entered the huge city known as Central City, the largest city on Mobius and he was looking for a mechanic so he could fix his voltage compactor and have the ability to electrocute people again. As he walked through the city blocks, he scowled at everything he came by. The cities on Mobius were truly a hideous sight for him. The cities did not look evil in anyway which in his books was a bad thing since on Mars, his cities looked evil and he felt that all cities should look the same way and he hated the many pedestrians that were walking through the streets are driving in their cars.

"Oooh this is a horrible city!" grumbled Marik "Is Mobius deliberately trying to look hideous to annoy me? I am so looking forward to smashing this city to pieces!"

A woman in high heels a long flowing red dress and lots of jewellery walked past him. Marik for no particular reason pushed the woman onto the road and in the path of an oncoming car. But since cars hovered above the ground, the car hurtled straight over the terrified woman. Marik grumbled to himself.

"Curse those hover cars!" he moaned "I wish that woman got run over!"

Marik passed a sweet shop and he glared at it. There were bright colourful sweets in sweet jars on display in the window and Marik hated the look of them. Bright colourful things looked repulsive to him and he couldn't stand the sight of them. Marik punched the window with his metal hand and the window shattered into a million pieces. The shopkeeper couldn't believe his eyes at what just happened. Then Marik reached into the shop and picked up a sweet jar. He smashed the sweet jar on the pavement and walked away. The pavement was littered with gobstoppers. Any unlucky pedestrians passing by tripped over the gobstoppers and fell on top of each other. One pedestrian slipped on a gobstopper and fell onto the road. And to add insult to injury, just as he was standing up, a car came and crashed into him. The pedestrian was whisked off his feet and the car swerved straight into another car and crashed into it. That set off the car's alarm and the entire block was bustling with shock at the catastrophe that had just happened. They gathered around the two destroyed cars and the injured pedestrian and began shrieking and gasping. Marik looked over his shoulder and smiled a twisted, evil, sadistic smile.

"What a splendid scene I've just caused right now." he said to himself "And I do hope someone was seriously hurt or even killed in that accident I've just caused!"

As he walked further down the block, laughing to himself, he came across a mechanic shop. He looked at the shop and realized it was exactly what he was looking for. He marched into the mechanic shop and strolled over to the counter where a woman mouse in overalls stood. She looked up from the catalogue she was reading and was pleased to see she had a new customer.

"Hello love." she said kindly "What can I do for you then?"

"I am going to kindly request for you to give me some tools so I can fix this." said Marik, holding out his hand and showing her his cracked voltage compactor.

The woman looked at the palm of Marik's robotic hand and hummed to herself.

"I have just the thing." she said "Wait here."

She emerged from behind the counter and she disappeared into the warehouse around the back. A short minute later, she reappeared with a red tool box and she plonked it down onto the counter.

"I don't know which tools you need so I got a selection of tools and you can just pick the ones you need."

Marik opened the toolbox and he rummaged through the gazillions of tools in the box. Marik pulled out a screwdriver and some bolts. Be used the screwdriver to unscrew the screws on his metal hand and he removed the broken voltage compactor. He put the compactor on the counter and he began to fumble about with the wires in his hand. The woman watched him, bemused at the sight of a stranger with a metal hand standing there and trying to fix it.

A while later, Marik had replaced all the wires in the palm of his hand with new wires and he hooked them all up so now electricity was crackling through his fingers again. He put the dome back on the palm of his hand and he screwed the dome back on with the screwdriver. Then Marik used some super glue to cover up all the cracks in the dome and get all the pieces back together. He waited for a moment as the glue dried up. Once the glue had dried up he put all the tools back in the box and he closed the box. He gleamed at his repaired hand.

"You finished love?" asked the woman.

"Almost, I need to test it first." said Marik.

He then pointed a finger as sharp as a spear tip at the woman and a brilliant surge of blue electricity shot out of his finger like a bullet shooting out of the gun barrel. The woman was stricken by the shock and electricity surged up and down her body. She screamed loud enough for the whole street to hear her. Marik kept this painful ordeal up for a whole minute before stopping and letting the woman have a breather. He smiled again at his repaired hand.

"It's fixed!" he said wickedly "How marvellous! I can electrocute people again! Now I've fixed my problem, I think I'll go and look for one of the other Chaos Emeralds that need finding. I hope no one else has beaten me to it."

Marik left the mechanic shop and strolled down the street. He had no idea where he was going to find a Chaos Emerald so he was just going to search anywhere. Somehow, he had a feeling there was an emerald hiding in this very city. And unbeknownst to him…there was! A cyan Chaos Emerald was hiding in the gutter of an apartment block just two blocks away from where Marik currently was. The Chaos Emerald wasn't glowing very brightly so anyone passing by would not see that there was a Chaos Emerald hiding in the gutter of that apartment. But that didn't mean nobody would be finding it…

Back in Robotropolis, the fight in Eggman's base was complete madness. Sonic and friends had put up their best efforts and somehow, Metal Sonic still remained on top. Sonic spin-dashed Metal Sonic as hard as he could but the robot duplicate was holding his own against him and retaliating with his own spin-dashes which were much harder then Sonic's due to him being metal. Sonic tried a roundhouse kick on Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic grabbed the hedgehog's foot and then began to swing him around as if he was throwing the hammer for the Olympics. His entire torso section rotated around and around in a perfect 360 degree spin and he was spinning around so fast, he and Sonic became a great big blue blur, much bigger then the blur Sonic becomes when he runs at supersonic speed. Everybody made the smart choice and stood back as Metal Sonic continued swinging Sonic around like a hammer throw. Then finally, Metal Sonic tossed Sonic straight into the ceiling and Sonic crashed straight through it! But he didn't stop there, he crashed through another floor of the base and then another and another (The base is twenty stories high so if Sonic keeps going he's got a long way to go until he gets to the top floor!) before finally coming to a halt on the sixth floor. He shot through the floor and crashed into the wall and that's when he finally halted. Sonic lay against the wall, groaning like a ghoul. Back on the ground floor, Amy and Bunnie both tried to attack Metal Sonic together but he leaped up and did a perfect split kick and kicked them both over onto their backs. Amy quickly recovered and she tried to smack Metal Sonic with her hammer but Metal Sonic blasted the hammer with his torso laser and the hammer was reduced to pieces. Amy gaped at this. Nobody had ever managed to destroy her hammer before so this was a shock to her. Metal Sonic advanced on Amy menacingly but Bunnie leaped up and gave him an uppercut from behind and the metal duplicate fell flat on his face. Before Metal Sonic could get up, Bunnie grabbed him by the legs and tossed him over to Knuckles. Knuckles jumped up and punched Metal Sonic as hard as he could and sent him crashing into the floor. Vector grabbed Metal Sonic and then slam dunked him on the floor like a basketball being slammed through a hoop. Then Vector was about to smash Metal Sonic up in his enormous jaws but Metal Sonic kicked him in the jaws before he could clamp them around him. Vector gripped his sore jaws and grimaced. A tooth fell out of his jaw and landed with a clatter on the floor. Then Metal Sonic pounced on Vector and back flipped in midair. In doing so, he kicked Vector and sent the crocodile staggering backwards. Espio threw some shuriken at Metal Sonic and for once, he actually hit him but they just pinged harmlessly off his armour. Espio was dumbstruck. How can Metal Sonic be too tough for his shuriken? His shuriken can cut through anything! Metal Sonic charged at Espio and gave the chameleon a ninja style punch to the face. Espio kicked him ninja style but Metal Sonic blocked the blow with his arm and then he blasted Espio with his torso laser. Knuckles pounced on Metal Sonic from behind and he threw Metal Sonic into the floor. Knuckles then tried to land a powerful punch on Metal Sonic but Metal Sonic blocked the punch and threw Knuckles away. Charmy Bee flew up from behind and he punched Metal Sonic in the back of the head. Then Charmy stung Metal Sonic but his stinger didn't penetrate his armour in anyway. It was just too tough. Metal Sonic clasped his fists together; jumped up to height Charmy was flying at and brought both his fists slamming sharply down on the bee's head. The attack didn't hurt Charmy's head much due to his helmet but after the punch slam from Metal Sonic, he crashed into the floor. Cream and Tails then began flying around Metal Sonic like frantic flies in an attempt to distract him while Geoffrey loaded his crossbow and aimed it at Metal Sonic. Geoffrey fired a dart at Metal Sonic but it just pinged off his armour harmlessly. Cream and Tails both kicked Metal Sonic together and they sent him flying down to the floor. Metal Sonic landed on his feet, only to get knocked off them by a flying kick from Geoffrey. Geoffrey fired a dart at Metal Sonic's eye and again, the dart pinged harmlessly off his armour. Metal Sonic grabbed Geoffrey by the arm and he yanked on it, bringing the skunk down on his stomach. Geoffrey pulled on his arm, which Metal Sonic was still holding, and Metal Sonic was brought down on the floor. Geoffrey got back to his feet and he kicked Metal Sonic to the side. He fired another dart but once again, the dart pinged harmlessly off his armour. Metal Sonic got back to his feet and he kicked Geoffrey in the face. Wilson the Dog ran up behind Metal Sonic and he rammed him with his shoulder. Then he began to furiously punch Metal Sonic in the face, not slowing down and giving him a chance to fight back.

"This. is. for. Mandy!" yelled Wilson with every punch he threw.

Metal Sonic had had enough of Wilson punching him and he blasted him away with his torso laser. Tails flew down to Metal Sonic like a missile aiming at its target but Metal Sonic jumped out of the fox's way and kick-slammed him down into the floor. Cream tried to do the same thing but Metal Sonic kick slammed her into the floor as well! But before Metal Sonic could hurt Tails and Cream, Sonic recovered from Metal Sonic's epic ceiling smash earlier and he leaped through the six holes he had made while going through the ceiling, bounced off the floor in a spin-dash and struck Metal Sonic in the side. Metal Sonic hurtled into the floor and landed on his side. Metal Sonic leapt back onto his feet and he and Sonic spin-dashed each other. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo had been watching the entire fight and they were cheering for Metal Sonic.

"Come on Metal Sonic! You can do it!" cried Dr. Eggman.

"Beat that hedgehog into submission!" cried Alonzo.

As for Cosmo, she had been staying out of the fight since she knew she would be of no help to anybody right now. She kept cheering for the Mobians as their fight raged on and on.

"Come on Sonic, you can do it." said Cosmo "I know you can."

Sonic grabbed Metal Sonic by the shoulders just as the metal duplicate was flying towards him and he threw Metal Sonic down into the floor. Then Sonic spin-dashed Metal Sonic as hard as he could. Metal Sonic flew into the air and landed painfully on his head. He hit the floor so hard his head nearly snapped clean off its socket! Metal Sonic lay on the floor, wondering which way was up. Sonic stood triumphant over him with everybody else standing behind him.

"Finally, I beat you Metal Sonic!" he puffed "You put up a great fight buddy but now this fight is over!"

"Negative." droned Metal Sonic "The fight is not over. It is over when the weakest falls and that'll be you."

"Pfft! Seriously?" jeered Sonic "You really think that I'm gonna fall when you're clearly the weaker opponent right now?"

"Affirmative." said Metal Sonic "And you will all fall for I have one of your most powerful moves ever copy."

Metal Sonic leapt to his feet and began to run around everybody in a great big circle. Sonic's quills shook. He knew what was coming. It was his signature Sonic Tornado move! Metal Sonic ran around everybody at top speed. He became a big blue blur spinning around the group of Mobians that were powerless to do anything and a big tornado began to build up around them. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo watched this performance with interest whereas Cosmo watched with horror. Eggman had seen Sonic do this before but he had never seen Metal Sonic do it before. Metal Sonic's tornado was a big blue swirling wind that reached the ceiling and everybody was swept off their feet and spun around in the swirling wind that Metal Sonic was creating. They spun around and around until finally the tornado drifted away and everybody was thrown across the room and sent crashing into the wall on the other side of the room. That impact clearly shook everybody for as they all laid there groaning. Metal Sonic stopped running around and he glared happily at his defeated victims. Cosmo ran over to the injured Mobians and knelt down beside Sonic and Tails, who lay there beside one another.

"Are you OK?" asked Cosmo nervously.

"Not after that Sonic Tornado." grunted Sonic "I was hoping Metal Sonic was never going to use it, it's one of my most powerful moves ever."

"I don't know about you Sonic but I think we should flee for our lives." said Tails, trying to get up but pain flooded up his legs so he remained on the floor "I'm not in fighting condition right now."

"I feel a little weak myself." said Sonic, reluctant to admit it "If we try to fight again, Metal Sonic will spin-dash us to bits."

"You're not going anywhere!" said Dr. Eggman loudly "You're all going in my roboticizer chamber! Metal Sonic, seize them all!"

Metal Sonic tried to obey his master and do so but after moving one step, he collapsed onto the floor and shut off. His red eyes faded away into the blackness of his visor. Dr. Eggman grumbled to himself.

"Puh! All that fighting has worn Metal Sonic ragged!" he groaned "He's too tired to fight anymore! Oh well, Alonzo get him out of here before someone tries to attack him."

Alonzo zipped over to Metal Sonic's shut-down body and quickly carried the robot Sonic clone out of the room. The door closed behind him so nobody would be able to follow him. Dr. Eggman turned back to his captives.

"Since Metal Sonic is unable to apprehend you all, I shall get my robot army to do it instead." said Dr. Eggman.

"You'll have to catch us first Egg-Brains!" said Sonic, staggering onto his feet and running out of the door as fast as he could.

Everybody else picked themselves up and ran for their lives. Dr. Eggman got furious and he ran out of the door after them and bellowed at the top of his voice.

"GET THEM MY EGGMAN ROBOT ARMY!"

The army of Eggman robots that patrolled around Robotropolis stopped what they were doing and they spotted Sonic and his eleven friends running for it as fast as they could. They all aimed their weapons at the weakened Mobians and began to open fire. The Mobians jumped and ducked as laser blasts began to shower all over them. Even though he was a little weakened, Sonic managed to spin-dash a couple of robots into submission and hit a robot's gun to the side so it accidentally shot another robot instead. The Mobians all ran to the left and ran up to the iron fences that surrounded Eggman's entire city. The only thing left for them to do was get over the fence and since they had Mobians with flying capabilities, this was not a problem. Tails took Sonic and Knuckles by the hand and, with great strain due to being weakened, managed to carry them both over the fence. Cream carried Amy and Cosmo over the fence, Charmy carried Espio and Vector over the fence and Bunnie carried Geoffrey and Wilson over the fence. The robots got mad at the fact the just failed to capture Sonic and friends and they all stomped off to report their failure to Dr. Eggman.

As for the Mobians, they ran a good distance away from Robotropolis before finally settling down behind some rocks to rest for a minute before moving on. The beaten and weakened Mobians all collapsed onto their bottoms and panted heavily.

"Man I can't believe it!" puffed Sonic "We almost defeated Metal Sonic! We were this close to defeating him and he still got the best of us!"

"Metal Sonic's a tough robot after all." said Tails "He has all our data so he'll have all our abilities such as your speed and moves, Knuckle's strength and Espio's ninja techniques. He's going to be tough to beat."

"You don't say." said Sonic "Now since we're safe and sound, it's time for a better meet and greet I think." he turned to Amy and said "Hi Amy, good to see you again and it's good to see everybody who was on your team again."

"It's good to see you again too Sonic." said Amy happily "Especially since you and your team are not dead."

"I guess Eggman told you we were dead didn't he?" said Sonic "Well Eggman was fooled and so was Metal Sonic. Metal Sonic threw us all in the water and we hid ourselves so he thought we drowned and it worked to perfection. Metal Sonic totally fell for it!"

"That was unusually cunning for you Sonic." said Espio "You're smarter then most people think you are."

"It was actually Tails' idea." said Sonic truthfully "And it was a good idea too since it worked so well."

"By the way Sonic, where's the real Mandy Mouse?" asked Amy "Eggman told us he used an Automaton to trick you and by that, I guess he meant the Mandy with you was a fake all along so where's the real one?"

"Eggman claims she's dead." said Sonic grimly, his answer gaining a gasp in response from Amy "But I don't believe that. I'm sure Mandy must be alive."

"I'm totally in agreement." said Wilson "I can feel it in my bones my friend is alive."

"If I ever get the chance, I'll sneak into Eggman's lab and see if I can find out if Mandy is alive or not." said Espio.

"That sounds great Espio." said Sonic "So, how did your team do with your Chaos Emerald hunt Amy?" he asked, turning to Amy.

"Terrible." said Amy "We found Marik and he had your green Chaos Emerald and a yellow Chaos Emerald and we lost them both to Rouge the Bat, don't worry she won't do anything bad with them."

"That's a relief." sighed Knuckles "I can never trust that bat with powerful gems after all."

Amy nodded and continued

"And then we found the red Chaos Emerald in a volcano but Eggman stole it off us!" she cried.

"We didn't do so well either." said Sonic "We found the blue Chaos Emerald in a pirate's treasure chest and we lost the green Chaos Emerald to Marik, whom apparently lost it to Rouge according to you, and we found the purple Chaos Emerald but Auto-Mandy got the drop on us and gave it to Dr. Eggman and then Metal Sonic stole the blue Chaos Emerald off us and gave it to Dr. Eggman*!"

"Oh dear." said Cream sadly "We've both had a stroke of bad luck haven't we? Both of us have no Chaos Emeralds."

"Not for long Cream." said Sonic "Because once we're ready to fight again, I'm going into Eggman's base and getting those three Chaos Emeralds back from him! And there's two Chaos Emeralds left to find so this hunt isn't over yet."

"I still have the emerald tracker." said Amy, pulling the tracker out of her pocket "So we'll be able to find the other two Chaos Emeralds. I wonder where we'll find them."

Before Sonic could answer Amy's question, he felt something vibrate against his wrist. It was his communicator that he wore so Castle Acorn could inform him of anything bad going on. Sonic pulled the communicator out of his glove and answered it.

"Hello?" he asked.

"Sonic, it's Nicole here." came the voice of none other then Sally's lady-in-waiting and friend Nicole the Lynx "Marik the Martian has been sighted in Central City and he's causing chaos! We need you to capture him quickly before he causes any serious damage to the city!"

"OK Nicole, I'll be on my way." said Sonic, switching the communicator off.

He sighed loudly.

"As if this day couldn't get any worse, Metal Sonic beats us to a pulp and now we have to apprehend Marik the Martian!" he groaned "And we're not the least bit fit enough to fight and defeat him!"

"Who says we aren't?" snapped Knuckles, getting up to his feet and flexing his muscles "Metal Sonic may have given us a good beating but we're still in fighting condition! Aren't we?"

"Yeah!" everybody yelled in unison while standing back up.

Sonic was surprised at this. Despite the heavy beating everybody had received from Metal Sonic, they still had enough energy in them to go after Marik the Martian and bring him down. Surprisingly enough, his friend's determination to bring Marik down brought new strength to him and he got back onto his feet as if the fight with Metal Sonic never happened.

"OK then, if you're ready to kick some Martian butt then so am I!" said Sonic, cracking his knuckles "Come on gang, we've got a city to save and a Martian to put back in jail!"

Sonic charged off at his trademark speed with everybody else following him. Unbeknownst to the group, while they had been talking to each other, Dr. Eggman had been spying on them with a little robot camera just to see what they were planning on doing next. Unfortunately for Sonic, he had found out where two of the four Chaos Emeralds he had left to find were. Eggman smiled evilly to himself.

"So according to Amy, Rouge the Bat has two Chaos Emeralds?" he said to himself "Now isn't that interesting? And since Sonic's off to Central City, he'll have no idea on what I'm doing right now so he won't be able to interfere as I steal Rouge's emeralds from her!"

"How do you expect to find them though master?" asked Alonzo "Rouge could be anywhere right now and Metal Sonic isn't in fighting condition to fight Rouge and get the emeralds off her."

"I know that." said Dr. Eggman "Which is why I'm taking one of my three Chaos Emeralds with me." he said proudly, holding up the purple Chaos Emerald he'd stolen from Sonic in Kingdom Valley "Chaos Emeralds glow brighter when they are near other emeralds so I'll find Rouge's Chaos Emeralds easily!"

"But how are we going to stop Rouge from getting them back?" asked Alonzo "Like I said before, Metal Sonic isn't in fighting condition."

"Oh don't you worry Alonzo, I have a sneaky trick up my sleeve." said Dr. Eggman, grinning like an ogre "And that trick will grant me those emeralds!"

"And once we get Rouge's emeralds, we'll only have two left to find." said Alonzo excitedly "Oh this emerald hunt is going to end in victory for us!"

"It certainly is Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman happily "Get ready to go because we're leaving in two minutes."

"Yeeeeeeeeesssss sir!" said Alonzo happily, zipping out of the control room at great speed, leaving Dr. Eggman alone in the control room to stroke his moustache and smile happily to himself.

The fat man could just picture those two emeralds in his hands right now and without Sonic to bother him, getting those emeralds from Rouge would be like taking sweets from a baby…

Marik had done quite a considerable lot of damage to Central City after fixing his metal hand. He had electrocuted many innocent pedestrians and thrown them onto the road or into a building, broken cars by punching them and energy waving them to finish them off and now he was seeing to bringing buildings down to the ground by energy waving them and punching cars into them. Marik could punch hard enough to reduce a table to splinters just like he did the time he got defeated by Cosmo and Cream so a car was no challenge for him. He just pushed the car around until its front was facing the building he was aiming at and then he punched it from behind with his metal hand and sent the car crashing into it. The result was the car was smashed and reduced to mangled and scrunched up metal and the wall to a building fell down. To Marik, all this malice and mayhem was just playtime for him. Marik had been causing so much damage and terror to Central City the entire population of the city decided to evacuate the city. All but a quarter of the population actually made it out of the city and to safety. The quarter of the population that didn't make it either got killed by Marik's rampage or rushed off to a hospital in another place if they had managed to make it out alive or not get killed at all. Marik didn't mind though, seeing people running away and feeling for their lives was a lot of fun for him and it gave him a great feeling of power and pride to see he was striking fear into the hearts of thousands of people. All this rampaging and carnage he was causing reminded him heavily of the Martian-Seedrian war that was going on back on the Seedrian home planet. He had caused a lot of damage to the cities on the Seedrian planet and he struck fear into the hearts of many Seedrians and all this damage he was doing was giving him that same feeling. After punching another car into a building, Marik laughed maliciously and demonically. It was a laugh that would make you clutch your ears in pain due to how loud and grating it was and it would definitely make you shake with fear if he started laughing like that from behind your back.

"Carnage! Destruction! Malice! Mayhem!" cackled Marik "This is what I LIVE FOR ! I'm so gonna enjoy destroying all the other cities on this poor excuse for a planet!"

Marik eyed something he could attack. He had eyed a nice, smart looking petrol station not far from the carnage he'd be causing and it was in fine condition. But it wouldn't be for long. Marik aimed his metal hand at the gas station and he fired five brilliant bolts of electricity at the petrol station. His powerful electrical attacks had caused a lot of damage to the petrol tanks in the station and now they were leaking petrol. Then Marik grabbed another car by the door and pulled it to the side so it was in line with the petrol station. He ran behind the car and drew his arm back. Then he punched the car in the middle of the boot with full force and sent the abandoned vehicle hurling towards the petrol station. The car crashed into the petrol station and the leaking petrol ignited due to the sparks caused by the crash and the whole station exploded into an enormous ball of fire and smoke that shot straight up into the air. Marik watched the whole thing with sadistic enjoyment and he laughed and clapped like a maniac. Cosmo had said he loved blowing things up and blowing up that petrol station definitely entertained him gravely.

And as if Marik destroying Central City was bad enough, more trouble was on its way. A familiar looking spaceship had landed on top of a flat roofed building and its occupants had stepped out of the ship and into the open air to cause trouble. And those occupants were none other then the mysterious robotic duo Horda and Borda! Sonic had met them twicebefore* when they had come to Mobius to cause massive amounts of damage due to the fact they were destruction lovers and they had been defeated both times. Horda and Borda had returned yet again presumably to try and destroy Mobius' cities but to their dismay, the city they had landed in had already been damaged. They surveyed the destruction that Marik had been causing with interest.

"Well, well, well." said Horda in his gravel voice "It appears someone has beaten us to it and has caused a lot of damage to this city. It appears to be evacuated, there are cars all over the place and there are buildings that have crumbled or just been damaged."

"Who in the universe has the kind of power to do that kind of damage?" shrieked Borda.

"Beats me." said Horda "But now we're here, we can help that person finish off destroying the city. I just hope Sonic won't be here to ruin everything again!" he added with a growling sigh.

Horda and Borda turned around and they stepped over the edge of the building they had just parked on with their fronts facing the wall. They dug their claws into the wall and they began to slowly climb down the building. They wrenched their claws free from the building and dug them in to the wall further down as they climbed down the building. But they didn't climb down very far before Borda suddenly noticed something gleaming from an apartment block next-door to the building he and Horda were climbing down.

"Hey Horda! Hey Horda! There's something shiny over there!" cried Borda, pointing at the gleaming thing while he held onto the wall with his other hand.

Horda looked in Borda's direction and spotted the shiny thing he was pointing at. Horda narrowed his optics and his vision zoomed in onto the object. It was glowing faintly and it was resting in a gutter on the apartment block. Horda scanned the object to see if it was anything of interest. To his surprise, the scans were reading high levels of energy coming from the object. This meant the object in the gutter must have great power and if it had great power, Horda and Borda could use its great power to cause destruction to Mobius' biggest cities. Horda and Borda began to crawl sideways across the wall and towards the apartment block. The two robots edged closer and closer to the apartment block until finally they reached it and they climbed up the wall and towards the gutter at the top. They didn't have a long climb since the gutter was only seven feet above them. They climbed up to the gutter and they peered into it. What the saw in the gutter was truly a strange sight for them. The glowing object they had scanned was a cyan coloured emerald. A Chaos Emerald for that matter but they didn't know that since they had not read a thing about the Chaos Emeralds when studying Mobius' cities. Horda grabbed the emerald and lifted it out of the gutter. Then he and Borda proceeded to climb down the apartment block and onto the pavement below. Unfortunately for them, Marik the Martian spotted them just as they were climbing down and he spotted the Chaos Emerald in Horda's hand. Marik however didn't immediately charge at them and snatch the emerald from Horda's hand, he decided to stay put and wait for the right moment to strike. Horda and Borda finally made it to the ground and they stepped onto the pavement. Horda and Borda stared at the emerald with awe. Then suddenly Borda began shaking furiously as he stared at the emerald.

"Holy nuclear explosions Horda!" shrieked Borda "That thing's energy level reads over nine-thousand on my scanners!"

"This emerald definitely seems powerful doesn't it Borda?" said Horda "In fact, I can feel this tingle of energy in my circuits as I hold it!"

"Maybe we should use that thing's power to destroy Mobius' cities." suggested Borda "Who knows how much damage we're gonna cause when we use that thing?"

"I bet we'll level the entire PLANET with this emerald, never mind just their cities." said Horda evilly "Let's see how powerful it…"

Then suddenly Marik struck and he fired a brilliant jolt of electricity at Horda's back. Horda roared in pain and he flung the emerald up into the air as he swung his arms around. The emerald hurtled up into the air and then it began diving down to the ground. Marik stopped electrocuting Horda and he leaped into the air and caught the emerald before it could crash into the road. Marik landed on his feet and he stared at the emerald he held in his hands. Horda recovered from Marik's sudden attack and he snarled at the Martian that was holding his Chaos Emerald. Borda began shaking with fear. He shook so much his armour was quivering and all the nuts and bolts keeping him together rattled like pennies being jingled in someone's shaking hand.

"Oh ho, ho! It appears we have a Martian to deal with!" snarled Horda, whipping out his flame troches and igniting them "I've always hated Martians and their war loving ways!"

Marik scoffed at the two robots standing before him.

"I can't say I'm fond of your race either Cygnus-bot scum!" growled Marik, shoving the Chaos Emerald into his pocket "Cygnus-bots are a waste of space in the galaxy and I hope they all get wiped out by some brilliant alien race like those conquest hungry Devatrons or something."

"Right! That is it!" bellowed Horda "You burn now Martian! Come on Borda, let's show that Martian what happens to people who mess with us!"

"Are you crazy?" squeaked Borda "I'm not taking HIM on! He's a Martian and Martians are war-loving, demonic and deadly! I'll be reduced to scrap metal if I take him on!"

Horda growled at his skittish little minion. Borda quickly deployed his saw blades and said

"On second thoughts…I'll help you fight him."

Marik bent down into a battle ready stance and he prepared to attack. Horda and Borda did the same thing and their weapons activated. Horda's torches blazed away like a bonfire and Borda's saw blades spun at top speed, their deadly teeth becoming nothing more then blurs as they spun. But before anyone could launch the first blow, Sonic the Hedgehog and friends arrived on the scene just in time to witness the three about to fight. Sonic's eyes widened in surprise at the sight of two more enemies for he and his friends to deal with.

"Horda and Borda?" he blurted "Oh man! This day just gets better and better doesn't it?"

"Who are those two then?" asked Knuckles "Eggman robots?"

"No." said Tails "They're from a different planet altogether and they have a strange fascination over destroying cities. They're nowhere near as dangerous as Marik though since me and Sonic beat them twice already but they're still ones to look out for."

"We'll see about that mate!" said Geoffrey, loading his crossbow and firing it at Horda.

The dart pinged off Horda's right shoulder and the tall, hunchbacked robot turned to the right to see Sonic and friends standing there, ready to fight them. Marik saw them and groaned.

"Oh for the love of Hailey's Comet!" he moaned "Can't Sonic and his band of playschool buddies leave me alone for one minute?"

"Ah'll show ya'll playschool buddy gruesome!" shouted Bunnie, flying towards Marik and landing a tremendous punch on Marik's face with her robotic left arm.

Marik hurled into the air like a rag doll and he landed painfully on his back. The impact however was so hard, the Chaos Emerald fell out of Marik's pocket and it rolled across the road with a noisy clatter. Bunnie spotted the emerald and she extended her robot arm so she could grab it. She scooped up the cyan coloured gem and she retracted her arm so she could look at it. Her eyes widened in surprise at the gem in her metal hand.

"Oh mah stars!" she exclaimed "Marik has found another Chaos Emerald!"

"You what?" blurted Sonic, running over to the Rabbot.

Bunnie showed him the Chaos Emerald she had retrieved from Marik. Sonic stared at it in amazement and he took the gem out of Bunnie's hand.

"Well it's a good thing we DID come here to stop Marik from wrecking Central City isn't it?" exclaimed Sonic "Marik found a Chaos Emerald!"

"Incorrect." said Horda "WE found the Chaos Emerald first but the Martian stole it off us! Now give it back and I promise you'll walk out of this city without any injury of any sort!"

"No deal ugly!" yelled Sonic, leaping up and spinning into a spiky ball "I owe you two a headache for the past times we've met!"

He charged at Horda in a spin-dash and he hit him directly in the head. The hunchbacked robot was sent hurtling backwards in a somersault and he landed on his back. Then Sonic spin-dashed Borda and knocked the little robot over. Sonic landed on his feet and he threw the Chaos Emerald over to Cosmo. Cosmo ran forward and caught the Chaos Emerald in her hands.

"Take that Chaos Emerald and hide somewhere where you'll be safe and out of danger!" ordered Sonic "We'll take care of the three stooges!"

"OK Sonic." said Cosmo "Please be careful and save the city from Marik and those two robot things."

Cosmo turned around and ran like a rabbit. Marik saw her trying to get away and he fired a jolt of electricity at her but Cosmo was too far away and his electrical attacks had limited range so he failed to hit her. Marik tried to run after her but Bunnie Rabbot seized him by the collar and threw him into a building as hard as she could.

"Ya'll leave little Cosmo alone you ugly old gargoyle!" yelled Bunnie.

Marik wrenched himself free from the wall Bunnie had thrown him into and he fired a bolt of electricity at her. Bunnie dodged the jolt and she converted her arm into a cannon and she blasted at Marik. Marik swiped the air with his arm and sent an energy wave hurtling into Bunnie's cannon blast and stopping it dead in its tracks. Bunnie lunged forward but Marik dropkicked her in the forehead and then gave her an uppercut to the chin that made the Rabbot stagger backwards. Geoffrey then tackled Marik from behind with a kick to the back. He grabbed Marik in a chokehold and held him there. Marik tried to get free from Geoffrey's hold but the skunk held on tight. He had Marik pinned down in a position where he couldn't electrocute him or do anything to free himself from his tough grasp. Sonic could see that Bunnie and Geoffrey seemed to have things under control now but he knew that it would take more then the two of them to contain Marik and yet they needed to take down Horda and Borda as well.

"Hey guys and gals, I have a plan!" cried Sonic "We need the strongest to take down Marik so me, Bunnie, Geoffrey, Knuckles and Team Chaotix will deal with Marik. Amy, you, Tails, Cream and Wilson take on Horda and Borda!"

"No problem Sonic!" said Amy, whipping out her Piko-Piko hammer and holding it out "Come on Tails, Cream and Wilson, we have robots to smash!"

"I've never seen those two before but I'll help you smash them." said Wilson, pulling his a capsule off his belt and pressing a button on it.

The capsule expanded to twice its length and two blades unsheathed from within the pole. It was his trademark spinning blade weapon which he had used on many battles, especially his and Mandy's mission in Grand Metropolis the other month. Wilson charged at Horda and he threw the spinning blade at Horda. The long sharp weapon spun around like a boomerang and he chipped Horda across the head just above the spikes above his visor. Horda screeched but he recovered and he lunged at Wilson with his flaming torches. The spinning blade returned to Wilson and he lunged at Horda. The two crossed weapons and they pushed on each other in an attempt to overpower one another. Then suddenly, Tails kicked Horda from behind whilst flying and Horda almost fell flat on his face. Horda swiped at Tails with his blazing torches but he missed and Tails kicked him in the face. Then Wilson stabbed Horda in the thigh with his spinning blade. Horda roared in pain and he swiped at Wilson, his flaming torches just singing him above the ear. Wilson yelped and he pulled the blade out of Horda's thigh and gripped his ear. Tails grabbed Horda by the spikes above his visor and he pulled on them. Horda clipped both his torches together to form a double sided torch just so he could use one of his hands to sucker punch Tails in the face. Tails cried in pain and he fell to the ground on his back. Horda took the opportunity to stomp on Tails' stomach as hard as he could. Tails wheezed loudly as Horda's three clawed foot slammed down on his stomach. Then Horda held one side of the double sided torch close to Tails' face and prepared to burn the fox alive. Wilson ran up to Horda and he threw the spinning blade like a javelin at Horda and the weapon plunged straight into Horda's back. Horda roared like a lion that had been shot by a hunter and he stepped away from Tails as he reached behind himself to pull the weapon out. Wilson leaped into the air and landed a kung-fu like kick on Horda's head, knocking the robot over onto his side. Wilson then yanked the weapon out of Horda's back and he tried to plunge it into the robot's chest but Horda blocked the blow with his double-sided torch and he made a sudden jerk on the torch that ended up flinging Wilson's weapon out of his hand! The spinning blade landed on the road and Horda gave Wilson a terrific uppercut that almost felt as hard as Metal Sonic's. Tails got back to his feet and he flew around Horda in an attempt to distract him but Horda smacked him with the hard side of the torch and sent the fox hurtling into the ground. Wilson retrieved his weapon and he and Horda crossed weapons again. They pushed on each other to try and force the other onto the ground and break free of the struggle so they could finish the opponent off.

As for Borda, he was not doing so well. He remembered what Amy did to him they last time they met and he was practically wetting himself at the fact he now had to face her again. Amy swiped at him with her hammer but Borda dodged the blow, leaped up and kicked Amy on the nose. Amy staggered backwards and she rubbed her sore nose. This gave Borda the opportunity to slash at her with his saw blades. He clipped her on the shoulder and slightly trimmed one of her quills in the process. A thin cut appeared on Amy's shoulder and blood began to trickle out of it. Amy ignored the pain in her shoulder long enough to wallop Borda in the face with her hammer. Cream grabbed Borda by the arms and using her long floppy ears, she flew up into the sky whilst carrying Borda. She then proceeded to drop Borda and the little robot fell back down to earth but before he could land on the pavement, Amy walloped him with her hammer. Borda hurtled through the air like a tossed stone and he landed sharply on his side. The impact bent his shoulder pad and left nasty scratch marks and dents all down his arm and side. Borda came to a halt and he groaned loudly. Amy and Cream ran up to Borda and they stood over him with stern looks on their faces. Borda stared up at them fearfully. He looked like he was about to have a robot's equivalent of a heart attack.

"Right Borda, are you going to stand down and be a good little robot or do I have to turn you into a metal pancake?" asked Amy coldly. Her face was as dark as a thundercloud.

"I surrender!" screamed Borda, putting his hands up but remaining sitting down "I surrender! Please don't hurt me! I won't hurt you anymore!"

"Well that's nice." said Cream "Borda's being a considerate little robot and standing down. Pity not all people are that nice."

"Yeah pity." said Amy "We'd bring deadly villains like Marik or Scourge down a lot easier if they surrendered themselves."

"So what do we do now Miss Rose?" asked Cream "Should we help the others?"

"No Cream, we're staying here and making sure Borda doesn't try anything funny." said Amy firmly, shoving her hammer in Borda's frightened face.

Borda whimpered and shook at the sight of the hammer.

As for Marik, he was having a tough time but he was somehow managing to hold his own out there. Marik gave Bunnie and Geoffrey a kick to the head each and then he gave Charmy Bee an uppercut just as the bee was sneaking up behind him, only to receive an uppercut from Vector afterwards. Marik staggered and fell onto his knees. Espio roundhouse kicked him in the cut before he could get up and then he punched Marik towards Knuckles who was itching to give him a punch. Knuckles punched Marik in the head and the Martian hurled into the road. Marik bared his teeth and roared like a jaguar. He pointed a finger as sharp as a sword at Knuckles and blasted him with a quick jolt of electricity. Knuckles flew backwards and hit a building but the echidna didn't seem too affected by the attack. Marik then picked up an enormous chunk of debris that was lying on the road and he threw it straight up into the air. Then, before the debris could land back down on the road, Marik roundhouse kicked it towards Knuckles. Knuckles drew back his arm and then he punched the debris as it hurtled towards him. The chunk of debris was reduced to even more debris. Marik lunged at Knuckles with his claws bared and his eyes burning but Sonic punched him away. Marik punched Sonic back but Knuckles gave Marik an uppercut that was so hard, Marik lost a tooth and he fell onto his back. The tooth landed on the road. Sonic spin-dashed Marik before the Martian could get back up and then he spin-dashed him again. Marik got back to his feet, only to get knocked back down again by a spin-dash. Sonic stopped spin-dashing Marik and he grabbed the Martian by the jacket. He threw Marik into a building and the Martian crashed into it head first but thanks to his helmet, the impact didn't hurt him much. Marik picked himself up and he blasted Sonic with a jolt of electricity. The hedgehog was knocked onto his back and before Sonic could get up; Marik jumped on him and punched him directly in the face with his metal hand. Bunnie Rabbot smacked him away with her robot arm but Marik landed on his feet and knocked her away with an energy wave. Geoffrey fired a dart at him but the dart only skimmed Marik across the shoulder at best. Marik and Geoffrey both kicked at each other and then Marik kneed the skunk in the gut. Geoffrey retaliated with an upwards chop and Marik staggered backwards. Vector appeared from behind and punched Marik in the back of the head. Marik retaliated with a kick to the jaw and then he punched Vector in the snout but Vector got the drop on him with another punch. Then he grabbed Marik with his jaws and he threw Marik into Espio who was waiting for him. Espio leaped up and did a spinning kick manoeuvre that hit Marik in the jaw and sent the Martian diving to the left. Marik landed on his face but he managed to pick himself up and smack Espio with an energy wave. The chameleon was knocked off his feet. Charmy retaliated with a flying punch to the head but Charmy hit Marik in the helmet so he hurt his fist. Charmy grabbed his throbbing hand and he blew on it furiously to ease the pain away. That gave Marik the perfect opportunity to clasp his hands together and thump them down on Charmy's head. Charmy was sent hurling right smack into the ground. But Marik didn't get to do anything else to Charmy since Bunnie had recovered from Marik's energy wave earlier and she roundhouse kicked Marik in the side. She then transformed her arm into a cannon and she blasted Marik with it. Marik hurled straight up into the air and he fell straight back down. Sonic leaped into the air and spin-dashed Marik in the jaw on his way down. Marik landed on the road with a crash and he skidded to a very painful halt. The impact had torn his jacket sleeve and left heavy graze marks on his arm and side. Marik got up onto his hands and knees and he began to pant heavily. Despite his tremendous endurance and stamina, he was beginning to get worn out. All the combined efforts from Sonic and friends was too much for him and it wasn't helped by the fact Sonic picked the strongest of his friends to fight him. Marik tried to stand up but he couldn't find the strength to do so. He slumped back down on the ground and groaned in defeat. Sonic, Knuckles, Bunnie Geoffrey, Espio, Vector and Charmy surrounded Marik and they all glared down at him. Marik glared up at them but said nothing.

"You're beaten Marik." said Sonic calmly "There's nothing else you can do so if I was you I would stand down and face justice for all you've done to us!"

Marik gritted his teeth and he tried to electrocute Sonic but he felt too weak to do so. All he could do was spark a lame electric jolt that wouldn't hurt a fly. Espio the chameleon pulled out some rope and he tied Marik's hands up behind his back. To make sure he didn't get away, Espio tied Marik's hands up good and tight and even triple knotted them to make them harder to undo. Marik grumbled to himself but he made no attempts to break free. Sonic knelt down to the Martian and he narrowed his eyes at him.

"You see Marik, you may be full of stamina, you maybe heavily trained and you maybe an expert fighter but in the end, we rise and you fall." said Sonic "You just have to face it Marik, you can't beat us no matter how hard you try."

Marik scowled at Sonic but he remained tight lipped and silent. Espio hauled Marik onto his bottom so he was sitting upright with his hands tied behind his back.

"You lot keep an eye on Marik." said Sonic "I'm gonna see how the others are doing with Horda and Borda."

"No need to Sonic." said Amy "We've got them good and beat."

She and Cream walked up to Sonic with Borda following them with his hands behind his head. Tails and Wilson walked up to Sonic while dragging a battered, stabbed and beaten Horda with them. Wilson and Tails had finally managed to bring the mighty robot down after Wilson stabbed him in the shoulders and chest with his spinning blade weapon and Horda looked terrible. His armour was full of holes and oil was leaking out of his wounds. Borda stood next to the tied up Marik and Tails and Wilson threw Horda beside Borda. Horda groaned like a ghoul. Sonic stared in surprise at the defeated Horda and Borda.

"Whoa, you guys did well didn't you?" he gasped "Me and my team had a tough time taking just Marik down!"

"Horda put up a good fight." said Tails wearily "But Wilson managed to get him at long last with his awesome weapon and we managed to defeat him."

"And all I needed to do was give Borda a good few wallops and he surrendered." said Amy "But he did get me good though." she added, gripping her shoulder and grimacing.

"Amy you're hurt!" cried Sonic, running to her aid "What did Borda do to you?"

"He just clipped my shoulder." said Amy "But it's nothing serious."

"That's good." said Sonic, pleased to see Amy wasn't seriously hurt "Now we've brought down Marik and Horda and Borda, the city is safe and we can put these guys in a place where they can't cause any harm or any trouble."

Then suddenly Cosmo appeared from nowhere and she ran up to Sonic, panting and gasping. She was holding the cyan Chaos Emerald in her hand but she had something else with her. It was another emerald and it was grey in colour and the two emeralds shone brightly in unison. Cosmo stopped in front of Sonic and showed him the two Chaos Emeralds.

"Sonic." she panted "I hid in an alleyway so I'd be safe from the battle and I found another Chaos Emerald in the alleyway!"

Sonic gasped at the grey emerald Cosmo now had with her. Sonic took the two gems off her and he admired with awe.

"You found another Chaos Emerald." he said quietly "I think this is the last one too." he motioned to the grey Chaos Emerald "Because Eggman has three, Rouge has two and we have two so that must mean all the Chaos Emeralds have been found!"

"Yeah, pity we don't have them all." said Knuckles grimly "We've gotta get those emeralds back from Dr. Eggman before he misuses their power and dooms us all!"

"We will get those emeralds back Knuckles." Sonic assured the echidna "We've got some villains to lock away first and once they're out the way, we'll take back the Chaos Emeralds Eggman stole off us!"

"Speaking of Dr. Eggman, I wonder what he's planning right now." wondered Cosmo, putting a finger to her chin.

"He's probably fixing Metal Sonic so he can get us again." said Sonic "But since we have two Chaos Emeralds, we'll be too powerful for Metal Sonic to beat and then we'll smash him to smithereens!"

But Sonic was going to get a lot more then he bargained for. He may have taken down three of his most hated foes but an even bigger threat was waiting to come and all that was needed was for Dr. Eggman to return to Robotropolis with Rouge's Chaos Emeralds and then to steal the two emeralds Sonic has now…

Footnotes:

 See Story 30

* See Story 39

 See Stories 37-38

 See Story 40

* We cannot possibly forget the events of Tales from Mobius: Arc 2 can we?

 See Story 5 for Horda and Borda's first appearances

 And then see Story 19 for their second appearances

* See *Tales from Mobius: Arc 1

So all the Chaos Emeralds have been found! Sonic has two,

Eggman has three and Rouge has two. But that doesn't mean the fight is over! Join me next time as the emeralds all come together in one epic showdown...Reviews are welcome.

P.S. No need to tell me to look up The Ultimate Showdown of Ultimate Destiny Kratos Pwns, I've seen it in all it's hilarious glory. :)

Chaotic Power

Story 43: Chaotic Power

While Sonic and friends had been fighting in Central City, Dr. Eggman had set courses to Downunda, the home place of Angel Island and the place where he would likely find Rouge the Bat since he often ran into her when trying to steal the Master Emerald. He had no idea where Rouge was going to be hiding now but he knew he wouldn't take long to find her two Chaos Emeralds since he had one of the three emeralds he had. While Eggman flew the Egg-Mobile, Alonzo held the purple Chaos Emerald Eggman had brought with him and he watched it to see if it was glowing in brighter then normal. Eggman passed Angel Island but he didn't seem to notice the floating island as he flew on by in his Egg-Mobile. Then the fat scientist began flying over the ancient ruins of Albion down below. The Chaos Emerald remained as it was so that meant there was no Chaos Emerald in Albion so Eggman pressed forward. After leaving Albion behind, Eggman ended up flying over the small village of Downunda. Then suddenly, the Chaos Emerald in Alonzo's three clawed hands began to glow brighter then normal. Alonzo noticed this and he jumped.

"Master! The emerald's glowing brighter!" cried Alonzo "Rouge's emeralds must be down below somewhere!"

"How lovely Alonzo!" said Dr. Eggman evilly "Now we've found those emeralds, let's help ourselves shall we?"

Eggman pushed on the controls and the Egg-Mobile began to descend down to the village below. The emerald was glowing brighter as he neared the ground. The Egg-Mobile reached the ground and hovered slightly above it as he began searching around for the two Chaos Emeralds Rouge has. The emerald he had began glowing brighter as he started searching through the village and through windows of houses to see what was there. During the search, he came across a small house with two windows and a door. The purple Chaos Emerald Alonzo held glowed the brightest it could glow the moment they came across the house.

"Hey Master, the emerald's glowing very brightly now!" Alonzo informed.

"The emeralds are in here." said Dr. Eggman "I can see them through that window."

He and Alonzo peered through the window and saw the green and yellow Chaos Emeralds sitting in the middle of the room amongst a heap of other shiny jewels, coins, diamonds, emeralds, rubies and sapphires. Rouge was one dedicated treasure hunter and Eggman could tell by the amount of stolen jewellery in the room he was looking into. Alonzo admired the jewellery and wondered where Rouge had managed to get it all from. Eggman shifted his Egg-Mobile away from the window and a robotic arm extended out of the side of the Egg-Mobile. Eggman drew the arm back and then thrust it forward at the window. The robot arm punched the window and shattered it to pieces. The slithers of glass rained down the wall and onto the ground or on the floor inside the house.

"Now we've got our entrance, you can get in there and get me the Chaos Emeralds Alonzo." said Dr. Eggman.

"Me?" squeaked Alonzo "Why me? Why can't you do it?"

"Because I'm too large to fit through that window." said Dr. Eggman "You're thin enough to get through it Alonzo so in you go."

Very reluctantly, Alonzo lifted himself out of the Egg-Mobile and he slid through the window and into the house. He trundled over to the two Chaos Emeralds that sat in the middle of the room and he seized them both in his metal hands. Alonzo looked both ways to make sure no one was watching him. All clear. Alonzo trundled back over to the window and he passed the emeralds over to Eggman. Eggman took the emeralds and he helped Alonzo climb back into the Egg-Mobile. Eggman admired the two Chaos Emeralds he now held in his hands.

"Aaaah, Chaos Emeralds are beautiful but stolen Chaos Emeralds are even better." he said evilly "I now have five Chaos Emeralds.

There's only two left to find and I'll have all seven."

"And I bet those two Chaos Emeralds won't be too far away." said Alonzo happily "I bet we'll find them and then we'll have all seven emeralds and we can use their power for our own nefarious needs!"

"Exactly Alonzo!" cackled Dr. Eggman "Now let's skedaddle before Rouge the Bat finds us snooping around here. She's not going to be pleased when she sees we've stolen her Chaos Emeralds."

So Dr. Eggman turned the Egg-Mobile around and took to the skies, leaving the small house behind. The moment he left though, Rouge came flying by with more stolen gems in her hands. She flew down to the house, only to find out a window had been broken and she flew in through the broken window, dreading to think what might have happened while she was away. To her relief, none of her precious jewels had been stolen or wrecked. Except for two things… Rouge noticed that both the Chaos Emeralds she had nicked from Amy Rose and Marik the Martian had disappeared! Rouge gasped in horror, dropped the gems she had been carrying and she immediately flew out of the house frantically. After flying out though, she looked to the right and she spotted Dr. Eggman flying away in the distance and she thought an incredible thought.

"So that Dr. Eggman guy thinks he can waltz into my place and make off with my Chaos Emeralds eh?" she said angrily to herself "Well I'll show him what happens to people who steal from me!"

Rouge flapped her wings and she took to the skies. She flew off after Dr. Eggman with a burning look in her eyes. She was very far from Dr. Eggman due to the fact Eggman had long left the village behind but she was a fast flier so she could catch up to Eggman easily. And yet she had an idea. She would wait until Eggman landed and then she would strike and steal her Chaos Emeralds back. And for all she knew, maybe Eggman himself had a Chaos Emerald or two she could steal. Rouge flew after Eggman but she kept back so the fat man wouldn't suspect she was coming. She would catch Dr. Eggman completely off guard and take her Chaos Emeralds back…

Meanwhile in Central City, Sonic and friends were wondering what to do with the defeated Marik and Horda & Borda. As they debated, Marik remained where he was with his hands tied behind his back while Horda lay there; still leaking oil from his injuries and Borda remained as he was with his hands up while Amy kept watch on him with her hammer at the ready.

"I know Marik needs to be contained and everything but what prison would be secure enough to permanently keep him there?" asked Sonic.

"Certainly not Empire City." said Tails "He managed to escape from that even though he used me to help him*."

"I wouldn't trust that dumb cop Melchett with Marik anyway." said Sonic "We need a place more secure then Empire City."

"Well we can't lock him up here." said Geoffrey St. John, noting the damages Marik had caused to the city "The city has been evacuated and knowing Marik, he's probably destroyed the MPD station this city has."

"I have an all." muttered Marik "And I'm not at all ashamed of doing so!"

Amy gave him a light thump on the head with her hammer.

"You can be quiet you monster!" snarled Amy.

Marik growled at her but said nothing.

"I think I have the perfect place to keep Martian boy." said Knuckles "We can put him in the prison station on Angel Island. Nobody has ever escaped from that prison and even if they did, they can't get off it since Angel Island floats and jumping off would more likely get you killed then anything."

"Yeah but Marik can fly." said Cosmo "He'll just fly off the island if he manages to escape the prison."

"No he can't." said Tails "His shoes are damaged so he's unable to fly. He'll be a sitting duck on Angel Island."

"His shoes are damaged?" said Cosmo "However did you know that Tails?"

"He told me so when I was in prison the time I was wrongly convicted." explained Tails "I'm kinda amazed he hasn't bothered fixing them yet."

"I don't need the ability to fly you mongrels!" snorted Marik "I can beat you all even without the ability to fly!"

"Is that so Marik?" sneered Sonic "Then how come you're beaten and tied up now?"

Marik didn't answer that rhetorical question. Instead he remained silent and sat still. Then behind his back, he began to slowly cut through his ropes with his metal claws on his metal hands. Luckily for him, nobody seemed to notice.

"You're beaten because you made the mistake of trying to take so many of us on at once." said Sonic "You maybe able to hold your own against us but in the end, it's our teamwork that prevails. If you had a buddy or two then maybe you could do a little better against us but I bet you're too arrogant to rely on others aren't you?"

Marik still remained silent. While Sonic had been boasting to him, he had managed to cut through his ropes but instead of immediately pouncing on him, he waited for a moment so Sonic wouldn't expect his attack coming.

"Now you're defeated." continued Sonic "We are going to put you in a place where not even Metal Sonic would be able to escape from."

"No…" hissed Marik fiercely "No…No…NO! I AM NOT GOING BACK IN A PRISON CELL!"

He leaped to his feet, threw the rope he'd cut through away and aimed all five metal fingers at Sonic. He fired five bolts of electricity, one from each finger, at Sonic and the hedgehog was engulfed by an electrical surge. Just using one finger for his electric attacks as bad enough but using all five at once made it all the more painful. Sonic cried out in pain and he fell onto the ground, writhing about as Marik's electrical bolts surged up and down his body. Everybody ran up to Marik to stop him from hurting Sonic but Marik stopped shocking Sonic and swiped both his arms as hard as he could. He sent huge energy waves hurtling into the Mobians and they were sent flying everywhere. Tails, Knuckles, Vector, Espio and Charmy all landed near a building on their backs whereas Amy, Cream, Cosmo, Bunnie and Wilson landed on the pavement further down the road. Now the opposition had been taken down, Marik resumed his savage attack. He fired all five bolts of electricity at Sonic again. Sonic screamed at the top of his voice as he was engulfed by Marik's electrical attacks. Never before had Sonic experienced so much pain. Nothing had ever hurt him this much, not even Eggman's robot suit from the showdown he had that nearly cost him his life and the lives of everybody on Mobius. As Marik continued shocking Sonic, Horda and Borda stood there and watched.

"You know what Borda?" grunted Horda, clutching his shoulder "I'm getting enormous pleasure in watching Sonic get hurt right now."

"I am too." said Borda "We do hate that hedgehog don't we?"

"Yeah." murmured Horda "I just wish it was us hurting that hedgehog instead of that hideous Martian."

"Well why don't we kill him after he kills Sonic?" asked Borda "We hate Martians just as much as we hate Sonic don't we?"

"I think we'll do just that." said Horda "After the Martian kills Sonic, we'll sneak up behind him and nab him and then you slit his throat. I'm too weak to kill the Martian myself so you'll have to do it."

"OK Horda." said Borda, deploying his saw blades.

The two robots watched and waited as Marik continued to electrocute Sonic. Even though Marik couldn't kill with his electric attacks, he decided to keep it up to see if he could kill Sonic that way.

"Argh….Marik…Ungh…stop it….!" grunted Sonic as Marik continued to electrocute him.

"Not on your life Sonic!" snarled Marik "I've suffered plenty in a prison cell already and I don't need to suffer in a prison cell again! You are not locking me away and you certainly are not beating me right now! You are going to die and that's all there is to it!"

So Marik continued electrocuting Sonic. The longer he kept this up though, the weaker Sonic appeared to be getting. If Marik kept this up any longer, Sonic would be as dead as a doornail. Unfortunately for Marik, something decided to go wrong. His voltage compactor may have been fixed but the wiring inside hadn't been set up very well and the sheer power of Marik's electrical attacks was beginning to short circuit them. Then suddenly, Marik's voltage compactor erupted and exploded. Smoke billowed out of the palm of his hand and Marik's electrical attacks ground to a halt. The explosion was so powerful; Marik fell over onto his back and he roared with pain. Sonic began to pant heavily, relieved that the shocking had finally stopped. Marik sat up and looked at his metal hand. The voltage compactor had been completely destroyed and the metal around it had been singed and blackened by the explosion. He would not be able to use his electric attacks now and fixing the voltage compactor would take a long time at the most.

"Oh for the love of Jupiter!" he cursed "Why must everything go wrong just as I'm about to win?"

"I dunno…" grunted Sonic, trying to stand up but he couldn't due to how weak he was "But…I think you've…learned one thing…Marik… you just…can't…rely…on electric attacks…can…you?"

"It seems so." muttered Marik bitterly "That's the third time this stupid voltage compactor has broken on me! Never mind though, I can defeat you with or without electric attacks and now you're injured and weak, your death is certain!"

Marik charged at Sonic like a mad bull. Sonic tried to get up but he couldn't find the strength to do so. The electric attacks had weakened him too much. Marik leaped into the air and he came hurtling towards Sonic like a pouncing tiger. But before Marik could get Sonic, Knuckles ran up to him, leaped up and gave Marik an enormous uppercut. The uppercut was so powerful, Marik hurtled backwards in a somersault and he landed on his back. The uppercut appeared to have knocked Marik out for a moment. Horda and Borda were amazed by the sheer power of Knuckles' fists and now Marik was down and out, they could kill him before he woke up. Borda activated his saw blades and he was about to cut Marik's neck until suddenly, Marik came to. He hadn't been knocked out by Knuckles' uppercut after all. He grabbed Borda by the arms and threw him into Horda. The two robots yelped and fell over. Marik growled at them and he turned his attention away from Horda and Borda. Knuckles raised his fists and prepared to punch Marik again.

"Do you want roughening up a little more you jerk?" he threatened.

"You couldn't rough me up if your life depended on it!" snarled Marik "And just because I'm a little sore from all your beating earlier, it doesn't mean that I'll be easy prey!"

And with that Marik charged at Knuckles but Knuckles punched him in the side of the head and sent him crashing into the ground. Then Bunnie Rabbot added insult to injury by blasting him with her arm cannon. Marik was thrown into the air and he landed rather sharply on some debris. Marik screamed as pain flooded up his back and he groaned ever so loudly. Sonic, who had finally managed to pick himself up after Marik's attack, staggered over to the Martian and glowered down at him.

"Marik why don't you stop being stubborn and give up already?" he said, weakly "You're beaten!"

"I will not give up until this planet is reduced to rubble!" spat Marik, drops of salvia flying out of his mouth as he spoke "In the rules of Martian life, a Martian never gives up! He may flee the battle if he knows he's done for, but he never gives up! Why do you think I keep trying over and over again? Because I don't give up!"

"Wow, you're stupid." said Sonic snidely.

Marik leapt up in rage and tried to land a huge punch on Sonic's face but Sonic reacted just in time and he punched Marik in the face. Marik ended up falling back down on the rubble and he ended up with a sore back again. The back of his helmet ended up being dented from that slam against the rubble.

"This is why you lose Marik!" yelled Sonic, grabbing Marik by the collar and hoisting him up to his face "You're so blinded by greed and power you just don't know when to quit! If you'd just cut down on the stubbornness and maybe get a brain or two, you'll get somewhere in life!"

And with that, Sonic threw Marik back against the rubble. Marik cried out in pain and then his pained cry died down into a groan. Marik felt limp and lame now, he could hardly keep his eyes open. Sonic drew his arm back, ready for another punch that would probably put the Martian out cold until suddenly, Cosmo screamed at the top of her voice.

"Cosmo?" cried Sonic, turning around sharply to see what was going on.

"Someone's attacking Cosmo eh?" sneered Marik "That's the best thing that's happened all day."

Sonic ignored Marik's sadistic remark and saw what was happening. Dr. Eggman had appeared on the scene in his Egg-Mobile and he had the mobile's robot arms deployed. The Egg-Mobile's robot arms had reached out and grabbed the cyan and grey Chaos Emeralds Cosmo had and Cosmo tried to keep hold of them but the arms were much too strong for her and Dr. Eggman snatched them both out of her hands. Geoffrey tried to stop Eggman with his crossbow but the dart had no effect on the Egg-Mobile and even Wilson's spinning blade didn't work for the Egg-Mobile caught it before it could slice its arms in two. The Egg-Mobile's arms dropped the Chaos Emeralds in Eggman's hands and he held them both in front of his hideous face. He smiled like a deranged wizard.

"Well wasn't that convenient?" he said "Sonic and friends happened to have found the last two Chaos Emeralds and now I've got them in my hands! I now have all seven Chaos Emeralds!"

"No!" cried Sonic "Eggman has all seven now? How can that be?"

"Maybe he found the two Chaos Emeralds Rouge took." suggested Amy "And he obviously used a Chaos Emerald to find them."

"Well he's not keeping them that's for sure!" yelled Sonic, getting into a spin-dash and hurtling towards Dr. Eggman at a speed slower then usual.

That slower speed though was all Eggman needed. The Egg-Mobile swiped at Sonic and smacked him away as the hedgehog was hurtling towards him. Sonic hurtled down to the ground but Bunnie Rabbot caught him before he could hit the ground. Dr. Eggman bellowed with laughter.

"Ha, ha, ha, ha! Sonic, is that really the best you can do?" he sneered "You're a lot faster then that, I know you are!"

"If it wasn't for a certain Martian electrocuting me, I'd be in tip top shape right now!" retorted Sonic "You're lucky this time Eggman!"

"I know I am." said Dr. Eggman "Now I have all seven Chaos Emeralds I can use their power for my most powerful machine yet!"

"Oh no!" said Bunnie, her ears drooping back in despair "He's gonna use the darn emeralds to power Metal Sonic up and then he'll kill us all!"

"That was the plan Bunnie but since Metal Sonic is out of commission, I'm using the next best option." said Dr. Eggman "And that option is Egg-Dragon! Egg-Dragon, arise!" he bellowed and he pressed a button on the control pad.

At first, nothing seemed to happen, everything remained as it was. Then suddenly there was a distant bang which suggested that something had erupted from under the ground in the distance. Then something came flying towards Central City at tremendous speed. And that something was very long and very, VERY large. Sonic and friends stared up at the sky and their jaws dropped at what they saw. Even Marik, Horda and Borda were amazed at what had just appeared. Rouge the Bat, who was just about to attack Dr. Eggman from behind and snatch the emeralds back stopped in midair and stared at what had just arrived at Central City. It was a massive machine with a long snaky body with two arms, no legs, ball-jointed hands with claws, a huge head with one large spike pointing backwards, two smaller bull-shaped spikes on each side of the large spike and two smaller spikes on each side of it's head, sharp metal teeth and long wiry hair, two spikes above the shoulders and the tip of it's tail concealed a laser inside. The machine roared a deafening, echoing roar that could be heard all over the city. Sonic and friends couldn't believe what they were looking at.

"You see Sonic, I know Metal Sonic is my strongest machine ever but I knew there would be a time where he would be unusable so I built this ingenious machine to take his place whenever he's unavailable." explained Dr. Eggman "And that machine is what you see before you. EGG-DRAGON!"

Egg-Dragon roared again. Then the top of its head opened up and the Egg-Mobile flew into the robot's head where the cockpit was. The Egg-Mobile stationed itself in the cockpit and Eggman took control of the enormous machine.

"I didn't expect you to use the Chaos Emeralds for this!" blurted Alonzo "This thing is positively primeval!"

"Well I am prime and I'm evil so it fits." said Dr. Eggman "Now let's see what these gems can do to this thing."

When building Egg-Dragon, he had built seven emerald shaped holes in the control pad for the Chaos Emeralds to fit into. Dr. Eggman slotted all the Chaos Emeralds into Egg-Dragon's control pad and the seven gems began to glow in unison. Their tremendous power began to surge all through Egg-Dragon's long body and the Mobians could see this by the bright lights around it. Alonzo was so amazed at Egg-Dragon's power he almost did a wild double-take.

"Master! Look at this!" he cried "The power level of this machine is off the charts! It might be over nine thousand!" he shrieked.

"Well I didn't know the Chaos Emeralds were THAT powerful!" said Dr. Eggman with glee "Sonic and friends will NEVER defeat this fine machine now!"

Egg-Dragon opened its enormous mouth and a huge breath of fire raged out from within. Sonic and friends ran for it before the fire could burn them all alive. Cosmo however, remained where she was, frozen in fear as the fire came rushing towards her. Tails saw Cosmo petrified and standing there and he flew over to her. Just in the nick of time, he managed to grab Cosmo and snatch her away before she could be burnt to a crisp. The breath of fire from Egg-Dragon engulfed everything around it. The fire died down and Egg-Dragon closed its enormous jaws. Tails put Cosmo down and the two joined the others, who had taken shelter in an alley-way.

"Tails…you saved my life." said Cosmo, giving the fox a quick hug "Thank you so much."

"You're welcome Cosmo." said Tails.

"I'm sorry I lost the Chaos Emeralds to Dr. Eggman." Cosmo added, her voice sounding sad and worried "It's all my fault that Eggman now has all seven Chaos Emeralds and now he's going to doom us all!"

"It's not your fault at all Cosmo." Tails reassured the distraught Seedrian "We had no idea Eggman was going to show up and we were unprepared for his arrival so we weren't to know anything."

"I still should have kept hold of the emeralds." said Cosmo sadly "But I've lost them to Eggman and now he's going to use their power to take over your world. I'm so sorry Tails."

Tails wrapped his arms around Cosmo and he lightly patted her on the back.

"It's alright Cosmo, it's not your fault." he said softly "Stop putting yourself down Cosmo. We'll get those emeralds back and we'll stop Dr. Eggman from destroying the city."

"You got that right Tails." said Sonic who was leaning against the wall "With all of us together, we'll bring that stupid dragon bot down in no time!"

"No we won't." said Knuckles "Eggman has the seven Chaos Emeralds. He's invincible with those emeralds by his side. We need to get the emeralds back first and then we take down Egg-Dragon."

"Sounds like a plan." said Sonic "And we'll need all the back up we can get and I hope three certain enemies of ours are willing to help us."

Sonic then poked his head out of the alley-way and saw Marik and Horda and Borda crawling away from the carnage Egg-Dragon was causing. And then to add more to this, Rouge the Bat flew down into the alley-way and she landed in front of Knuckles.

"Hello Knuckles." she said smoothly.

"Rouge, as if I couldn't have guessed." said Knuckles grimly "I bet you're here for the Chaos Emeralds aren't you?"

"Bingo." said Rouge "But we're gonna have to take down Eggman first so I think I may as well help you lot out while I'm here."

"I appreciate that Rouge." said Sonic, giving her a thumbs up "We need all the help we can get out here."

"Charmed." said Rouge casually.

Sonic then turned his attention to Marik and Horda & Borda. The three villains had just made it into the alley-way. Sonic folded his arms and he gave them a stern look.

"Alright you three, we're in serious danger here and we can't afford to deal with you as well as Eggman." said Sonic "So if you wanna live and all that, we're gonna have to form a temporary truce until Eggman is defeated. OK?"

"You don't have to ask us twice!" yelped Borda "We're in!"

"Agreed." said Horda "We wanna destroy Mobius' cities ourselves and we can't do that if that dragon bot is doing it for us. Plus, we hate machines bigger then us so we're gonna get a lot of pleasure in taking it down!"

Sonic nodded and then turned to Marik, who lay groggily against the wall breathing slowly.

"What about you Marik?" asked Sonic.

Marik turned to Sonic and snorted at him.

"Save your desperation!" he snarled "I refuse to form a truce, even a temporary one, with filth like you! I will take down Egg-Dragon under my OWN terms! I will destroy Egg-Dragon, but I'm not helping YOU do it! I'll wait until Egg-Dragon is almost dead and then I'll come in for the kill and steal your glory Sonic!"

Sonic scoffed at him.

"Puh, go ahead then Marik the Chicken!" he jeered "I knew you would be too scared to take on that thing."

"I AM NOT SCARED OF THAT THING AT ALL!" bellowed Marik, leaping to his feet and jamming his face into Sonic's face. "And to prove it, I will form this disgusting truce after all but watch your back! I might "accidentally" attack you while I'm attacking Eggman!" he spat, prodding him sharply in the chest as he said the last three words.

"That's better." said Sonic grimly "Now everything's settled, let's destroy that thing and get those Chaos Emeralds!"

With that said, everybody emerged from the alley-way and they ran up to Egg-Dragon, yelling loudly. Egg-Dragon turned it's huge head to the right and saw it's attackers running towards them like Native Americans charging into battle. Dr. Eggman grinned at the oncoming Mobians.

"Oh goody!" he said "Sonic's decided to come out and give me some entertainment now! I'll show him what this giant monster of a machine can REALLY do!"

Eggman pressed a button on the control pad and the giant dragon machine aimed its tail at the Mobians. Four sections of the tail tip opened up in a cross shape, revealing a large laser concealed inside and the laser aimed at its victims. Sonic could sense what was about to happen and he ordered everybody to run for it before the colossal laser could fire. Egg-Dragon fired its tail laser at the Mobians but the Mobians took cover before it fired so the laser didn't hit them, it hit the road instead. The section of road that got hit by the laser was completely destroyed by the sheer power of the laser. The laser had left an enormous crater in the road and chunks of debris and concrete flew everywhere, crashing down onto the road or crashing through the windows of nearby buildings. The Mobians emerged from their hiding places and they stared at the damage the laser did to the road. They had never seen a weapon as powerful as that before.

"Holy spin-dashes!" cried Sonic "That is one powerful laser!"

"I bet it's the Chaos Emeralds making the laser stronger then usual." said Knuckles "No weapon should be able to do THAT kind of damage!"

"We must get those Chaos Emeralds before Eggman levels the place!" yelped Tails "I'll fly Sonic up to the robot's head and then throw him towards it so he can spin-dash into the cockpit and snatch the emeralds. Everybody else can keep him busy while I fly Sonic up there."

"That's a good plan Tails." said Sonic "Let's just hope it works."

So Tails twisted his tails around one another and he flew off the ground. He grabbed Sonic by the hand and he lifted him up into the air. Egg-Dragon noticed tails flying up and the colossal machine was about to open fire on the little fox until Bunnie Rabbot flew up to Egg-Dragon and began blasting the machine rapidly with her arm cannon. The blasts had no effect on Egg-Dragon but that didn't matter since Bunnie was only supposed to be distracting the robot while Tails carried out his plan. Bunnie blasted Egg-Dragon in the eye and flew to the left, prompting Egg-Dragon to follow her. While Egg-Dragon did that, Rouge, Cream and Charmy began flying around Egg-Dragon's head as if they were flies circling around a pile of faeces. Egg-Dragon began swinging its head left and right to try and catch the flying Mobians but to no avail. Rouge then attacked Egg-Dragon with her trademark screw kick move. She bounced harmlessly off Egg-Dragon's nose but the impact didn't seem to have shaken Rouge much. Charmy then attacked by charging bottom first into Egg-Dragon's eye. His sting hit the eye but the impact hurt Charmy more then it hurt Egg-Dragon. Charmy flew away in a dizzy flutter but Egg-Dragon swatted him its clawed hand.

The poor bee was sent hurling into the ground but luckily for him, Vector was on hand to catch him. Charmy landed in Vector's hands and he mumbled groggily to himself.

"Oooooh, that dragon bot really hurts!" mumbled Charmy "He's made my head hurt!"

"At least you tried Charmy." said Vector "And you helped distract Egg-Dragon just like we're supposed to so you've done well."

"Yay!" said Charmy weakly.

Meanwhile, Cream and Cheese flew in front of Egg-Dragon's eyes, the very thing Eggman was seeing out of, in an attempt to distract Dr. Eggman and since he wouldn't be able to see properly with the two in the way, Eggman wouldn't be able to see where he was attacking and therefore, be unable to accurately hit his enemies. Dr. Eggman was getting annoyed with Cream and Cheese getting in the way while he was trying to attack.

"That infernal rabbit and her flying blobby thing are trying my patience!" snarled Dr. Eggman "I'll swat them away!"

"No you won't." said Alonzo "Egg-Dragon's arms are too short to reach its head."

"Then how am I gonna get those two out of my way?" cried Dr. Eggman furiously "I can't use its tail to swat them away or I'll smash Egg-Dragon's head and bring the robot crashing down."

While Eggman wondered how to get Cream and Cheese out of the way, Tails flew above Egg-Dragon while still holding Sonic by the hand. He spotted the cockpit hatch on Egg-Dragon's head. It was located on the large spike that pointed backwards.

"OK Sonic, I've found the cockpit hatch." said Tails "Get ready to spin-dash as I throw you."

"No problem Tails." said Sonic "Throw me on the count of three. One...two...three!" he yelled.

Tails swung his arms backwards and then he thrust them forward and let go of Sonic. Sonic spun into a spiky-ball and he hurtled towards Egg-Dragon's cranium. Eggman didn't see Sonic coming and Sonic hit his target at full force...and bounced harmlessly off the surface and began to hurtle towards the ground! Tails gasped and he flew down as fast as he could after Sonic so he could catch him before he could hit the ground. Tails didn't make it and Sonic hit the ground face first. Marik the Martian stood there and laughed at him.

"I didn't think I was going to get some entertainment out of this but it appears I am." cackled Marik "It's funny seeing you get beaten for once Sonic."

"Har de har, har." muttered Sonic sarcastically "Shut up Marik."

Tails landed beside Sonic and he helped the stricken and shaken hedgehog stand back up.

"But...but I don't understand." said Tails "Why didn't that attack work? You can smash through any robot Eggman throws at us."

"I know I can." grunted Sonic "That Egg-Dragon is obviously tougher then I thought. How am I gonna break into the cockpit and get those Chaos Emeralds back?"

"Maybe we could try and break through the eyes." suggested Tails "The cockpit is behind the eyes so if we can break through the eyes, we'll be in the cockpit and we can snatch the emeralds back."

"That plan is unusually cunning for heathens like you." sniffed Marik "Let's hope for your sake that it works."

"Marik if you can't say anything nice then shut up!" snapped Sonic "We're on the same side, remember? So have a little respect for us please!"

"Whatever." sighed Marik in annoyance "Just keep out of my way!"

"Marik look out!" cried Tails.

Marik turned to face Egg-Dragon only to see that the dragon bot had opened its mouth and balls of fire were shooting out of it like a meteor shower. One of the fireballs zoomed towards Marik and the Martian jumped out of the way just before he could get hit by it. The fireball exploded on impact and sent flames flying everywhere. Marik was relieved to have dodged such a powerful attack.

"Thanks for that fox boy." said Marik gratefully.

Then suddenly, a fireball hit Tails smack on and the fox was sent hurling backwards by the powerful attack. He landed on his back and screamed in pain as the flames of the fireball burnt him in a few places. Marik stood there with his arms folded and an evil grin on his face.

"Don't expect me to return the favour though." he added coldly.

That did it. Sonic grabbed Marik by the collar and yanked the Martian to his face.

"Marik, we're working together on this so stop being unhelpful and help us already!"

"No!" snapped Marik "I made the truce to help bring Eggman down but that doesn't mean I have to help YOU! I'm watching MY back and my back only, no one else's! You watch your back Sonic and I'll watch mine!"

"Fine!" said Sonic crossly "Don't expect me to save your life if Eggman has you completely at his mercy and is about to kill you!"

Marik just snorted at him and slapped his arm away, making Sonic let go of his jacket. Now Marik was free, he ran up to Egg-Dragon and he swiped the air with his arms. He sent a huge energy wave hurtling towards Egg-Dragon and the wave smacked the machine in the face. Egg-Dragon's head bobbed up and down a little from that attack but Eggman regained his senses and set Egg-Dragon's sights on Marik. Marik swiped the air with his arms again and sent another energy wave hurtling towards Egg-Dragon. Egg Dragon swiped through the wave with its arm. Then Egg-Dragon raised its enormous tail and swiped at Marik. Marik failed to dodge the enormous tail whip and he was hit full force by it. Marik was sent hurtling through the air and he disappeared from sight. Marik had been smacked away from the battlefield. Sonic just scowled.

"Huh! He was no help anyway!" he muttered "We don't need that sadistic, stubborn, egotistical jerk! We'll take down Egg-Dragon ourselves!"

"I'm sorry Sonic but I don't think I can help you right now." said Tails weakly "I feel too weak to fly."

The fireball had done a lot of harm to poor Tails. His fur had been singed in several places so Tails had a peculiar yellow and black look on him and he had three-degree burns on his stomach, arms and legs. Tails was in no condition to fight right now.

"You stay there and take it easy Tails." said Sonic "Cosmo, you keep him company."

"OK Sonic." said Cosmo politely.

She wondered over to the injured Tails and knelt down by his side to comfort him. Cosmo helped Tails onto his feet and she carried Tails away from the battlefield and to safety so he couldn't receive any more injuries. Now his friend was out of harm's way, Sonic charged into battle and he spin-dashed towards Egg-Dragon's huge head. But all Sonic did was ping harmlessly off Egg-Dragon's tough armour. Sonic tried another spin-dash and he hit Egg-Dragon in the nostril but again, he bounced harmlessly off Egg-Dragon's armour. Sonic spin-dashed him again but still he didn't do any harm to Egg-Dragon. Egg-Dragon swiped at Sonic with its arm and the dragon bot hit Sonic just as the hedgehog was spin-dashing it again. Sonic landed on a nearby building and groaned in pain. Knuckles climbed up a building at a fast speed and then he leaped off the building and onto Egg-Dragon. The echidna landed on the middle section of Egg-Dragon and using his spiked fists, he began to furiously climb up the long metal body of Egg-Dragon. He was planning on climbing up to the cockpit hatch so he could smash his way through it and then retrieve the Chaos Emeralds. Unfortunately, Dr. Eggman spotted the echidna and he pressed a button on the control pad. A large machine gun deployed from Egg-Dragon's back near its neck and it aimed at Knuckles, who was climbing furiously up to the robot's head. The machine gun began to rapidly fire at Knuckles. The bullets ricocheted off Egg-Dragon's bullet-proof armour as the gun fired at Knuckles but missed. Knuckles stopped climbing up to Egg-

Dragon's head and he began to climb back down to avoid being shot. Knuckles leaped off Egg-Dragon and glided down onto a nearby building with the machine gun still firing at him. Knuckles ran for it, dodging the bullets as the gun fired at him and he leaped over the edge of the building and dug his fists into the wall to prevent himself from falling. Seeing as Knuckles had gone, Egg-Dragon put its machine gun away and it fired some fireballs at any Mobian down below. Now the machine gun had stopped firing, Knuckles emerged from his hiding place and he charged towards Egg-Dragon. He leaped off the building and...got swatted away by Egg-Dragon's tail. Knuckles crashed into the lower section of a nearby building and he screeched to a painful halt. On the ground, Geoffrey St. John was firing darts at Egg-Dragon. His darts didn't have any effect on Egg-Dragon due to the machine's enormous size and even though some of the darts were set to self destruct after embedding themselves into the target, none of the explosions appeared to be doing any harm to the invincible machine. Geoffrey decided to do something else. He fired a dart with a tow cable at Egg-Dragon and the dart embedded itself into Egg-Dragon just above its eye. Now his cable was set, Geoffrey retracted the cable into his crossbow and in doing so, lifted himself off the ground and up towards Egg-Dragon's head. Dr. Eggman didn't seem to have noticed Geoffrey was coming up towards him and he continued firing fireballs at Wilson, Bunnie, Amy and the Chaotix down below. After a short ascend, Geoffrey reached Egg-Dragon's head and he settled himself down on Egg-Dragon's snout. He pulled the dart out of the section above Egg-Dragon's eye and he peered in through Egg-Dragon's eye. He saw the cockpit with Dr. Eggman and Alonzo inside. Alonzo spotted the skunk and he informed Dr. Eggman immediately. That was Geoffrey's cue to attack. He loaded his crossbow with a bomb dart and set it for five seconds and he fired it at Egg-Dragon's eye. To his horror though, the dart pinged harmlessly off the thick glass the eye was made of and hurtled towards the ground! The dart exploded in mid-air before it could land. Geoffrey could not believe his eyes.

"I don't believe it!" he cried "That blighter's eyes are made of Diamond Glass! We'll never get into that cockpit now!"

Geoffrey should have been more focused on his current situation then cursing his bad luck right now because Egg-Dragon picked the perfect opportunity to shake it's head and make Geoffrey fall over. Egg-Dragon gave a quick jerk of the head and flung Geoffrey up into the air! Geoffrey hurtled straight up like a firework and he plummeted straight down like a stone falling off a ledge. Egg-Dragon opened its massive jaws and prepared to catch the skunk with them. If Geoffrey fell into those jaws, he would not be crawling out of them alive. Luckily for him, Sonic spin-dashed towards and Egg-Dragon and hit it in the side of the head. Egg-Dragon titled to the side and Sonic bounced off the dragon bot and caught Geoffrey in his arms. Sonic landed on a rooftop and put Geoffrey down.

"Oh thank you Sonic!" cried Geoffrey "I thought I was blooming done for!"

"Don't mention it Geoff." said Sonic "So did you manage to break through that thing's eyes?"

"No mate." said Geoffrey "Those blinkin' eyes are made of Diamond Glass! We can't shatter them and get into the cockpit!"

"Oh man!" moaned Sonic "That Eggman really put his head into that robot didn't he? I guess we'll have to try the hardest we can to bring it down."

"You suggesting we go full force on that thing?" asked Geoffrey.

"Exactly." said Sonic "You with me Geoffrey old buddy?"

"I'm with ya until the end mate!" said Geoffrey, giving Sonic a thumbs up similar to what the blue hedgehog himself often did "Let's go!"

With that said, Geoffrey began firing bolts and darts at Egg-Dragon's head while Sonic started spin-dashing it again but unfortunately, none of those attacks seemed to work. Geoffrey's darts either pinged harmlessly off Egg-Dragon's armour or just plain didn't do any damage to it and Sonic just bounced off the dragon like a baseball being thrown at the wall. Down on the ground, Bunnie Rabbot kept firing madly at Egg-Dragon with her arm cannon but her blasts didn't seem to be working. To make things worse for the cyborg rabbit, she was beginning to get tired from using her robot limbs so much. After firing another blast at Egg-Dragon, she fell down on one knee and panted heavily. Espio stood in for her by throwing shuriken at Egg-Dragon. The sharp, deadly stars embedded themselves into Egg-Dragon's tough armour and they exploded but none of the shuriken appeared to have harmed Egg-Dragon in anyway. Espio gasped. His shuriken didn't often fail to bring down a target and now they just did. Espio threw some more shuriken at Egg-Dragon but again, even after exploding, they appeared to do no damage. Egg-Dragon opened its jaws and fired a shower of fire balls at Espio and Bunnie. The two Mobians ran for it before they could get hit by the balls. Vector ran into battle and by some miracle, actually managed to catch a fireball in his enormous jaws and throw it back at Egg-Dragon! The fireball smacked Egg-Dragon in the face and that blow seemed to have made an impact on the robot because Egg-Dragon roared loudly and raised its head as if the fireball had done a great deal of pain to it. The fireball had dented and scorched some of its face but Egg-Dragon didn't appear to be seriously hurt. Egg-Dragon opened its mouth and breathed out a jet of flames at Vector. Vector turned turtle and ran before he could get singed. Rouge stepped in with a screw-kick to the eye but her attack didn't even crack the thick Diamond Glass that shielded the cockpit from everybody's attacks. Rouge screw-kicked Egg-Dragon in the head but Egg-Dragon wasn't affected by that blow and it smacked Rouge with its tail, sending the bat crashing into the ground. As for Horda and Borda, they were standing on a building and waiting for their moment to strike. Horda held his torches close together and fired a jet of flames from them both at Egg-Dragon. The flames only seemed to tickle Egg-Dragon at the most though. The flames licked the armour of Egg-Dragon but they were causing no serious damage. Horda stopped firing at Eggman and grumbled.

"That machine resists my fire?" he said aloud to himself "How is that possible?"

"That's one tough robot." said Borda "I wish I was that tough and that big."

"Well there's not much we can do Borda." said Horda "Your weapons will be useless against that thing and my weapons don't appear to be doing much harm to it so we may as well stand by and let the Mobians defeat it."

So Horda and Borda climbed down the building they were on and they ran away like rabbits to avoid getting attacked by Egg-Dragon. Meanwhile, Amy summoned her Piko-Piko hammer to her hands and she began whacking great chunks of debris as if she was wielding a cricket bat and sending them flying into Egg-Dragon. The chunks of concrete and fallen building just crashed against Egg-Dragon and broke into pieces upon impact. Despite Amy's best efforts, her attacks seemed to be in vain because the debris wasn't doing any harm to Egg-Dragon. Wilson unsheathed his spinning blade weapon and he threw it at Egg-Dragon. The deadly, lethal, double-bladed pole weapon spun towards Egg-Dragon and pinged harmlessly off its armour. The weapon spun back to Wilson and Wilson caught it, unable to believe his amazing weapon didn't work. Amy stopped doing what she was doing and she called over to Sonic. Sonic heard her and he ran up to Amy.

"What's up Amy?" asked Sonic.

"I'm hammering debris into Egg-Dragon but my attacks aren't doing any harm to the robot. I think we should try the hammer-and-hedgehog move."

"Hammer-and-hedgehog?" chuckled Sonic "Is that seriously the name of that move me and you did the second time Eggman attacked Knothole*? How corny can you get?"

"Say that again and I'll show you how "corny" I can be!" threatened Amy.

Sonic said nothing more and he rolled into a ball and began spinning on the spot. Amy raised her hammer high above her head and she walloped the spinning Sonic as hard as she could. Sonic rocketed through the air and he crashed straight into Egg-Dragon's head. His powerful attack sent Egg-Dragon's head jerking backwards and the giant dragon robot doubled over backwards. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo yelped as Egg-Dragon fell backwards and landed on its back with an earthshaking crash that made the buildings wobble like jelly. Sonic landed on his feet beside Amy and he admired his handiwork. Egg-Dragon lay there, knocked out and defeated before them.

Sonic, Amy, Knuckles, Cream, Espio, Charmy, Vector, Bunnie, Geoffrey and Wilson all stood there, staring at the defeated Egg-Dragon. Tails and Cosmo poked out of their hiding place to see what was happening and they saw the defeated Egg-Dragon lying there. They beamed with joy at what seemed to be victory at last.

"Ha, ha! How did that feel Eggman?" sneered Sonic "Good old hammer-and-hedgehog too tough for you?"

Sonic should not have made the terrible mistake of claiming victory before actually gaining victory. That move had definitely been a hard and powerful move, but it wasn't enough! Egg-Dragon came to its senses and the huge machine lifted itself up off the ground and hovered above the ground! The Mobians gasped in horror at Egg-Dragon's rise back up from Sonic and Amy's attack and Egg-Dragon glared down at them all.

"That was a brilliant attack Sonic." said Dr. Eggman, his voice boomed from inside Egg-Dragon's head "You've all been splendid entertainment for me and my robot but I'm afraid your time is up. You should have known you couldn't defeat a Chaos Emerald powered robot you fools and now you'll learn that the hard way...by feeling the full wrath of Egg-Dragon's laser!"

Egg-Dragon pointed its tail tip at the Mobians. The tail tip opened up into four sections in a cross shape and the long laser concealed inside began to glow bright yellow. The laser crackled like a lightening rod and then it fired an enormous laser beam at Sonic and friends...

Footnotes:

See Story 34

* See Story 33

 See Story 20

 See Story 15

OMG! OMG! OMG! Sonic and his friends are about to be destroyed! Looks like the Chaos Emeralds are more powerful then they thought! Is this...(gulp!)...the end? Join me next time...Read and Review.

P.S. I really hope this doesn't annoy you Kratos Pwns but I'm bringing the Devatrons back in this series but with some minor alterations to make them less like Mary-Sues. They won't be showing up for AGES though, they might not even show up until I get to Story 100 so they've got a while yet. Oh and it's a pity you hate villains because I for one I'm a villain lover so I tend to put most of my creative effort into any villainous character I make. And don't worry, your last review hasn't offended me at all, it's just your opinion, I'm not expecting you or anyone to like these characters just because I do. I'm just interested in seeing what my readers think.

P.P.S. ARE THERE ANY OCs IN THIS STORY YOU DO LIKE?

Blade of the Swords Bot

Story 44: Blade of the Swords Bot

Egg-Dragon's laser struck the ground just inches in front of the Mobians and they were all thrown away by the force of the titanic laser blast. They all hurtled through the air like rag dolls and they came crashing down in a chorus of thumps. That onslaught had done a heavy deal of pain to them all. The sharp landing on the ground did more harm to them then the force of the laser blast though and the Mobians all felt like they couldn't move a muscle. Horda and Borda were absolutely horrified by the power of Egg-Dragon and they felt relieved they had not been near the laser at the time. Tails and Cosmo ran out of their hiding place and they knelt down beside the battered and beaten Sonic the Hedgehog who felt like his entire skeleton had broken. The blue hedgehog lay there, unable to move or open his eyes.

"Sonic! Get up!" cried Tails "Egg-Dragon's going to kill us all!"

"I don 't think he can get up." said Cosmo sadly "That was one powerful attack and it's done a great deal to everybody. Look at them all." she said, taking note of the downed Mobians not far from Sonic.

Tails saw them all and felt sick to his stomach. Knuckles and Rouge were lying together on their fronts, unconscious but alive, Team Chaotix were lying on top of each other and they seemed to be wondering which part of them to rub better, Amy and Cream were lying next to each other and Cream was tightly hugging Cheese to calm him down, Bunnie was lying on her side with her robot arm missing the section with the hand and Geoffrey and Wilson were lying on their backs, both unconscious. Tails' whiskers drooped down in despair. There was no way they could stop Egg-Dragon now. Sonic suddenly began to stir and he opened his eyes. He saw Tails and Cosmo kneeling beside him and he tried to get up but pain flooded up his body and forced him to lie back down.

"Tails...Cosmo..." grunted Sonic "We...can't...stop...that...thing..."

"I can definitely say you're right Sonic." said Tails "Look at everybody, nobody's in fighting condition, we're all beaten."

"I never knew the seven Chaos Emeralds were so powerful." said Cosmo "That machine can't be harmed by anything and it's put you all out of commission. We're doomed to die right now."

"I'm...afraid so...Cosmo..." said Sonic "But...at least...we'll...die...together...It's better then...dying...alone...after all..."

"I agree." said Tails "At least we tried to stop that thing, that's all that counts."

Egg-Dragon loomed above the defeated Mobians and Horda & Borda and it looked down on them all. Dr. Eggman grinned wickedly at his victory.

"I've done it!" he cheered "I've defeated Sonic the Hedgehog and his band of playhouse buddies at long last! Now let's vaporise them while we have the chance shall we?"

"Whenever you're ready sir." said Alonzo, saluting

Dr. Eggman grinned like a demon and he was about to press a button on the control pad to activate Egg-Dragon's flame jets until suddenly, a dark purple flash shot by Egg-Dragon and sliced it's head clean off its neck in one swipe! Dr. Eggman and Alonzo both screamed in unison as Egg-Dragon's colossal head broke away from its enormous body and came crashing down on the ground with an ear-splitting smash. The impact smashed the Diamond Glass eyes and sent shards of glass flying all over the place. Egg-Dragon's giant body swayed about madly like a ship's sail blowing about madly in the wind and then the whole thing came crashing down with an earth shaking crash. The moment the body crashed down, it crumbled to bits like a fallen sandcastle. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo poked their heads out of the cockpit hatch and they stared in horror at the mess of robot parts that Egg-Dragon had been reduced to. Dr. Eggman was about to go insane.

"NOOOOO!" he bellowed. "How could this happen to me? I was so close to killing Sonic the Hedgehog once and for all and then my robot is reduced to smithereens! How did that happen?"

"Um Master? I think HE has the answer!" whimpered Alonzo, pointing at something.

Dr. Eggman looked at what Alonzo was pointing at and he almost had a seizure. The thing that Alonzo was pointing at was a robot carrying two, enormous, bulky swords. The robot's head had two cold, evil looking yellow optics, a chrome mouth plate, two spikes above its optics, two spikes on its head, a large spike sprouting from the back of a thick collar piece around its neck, thick, hard looking shoulder pads, clawed hands, two long sharp cape like structures drooping from each shoulder, tough looking armour that was coloured dark purple and three clawed feet. The robot looked very intimidating and terrifying and its swords glistened in the sun like diamonds in a jewel box. Dr. Eggman and Alonzo stared in fear at the robot and then they climbed out of Egg-Dragon's cockpit and ran for it as fast as they could. The robot watched them run away and then it sheathed both its swords in a sword sheath on either side of its waist. It turned towards Sonic, Tails and Cosmo, who had watched the whole thing in amazement and he wondered up to them, its feet clanked a metallic clank as he walked up to them. He stopped before the downed Sonic and he looked down at them with his yellow optics.

"Fear not little hedgehog." said the robot "I shall not harm an innocent little being like you."

Its voice was low and sinister sounding and it had heavy reverberation in the background which surrounded his voice with an ominous echo.

"Thanks for...saving us...swords-bot." said Sonic, grateful about the fact he had been saved from certain death "Who are...you and...why...did you help us?"

"My name is Rorda the Swords Bot, Guardian of Cygnus X-387, my Homeworld." introduced the robot "I helped you because I came here looking for two convicts whom I believe are on this planet and I saw you were in trouble so I decided to stop that giant dragon-bot for you. I despise evil and I hope to purge the galaxy of all evil."

"We're very grateful to you for saving us Rorda." said Tails "Who are the two convicts you're looking for?"

"Two robots named Horda and Borda." said Rorda "I do believe they are here right now. Where are they?"

No sooner had Rorda asked the question, Horda and Borda revealed themselves and they crept nervously up to Rorda. They looked very worried at the fact Rorda was there right now and demanding to see them. Rorda glared at Horda and Borda.

"Found you at last you two mistakes of machine kind!" hissed Rorda "I shall take you back to Cygnus X-387 immediately and turn you both into scrap metal!"

"You know these two?" asked Cosmo.

"Affirmative." said Rorda "Horda and Borda were failed experiments of mine. I wanted some associates to help me protect my planet from peril so I began creating robots to aid me in my guardian work but something went wrong and they became destruction hungry demons. I've been chasing these two for years and now I've finally caught them both, I can erase the mistakes I've made and destroy those two."

"No Rorda! Please! Have mercy on us!" begged Borda, getting down on his knees.

"We're sorry for all the trouble we've been causing!" cried Horda "Don't destroy us!"

"SILENCE!" bellowed Rorda.

Horda and Borda stopped begging and they shut up.

"You two are coming me with and you are going to be destroyed." said Rorda coldly "That's the most you deserve from all the destruction you've been causing to other worlds."

"Thank goodness." said Sonic with a huge sigh of relief "I'm getting sick of those...two trying to destroy our cities."

"I feared that's what these two monsters were doing here." said Rorda grimly "I hope they haven't caused too much trouble for you animal creatures."

"They've hardly been a...challenge for me really." boasted Sonic "I kicked their butts twice already and we...would have made it a third if... Dr. Eggman didn't come in and interfere."

"That is fortunate to know." said Rorda "Well hedgehog, these two will never bother your kind again. I'll be going now to take these two to be executed for their crimes against me and the galaxy."

He grabbed Horda and Borda by the shoulders and lifted them both off the ground.

"I bid you farewell hedgehog and our paths may cross again sometime soon." said Rorda "Maybe I can help you defeat that rotund person with the peculiar structure of hair protruding from under his nasal apparatus."

"I hope...we meet again Rorda." said Sonic "You're...way past...cool and we all owe you big...time for...saving our lives."

Rorda nodded and said "The pleasure is mine hedgehog. I have a fondness for saving lives and I was proud to save you and your friend's lives. You all look like interesting creatures. This is one planet I won't mind visiting again."

And with that, Rorda walked away, carrying Horda and Borda by their shoulders. The two robots wailed loud, electronic wails as they were carried away by the tall, imposing Rorda. Sonic, Tails and Cosmo watched Rorda walk off with Horda and Borda in hand until he vanished from sight. After Rorda had left, Sonic forced himself to sit upright even though he still felt rather weak and he turned to Tails.

"Well, talk about ironic." chuckled Sonic "I'm...constantly fighting against robots...and I ended up getting saved by one!"

"That is ironic." laughed Tails "I think I like this Rorda guy. He thinks we're interesting creatures."

"It feels...nice to be...complimented for once..." said Sonic "What with...Eggman and Marik...constantly talking bad about...us...Mobians."

"I don't see why anybody wouldn't find you Mobians interesting." said Cosmo "I certainly think you're interesting."

"We know...Cosmo and we're appreciative...of that." said Sonic weakly, rubbing his back tenderly with the back of his hand "As for Rorda...I wonder what he's like in battle? I bet...he'd kick Eggman's butt...every time if he was on our side...he beat Egg-Dragon...as if...he...was nothing!"

"Yeah and neither of us could lay a dent on him." said Tails "Rorda must be very powerful or maybe Egg-Dragon just wasn't designed to match his strength like it was built to match ours."

"Well at least Egg-Dragon is destroyed." said Sonic "Now we...can get the Chaos...Emeralds...back...provided Dr. Eggman hasn't...taken them with him...after he fled."

Tails twisted his tails around one another and he flew up to the destroyed Egg-Dragon. Only it's head was mostly intact, everything else had been reduced to a miserable wreck of steel and robot parts and the head was where the Chaos Emeralds were so Tails flew onto the head and peered into the machine's broken eyes. He saw the gleaming seven Chaos Emeralds glowing brightly in unison in the machine's cockpit control pad. Dr. Eggman had left them behind after fleeing for his life after Rorda destroyed Egg-Dragon. The control pad was surprisingly still intact despite the damages done to Egg-Dragon's head after falling off its neck section but the control pad was practically useless now since the machine it was supposed to be a control pad for is destroyed. Tails flew over to the useless control pad and he snatched the Chaos Emeralds out of their sockets. Tails flew out of Egg-Dragon's head while carrying the Chaos Emeralds in his hands and he landed in front of Sonic and showed him the Chaos Emeralds.

"Eggman left the Chaos Emeralds behind luckily." said Tails "We have them all now. Eggman can't use their power for his robots ever again."

"That's real swell." said Sonic, taking the blue Chaos Emerald out of Tails' hands and admiring it's bright shiny glow "Now we can use their power to...vanquish Dr. Eggman...once and for all!"

"I think you all need to heal up first." said Cosmo softly "None of you are in the right condition to fight. You're all beaten rather badly so you could all do with a good rest."

"To be honest...I think you're right." said Sonic, rubbing one of his quills casually "I feel like I can barely...stand and everybody's...still...knocked out from earlier."

The moment he said that though, all the knocked out Mobians began to stir and mumble to themselves. Amy and Cream both sat up and began rubbing their heads, Bunnie got up onto her knees and picked up the missing part of her robot arm and stared at it in despair, Vector pushed Espio and Charmy off himself and sat upright. Espio and Charmy did the same thing and Charmy began rubbing his antennas. Geoffrey and Wilson got up onto their hands and knees and began groaning like a ghoul that haunted a graveyard. Rouge sat up right and began rubbing her wings tenderly and Knuckles got up onto his hands and knees and he crawled over to Sonic, Tails and Cosmo.

"Hey Sonic..." he grunted, opening one eye and keeping the other one closed "How are we still alive? And...what...happened...to Egg-Dragon?"

"Eggman was about to kill us until a robot from a planet called Cygnus named Rorda sliced Egg-Dragon's head off...and brought the whole machine crashing down to the ground." said Sonic "He even arrested Horda and Borda and said he was going to take them away to be destroyed."

"A robot named Rorda saved our lives?" said Knuckles in surprise "And...he arrested Horda and Borda? I wonder...why...he did that?"

"He claims to be the guardian of his home planet and he came here looking for Horda and Borda because he wanted to execute them for their crimes against the galaxy." explained Tails "And he saved our lives out of sheer generosity. He finds us Mobians interesting apparently."

"Well...saved by a robot..." said Geoffrey with a weak smile "And we're...always battling them blighters...talk about irony eh mates?"

"I hope this Rorda guy comes here again and helps us fight Eggman." said Amy "He sounds like a nice robot."

"He's a powerful robot too." said Sonic "He has two swords and he sliced Egg-Dragon's head off in one clean swipe!"

"Well we could definitely...do with...a guy like...him on...our side." said Knuckles with a grin "Dr. Eggman wouldn't...know what...hit him..."

"He definitely won't know...what hit him." said Sonic "Especially since we now have all seven Chaos Emeralds. Eggman was stupid enough to leave them behind believe it or not!"

Knuckles chuckled a weak but hearty chuckle.

"Eggman's gonna get...what's coming to...him!" said Knuckles with an evil grin on his face "With the seven Chaos Emeralds on our side...we can use their power to put an end to his evil at long last!"

"We should rest first." said Sonic "We could all do with one right now. And once we're rested...we can stroll over to Robotropolis and give Eggman the surprise of a life time!"

What Sonic didn't know was HE was going to get the shock of a life time and it wouldn't be from Dr. Eggman...

Meanwhile, Rorda had not taken Horda and Borda away to be destroyed at all. He had brought them to his space ship which was long and narrow much like a stealth plane and it had four engines in the back that could make the ship go at the speed of light. It was armed with enormous Gatling guns located under its wings which were swept back to allow the air to flow past the jet quicker. Once they were aboard the ship, Rorda threw them both down on the floor with an enormous thump.

"You stupid idiots!" he snarled at the two robots "Why did you not follow my plans as exactly?"

"We did Master!" snapped Horda "You told us to go to Mobius and cause collateral damage to its largest cities!"

"That was not the plan at all!" retorted Rorda, his cold yellow eyes narrowing into an evil death glare "The plan was to go to Mobius, fool the Mobians into thinking we had peaceful intentions for the planet, find out what Mobius' largest and most populated cities were and THEN destroy them! Why did you not do as you were told?"

Horda tried to argue back but he had no answer to give for his master was completely in the right and he was completely in the wrong.

"We forgot the part about fooling the inhabitants." said Horda glumly "Sorry master."

"Your apology will be taken into consideration you pair of dunces." said Rorda "Right now, I want a status report."

"Well we haven't got anything to report right now." said Borda timidly he clasped his hands together and shook like a leaf "Except for the fact we still don't know...which...

cities...on...Mobius...are...the...largest and most...pop...u...lated..." he stammered weakly.

Rorda remained completely clam and he resisted the urge to stab Borda in the chest with his deadly sword.

"I think we should have a change of plan." said Rorda "Never mind destroying some large cities, we'll destroy the entire PLANET instead. And since the Mobians think I'm a good guy, they'll never suspect a thing about me being behind the planet's destruction."

Horda and Borda stared at each other with their mouths gaping open.

"B-b-but master! Destroy the entire PLANET?" screeched Horda "Really? We don't have the kind of power for that!"

"Yes we do my feeble-minded fools." purred Rorda "We can combine together to form the unstoppable Charcaronda (pronounced CAR-ca-RON-da) remember?"

"Oh yeah." said Borda "We're a force to be reckoned with when we form that beast!"

"But Rorda, why are we destroying the entire planet?" cried Horda "You know the law of Cygnus X-387! We are permitted to destroy cities and civilization, but we're prohibited from destroying planets!"

"I do not care what that primitive law of ours states." growled Rorda "I am doing things my way and I say we're destroying the planet."

"Why though?" asked Borda.

"You two have been made fools of by those Mobians twice before so they must pay for it." stated Rorda, lightly running the tip of his claw up and down the huge blade of his sword "And we don't know which are the best cities to target so we may as well destroy the entire planet, we'll destroy EVERY city that way. And if those primitive cop-bots don't like my actions, tough for them, they'll never be able to arrest me and you two since we're too powerful and too clever to be caught by them."

"You're absolutely right." said Horda "So when do we start?"

"First thing tomorrow afternoon." said Rorda darkly, sheathing his sword "The end of Mobius will begin once we combine together and form Charcaronda. We'll split the planet apart like an egg and no one can stop us!"

And with that, the three robots began laughing in unison at the very thought of Mobius being reduced to asteroids and space rocks floating through the emptiness of space once they had finished with it...

The very next morning, Sonic had gathered all his friends around to his house to plan on their next attack on Dr. Eggman and his robot army. Despite their injuries from their battles with Metal Sonic, Marik and Egg-Dragon, they had all made a steady recovery and now everybody was fit and ready to fight once again. Sonic, Tails, Knuckles, Amy, Cream, Wilson, Bunnie, Espio, Vector and Charmy all sat down on the ground in a circle and Sonic looked around the circle to see if everybody was there. Two people were missing and those two were Geoffrey St. John and Cosmo.

"Um…where are Geoffrey and Cosmo at?" asked Sonic.

"Cosmo wanted to go berry picking for some reason and Geoffrey's keeping an eye on her in case anything goes wrong." explained Wilson "They'll hopefully be with us as soon as possible."

"OK Wilson." said Sonic "Now everybody, I guess you know why we're all here right now."

"Yes." said Knuckles "We're planning our next move on Dr. Eggman."

"That's right." said Sonic "And I think I have one."

"So what is it Mr. Sonic?" asked Cream politely "Please tell us."

Sonic said nothing. He just pulled out the seven Chaos Emeralds and lay them down on the ground in front of him where they all glowed brightly in unison. Everybody stared at the glowing emeralds.

"We're gonna go over to Robotropolis and I'll use the emerald's power to smash the city to smithereens." said Sonic.

"Are ya'll sure about that sugah-hog?" asked Bunnie with a tone of concern in her voice "Ah mean, do ya'll know how to use the emerald's power or anything?"

"If I can use the power of the Master Emerald then I can use the power of these." said Sonic, remembering the time he went super during the Mecha Sonic agenda*.

"The power of the seven Chaos Emeralds is similar to the power of the Master Emerald so I think Sonic will be fine with the emeralds." said Knuckles.

"So that's the plan then?" asked Tails "We just waltz over to Robotropolis and destroy it with the emerald's power?"

"Exactly." said Sonic with his trademark grin on his face "We're gonna kick Eggman outta Mobius once and for all and these emeralds will be the key to our victory!" he declared with a triumphant tone in his voice.

"I hope you're right." said Espio "I can't stand that fat man for another minute."

Sonic nodded and then said "We'll leave here in a couple minutes and be off to Robotropolis."

"But what about Geoffrey and Cosmo?" asked Amy "They're not back yet."

"We'll have to leave without them if they're not here by the time we depart." said Sonic "I get impatient if I'm kept waiting for long. I'll leave them a note saying we've gone if they're not back by the time we go."

Speaking of Geoffrey and Cosmo, they were in the surrounding forests of Green Hill Zone, not far away from where Sonic and friends were. Cosmo had wanted to go berry picking since she fancied a few berries for tea and Geoffrey offered to keep watch on her since Cosmo was defenceless and if she happened to be in danger, she would need someone to help her. Cosmo just reached through the bushes and picked the plumpest and juiciest berries she could find and put them in the basket she carried in her other arm while Geoffrey stood by her and kept his beady eyes open for the first sign of danger. So far, everything had been peaceful and nothing suspicious had been going on, it was just a peaceful, normal day in the forest right now. Unfortunately for Cosmo, Geoffrey was beginning to get a little impatient as he waited for her to finish berry picking. Geoffrey just stood by the bush she was picking out of, tapping his foot and scowling a little.

"Man oh man…" he muttered to himself "Why did I offer to look after flower girl while she picks berries for herself? I hope she bloomin' hurries up though, I bet Sonic's getting impatient waiting for us to show up and join in with his meeting!"

Geoffrey turned to Cosmo, who had just picked another ripe berry and put it in the basket.

"Hey flower girl, you mind hurrying up a little?" asked Geoffrey, trying not to sound too rude or demanding "Sonic might be waiting for us."

"OK Mr. St. John." said Cosmo "I've only got a few more to pick and I'm finished."

So Cosmo searched through the bushes and picked nine more ripe, plump berries and put them in the basket. Geoffrey peered into the basket Cosmo held in her other arm. The bottom of the basket was full of berries, you couldn't see the wicker of the basket under the sea of berries that Cosmo had picked.

"Crikey, you picked a lot mate." said Geoffrey "I guess you really like berries then."

"I love berries." said Cosmo "That's why I wanted to pick some so I could eat them for tea later. I haven't eaten any berries all the while I've been here so I decided to have some. I bet the berries on Mobius are just as nice as the berries on my Homeworld."

"You'll like them Cosmo." said Geoffrey "Freshly picked berries in Green Hill Zone are the best you can get. I loved it when me mother made blueberry pie out of freshly picked blueberries from this very forest. Very nice, mmm, mmm." he said, thinking of the days of his childhood and how lovely blueberry pie tasted.

Cosmo just pulled a funny face at Geoffrey.

"You can use berries to make a pie?" she said.

"Sure you can rosebud." said Geoffrey with a cheery smile "I would have thought you'd have known that, do the people of your world not do that kind of thing on your planet?"

"No actually." said Cosmo "Our pies are made of different foods but a bet a pie made of berries would be very nice."

Before Geoffrey could say anything to Cosmo, they both heard a noise coming from deeper into the forest. It sounded like a boarding ramp lowering down and something walking up the ramp with heavy clanking sounds coming from their feet. The noise made Geoffrey wonder and Cosmo feel nervous.

"D-did you hear that Mr. St. John?" asked Cosmo.

"I sure did Cosmo." said Geoffrey quietly "Sounds like somebody's boarding a ship or summet. Let's investigate it shall we?"

"What if it's a machine piloted by Dr. Eggman?" asked Cosmo worriedly.

"Then we can show him why it's not wise to mess with us Mobians." said Geoffrey with a smug smirk on his face.

He loaded his arm mounted crossbow and crept through the silent forest, making sure not to make a sudden noise that would give him away. Cosmo put her basket of berries down and crept after Geoffrey. The two silently waded through the tall grass and lower hanging branches as they tried to find the source of the noise they had just heard a minute ago. They didn't have to go for long though, after a few minutes of walking quietly through the forest, they came to a large open area of woodland with no trees around. What they saw was a sight to behold. They saw a long sleek stealthy looking jet with four jet engines and Gatling guns under the wings. Geoffrey and Cosmo stared at it with the jaws agape. This looked like something Eggman had built but they couldn't be too sure it was Eggman's, it could belong to aliens or something.

"Blimey." whispered Geoffrey "That's one heck of a ship isn't it?"

"I wonder who it belongs to." whispered Cosmo "I do hope it's not a Martian ship, I don't want to tangle with another Martian after all the hell Marik's put me through."

They wouldn't have to be wondering on who owned the ship for long though because they heard the sound of clanking feet coming from inside the ship. Something or someone was coming out of the ship and it was coming down the lowered boarding ramp. Geoffrey and Cosmo took cover as the thing walked down the boarding ramp and onto the grassy ground that awaited it. Geoffrey and Cosmo peeked from their hiding place, which was behind a rose bush and saw what the thing was. It was Rorda the Swords Bot, the very robot that had saved the lives of Sonic and friends yesterday. He looked around to see if the coast was clear. His yellow optics swept over the forest like a sweep being swept across the floor. Everything was clear so Rorda turned to the right and he walked away, deep into the forest to observe a few things. Cosmo and Geoffrey watched Rorda walk away and then they looked at each other.

"Who's the robot?" asked Geoffrey "It's certainly not an Eggman robot. It looks too powerful to be an Eggman robot."

"That's Rorda, the one who saved our lives yesterday." said Cosmo "But what's he doing here? I thought he'd left to execute Horda and Borda for their crimes against the galaxy."

"Maybe he wants to help us again." suggested Geoffrey "Well at least we know it's nothing to be concerned about, let's go Cosmo."

The skunk turned to leave but Cosmo didn't follow him. Instead she pushed her way through the rose bush and ran up to the ship. Its boarding ramp was still lowered for some reason. Geoffrey turned around and saw Cosmo running to the ship and he ran after her as fast as he could.

"Cosmo! Come back!" he hissed "If that Rorda bloke catches you on his ship, he won't be happy!"

"I want to find out what he's doing here." said Cosmo, looking over her shoulder as she ran "And the only way to do this is to sneak onto the ship and investigate."

Geoffrey groaned in annoyance but said nothing more as he ran on to catch up with Cosmo. Cosmo ran up the boarding ramp and into the ship. Unfortunately for Geoffrey, the boarding ramp rose up and closed before he could get to it. Geoffrey groaned to himself and stood back from the ship. He hoped Cosmo would be able to get off the ship before Rorda discovered she was onboard.

As for the little Seedrian, now she was onboard the ship, she began to quietly creep through the corridor as she headed to the cockpit, the likeliest place she would find some answers. Cosmo tip-toed as silently as she possibly could, trying her hardest not to make a sound. So far, she hadn't made a noise and she had almost reached the cockpit. But as she got nearer to the cockpit, she began to hear voices coming from inside the cockpit. Voices that sounded a little familiar. Cosmo tip-toed up to the wall and she pressed her back against it. She edged quietly to the doorway so she could listen in on the voices she could hear in the cockpit. The voices she could hear where the voices of none other then Horda and Borda. They were talking to each other about their nefarious scheme that they and Rorda would soon be putting into action.

"Where's Rorda gone now?" asked Borda.

"He's making sure no one's snooping around on us." said Horda "He wants his attack to be completely unknown to the Mobians so he's making sure there's no one around here now."

Attack? What attack? Cosmo wondered in her mind.

"I'm so looking forward to the part where we destroy the planet." said Borda wickedly "I hate this planet and I hate the Mobians, especially the scary pink girl with the big hammer."

"She'll die along with the others when me, you and Rorda form Charcaronda and split the planet open like an egg." said Horda evilly "This'll be one moment of destruction I'll enjoy and we don't have to worry about getting arrested because the cop-bots will never be able to catch us."

"I doubt they'll even know we're the ones who destroyed Mobius." said Borda "For all we know, they'll probably blame it on someone else and forget about it so we'll be in the clear."

"Possibly." said Horda "And when we return, Rorda will keep up the subtlety and act like we've not done anything suspicious while we've been out in the galaxy so the cops will remain completely in the dark. This is definitely the perfect plan and we have our master Rorda to thank for it! Ha, ha, ha, ha!"

Cosmo's stomach did a flip in shock and her heart skipped a beat. Rorda is a bad guy and he's Horda and Borda's master? And he's planning to destroy Mobius? This was terrible! She had to tell Sonic immediately and warn him before Rorda, Horda and Borda destroyed the planet! Unfortunately, that didn't seem possible right now. Cosmo tip-toed away from the cockpit and she looked over her shoulder to make sure no one had spotted her and she bumped straight into Rorda! The swords bot had returned from his look around and he didn't look pleased to see an intruder on his ship. He glared at Cosmo angrily and the Seedrian was so frightened, her leafy hair shook like leaves being blown in the wind.

"Well, it appears I have a nosy little worm on my ship." said Rorda dryly, drawing both his swords out and pointing them straight at Cosmo's chest, forcing the Seedrian against the wall where she was trapped and had no chance of escape. Cosmo's legs trembled and sweat poured down her head like rainfall.

"I cannot stand people spying on me and my henchmen you know so I'm afraid I'm going to have to relieve you of your life little girl." said Rorda, his voice as cold as a blizzard in the Arctic "But don't worry, this won't be painful for long, it'll be over rather quickly in all honesty."

Cosmo gulped.

"Master, what's going on?" cried Horda.

He and Borda ran out of the cockpit and they stopped beside Rorda, who held Cosmo at sword point against the wall.

"We have a spy." said Rorda "And I'm going to exterminate it before she can reveal our plans to that wretched hedgehog."

"Ooh this will be fun!" said Horda nastily "Stab her good and hard Rorda!"

"Yeah, teach her a lesson for spying on us!" added Borda.

Rorda drew the swords back and he lunged at Cosmo. Desperate to live, Cosmo quickly ducked, leaving Rorda to plunge both his swords into the wall and get them stuck. Then Cosmo crawled through Rorda's legs while the robot was trying to free his swords from the wall and ran for it before the swords bot could pulls his big, deadly swords out of the wall. Rorda spotted Cosmo escaping.

"Don't stand there you scrap brains! Get that putrid plant girl!" snarled Rorda as he continued to pull on his swords and try to free them from the wall.

"Yes sir!" cried Horda and Borda, deploying their weapons and running down the corridor after Cosmo.

The Seedrian ran as fast as her little legs could carry her. She looked over her shoulder and noticed to her horror, Horda and Borda were thundering down the corridor with their weapons in hand. This made Cosmo run even faster. She began to pant heavily as she ran on and on, desperate to escape her pursuers. Cosmo had almost made it to the end of the corridor and to her enormous luck, the boarding ramp hadn't risen back up from after Rorda had re-entered the ship. Horda held his twin-torches close to one another and they both emitted a huge flame that roared louder then a pride of lions and soared towards Cosmo like a giant fiery arrow. Cosmo was struck in the back by the blast of fire and she fell onto the floor and rolled across it. She didn't stop though; she rolled straight down the boarding ramp and out of the ship where Geoffrey St. John was waiting for her. The skunk hadn't bothered to go into the ship in case he riled anybody and he was rather shocked to see Cosmo rolling down the ramp and looking injured and a little burnt. Geoffrey picked Cosmo up and held her to his face.

"Cosmo! What the heck is going on?" blurted Geoffrey "Is someone trying to make a campfire outta ya?"

"Geoffrey, we've gotta get outta here and warn Sonic!" gasped

Cosmo "Rorda is evil and he's Horda and Borda's master! They're going to try and destroy Mobius!"

Geoffrey was so shocked by that sudden revelation he almost dropped poor Cosmo onto the ground! His pupils shrunk down into tiny dots of horror and his eyes widened.

"R-R-Rorda is e-e-evil?" squeaked Geoffrey "B-b-but he s-saved our lives yesterday!"

"I'm guessing he did that to win our trust." said Cosmo "I bet the whole thing was a trick so that we would believe Rorda is on our side when really he's not and he was never going to arrest Horda and Borda in the first place, he only came here to recruit them and put his plan into action and since we thought Rorda is a good guy, we would be completely unaware about it until it was too late."

Geoffrey snapped out of his flabbergasted state and put back on his usual serious but cocky tone.

"Well that's all we needed to know!" said Geoffrey "Come on Cosmo, let's flee for it and warn Sonic before those three blokes put their plan into action!"

"No one is going anywhere!" snarled a fierce, gravely voice that came from the top of the boarding ramp.

Horda and Borda had caught up with Cosmo and they stomped down the boarding ramp with their weapons blazing. Geoffrey primed his crossbow and he aimed it at the two robots while Cosmo hid fearfully behind the skunk's back.

"Back off you blighters!" snarled Geoffrey "Or I'll make scrap metal outta ya!"

"You can't take us both, skunk!" sneered Borda, his saw blades glistening like a ruby in the sunshine.

"Would you like to try and prove your theory bolt brain?" dared Geoffrey, a cocky smirk spread out on the skunk's lips as he prepared to fire his weapon.

That did it. Horda and Borda roared and they ran up to Geoffrey with their weapons ready to roast and slice him all at once. But Geoffrey was a strong fighter and he was extremely experienced in combat so he wouldn't be going down so easily. The moment Horda and Borda were close enough, Geoffrey fired two darts at the two robots. One dart hit Horda in the optic and the other dart hit Borda in the optic. The two robots screamed in pain and they clutched their eyes, trying to pull the dart out of them. Geoffrey immediately cut loose on them with a solid punch to the stomach to both robots, a kick to the knee on both robots and then he flipped into the air and did a split-kick in between them on their heads and knocked them both other. Horda dropped his torches and Geoffrey grabbed them both. He slammed one torch on Horda's head, breaking the left spike above Horda's visor and smashing the torch to pieces and then he slammed the other torch on Borda's head. The torch broke into pieces and Borda was left with a small dent above his visor. Now Horda and Borda were out of commission, Geoffrey grabbed Cosmo by the hand and ran as fast as he could. The moment they disappeared into the deep, dense forest though, Rorda emerged from within the ship and he stomped down the boarding ramp and onto the grassy ground below. Rorda had finally managed to pull his swords out of the wall and he had sheathed them both and ran to the ramp so he could catch Cosmo. He looked very angry at the fact his henchmen had just been beaten and he was even angrier at the fact Cosmo had escaped and was probably on her way to tell Sonic his plans. He scowled at the defeated Horda and Borda lying on the ground groaning and he kicked them both very viciously, earning a pained cry from both of them.

"You useless pair of copper bolts!" he growled "I cannot even trust you two to apprehend a simple plant creature! Why did I ever hire you two as my henchmen?"

"I dunno Rorda." said Horda "But we must catch up with the girl and skunk. They'll tell Sonic everything and Sonic will destroy us!"

"No they will not." said Rorda coldly "We're going to put the plan into action now. My scanners are detecting Sonic and his friends are on the move somewhere and they're far away from the plant girl so she'll never reach him in time. By the time she reaches him, Mobius will be nothing but asteroids."

"Do you know where Sonic is?" asked Borda.

"Affirmative." said Rorda "He's heading to a robot city which is occupied by the fat man with the weird nasal structure according to my scanners. I'll upload the co-ordinates into the ship's navigational system and we'll head there right now."

With that said, Rorda, Horda and Borda ran back into the ship and into the cockpit. They all sat themselves down in the pilot's seats and Rorda uploaded some co-ordinates into ship's navigational systems while Horda and Borda got the ship started. The ship roared into life and Rorda pulled back on the controls. The ship rose slowly off the ground and slowly rotated around and then rocketed off like a speeding bullet. It was a very fast ship and they would be at Robotropolis in a matter of seconds.

Meanwhile, Geoffrey and Cosmo had run all the way to Sonic's house, the very place Sonic had gathered everybody around to for his meeting, so they could warn Sonic and friends about Rorda. The only problem was…nobody was there! The place was completely empty as if Sonic and friends had just left right now! Geoffrey looked around wildly for any signs of life but he couldn't find a single soul in sight. Cosmo went into the house and looked around in there but there was nobody in the house. There was nobody anywhere, the only people around where Cosmo and Geoffrey. Cosmo came back out of the house and Geoffrey stopped looking around wildly for Sonic and friends.

"There's nobody home and nobody around!" cried Cosmo "I think Sonic got tired of waiting for us so he left to Robotropolis without us!"

"I can see that!" yelled Geoffrey "We can't warn them if they're not here, we have to get to Robotropolis and fast!"

"But how?" cried Cosmo desperately "We don't have anyway of getting to Robotropolis quickly do we?"

"We have one." said Geoffrey "I'll go and get my motorbike that I rode over to Green Hill Zone before I had to keep an eye on you. You stay there while I go get it."

And with that, Geoffrey quickly ran off and disappeared into the dense forest. When Geoffrey had been requested to come around along with everybody else, he rode to Green Hill Zone on a motorbike he borrowed from Royal HQ in Empire City and he had left it in the forest while he watched Cosmo berry picking so he needed to get it in order to get to Robotropolis. Cosmo waited for the skunk to come back. Her stomach tingled with fear and she fretted on whether she and Geoffrey would make it in time. After a couple of minutes of waiting, the sound of a motorbike throttle was heard and Geoffrey emerged from the forest on his motorbike. The bike was coloured the same colour as Geoffrey's combat suit and it was a very futuristic looking bike with a very sleek design and uniquely designed windshield and wheel guards. Geoffrey had a motorbike helmet on since by law, you had to wear a helmet whilst riding a motorbike. Cosmo climbed onto the bike and held on tight as Geoffrey sped off on the motorbike. The bike roared loudly and sped through Green Hill Zone at an amazing speed.

"Hang on Sonic, we're on our way!" cried Geoffrey.

Meanwhile at Robotropolis, Sonic and friends had arrived at the Iron Gates and fences that separated them from the city. They all stared at the fences, wondering what to do first. Sonic knew he couldn't spin-dash threw them since he'd had a tough time breaking and entering through the gates the first time Robotropolis had been built.

"So what do we do Sonic?" asked Knuckles "Do we break into the city or what?"

"No we don't Knuckles." said Sonic "I'm gonna use these emeralds and tear the city apart piece by piece, we don't need to break in."

"Well if you just need to use the emerald's power to destroy this place then why did you bother bringing us here Sonic?" demanded

Knuckles "It's pretty obvious you don't need us for this!"

"I brought you guys along in case everything goes kaput and I'll end up needing backup." said Sonic "And I thought you lot would get great pleasure in watching Eggman's city fall to the ground."

"I certainly would!" said Amy with a devious smile on her face "I can't stand that stupid Eggman and he destroys our cities so it's fair we destroy his and see how he likes it!"

"There you go." said Sonic snidely "Now stand back everyone, this may work or it may not and I don't want you all to get hurt in case it does go wrong."

Everybody stood back from Sonic and Sonic prepared to pull the Chaos Emeralds out and use them. But before Sonic could do anything, a huge bird-like robot flew over the iron fence and swooped over the Mobians like a diving eagle. Everybody ducked to dodge the swooping robot and the robot only just missed them. The robot spread out its huge wings and it landed on the ground. The robot was shaped like a huge peacock with wing feathers all made of ferociously sharp blades, huge tail feathers much like a real peacocks that were actually missiles and all painted with colourful details to match a real peacock's, a beak as sharp as a flint and four wicked talons on each foot. The robot had a laser cannon in its beak. The robot was piloted by none other then Dr. Eggman and Alonzo, who were station in the robot's torso section. Eggman glared at the Mobians from inside the cockpit, his scowl looked very frightening and serious.

"Sonic, you've been cheating death for far too long now!" declared Dr. Eggman "But you will not cheat death with me this time! My Egg-Peacock will destroy you once and for all!"

Sonic scoffed at the ranting maniac.

"Pfft! Must you call every machine you build "egg-something"? It's getting old and tedious now!" moaned Sonic.

"It's MY machine and I decide what I call it you meddlesome maggot!" roared Dr. Eggman "Now let me show you how this machine works!"

"OK, then I'll see how these Chaos Emeralds work!" sneered Sonic, pulling the seven emeralds out and showing them to Dr. Eggman.

"Nobody will be seeing how anything works!" came a voice of steel that made Sonic and Eggman both jump in surprise.

Sonic and Eggman turned and saw a sleek, jet-like spaceship with its boarding ramp deployed and it's occupants out in the open. It was Rorda, Horda and Borda. The three robots stood there in a line with their hands on their hips and angry scowls on their face. Dr. Eggman immediately began to worry whereas Sonic beamed with delight. The other Mobians didn't know whether they should be thrilled or horrified since they hadn't seen Rorda before except for Tails, who beamed with Sonic.

"Rorda! You're back!" cried Sonic "Great, how's about helping us kick some Eggman butt again?"

"No." said Rorda flatly "I am not here to aid anyone in their fights. I am here to end the existence of your world."

"WHAT?" shrieked Sonic and Tails together.

The others gasped in surprise and Dr. Eggman just stared at Rorda in surprise. First Rorda destroys his greatest machine and stops him from killing Sonic and now he wants to destroy Mobius? What was going on with that robot?

"Are you kidding?" cried Sonic "You're kidding right? I must have heard you wrong!"

"You heard him correct hedgehog." said Horda "We're destroying Mobius and you cannot stop us!"

"Yeah, you cannot stop us!" sneered Borda.

"How are you two here?" demanded Tails "Rorda took you two away to be destroyed!"

"Incorrect." said Rorda "I did not take them away to be destroyed, I took them to my ship to plan my move. You see Mobians, I am not a guardian of my Homeworld at all, I am Horda and Borda's master and I crave destruction like they do. I didn't like it when you two made fools of my henchmen so after a while I decided it's time I joined in the fray."

Sonic clenched his fists in anger and he gritted his teeth.

"You scum!" yelled Sonic, rushing up to Rorda in a blind fury "How dare you deceive us all like that!"

Rorda just merely punched Sonic to the side and sent the hedgehog crashing side-first into the ground and skidding for a moment before coming to a stop. Horda and Borda laughed at the downed hedgehog. Tails and Amy ran over to Sonic to comfort him.

"You had it coming you fools." said Rorda "If you had just let Horda and Borda do their collateral damage here, I wouldn't have stooped down to this level. And now I'm giving you what you deserve. And to destroy the planet, I shall be showing you my strongest form."

Rorda leaped into the air, followed by Horda and Borda. Rorda held his arms out to the side and he, Horda and Borda began to glow very brightly. The Mobians and Dr. Eggman looked up into the sky to see what was happening. Then suddenly Rorda, Horda and Borda all fired a beam of energy down at the ship and the ship was reduced to smithereens. The moment the ship was destroyed; all the debris levitated up into the sky and began to swirl around the three robots like a killer tornado. The debris began to build a colossal shape up around Rorda and Rorda began to increase in size. Horda and Borda began to increase in size also and they began to transform into something. The sky was full of whirring sounds and clashing metal as the ship's debris slammed against Rorda and began building a huge shape around him. Rorda's head began to change shape as the debris continued forming something and Horda and Borda had just transformed into a pair of arms. The shape the debris was forming was very big and very monstrous looking and it looked very deadly too. The arms formed by Horda and Borda connected to Rorda's arms and they slotted neatly into place. Rorda's head had finished changing shape and his swords formed two spikes on top of the new head. The debris finished swirling around and the shape it had been building had been completed. The finishing result was absolutely terrifying and the Mobians all gasped in horror at what they were looking at. Even Dr. Eggman couldn't believe what he was seeing. Rorda, Horda and Borda had transformed into an enormous robot that was bigger then a thirty story building. The robot had a huge, hunched over head with four spikes, two pointing straight up and the other two sprouting out to the sides and bull shaped, ferocious looking eyes, a striped dome in place of a mouth, a large, tough looking body, a giant backpack like structure on it's back and enormous arms. The arms had large curved spikes on the back of its shoulders that pointed straight up at the sky and four sharp claws on each hand. Horda formed the right arm and the right arm's wrist section had Horda's trademark visor spikes on them along with a flame deco going all the way around wrist. Borda formed the left arm and the left arm had Borda's trademark head spike with a saw tooth deco going all the way around the wrist. The robot didn't have legs; it had a large hexagonal structure as its waist and an enormous spike in place of legs. The spike had four additional spikes on the tip. The entire robot was red, silver and bronze with tinges of orange and purple in some places. This robot was known as Charcaronda, the very form Rorda had been talking about. Charcaronda was a terrifying robot with strength capable of destroying planets and was not a force to be reckoned with. The Mobians knew just be looking at the enormous creature that Charcaronda would not be taken down so easily. Charcaronda lifted its head and it roared a deafening, echoing, rumbling bellow of a roar that could easily bring a city down onto its knees. The whole planet seemed to shake around Sonic and friends as Charcaronda roared as loud as it could. The roar was so powerful, Egg-Peacock fell over onto its back and the Mobians were brought down onto their backs. Sonic stared up at the behemoth that loomed above the ground, ready to destroy Mobius once and for all…

Footnotes:

See Story 13

*Remember the circus park that turned out to be an Eggman

city in disguise from stories 17-18?

Rorda, Horda and Borda have become one! What does this mean for the people of Mobius? Is Mobius doomed or can Sonic use the Chaos Emeralds to defeat Charcaronda? Join me next time as Sonic goes SUPER SONIC! Reviews are welcome.

Robot Wars

Story 45: Robot Wars

Geoffrey and Cosmo arrived at the Northern Border of Megapolis on the motorbike at long last but what they had just come across was beyond what they were expecting. They had been expecting to see a massive fight between the Mobians and Dr. Eggman raging on, instead they were met with a giant robot with a giant spike in place of legs, huge arms and a monstrous appearance. The very sight of the machine made Geoffrey ground the bike to a halt and do a swerve as the bike braked and he and Cosmo stared in amazement at what they were looking at.

"I dunno about you Cosmo but I think we're too late!" gasped Geoffrey.

"What is that?" screeched Cosmo, bewildered by the sheer height and appearance of Charcaronda.

"I'm taking a wild guess and saying that's Rorda in super form." said Geoffrey, unaware he was completely right "But how did the blighter manage to find out where Sonic is?"

"That doesn't matter, we need to get to them now!" cried Cosmo.

Geoffrey started the engine and the motorbike roared back into life. The bike sped off closer towards Charcaronda.

As for the Mobians, they just continued to stare up at Charcaronda, not sure what to do to him. The giant robot remained hovering above the ground, staring down at the Mobians with its ferocious optics. Cream began to get scared looking at the robot so Amy hugged her to comfort her and Cream looked away from Charcaronda. Tails began hugging his two tails in fear, Team Chaotix didn't know what to make of the situation, Wilson began shaking and Sonic and Knuckles remained staring at it, unable to believe what they were looking at.

"So Rorda, Horda and Borda could all combine together…to form THAT?" screeched Sonic "That's one serious robot there!"

"I'll s-s-say!" said Tails, his voice wobblier then jelly on a plate "Th-th-that's b-b-better then anything D-D-Dr. Egg-m-man could e-ever make!"

"I am about to prove your theory wrong Tails!" roared Dr. Eggman "That machine maybe be huge and impressive but my machines will tear it to the ground!"

And with that, Egg-Peacock bent over, aimed its tail feather missiles at Charcaronda and fired them all at once. All fifteen missiles shot out of their sockets and roared towards the giant behemoth machine. Charcaronda made no attempts to defend himself, he just stood there and waited for the oncoming missiles to strike against him. The missiles all crashed and exploded against Charcaronda's tough armour and the air around Charcaronda was filled with thick black smoke as the missiles crashed into the giant machine. The Mobians watched the whole scene with anticipation, wondering if Egg-Peacock had actually done anything to the monstrous creature that loomed above them. Geoffrey and Cosmo pulled up beside the Mobians and stared up at Charcaronda as he was blasted by Eggman's missiles. Sonic spotted them.

"Geoff! Cosmo! You're just in time to join the party!" yelled Sonic.

"I know we are!" Geoffrey yelled back "And we're against probably the biggest robot we've ever come across!"

"Would you believe me if I said that thing's made up of Rorda, Horda and Borda?" asked Sonic.

"Yes I would!" answered Geoffrey "Little Cosmo found out Rorda's really a bad guy and we came here to warn you!"

"You're a little late though!" snorted Knuckles "Because we already know that now!"

The last missile struck against Charcaronda and exploded into smithereens. Egg-Peacock had fired all its tail feather missiles and it didn't have anymore so Dr. Eggman stood by and looked up at Charcaronda, hoping he had done some damage to him. After a very tense moment of waiting, the smoke began to drift away into nothingness revealing…a very mad and undamaged looking Charcaronda glaring down at them with his huge optics! Dr. Eggman looked like he was about to do a million double-takes in a matter of seconds.

"What the flying monkeys?" he screamed "My missiles didn't even dent it! "

"And that was a lot of missiles you fired!" cried Charmy Bee, flying around like a maniac and gibbering madly "We're toast against this thing!"

"Not yet we aren't!" yelled Sonic "Let's see if the good old spin-dash can stop that thing!"

"Sonic don't!" cried Tails, running up to stop him from spin-dashing Charcaronda "If…"

Too late, Sonic curled into a ball and charged straight up at Charcaronda in his trademark spin-dash. Charcaronda didn't do anything; he remained completely motionless and waited for Sonic to hit him. Sonic hit Charcaronda square in the forehead and pinged harmlessly off his armour and hurtled into the ground like a missile whizzing towards its target. Sonic skidded very painfully across the ground, creating a huge mound of dirt as he skidded and he ground to a halt. The skid had been so painful Sonic felt like his entire face had been ripped off by the impact. Tails ran over to Sonic.

"Sonic! Are you OK?" he asked, hoping for a positive answer.

Sonic picked himself up from the mound of dirt he'd made and he shook his dirtied face to get the soil off. He grimaced and groaned as he felt his scraped and grazed face which was stinging horribly.

"Ouch!" he grumbled "That's one tough robot!"

"I told you not to attack it!" said Tails crossly "If fifteen missiles can't lay a dent on that thing then we have no chance against it!"

"I didn't think it was going to be that tough!" snapped Sonic "That thing's so tough I doubt Knuckles could do any harm to it!"

Dr. Eggman was not the giving up type though. He began to madly fire Egg-Peacock's beak laser at Charcaronda. But the weak and feeble attacks on Charcaronda merely tickled the machine and Charcaronda didn't even seem to notice it was being shot at. He kept his eyes fixed on the Mobians, clearly happy at their terrified faces. Terrified faces brought great pleasure to Charcaronda and just by looming above the ground doing nothing and taking the punishment everybody was throwing at it made the robot as happy as a clown. Dr. Eggman got tired of firing Egg-Peacock's laser and decided to try something else desperately.

"That's it! Time for my last minute resort!" he yelled "All robots and weapons stations of Robotropolis! Focus all the fire power you have on this giant machine before you!" he ordered.

The thousands of robots that occupied the city obeyed and they aimed their many weapons at Charcaronda. Gun turrets and other laser weapons stationed in the buildings of the city all targeted Charcaronda and began opening fire at the machine. Charcaronda still remained motionless and did nothing whatsoever. He was bombarded by a shower of lasers but the colossal gestalt didn't seem to be affected by any blast that hit it. Robotropolis fired more then just lasers, it fired missiles and it fired as many as it possibly could but neither of the missiles could damage Charcaronda. Nobody could believe what they were seeing. Charcaronda was being showered by a city-scale onslaught that could bring a mountain crumbling to pieces and not one single laser blast or missile was doing any harm to Charcaronda! Charcaronda was a nigh-invulnerable machine meaning it was strong but not impossible to destroy but nothing on Mobius had the kind of power to destroy Charcaronda so Mobius would be doomed. Robotropolis kept up its onslaught but Charcaronda just continued to stand there and take the punishment. Then for the first time since the transformation, Charcaronda did something. He raised his enormous arms up and aimed them at Robotropolis. Then the Horda and Borda spikes on his wrists extended up and pointed straight forward. Then Charcaronda opened his hands and fired a huge electromagnetic pulse blast at Robotropolis. The blast exploded in front of the city and swept over the whole city in one enormous wave. The moment the EMP blast swept over everything, the weapons stopped firing and the city was brought to a standstill. Every single robot was horribly electrocuted by the enormous shock and they all fainted to the ground. The city had completely lost its power too; not a single building had a light on or appeared to be active. Robotropolis had been completely powered down and all the inhabitants had been deactivated by the EMP wave. Dr. Eggman was about to blow his top.

"Th-th-th-th-th-th-that th-th-th-thing j-j-j-j-j-just…" he stammered, unable to control his voice.

"That thing just completely wiped out your power supply!" Tails said for Eggman "That's incredible power behind that machine!"

"Well its official." said Wilson "We're dead! We're absolutely and completely dead! We can't hurt that thing and it can bring cities to a standstill with one blast of EMP! We may as well surrender ourselves and dig ourselves a grave because we have no chance against that thing!"

Geoffrey grabbed Wilson by the shoulders and shook him madly.

"Clam down doggie!" yelled Geoffrey "We're not giving up on Mobius, not after all our efforts these past months and if we can stop Eggman's nefarious plans then we can stop that thing! OK?"

"Whatever you…say." said Wilson quietly.

"That's more like it." said Geoffrey, putting Wilson down.

"Besides, we have a sure fire ace we can use." said Sonic, proudly showing the seven Chaos Emeralds.

The gems slowly circled around Sonic while glowing brightly.

"Sonic, an entire city couldn't stop that thing so what makes you think seven puny emeralds can?" asked Vector, hoping not to sound like he was doubting the hedgehog too much.

"They say if you collect all seven Chaos Emeralds, a miracle is supposed to happen." said Knuckles "And that miracle maybe all we need to bring that thing to the ground."

"Let's hope this miracle is as powerful as legend says it is." said Espio.

But before Sonic could even attempt to use the emeralds, Charcaronda did something else. He roared loudly and then slowly began to rise higher off the ground. He rose and rose until he was halfway up in the air and then he came back down at tremendous speed and plunged his spike section into the ground. The whole impact made Mobius shake all over and Sonic and friends fell over. Sonic dropped the Chaos Emeralds and all seven of them clattered across the ground before coming to a halt. Sonic quickly gathered them up and turned his attention back to Charcaronda to see what the gestalt was doing now. Charcaronda had embedded his entire spike section into the ground and only the hexagon shaped structure that was its waist remained above the ground. Then Charcaronda raised his arms and rotated ninety degrees to the left. The moment it did so, the ground around it began to crack and the cracks stretched to great lengths. The Mobians stared in horror at what just happened. Charcaronda then rotated another ninety degrees so now he had his back turned on everybody and the cracks increased to greater lengths and more cracks appeared around him. Everybody began to panic, what was going on? Charcaronda rotated another ninety degrees and the cracks not only lengthened, but they widened too! And even more cracks were beginning to appear after Charcaronda's third rotation and the cracks stretched beyond the Northern Border of Megapolis and into Megapolis itself.

"What's happening Miss Rose?" squealed Cream.

"I don't know Cream." said Amy "That thing's making the ground crack every time it rotates. How's it doing that?"

"I think I have the answer." said Dr. Eggman.

Egg-Peacock's torso section lifted up so Eggman could speak to everybody and they would hear him more clearly.

"That robot doesn't have any legs, it has the giant spike instead right?" he said "And I think that spike is what's causing the cracks. Every time that machine rotates, the spike underground rotates and begins cracking the ground. My guess is if he continues to do this, Mobius will split apart like a broken eggshell!"

"So that's how Rorda, Horda and Borda are gonna destroy the planet." said Sonic "They turned into that thing and that thing has the power to destroy planets. We've gotta bring that thing down before Mobius is no more!"

"Then hurry up and use the Chaos Emeralds before that thing does anymore damage!" bellowed Knuckles "It's rotating again!"

And surely enough, Charcaronda rotated another ninety degrees so now it was facing the Mobians again and the cracks widened and lengthened even more! Unfortunately, some of the Mobians were unfortunate enough to be near the cracks as they increased and the cracks opened up under their feet, causing them to fall down into them! Cosmo lost her balance and began falling down a crack until Tails caught her by the hand to save her from falling. Tails pulled the Seedrian back onto the surface with all his might. Amy and Cream fell down a crack but Cream caught Amy and flew her back to the surface. The whole of Team Chaotix fell down but Charmy caught Vector and flew him back to the surface whereas Espio used his long sticky tongue as a grappling hook to save himself from falling down. Sonic fell over and dropped three of the Chaos Emeralds down a crack but Bunnie Rabbot spotted them just in time and extended her robot arm down the crack to catch them all. She tossed the emeralds to Sonic and he caught them. Sonic glared up at Charcaronda who appeared to be watching them save themselves from falling down the cracks he'd been creating and clearly appeared to be enjoying his handiwork.

"That does it you creep!" yelled Sonic "No one is splitting my planet apart! I'm gonna make chilli-sauce outta ya!"

Charcaronda just roared at Sonic but this roar didn't sound like his natural roar. It almost sounded like he was actually laughing at Sonic for his brave statement. That did it. Sonic got mad and he threw the seven emeralds into the air and they began to glow very brightly in unison and slowly circle around him. Everybody stood back and watched as Sonic began what would hopefully be the miracle.

"I hope this works." said Sonic "Or we're all dead meat out here."

Sonic closed his eyes and thought of nothing more then defeating Charcaronda. He had no idea how to use the emerald's power since he'd never used it before but since the Chaos Emeralds had similar power to the Master Emerald, he knew he would be able to use the power and stop Charcaronda from splitting Mobius apart. Charcaronda didn't continue his planet splitting process; instead he stood there and watched the scene unfolding before him with enormous interest. The giant machine was hoping that Sonic would inadvertently destroy himself trying to use the Chaos Emeralds power. But that thought never happened. Sonic's positive aura mixed with the power of the Chaos Emeralds was giving the hedgehog strength greater then he'd ever experienced and ever known and the miracle was beginning to happen. All six of Sonic's quills pointed straight up at the sky and his cobalt blue fur began to turn a dazzling, glorious golden colour. With the amazing power of the Chaos Emeralds, Sonic had become Super Sonic once again! Tails beamed with joy. He remembered Super Sonic's first outing during the Mecha Sonic agenda* and he never thought he would be so thrilled to see him again. Dr. Eggman began to get flashbacks from his first encounter with Super Sonic and the very thoughts made him shake with fear. Everybody else stared in amazement and were unable to speak. Charcaronda remained motionless, clearly un-amused at Sonic's transformation and what Sonic had just become. Super Sonic opened his eyes, which were now red instead of green and he smiled a cocky smile at the giant machine before him.

"You've been messing with the hedgehog for far too long Horda and Borda!" yelled Super Sonic "And so have you Rorda! You may have combined to form a giant machine of great power but that doesn't mean you're unbeatable! I'm here to tear you apart piece by piece you monster! Now pull yourself outta the ground and face me one-on-one! And to make things more interesting, we'll fight in the sky! How does that sound?"

Charcaronda looked as if he was considering this request and then he roared with laughter again. Super Sonic's eyes widened, fearing that Charcaronda was going to refuse the offer and continue cracking the planet. Then suddenly, Charcaronda slammed his huge hands on the ground and he pulled his spike section out of the ground. He left behind a huge crater as deep as the deepest ocean on Mobius and then Charcaronda's backpack began to glow around the edges. The gigantic machine began to rise slowly off the ground and he flew straight up into the sky. Super Sonic smiled, happy to see Charcaronda had accepted his offer and he rocketed into the sky after the colossal gestalt. Super Sonic and Charcaronda raced up into the sky as fast as they could fly while everybody else stared up at the sky and watched the fighters ascend.

"Sonic did it." said Knuckles slowly "He's managed to use the power of the seven Chaos Emeralds! He's used the miracle that the seven gems are said to perform!"

"But is it enough?" asked Wilson worriedly "Just because Sonic's gone gold on us, it doesn't mean he's powerful enough! For all we know, that beast machine's probably still too powerful for Super Sonic to stop!"

"I believe in Sonic." said Amy "I bet that he'll use his super powers to turn that horrible machine into a scrapheap!"

"If you believe in Mr. Sonic then so do I!" said Cream supportively.

"I believe in Sonic too." said Cosmo "If there's anyone who can stop that thing it's him."

"Well if you girls believe in Sonic, then I believe in Sonic too." said Wilson "And I bet Mandy believes in Sonic as well."

"I certainly believe in the bloke." said Geoffrey "He's taken down many a great machine, this is merely another clanker for him to smash!"

"Ah believe in the sugah hog." said Bunnie happily.

"We believe in Sonic too!" cried Team Chaotix in unison.

"I believe in Sonic." said Tails "He always wins in the end." No one believed in Sonic more then Tails did.

"If Sonic was able to use the emerald's power, then I bet he'll win this match." said Knuckles "You do your best out there Sonic. We're all counting on you!"

"Oh shut up with this "I believe in Sonic" nonsense and watch the fight!" snapped Dr. Eggman "We have no idea what's going to happen!"

Everybody turned to Eggman and yelled at the top of their voices.

"WILL YOU BE QUIET?"

Dr. Eggman said nothing more and he just closed Egg-Peacock's canopy and flew over the fence and into Robotropolis.

"I do not wish to see the fight." said Dr. Eggman "I have other plans to work on right now but I'll be monitoring the fight to see if Sonic wins or not."

"You do that Eggman." said Amy with a scowl "Nobody wants you here anyway."

Egg-Peacock flew over to Eggman's headquarters in the middle of the city and Eggman ran into his base to take cover from the oncoming clash of the titans that was about to begin. The Mobians stayed where they were and they watched with anticipation, eagerly awaiting for the battle to begin.

Up in the sky, Super Sonic and Charcaronda had stopped ascending and they stared daggers at each other. Charcaronda's nasty, evil optics narrowed down to evil slits as he stared Super Sonic down. Super Sonic just kept on his cocky smile and he prepared to charge. Charcaronda aimed its colossal arms at Sonic and its hands retracted backwards into the wrists. Then a pair of cannons extended from within and they aimed at Super Sonic. Super Sonic just smirked and waited. Charcaronda immediately opened fire and sent some huge blasts of energy at Super Sonic. Super Sonic effortlessly dodged them all and he rocketed towards Charcaronda with his arms out and his fists clenched. Charcaronda continued firing at the golden hedgehog but none of his attacks hit home. Super Sonic dodged all the blasts and was about to hit Charcaronda in the centre of the torso until Charcaronda turned his left cannon back into a hand and he swatted Super Sonic away. Super Sonic spiralled through the air like a confused bird and he stopped himself before he could spiral any further. He shook his head madly to regain his senses and he charged again. Charcaronda turned his left hand back into a cannon and he fired the cannons at Super Sonic. Super Sonic dodged the blasts and he kicked one towards Charcaronda as he got nearer to the machine. The blast hit Charcaronda smack in the face and the giant machine clenched his face in pain and he began to roar in agony. Super Sonic smiled.

"So your own weapons hurt you do they?" he said to himself "That's one weakness I've managed to figure out."

Charcaronda stopped roaring in pain and he began shooting at Super Sonic again. Super Sonic dodged all the blasts and he kicked one towards Charcaronda in hope of hurting the machine again but Charcaronda swatted the blast away with its arm. Charcaronda transformed both his cannons back into hands and he swiped both his arms at Super Sonic. Similar to what Marik the Martian can do, Charcaronda sent waves of energy flying at Super Sonic with the swipe of the arms. Super Sonic dodged the energy waves and he charged towards Charcaronda. Super Sonic hit Charcaronda in the centre of the torso but he didn't smash his way through it and he didn't seem to do much harm to the giant machine. Charcaronda growled furiously and he smacked Super Sonic away. Super Sonic hurled through the air and he stopped himself in mid-air and he shook himself.

"Man, that's one tough robot!" said Super Sonic "Even in my super form, I can't seem to hurt him. But there must be a way to bring him down. Maybe he has a weak spot and I've just gotta find it."

Super Sonic did a Super Sonic Boost and rocketed towards Charcaronda from behind. He had a feeling the backpack structure on Charcaronda's back might be his weak spot so he was aiming for it. If he destroyed it, Charcaronda would fall down to the ground since it's the backpack structure he uses to fly with. Unfortunately, Charcaronda heard Super Sonic coming and he turned around and punched Super Sonic. The punch didn't hurt Super Sonic too much due to the fact he was invulnerable in super form but the punch still managed to shake him a little. Charcaronda swiped his arms and sent more waves of energy towards Super Sonic. Super Sonic dodged all the waves and he charged towards Charcaronda again. Charcaronda swiped at Super Sonic but he missed and Super Sonic punched Charcaronda in the face. Then Super Sonic did his trademark spin-dash and he hit Charcaronda squarely in the head again. Charcaronda roared in agony and he tried to hit Super Sonic again but he missed. Super Sonic spin-dashed Charcaronda in the shoulder and Charcaronda tried to wallop Super Sonic again. Super Sonic dodged the swipe but Charcaronda got the drop on him with a cannon blast. The blast hit Super Sonic and sent him hurtling through the air like a tossed stone. Super Sonic regained his senses and he spin-dash towards Charcaronda again but Charcaronda swatted him away and began shooting at him. Super Sonic charged back at him with a Super Sonic Boost and he ploughed straight through the cannon blasts as if they were nothing. Super Sonic smashed through the last cannon blast and he flew straight into Charcaronda's cannon and directly up the robot's arm. Charcaronda could feel the super powered hedgehog charging and smashing through his arm and the onslaughts began to seriously hurt his arm. Charcaronda roared with pain as he felt heavy spin-dashes from inside his arm and in a desperate attempt to save himself from even more punishment, he fired his cannon and shot Super Sonic straight out of his arm! Super Sonic whooped as hurtled through the air and he ground to a halt before he could go any further.

The onslaughts he had landed inside Charcaronda's arm had done a great deal of damage to the arm itself. Smoke poured out from the armour panels and sparks flew everywhere. Super Sonic had been doing a lot of spin-dashes to damage Charcaronda's arm and the resulting damage he'd caused actually ended up starting a fire inside. Firing the cannon had only made things worse though as the fire Super Sonic had started ignited the energy used for Charcaronda's cannon blasts and Charcaronda's whole arm looked like it was about to explode. As a matter of facts, that's exactly what it did! Charcaronda's entire right arm, which had been formed by Horda, exploded and detached away from the shoulder section of Charcaronda. The arm fell down to the ground and crashed like a falling meteor. Chunks of metal and debris flew everywhere and the arm crumbled to pieces. There was no way Horda could have survived that; Super Sonic had officially destroyed him. Charcaronda got mad, very mad and he knew how to avoid losing his other arm, if he didn't have his cannon deployed then Super Sonic wouldn't be able to get into his arm and destroy it so Charcaronda turned his left cannon back into a hand and the giant machine decided to change tactics. Charcaronda began swiping his only remaining arm and sending huge waves of energy at Super Sonic. Super Sonic effortlessly dodged all the waves but Charcaronda wasn't trying to directly hit Super Sonic, the waves were just to distract him while Charcaronda did something else. The giant spike he had in place of his legs detached from the hexagonal structure on his waist and reattached itself on his right shoulder. Charcaronda was replacing his destroyed arm and the spike would do just that. An arm section grew out from behind the spike section so now Charcaronda had a new arm with the spike as his hand. It was as if he had a giant joust on his arm. Super Sonic whistled with amusement.

"OK, that's impressive." said Super Sonic "But he still can't beat me. Its gonna take more then a giant spike to bring me down!"

Super Sonic charged towards Charcaronda at top speed. Charcaronda bent forward and rocketed right past Super Sonic with his jet boosters. The two fighters flew right past each other and they both stopped and turned to face each other. Super Sonic was impressed again.

"So you can move quickly after all." said Super Sonic "I always thought you were slow."

Charcaronda aimed his joust weapon and charged at Super Sonic at full speed. Super Sonic dodged the charge but only just, he felt the wind whiz past him as Charcaronda hurtled by. Charcaronda ground to a halt and turned back around. Then he aimed his joust and stabbed the sky. Then he began to draw a perfect circle in the air in front of him with the joust. The circle was wide enough for him to fit through and it was made up of fizzling, crackling and electrical yellow energy. Super Sonic had no idea what Charcaronda was doing so he charged at him. But the moment he went in the circle, the circle closed around him and stopped him dead in his tracks. Super Sonic tried to move but he couldn't, the circle was firmly holding him in place. Super Sonic tried to break free from the circle but he couldn't. Despite his immense power, the circle was unbreakable and he was unable to get free of it. The circle was holding him into place and keeping him trapped where he was. Charcaronda laughed at him and seeing as Super Sonic was completely immobilized, he saw the perfect opportunity to attack. He raised the joust high above his head and walloped the subdued Super Sonic with it. Super Sonic hurtled down into the ground like a downed fighter jet. His fall was so hard he ended up making a five foot wide crater around him. The Mobians watching all did a chorus of gasping. Super Sonic picked himself up and charged up at Charcaronda again. But he couldn't quite see where Charcaronda was as he shot through the clouds. By the time Super Sonic got out of the clouds though it was too late. Charcaronda had formed another energy circle with his joust and Super Sonic spotted it too late to avoid it and he flew into it, causing the circle to trap him again. Now Super Sonic was subdued once again, Charcaronda transformed his only hand into a cannon and began to rapidly shoot the super-powered hedgehog. Since Super Sonic was subdued, he couldn't dodge the blasts and he was repeatedly blasted by them. Super Sonic wasn't too affected by the blasts due to his invulnerability but they were still hurting him as they hit him. After the last blast hit Super Sonic, Charcaronda turned his cannon back into a hand and he seized Super Sonic before the super hedgehog had time to get away. Super Sonic grimaced and groaned as Charcaronda proceeded to squeeze the life out of him. Super Sonic could have easily broken his way out of Charcaronda's grasp but the cannon blasts had weakened him and Charcaronda was squeezing so hard, Super Sonic didn't have the strength to break out of his grasp.

On the ground, the clouds had moved and the Mobians had a clear sight of Charcaronda with Super Sonic in his hand. This was not a pretty sight for them and they knew Sonic needed help. The only trouble was, how could they help Sonic? Tails had an idea though. It was going to be risky and he might even get killed, but it would be worth it if he helped Sonic destroy Charcaronda and save Mobius from total destruction. Tails ran forward but Cosmo reached out and grabbed him by the tails.

"Where are you going?" she asked.

"I'm going up there to help Super Sonic." said Tails "He needs it right now."

"You can't go up there!" shrieked Cosmo "That thing will kill you!"

"And if I don't get up there and help Sonic, it'll kill Sonic." retorted Tails "I'm the only one who can help him right now and I'm gonna help him whether you want me to or not, now let go of my tails!"

He yanked both his tails out of Cosmo's grip. The Seedrian didn't look very happy at Tails' decision.

"I'll be careful, don't worry Cosmo." said Tails.

"Please don't get careless up there." said Cosmo with a sad expression on her face "If you and Sonic can't stop that thing, then it's the end of the line for us all."

"Trust me, I know what I'm doing." said Tails "Wish me luck."

And with that, Tails twisted his tails around one another and the twin-tailed fox took to the sky. He flew straight up into the clouds where Charcaronda and Super Sonic were battling. Charcaronda still had Super Sonic in his grasp and he continued to squeeze ever tighter. If Sonic wasn't super powered by now, he would be suffocated. Tails put his plan into action. He flew straight up to Charcaronda's face and flew around in front of his optic in hope of distracting him. Charcaronda's optic followed Tails flying around in front of his vision and he prepared to wallop him with his joust. Big mistake though. Charcaronda swung at Tails but Tails dodged the attack, leaving Charcaronda to accidentally wallop himself in the face with his joust. The resulting wallop caused a lot of damage to Charcaronda's face and he let go of Super Sonic to clutch his face and roar in pain. Super Sonic flew away from Charcaronda and watched the machine roar madly. Tails flew beside Super Sonic and admired his handiwork.

"Ha, ha, ha! It worked!" he laughed "I can't believe he actually fell for that!"

"That was a risky move Tails, but I'm glad you pulled it off." said Super Sonic "If you didn't fly up here to help me, I would have lost my super form and that thing would have squeezed me to death."

"I can't believe how strong that thing is." said Tails "Even in your super form, that thing is too strong for you."

"If I'm gonna destroy that thing then I need to find its weak point." said Super Sonic "Every machine has a weak point."

"You know if I can get him to whack himself in the face over and over, he might take his own head off." suggested Tails "But I don't think he'll be stupid enough to fall for that again."

"He won't, he'll be all the wiser about it." said Super Sonic "This thing seems to learn from it's mistakes. After I destroyed its right arm, it seemed to know how I managed to do it and now it doesn't use its cannons in fear of me being able to destroy its other arm."

"Then we'll have to get its weak point." said Tails "But what is it?"

"No idea, but I'm going to attack it from behind." said Super Sonic "That backpack thing on it's back is how it flies so if I destroy it, the robot will fall."

"I'll keep its attention diverted." said Tails "Then you attack it from behind."

"No problem Tails." said Super Sonic "Now let's smash that thing and save Mobius from disaster!"

Super Sonic rocketed towards Charcaronda with Tails following him as fast as he could, even though he could nowhere near as fast as Super Sonic. Charcaronda lifted his face up to see Super Sonic coming towards him. His face had been heavily cracked from Tails tricking him into hitting himself and one of his optics had fallen out, leaving him with only one optic left to see with. Charcaronda lunged at Super Sonic with his joust but he missed. Super Sonic spin-dashed Charcaronda in the shoulder and Charcaronda swung at Super Sonic, only to miss again. Then Tails flew in front of Charcaronda's face and caught its attention. Charcaronda swiped at Tails with his hand but Tails dodged the swipe and flew away so Charcaronda flew after him. He transformed his hand into a cannon and he fired at Tails. Tails flew around, dodging the blasts as they came to him with great agility but Charcaronda was determined to hit the twin-tailed fox so he kept on firing. Super Sonic flew around behind Charcaronda and he rocketed towards Charcaronda's back. Charcaronda failed to notice Super Sonic coming to him and Super Sonic hit him, smack in the back. Amazingly, Super Sonic actually managed to smash his way through the backpack structure! Charcaronda suffered from an unfortunate design flaw which was the backpack was made up of weaker armour then his actual body so Super Sonic smash his way through the backpack and into Charcaronda's internal mechanisms. Now he was inside Charcaronda himself, Super Sonic began to spin-dash the inside of the machine as wildly, violently and madly as he possibly could, destroying every vital mechanism, every little wire and every bolt that kept the machine together. Everything he spin-dashed was smashed to pieces and snapped in two. Charcaronda stopped chasing Tails and shooting at him and he ground to a halt. It was almost as if Super Sonic had triggered something inside that had caused him to freeze completely. Tails stopped flying away and turned around to see what was happening. Super Sonic continued to smash Charcaronda up from the inside and the giant machine began to roar in excruciating and agonizing pain over what Super Sonic was doing to him. Smoke began to pour out of his shoulders, neck and optics and everything inside of him felt like he was falling apart from the inside out. Tails watched the scene in amazement and he began to wonder what Super Sonic was doing to the behemoth before him. At long last, Super Sonic stopped destroying Charcaronda's insides and he exploded out of the machine's back like a missile ploughing through its target. Tails was delighted to see Super Sonic emerge from inside Charcaronda and he knew what had happened to the machine. Super Sonic and Tails flew away from Charcaronda and down to the ground so they wouldn't get caught up with the falling machine. Charcaronda wailed, roared and screamed in agony as he began to explode everywhere on his body and his backpack structure gave way and exploded into a thousand pieces. Without the ability to fly, Charcaronda began to plummet straight down and towards the ground below. Charcaronda howled a mechanical, wailing howl as he began to plummet back down to earth. He fell through the surrounding clouds and he crashed straight into the ground about 30 feet away from Robotropolis. Super Sonic and Tails landed on the ground and they watched the spectacular scene before them as Charcaronda erupted into a fiery explosion that could rival any volcanic eruption. The Mobians all watched Charcaronda's destruction with awe, completely awestruck by the spectacular scene that unfolded before their very eyes. After what felt like forever, the explosion died down and the Mobians all ran up to the remains. Charcaronda had been reduced to nothing more then giant, enormous pieces of debris and robot parts. Borda, who had formed the left arm of Charcaronda, had been reduced to nothing more then a head and an arm after Charcaronda's destruction. Borda was completely destroyed just like his friend Horda had been. Rorda however, was barely alive. He was surrounded by the debris and he lay next to Charcaronda's shoulder section. His armour had been ravaged to the point that he only had tiny pieces of it left on him, his cape like structures were gone; all his eternal mechanisms were exposed and his legs were missing. Half of his face was missing too and he was literally clinging onto his life by a thread. He looked like he would die just by being prodded due to how much damage had been caused to him following the destruction of Charcaronda. Super Sonic stood over the swords bot and glared at him. Rorda, while clutching his chest, looked up feebly at the super powered hedgehog.

"How…" he croaked ever so weakly, his voice was nothing more then a hoarse whisper "How did you…manage to defeat….me?"

"Because I found your weak spot and completely destroyed you." said Super Sonic "Simple as."

"But…no one can…defeat me and my…henchmen…when we… are…one!" protested Rorda "No…one!"

"Well I did defeat you, Horda and Borda as one so there." said Super Sonic coldly "And this is for trying to destroy our planet."

He raised his foot and held it above Rorda's head.

"NO HEDGEHOG!" cried Rorda.

Super Sonic ignored him and brought his foot slamming down on Rorda's head. Due to how fragile it had become from the damage and how strong Super Sonic was, Rorda's head was completely destroyed by that one slam. Rorda was dead. Now Rorda, Horda and Borda could no longer try to destroy Mobius. Super Sonic had won the battle and saved the day. Everybody began whooping and cheering.

"He did it! The bloke saved Mobius!" cheered Geoffrey, punching the air.

"All hail Super Sonic!" cried Wilson, his tail wagging furiously like a happy dog's tail usually does.

"Well done sugah hog!" cheered Bunnie.

Super Sonic just smiled happily at his friend's comments.

"I have one more thing to do now." said Super Sonic.

He held his arms out and the seven Chaos Emeralds appeared from airspace and circled around him.

"Chaos…CONTROL!" yelled Super Sonic.

The Chaos Emeralds glowed brighter then any star and then all seven formed a row in single file and rocketed off in a rainbow arch to wherever Sonic was sending the emeralds. The emeralds disappeared into the distance and Super Sonic powered down back to Sonic. His quills were back in their normal position and his fur returned to its natural blue colour. Knuckles stared at Sonic in wonder.

"What did you do with the emeralds?" asked Knuckles.

"I sent them away to Angel Island." explained Sonic "They'll be safe there with the Master Emerald and I'm sure I can count on you to guard them and keep them safe from harm."

"I'll keep the emeralds under heavy lockdown." said Knuckles "No one's getting a hold of them while I'm around. But why did you send them away?"

"So Dr. Eggman or any other bad guy can't steal them from me and Angel Island's the best place to hide them." said Sonic "And since I know where they are, they're there when I need them and I bet I'll need those emeralds again some time soon. Whenever I need the Chaos Emeralds, I'll just let you know and you can bring them to me."

"Sounds like a good idea." said Knuckles "No one except us will know where the emeralds are and we'll have them whenever we need them."

"Exactly." said Sonic "Now I think we should all go home. I would love to stay here and trash Robotropolis but that fight with Rorda and his big machine's left me pooped."

"We'll trash Eggman's city another time." said Tails "Until then, let's be thankful that Mobius is safe for now."

"Mobius is safe." said Sonic "And Eggman better watch out because I'll be ready for him. I'll save Mobius from his reign of terror once and for all just like I saved Mobius from Rorda's wrath. Eggman won't know what hit him."

So all the Mobians began to walk away from Robotropolis and head for home. Sonic was a little annoyed he couldn't smash the city as he had intended to but destroying Charcaronda was more important then destroying Robotropolis so Sonic wasn't too fussed about it. With the emeralds out of reach though, he would have to destroy Robotropolis without them. Not that he minded, Sonic knew he could destroy Robotropolis without the Chaos Emeralds anyway. Eggman would have to lookout because Sonic would be back and better then ever...

Footnotes:

 See Story 14 for the very first appearance of Super Sonic

And that my friends is the end of the Chaos Emeralds saga! You know what? All this epicness is too much for me, I think it's time I went back to two parters for a bit. Join me next time as we gear on to Story 50! Oh and Amy Rose takes the spotlight in the next story (Amy fans insert excited scream here). :) Reviews are welcome.

Amy's Adventure

Story 46: Amy's Adventure

Countdown to time change: 4

Quiet days on Mobius weren't easy to come across due to the ongoing war with Dr. Eggman right now but if you were lucky, you'd get a day to kick back, relax and have fun. Tails and Cosmo were fortunate enough to have a quiet day to themselves. Sonic the Hedgehog, the Hero of Mobius and fastest thing alive had gone on a secret mission in Grand Metropolis and left his biggest fan and self-proclaimed love interest Amy Rose to keep an eye on Tails and Cosmo since they were rather vulnerable without him around. Amy didn't mind since she liked being with Tails and Cosmo due to how good friends they were but she was a little disappointed she was left behind to baby-sit two little children while Sonic went to Grand Metropolis, the second largest city on Mobius, to do whatever it was he was doing there. The three Mobians had gone to the Great Forest and Tails and Cosmo decided to go for a swim in the Lake of Rings. Tails removed his gloves and shoes and left them on the river bank whereas Cosmo had dressed herself in a swimming costume that was the same leaf green colour as her hair. Tails and Cosmo both dived into the lovely, cool water and began swimming around. There was something about the Lake of Rings that felt different to normal lakes. Maybe it was the magic of the rings that made the water feel wonderful to anyone taking a dip in it. Cosmo loved the water, what with her being a plant after all, and she was having a good time, swimming around and going underwater to see how far she could swim before needing to come back to the surface to breathe. Tails was enjoying himself too, swimming around after Cosmo to see if he could catch her whilst diving under to see what he would discover under the lovely water. Tails and Cosmo both popped back to the surface and began playfully splashing one another, laughing like a pair of toddlers as they took turns and splashing and being splashed. Tails decided to cheat by spinning his tails around and causing a great big tidal wave to sweep over Cosmo and drench her. Cosmo just laughed, this was all great fun for her. Tails tried again but Cosmo ducked underwater to dodge the tidal wave and swam up behind Tails and grabbed his tails, causing him to jump in the air and land back down in the water. Cosmo came back to the surface and began laughing until her sides hurt. Tails just stroked his tails and fumed at her but he couldn't help but smile at her. She was only having fun with him after all and that's just what he wanted, a whole day of having fun with the one he secretly fancied.

Only one person wasn't having fun though and that person was Amy Rose. Amy just sat on the bank watching Tails and Cosmo have the time of their lives in the lake and sighing to herself rather miserably. She was thinking about Sonic and how he had gone off on a perilous mission all by himself and hadn't thought about bringing her along with him. She had wanted to go with her handsome hero but Sonic insisted he go alone since he felt it would be better for him to go alone rather then bring someone with him. Amy even thought of how Sonic hadn't picked her to be part of his team during the Chaos Emerald hunt* the other day. Maybe he hadn't picked her because he didn't want to be around her or he did that to avoid her. Amy loved Sonic with all her heart but did Sonic feel the same? And what if Sonic saw her as more of a nuisance then a friend? If that was the case then Amy would feel absolutely crushed. Sonic had made Amy make a deal with her which was she would give him his personal space and not act all fan-girly over him and he would be friends with her, maybe more then just friends but did Sonic mean that? Amy began wondering if Sonic made that deal with her just to keep her away from him but that didn't sound like Sonic at all. Sonic wasn't the kind of person who would push people away and leave them to the side so maybe Amy was worrying too much. Then suddenly Amy's train of thoughts was interrupted by Tails popping out of the water and seizing her by the arm.

"Hey Amy, why don't you come in with us?" laughed Tails, dragging the startled pink hedgehog into the water with him.

Amy shrieked as she was pulled off the bank and into the water by Tails. The two Mobians went completely under the water. Cosmo watched and tried to refrain from laughing, she clasped her hands over her mouth but she couldn't stop a laugh escaping. Amy came back to the surface and began gasping and panting for air and she scrambled frantically back onto the bank. Water dripped from her face, clothes and hair and her dress was so drenched it looked like it was wrapped tightly around her body. Tails popped back to the surface, laughing like a mischievous school boy until Amy began yelling at him.

"Tails, don't do that!" she screeched, shaking her fists at him "I'm not wearing the right clothes for swimming in a stupid lake right now!"

Amy picked herself up and stomped over to a tree and sat against it, fuming to herself. Tails just remained where he was, with his ears drooping back and a guilty look on his face. Cosmo swam up beside him.

"What's up with Amy?" asked Cosmo "She seems a little grumpier then usual."

"Well I did pull her into the water even though she didn't wanna go swimming." said Tails "That was a bit naughty of me. Maybe I should apologize to her."

"I'll wait for you Tails." said Cosmo.

Tails climbed out of the lake and onto the water bank. He put his gloves and shoes back on and crept nervously over to Amy, who was still dripping with water and scowling to herself. Tails stood behind Amy and cleared his throat.

"Um…Amy." he said wearily "I…I'm sorry I pulled you into the…lake. I…was just having a bit of fun that's…all."

He expected a rather angry answer from the pink hedgehog or even worse, the big meaty hammer she wielded and used to great effect in battle but instead, Amy got to her feet, faced Tails and spoke nicely to him.

"That's alright Tails." she said quietly, squeezing some water out of her quills "Kids will be kids as my mother used to say and all kids wanna do is have fun so I'll forgive you for that one."

Tails breathed a sigh of relief. Amy's mood swings were rather to and fro weren't they? One minute she's uncontrollably angry and next minute she's all calm and nice! Then again, she was a teenager and teenagers have rather bad mood swings that last a while or don't last very long. Amy and Tails both sat against the tree and sighed in unison. Tails then decided to ask something else.

"I hope you don't mind me asking but Cosmo seems to think there's something the matter with you." said Tails "Is there something on your mind?"

Amy didn't really want to admit her problems to Tails but the curious fox would just keep up the questions so she decided it would be better to answer him. She sighed sadly and said,

"Do you think Sonic likes me?"

Tails pulled a face at the pink hedgehog.

"What do you mean?" asked Tails "Of course Sonic likes you! He wouldn't recruit you on his missions if he didn't like you."

"I don't mean "like me" as in "just friends"." corrected Amy "I mean do you think Sonic like, likes me?"

Tails' wonderfully powerful brain ticked and he realized what Amy was on about.

"I'm sure Sonic has feelings for you just as you have feelings for him Amy." said Tails "He's just too cool to admit it."

"But what if he doesn't feel the same way I feel about him?" asked Amy "I don't go into battle and help out on his missions just for the sake of it, I do it because I wanna show Sonic how impressive I can be and he never seems to notice. It's as if all my attempts are in vain and Sonic just doesn't acknowledge me as a powerful fighter."

"I'm sure he does Amy." said Tails "But he's too busy fighting other robots to notice every single thing you do. I bet he knows you're strong and powerful, especially when you have that hammer by your side, and he appreciates the fact that you're doing your bit for the planet as well as everybody else and that's a good thing."

"I know Tails but I want me and Sonic to be more then just friends." said Amy sadly "I dream of marrying him and becoming Mrs. Hedgehog but I bet Sonic doesn't feel that way. Maybe he doesn't love me, maybe he just sees me as a good friend."

"He probably does Amy and that's good enough isn't it?" asked Tails "As long as Sonic likes you, that's one thing to be proud of."

"I know." sighed Amy, fiddling about with the dirt in the grass beside her "But there must be some way I can show Sonic how much I care for him without letting my fan-girly traits go out of proportion since I promised Sonic I wouldn't act like that. What do I have to do to impress Sonic so much he'll fall head over heels for me?"

"Well this is a crazy suggestion but, if you managed to capture Dr. Eggman and bring him to justice, Sonic would be speechless for a week about it." joked Tails, laughing a little "Sonic would definitely fall for you that way, capturing Dr. Eggman would be the most impressive thing that anyone's ever managed to do. But like that's gonna happen." he said in despair "No one can capture Dr. Eggman and keep hold of him, he's too crafty and cunning for us."

Amy had taken Tails' joke statement into consideration and thought an incredible thought.

"I'm going back in the lake." said Tails, taking off his shoes and gloves.

"You do that." said Amy "I'll just sit there and dream about a free and happy Mobius with no Dr. Eggman around."

Tails smiled at the very thought and dived back into the lake with Cosmo and drenched her due to the fact the Seedrian was standing too close. The two immediately began splashing each other and laughing their heads off. Amy paid no attention to the happy couple in the Lake of Rings; she was deep in thought about something. She was thinking about what Tails had said to her, unaware about the fact he was joking. Maybe if she did capture Dr. Eggman all by herself…then Sonic would fall for him and all her dreams of her and Sonic being a happy couple would come true at long last! The only problem was, how was she going to find Dr. Eggman? He was all the way in Robotropolis and that was a very long walk away from the Great Forest. By the time Amy would get to Robotropolis, she would be too tired to capture Dr. Eggman and she'd be easy prey for the fat man. She sighed loudly. If she was to capture Dr. Eggman then she would have to hope Dr. Eggman would, for some reason, come prowling around Green Hill Zone and then she could gave him a sharp whack on the head with her hammer to knock him out, bring him to an MPD station and then they could lock him up forever! But the chances of Eggman coming around Green Hill Zone were a hundred to one. After all, what would a fat, evil scientist want to come prowling around a forest for? The suddenly Amy heard something whirr and click from nowhere. She leapt to her feet and summoned her Piko-Piko hammer to her hand.

"I bet it's Eggman!" Amy whispered to herself with an evil, witchy grin on her face "Now's my chance to capture him and win Sonic's heart!"

She crept away from the tree she had been sitting against and into the bushes, pushing the big bushy branches and brambles as she crept through them. She crept as quietly as possible to make sure Dr. Eggman or whatever the whirring thing was would hear her. Then she came across something made of metal that floated in the air in front of her face. It had four prongs that sprouted out from a round circular lens in the centre of the object. It looked like a robo-camera of some sorts. The camera whirred and clicked as it too Amy's picture. Amy groaned, the whirring and clicking thing she'd heard wasn't Dr. Eggman at all, it was a robo-camera. But maybe she could find Dr. Eggman if the robo-camera returned to him and she followed. The robo-camera observed Amy up and down and then spotted her enormous hammer. The robo-camera made a weird noise that sounded like a high-pitched, robotic shriek of terror and darted off as fast as it could possibly go! Amy was pleased to see she'd scared the robo-camera off. The robo-camera was likely to be returning to Dr. Eggman and if she chased it the fleeing robot-camera, she would find Dr. Eggman and get her hands on him at long last! Amy raised her Piko-Piko hammer above her head and ran after the robo-camera as fast as her agile little legs would let her. If she could keep up with someone as fast as Sonic then a stupid little robo-camera would be no match for her, she'd keep up with it easily.

The robo-camera, as Amy suspected, was returning to Dr. Eggman and the robo-camera kept turning around to see if Amy was still chasing it, only to find out she was so it kept on flying like mad with Amy pursuing it relentlessly. She smashed through any obstacle that got in her way as she chased after the robo-camera. No way was she letting it slip out of her sight! She was going to follow it to Robotropolis and capture Dr. Eggman and nothing was going to stop her…

Meanwhile, in Robotropolis, Dr. Eggman was watching the robo-camera flee like mad and he was determined to do something about it since he didn't want Amy following it back to Robotropolis and foiling his plans.

"That irritating Sonic-obsessed girl is following my camera!" he grumbled "She cannot be allowed to chase it to Robotropolis! I must stop her before she realizes I've been attempting to spy on Sonic's friends and capture them while the hedgehog isn't around to defend them!"

Luckily he had a trick up his sleeve that was guaranteed to work but he decided to wait for a while before putting it into action.

Amy smashed through another tree with her hammer as she thought to keep up with the fleeing robo-camera. She had been keeping the chase up for thirty minutes straight, non-stop, all through the Great Forest and into Green Hill Zone. She was getting a little tired but she was determined not to let the camera get away so easily. Dr. Eggman had decided she'd been chasing his precious camera for long enough now so he pressed a button on the control pad and the robo-camera ground to a halt and faced Amy. Amy finally caught up to the robo-camera and looked it in the lens, panting and gasping.

"Ha, gotcha you stupid camera!" he gloated "Now you take me to Dr. Eggman or I'll make mashed metal out of you!"

She raised her hammer threateningly to show the camera she wasn't fooling around. The robo-camera stood still and didn't do anything. Then the lens extended out from the centre and straight into Amy's face. The lens was just an inch in front of her eyes. Then the robo-camera took a picture of Amy. Unfortunately, it had the flash on and Amy was completely blinded by the sheer brightness of the flash. Amy shrieked and clutched her eyes, rubbing them furiously to adjust them and put her vision back to normal. The robo-camera seized its chance and flew away as fast as it could. Amy stopped rubbing her eyes and looked around fro the robo-camera. Her vision had returned even though she could still see spots of colours everywhere she looked. To her utter annoyance and disappointment, the robo-camera had evaded her after blinding her and had escaped. There was no telling where the robo-camera was now, she'd never find it and follow it to Robotropolis. Amy stomped the ground in rage.

"Damn it!" she swore "I had that camera in my grasp, how could it had slipped away from me so easily? And how did I fall for its little flash photo trick? Now I'll never capture Dr. Eggman! Oh well, I'd best return to the Lake of Rings before Tails and Cosmo realize I've gone missing."

She put her hammer away and began to walk off. Then she stopped and realized something. It dawned on her that she had no idea where she was. She had been in Green Hill Zone before, but this area was unfamiliar to her. She had not been in this particular area of Green Hill Zone before. This area was heavy with trees but the bushes were full of striped or spotted fruit unlike the other areas she had been in where the fruits were natural coloured. The trees also grew to greater heights then the trees in other areas of the zone. Amy began to look around frantically. Nothing looked familiar to her. She couldn't quite remember the way she had come due to the fact she had been chasing a robo-camera through the forest and had been running after it so she hadn't really seen the scenery. Amy then realized that she was completely, totally and hopelessly lost in the middle of unfamiliar territory. She clasped her hands together and began to worry. Her legs quivered nervously.

"Oh no! That chase has gotten me lost!" whimpered Amy "However am I gonna get back to Tails and Cosmo? Sonic's gonna kill me if he realizes I've abandoned them when I was supposed to be looking after them!"

She then thumped herself rather sharply on the head.

"Stupid Amy Rose!" she moaned to herself "Letting your determination get the best of you like that! Now I'm hopelessly lost and Sonic will be so furious with me, he'll never speak to me again! That is…if he ever FINDS me at all!" she shrieked.

A terrible thought crept into Amy's head. If she was lost and no one knew where she was, then Sonic would never find her and she would never see her beloved hero again! Or anybody for that matter! She could just imagine Cream the Rabbit's horrified face when she found out Amy had gone missing. It was not a nice image to imagine at all since the thought of Cream sad made Amy want to cry. But sitting there crying wouldn't solve anything; Amy had to find her way back to the Lake of Rings before she wasted away into the soil. Once she found the Lake of Rings, she'd be back on track and be able to her way back to Sonic's house. But how could Amy find her way back to the Lake of Rings if she had no idea where she was? She had no way of knowing where to go since this area was unfamiliar to her. If Amy didn't know where to start then she would have no way of getting back to the Lake of Rings. Amy's ears drooped in despair.

"It's hopeless." Amy moaned "I'm doomed to be lost forever. No one will find me and I'll be stuck here forever. But if I don't try to find my way back then I WILL be stuck here forever!" she said suddenly "I think it's time I stopped feeling sorry for myself and started making my way back! Maybe I'll come across something familiar if I start walking through this forest."

She picked a random direction and walked off. She had just started walking and already the scenery looked unfamiliar to her. But Amy didn't care, she was determined to get back to the Lake of Rings before Sonic returned from his mission and realized she had abandoned Tails and Cosmo. Then suddenly something caught Amy's eye. She looked to the left and saw something big and red at the far end of the forest. Could it be an Eggman robot or a house or anything? If it was a house then maybe the residents of the house would be able to help her. Amy ran over to the red thing as fast as she possibly could. She had a glimmer of excitement in her stomach that it was a house and the residents would be able to help her. But what if the house was deserted? Then she would be back to square one but Amy didn't know if she didn't look so she continued running up to the red thing. Her running had taken her out of the forest and into an open area of field green that surrounded the red thing. Amy screeched to a halt and stared in awe at what she had just come across. The red thing, to her sheer luck, was a house but not just any house. It was a mansion and the mansion was as big as the tallest tree in Green Hill Zone. It was built out of red bricks and the roof was a shiny silver colour made out of the traditional roof tiles. There were a total of twenty-four windows on the mansion, eight at the front, eight at the back and four windows on both sides of the mansion. The mansion had a water fountain around the back that was sculpted like a dolphin and the water spouted out of the dolphin's air hole. There were beautiful flower beds on the window sills of the two ground floor windows at the front of the mansion and the garden around the back was something to make your eyes pop due to how beautiful and eye catching it was. Amy just stood there and wondered to herself. What was a big, fancy mansion doing in the middle of Green Hill Zone? A forest is an odd place to build such an enormous house isn't it? Nevertheless, it was a house and it didn't look like it had been deserted so it must have people in it. Amy walked up to the front door, which had beautiful gold sculptures around the edges and centre, and knocked on it. The door opened and there stood a hideous looking green lizard with three horns on its head. It only wore gloves and a pair of shoes shaped like its natural feet and its tail was long and whippy. It had blue spots on its scaly back and yellow, reptilian eyes that didn't give Amy a very welcoming feeling as the lizard gazed at her. Its teeth were yellow and pointed, suggesting it as a carnivorous type of lizard. The lizard glared at Amy as if she had just interrupted something important.

"We don't do money, we don't like charities and we don't buy raffle tickets!" snarled the lizard; its voice was high and croaky, suggesting he was rather old "Go away!"

He slammed the door in Amy's face. Amy fumed to herself. Talk about impolite! Well that lizard certainly wasn't going to help her that's for sure! But what if there were more people in the huge mansion? Maybe they would be a little more considerate to her. Amy knocked on the door again. The door opened and there stood another lizard. This lizard had a darker green skin colour then the first lizard and this lizard only had one horn on its head. It wore gloves and shoes similar in looks to the first lizard, its tail was shorter and it had red spots on its back instead of blue. Its pointed teeth were glistening white instead of yellow, suggesting that he had taken better care of his teeth then the first lizard and his eyes were amber coloured. The lizard scowled at Amy.

"Whadda ya want you scrounging little merchant?" snarled the lizard, his voice was deep, gravely and growly and Amy's heart felt faint and her spine shuddered just hearing it.

"Who are you calling a merchant lizard face?" snapped Amy "I'm only here to request for some help and you and your buddy are too busy being rude to see what I'm here for! Hasn't anyone ever taught you good manners?"

The lizard was rather taken aback by Amy's angry statement and he put a clawed finger to his chin. He thought for a moment and then said.

"Alright, get in you little scrub. I hope our master's feeling gracious right now or you've had your chips girl."

Master? Did that mean that the two lizards were servants and that there was someone in charge of the mansion? Hopefully it wasn't another lizard; Amy could hardly bear to look at the two lizards that scowled at him angrily. Amy stepped into the mansion and marvelled at its beauty. The hall was full of paintings, sculptures and fancy wallpaper. There was a very fancy looking staircase that led up to another floor. There were sculptures of a fat rat in a smart outfit at the start of the staircase. Amy smiled like a child that's just been given money for ice-cream. The three horned lizard scowled at the one-horned lizard.

"Why did you let her in you idiot?" he growled, slapping the one-horned lizard in the face "Mr. Florenzi hates guests remember?"

"No he doesn't you dumbo!" snapped the one horned lizard "And if I left her on the doorstep, she wouldn't go away and keep knocking so I had to let her in!"

"Well I do hope this won't get us demoted Mr. Polikaza!" griped the three horned lizard "If it does, I'll throttle you to death!"

"Not if I throttle you first Mr. Wazikaza!" snarled the one-horned lizard known as Mr. Polikaza.

The two were about to unleash hell on each other until Amy started laughing.

"You two have funny names." she giggled "Polikaza and Wazikaza? Are those foreign names or something?"

"YOU SHUT UP!" roared Mr. Polikaza and Mr. Wazikaza at the top of their voices, making Amy jump back in fright.

"What the blazes is going on down there?" barked a deep strong British accented voice from the top of the fabulous staircase.

Amy looked up at the staircase and saw a fat rat wearing a black tuxedo, red, spotted tie, fancy black trousers and polished black and white shoes that sparkled in the light. He had a thin pointed moustache that sprouted out from under his sharp, pointed nose. He had well styled and well trimmed black hair, hazel eyes and a stern expression on his face. He held a cane in his left hand and he tapped the floor with it twice as he stared coldly at the two lizards and the pink hedgehog at the bottom of the stairs. The rat walked slowly down the stairs with a cold look on his face that suggested someone was in for the chop.

"Who is this?" demanded the rat fiercely, pointing his terrible cane at Amy Rose and making her jump.

"A poor scrounger looking for help." said Mr. Polikaza.

"He let her in!" blurted Mr. Wazikaza, pointing accusingly at Mr. Polikaza "I was against this from the start!"

The rat looked back at Amy, who was shaking like mad and looking worried. The rat's face changed into a more friendly expression.

"Well, isn't this a surprise?" said the rat cheerfully, putting his cane down "It's not often I have visitors in this lonely old place. How lovely it is to have such a beautiful young girl to wander into my residence!"

Amy blushed at the compliment and giggled.

"Um…thank you." she said, curtseying politely at the rat "I'm guessing you're the master of this fabulous mansion?"

"I certainly am." said the rat "My name is Francesco Alonzo Florenzi the Fifth but you may refer to me as just Mr. Florenzi if you please."

"Nice to meet you." said Amy politely "My name is Amy Rose and I got lost in Green Hill Zone. Can you help me find the Lake of Rings?"

"The Lake of Rings hmm?" said Mr. Florenzi, putting a hand to his chin in though "Not many people know about that magical lake do they? Well I'm sure I can be of great help to you Miss Rose."

"Really?" said Amy excitedly.

"Absolutely my child." said Mr. Florenzi, putting an arm around the pink hedgehog and grinning kindly at her, he tapped the floor softly with his cane "But that'll have to wait I'm afraid, we were just about to have dinner. How would you like to join us?"

"I'd like that very much thanks." said Amy "Thanks for the offer."

"The pleasure is all mine." said Mr. Florenzi "Nothing does my heart better then kindness to others. I do hope my servants didn't frighten you too much." he added, looking bitterly at Mr. Polikaza and Wazikaza.

The two lizards folded their arms and scowled at their master.

"Oh no." said Amy "They didn't frighten me too much. They have funny names though, just like you do. Where did you three originally come from?"

"Me, Polikaza and Wazikaza all came from the country of Spagonia." said Mr. Florenzi "We're of Italian heritage but my parents were both British so I speak their accent, not Spagonia's. Polikaza and Wazikaza weren't too fond of their accents either so they adjusted to the accents of Mobotropolis folk, not that I mind since I like those accents better then the Italian accents of Spagonia."

The two lizards nodded at the rat.

"Now please, this way my dear." said Mr. Florenzi, leading Amy up the staircase "The dining room is just up the stairs and just wait till you see what awaits you there!"

Amy could almost imagine what dinner was going to be like right now. She hoped she wouldn't be here for too long otherwise Tails and Cosmo would realize she'd gone missing and start looking for her. And she hoped Mr. Florenzi would be as helpful as he appeared to be…

Meanwhile at the Lake of Rings, Tails and Cosmo were still swimming around and splashing each other while laughing happily at each other. Cosmo put her hands together and depth-charged at Tails, sending a wave of water over the fox and soaking him. Tails dived under and swam up to Cosmo from under the water. He grabbed her by the ankles and pulled her under. Cosmo yelped as she was pulled underwater and she held her breath. Tails and Cosmo both emerged back to the surface, gasping for air and laughing at each other.

"Ha, ha, ha! Oh what fun we're having!" said Tails, turning onto his back and doing a few strokes.

"I haven't had this much fun since the war with the Martians started." said Cosmo "Thank you for such a lovely time Tails."

"Y…you're welcome." said Tails bashfully, his muzzle going red in the cheek area "I think it's time we got out though." he said despairingly "I think we should see what Amy wants to do, it's not fair to make her sit and watch while we enjoy ourselves."

"I agree." said Cosmo "Pity the fun had to end though, I was having a great time."

"There's always the next time." said Tails reassuringly with a friendly smile as he did some breast strokes to the bank "And I'm sure Amy can think of something fun for us to do."

Tails climbed out of the water and onto the bank where he shook himself dry like a wet dog. His fur became all big and bushy after shaking himself dry. Cosmo paddled up to the bank and climbed onto it. Tails put on his shoes and gloves while Cosmo wiped herself dry with a towel she'd brought and left hanging on a tree branch nearby. Then she grabbed her normal clothes, which she had also left hanging on a tree branch, hid behind a very thick bush and started getting changed out of her swimming costume and into her white and green dress, tights and shoes. After Tails had dressed himself, he looked around for Amy, only to find the pink hedgehog was nowhere in sight. A dreadful feeling crept down his spine and into his tails.

"Amy?" asked Tails nervously.

No answer.

"Where's Amy?" asked Cosmo as she slipped her dress back on and straightened out the petal like skirt "I don't see her anywhere."

"I don't know where she is Cosmo." said Tails "I think she's gone. I think we were having so much fun we failed to realize Amy had disappeared somewhere."

"What on Mobius would give Amy the idea to wander off and leave us like this?" asked Cosmo as she pulled her tights up her legs.

"I dunno." said Tails "Maybe she's got something urgent to do or she's gone wandering off out of boredom through the forest."

Then a very sinister thought crept like a crawly creature into Tails' over-developed brain.

"No…she wouldn't have…" he said hoarsely.

"What, what's up cute stuff?" asked Cosmo, hoping out from behind the bush whilst putting her other shoe back on.

Tails seemed to have failed to notice Cosmo had called him "cute stuff" and he said to the Seedrian "I think Amy's gone of to try and capture Dr. Eggman all by herself!"

"Capture Dr. Eggman all by herself?" repeated Cosmo, flipping her leafy hair around to get the water out "Why ever would she try a crazy thing like that?"

"Well when I was talking with her earlier, we were talking about her fondness for Sonic and how to win him over." explained Tails "And I suggested she should try and capture Dr. Eggman and bring him to justice once and for all since that would win Sonic over. I was only joking though." he added, his ears drooping down in despair "But I bet Amy took it too seriously and is actually looking for Dr. Eggman and attempting to apprehend him!"

"We'd best find Amy before anything bad happens to her!" shrieked Cosmo "Dr. Eggman will do something horrible to Amy if he captures her, like roboticize her!"

"But how in the name of Mobotropolis are we ever gonna find her?" cried Tails "We have no idea where she's gone! She could be half way to the Northern Border by now!"

"Maybe you could fly in the air with me and tow and we'll search from the sky." suggested Cosmo "We'd have a good chance that way."

"I could give it a go." said Tails "I'm not too hopeful that it'll work though."

But before anyone could do anything, a blue blur whizzed past Tails and Cosmo, a gust of wind following it as it ran and screeched to a halt. The blur ran back up to Tails and Cosmo and stopped before them. It was none other then Sonic the Hedgehog, the hero of Mobius, back from his mission and looking very happy.

"Hey you two!" he said happily "I'm back as you can see! And boy what a mission that was!" he blurted quickly, he was bouncing around with excitement and going over his entire mission at a faster pace of speech then usual "I sped through Grand Metropolis, met up with Bostock and Mortimer and then we stormed Eggman's new headquarters, which were full of robots, and we smashed them all! I spin-dashed them and the two chipmunks blasted them with Neo-Rust Blasters and the robot army was reduced to nothing more then smithereens! It was EPIC! And after we destroyed the dumb robots, we stormed the command centre and blew the whole base up! WHOO! Best Base Thrashing Ever! I can't tell you how much I enjoyed myself in this mission, really I can't…"

"Sonic, Sonic!" cried Tails "Slow down, we don't understand a word you're saying!"

"So how did the mission go?" asked Cosmo politely.

"Me and Royal Fighter Generals Bostock and Mortimer destroyed every Eggman robot in his new quarters in Grand Metropolis and we blew the base up." repeated Sonic, much slower this time "Wasn't too hard a mission really. I wish you three could have seen it, it was awesome! I totally rocked out there!"

"Now we understand you." said Tails "Congratulations on your mission Sonic but I'm afraid we have a little trouble ourselves."

"Really? What's that then?" asked Sonic, hardly able to believe there was another problem for him to solve just shortly after getting back from a mission in Grand Metropolis.

"Amy's gone missing." said Cosmo "Me and Tails were playing in the Lake of Rings and Amy's disappeared somewhere! We don't know where she is!"

